le

th

th

cc

of an

M

im

ho

of

tin

ď

m

ple

oft

fho

(cci tha

best

and

COL

mat

dibl

was

mol

fille

harc

Hen

allb

thee

him

Sou

on o

vicia

fame

thria

was:

it as peop

vice.

full

N

King Henry

the fourth ever the first

Battailes, & c

King Mithri-

dates a noto.

tious drank.

ard, and his people follow ed his exam

pl:.

man in all

Mahomet be-Learne La dies in Italy.

Elizabeth the rors body tro fairous and learned foore, and his Queene of head cut off. England, done vnto the Empresse, and

The Treason of Juha Justinian, and his juft requitall, being a King of three dates

fics, Anth of di

ind

ich

the

nçe dde

ng cof con

erly

riby

eat.

ic of

ha-

edge

mpe

mmr d be

and

rtc

da

VD.

ords:

com-

ould

re I-

dyes fore

one

filla

hac-

ding)

ју Бу

fore-

tray-

luded

e him

her The firme

done vnto the

Empresse,and

he, daughters

Conflantine Paleologus, Emperour of the Eaft.

and The power of Mahomet before Constan

tinople.

The Empe-

den vnder

rors body tro

foote, and his

bead cut off.

of France, fiftet that name, the father of learning.

and learned

rwo famous

Queenes of Nauatre.

Ladies,besi le

King Frances, first of that name, because Frances, King himselfe was learned, and cherished men of learning and knowledge; beheld his reigne furnished with a great number of learned and vertuous Schollers, more then any other that went before him. In the fame minde continued his Sonne, fiicceffor to his Crowne, and all the children of his fuccessour; not meanely cherished and enriched by king Henry the fourth. Margret, Grandmother to the King now reigning, was a most learned Lady, of Ofhonorable whose excellent & most elegant Poems, we have great store remaining among vs. As also of Inneher Mother, both of them being Queenes of Nauarre, (and in their imitation) many other great Ladyes of honour, gaue their mindes to the reading of graue Authors, as well Greeke as La-Nor is it any matter of meruayle, if in these dayes, wee behold so many Ladyes well seene in good Sciences, and among the rest, that Italy affoordeth such plenty of studious women: the custome of the countrey prohibiting, that women should be any great walkers, or so much feene as they are in France. And because that famous Queene of England, Elizabeth, was very skilfull in many Languages, and deeply read in the fayrest and most

Elizabeth the farrous and learned Queene of England,

Learned Ladies in Italy.

King Henry the fourth cuer the fir (t man in all Battailes, & c.

King Mithridates a noto. rious drank • ard, and his people follow edhis exam pl:.

Henry the fourth, then reigning: who in all battailes, encounters, and charging of the enemy, was alwayes the formost man himfelfe; which taught his Captaines & Souldiors to do the like, onely by imitation of his unparaled exploits. Now on the contrary, if the Prince bee vicious,his Subiccts wil fauour of the felfe same taste. As we reade of one named Mithridates, king of Amasia, who because he was a notorious drunkard, and accounted it as a vertue to drinke immeasurably: his people addicted themselves to that soule vice, so that the most part of them were full of diseases, as gouts, conuulsions, palfies,& alienation of vnderstanding. Marke Anthony, who tearmed himfelfe Emperor of the East, so wallowed with his beloued

Cleopatra, in the delights of Egipt (that the commended Sciences, as in the Mathe-

maticks,& diners others: it was also credibly reported, that her house and Court,

was bounteously stored with learned and most vertuous Ladies. And that which filled France with fuch plenty of bold and

hardy spirits, was by the meanes of king

degenerated quite from the vertues of their former King Philadelphus) and became so affected to drinking & drunken- his drunkennesse, intermixing rich flowers and precio.s stones among the wine they dranke; East. that he gaue such example to his men of warre, and to the people thorowthe East, to drinke and gourmandize after the same manner, that they would be drunke euery day, and held it as an admirable vertue: forgetting the honest policy of the Romanes, who would drinke no wine while they were in Armes. And so Marke Anthony (albeit hee was a great and worthy Captaine) and all his followers, by having discontinued the vertuous exercise of Armes; when hee should come to cope with Octavius Augustus, was (with farall labour) surmounted. And the best generous acte, that Anthony could then devile to do, and for his latest piece of service, was to kill himfelfe, like another brutish Sardanapalus.

Darius also, the great Monarch and King of the East, about three hundred yeares before Marke Anthony, euen like to him, had (beside his married wise) a multitude of concubines, bardaching boyes, fidlers, vaulters, dancers, fooles, players, and other people of as small account in his Army, eating and drinking, before eyther hunger or thirst viged any necessity. His Captaines and men of command, with all the rest of his Army, he licenced to the like liberty: for each of his Soldiours might have his two concubines, beside as many Ganimedes, and cheefer men tripled, or (at least) doubled In the ende, his Army, thought to confift of eight hundred thousand able fighting men; there could not bee found twenty thousand among them all. according to the example of their king, they were altogether addicted to luxury | inedownfall and drunkennesse, and became as people vtterly vnmeete for warre. Therefore both he and they were ouercome by Alexanders forces, with small transile, or losse on his side; because his men were sober, continent, and flout fighting Soldiors, as the king himselse was. So the Persian Empire, and the Babylonian also, was lost and diffipated in a moment; in regard that their king was lascinious and of fost temper, which caused his subjects to imitate his example.

thony thorow neffe onerthrew all the

neglect m to tamous a Solgoodnelle appeareth, vice

Princes!

The Treason of Juhn Juftinian, Ind his ioft requitall, being a King of three dates flanding.

i*nople*, oulde with gifor iday.

hitten

Scipio denied

The Authors aduerti'emet to Kings and Princes in thefe our Princes then, 'and others, that are aduanced to gouerne ouer people, may be aduited by thefe examples and reasons formerly alledged, to addict their mindes and bodies to vertuous exercifes, to fpeak discreetly, to be no blasphemers, to line in all fobriety, and to declare modestie in their actions and apparrell: but aboue all the rest not to swerue from vertue and true piety. For therein (doubtlesse)their people will follow them, and make theyr time of rule the more fetled and affured: for where vice reigneth, rebellion (oftentimes) the fooner enfueth.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Of the Originall of Triumphs: why they were first granted and ofed in Rome: How many they were that triumphed:What a Triumph is : and that there are two fortes of

Two thinges that moone men to high matters.

*A Poet of much loued

of fully and

A Romaine

much maintained by Tu

The carefull

confideration

of the Romis

to hono: nich

of merite and

how frome

came to bee

Emprelle of the world.

Antioch,

Lucullus

warre. The first is Honor and renowne: the second is profite and commoditie, Magnanimous, Noble and Heroicke spirits do chiefly couet the first; & base and vnworthy fonles feeke for falary and hire. Cicero faith in his Oration which he made for " archias the Poet : We all are drawne to defire commendation, and they of greatest place and expectation, faile with full gale after honour and fame : coueting no other recompence, or greater guerdon for their Ver-tue, then glory onely. The same Cicero, in another Oration made for the defence of Milo, faith ; Wife and valiant men do not fo much labour in exercise of their vertue, for the receit of wages, as for the honor that en-

Sueth thereby. This being well confidered by the Romaines, they (more then any other Nation) fought how to honour and illustrate (beside due recompence) such as stroue to do any notable or vertuous acte. So that in thort time after, and proceeding on with the same determination; Rome cies & costs that might expresse any signe affoorded the refort (more then any place beside) of no meane number of worthie men, excelling both in Armes and Go. uernment, that by them shee attained to fway the Empire of the whole world. In regard whereof, for example and instruction to these instant times, as also to delight fuch as enquire after Antiquities: I thought it very convenient, to supplye this place with some breefe declaration, of the manner observed amongst the Romaines, in yeelding honour and renowne to fuch men, as had obtayned any victory Now because among all honors what- Triumph, the focuer, Triumph was reputed to bee the greatefta very greatest; we will discourse thereon, according as we finde it set downe for our was signified instruction . Triumph was a forme of by the word entrance, or (as we may well fay) a kinde Triumph. of Welcome, which they vsed in Rome, to their Captaines and Generalles, with the verie greatest pompe and solemnitie that could bee expressed vnto men. And albeit Triumphs were much vsed among the Romaines, yet were they not the first Died sient a inuenters of them . For Diodorus Sien- Phinitels, 643 lus, and Pliny, doth both fay, that Denis, called Diony fe in Antiquitie, and named also Fater Liber, was the first that ener Triumphed in the worlde. It appeareth likewise, that the Carthagenians vsed to Triumph : for Justine (among the other Juffin in like) honours of Haldruball) faith, that he Triumphed fouretimes. Moreouer, wee reade of Triumphes among the Kings of Ægypt, and especi- comparable ally of King Solestris . Neuertheleffe, to to the Ro. speake truely, Triumphes were neuer for Triumphes folemnized in any other Nation, as they were among the Romaines: for vpon the day that any Captaine triumphed, the people of Rome ceased from all kinde of Workes whatfocuer, and not any matter (concerning profite) was permitted to be done.

And to make this folemne Triumph ces necre neighbouring thereto, came of people thicke and threefold thither to behold it. the more compleate, the people of al pla-And all the Cittie, Temples, Streetes, bouring pairs Gates, and Windowes, were enriched & Triumph. hung with clothes made of Gold, Siluer, Silke, Leafes and Flowers of sweete smelling fauour, befide all other magnificen-

golde and filuer, money, iewells and other rich thapes or trophees, with fuch gifts and prefents, as hee had received

No Nation

A hill wher on S. Peters

with the whole Nobilitie of Rome, and generally the better fort of people, went forth into the fields very honourably apparelled, to entertayne the Triumpher: who entred Rome, cloathed in purple, crowned with Laurell, and mounted on a golden charrior, drawne by foure milke white horfes. All his prisoners went before him, attired like flaues or fernants, having their heads close shorne or sha-filled full of armour, which hee had taken from the enemy : beside other waggons laden in like manner, with Plate of

of Kings, or any other friends to Rome.

Great Castles, Towers, and other Ess-

gines of wood, made artificially, reprefenting conquered Citties and Fortrefmaking liuely reprefentation, as they marched along, of fuch battailes as had happened in the last warre, and so exactly to the life; that they were very dread-

full to the beholders. These things were so many in number, so mighty, and of such rare diuerstrie, that the Triumph

(sometimes) required the vse of three fe-

nerall dayes, because all the representations might be the more amply noted and conceined. The Triumph confifted of various inuentions, with many rare de-

or Victor; but there were Lawes fet

downe, and notable occasions to be con-

fidered, before fuch fauour could be obtained. The Captaine that meant to demand it, came not at all into Rome : but abode at the "Vaticane, and thither the Senate returned him answere, whether fuch grace might bee permitted him, or

no. First of all, no chiefe, or commander of an Army might triumph; except hee

had beene Confull, Proconfull, or Di-

Norwas this honour of Triumph,

uices, too long to be reported.

The Souldiours of his owne Armie en-Souldiours. tred in due order, bearing branches of Laurell in their hands. Then followed Chariots of before him, Charriots and Waggons

Remaine no-

hers entring

no Rome

fes, were likewise carryed before him:

The triump dies fome allowed and granted to enerie Captaine aliowed, but lawes for the

of ioy. The Senate and all the Priests, 1 to any of meaner condition. In regarde whereof, Marcus Marcellus had triumph denyed him, albeit he had worthily con- Marcus Marquered Siracufa; and Scipio alfo, although cellus and he had fubdued spaine. For, it was ne- triumph. ceffarily required, that the battell must be great and notable against the enemie. and aboue fine thousand men at the least flayne therein. Of thefe matters, Valerties | Valer. Max 12. Maximus is Author. We likewise reade, that Cato, and L. Marius, being Tribunes, Marius Triuen : and the Captayne or King of the made a Law, whereby they ordayned fe-bunes. prisoners by him vanquished, went nearest to the Charriot before anie other. uere punishment for any Captayne, that due the whole Prouince or Country, &

lius, notwithstanding all his great victories in Spaine : for hee should have com-

paffed the acquifition of fom new country or entred into a new warre. & not defend that only which was formerly won.

Vpon the same occasió also, great Quin.

him; which they would refute to doe, because (at this seast) no person should bee

present, to whom greater honour might be done, then to the Triumpher. The Triumph alwayes ended in the Temple of Impiter in the Capitoll, where the spoiles (wonne from the enemy) were al-

nors and fauors done him : fome fay, that a flaue or bond-man was feated by him

with permission, to least and scoffe at him

as a plaine apparance, that fuch dignities

conquered them of Campania.

deliuered a false report of the number flayne in fight. Nor was it enough for a man to win the battell, how doubtfull & bloudy focuer it were; but hee muft fub-

leave it peacefully to his fuccesfor, bring- Provinces ing home his army braue & victorioufly; which was the cause (sayth Titus Linius)
that Triumph was denyed to Titus Man-

tus Fabius riumphed not, though he had Valer.Max 1.2

It was observed as a custome also, that on the day of Triumph, the Triumpher A custome ob fhould invite the Confulls to suppe with triumph day, together offred, and delivered vp to pub- The spoyles like vfe. And because the triumpher shold delivered to not ouer-glory himselse in these high ho-

all the day long, & to reproach him with Triall of the fuch iniuries as seemed best to himselfe, Patience, depended but on transitory graces. Now, to make this triumphall honor the more intelligible; we will make reherfall of some one or two, especially that of Paulis Amilius, that worthy and famous The honora-Captayne of Rome, who obtayned his of Paulus Acctator; for Triumph was neuer granted triumph inftly; for vanquishing & taking milian, Plat in vit.

Concourse of people to beumph.

Temples fet

Whiflers or Stickless to make way for paffage of the Triumph.

The order for the firft dayes passage.

The fecond dayes honour in larger må-

and chargers.

Fountaine Pots, Ewres, Lauours, and Batons of gold and filPerseus, the powerfull king of Macedon, conquering and ruinating his kingdome, and therefore made his Triumph, according as it is remembred by Plutarch, in this manner. Our first remembrance, concerneth the people of Rome in generall, with them of all the neighbouring parts round about, attired after their very best ability of performance, and contending for places in houses and windowes, where best they might take view of the triumph. All the Temples and Churches in Rome with Tapistry, greene boughes of Trees, beside plenty of incense and sweet smel-

were fet wide open, deckt and richly hung ling perfumes, and so were all the streetes in like manner. Now because in the Citty the concourse of people was infinite, reforting from fo many feuerall places, in earnest desire to behold such a solemne spectacle, there were certain men appointed with staues in their hands, who had charge to make way for the Triumphs passage, and looke to the peoples safe seating, because the matters prepared for this triumph grew fo great, as they were enforced to divide them into three feuerall daves.

The first day was scarsely sufficient for entrance of all the Banners, Standards, & vanquished Enfignes; as also for passage of the Statues, Coloffes, Tables, and Images, for all these were conuayed along in order, in rich and well appointed Chariots, VV aggons, and Thrones. On the fecond day, the Armour and munition of the conquered king, and what elfe belonged to the Macedonians, was brought into the citty: which Armours being rich and glorioufly glittering, were conveniently placed on best fighted carriages, meetest for their full and ample beholding. After these chariots and waggons, entred three thousand men, carrying siluer mony (open to be seene) on great Plates and Vessels of filuer, each one weighing three talents, of which Plates and Vessels there were 350 in number, and foure men allowed to carry each piece of Plate. The rest that ferued to make up the ful number of three thousand men, carried Fountaine Pots. Ewres, Basons, Lauours, very curiously wrought in gold and filuer, befide other veffels of the fame mettals, most rich and magnificent to behold: and the paffage of these companies continued so long, that it required the second dayes whole employment, marching along in due and comely order. The third day being come, the breake The third of day no sooner began, but in the first laft dayes pet. band, & beginning of the Triumph, went formance of Drums, Fites, Clarions, and Trumpets derof the founding not sweet and delicately, but in Triumph. fuch stearne and vigorous manner, as if they were instantly to enter battail. After them were led fix score kine, all white, hauing their hornes richly guilded, and their white kine bodies couered with costly cloathes: all appointed for these were helde as sacred to the Gods. sacrifice. crowned and decked with garlands, and chaplets of faire flowers, & they that guided the, were braue gallant youths, sump- Children tuously apparelled for this feruice, and for with Plate the facrificing of them; and by thefe kine for the face. went as many comely children, carrying Plates of gold and filuer for the facrifice. Next vnto the kine, were rancked fuch as carried gold money in chargers of gold, being seuenty seuen in number. And behindethem, followed they that holpe to beare the great Bolle or Cuppe of golde, A Bolle or weighing ten Talents, which Paulus Aeweighing ten Talents, which Paulus Aemillius had caused to bee made, enriched Talents with many fumptuous and vnualuable precious stones. They which carried the chargers of money, were fuch as had bin neerest in fauour, about the Kings Antigonus, Seleucus, and other Kings of Macedon, especially the forenamed Perseus. Next followed the chariot of the conquered redkington King, with he Armes and Weapons riot and his which he vied to weare, his Crown, Scep- Aimes. ter royal and rich Robe laid vpon the Armour. Behinde the chariot were the children to the poore kingled as prisoners, The kings with a great number of his cheefest Offichildrenked cers; as the Masters or Gouernours of his prisoners, houshold, his Treasurers, Chancellors, Secretaries, and others of high employ-to much compassion. Of the children belonging to this king, Children are there were 2 males and 2 females, but fo weake vnder yong in yeares, as they were not capable flanderiof of vnderstanding their misfortunes when of vnderstanding their misfortunes; wherby the people were fo much the more incited to pitty their condition, & thought it vnbeseeming, that affliction should bee ment in his affaires. They all wept, & expressed extraordinary signes of greefe, beholding themselues brought into such a feruitude; which moued all the beholders

The kings in thetriumph

The golden

Crownes of the Cittles of Greece borne

him, and he

No great dif-ference in

the Romane

A Law for

the order of

Sports and Feafts were

by free per-miffion.

how diners

in their tri-

feene in fuch tender yeares. In this Triumph, the Father followed his children, artired after his Countries manner; but yet in blacke habites, pacing on troubled and fearefully, as indeed he had good reafon, confidering his present estate, and whence he was falne.

After the King, followed his friends & fauourites, with a great number of his familiars, who all looking on their King confounded themselues with forrow, to fee his reuerend cheekes furrowed with teares, and many of the Romans bemoaned his mifery. Then after were brought the crownes of gold, which the ancient Citties of Greece had presented to Paulus Aemillius, who followed the triumphantly, mounted upon a goodly Chariot, cloathed in purple tiffue of golde, bearing a Lawrell branch in his hand, and a crowne of the same vpon his head. Behinde him followed the people both on foote and horseback, some having branches of Lawrell and Palme in their hands, and some with Banners and Pennons, finging in honour of their Captaine, triumphing thus after his victories with other most delectable fights to behold; and in this order Paulus Aemillius triumphed throgh Rome. Others also did the like, with some things added or diminished, and so they went to offer their (poyles, in the Temple of Jupiter within the Capitoll; and there according to the forme and manner, as their blinded religion then required, they gaue thankes to their Gods for the victory obtayned. And notwithstanding that in this faftion they observed & performed their customary triumphs: yet they had a Law for it, according to which Law, they gaue triumph by defert, making a distinction of the gates & streets, whereat they were to enter, and whereby they should passe along, the times also beeing ordered and appointed. But concerning other things, as sports, playes, & Feasts of divers kinds, it was permitted, that every man might augment and enrich his triumph, and his chariot also: for it is found recorded, that fome haue bin drawne by as many Buls. Great Pompey, when hee triumphed for The manner Affrica, he entred in a Charlot drawne by were drawne Elephants. Suctonius faith, that Iulius Cafar when hee made his triumphall entrance | this Captaine, were not armed, neyther

they had a custome, to be drawne by four white horses, and yet notwithstanding,

VVith the like Beafts triumphed the Emperour Gordianies. And Flaulus writeth, that the Emperour Aurelianus, who was king of the Gothes, triumphed in a chariot drawne by Harts. VVc reade also, that Mark Anthony in his triumph, had his chariot drawne by Lyons. The Roman Captains had a custome beside when they triumphed to have a young childe or many forme of our in their chariots: whereof Cicero maketh Pageants wer mention in his Oration pro Munera. O- at first deuithers caused to be led in their triumphs, an infinite number of wilde and fanage Beafts, as Lyons, Ounces, Beares, Tygers, Rhinocerots, Panthers, Dromi-daries, & other kindes of beafts, as did Titus & Vefpasian, according to the relation of losephue. Some other also would have their entrance with diversity of Musique, as well by instruments as voyces, with infinite other the like delectations. Among all which triumphs, some were more fin- umphs more gular then the reft; as those of Pompey & lingular then Cafar; ofthetwo Brethren Scipioes; and the rett. likewife of the Emperors, wherof Flondus fpeakes in his Book of Rome triumphing, & according as Paulus Orofius faieth, that there were 320 I riumphers in Rome; the last wherof was the emperor Probus, from

had his chariot drawn by forty elephanis.

whose time fince. Rome ran to her deca-In Rome there was yet another kinde of folemn welcom, which was fomwhat leffe then triumphing, being called Ouatio, and given for victories when as A fmall trifomething wanted of fuch necessary con- umph of a ditions as required triumph. As for example, if the Captaine had not bin Confull out flaughter or Proconfull, or had made war without of men or very few. great refistance, or little bloodshed in battaile, or had conquered people of flender efteeine; or if the war had bin done without expresse authority from the Senate. & fuch like other conditions; then in fled of triumphing this Onatio was granted to him,& it was performed in this manner. The Captaine entred Rome on horsebacke, in stead of a chariot, and some of them (in elder times) entered on foote, crownd with the leaues of Myrrhe, which were offerings to Venus, because such triumphing was not reputed Martiall, but (as it were) veneriall, according as Aulus Aul. Gellius in Gellius faith. The people attending on hott, duic, lib. founded him, making a great feast for him, as also The first Ovation Triumphers, and that accepted

Plin.in lib 9. CAP.12.

gladly.

How this kinde of triumph tooke name at the firft,by vari. ety of opinion

A further permission gran. ted to Trium-phers of ere-

Pillars, &c.

Oue.

Trophees among the Grecians, and founded Trumpets, Drums, or any other | which fignifieth a fleeting conversion, or instruments of warre; but flutes & sweet | retreated, because (in that place) the enemusicall instruments, fost and delicate. Neuertheleffe, they entred in order, and with their booty, and the Senate went foorth of the Citty to meete and receive highly prayling & commending him. I finde that many excellent Captains have requested & accepted of this honor, and the first was Posthumus Liberius, ha. uing vanquished the Sabines; and Marcus thereof very Marcellus, for his victory at syracufa. Suetonius affirmeth, that Octavius Cafar entred thus, after the Phillippick battailes, & the warre of Sicily. The cause why this finall triumph was fo named, is described by Pliny, for in declaring that divers Capraines were denyed this kinde of triumph, and could by no meanes obtayne it: hee proceedeth to yeelde a reason, why this Ouatio was to tearmed. The facrifice (fayeth he) which the Captaine then offered, was a Sheepe, which in the Latine tongue is called Ouis: but the other Triumphers offered a Bull, and therefore upon the word Ouis, the reception and entertainment made unto the, was called Ouatio, or Oualis. Some other fay, that it took name by a certaine found in the peoples voyce, of Oe, or elfe Oue: but because this is a matter of small importance, it shall suffice to say, that such a thing was named Ouatio, eyther of the word Ouis, or of the other voyce of Oe or

It was also permitted to the Triumphers, to crect their Statues in Temples, & common places of refort : also to build Arches and Collombs, named Trium. phall, framed of Marble, and in or on the, to infculpt (most excellently) their battels and victories, for their owne perpetuall memory. The vestiges or footings of the are (at this day) to be seene in Rome: and these things wer thus done, in imitatio of Trophees, anciently vsed among the Grecians, helping themselues thereby in manner following. In the same place, where the in what man- Captaine had obtayned any victory, a great tree was prepared, the greatest therabout to be found, the branches whereof were all cut off; and then vpon the trunke was fastened all the coar-armours of the vanquithed, as a victorious and honourable memory, and it was called Tropaum my was put to flight, or difgracefull retreate, and fo the Romanes afterward were glad to follow their fashion.

Salust writeth, that Pompey having ouercome the Spaniards, planted his Tro- Prompeyer phees on the top of the Pyrennean Moun-libetoper the taines: and this course (by tract of time) Pyrennen Mountaines was in such esteeme, that they grew to be made of stone. But this matter can approue it selfe to be much more ancient,& that other Nations have made vie therof: for we reade, that Saul having vanquished | Reg 15,11 Agag, king of the Amalekites, and beeing come to Mount Carmell, he erected there a triumphall Arch, as a memory of his victory. In breefe, the honour of triumph was efteemed and affected, more then any other honour in Rome, fo that for obtayning it, the Captaines would expose their lines to all tranaile and perill. Beside, the then anyo Triumphers grew to great wealth, both ther horiour in Rome, by the enemies spoyles, and the gifts of their friends, and so much the rather have I reported these things, because Princes may thereby receive example, how to honour and remunerate their Captains and Soldiers to their merits. But in these decaying dayes, fluggards, and fuch as doe nothing at all, are as well, if not better respected, then they that adventure their lines and goods, both for feruice of their Prince, & profite of their natiue country

CHAP. XLI.

Of such names of immortall honour and renowne, which the Romane Captaines had granted and given them, according to their Seuerall victories.

Ver and beside this high dignity of Triumphs, the Romane distribution of the captains had farre greater honours die nours given them, by names & Romane Generals, firnames, which were imposed on them nerals. by the people and Provinces, that had bin conquered and ouercome by them. And as it was a notable forme of exaltation to honour; fo did they immortalize their or Trophaum, after the greeke word Tropis, houses of discent, by contrary names of glory and fame, onely through their me- | Arabicus, another Parthicus, another Armorable actions, which procured so many worthy and illustrious Families in the Citty of Rome.

For our first entrance into this dif-Metellus and courfe, wee may take an example by the two more of his name, had three Metelli, whereof one (according as their firnames Salust and some others write) because he according to had ouercome King Jugarthe, conquering also his lands and kingdome of Numidia; was firnamed Numidicus. The fecond being Quintus Metellus, for the victory he obtayned against the king of Macedon, was firnamed Macedonicus. And the third,

Martius Cori olanus and Sergin. Fi-

Chap.41.

Metellus Ba-

Mommins

Scipio Affri-Scipio Afiati

Scipio Affricarus and Numantinu

Enfignes in Afia. Another Scipio afterphew adoptine to great Scipio, was likewife firnamed Affricanus; because hee affayled and won the great and puiffant citin farre higher respect; because in Spaine he destroyed Numantia, and veterly ouerthrew the Numantines.

Emperours ter conques ec

Creticus, because he conquered the Isle of Creete. But much more ancient then these, were Martius Coriolanus, and Sergius Fidenatus. The first was named Coriolanus, after the Towne Coriola in Latium, by him conquered. And the other by the like acte on Fidena, a Towne in Italy. Ano-because he had conquered to the Komane Empire, the Islands called Baleares, now tearmed Majorque and Minorque. Lucius Mummius was firnamed Achaither Metellus also was firnamed Balearicus.

eus. because hee had subdued Achaia and

Corinthe. So the other Brutus, in regard he brought the Gaules in Subjection, was firnamed Gallus. The two Scipioes, being brethren, were honoured by the names of the people whom they had vanquished; the one in Affrica and Carthage, and the o ther in Asia, because he conquered also in Antioche and in Alia: for hee was the first that displayed the Romanc Coullors or ward fonne to Paulus Æmillius (of whose triumph we have already spoken) & Nety of Certhage. Neuerthelesse, he received a greater honor and guerdon, to be firnamed Wumantinus, and he himfelfe held it

I finde in like manner, that Emperours attributed vnto themselnes the firnames of conquered places, speaking them expressely in their Letters missive and other instruments ; namely Senerus, and his succeffors after him; as for Arabia, Parthia, Armenia, Germania, and other Prouinces by them fubdued. So one named himfelfe menicus so Germanicus, and Aliaticus; cach man according to fuch victories as he had obrayned, so did hee magnific him-

Moreouer, for other matters and reasons, the Romane Captaines were illustrated by especiall names, for their greater magnificence and fplendour. As we reade of Marcus Manlius, who for defending the hits Capitoli Capitoll from the forces of the French, nus. was firnamed Capitolinus. The family of the Torquati received that firname for taking a Chaine or Coller from the necke of an enemy, for a Coller or Chaine in latine is called Torquis, and fo were divers Torquams & of them therefore named, Quintus Fabius Manhus Tor Maximus, because by long delayes & diffi-mulations, hee had held out Hanniball in bins Cunctawarre, only for the defence of Rome; they cor. firnamed him Cunctator, which is as much

(befide) the Shield or Buckler of Rome,

which redounded to his greater aduan-was called The Sword of Hanniball, And warre, that he had the firname of Great

giuen him, then which title, I know not what could more have raifed and exalted

him. So farre extended the dignity of fir-

dignity, and which could not then beegi-

uen, but to a Captaine, Prator, Confull,

or Proconfull, that had bin victorious in fome notable battaile, and had defolated

the enemies country, by the death of a great number of enemies: As if two thou-

fand of his men were flaine, there must tage and honour.

to fay, as a temporater or delayer. And for the same reason also, they termed him

Marcus Marcellus, who lived also in Marcus Mar tholetimes, in regard of his great power cellus, The and valiancy, the continual battels which fivord of Han (without ceasing) he gave to the enemy, that excellent Captain Sylla, though fom- syllathe what cruel, was firnamed Happy, in regard Happy. of his prosperous victories. Pompey like- Pompey the wife was fo renowned by his successe in Great.

names, granted to Captaines in those Captains caldayes, especially to such as were vertuous led Emperors Commanders and Generals, as they were and vpon also called Emperors, which in these more or deserte moderne times, is the title of supremest then ten thousand perish on the enemies tide, and not otherwise it was granted. With this fo gracious and happy a firname, was Iulius Cafar, the Father of Iulius Cafar honored, for the victory which Called alfo Sabelli, a people of the Mountaines betweene the Sabines and the Marfin Italy.

he had against the * Samnites & Lucanes, in the time of Sylla. Pompey also was called Emperour, for the memorable victory he wonne in Affrica, against Domitius. Marciu Tullius Cicero, beeing Proconfull in the warre against the Parthians, was by them of the Army named Emperour, for the victory there obtained. Inline Cafar, before he was called to the Empire, was styled Emperour, by reason of his many victories. But if this Captaine had not suffered great resistances in his battailes, he had not beene worthy of that name, & yet notwithstanding he was reprehended, to that Marke Anthony murmured against him, and yet because he had taken a great

City, on the further fide of the River Euphrates, he was content that they should

call him Emperour. After Iulius Cafar

Mark Anthony was offen ded at Cafar.

The name King bate'ull in Rome.

and his fuccessours, inuesting themselves with the full Seigneury of Rome, & knowing well, that the name of King was in horror and detestation among the people, they would bee named Emperours, which title hath continued ener fince, & is the very greatest of all. So then we fee, that for fuch honors,

the Romanes fayled not in their gratification, aswell to their strange frends abroad,

being under their reward, as to the home-borne fonnes of Rome. Because like as they were powerfull and rigorous, in fighting against enemies; so were they as gracious and liberall to fuch as affifted them.

So that in the same kinde of bounty they

gaue to king Atalus the Pronince of Asia,

with the title of king: for which (afterward) he was ingratefull, because (by his testament) hee returned all his profits to Rome. To Eumenes the brother of this

Atalus, because he had well served and affifted the Romanes, in the war against An-tiochus: the Senate gaue him all the Cit-ties and Townes, which hee had conquered from Antiochus in Afia. To king De-iotarus of Galatia, because hee had ayded

Pompey, in the warre against Mithridates,

the Romans gaue him the Province of the leffer Armenia. In the like manner was king Massinissa of Numidia guerdoned, having beene embraced by Scipio, as his companion and friend to the people of Kome: to him was given all whatfocuer he had conquered in the kingdome of Sy-

phax, who had affifted the Carthagenians.

Nor were these gifts and presents al-

Well def ruing ftrangers as much respected an rewarded.as the native fonnes of Rome. Atalus King of Afia.

Eumenes bro ther to Ata-

Delotarus king at Gal.

Maffiniffa king of Nu

cic onely; but likewise to them of the Meanemen meanest condition, they gaue gifts, pre-rogatiues, and great honours. The Con-as well as full Marius, knowing the well deferring fit cases Awor of two companies, that had fought valiations analy against the Cimbrians, a people as Marius. mong the Allemaignes, and were come into Italy with him, he received them as Citizens of Rome. When being reproued for doing fuch a thing contrary to their Lawes, he made answer: In the noise and clattering blowes of weapons there is no voice of the Law heard.

lowed to Captaines, and men of apparan-

CHAP. XLII.

Of fuch Crownes, with other recompences and falaries, which the Romanes gaue to Soldiers. Also of punishing offenders, comprehending (in this case) an excellent form for warre, and good government of a com-

HE Romans were not carefull onely for honouring & gratifying their Captaines, Diver kinds but offered them (befide) of recopence infinite other graces & fa- the Roman uours, rewarding them honourably in diuers and fundry kindes, with Crownes & Iewels; as holding them in particular esteeme and reputation, and according to the merit of their actions in Armes, in the same sort were they respected and requi-

When a Captaine had obtained a victory in some notable battaile, were it vppon the Sea or Land, and had therein taken some Towne by force, or done any other fingular enterprize; immediately Themannet after, they had a custome to make diligent of publishing inquifition, concerning the valour of the the merit of particular bandes and fquadrons. Then whom their Armies mounting vpo the Theater, after they had open Theater given thanks to the Gods for the victory obtayned: in generall they commended the whole Army, and especially extolled the band or fquadron, that had fought with most man-hood. Afterward they renealed particular men in the companies by their names, publishing the worth

Chap.42.

Of Recompences to Soldiers.

of their vertue and courage, in no leffe measure then they had deserved sterming them friends and louers of their country, faying also, that the Common-wealth stood highly obliged to them. And this beeing done, they gaue then presents of Gold and Silver, of Crownes, Girdles, Bracelets, Iewels, as also very excellent armour for horsses, made so curiously, & delinered with fuch defences and prohibitions, as no man was suffered to vveare or haue the like, without he had deferued it in the same manner. Histories are full of these things, and particularly Titus Li-Tit.Liu.in li.10 uius, speaking of the Conful Papyrius Cenfor, faith; that he gaue Bracelets of Gold

Ornaments. As much hee faith of scipio,

Now, concerning the Crowns which they gaue, they had divers names, and were according to the degrees of merite.

They had the Crowne Obsidionalis, the crowne Triumphalis, the crowne Qualis;

Corona Ciuica, Corona Muralis, Corona Na-

ualis, and Corona Castrenfis. Pliny spca-

keth of them all, and so doeth Aulus Gel-

But that Crowne of greatest excellen-

being in Spaine, and other places.

& 30. Papir.Cenfor. to fourteene Centurions; and afterward to a fquadron, he gaue very rich & coftly

The feuerall crowns which the Romanes

Pūn.in lib.16. Ø 12. Aul Gellius in 46.5.

cie, and more esteemed then all the rest, was Corona Obsidionalis, which extended nalis, & where to the circkled or fiedge of the Campe, and it was given onely for having delive-Crowne for red an army enclosed and befiedged withrailing a fiege in a Towne or Citie, or when a camp was strictly enuironed. So that by such a worthy deede of armes, the place or people > from death, or mercileffe imprisonment: for no other action what focuer, was this honor & respect to be given. The crown was made of greene leaves, for they cared not to have it made of Golde, or other mettall, but of the graffe and hearbes of the fame field, where the enemie had bin ouerthrowne or forced to flight. With obtained to weare this Crowne, & espethis Crown was crowned the Great Quin tus Fabius, because when Hanniball yvas before Rome, hee defended and delivered having delivered the Confull Manlius,

with certaine bands. Calphurnius obtayned it also in Sicily, and so did the valiant

L.Cincinatus Dentatus, and fome other.

accounted themselves to bee delivered

Such as had the honor to be crowned with this it from his befiedging. Amillius Scipio, was also crowned therewith in Affrica, for

Corona Ciuica, or the Citizen crowne, was made of Oaken leaues and branches, the Cittizego with the fruite or Acornes hanging on it. Crown, giuch This was given to him that had faued a for fairing a citizens life, Cittizen, when his life was in extreame perill, killing his enemy, & making good the place where the danger hapned. This crown was fo much made account of that fometimes it fell to fuch a mans Honour, who for fauing one Romane cittizen, at his deliuerance flew two of his enemies. But because he defended not and made good the place from future perill, doubt vvas made, whether he had deferued this Citizen Crowne, orno. Neuerthelesse, Law Lawmay som was dispensed withall, and it was concluded to be given him, feeing hee had deli- penfed withal the Law imported fo much. And albeit a man had delivered a King, or a Captaine

of confederates and friends, yet could he

not have his crowne to reward him, ex-

uered the Citizen, and flaine two of his e- or neede full nemies in a place so perillous, which was not in his power full to protect, although Plin in la 6.c.

cept he had deliuered a Koman: I find that Pliny recordeth, that this very fame crown had been given to one, who flewe the first enemie that mounted on the wals of a City or Fortreffe, being defended by or for the Romanes. This Corona Ciuica, was the most ex- The reputati cellent, next vnto the Obfidionall, and on & effection might dayly be worne, and in all places. Of this citizen Likewise, he that deserved this Crowne, was of such account and esteeme, as hee might fit in the Theater, or at Feaftes, where hee had alwayes his place neerest vnto the Senate. And when hee entered. the Senate would rife vpon their feete, to do him honor.

He stood also free and exempt from any Office or charge whatfoeuer, except his pleasure was to accept it: and morcouer, for his fake, and in regard of him, his mans had the Father and Grandfather (if they were li- honor to wear uing) flood exempted also. Many Romans cially the most valiant Cincinnatus Dentatus, named before, who wonne fourteene of them. The fecond Capitolinus had fixe; and to Cicero, by particular dispensation, one of them was granted, because he had defended Rome from the conspiracy of

Catiline. These Crownes, whereof wee

have made relation, although they were made but of Hearbes and Leaues, and Corona Mu-

ralis giuen fo

first fealing

the walles of

a Cittie cr

Corona Na-

ualis for boar

ding thippes

rewards for

of merit.

Suet.in vita

Caa.Cafar

at Sca,

Caftle.

might more properly be called Garlands, or like to the French chapless of floures: yet were they (notwithstanding) much more esteemed and renowned, then if they had beene of the finest gold.

As for the Murall Crowne, called Corona Muralis, it was of golde, and given to him that had affaulted and afcended the walls of a citty, or a castle, mounting first up the scaling Ladder, and both freeing and defending the walles; which caufed, that the Crowne was made in forme of an imbattelled wall. The first (according to Pliny) that obtained this crowne. was Manlius Capitolinus. Scipio alfo gaue it to Quintus Trebellius, and Sextus Digitus; because that they (both together) wonne first the enemies wall, before any

Corona Ca-Corona Castrensis, sine Vallaris, was Atentis, as b giuen to him that (in the fight) entred longing to th first into the Barriers, Railes, or Listes Campe and Barriers ther of the enemies Campe, comming off againe with credite and reputation : this Crowne also was made of gold, and shaped according to Bastions and Rampires of a field for warre.

Of the like mettall was the Nauall Crowne, Corona Naualis, which was beflowed on the man, that first (in fight at Sea) boarded and entred an enemies flippe : and it was in the shape of the prow or poynt of a ship. Marcus Varre made no difdaine of this Crowne, when it was offered vnto him by great Pompey, in the war against the Pirates. Octanius presented it also to Marcus Agrippa, and to Sylla: many other likewise had the honor thereof, wherof now I omit to fpeak.

When any Souldier of Rome, were he noble or ignoble, had made any proofe of his bodie, were it at the course of Launce, or in fingle combate: the Romaine Captaines or Generals were wont to gue him or them collers or chaines of gold and filuer, or bracelets, or girdles, accordingly as they had deferued with other privileges and preheminences. And fuch prizes they might give to his frends, that had affifted them in the war : but as for the Crownes, they were referred on- all before on the Crownes, they were referred only for Romaines. Of all which things wee finde many notable examples in the Romaine historics.

Suetonius writeth, that Offaulus permitted to Marcus Agrippa: that he might beare Banner of Azure colour : in regard of a victory which hee had obtained at Sea, against Sextus Pompeius. He further affirmeth, that it was he who denifed first The first deni. the gifts of Collers and Flagon chaines, Chaines and with other particular presents beside, al- other giftest lowed only in such affaires, which would require too long a space heere to report. And heere it is well worth the remembring, that the Romanes were so valiant, that some one man bath wonne the honour of all these rewardes, or the greater part of them. For Pliny and Solinus doe Plin in lit 10. name fuch men, amongst other Marcus List Set major Sergius, who obtained the most part of capalibat. them. And in the warre at * Thrasymenus * A Lakein and Trobia, where the Romaines were Hetturia, vanquished by Hanniball, he wonne the crown called Corona Ciuica, as also in the ouerthrow at Cannas . This man was fo valiant, that having loft his right hand in Marcus Ser the battel, he shewed great valor with the R mante, left, and by meanes of a steele hand made him, in flead of the other loft, he foyled and flew 4. men in one day in the field of Battell ech after other: in which braue day of fight, and others befide he received 22 wounds, & al in the fore part of his body.

Yet notwithstanding neither this Marcus Sergius, nor any other beside, did euer deserue and attaine to so much as Lucius Cincinnatus Dentatus, Tribune of the people, of whom we spake alittle before. Of him write Plinie, Solinus Valerius Maximus, and Aulus Gellius, affirming, that in iewels and prefents of price, some greater then other he obtained onely by actions of Armes, 320. and more. Befide, that he entred Rome with o feueral Generals, when they performed their folemne triumphs,& whom he had affisted in their victories. He had a great number of broke Spears, shinerd Lances, shafts of Jauelins, pikes without heads of steele, given to him as fignalls of honour. He had 18. collers and gold chains; 83 of filner: Of armors and furnitures for horses fitting war seruice, and thereunto particularly appoynted, hee had fine and twenty; an hundred and fortie bracelets; eight Ca- 45 wounds and I know not how many Nauall . In but one onely scuerall fought battailes, hee had taken fine and fourtie wounds, all of them before vppon his bodie; and no more then one only behind, and thirty foure times

Generalls,& their enemies Armics in Temples.

Statues allo-

Respect of ers children. and men of ong feruice, dwelling and

No good a & left vni ecompenced by the hee had difarmed and dispoyled the enemy, having personally bin present in fixe score encamped battells. Nay he was so valiant and fortunate in Armes, that hee was firmamed the Romaine Achilles : and Achilles Li- although his performances may feeme to the world incredible; yet notwithfanding the multitude and conformitie of hi-

The Romaines, for famous actions in Armes, conceded (beside) other hothorities of Souldiers, according as they were fuffered by the people to doe: concerning a degree or flate, fubmitted to the libertie of the Patriottes and people.

stories doe anouch them.

nours and preheminences, as power of publique judgements, and fitting in the The chiefe chaire of * Curules, which was the feate Chaire in the of the Ædi'es and Prator, and which was Councellpermitted to Scipio. Somtimes also there they gaue confent, for the greatest au-

Chap.42.

Captaines likewise were permitted to ewed to be eredeaby Caprea triumphall Statues, and to decke and taines and cloathethemsclues, euen as if they had beene Confulls. The Senate granted(by forme of falary and congratulation) that they might place in Temples, the armes and spoiles of enemies conquered by the in battels : and fuch things were tearmed Manubiæ, the Manubia, as much to fay, as spoyles and ípoiles or enemies. Furthermore, the Romains had a commendable custome, concerning such as had beene flavne in their warres; that their children should haue and enjoy the like wages, as they gaue vnto their fathers booties taken from an enemy.

liuing. And to olde Souldiers, that had long time followed the wars ; fuch good allowance of land, as they might well and eafily liue thereon. Suffering them also to dwell in Citties, Townes, and Prouinces conquered and subjected, where themselues pleased to make election. In this manner the Cittie of Sinill was made a Colony for Rome by Cafar: which Colonies (according to the common French faying) may be tearmed a new dwelling, or transmigration of people. In briefe, the Romaines never left a good action vnrequited, nor without fome great priniother nations beside. I spare to speake of many other requitalls, which the Romaines vied in respect of Armes, thinking already I have fayde ledge; for the which cause, more valiant men were found among them, then in all

enough. Notwithstanding, it is a matter most certaine, that as they excelled all Nations, in both acknowledging and rewarding honest fernices : fo they came! not a iote behinde vs, in teaching and correcting where occasion required. For when men were not to bee moued by re- No want of gard of honour and vertue, or by necessit discipling . ty and gaine, to doe what was good; yet mong the Kothey were compelled to doe no vilet ing, maines. both in respect of shame, and scare of punishment. For the paines were great and rigorous against such as shewed themfelues to be flouthfull and negligent : becanfe when they loft honour, beeing called thereto, and might by their owne indenour haue had it; they were well and foundly whipt, till the blood followed. Some were manacled with yrons like Correction flaues; and if they fled away, and for- and rendition idle fooke their Captaines in battaile, they and negligent were impaled or spitted on stakes, or else persons. crucified : for, answerable to the delict, fo was their punishment.

Of Recompences to Souldiers.

Titus Liuius writeth, that the Soul- Tit. Liuins in diours of a Squadron, belonging to Appius Claudius, to whom the keeping of a place was given in charge; forfooke and lost it . He being desirous to inflict punishment, and yetto mixe it with mercie: they were felected by numbers of tenne, and then to cast lottes, and they on whom the lot fell, were put to death for all the rest. Julius Frontinus fayth, Jul. Frontinus that Marke Anthony did the very like to a inlib 7. cap. 3. band, which had not defended the rampires, but suffered the enemies to fet fire on them. Other inflictions also hee imposed vppon Souldiours, for disobedience and other offences, requiring more time then I am permitted. Wherefore I will shape my conclusion thus onelie. that as those times wanted not remunerations and honours for well doing; fo, they were as forward in correcting wicked and bad actions.

CHAP

atift in Animallib.4.ca.3

What fleepe

is faid to be.

What fleene

worketh by

he course in

CHAP. XLIII.

of the reason wherefore Sleep was granted and given to man : And likewife, that too much fleep is victous and hurt-

Leep was naturally giuen

to man for his conferuation; because there is not any naturall worke, but it hath neede of rest and rehath neede of rest and repole. Aristotle fayth, Enery creature that hath bloud, fleepeth: and there he proueth by good reason, and likewise by experience, that fishes doc sleepe. Sleepe is a repose of all the sences, and proceedeth from the fumes and euaporations, which (in regarde of foode received) arise from the stomacke to the braine, by the coldnesse whereof, the hot vapours are temperated, and make the exteriour motions and fences fleepy: then retyring the vitall foirits to the heart, all the members become drowlie, and rest from their trauaile, untill fuch time as the vitall spirit (which is the instrument whereby the foule frameth her operations, gouerning and commanding the whole body) doth

recouer new forces, and ceasing ordiminithing those vapours, man awaketh the body of from fleepe, and then the fences and powers returne more freshly, with farre greater power to their operations. Concerning the occasions of sleepe, Ariflot.in l:b.de Aristotle discourseth at large in his Book Som & Vigi'. Putaran Mor. of Sleepe and Vigilancie: and Plutarke declareth divers opinions of the Philofophers, beside sundry naturalists. But although it is for the rest and health of the Teo much Acepe is very dangerous.

All things are to be vi: u with mederation and Gifcretion.

body, yet it must be taken moderately; Because long sleepe (faith Aristotle) weakeneth the naturall and animall (hirit, even as the moderation thereof doth give them viyour : for many things are necessarie, which neuertheleffe are hurtfull, if they be received excessively. Foode is both needefull and favourie, and yet notwithflanding, if it exceede measure, it harmth, and hath no rellish at all. In like ma-

ner, moderate tranaile is wholefoine; but

vsed with extremity nothing is more damageable. And fo I fay of fleepe, that it thould not be taken but vpon necessitie, for recreation and repose of the sences, the spirits and members of the body.

Ouer-much Sleepe (as it ouer-loadeth the members and fences, making them flouthfull, and enfeebling them by idleneffe) fo it ingendreth fo many humidities in the bodie, that they make it ficke, and killeth it, because in the time of sleep, sickeneth and all the moistures of the bodie (with the killeth the naturall heate) retire themselues to the body. exteriour partes, and then they make no cuacuation of the superfluities and humidities thereof. Alfo, fleepe immeasurably vsed, not onely is prohibited by naturall Philosophers and Phisitions; but likewise it is reprooued by all wise men of vnderstanding . Aristotle fayth , During Aristotia the time of fleepe, there is no difference betweene the wife man and the foole. And questionlesse, although a wife man had not any other occasion to make litle vie of fleepe, but for equalling himselfe with Sleepe equala fortish Ideot; yet hee should anoyd and letha wife fhunne the excesse (though sleepe maintaineth life, and is very wholefome) in confidering with his best cogitations. that he which fleepeth, is not living. And as Plutarke fayth in his Booke of the contention betweene fire & water: The man Plutar, in this that fleepeth hath no more strength or know- cont dely to ledge in his fleeping, then if hee were dead. pliny is of the same opinion, saying; Sleep taketh from vs the halfe part of our life,

Saint Paul, in the fourth chapter of his first Epistle to the Thesfalonians fayth, 1. Thesf. 4.13-Brethren, I would not have you ignorant, concerning them that are affeepe: in speaking these words, hee plainely meaneth death. Then it followeth thus: Such as sleepe in Iesus Christ, will God bring with him. Sleepe likewise is the resemblance of negligence and flouthfulneffe, accorto Saint Gregorie, who faith; For a manto S. Gregorialh. Sleepe, is to keep himselfe and personere in his finnes. If fleeping thus had not beene vnderstood to sinne, Saint Paul would neiust, and sinne no more. A man then may considering, while we are in sleepe, we neither know nor feele, whether wee are living or no. Ouid, and other Poets beside, with men of no mean learning, do call fleepe,

The similitude of death.

uer haue fayd fo many times : Awake yee 1. Corinth 7.9

VVhy Sleepe vvas giuen to Man. Chap.43.

of his life fleeping in his bed; for therein he finneth no leffe then he that fitteth all day at a Table feeding : in regarde, that these things ought not to be taken, but for the fustentation of life, and not the hurt thereof, and of the foule alfo; wherefore fleepe is allowed for fustenance, and not for voluptuoufnesse.

Sleepe to be vied for fuftenance, and not for volup moulnelle.

In what man

ner a man should lie in

How the ftomacke is placed in the bo

by turning v-pon the left fide.

The reason for turning a. gaine on the tight fide to finish sleepe.

Seeing then it should bee employed onely for the health of the bodie; let vs now vnderstand, after what maner a man should lie in his bed for Sleep, to the end it may be profitable to him. I reade. that the most profitable kinde of sleeping for any well disposed person, is first to beenfueth bad digestion, and consequently ginne fleepe vpon his right fide; and afterward (for the most part of the night)

while on the right fide againe. The reafon is, because the stomacke of a man is feated in fuch fort, that the mouth thereof leaneth somewhat more to the right fide then to the left; but the hollow heart or bottome thereof, declineth a little toward the left fide. So that by lying down to fleepe (for an houre or two) on the right fide, the stomacke extendeth it felfe and resteth upon the liner. And hence enfueth two especiall commodities: the wo benefits by fying down and refling on the right fide, and in that preparation, the foode defcendeth downe the more easily : the fecond, that the humidity of the meate receiued, refresheth the liver, and by that refreshing, naturall heate taketh strength in the stomacke, to beginne and cause digestion. After that these two good effects to turne and rest vpon his lest side; and in the ending of his fleepe, to turne a

The benefit haue followed one another, then it shall be fitting to turne vpon the other fide, because by being so turned, the liver cometh and concreth the stomacke, and embraceth it euen with wings, (as it > gestion. Neuerthelesse, it is good in the morning, for a finall confummation of that times fleepe, to turne againe vpon the right fide, to the end that the stomack may beginne to ease and discharge the liuer, and likewise to expell the ayre or fuperfluitie of the passed digestion. This rule is good, and will bee well acknowledged by him that hath a qualified liner.

were) so that his foode retaineth more to the liver, and thereby perfecteth di-

very well shame, to spend the most part | and his stomacke not cold, but that these two members are found and temperate in him. But he that hath an ouer-hot liuer, and a cold stomacke, as many times Of an ouerit commeth fo to passe: it is not good and a colde for him to fleepe vpon the right fide, because the stomacke falling vpon the liner, ties do attend Braineth and presseth it in e erry part, thereon. heating and enflaming it excessively, so that the vpper part of the stomacke continueth vincouered by the superiour part, cooling and weakning it more and more; whereby the very greatest heate of the liuer carrieth and beareth vpon it, all the little left in the flomacke before, whence

keth digeftion; and as for the liver, lying fo aloft vpon the superior part, it is both discourred and discharged, and by that meanes resresheth it selfe, and is not enflome of fleeping on their belly, which

and the superfluities can not be purged

by the mouth, nor by the ordinarie conduites and passages : but remaine in the breast and in the throat, which oftentimes causeth stuffings and suffocations,

phers rule; when the vertues and forces

are vnited together, the operation is fo much the better. But being moderately and indifferently heaped or doubled, the carnofitie which concreth the stomacke,

joyneth the more closely to it, heating

and strengthening it better then before.

These rules whereof I have spoken, are

The wife therefore doe also councell

with Epilepsies and other infirmities.

There are some also, that make a cu-

flamed at all.

a fickly disposition. Wherefore the man Of a cold sto that hath a cold stomacke, and a hote li-macke and in uer, it is not wholesome for him to sleep flamed luer. on his left fide; because the stomacke being wholly couered with the liner, it mahelpeth and comforteth digeftion, be- Of fuchas do cause it assembleth and retayneth naturall heate in the stomacall part, which is belly.

in the better disposition for cuscuating superfluities. The contrary commeth to Offich as fuch as fleepe on their backe, with the fleepe vpon face openly discouered : in regarde that their backe, naturall heate extendeth it felfe abroad, fueth thereor. by which meanes digestion is weakened, and aduife, that a man should not sleepe Officeping too much stretcht out in his bed, because too much thereby digestion is greatly weakned and stretcht out impaired: for according to the Philoso-necessa-

necessary for fuch as bee dainty and deli- word Here: as that of Philip, that of Alexcate, and those of weaker disposition, but that be healthfull, lufty, and able, the best rule that they can obserue, is to keepe the custome which they have bene most vsed

CHAP. XLIIII.

Of an ancient wfe and custome in Spaine, in making their account of times, by thefe words: Here de Cafar: What that Here is, and wherefore, and when the vie thereof was left.

N auncient times they had a custome in Castile. when-focuer they dated writings & instruments of reckoning or worth; they wrote downe the words of Here de Cafar, in fuch fort as we fet downe the yeare of Graco, or of our Lord God, and the same stile was obserued in Chronicles and Histories, as hath bene observed by many diligent Readers. And although this matter hath bin feene and discoursed by many, yet few people have understood the occasion and originall of this vie, neyther wherefore the word is tearmed Here.

In mine opinion, there may bee two good reasons rendred. The first, that this word Here was written with an afpiration, and so have I found it in some places of the Spanith History; although in some other it is not fo. But being fo, we fay, that it commeth of the Latine word Herus, which is as much to fay, as Lord: and thereby it followeth, that Here may be vnderstood for Lordship, Sourraignty, Monarchy, or Reigne and Dominion: and that Here de Cafar, implyeth the Monarchy of C.efar, that is to fay, the beginning of Monarchy, which is understood of Offanius. Of this opinion is Antonius Nebricensis, for in his vacabulary for the Spanish Language, he faith; Here de Cafar, is namely the Monarchy of Cafar. Aftrologers in their accounts, and especially king Alphonsus in his Tablets,

ander, that of Nabuchodonofor, that of Ca. (ar, and many other. And yet notwithstanding, although this may feeme to bee a case cleare and euident, yet there is a kinde of difficulty wherein it is expedient to yeeld fatisfaction. To wit, that as Enfeto yeeld latistaction. To wit, that as injetium, Paulus Orofius, and divers other writ, Christ was borne in the 42 years of the Natury Empire of Octavius: if it be fo, it appead of Christ. reth that Here should anticipate the 42 yeares of Christs Nativity in regard that it hath respect to the beginning of Cafars Empire, according to due confideration. Neuertheleffe, it anticipateth but of thirty eight yeares, according to king Alphonfus his fetting downe: wherefore the Text hath not fayled, for cuermore Here de Cafar, precedeth the birth of Christ thirty eight yeares.

I vnderstand this to ensue from Euse- The difference bius, Orofius, and all the rest, who naming of Witten in the birth of Christ, to bee in the two and dewnether fortieth yeare of the Empire of Octavius; account. begin their account of his Empire, at the first day of his entring Rome, soone after the death of his vnkle Iulius Cafar, where he arriving, was made Captaine with the Confuls Hirtius & Penfacus, against Mark anthony. In fetting downe the account of time fo, and not otherwife, the birth of Christ commeth justly to bee in the two and fortieth yeare of his Empire: notwith stading, they that make their account by Here, leave out source yeares at the beginning. And it feemeth they had good uius had no reason so to doe, because in those 4 first Rome. yeares, Octavius held no commaund in Rome, neyther had the gouernement without refistance: for at the entring of those foure yeares, he had warre against Marke Anthony. Then going afterward to Rome with his troopes, he had the Confulfhip perforce, in the place of Hirtius, he being dead at his comming.

When these things were done, hee made an accord & convention with Mark The Trium Anthony and Lepidus, where they became rauius, Mark all three (one after another) to gouerne Anthony and for a certaine time, and made the cruell proferintion wherehe also alid when bloody profeription, whereby they did put to profeription death divers of the principall me in Rome. Moreover, he and Marke Anthony paffed into Greece, in persecution of the murderers of Cafar, where they fought a battaile nameth the beginning of reignes by the | against Brutus and Cassius: after whose death and difcomfiture, he laft Mark An- | ming to Rome, when his Fishe was flaine. thony in those Eastearne parts, and returned into Halr where he opposed himselfe against Lucius Antonius, the brother vnto Marke Anthony, and befiedged him in * Perufia, confirming him to yeelde to his mercy. Thus having vanquithed and expelled all his enemies, hee came (without any contradiction) to Rome, to gouerne Italy, France, Spaine, and Germany: for Lepidus was in Africa, and Marke Anthony in Afia; therefore his entrance and Seigneury, was foure years after his comming from Greece.

In regard whereof, the account of 1/c-reand Monarchy, beginneth (by good reason) there, which is thirty eight yeares

before the birth of Christ: fo that Eufebi.

ten from the foundation of Rome: &our Lord was borne in the yeare feuen hundred, fifty two, whereby there is a diffance.

of two and forty yeares, all which are granted to the empire of Octavius. In like far was flaine in the yeare of the worlds

creation, fine thouland, one hundred, fifty feuen : and our Lord (after the fame Eu-

(ebias) was borne in the yeare fine thou-fand, one hundred, ninety nine, wherein

there is a difference each from other, of ades, Iulius Cafar was flaine in the fecond

yeare of the 164 Olympiade: and Christ

was borne in the third yeare of the 194.

inclusively; which is also the same difference of two and forty yeares: in which respect, they set the empire of Octavius,

two and forty yeares before the Natimty.

Albeit his true empire began four yeares

after the time when his Here had original,

and thirty eight yeares before the Natiui-ty : for during those foure yeares, hee was no Lord nor Commander, as all the Ro-mane Histories do approue. Plutarch,

Appear, Dion, Suctonius, and more then all the rest, Titus Linius, or to speake better,

Lucius Florus faith, That Octavius com-

If wee come to account by Olympi-

the fame two and forty yeares.

count of Hee and Moearchy milly began, secon ding to the proofe of us, Orofices, and all the reft, who fet downe the birth to bee in the two and fortieth yeare of Octavius his Empire, Coebegin their reckoning, from the day that Julius Cafar was flaine, he being his Vnkle. And this is prooued apparantly, because it appeareth by all histories, that Inlines Cafar was flaine in the yeare feuen hundred and

Peroula m

The death of manner, according to Eufelins, Iulius Ca-

Account made accor

Lucius Floras Epillib.125

was but eighteene yeares of age, and was Confullat nineteene. Then the warres bemy pail and all his enemies wanguifeed and gone; he returned victorioufly to Rome & Aronarchifed in the three and twenty of his age. So that by this account, and likewife that of Titus Linius, the empire of Octanius began foure yeares after the ococranas death of his Vnkle Inlines C.efar, which a- b gan toure greeth with the account of Here, thirty years after eight yeares before the Natinity. Some others doe allow of another called Ære, or the tribute of Cafar, and not the empire of Calar, and that it was tearmed Aera Aera. It is further affirmed, that it was the name of a covne or money, which was reckoned at a certaine

reason or opinion, concerning this liere, The second by writing it with a dipthong ZE, without reafine in aspiration, and they say it is derined of the Herotocome Latine word dera, for come or money, ex tribute mony, Aera conflata, and that it had originall, from the beginning of taxes or tribute money, which was payed to Octabins, and value, and that from the time that was ordered and imposed, so they numbred and counted the Are. Saint Isidore is of Isidor in thes. this opinion, speaking thus. Aera singu- de Etimolo. 16 lorum annorum constituta est a Cofare Augusto, quando primo censu excogitabo Romanorum orbem descripsit. Dicta autem Aera, quad omnis orbis as reddere professus

est respublica. Therefore it appeareth plainly, that this manne of account, came and received name of his money and tribute then payed. So hee auoucheth'in the chapter following, in speaking of the made from Quinquennall yeares, where hee faieth: fine yeares to Ad buc enim Confules, ad buc Aera non five yeares. erant. In like manner it feemeth, that Ambrole Calepine, in his Dictionary gaue this lepinus in Dicdiction such originall, faying. Astrolo- tio. gi quoque initium, à que supputationes incipiant, Aeram vocant : dicta Aera ex co.

quod omnis orbis as reddere professies est rei-

Fryer Alphonfus, of the Order of S. Dominick, in his Euchiridion of times, Alphoni.Fr. hath thefe very words, Another beginning chirid. Temp. came of accounting by the Ere of the fame Octavius, who having the whole world in his hand would know what people be had writer his Empire: and therefore commanded by Edict, that enery one should be registred in the towne of his birth, to the end, they might give

Here de Ca far the Monuchy of

Here de Cx

far obleaned

a we do the

yeare of our Lord God.

The first

reason con-

cer ning the word Here.

cenfun Pacaba

The account or Aftrologers.

The name of Acra deriued from the tribute payed by them.

him (in figne of Seigneury or dominion) a kinde of money; and because this money was of mettall the description thereof was named Aera. So that (according to these Authors)this manner of numbring the years by Heres, came from the tribute which they payed, and it was fo written in Latine. Aera.

A question the beginning dict of taxati

The Edict could not fo foone be knowne in

as necrei

home.

remote part

quellion.

Notwithstanding, there remaineth yet another difficulty, of no meane importance, to wit, it feemeth that the Edict of C.efar began not so long time before the Natinity, as the thirty eight yeares which they count of the Here. Also it appeareth | There were found many other Lands and by the second chapter of S. Luke, that it | Provinces, which had beene registred downe. began in the yeare when our Lord was borne, because he saieth Exit Edictum à Cafare: There came out a decree from Augustus Cafar, and therfore the beginning accordeth not with that of Here. VV herevnto (in mine opinion) answer may bee made, that on the hither fide of the East parts, to wit, those of Italy, France, and Spaine, this Edict might be begun by the commandement of Octavius, when hee had beene enstalled Lord and Emperor peaceably in Rome, which was thirty eight yeares before Iefus Christ was borne: but in Affiria and Judea it was not then made knowne, because the Prouinces remained vnder the gouernment of Mark Authory, vntill they came under the Monarchy of Cafar, nd there is no contradiction to be found, but that eight and thirty yeares (before) he gouerned France and Spaine, and measurably impatronizing himselfe vsed in Spaine, as appeareth by the Spaof the Provinces, hee caused the Edict to be accordingly published. Wherfore it might so come to passe, that the first which was made knowne in those Countries, was that whereof S. Luke speaketh. and yet neuerthelesse, there were other Countries and Provinces, where that

Here had received beginning before.

Venerable Beda sheweth this clearely, writing upon the fame chapter of S. Bedragan I uke expounding the words, Vt describe- 5 lac. retur vniner (us orbis, he farth thus. Sig. nant hanc descriptionem velprimam effe ha rum,qua totum orbem concluserint, quiapleraque iam parte terrarum leguntur fuisse de-Scripta . It Seemeth this description, to bee the first that was universall to the whole world; because before it, many Citties and Townes in particular, had bene described or Cet downe. S. Ambrofe affirmeth as much Ambrof for vpon the faide chapter of Luke, faying : caps.us Lucius Florus, in his abreniation of 133. Bookes of Titus Linius, writeth: That Cx-in Atus, far, soone after hee had vanquished Marke Linus, Anthony, imposed a tribute woon al France.

Christ was borne. But whether the cause arose by the first A finallos reason, of tearming it by the name of He- clubon of the re, or by the last; it is sufficient that it be- two reason, gan eight and thirty years before the Natiuity. This custome of accounting by Heres is very ancient, especially in Spaine, as also among the Arabes and Sarrazines, and I think that the Gothes afterward vied it, and it was not left fo long as the Romanes reigne endured. Ifidore, in writing of the Gothes, and of this Here, approught wifere. it to be ancient. And although I cannot directly fay, when it began, yet I know well enough, that it hath bene long time which was little leffe then thirty yeares before

nish Chronicles, euen vntil John the first, King of Spaine (who loft the battaile of Aliubarata, in the fift yeare of his reigne) Arwhu day commanded, that from thence forward, far selfed the Here de Gafar should no more be vsed in writings and histories, but the birth of Christ; which was in the yeare 1383, and in the Here de Cafar, 1421.

THE.

The Temple

mone the

The End of the Fourth Booke.

OF NOBILITY POLITICALL AND CIVILL.

THE FIFTH BOOKE.

Obility, which many of good, slept to the helme: yea, cuen the the greater forts of wits. with great proofe of vncorrupted verity,& much flowing Eloquence, haue gone about to derine out of divers foundations, is of three forts:

and is divided into Nobility Calestiall, N. Celefial which confifts in Religion: Nobility Philoled Philosophicall, which is got by Morall vertues: phicall, politicall, whereof this prefent Treatife is. Out of the two first forts This Treatife of Nobility, no man can come Noble, exonely Politi- cept that he the fame, be a good man alfo.

all Nobility. But out of this third fort, a man, although he beeneuer so wicked and vngracious, may yet excell the rest of men, euch in the highest degree of Nobility: so as did Caligula, Nero, and fuch others like. The matter of Nebility, was in ancient time accounted of two forts, viz. Theologicall and Morall: For why, Nobility is a thing honourable, and of it selfe laudable: But without vertue, nothing (according to the opinion of Cicero) can be commedable, or praise-worthy. Of which thing, the feate and scituation of the Temple of Honour among the Romanes, was a notable example: whereunto there was no entrance or way, but by the Temple of war-

But by the preposterous innouation and change of things, that Nobility which was proper onely to the good, gane place, and in stead thereof, that Nobility which legitime à Plebeia conditione eximitur & is alike common vnto the bad and to the word Nobilis (or Noble) it felfe, which Political No fome will haue to haue beene fo called, as biny con no will haue to haue beene fo called, as afwell to the who should say, Noscibilis, or remarkable, bad as to the or for some vertue Notable, began to be indifferently taken into both parts good & bad : as nobile Scortum, a noble harlot nobile Scelus, a noble villaine. Neyther in question of Politicall Nobility, are wee any more to haue recourse vnto the Di- In question of unes or Philosophers, and much leffe to the ancient Romane Constitutions (for the most part) discerning all thinges by hauerecourse Magistracies, Charges, and Offices, but or Philofoonely vnto the dispositions of the Princes phers. and Monarchs of the world: who having the power of the government of the world (as it were in a fort common together with God)after their maner, gouerne

Nobility according to their owne pleafure and goodliking, and so have made the same hereditary. And heereof isit, that a firanger, made a Nobleman at Barthol, confin Rome, or elle-where, is not at home ac land mons counted in the number of the Nobility, qua Regione his Prince being thereto vnwilling, and Dignitatum fo contrariwise also. VVherefore, they which examine Politicall Nobility, ac- Principian. cording to any other rule, then the cu-bility refleth Rome of enery Nation, are veterly out of vponthe cuthe way. Yet in this fo great diuerity of tions. manners and customes of Nations in all places, the same Definition of Civili Nobility agreeth vnto them all, viz. Quod fit qualitas, fine Diomitas qua quis

ou of nobility

Two kinder

of Nobility,

viz Dariuc

and Natiue.

5. Booke

per gradus erigitur. That it is a quality or of men (as in all others) a distinction of Adistinction dignity, wherby a man is lawfully exempt and by degrees promoted out of, and about the estate of the vulgar & common fort of people. Of this Nobility, there be two kindes, viz. Nobility Watine; that is to fay, by birth: and Datine, which is by the Princes guift. For as for violent Nobility, fuch as was that of Nemrods, I veterly re-

But that these things may bee made more manifest, we will by certaine of the better Common-weales, euen vnto these our times, deriue the beginning of this dignity, and the manner of obtaining the fame, as it were euen from the first infancy thereof, taking both the matter & the ex- also first in honour. Yet neuerthelesse, amples we therein vie, out of most autheticall and approved Authors, the sentences almost nothing, and much lesse the words, much changed, so that the well affeeled Reader, cannot of right, lay any thing thereof to our charge.

CHAP. 11.

Of the Nobility of the first Age.

Nobility which in Adi was firft Da. began to be Natiue.

Dare contrary vnto the comnobility Datine to have bin before, & more excellent then Nobility Natine, exaple being taken fro Adam hmfelfe. whom all men know to have benemade, and not borne: and verily to have bene a Noble-man (if any other) as formed by God to the Image of himfelfe, endowed with all good gifts, and made Lord and Soueraigne Ruler of all creatures; yea,euen of the whole world. But that coeleftiall Nobility he foone(alas, too too foone) loft, by hearkning vnto his wife : and that worldly Nobility which he yet retained, being vnto his children deriued, began first in them to be Natine, or Nobility by birth. If any man therfore confider Adam his ownerace and Progeny, he must needs confesse all the men of that age, to have bene together Noble. But as in mans body for the preservation of the whole, di-uers functions, and offices of members,

are required; even fo, in that first fociety

persons was necessary : wherefore the first or persons Common-weale, which was of the family first focus, of of Adam, and of his children, confifted men. wholly of Noblemen (to wit) of the children of one Father, and he the same, being a King, a Prophet, and a Priest; but yet not all of them to be with like honour reuerenced. For he, that first Housholder as it were by the decree of Nature, gaue the preheminence and cheefe place vnto his first begotten Sonne, fo long as hee kept the right of his Birth-right, which order other families. Afterward follow- ued. ing, constantly observed: so that he which was first by Nature, should be accounted was it altogether lawfull for the Father of the family, to make choise of his own children, that so according to enery one of their desarts, he might bestow vpon them honours, or take them from them. Of the great number of Adams Progeny, & the discord of the Brethren among themselues, at length arose the division of Families, and fo confequently, the vncer- The division tainty and forgetfulnesse of kindreds, and of Families deadly hatreds and fallings out withall. By warre, the change of mens estates and conditions, and servitudes are brought in. The vanquished, of Noble become base and vnnoble: & contrariwife, the victors, of base persons, became Noble. Men for the preferuation of themselues, have out of families affembled together into Villages; out of Villages, into Citties; and Families to out of Cities haue growne together into haue growne linto Village. Prouinces, and so into most great kingdomes. In dangers and diffreffes, according to the rule of reason, wise men are called vpon for their counfel, valiant men for their aide and defence, vnto whom, as Villages into vnto men most worthy, the gouernment Citues.

Citues Committed; whereas the rest are enforProminers & ced without difference, to obey without Prounterin any respect of their stocke or kindred.

Thefe things to have thus beene in the Iewes State and Common-weale, is vnto all men knowne, which are but eafily read in the old Testament. First that Principality and prerogative, was given vnto the first begotten, you shall easily understand, if you shall diligently consider, that when Adam by reason of his great yeares, was not able longer to attend to the government of the church, and of the common-

Of the Nobility of the first Age. Chap.2.

weale, Seth was made Gouernor, who the | first chapter of Deuteronomy thus plainheld the place of the first begotten. Vnto Seth even for the fame cause succeeded Enoch : vnto Enoch.Conan : vnto Gonan, Mahaleel: vnto Mahaleel, Iered: vnto Iered. Canoc: vnto Canoc, Methulehel, vnto Methusehel, Lamech: vnto Lamech, Noah: who ruled ouer his Progeny an hundred & ten yeares after the Deluge; at which time, the dispersing of his posterity happened. Which difperfion being made, enery one of them bare himselfe as Prince of his owne family, which preheminence paffed still vnto the first borne of that stocke and of the Soldiers; and amongst them were 12

chiefe Princes, especially chosen of the 12

Tribes, who fomtimes were alone by theselues chosen out for some especial commission. But what manner of men Moles made Rulers ouer the Ifraelites, and what manner of companions he chose forth as affiftantsvnto himfelfe in the gonernment

of the common-weale, he himfelfe in the

The first begotten were of their own

Captaines of Centurions,

Captaines of

or cheefe Perions of 15

family: fo that the first begotten of the principall family, still held the same. Neither ought any man to doubt enery one of the Patriarkes to have ruled as cheefe men ouer their owne Tribes and Families vntill that the government of the whole people was delinered oner to Moles. But concerning Mofes himselfe, we reade in the fourth of Exodus, him and Aaron to haue gathered together all the Elders of the children of Ifrael, which was the first Affembly. In the 24. of Exodus, the Lord commandeth fenenty of the Elders of the children of Ifrael, to come vnto him, together with Mofes : which feuenty (in the fame chapter) are as it were by a knowne name called Nobles or cheefe Persons of the children of Ifrael. Mofes beside, oppreffed with the multitude of futes, following the counfel, of Iethro, chose out of the people certain Captains of thousands which should beare rule over a thousand families: others of hundreds, who comone of the twelve Tribes. manded ouer an hundred: others of fifties who had the command ouer fifty: and others of ten, who bare rule ouer ten, & determined of their leffer futes and controuerfies. Now that there were many Captaines of thousands, even in one and the selfe-same Tribe, it is out of holy Scripture manifest; and these men, Moses here & there calleth, The Heads of the Fathers, the Heads of the Tribes, Princes, and Heads ly witheffeth. And I spake water vou the same fesfon, faying; I am not able to beare the burden of you my felfe alone. For the Lord your Princes. God bath multiplied you : and behold, you are this day as the flarres of beanen in number, &c. Bring (from among you) men of wifedome and of understanding, o men knowne in your Tribes that I may make them Rulers ouer you. And you answered me and said that which thou haft faide, it is good for ws to do. And fo out of the Tribes I tooke the Captains (men of wifedome and experience) or made them Rulers over you, Captaines over thoufunds, and over bundreds, over fifty, & over ten of Officers among your Tribes, c. But wee enduced both by the weight of the words, and by reason, are enforced to coiccture, Mofes being a wife man, in this election and choife, to have preferred men for their wisedome & experience famous and wellknowne, both for the gaining of the fauour and obedience of the people, and also for the better government of the common-weale: neyther to have any thing regarded fuch, as boafted onely of the prerogative of their birth; for otherwife, inflead of helpers, he should rather haue affociated vnto himfelfe, the perturbers of the publike peace. Wherefore we fet downe those scauenty Judges by the commandement of God, appointed by Mofes to have bin of the dignity of Senators vnto who fome men adde two moe, 'viz. Mofes himfelfe, and the High-Prieft, as if that fix had bin appointed out of enery

449

Wherefore, by those things which we haue now already spoken, it is enident, as well Datine as Natine Nobility, to have bin in vie amongst the Ifraelites, & sometime even in one and the fame family, to haue paffed vnto the fire begotten alone. or to fome other graced with fome publike Office in some family, whilst the rest borne of the same stock, in the mean time stucke fast within the oounds of them of the vulgar state and condition. And concerning the kings of the Israelites, it is to be thought alfo, asit is of the kings of other nations, that they according to their pleafure, ennobled many, eyther by reafon, or by affection moued and induced fo to do. But let vs now from the lewes, passe ouer vnto the Gentiles.

Qq3

CHAP.

The first diui-

fion of the

mon-weale by Cecrops. CHAP. III.

Tof the first Greeke Nobility.

Othing was cuer more vnconstant the the greek Common weale, with perpetuall changes still floating vp & down. The beginning of their Monarchy, I (as most are wont) will no further fetch, then from Cecrops. He first called the rude Athenians out of the fields. into a civill fociety, built twelve Townes, Grecian comand divided the Cittizens of them into Souldiers, Artificers, Husbandmen, and Shepheards. Euery Citty had Magistrates of it owne, neyther did they but in times of great danger refort vino the King: yea many of them at times tooke vp Armes against their Kings. They which inhabite the Champaine Country, were commanded by some few. The Mountiniers were gouerned by a popular estate, and they which dwelt by the Sea-coast, had a mixt gouernement, in a meane betwixt both. And they which out of the whole body of the people, were called vnto the gotors, and No. uernement of the Common-weale, were bleme, among honored for Princes, Senators and Nothe Greekes, blemen. Plutarch writeth, fisch men as were of greatest power in the Citties to hane bene thrust out by Thefeus, that hee' himfelie might fo alone raigne, yet diuided he the people into Senatours, Hulbandmen, and Artificers: of whom hee cell the rest in dignity: them of the second

fort, to excell the rest for necessary vie: &

them of the third, to exceede the rest in multitude and number. But in the choise of the Senators, he had respect vnto their wealth, their learning, and especially their vertue, which things were required also in the person of the King. For Demosthenes in his Oration against Neara sheweth.

after the Common-weale fet in order by

Thefeus, neuerthelesse by his hands stret-chedout, to have appointed a King out of the number of the which were thought to excell in vertue. Vpon the Senators he imposed the charge of bearing of Office.

to confider and determine of matters of Religion, to interpret and expound the Law and facred rights : and when he was desirous more to encrease the Citty, hee called all men indifferently vnto an equall part of the Common-weale. V Wherefore, in Thefeus his Gouernment, Nobility was gotten by riches, knowledge, and vertue. After the Kings, there was in the Citty a double Democratie, one which confifted a double D: in the power and gouernment of the rimoration cherfort of the Cittizens; and another, Commun. which rested in them all in generall which weale. were free-men. Solon (the discord betwixt the common fort, and them of the richer fort of the people being appealed) after the flaughter of the Cylonians, restored vnto his country, the Democraticall or Popular gouernment, the Oligarchy or gouernment of some few, being quite taken away. He deuised source orders or degrees Foure orders of Cittizens: Thern, which could of their or degrees a dry & wet commodities, fill flue hundred dained by of their measures (called Modif) hee pla- solon. ced in the first order or degree. Them which could fill foure hundred of those measures, hee placed in the second ranke. Them which could fill three hundred, in 1. Mediale. the third, and al the rest in the fourth. And 3. Equite, 3. Zengue. called the first of these Modiales, the se- 4. Thus, cond Equites, the third Zeugita, and the fourth Theta. All publike Offices, he appointed to be committed to them, which were placed in the three first degrees, and they fo having borne Office, were accouted in the number of the Nobility, but vnto the fourth ranke was no publike Office or Magistracy communicated; & therfore that ranke was altogether base and vinoble. But after Solon, Aristides, and Pericles participated the Magistracies, euen vnto the basest and lowest fort of the people alfo, as Xenophon in his Booke concerning the Athenian Commonweal, setteth it down for right and reason, that they, euen of the meaner and poorer fort, should indifferently be called & admitted vnto all preferments in every part of the Commonweale, for that they more profited for the enriching of the Citty, then did they of the Nobility. Euen plaine Cittizens, hauing well deserved of the Commonweal, were therefore among the Athenians ennobled. So Leo, for that he for the welfare of the commonweal, had folemnly vowed his daughters to death, was accounted &

registred amongst the ten Worthies, And Nobility once by the Father obtayned.

ennobled his Children also.

Chap.4.

But the Athenian commonweal was not fo lauish & prodigall in the communicating of Nobility, as was in auncient time the Romaine Common-weale sparing and curious in the bestowing thereof. Wherefore this the Romaine State and Common-weale shall affoord voto vs greater store and plenty of matter of this kinde and nature.

CHAP. IIII.

of the first Romaine Nobilitie.

Omulus to draw strength vnto the city of Rome, but lately beore by him built, ordayned an Afylum or Santtuary, where-vnto the poore and bate people out of Countries and places thereby by flockes reforting, game the first encrease vnto so great a citty. And out of this rabblement of people Romulus chofe an hundred Senatours, which by Junenall the Satyricall Poet is in these verses noted.

> Et tamen vi longè vepetas, longè q renoluas Nom n. ab infami gentem deducis Afylo: Maiorum primus quifquis fuit ille tuorum, Aut Paftor fuit, aut illud quod dicere nolo.

And though from far thou dost repeat thy pedegree & Yet fro the base Afrium thou canst but derive the same: For he that was first Author of thy stocke and pedegre, A Shepheard was, or elfe fuch one, I lift not name to

Then Romulus for their honor, would have to be created, Fathers: and for their age, Senators, and both them and their progeny he appoynted to be of the ranke of them that were of the Senatours difcended. But afterward, the Commonweale being communicated also with the Sabines, he chose out another hundred. Tarquinius Priscus (or as some other rather would haue it) Brutus added vnto them another C. called the Senatours of the meaner fort of the People. Valerius Publicola, after the Kings were driven out, chose threescore and soure more then an hundred, of the order of Gentlemen (in stead of so many Senitors slaine by Tarquinius Superbus) which were called Adlects, or men chosen : for after the kings drine out, such as he saw to be wife, ancient, and of approued honefty, he atcribed into the Senate as into the most grave & reverend Counsell . After those Adletti, first foundations of the Romaine Common-weale thus layed. Cittizens of Rome discended of the stocke of Senators (who before had borne the chiefe and greatest Honors) were by the Dictators, Cenfors, or Triumuirs, created Senators, and afterward also of the Order of Gentlemen were called into the Senate.

Wherefore, the Order of Patricif, and Ordo Equeller, of the Senatours, to have ennobled fuch of the order of gendemen as were thereof, there was neuer anie doubt; but concerning the order of Gentlemen, some there be, which make queftion. Tiraquellus thinketh the Romaine Gentlemen to have holden the middle place betwixt the Patricij (or them which were discended from Senatours) and the Plebeij or Common People: for that Tacitus calleth them Illustres, or men of marke. Martiallalfo calleth the Order of Gentlemen, the Leffer Order and the Order of Senators, and of them that were discended of Senatours, the Greatest Or-

Many are also of opinion, Nobilitie to haue beene giuen amongest the Romaines, by the bestowing vpon them Rings of Golde: and most certayne it is, The golde fuch gift of Rings to transferre the state ring. and condition of a Free-borne man vnto them to whom they were fo given, without which free estate no Romaine was deemed capable of Nobility. But when the vie of rings of Golde began in Rome, it is not manifest. Pliny writeth it of long to have beene the Badge or Cognifance of them which were about to goe Ambaffadours vnto forraigne Nations, and the rest of the Senators, to have beene without them: nevther was it the manner and fashion for anie other to vse them, then such as had for that cause publiquely receyued them. And fuch Golderings they vsed onely abroad, and iron rings at home in their houses.

But afterward, the custome of wearing of Gold rings beganne to be vsed of all the Nobility, as it is written in Titus Linius in his ninth booke, in these words; The Senate to have burnt with fuch rage, and disdayne . because Cneius Flauius a late freed man was made Ædilis, that ma-

Fathers. Senatones.

A new division of the Athenian peowould have them of the first ranke, to exple by Thelem.

Princes, Sena-

Horses: wherein Plinie witnesseth many to have beene deceived, which thinke them of the order of Gentlemen to have then done the same. For that (fayth hee) is also added : but the Trappings were also lavde aside, for which the name of Gentlemen is put too. It is also recorded in the Annales, Rings to have beene then layde afide by the Nobilitie, but not by the whole Senate in generall. Whereby it is manifest, that the Gentlemen as then had no right to weare a Ring, and that it belonged but vnto the Nobilitie onelie; that is to fay, vnto the Patrici, and the Senators, although they were not themfelues Patrici; that is to fay, difcended of their gold Rings, and Trappings of their

The dignitie

The right of

wearing of a Ring, to who it belonged.

Senators, for that the dignity of a Senator gaue beginning to Nobilitie. But after that Indiciall causes were translated from the Senate vnto the Gentlemen, the vie of Rings together withall, passed vnto them also; which was not then so much the cognisance of Gentlemen, as it was of Indges, and yet not of all them, but of them which were of greatest dignitie and honour. Rings (fayth Piny) divided the other Order from the vulgar People, as soone as they once beganne to be men of marke and fame, and afterward. But Rings verily put a middle and a third Order or Degree of men, betwixt the Common-people, and the Senators or Fathers : and that name which horses of service before gave vnto men, this name (I fay) the Judges now give vnto money: neyther was that long agoe done : for Augustus the Emperour, difpoling of the Courts, the greater part of the Indges wore Iron Rings, and they were not called Equites (or Gentlemen) but Iudices (or Iudges.) The name of Equites (or Gentlemen) rested in the troops of publique horsses. But afterward, in the ninth yeare of the reigne of Tiberius, when the Order of Gentlemen was come into an vnion (for so he termeth it) order was taken for the credite of the wearing of Rings, as that they should be vnto all Gentlemen common. And at length (faith hee) when as Caius Sulvitius Galba going about to gaine the credite of a youthfull good name with his Prince by the fines of Tauernes and Victualling houses) had complained in the Senate, my of the Nobility thereupon, laid aside | euen Chapmen and Pedlers to be desended from the penalty of such their misdemeanor, by the wearing of Rings; it was for this cause by the Senate decreed, that it should not bee lawfull for any nean to wear a Ring, but vnto him who being fice born, both by his father and grand-father by the Fathers fide, was valued at 40. Sestertices. And by the Law Fulsia concerning the Theater, to fuch as had place and did fit in one of the foureteene orders or degrees. Heereby it came to passe, that they feemed to be of the Order of Gentlemen, which did weare golde Rings, for that it was not lawfull for any fo to doc. but such as had a Gentlemans substance. And therefore Suetonius writeth, Iulius Cafar when as in exhorting of his Souldiers, he oftentimes shewed the finger of his left hand, and faid, that he could willingly, for their fakes, be content to pluck off his owne Ring; to haue been thought in fo doing, couertly to have promited vnto eueric one of them, the right to weare a Golde Ring, and the fubitance of a Gentleman. But after that it was permitted to all Gentlemen indifferently to weare them; that marke (fayth Plinic) beganne to bee indifferently of all men defired: For before, Gentlemen and Indges were knowne by their Iron Rings; but at length, whilest the Order of Gentlemen is seperated from the Free-bornemen, the wearing of Rings was communicated with them that were bond-men, and of feruile condition : that is to fay, with fuch as were of bondmen and flaues. become free. Howbeit this right of wea- Ingenuitie of ring of gold Rings, was not wont in ancient time to be given to any other, but to fuch as had right manfully and valiantly behaued themselues in the wars; neither was the right of wearing of a gold Ring, euer giuen to flich, as were of bond-men made free, except they were also made free-men borne, (which was in auncient time a Priviledge not to be granted but by the Prince.) And it was alwaies in ancient time, accounted a greater matter to be a freeman borne, then to be rewarded with the right to weare a gold Ring: For that sheweth vs euen from our birth to be freemen born, whereas this right of wearing of a gold Ring, indeed, either blottes out, or as much as it can, washeth away the staines of seruitude, yet so, as that the

Statues or 1-

Chap.4. figne thereof for euer remaineth. But the | were. As for their Studies and Cloffets. creating or restoring of a man vnto Gentry, commeth nearer vnto Nature, which bringeth with it all the commodities of naturall Gentry, and that belonged onely voto the Prince, to restore agayne a man banished or cast into exile, voto his former estate and place: who becing fo restored vnto their bloud or birth-right, were not onely ingrafted into the number of the cittizens of Rome, but also inrolled among the Quirites; that fo, they might be partakers of all the honours and offices of the Common-weale. Therfore it is of Pliny called jus Quiritum; that is to fay, The right and Prinilege of the Quirites. The right of

There was also among the Ancients, a certaine right of hauing of Images or Statues, which was by the Senate giuen vnto fuch, as had notably borne some great Office, or worthily descrued some great honours, which was not fo much for the marke and figne of Wobilitie, as of the stocke and Family whereunto they were giuen. For, they which obtayned Statues for their stocke and family, there was no doubt, but that they thereunto brought Nobilitie also. And I know not what greater or more excellent thing there was, then to haue the right and power to vie Statues and Images.

Plinie in his nine and thirtie Booke thus writeth; Apud Maiores, Imagines in atrijs erant, qua spectarentur, expresis vultus singulis disponebantur armarijs, ve essent imagines qua comitarentur gentilia funera, semper á, defuncto aliquo, totus aderat Familia eius qui unquam fuerat populus. Stemmata verò lineu discurrebant ad Imagines pictas. Tablina verò codicibus implebantur, & monumentis rerum & magistratuum gestorum. In the time of our Auncestours, Images and Statues were in their Courts to be seene, linely counterfaits and portraictures were in all their Studies and Closets placed, to the end that there might bee still Images, to attend and fet forth the Funerals of fuch as were to be buried of that stocke and Family. And alwayes, when any Gentleman of note and marke dyed, all the whole race of them that were then living of that house and Stocke, accompanied the dead corpes; and from their Armes. lines were drawne along vnto the painted Images of them whose Armes they they were full of Bookes and Records, testifying the Noble 2cts by them worthily performed, and the honourable Offices by them in the State & Common-weale borne and discharged, whilest they yet liued. Whereby it is declared, Statues and Images to have bin rather the fignes of some great Office well discharged, then of any Nobilitie. Neyther, that all the Images, of all that were of the stocke and race of them, to whom the right of Images belonged, were wont to be carried at the Funerall folemnities of their kinfmen, but onely the Images of them, who with great prayle and glorie, had borne and discharged some honourable Office, and who had of the Senate obtavned that right and priviledge.

Wherefore Cicero reckoneth vp this right of having Images, amongst the or-

Of the first Roman Nobilitie.

naments of Magistrates. Such as are, the Gowne, the Senators Robe, the Chaire of E-frate, and, to have the preheminence to deli- Sella cerulis, uer his munde and opinion first : All which things passed not vnto their posteritie, so that they might vie the fame in fuch fort as did the Nobility, of fuch as had beene Confuls, Prators, and fuch like : which the Romain Lawes would have to discend vnto their Nephewes in these degrees; that as well the women, as the men, vnto the Nephewes sonne, should be accounted of the same dignitie that their Ancestors were of . In briefe, he that had brought the right of having of Images into his Family, is to be thought to have done no more, but that his owne Image might be carried foorth at his owne Funerall, and the Funeralls of them of his owne stocke and Kindred; and not, that the Images of his posterity, should also in such Funerall folemnity be carried; but onelic the Images of them who had gotten the like right. And thefe Images were kept at home in their houses, and were carried foorth at the Funeralls of them of theyr house and stocke, for an example of their Noble acts by them done. But concerning Images and Statues, many thus doe thinke, That they which had the Images of their Auncestors, were accounted and called Ancient Noblemen, and those which had but onely their owne Images, were reputed and called New Noblemen: but fuch, as had neither Image of their owne, nor of their Auncestours, they were reputed as base and vnnoble. And yet they of the common fort of the people, hauing obtained the Offices (called Curules, or of the Inory Chayre of Estate) had also their Images. And thus much concerning the right of Images and Statues: Now wil I againe returne vnto Romulus.

As Komulies had divided the people into two degrees or orders(viz.) the order of the Senators, and of the Common perfons, calling their Progeny Patricios and Optimates for the Progeny of the Fathers, and of the Nobility) and the Progeny of the other Plebeios (or a Progeny difcended from the vulgar and common fort of people) fo devided he their Offices and vocations also. Vnto the Patricii or such as difcended of the Senators, hee left the liberall professions (viz.) the bearing of Armes and Offices, the making of Sacrifices, the deciding of controversies in Lawe, and the administration of all busineffes belonging in publique vnto the cittic and Commonweale: But to the Common people he left the bearing of Armes, also the tilling of the ground & the feeding of cattle: other base trades and occupations (not beforming free-men borne) he affigned vnto ftrangers, Marchandize, and fernile ministeries, he wholly committed voto them.

The Romaines themselues he would not have to exercise any base trade, or laborious and painefull bufineffe; vnto whom hee forbad all whonest maner of gaine, for all fuch manner of gaining was thought vnfeemely vnto fuch as were Fathers in the Common-weale: neyther in ancient time could one be chofen Senater, or one of the Patricii, but by an exprefic Law, to that end and purpose propounded to the people, which was the greatest office belonging vnto a King, a Confull, or a Distator. But in what things the Patricii were discerned from them of the common fort of the People, is by many examples tried : for the Patricii which excelled in Nobility, and which were honeftly begotten and well brought vp, had a Tablet or Iewell on their breafts, and little Moones on their feer, for they yied Inory Buckles, crooking horned wife, like vnto the Moone, which they fay was ordained by Numa, that Senators and their posterity, should vnto their black shooes tie Moones, as if by the Character of the Moone, the number of an hundred had beene defigned and figured, in which number the Senators were then contayned. But the Tablet they wore was of Gold, made in forme of an heart, wherewith they of auncient time, are reported to haue also sealed their Letters : which Tablet free-borne boyes, and the fonnes of fuch as had ferued on horfe-backe, vfed to weare, together with the imbroidered Gowne called Pratexta, vntill they were seuenteene yeares olde, which time expired, they then in a folemne feaft hanged it vp voto their houshold, or harthgods, whom they called Lares. Eueric honourable and noble youth wore this Pratenta or imbrodered Gowne about his coat, but after child-hoode past, this Pratexta being left off in the feuenteenth yeare, and fometime in the fixteenth, and fifteenth alforthey put on the gowne (called Toga virilis) or Mans Gowne: that Phareun, or which was imbroidered with Purple, was imbroidered wont to be given only to them whose fa- Gowne. thers had borne the great Offices (called Curules) or fome other great honors. The order of Gentlemen, and the Common fort of People, in anneient time did weare no Purple . The garment of the Tribune of the Feople, and of them of the Comminaltie, was a cloake, fuch as they called Sagi, Endromides, and Cuculli, Caffocks, Mantles, Carolla and Cloakes with hoodes. But in succeeding times, the Commoners indeede did weare Purple, but yet different from that which the Senators wore (viz.) of a darke colour, and died with the luyce of hearbs. and not with the right Tyrian purple die. Beside that , the Patricii, by the institution of Romulus had the Auspieia or offices of Divination belonging vinto them, and the Senate the offices of Priefthood, But this ordinance (faith Diony fins) continued not long, for that al things were made common with them of the Comminalty. And left any man should thinke the dignitie of the Patritil, and of the Senators to be the fame; Tacitus reporteth, the Emperour Claudius to have felected out of the Senate, every one of the most auncient fort of the Senators into the number of the Patricii, there being now but a few left of those families which Romulus called Majorum, and Lucius Brutus, Maiorum Gentium But there is another thing

5. Booke The vic of the

Chap. 4.

Of the first Roman Nobility.

whereat thou wilt happily more maruell, | principis inventutis, Equites Seminarium which is, that the Comminaltie growing strong (as there was a passing ouer from the flate of a Commoner vnto the degree of one of the Patricii) fo diverse of the Patricii also went ouer vnto the Commimaltie, and so became of their numbers. The election of the Senators, according to the alterations and changes of times, belonged fometimes vinto the Kings, afterward to the Confuls, and to the Dicta-

ters. After the kings driven out, we reade, the Confuls to have chosen such of the Patricii as were decreft vnto them, and afterward fome of the Commoners also to bee Tribunes of the Souldiers with Con-

Sulary power, Vntill that it was by the Law prouided, that the Cenfors should Warde by Warde make choice of them in the Senate. By and by after a substance was required for the creating of a Senator, and if he that was so chosen, did afterward wafte and weaken his faid fub-A Senators stance, he lost also his order and degree. Wherefore it is manifest the Romaine Nabilitie to have beene established in the dignitie of the Patricii, and of the Senators, which not to have beene denied vnto the Order of Gentlemen, we gather of that which followeth, although some others be of other opinion . Dieny fius af-euery VV arde. Some of the Gentlemen were fuch as ferued vpon a publike horfe, altogether in the Cittie; othersome of them were fuch as ferued vpon a private horse in the Armie abroad. The publike horse the Censor appoynted, and publique Horse-men, or Gentlemen, he created, as well out of them that were difcended from the Senators, as out of the Comminaltie, who at length were for their substance created also, as were the Sena.

foure hundred thousand Sestertices, which being confumed and fpent, the reputation and dignitie of a Gentleman, therewith took end alfo. Isidore writeth, That although a man were by birth a Senators sonne, yet untill he came to lawfull lawfull yeares yeres, he was but a Roman Gentleman, & accounted but fo afterward came into the order of the Senators. Liny bringeth in Perfeus King of Macedon, thus fpeaking. Equites Romani

Senatus, inde lectos in patrum numerum Consules, inde imperatores creant. The Romaine Gentlemen (faith he) are the Princes of the youth, the Gentlemen are the Seminarie of the Senate, out of them being chosen into the number of the Fathem they create their Generals. The Fothers, they create their Confulls, out of maine Gentlemen did weare the Robe of Eflate, neither could any man be of the order of the Gentlemen of Aome, but that hee must be free-borne. Wherefore, to be a Romain Gentleman, was formewhat a greater matter, then fimply to be a free man borne. Yet Pliny hath written, the wearing of Rings, to have inferted and put a middle and third Order into the People; and them to have begunne to be everie where renowned, and to have divided the other Order from the vulgar fort of People, or the Comminaltie; as if hee should have faide, The Gentlemen at the first to have beene Commoners, but afterward to have been men of better note & marke : which according to the words of Isidore before recited, may feeme to be compared vnto the Senators children, who were accounted among the Equites or Gentlemen, vitill they came vito the Senators age. firmeth, three hundred Gentlemen to have In the question of Nobilitie, not onebeene chosen by Romulus, out of the ly the ignorant, but even the learned almost honourable Families, tenne out of formuch erre, whileft that they agree not vpon the proper fignification of thefe words, Eugenia, Nobilitas, Generofus, Nobilis, Ingenuus, Gentilis; that is, Honour of birth, Nobility, a Gentleman, a Noblemaan, a man free born, a Gentleman, For while they interpret Eugenia the Greeke word, Nobilit as in Latine, (and with vs Nobility) the more generall word is brought in place and steed of the more particular ; or as the Logicians vie to fay, Genus pro Specie, For why, Eugenia or honour of Birth, is tors. But a Gentlemans substance was but the one kinde of Nobilitie, called Natine, (and not allkinde of Nobilitie) requiring a certaine antiquitie of stocke, of riches, and of vertues as Aristotle would haue it) whose words are these: Non diuites, neque bons, sed qui à virtutibus, diuitijs, velantiquis bonu descenderunt Eu-

genes funt habendi : Not the rich men only, neither the good men alone, but they which have descended from Ver-tues, Riches, and good Auncestors, are Senatore fonne, vnuil he

Apublique

Gentleman

A Tablet

Why the Ro mans void di Character of the Moone on decria

gely a man

to be accounted Noblemen borne.

Eugenia'or Nobiliticof bath.

Nobility of birth, which is called Eugenis is of Ofores defined: Splendor vel dignit is genera in quo maxima virtutes extiterunt vita Communi falutares & commoda. The lafter or dignity of stocke, wherin most great vertues have flourished, wholefome and commodious for the common vse of mans life. Which oforiss affirmeth, to be as it were subject to rottennesse, and with olde age to be able to be confumed and ended. But this rule is not in our Court received. Symon Symoneus in these words reproducth Oforiw, his name beeing concealed, or elfe some other man of the same opinion with him. Supine loguntur qui aiunt quemadmodum (umma Senectus mentis vini & consilium debilitat, sic etiam Nobilitatis plendorem mediocri vetustate augeri, extrema vero Senecta confici. They speake ydly (faith he) which fay, that as great old age doth weaken the force & judgement of the minde fo also, the glory and lufter of Nobilitie to be with moderate antiquitie encreased, but yet to be with extreme olde age extinguithed. For as the similitude (faith he) agreeth not, fo neyther doth it well conclude : For the more auncient that a Stocke or Family is, by fo much the credit and reputation thereof is greater. And yether the fayde Simon forgetting himfelfe in another place stumblethat the same stone, by setting bounds and limites vnto the fame Eugegenia, or Natine Nobilitie, and by decreeing that a long and continuate race of Noble Progenitours, in whom great vertues have oftentimes shined vnto the number of three difcens, doth make a true Noble Stocke, or Eugenia . And that the beginning of a Stocke or Familie, is no further to be derived, then from the fourth Predeceffor, left in fearthing further, even Kings themselves (as fayth Place) Thould be derined from Slaves, or slaves from Kings.

Of this Eugenia or Natine Nobilitie, all ages have best thought, but yet so, as that all the right of Webiletie should vpon it be ground ; for a man may be Noble, although he be no Eugenes, or from Nobiles discended; yea, he may be more honourable then he which is fo difcended, although not fo ancient a Gentleman . As a new made Earle, compared with an

Elauire of a most auncient Family. As Apathocles, of a Potter made a King. What was Romelus? VVhat was Tullus Hostilius? And what was Tarquinius Prif-But let vs now come to fearch out the fignification of the aforefaid words: The Romaines divided their People into Freemen and Slaves; of Free-men, some were of Bond-flaues made Free-men (whom OfFicemen) they called Libertini) other-fome, were fone were Free-men borne, (whom they called Inge forewere nui.) The Libertini were Cittizens of Free men Rome, who were three wayes manumifed boine. or made free; that is to fay, by will or Testament, or in the open Congregation or affembly of the people, or before fome publique Magistrate which had power fo to doe. And hereupon happily in auncient time, when as this our Kingdome was much oppressed with seruile state and condition, the word Francklin, for A Franklin, a man made free, or enfranchised, was in vie, except you had rather it to have beene vied, for a Free-borne-man.

But they were called Ingenui, or Freeborne-men, who neyther themselues, neither their Auncestors had ener serued as Slaves . And their Ancestors they reckoned vp, euen from their Grand-father, which is enident by these words of Linie. An unquam fando audistis Patricias primes effe factos non è Calo dimiffos, fed qui patrem Cicere Auumque possint ? Did vou cuer heare it spoken, the Fathers to have beene first made, and not sent downe from Heauen, but such as could reckon vp their Father and Grand-father: that is to fay, nothing but Free-borne-men. Freedome of birth , opened a way.vn- logenuitie or to all degrees of Honours, which (cuen Birth. as Politicall Nobilitie) was cyther Natiue, or Datine: that is to fay, by birth, or by gift. Datine Freedome was by certayne Magistrates ginen , and ac length onelic by Princes themselues, and that two maner of wayes, the one fecretly and not fo plainely, by the gift of a Ring, the other more expressely by name and perfectly, by restoring of men to their birth or blood. And whereas men of seruile condition were but by one name called and knowne, Free-borne-men, and Men of free estate and condition, had two or moc names. And the name which they tooke from their Stocke or Familie, is called Gentile

Who are to be accounted ettocke and fame name of Cicero began to be Gentile or proper to that Family, as to Cicerothe Orator, to his Brother, and to their pofterity. Tully in his Tropicks defineth, Gentiles elle aut eodeminter le l'unt nomine, aut ab Ingenuis oriundi funt, quorum Maiorum nemo seruitutem seruierit : qui Capite non funt diminuti, them to be Gentiles (or of the fame stocke and family) which are among themselves of the same name discended of Free-borne-men, none of berty, state, or Country. They which were called Gentiles (or of the faine stocke or family) were of neceffity to bee discended from Ingentior Free-borne-men; for that of Slaues, and of them whom they called Libertini or men of flaues made free there is not flock tility, or of having of a Stocke and Family, although it was different from 2\(\text{obili-}\) ty, yet is it not to be doubted, but that it was in great effective & renerence among the Romaines, and to them, to have aboue all things defired to bee called Gentiles, as men that had beene difcended from some good slocke or kindred. And that defire hath euen yet vnto this day possessed all Haly.

For among the Venetians they are called Gentilhuomini, who derive their flock from the first Inhabitants of that Island; and which are themselves Patricy, or difcended from the Senators. And that word Gentilhuomo, as it were by hand delinered from the Italians to the Frenchmen; from the Frenchmen removed to vs; and at the length, together with the new place of dwelling, hath begunne to put a new fignification, differing from that which Gentilis or Gentilitas was of, amongst the auncient Romaines.

For it is falle which some, & they learned alfo, have delivered, Gentilitie to have

Gentile, or proper to them of that race or beene proper onely vnto the Patricia: for kindred. And yet it is to be noted, names why, it was common vato the vulgar fort ginen by chance, fomtime to becom pro- of the people (as was Innemaly it felfe) per to a flocke or family. As Tulling was a which appeareth by this one place of Saname proper & peculiar to a Family, but etonius. Patricia gens Claudia (fuit cliam Cicero was a name gotten by chance, and de alia plebera nee petentia minor nee aignifaigned of the Pulle called Cicer, (or the tate) orta est in Regillis. The Claudian Cichpeafe) the forme whereof one of that flocke and family, of the order of the Paefamily had upon the end of his note, who 'tricy', (for there was another house of thereof was first so sirnamed : but that them also of the Comminalty, neither in power nor in dignity inferiour to the other) rife vp at Regilli. But they feeme to have beene deceived, by that which Liny writeth, Romalus to have created an hundred Senstors, which he called Majorum gentium (or of the greater families) and Brutus another bundred allo , called Afinarum octium (or of the leffer families.) But this prough not, that we must therefore grant, only them of the order of the Patricij, to have had a stocke and family; whose Ancestors had serued as slaues, or neither did this fo calling of them, Maiorum and Minorum gentium, divide them had beene condemned to loofe their lifrom the common people, but the felues among themselves only; for that, whereas they were all chosen of Free-borne-Cittizens (and which had their flocke and family) yet fuch of the as Romulus had created, brought the honour of the order of the Patricii sooner into their stocke and or family. Wherefore, the right of Gen; family, then did they whom Brutus had freed vnto them. They are also called Gentiles, who in likenes of name agree among themselves (although there be no kindred among(t them at all.)

Among the Athenians they were called Genita, that is to fay, Gentiles, not they which were joyned among themselues in stocke or blood, but were of these fort of people, who, divided into Wardes, grew into a certaine fociety and fellowthip among themselves. For among the Athenians there were foure Tribes, and eneric Tribe was divided into three Wardes, which made twelve VV ardes. And cuery VV arde was divided into thirty parts, which they called Gentes or Kinreds. But againe to the purpofe.

VVhy a flock or family among the Komaines is go be derived from the Grandfather, neyther could confift but in two at the leaft(viz) the grandfather and the father: Somethinke the reason thereof to be, for that the Latine word Gens fignifieth a multitude, which requireth mo then one: and yet Gens feemeth to be called, as

Rг

the grace

the: cot from Nature.

it were Genes (that is to say a stock or kin- | Eagle bringeth not forth a Done, so nevdred) the Letter V. beeing taken away. Howbeit these two words differ, the one that good men are begotten of good Paof them from the other for that Genus fignifieth a flocke and beginning ; but Gens and Houses.

Ingenuity, or freedom of birth, had the Ingenuity.bath Ornaments thereof from nature, and had respect vnto liberty, which it still deriued from the Grand-fathers. But Gentility was a matter of the civill Law, and was i eferred vnto the ancientnesse of Agnation (or kindred by the fathers fide) differing from the other onely in antiquity of stocke: for it is not needfull to derive or take Agnation farther then from the Father.

Which if it bee fo, then Gentility and Nobility are all one and the same thing. And they confound Gentility (wherof the common people no leffe vant and boaft, then doe the Noblemen) with Nobility: which deny him to bee a Noble -man by birth, but he whose Grandfather was Noble; neither agree they with themselves, when they dare to affirme (but by vyhat authority I knowe not) Nobility together with the feed of the Parents to bee paffed ouer vnto their posterity, according vnto that faving of Mantuan:

Qui virit in folijs venit à radicibus humor : Et patrum in natos abeunt cu semine mores.

The beauty of the fairest branch. doth from the roote proceede: And so the Fathers manners do in their off-fpring abide. And otherwise out of Horace: Est in Inuencis est in equis patrum Virtus : neg, imbellem feroces Progenerant Aquila Columbam. In Bullockes, and in Horfes eke, the Syres worth we proue: Nor doth the hardy hagle hatch, the weake and fearfull Done.

By which Analogies, the learned Poets verily went about to stirre vp Noble and couragious youths, to the imitating of their Fathers vertues, being otherwise not ignorant Wobility whereof we intreat to be a thing civill or Politicall, & not na. turall. And indeed of vnreasonable creatures, there be divers kindes, but of men there is but one fort. VVherefore, as an

ther doth a man beget a Hare. But admit rents, and valiant men, of valiant fathers. But if this be vnto mankinde proper, why importeth as it were a certain multitude are not good and valiant children begotof Stocks, and of beginnings of Families | ten by good and valiant common perfonsalfo? t or why, they are men alwel as the other, but nothing is then this rule more deceitfull. For through the corruption of mans nature, we see it oftentimes to happen, an vnthrifty fonne to be born of a thrifty Father: a foole, to be begotten of a wife man; a Coward, of a valiant man. Neither is this now any noueltie or new matter, but such as tooke roote euen in the first corruption of our Nature. For accurfed Caine was the first begotten fonne of Adam, a most good father, and of him the same was good Abel begotte. lacob also and Esau , were the twinnes of a most blessed father: of which two, God loued the one, and hated the other. And if there be any thing of great operation. which is passed over together with mans feede, it is alcogether vice; so farre off is it from being of any vertue, which is cuer with labour and study begotten, but born neuer. An Emperour (as Ferretus Writeth) for his bodily substance is no better then other men; and yet for the highnes of his dignity, is most like vnto God. Demost henes faith alfo, wicked Sonnes (as it were by a certaine fatall destinie) to bee borne of good Parents. It is also common'y faide in the Greeke Prouerbe, The mufortunes of the Worthies sonnes. VVhat should I produce the Mathematicians and Astrologers, which affirme Nobilitie and Ignobility much more certainly to depend of the force and influence of the flarres, then of the constitution of parents. And yet the vulgar fort, and not without cause, vieth to expect some greater thing in Princes children, then in poore mens; of which their hope and expectation, there are many causes alledged, as the great means Noblemen have, for the best bringing vp and instructing of their children (for it is a shame vnto the sonne if he should degenerate from his Father, being a Nobleman.) In briefe, the plenty of Kinsmen and Friends, giving the good Counsell. Neither was the Poets minde any other, if you marke his conclusion.

Of the first Roman Nobility. Chap.4.

side qued m. grass didiciffe idelier artes : Lucil motes net first effe

Dolfrina fed vim premonet infitam; Rellique cultus pestora roborant.

Instruction, helpes Dame Natures powres, And teaching, ftrengths those mindes of ours. By Natures ingrafted or hidden power, hee understandeth certayne seedes of vertues, which by the goodnesse of God alone, are yet in mans Nature, which become not otherwise fruitfull then do the feeds of Hearbs, according vnto the maner and fashion that they are manured & ordered with; fo that a man well brought vp,may much more easily obtayne Philosophicall Nobilitie, then can a man that hath beene well borne. Wherefore poore Countrey-mens

Children, who know nothing more then their beafts and cattell, feeme rather to be rude Siluans then men. Whereas others, borne in better place, euen in the fame Schooles, and in the fame Studies, striue with Noble-mens Children, and would to God they did not fo do, both with greater profit and praise. Other reasons yet remaine, which

proone Politicall Nobilitie not to bee a thing substantiall, but meere accidentall: for why, it may be both present and abfent, without the corruption of the fubiect whereof it dependeth; fo that the passage thereof may be letted by some heynous offence committed. It is also loft by voluntary departing or relinquithing of the fame (when as Nature in the meane while cannot be thrust away with a forcke) which wee reade to have beene | great offence of the father come betwixt: done, of many of the Romaine Patricij, who refusing their Patriciat dignity, took on them the state and condition of the vulgar fort, or Commoners. Now many, through the Lawyerstermes, are in this matter deceived, who call the extinguithing of Nobility for some offence committed, The corruption of blood : which manner of phrase and speech, they vse not, for that Natine Nobility is naturally and effentially in the humour of blood, more than other hereditarie facultie, but because the right of inheritance, which is by the degrees of the communication of blood directed, is by that meanes determined or ended, & in hatred of the crime, it is called Corruption, with the infection whereof, all their children are polluted

Neither can a stronger argument be

denifed, to proue Nobility not to be mingled with the blood, then that the Nobility of the Grandfather ennobleth not his nephue by his fon condemned to lofe his liberty, frate, or country . Of which this ciuill institution, a naturall reason is giuen; to wit, for that an vnable mean letteth & hindereth the extreams to be joyned together. But yet it was wont to be demanded with vs, no otherwife the it was long agoe with the ancient Romains, whether the nobility of the father being a Senator. do profit his fon, being borne before his father had obtained that dignity? And whether fuch Nobility in the fon, be Mitine or Datine? Whereunto I antwer, The child by our custom, to be immediatly by his fathers nobility ennobled, & their chil dren, like the boughes of a tree, remoued into a richer ground, are green & florish with the fame new moyfure that the bodie of the tree doth . And fuch Nobility hath deferued to be called Natine, for that it extendeth not but to them, which are borne of such a father. As for example: A Baron, being honored with the title of an Earle, his first begotten fon forthwith taketh vnto him the title of fome Barony, and all his daughters are faluted Ladics and Madames. Wherfore we conclude Natine nobility to be drawne from the father, & not to be needfull for vs to feek for it further: for it may be that formine it canot be derived ther then ho from the grandfather, as in case that some the father. for a man born of a noble father is without all doubt by difcent noble. But if anie man wil contend him not properly to be Eugenes or nobly descended; I answere, the common fort of people most of al, do respect the same, but the Indiciall Court to haue thereof no care at all. For otherwife fome new Princes should be of lesse Nobility, then some meane Noblemen, if the privileges of Nobility should be bestowed, after the ballance of proper and true Eugenia. Adde moreouer, that if true Eugenia should be vrged, it requireth not only our great grandfathers gradfathers, but even all the rest of our auncestours in continual order, after them to be Noble, Rich, profitable for the Common-weale, good me,& without spot or imputation.

An hard speech indeed, but an harder rule, and a consequence, of all most hardeft:

Natiue No-

Chap.5.

hardest: Such a noble discended person, | and family of their Mothers, and from is a rare Bird, and yet some such there be: but concerning that matter, heare Aristatles opinion. Eugenia, verily (faith he) I have found but in few, and no where an hundred good Eugenes. Wherefore the Athenians called their Noblemen by more viuall words , Eupaterios and Eupatriles, as who should fay, Menborne of Noble fathers: although I do know these words to be oftentimes confounded with were a Slaue or base common person;

ft to be no hard thing to affirme, that Nobility may be derived from the mother.

the word Eugenes. I have frankly affirmed Nobilitie to diffeend from the father to the children; and what if I should fay the same force to be in the Mothers nobilitie also? Surely, both reason and the opinions of Doctours, and ancient customes also, will be present for the desence of this cause. If Nobility draw any thing naturall at all from the Parents, almost the whole constitution of the Childe, is to be giuen vnto the Mother. It hath also such Thape (if we may beleeve Philosophers) as the Mother conceineth, together with tence : Iam depulso Nerone, quisnam elithe feede. For first, it taketh life from the Mother, it taketh likewise nourishment of and from the Mother, encreasing from the Mother; and in briefe, by the confent of all men, it, together with spirit and vitall humour draweth from the mother, aff. ctions, Vertues and vices. And that such power is in the Mother, it is manifest by the precepts of Phisitians, who command Parents to be most carefull to what Nutfes they put their children to be nurfed. In briefe, if the vertue of the Father be in the children to be renerenced, why should not the Mothers be so also. The manner of the Sex, doth neither diminish nor encrease Nobilitie, which is for it selfe to be defired. Nay, in tender women it seemeth to have both more admiration and grace.

It is of a certayne Lawyer well written; That amongst the causes for which the honour and dignitie of persons, is encreased or diminished, that is of others the lightest, which is drawne from the difference of the Sexe: I lpianus reporteth, the fonnes of the women of the Ilienfes, of Delphos, and of Pontus, to haue beene affigned vnto the houses of their Mothers, and not of their Fathers . Plutarch writeth, that amongest the Xanthy, the Sons were ingrafted into the stocke them the name of the stocke and kinred to be derived, and not from their Fathers. The fame thing Herodotus reporteth of them of Licia: as that they should take the name and credite of their flocke and kindred from their Mothers, and that he was with them a free-borne-man, and Noble, that was borne of a free-bornwoman, and Noble; although his Father yea, and by the Lawes of the Romaines, the Sonnes in some cases follow the beginning of their Mothers. Neyther is it a thing vnheard of with vs, nor with other Nations, Sonnes to have taken vnto themselves names from their Mother. which were of greater nobility then their Fathers; as Rainatus de Clara. Spartianus and Trebellius Pollio, haue written, Macrianus or Macrinus, to have beene by his Mother noble, his Father being but onely a valiant and martiall man. You may alfo with Cornelius Tacitus reade this fengeretur inquirebant, & omnium ore Rubellius Plancus, cui Nobilitas per matremex Iulia familia. Nero being now deposed, greatinghiry was made, who should bee chosen, and Rubellius Plancus was in euery mans mouth, who was nobly borne by the mothers side of the Iulian Family. And from these, Virgil, Ouid, and Statius Papinius difagree not, whose verses I have thought good heere to fet downe.

Genus buic materna superbum Nobilitas dabat : incertum de Patre ferebat. His Mothers noble birth, to him did give a noble race For by his fathers fide he was, born but obscure & bale

OVID.

Est quoque pet matrem Cylenonen addita nobis

And by my Mother Cylenonie, Is doubled my Nobilitie.

IDEM.

Hinc funt Euander, qui quanquam clarus viroque, Nobilior fane, fanguine matris erat. (were From hence did old Euander come, who thogh he noble By both fides , yet by Mothers blood, more noble did (appeare Sed quicquid patrio ceffatum est sanguine, mater Redaidit, obscurumque latus clarefeere vidit Conulito ganifis domus. Stemmate materno (alix, virtute paterna.

PAPINIVS.

What

What wanted in the Fathers blood, the Mothers did requite the same; And the base house reloyced much, by fuch a match to grow to fame. By Mothers Stocke accounted bleft. And Fathers vertues with the best.

Now the Reason which many Doctors bring, to prooue the Sonne to be partaker of his Fathers Nobilitie, is this; Eucrie thing compound, partaketh of the forme and matter which agreeth to both the parents. Wherefore, where the Law repugnethnot with reason, this rule is to bee holden for true.

And now concerning Nobilitie Natine (or by birth) I have thus much spoken: and from hence I will directly proceede vnto Nobility Datine, or to Nobility which commeth by gift.

CHAP. V.

¶ The diners beginnings of Nobilitie

Being about to fearch out the other kinde of Politicall or Civil Mobilitie (viz.) Noblitie Datine, and that even from the first beginning thereof, certayne things before fayde.

sceme heere necessarily to bee againe called vnto remembraunce. Their argument is first to be refuted, which say: That feeing Adam was a common Fa-ther vnto all men, whereof commethit, that one man should be better then another ? It is thereunto answered out of the fame Olde Testamens, out of which the question is rifen, beeing of the like Authoritie and credite both with the Christians and the lewes. Noah when he had planted a Vineyard, and had tasted of his planting, having drunke of the wine, lay drunken and bare in his Tent. And Cham feeing the prinities of his father, tolde it to his brethren, who woon a naturall honestie and vertue, with a Cloake cast whon their shoulders couered their sleeping father with their eyes turned from him, and not Seeing their Fathers nakeaneffe . But Noch awaked, and knowing what his younger Sonne had done unto him, be curled cham. commaunding him to be a flane of all flanes. By this shamefull and voworthic fact, Cham with all his generation, carryed away his Fathers curfe, feruitude, and the Title of obscure and base persons; whereas contrary-wife, Sem and Lapher found all the Names and Titles of Honestie, Nobilitie, and Vertue, and their Fathers bleffing withall.

The Datine Nobilitie, whereof our Nacificie the present speechis, was for many causes carde of Norayled and invented. And first of all, vppon vrgent necessitie. For when as euill and wicked men prenayled, and good and honest men were oppressed: it was necessarie the good to be distinguifhed from the badde, and for the preservation of the publique tranquility, to be seperated and divided from them: wherefore, wife, infl, and vertuous men, and the lights, as it were, of the world, thining before others, were fet ouer the reft, that they might bee voto all men an example of godlie and honest life, that they might decide and determine all things. And at that time fuch wife men and prouiders for the Common-weale feemed by vertue to procure vnto themfelues Nobilitie. For the olde Prouerbe prenailed with them : Vertue, and not blood to ennoble men. Such men were by the People called, chosen, & appointed Counfellers and Judges, who by their fubiects were elected and created Aines and Princes. And they, which for their worthy deeds had obtained fuch honourable Titles and Offices, ennobled both themselues and their posterity.

Another cause also why Nobility be- The ignorice gan to be honoured, was the Ignorance & of the vulcar vnskilfulneffe of the vulgar and Common fact. fort of people, who have their fence, reafon and understanding so dispersed and feattered, as that they cannot gather, difcerne, or judge any thing certaine, firme, or found. VVherefore, for the maintenance of the publike peace and tranquilitie, it was necessarie to make choice of Princes (that is to fay, of Gouernours) men, for their vertue and wifedome, famous and Noble, who might compose and fet in order the troubled estates. for lacke of knowledge difordered, and Rr 3

5 Booke.

Wealth and riches.

Noble after.

Men immedi ately by God Nobilitie.

Knowledge in martial offair!

with fingular wisedome, and action, as it were by a certaine cunning, drawe the rude people vnto a more civill kinde of life, and courtefie of behaviour: fuch as were Iupiter, Pallas, Ceres, Bacchus, Apollo, and many others. And these men, by their wisedome, vertue, and skill, obtayned not onely the Titles of Nobilitie and Dignity, but were of the vnskilfull multitude, accounted for gods also, and received from them even divine honors.

We see Nobilitie to haue risen also, of the aboundance of wealth and riches: for many pinched with extreame pouertic, enforced to hang vpon the richer fort, and giving themselves altogether ouer into their power, reputed them for them, and honoured them. Nobilitie also beganne of Noble and worthy acts done; for in auncient time,

oppressed, if any valiant and couragious man had from such oppression deliuered his Country, he therefore was about other men worthily honoured. Many also thence to have afterward sprung vp and in ancient time by Martiall prowesse obrisen. All their Offices were executed tained Nobility, and therefore of the peo- by Tribunes and Lieutenants. There was ple accounted Noble: as was Danid for a greater Tribune, who was next vnto the death of Goliah the Philistine. Some, the Emperour and his successour. There immediatly from God were elected and called vnto Nobilitie, as Iofua, Gedeon, Ieptha, and the rest of the Indges of Ifrael, who were Generalls ouer great Armies: othersome, were againe by God chosen enen from the Plough, to be rulers oner the people, as the Princes of the twelue Tribes of Ifrael. King Saul called out of the field: David from feeding of his flock, who thought themselues vtterly vnworthy of fuch a princely calling. But fuch as God hath ennobled, are of vs about all others to be accounted most noble.

Yea, no finall part, but even the greatest part of Datine Nobilitie, gained vnto themselves honor and glory by their skil in martiall affaires, carrying home with them victory and triumph ouer their enemics : fo as did Horatius Cocles, Titus Manlius, Scipio Affricanus, and his brother L. Scipio Afiaticus : I speake not of great Emperours, fuch as were Velpatian, Domitian, Nerus, Traian, Antonius, Seuerus, Theodolius, and many others, who were of Cateline, hath called them Distatores, & part of them accounted Fathers of their Countrey; part of them Benefactors, but all of them best Princes, whose Images are vpon their Coines, euen yet carried about; and publique Statues were in the honour of them, with certaine folemne Ceremonies erected, to the intent that all others with their valour and vertue, should with their deedes, as it were, in striuing-wife, aspire and grow vnto the like glory. Others also, borne of most base and Magnaniming and wisedon low condition, who by Armes in time of warres, for their wifedome and courage, have beene promoted to be great Emperours, Cafars, Dukes, Princes and Earles: as were Tullius Hostilius, Numa Pompilius, Tarquinius Prifcus, Iulius C.efar, O-Etanianus Angustus, and fuch other like, Noblemen, and for fuch, both esteemed of from hence, tooke the beginning of the Titles of their vertues . For certaine it is, at the first vnder the Roman Empire, when as they had subdued the Germaines, Italiwhen as Nations were by their enemies ans, the Spaniards, the Brittans, the Gauls, and other most mighty kingdoms, Dukes, Earles, and Barons, not then to have bin in such fort, as now they be, but from

> was also a great Officer called Tribunus Celerum, Lieutenant of the Armie, of the light armed and most readie Souldiers. Those which with a Cohort, or band of men, were the Keepers, and had the guarding of the Emperours person, and they among the Romanes, which were of the first Order, next after the Emperor, were called Tribuni Celerum, as they were long agoe in the time of Romulus, and of the other fixe kings fucceeding him. The great Officers, called Magistri

Equitum, or Maisters of the Horsemen . had like power with the Dictators, and with the Emperors, as Lucius Fenestella, Pomponius Latus de Magistratibus Romanorum : and also Flauius Vegetius , and Marcus Cicero do :, intreating of Martiall affaires describe. But Pomponius Latus writeth Romulus to have called the Generall of an army, whom the Germans call Bert300en Tribuna Celerum, Saluft in his Treatife concerning the Conspiracie Imperatores; that is Dictators & Emperors. Beside that , Great Magistrates called of Nobility Datine.

and authority, as if appeale had bin made from their fentence, they might againe | Fl. Veffatianus, Flaniales : fome called 1appeale from the Emperor, vnto the Prafeeti Pratorio. For most wise, good, and fignes, and othersome called Imaginary, iust men, by the Emperours chosen out, were created Prafetti Pratorio, vnto who they were wont to commit almost the whole estate of the Common weale. The Emperour Seuerus granted many things vnto the Great Officers called Prefecti can more fitly compare vnto none, then wrbis, and Prafecti Pratorio, of all which, heere to speake, were but needlesse. For heere we speake onely of the authority of the Prafectus Pratorio (or Captain of the Guard) which the Emperour onely gaue vnto him, who is the chiefe, linely, and very effentiall Law it felfe; who were of power to thrust Cittizens into exile, and to restore them vnto their estate againc. Whereby it is most cuident, Princes and Gouernours of People to haue had the power and authority of the fword, to punish the offenders, and to administer Iuflice: wherby they were afterward thoght to procure and get a great name of Nobility, both vnto themselues, and to their posterity: and right probable it is, the authority of Princes and Dukes to have first rifen of the Tribuni and Prafecti: which Princes, at fuch time as the Romane Emperours removed out of Germany & Italy into Greece, are read to haue taken vnto themselues the Imperial power: which authority and regall priviledges wee see (cuen at this day) by Kings and Emperors to bee granted vnto Dukes and Princes: ble actes, and valour of minde. And that fo that the election of Princes & Dukes dependeth not of their Subjects (as doth the election of Kings) but is Datiuely, as of gift, to be referred vnto the fauour and bounty of the Emperours and Kings, to whom they have beene subject. And in the former times, the names of Duke and Prince were names of Offices, and not of Honours and Dignities . And so in the times of the Romans, the Roman Kings, their Dictators and Confuls, & also their Emperors, were in the administration of their civill affaires, all martiallmen, both horfemen and footmen.

But beside these great Offices of the Tribuni and Prafeeli, there were other publike offices and charges; fome called Ofdinari, for that they kept orders in the army, and stood in the front of the bat-

Prafecti Pratorio, were of so great credit | taile. Those in the time of Augustus, were wont to be called Augustales; and of quiliferi, carrying an Eagle in their Enbearing the enfigne of the common or generall Army of the people of Rome notable with the Letters, S.P.Q.R.that is to fay, Senatus Populus Que Komanus : Or the Senate and people of Rome, whom wee to our Standard or Ensigne-Bearers.

But if wee would heere profecute all things in order, this Treatife should without measure encrease. But now in this place wee onely goe about, flightly as it were to shew the beginnings of Noble Dignities & Offices, leaft any man should suspect them to be but altogether things faigned, and vpon no reason grounded. Rehearling their things in the mean time by the way, that when we thall come vnto our owne age, it may appeare, how much Powers, Dominions, and Nations differ among themselues. For they who in ancient times were vnder kings and emperours appointed Gonernours ouer Regions and Countries, are now become hareditary possessions thereof: & they which before were but Noble Ministers or Ser-uants, are now become absolute Nobles. Beside that, in the meane time it most plainly appeareth of that which is aforefaid, that the kindred, stocke, and discent of the Nobility in former ages flourished and became famous onely for vertue, no-Vertue being fet apart, wee are all forafmuch as concerneth mans nature, the fonnes of Adam. VVherefore, according to the rule of Theologicall or Philosophicall Nobility (whereunto our Anceftors especially addicted themselues) to boaft of Nobility by birth, without vertue was but a vaine thing.

> Nam genus & Proanos & que non fect-Vix canostra duco.-

For our proud Stocke and Pedigree, and things we did not make, VVe scarse reckon them for our owne, or for our owne them take.

VVherefore-wee pray and exhort all men, that for a much as vertue commeth | not by inheritance, every man would endenour himselfe, of himselfe to become Noble. For they which otherwise vaunt and boatt of Nobility, seeme onely honources of vertue, vpon another mans credite, and line not by their owne, feeing that they be rather base persons, bearing themselues brag, vpon another mans vertue. But for the most part quite out of order, fo the fashion and manner of the world now is. For what cannot flattery, the fauour of Princes, and too much indu gency do, and bring to paffe.

PARERGON.

T is fufficiently manifest, by that which is aforefaid, what the undgment Robert Gloner was, concerning Politicall Nobility in ancient time, amongst the Genhaue fet forth to vs as a wauering thing, (and Dinines as a thing vncertaine)whilft uill Rights of persons.

It were verily to be wished, that the ornaments of vertue thould every where be more at large, and fully delight the Reaconferred and bestowed vpon none, but | ders. vpon fuch, as in whom vertue it felferefleth: for that as the encreasing of honor, fo the credite and reputation thereof alfo, is propounded to be gotten, not by ainbition but by industry. But seeing that Pofuch fort and condition, as maketh in cuery man that hath them, a beginning and excellency proper and peculiar to themfelues; it is from the rest of the kindes of Nobility (viz. Theologicall and Philofophicall) by this only difference diffinguithed, that whilft they rest onely upon Religion and Vertue, this Civill Nobility refleth voon the custome of Nations.

In the profecuting whereof, for that he finished not the fame, I verily tooke it in France, a Senatour of Rome, when as most greenously: for many things seemed to me to be therin wanting, which might | graced him with the Cardinals hat. In-peculiar forme of enobling of men, yled in enery kingdome apart, and especially in this Empire and Island, as the very method and order of the worke feemed to me to make shew of. But for a smuch, as he in his life time perfected not these things;

-Abstulit clarum cita mors Achillem.)

Vntimely death foone tooke away Achilles, and clos'dhim in clay.

Least Venusses head being onely by Apelles perfected, the body beeing not yet drawne, the whole worke in the meane time altogether imperfect or deformed, should lye neglected and vnregarded, I thought it a thing worth the labour, to fupply that defect, with fuch thinges as hereafter follow: to the intent, that at length amongst others, I might in fewe words, and as it were at a glimple, thew of my Friend and Vncle | what orders of Nobility are with vs also: what Rites and Ceremonies are vsed in promoting of men vnto the degrees of Nobility, that from hence the forme of tiles: which Philosophers heeretofore, creating of the being before understood, I might afterward with greater fruite, and fuller pleasure, come vnto the persons they in speaking thereof omitted the Ci- themselves, with their families, marriages, changes, and noble actes; and at length in a inft volume (if God shall see it good)

But if we shall compare these old and most ancient times of the Romane Empire with ours, wee shall finde no signe or token of that auncient Nobility in the Courts of Princes. If you shall seeke liticall Nobility is another thing, whereof for fuch as they called Patricij or Senathere be diners beginnings, and those of tors (whom the Romanes renerenced as men fent downe from heatten) you thall finde them no where but in Citties, exercifing Vfury and Merchandize (trades vtterly forbidden the Romanes) at whom (although within their owne walles they be much regarded and effected) our no. ble Courtiers were wont to fcorfe & iest. Or else if it please you, goe vnto the time of Pope Vrban, who (forfooth) made Charles the Sonne of King Lewes the 8. he should rather of his owne right, hane much have concerned the matter: As the | deede, it was a very ridiculous comparia Senator of Rome, as the matter now sta-

VVherefore let vs fee, and as breefely as we can touch how, & by what degree after the empire of that Citty (which first built by Shepheards, at length became Mistris of the whole world) began to decline from so great an Estate, together with the change thereof, by little and little drew with it the change of Noble dignities and titles alfo.

After the translating of the Romane empire by Constantine the Great, all that excellency of publike dignities, whereof it is expresly and sufficiently enough before spoken, seemeth to have bin changed into a certaine other forme, and a new manner of ennobling of men to haue bin deuifed. And verily, the names of Honours and Dignities in the cast-empire, feeme to have bene divers from the westempire: and the Latines, after the empire rent in funder, and feated at Constantino ple, seeme to have beene subject vinto the Greekes. For he that was there next vnto the Emperour, eyther by reason of the neerenelle of blood, or by institution, and was of the Latines called (Prim.u) was of the Greekes, by a generall name faluted Defpotes; that is to fay, Lozo: as he is at this day cald Monsieur among the French men. The later V Vriters, were wont alto to call him, the fame man Sebaston, according as the emperors had deuifed honourable titles, where-with they might grace their friends, and binde them vnto them. The third in dignity from the emperor, was the Sebastocrator: whom hee whom they called Cafar, followed as

But whilft the emperour Bafilius, was wont to be called sebastos, & also Cafar, he the fame man, at one & the fame time enjoying all these titles, these dignities were then as offices, and not as titles of honour.But afterward, they as honourable names of dignities, euch without any offices at all belonging vnto them, began to bee according to the emperours pleatime, the next in honour vnto the emperour, was called Cafar: as The king of the Romanes at this day, is in the VVeft. But afterwards, Sebastocrator was the second in honour, & Cafar the third, at fuch time fon of the French King his Sonne with | as Alexius Comnenus appointed his Bro ther Mascius to be Sebastocrator; of whom Zonoras speaketh more at large. And lath of all Alexius Paleologus beeing Defiotes was made next in honour vnto the Emperour, vnto whom he the tame Emperor Comnenus having no Sonnes, betrothed his eldeft daughter trene, and graced him with the Title of the Defpotes, as hee which thould have beene herre of the empire, if he had not before dyed.

Sebaffocrator

Protofebastus had the first place & degree of honour from the emperour. And Panhyperieat length Panhyperfebastus begato be the builtus. most stately and maiesticall name of all others, being a new title, of a new dignity, innented by Alexius Commenus, to gratific Michael Taronitus withall. Epweinus was alfo a name of great honor, as who thould fay, the cheefe of all the Prounciall Prefidents. Contostaulus was Generali of the Auxiliary forces, which out of France, St. Contoffaulus cily, and Italy, served in the East. Whereof he was called The Great Contost sulus: and otherwife Comestabilu, which of the Italians is interpreted Contostabile. I rungarius was he, which had the command of a Drungarius. Fleet at Sea. But him which commanded the Army at Sea, they called, The erest Duke, and in Greek, were too, for diffrence Mega-Dux, fake, imitating therein the Latines. For he which led the Army at Land, was called Egemon; but hee which ruled at Sea, was called Dux. And ouer the Army at land, commanded alwayes, eyther the emperor himfelfe, or the Defpotes, or the Sebastocrator, or the Cafar, or the Panloperfebafew. And vnto this Great Duke whom they had as cheefe Admirall, they made fubicat all the Drungars of their Fleete, their Admirals, their Proto-Comites, and him the Great Drungarius himfelte, before whom they also appointed the emperors Statue on horfe-backe (which they called Contin) to bee carried before him in their forces at Sea. They had alto their Great Logotheta, whom we at this day call The Great the Chancellor. Their Logariastes, whom Logothera, the Frenchmen call Controlleur. And their Proportion Protostator, or Marlball of their Army. fure, bestowed and disposed of. And for a Their Primiceries also and Primangustes, Primiceries. and many others of that fore, I willingly Printinguitor paffe ouer, leaft in profecuting of energy

one, my difcourfe thould grow too long and redious. These were all honorable dignities, and that for the most part not

Protefebafto

Egemon.

Chap.5.

somuch for the necessity of their Offices the authority of the Emperors began to or order, as so made by the fattour and good liking of the Emperor.

But whilst it seemed so good vnto the Emperors, so to appoint the seate of the Empire at Constantinople (where al things nowlye fivallowed up of the Turkes) they left the west bared of their Legions, and strengthned onely with Fortes, undefended and subiect vnto the inuasions & fury of the barbarous Nations: vppon the fall and decay whereof, the ruine of the East Empire (at length) ensued also. Italy and Affricke was at that time governed by their Exarchi, Toparchi, Comarchi, Carthulari, Spathary, Gustaldi, and Capatani. But at length, when Narfes the Eunuch, and one of the Romane Patrici, was by Infinus the Emperour, appointed Gouernour, he brought in them whom they called Consulares, Prasides, and Correctores. But after, that hee that Narfes, prouoked with the injuries and despightes of Sophia the Empresse (and with anger enraged) had called in thither the Longobardes out of Pannonia, they became by little & little to vary, concerning the titles of Honour, and names of Dignity.

For Narfes beeing dead, Longinus (one of the Romaine Patricy alfo) by the same Emperour chosen Gouernor or Exarcha in his stead in Italy, for the repressing of the Longobards, but a little before called forth by Narfes, and cuen now about to come, ordained Dukes thoroughout the Provinces (haply to the imitation of Conitantine the Emperor, who is reported to have provided by Law, that Countreves and I ownes thould be affigued to Dukes, Earles, and olde Captaines, which having log ferued, were to be rewarded for their good fernice done and past.) And vnto this purpose tend the words of Guicchiardine himtelfe, which I have thoght good hereunto alfo to adjovne.

By the translation of the Empire vnto Conilantinople (faith hee) a way was opened vnto the power of the Roman By hops for the authority of the Emperours, dayly more and more weakned and decreafing in Italy (both by their continual absence, as also for that they were still busied with warres in the cast) the people also by litle and litle revolting from them, & the City of Rome it felfe, being at length oftetimes decay and vanish away in Italy. But the barbarous people, at length again driven out of Italy by the power of the Emperors, the government began againe to be managed by Greeke Magistrats (of whom he which commanded ouer the rest, was called Hexarchus, and had his feate at Rauenna) who appointed Gouernours ouer the rest of the Citties of Italy, which Gouernors they called Dukes. From hence, came the name of the Hexarchatlbip of Rauenna, wherein al places were comprehended, which had not Dukes of theyr owne, but were vnder the commaund of one Hexarchus. Not long after, a notable change and alteration of matters enfued from the Longobardes: For they, a most fierce and cruell people entering into Italy, possessed the country called Gallia Cifalpina, of whome it hath also taken the name of Lombardie. They added also vnto their Gouernment Rauenna, with all the Hexarchatlhip thereof, besides many other parts of Italy, extending their armes as farre as Picenum, Spoletum, and Bene. uentum, ouer which, they appointed Gouernors to rule and commaund, whome they called Dukes,&c. So the Longobards raging and roaming farre abroad in Italy, at length, with thirty of their Dukes, in vaine attempted to haue taken the Cittie of Rome. And so it came to passe, according to the manner of warres, that the Titles of the dignities of the former empire being neglected, all things began to bee gouerned by the Generals and Commanders of the armies, viz. by fuch as they called Dukes Earles and Princes.

Pipin King of France, by the Romanes called into Italy, having taken Ticinum, the Metropoliticall Cittie of the Insubres, & there flain Defiderius (of a Constable promoted to be King of italy) ouercame and fubdued, and was foorthwith by the generall confent of all men chosen emperor The French of the VVeft Empire: who as hee would Romane Em haue the Empire it selfe to be called. The pirc. French Romane Empire, so euen in the beginning therof he had a purpofe to make ithereditary, and made the Great men, & fuch as were with Honourable Titles graced, to be altogether free : and bound them by oath, as men in Fee, holding onby the Goths and Vandals taken & facked; | ly of the King, and of the Emperour : fo his ordinance was called Innestitura, or an inuesture. The bounds and townes of his kingdome, he committed to be gouerned by Counties or Earls. The bounds & borders they called Marchias, or Marches: whereupon, the Gouernours of the Marches, began to be called Marchiarum Comites, (or Counties of the Marches) and Marqueffes. at length Marchiones, or Marqueffes. And them whom he fet and placed in the Prouinces, for the administration of Instice. and the keeping of the people in their allegiance, were then called Missi (or Men fent) or otherwise Legati: - that is to lay, The Emperours Legats or Lieutenants. But fuch as the people afterward of them felues created, for the administration of Inflice, and the government of Citties, being two or moe in number, beeing chofen after the manner of the ancient Roman Common-weale, were called Confuls. The French Romane Empire, with this fucceffe made by Charles the Great, wa left ynto his poffer ty almost hereditary: which in fhore time after alfo, under the Emperour Charles the Groffe (Nephew in the fourth degree vnto Charles the Great, & before, King of Germany) devolued from the den ned fro French-men vnto the Germanes. Vnto whom alfo (within a few yeares after) Otto the Great, king of Germany, and he Emperour, also succeeded; who following the steps of Charles the Great, gaue such perfections vnto his beginnings, in beflowing and disposing of honours & dig Dukes, Eurb. nities, as that he is not fo much for his fir-These people, Charles the Great, son to Princes. name and noble actes, to bee compared that if by chance they should fall from | of Dukes and Counties (being with the their faith and allegiance, or dye without ancient Romanes but the bare names of Dukes. iffue, hee then ordained those their dignipersonal offices and charges) now receities to be transferred vnto others : & that ued other customes: and a Duke (at first chosen for his vertues & noble acts) they now began to to call him of his Dukedome: as they did also a Marquelle, of his Marquifat, and an Earle of his Earldome. And he which had the command of people, from fome King, Marqueffe, or Earle, was called Capitaneus (or a Capitaine.) But they which had such command from Capitaines, were colled Valuafores (or Val- Valuafors uafours.) And they which had it from these Valuafors, were called Valuafini for Valuafines.) Whereupon this new beginning of Politicall Nobility, beeing far & wide dispersed through the kingdomes of the Empire, they at length were deemed rightly Noble, according to the maner and cuftome of enery place & Country, who eyther themselves, or their ance-flours lined, fo graced with thefe, or fuch like priniledges. And there be the things, which according vnto the variety and alteration of times, we have read in the most approved Authors, concerning the titles of honors and dignities. In recounting of which, we haue thought this most especially worth the noting, that all the streames of Nobility (but especially the greatest & cheefest of them) came and issued all out of the Campe. Which degrees of honour and Nobility, before that wee compare them with ours, it shall not repent vs in diffinet rankes, orderly to runne through the beginning of enery one of them.

And first to begin withall, They in Campes were called Principes, or Princes, Princes, (of whom at this day, wee enery where make fo great account) which ferued in the first rankes, excelling others in stregth and age; and which followed the Spearemen, divided into fifteen bands or troops, fo placed, as it were for a refuge & electe for them: to the end, that if in battaile the man into his wars, graced with Royalties fuch of them, as had done him worthy & Speare-men should be enforced to retire, they might in fafety flye vnto those Irinfaithfull feruice (and thefe Royalties were cipes, as vinto principall men of more approued and affored fernice. Whereof ments of Proninces) which he according Castra Principalia, the Principall Tents, and Porta Principalis, the Principall Port, where those Principes or Principall men were wont to lye with their bands; are fo often read of in Linie.

Next

Royaltics.

with the most mighty emperours, as for his wholefome Lawes, and heroicall Ordinances, of all posterity of right for ener

to be commended. For this man, after the ancient manner of the Longobards and French, entertaining enery most valiant

all manner of dignities, lands, & gouern-

28 he thought good, bestowed vpon such as had of him well deferred. And now

men began more plainly to make a difference of titles and dignities. For the titles

A Capitaine.

Valuatines.

Dukes-

Marquellet,

they which in the emperors name gonerned the Fomane affaires, were called Principes Senatur, or Princes of the Senate. But afterward, the emperour would have the place or title of a Prince, to bee a dignity next voto a Kings, who amongst the ancient saxons were called Ethelings, and a generall name, dinerfly ginen and attributed vnto many at once, and orderly comprehending in it all the greater forts of dignities: yea in fomeplaces, accorplaces, the title and dignity of a Prince, is inferiour vnto the title and dignity of a Duke or an Earle.

Duces or Dukes tooke their names from the Latine word Ducendo, as who flould fay . Dublores or Leaders; for that they marching before, led their followers. W hereof we reade the Latine phrase, Ducere bellum, that is to fay, to leade Warre; for Gerere bellion, to make warre. And fo of Spaine, of Brittaine, and of the Saxon Hij bellum assidue ducunt cum Gente Latina. These men make continuall war with the Latine Nation. And they which as Dukes or Generals were leaders of Armics, were wont to vie fuch Enfignes as the Confuls did: whereupon, the word Ducatus, forestime figurated the Region or Country, ouer which the Duke commanded: and other while, the Military government and commanding authority it felfe. Vnto which manner of men, for things by them honourably and valiantly in the wars atchieued and performed, triumphall Ornaments were fometimes awarded. Amongst the ancient Germanes, vnto a Generall or Leader of an army, were affigned twelne Counties or Earles to attend vpon him.

Marquelles were fo called of a certaine iurild ction bound vnto fome certaine place. So he which had the command and gonernment of any frontier Territory or See coast, was called Marchio, or a Patron, and the rest of the Barons. Atarques : and they which receited of the Fees, were properly accounted the Valuafars of the king, or of the kingdome, as men flanding with the Generals Advealuas Regm, at the gates and entrances of the kingdome. Other-fome there bee, which goe about to derine the word Marchiefrom Atarea (a word of the Celtes)

Next vnto Augustus the Emperour, \ chare in French, to ride: and the Marco manni as a people to called, for that they excelled in good horse-manship.

Now of Counties or Earles, as there were divers kindes, fo of them amongst the ancient VVriters, are read divers and fundry forts and orders; fuch as among the rest wer Comites Sacri Paliti, or counwith vs Clytones. But now it is as it were ties of the Sacred Pallace: Archiatri (or Principall Courtiers) and Comites Stabuli, or Constables. For Defiderius from a Constable, by the Longobards chosen and appointed to be king of Italy, was flaine by ding to the manner and custome of the | Charles the Great. And it is elsewhere read, hee fent Burchardus the Constable, with his Flecte to Corfica.

> There were also Comites Militum, or Counties of the Souldiers, of whom the Romanes would have always two refiding in the East, and were thereof sometimes called Comites Orientis, or Counties of the caft. And in breefe, there were Counties of Provinces: fuch as were the Counties Coasts in Brittaine.

> The Guitaldius in Italy, and a County, seeme in ancient time to have bene all one: There be some also, which beloeve a County in olde time to have beene called Comarchus.

The name of a Vicount Theweth a be- Vicouns. ginning not to be doubted of: For he to whom the County in the Camp committed the authority of his jurifdiction, was called Vice-Comes or Vicount; as were in the ancient time the Proconful. & the Proconfull his Lieutenant or Deputy.

But whereof the Barones or Barons Barons were to called is not yet welknowner for vnto the Romans as concerning their dignity, they were viterly viknowne: howbeit, that they affirme it to bee a Latine word by that faying of Cicero to his friend Atticus. Apud Patronem reliquosque harones to in maxima gratia poffuit : Hee brought you into great fauour with your

Other some obtrude vnto vs the greek word says, which fignificth Graue. But howfocuer it commeth to paffe if credite be to be given to our most learned Lawver Bracken, the Barons were full accounted for most valiant men, for hee would haue them to be called Anbora belli, or the ftrength of warre. And by the Lawyer from whence they derine the word Mare Balding Baron is defined to be a man haof Nobilitie Datiue.

est correcting of offendors. But sufficeth it now concerning these matters, to haue fayde thus much, as purposing of the fame, to speake more at large heereafter. And let vs now come nearer vnto the matter, by comparing of ancient things, with others of latter time; to the intent, that by applying of those ancient things vnto this our Age and Time, the reason as well of the Names as of the Dignities themselves, may the better and more manifeftly appeare. Like as the Empire of the Greekes, decaying, the was by the Turkes ouerthrowne and doe now fearcely declare. The maieflie whereof, is yet by the Scauen Princes E-The Seaucn for infinited)earc,960,

The Empire

ganne to get both other cu-

flomes and

lectors (of the Germains called Coznoz= (tem) vnto the Ornament of the Chriftian world vpholden and maintayned. The Septemuirat of Germany, the Emperour Otho the third, and Pope Gregorie the fift, ordained in the yeare 260. Vinto whom afterwards the Emperour Charles the fourth engaged the renenues of the Empire (haning promifed vnto cueric one of the Electors, an hundred thouland crownes) that he would appoint Wenceflaus his fonne, heire of the Empire, But the Money beeing not payed, it came to paffe, that the Patrimony of the Romaine Common-weale, which was appointed to the vies and maintenance of the warres (and for that onely cause was subject to alienation) was privately distributed and divided amongst them, voto cuery one of them a part, whereby the power of the Empire was afterward almost brought to nothing, the Seauen Princes Electors of Germanie, keeping all vnto themselues, and compelling the Emperors by oath, that they thould not renoke the Lands and Pawnes before ingaged.

And Kings, to whom it was a pleafant thing to be delinered from another mans power and command, erecled to themfelues Monarchies.

But they which in most great Kingdoms hold the fecond place, next to the Kings and the Kings fons, are according uing from his Prince the power and auto the forme of the Emperors army, called thority of the greatest, middle, and low-Dukes. The title of an Archauke is but one alone belonging to the house of Austria, by the emperor Frederick divised, to grace his nephew Phillip withall, at fuch time as he was to marry loane the heire of Spaine.

The name of Paywode, is a title of dignity onely in Transiluania, and Valuchia. And so also is the Doge of the Venetians, who is also called a Duke.

And as in warres Counties or Earles An Earle, were affigned vnto Dukes, so our Counties now at this day, are thought next in dignity to follow the Dukes. For a Marqueffe at this day is nothing A Marqueffe else in his owne proper signification, then brought to nought, even so also was a Countie yoon the Frontiers & Borders: the empire of the West, by the cunning which in the Germaine tongue is more fignificantly called a Martoraue : with and ambition of the Bishops of Rome, whome a Countie is called Braf. And rent in funder and weakened. Which, whereof come those honourable names how great it was, the very ruines thereof of the Pfalizarane, Landlarane, Dartarauc, Rheingraue, & Burgh graue: that is to fay, The Countie Palatine, the Countie of the Prouince, The Countie of the Borders, The County of Rhene The County of the Castle or Garrison . And yet according to the divers custome of places, Marq neffes in some places are preferred, and goe before Counties or Earles. The beginning of a Picount, the very e- A Vicount tymology of the name it felf hath taught vs. Barons are also every where according A Baron.

to the dignity of their degree, power, & gravity accounted honourable. France hath also onely soure peculiar Great and principall Lords, whom they call Vidames Vidames (viz.) Chartres, Chalons, Amiens, and Gerbery. So hath it pleased menaccording to the cultome of places, vnto new forms of Honours and Dignities, to give olde names. But nothing is every where, and in all places to fincerely observed and kept, as is that olde and generall dinifion of People, into Noble and Vnnoble, Noble and with a certain difference of the Vnnoble Vnnoble, fort among themselves, as of the Nobler fort among themselves also. For fuch with casic exercises get their linings, fuch as excell in wit in the knowledge of Martiall affaires, in learning, in wealth, or in vertue; thefe men, in thefe times, are as it were the Seminaries of Nobility (as were in ancient time the Gentlemen whom they called Equites, among The Semina the Romans, the nursery of the Senators.) Ty of nobility.

A Doge.

All the vulgar people are base and vnnoble.

470

of the Nobility, they are altogether base ron. and vnnoble: like as all free-borne men, which are not of the vulgar and common are in French called Gentil shommes, and in fort of people, are indifferently and alike noble, according to the French Prouerb: Ie suis Gentilhomme comme le Roy, I am a Al gentlemen Gentleman as well as the King. Il foy de Gentilhomme: The faith of a Gentle-

Yet it is to be knowne, antiquity and

The differenluy.

Nobility, the

greater and the leffer.

high functions, to have their estimation in Politicall Nobility, as they have in other things. And hecreof as feemeth vnto me, are those distinctions of Nobility, named, and vnnamed: or of the greater and leffer Nobility as some others would haue it. And Wamed Nobility I call that which is by hereditary fuccession graced with Titles and Fees. As a king taketh that his denomination of his kingdome: a Duke, of his Dukedome; an Earle, of his Earledome; and a Baron, of his Baronny: who may also be called Majores Nobiles, or The greater Nobility, although not altogether so properly, for that that distinction of Nobility, indiffrently comprehendeth all forts of Noblemen, & the higher Magistracies (bestowed upon men for tearme of life onely, or during the Princes pleafure.) The rest of the Nobility under the degree of Barons, may bee called Nobiles Innominati (or vnnamed Noblemen) or Minores Nobiles, that is to fay; the leffer

The Frenchmen in the meane time, and we tinglifbmen also, doe by more knowne

words, better discerne the greater Nobility from the leffer, but not without a cer-

raine injury and wrong done vnto the la-

tine tongue, from which wee derine our Nobility. For who is he which know-

Latine word (Nobiles) indif-

And yet there are some of them which In some pla feeme to have Named Nobility, although ces of Italy there be lie they bee not in the fame ranke and order to be placed: fuch as are Knights and Ef-Knights quires. But forasmuch as the Titles of Knighthood and of Esquires, are not hereditary, they are accounted amongst the Nobility.

lesser Nobility.

In many plaare Fiquires by birth.

Many noble & famous Gentlemen, haue ferently to comprehend all fuch as are aalso from Lawyers and Merchants discen- . boue the common and vulgar fort of me? ded. And although some of the vulgar Which word is in French or English ex-& common fort of the people, be among pounded (Noble.) By which word, the Nobilin figure them of better account and reputation, then some others of them, yet in respect teth no man, under the degree of a Baarange and tagging the some others of them, yet in respect teth no man, under the degree of a Baarange and tagging the some others.

> The rest under the degree of Barons, english, Gentlemen. Of which, such as are neyther Knights nor Esquires, we call them but onely Gentlemen, without any addition; and in French, Gentilzhommes simples, or plaine Gentlemen. Although it may be that fome of thefe me can thew moe Armes of their flocke, and derive their Pedigree further, then can some others of greater dignity, or euen the emperour himselfe.

Wherefore, in Politicall Nobility, being fimply understood, these plaine tearmed Gentlemen are not inferiour vnto the Princes themselues, but yet in honor and dignity much. For the titles of Kings. of Dukes, of Marquesses, of Earles, & Ba- Nobleman rons, are as it were the names of most honourable Offices, and by reason of such guilled. additions one becommeth more famous and nobler then another.

These things beeing thus somewhat more at large and in general spoken, concerning Nobility, seeme as it were to open the way vnto the particular degrees thereof with vs. But the division of the orders & degrees of men, which our english Common-weale and Empire well beareth, at other times, by others fette forth, is exceedingly well fet downe: who have divided the same into a King, into Nobility of the greater and of the lefter fort, Cittizens, Men liberally brought vp, and Labourers. But for somuch as I have purposed to speake onely of the degrees of Nobility, and that the intention and scope of this worke tendeth no faither, I have determined to entreat onely of the Kings, and of the cheefe named Nobility, whom it pleafeth vs to call, The Peeres of the Kingdome, The Common Fathers of the Common-weale, & in briefe, by one name, Great Estates or Noblemen.

Yet'in so great conversions of things, and inundations of forraigne Nations, A Transferon where-with this our Island from the first state Nobley inhabiting thereof, hath bene oftentimes troden vnder foote, and for a long time ferious discourie, as to set downe, what were the beginning Titles of our Noblemen, with the orders and degrees of honours, feemeth a thing most difficult and Concerning which things (freely to confesse the truth) seeing that I have not well fatisfied my felfe, I dare not with too much hafty confidence to affirme much especially seeing that heere, as well as elsewhere, the Victors have still especially endeaoured them-felnes, not fo much to oppresse the people by them fubdued, as they have done to innouate their customes, and to change their lawes. Seeing that it is so by Nature ordered, that with the fame fate where-with Monarchies and Kingdomes are ouer-whelmed, euen the Nations themselues, and Noble Families fall, and come to vtter ruine alfo.

For first, the Romanes by subduing the Brittaines, the natural Inhabitants of this Island, went about with their Legions to ouerthrow all things.

But the Romanes about fine hundred yeares more or leffe after, beeing againe transported into France, the Saxons, or rather English-Saxons, called in by the Brittaines voto their aide, raifed warre against their Hoasts, and throst them quite out of their auncient Seates, and first of all others, gaue voto the kingdome the name of England. And these people the Danes also for a space thrust out of the kingdome.

But at length, when as this kingdome began (as it were) againe to breathe vnder Edward the Confession, amost holy King, and last of the English-Susons race, he being torth-with dead without iffue, gaue occasion to the Normanes to passe ouer. VVho at length prenailing, (Harold who with flood them beging onercome) and the English-men beeing thrust out of their ancient inheritance, began foorth-with to affigue the Landes and groundes in enery place vnto their companions and fellow fouldiors, and alfo to bring in the Normane cuttomes and fashions.

Many things for all that, are yet extant in the most anneignt Records, cuen in the Heptarchy of the English-Saxon Kings, concerning those Noble-Men

most greenously afflicted: to write such a ; which were Rulers over the Countries of Chester, Leicester, and Lincolne, whom we reade to have beene indifferently alfo called Dukes, and Counties of the Mercians. The Danes had also their Heretocles, and the Princes of their Heretoches. And Edward, the King and Confessour vet reigning, euen in the time next voto the comming in of the Normans, in the charters and monuments of Churches, are found there to be Ethelings, Clytons, Patricij, Confuls, Earles, Palatines, Dukes, Senators, Stalbers, Thayni, Theotibani, Mimisters, and Princes . But yet with great inconflancy, of fuch their names and callings. For whom thou thalt reade to be called Counties, thou thair elfe-where finde euen at one and the felfe-fame time to be called Dukes. But the fule of Cisto, at first fignified the Kings eldest Sonne, but afterwards, it was a title common to all them that were defeended of the kings

> The Titles of Countie and Confultingnified the fame thing, differing, but in that Comes (or a County) was to called a Comutatu (or of a Shire or County:) and a Confull of Confutendo, or of giving of Councell. A Stallber, and The Gouernor of the Kings house, to have beene all one, it is out of diucrs writings manifelt. The Partricy and Thaini were Noblemen of the better fort; and I could almost affirme them to have beene equallynto our Barons at this day. Ministers and Princes, who in old Charters are fet as lowest witneffes, feeme to have beene names of one and the fame fignification, and alike fignifie Noble-men: but what degree of honour or Nobility they were of, is alroge. ther vnknowne. Neither feeme thefe honourable Titles to have beene foorthwith together with the victory, by William the Normane changed. For their men whom King Edward the Confessor in his Charter, concerning the Printledges by him granted to the Abbey of Waltham, in the yeare 1062: taketh to witnesse by the name of Counties Palatine (whom he but euen a little before had called Dukes) and by the names of Procurators, Chamberlaines, and Princes of his Court : the Normane himfelfe, in the fecond yeare after his victory, in his confirmatory Charter granted vnto the fame Abbey, doth by the same Stiles and Titles take to witheffe

Chap. 5.

witnesse also.

472

the kingdome vnto himfelfe in fafety, the Counties whom he by his Royall Charter had rewarded with Counties and Lands. began to be one from another, distinguifhed, by the addition of the Title, of fuch and such a Countie. As witnesse Alanus Countie of Richmond; witnesse Hugh Countie of Chester: witnes Roger Countic of Shrewsbury and Arundell.

VVherefore the English Saxons by little and little, eyther dead without iffue, or oppressed, or thrust foorth into exile, and foliuing in other places, all things were fo framed vnto the Norman maner, as that of our Nobilitie at this day, there is not any which can fo much as any little breathe of the Stock and Race of those most ancient Saxons.

VVorthics and Nobility beeing layde by William the Conquerour: and oftentimes afterwards by Successours, according to fore the comming in of the Normans, the dinerfe occasions and occurrents of times, by little and little continued and augmented, beganne at length in the reigne of King Henry the third, and Edward the first, to shine foorth, who hauing now vanquished the VVelch-men | now with vs , the same that the designed their Neighbours, and contending with the Scottes bordering vpon them; for Principalitie and Soueraignetie; entreating of all things concerning the Common-weale, with the three States of the Kingdome (which confifted of the Nobilitie, the Clergie, and the Comminaltie) they themselnes in their Royall Maiestie fitting in Parliaments, appoynted vnto enery man a preheminence, according his father, The Prince, or Infant. to the place of his dignitie: from whom, especially all the Nobilitie of our age, may feeme to derine the dinerfe and appoynted degrees of Dignities and Ho-

great Maieslie, as that besides GOD | fler, being dead without heyres male (o-Who from Equitie and Inflice feeking | vnto the fifters of the aforefaid Earle) the his chiefest praise and commendation king his Father had given the same coun-(when as any matter of greater weight or | tie. importance is to bee decreed and fet downe, concerning the welfare and honour of the Common-weale) doth ey-

her make new Lawes, before concei-But, after that he had now confirmed ued by the three estates of the Kingdom, or else abrogateth the old; and free from all homage for his Empire, is with the facred folemnities of his Countrey, with a royall Crowne, by his fubicets crowned, whom afterwards we with fo great renerence observe and honour, both in the time of peace, as also in the time of war, as that (forfomuch as hee himferfe is the fountaine of all Nobilitie) he may for his onely pleasure and good liking, blesse and grace whom hee will, with Offices, Dignitics, Honour, Nobilitie, and Ri-

Amongst the Nobilitie or Peeres of

the Kingdome, the Prince is the chiefe, who is alwayes but one and himfelfe alone, for hee is to be deemed the Kings eldest fonne, or heire apparant of the These foundations of the auncient Kingdome, and hath of long beene graced with the Title of the Prince of Wales. The Kings fonnes in auncient times, be- Wales. were wont to be called Ethilings, that is to fay, Clytons, (as more Noble than the reft, whom they in Latine called Inclyti, or Noble) as Edgar Clyto, Alured Clyto, and others. Our Princes of Wales are Cafars were among the ancient Romans, as who should say, heires of the Imperiall Maiestie; and whereupon at this day, the Germans appoint him which shall be emperor, King of the Romans, and the French flite him that is to succeed in the Kingdome, the Dolphin: but the Spaniards, together with vs , call him which is to have the kingdome after the death of the king

The first that was by this name called The first after the coming in of the Wormans, was Prince of Fdward, the eldeft fon of King Henry the Wales. third, who (his Father Henry being dead) and having there vanquillied Leolin, was VVherefore a King, who may with the first that vnited the Principalitie of vs bee also called a Monarch, having in Wales vnto the kingdome of England: vn-himselfe the supreame power, is of such to whom also, John the Scor earle of Chealone, hee hath none his Superione. ther lands and renenues being affigued

> At length King Edward the third gaue vnto Edward his eldeft fonne (a most famous and renowned warriour)

then Prince of Wales and Earle of Che- | Marquesses, who in ancient time were fler, the Countie of Cornewall also, which hee then had made a Dukedome: and by this meanes it is come to passe, that aftewrardes our Kings eldeft fonnes or heyres, were by the Kings royall Charter, with great folemnitie in full Parliament, created Princes of Wales, and Earles of Chester, (with the Countie of Flint, which belongeth vnto the Dignitic of the Sword of the Countie of Chester) but are called Dukes of Cornewall, even from the first houre of their Nativitie. They which are accounted of the Nobility after the Princes of Wales, we call

Dukes, Marquesses, Earles, Vicounts, and Barons. Aboue which, if I shall also place the most famous Fellowshippe of Knights, of our (by farre) the most honorable order, taking name of the Garter, I not shal haply feem to have done amis: forasmuch as it maketh Knights, and somtime them of the Leffer Nobility, (excelling others in vertue and valour) almost equall, not onely voto Noble-men at home with vs , but even with Kings and Emperours abroad. But of them we are elic-where to speake. All these Noblemen (I say) in the beginning to have beene Generalles and Leaders of Armics, or Gouernours of Countries, it is before declared. But afterward, as pleased the Emperours, to haue beene gitten them for terme of life: and at length strengthened with lands and fees, we fee them to have obtained a certayne hereditary perpetuity: wherefore, a Duke, who in ancient time was, as flomes: as wee will heereafter more at it were, the Conflable of the Kingdome, and whose chiefe service was, to leade and conduct the Kings Armie in time of warre, now graced with Fees, and once authorifed by the King, is become an hereditarie Title . Our Kings discended of the Worman blood to long as they themfelues were Dukes of Normandie, graced no man with this Title of Duke, till Edward the Third; who first of all (as is before fayd) exalted the County of Cornewall into a Dukedome : vnto the example whereof, many hereditarie Dukes were in like manner by our Kings created, howbeit that at this day we have nonc.

Next vnto Dukes in order follow

called Governours or Wardens of the borders or Marches: a Title voto vs , before the time of King Richard the Second, vtterly voknowne, who in the tenth yeare of his reigne, by his Royall Charter first created Robert Vere earle of Oxford (his Minion) Marques of Dublin the Metropoliticall Cittie of Ireland. By which example, many others afterwards obtayned the like Creations by Inheritance.

Concerning either the etymologie or An Fatle. the office of an Earle amongst the Auncients, I have elfe-where briefly touched fome things, and leaue the fame to bee! more at large by others entreated of. Earles with vs, haue alwayes beene both of greatest authority and dignity, and of much greater antiquitie then either Narquelles or Dukes.

Neyther is it any let at all, but that an Earle may be called Earle of any County or place, from whence he receiveth no profit, neyther therein holdeth any juritdiction. Indeed it is in antient Charters. declared them in old time to have beene Feed-men, and to have beene rewarded with the third penny of the profit of that Prouince wherof they were called Earles; but now the maner is with vs. that the Titles of Earledomes, are according vnto the Kings pleafure conferred and bettowed, without any poffettion of the places at all vnto whom, the King, in flead of the third Penny, is wont to appoynt a certaine fumme of money, to be yearely receiued out of the Exchequer, or his Cu-

large declare. Concerning the beginning of a Picount A Vicount. withvs, there is no cause why I should from farre derine it, forafmuch as we had none of them before the time of King Hemy the fixt. For he in the eighteenth yeare of his reigne, created John de Beilomonte, or Beaumont, a l'icount ; Whereupon that which in ancient time was the name of an office, we now at this day do acknowledge it bee a certayne name and Title of Dignitie, as it were in the middeft, betweene an Farle and a Baron; as wee doe a Marque//e; betweene a Duke and an Earle. This Degree of Nobilitie hath innefliture from the Kings themfelues, with certain folemne ceremonies,

A King.

AMarquello.

A Baron.

as the other degrees of Nobility haue.

Now the last of all, aswell in order as specially in dignity, come foorth the Barons, whose conjoyned power, compared with the rest, hath in the great affaires of the Common-weale alwayes beene the greatest. Of whose beginning, yet truth it selfe doubtfully wauereth. Lucas de Penna in L.fi.C.de mancipijs, in his 16. bookfayeth. Quòd Reges cumplures haberent filios nec omnes Reges posse fieri (quòd regnum diuidi nequeat) prospicerent : ampla cuique donabant Castra cum inrifdictione of Imperio unde Barones dicerentur, id eft, fili alus excelliores. For that Kings when they had many fonnes, which they well faw could not all be made Kings (for that a kingdom cannot be divided) they gave vnto every one of them great Castles, with inrisdicion and command, whereof they should be called Barons (that is to fay) Their fonnes, higher in degree then others. Otherfome will have the word Baro, to have beene derined from the Greeke word Dapue, fignifying gravity. But if it may be lawfull for vs with conicctures to contend, I deeme it not amisse, heereunto to ioyne the curious conceite and judgment of a certaine most learned man, and of great reading, who marking the great power and authority of Barons, supposeth them in the beginning to have beene the Generals or Leaders of Nations & people, disperfedly roaming and stragling vp and downe without any certaine resting places, after the empire was rent in funder, who equally dividing the lands by force or leave by them gotten, as it were by tutelary law gouerned the people, holding of them in fealty, and subject to eucry one of their jurifdictions, cyther with a meere foueraignty apart, as Monarchs, or vnder fome other common Prince.

Whereof, Baldus happily hath called a man of greatest, middle, and meanest authority and command, Baronem, or a Baron. But they which were fo in power and authority in a manner like and equal, were before in Latine called Pares homines (or like men) but of the Frenchmen and Italians. (speaking more contractly) parhommes, and parhuomini, and thereof they might, faith he, bee called Barons and Barons: for with a more casie pronounciation, they in their words eafily admit b for p. And to give more credite to this mat.

ter, he joyneth thereunto the force of diners Languages. For they whom the Frenchmen from the beginning, called Ba. rons, we in the fame fence in ancient time, called Thaini, and at this day in english. Thaini.

Lozdes, whom the Germanes, as it were by a circumlocution, doe more firly call free heren, which with vs truely fignifieth free Lozdes; that is to fay, Lozds ALord having free jurisdictions and territories. But from whence this very word Laza is forung (which is not fo much peculiar vnto Barons as to all Noblemen in generall) remaineth yet doubtfull.

Forasmuch as we after our manner and fashion, are wont to call all Dukes, Marqueffes, Earles, and Vicounts, (and fome of the greatest Officers and Magistrates of the kingdome alfo, although they bee not Barons) after the manner of Barons, Lozdes : fome fay it to be a primitive &

originall word of it felfe, fprung out of the Saxon word Hlaford, which is inter-the Saxon preted Lozo: Othersome also, suspect it rongue, in to have bene a derivative word, and to English Los haue bene first brought out of Burgundy: for it is manifest, the emperour Probus to haue fent hither into Brittaine the Burgundians, whom he had ouercome in the yeare 282. Who having heere feated and ferled themselues, did vnto the Romanes right good feruice, if at any time rebellio did arise or was stirred vp against them. And in that place they commonly call it Allodium, which fignifieth, Free and dif.

euen at this day called Allodim: whom we resting almost vpon the same reason, do in english call , A Lozd. Contrary vnto those Allody or Lords, are the Lendes or Leudi, as fubic & vito the Allod i, wher of perhaps the word Lavades is vied a- A Layrde.

mongst the scots, whom they with vs

charged from all homage and feruice.

which manner of possessiour or owner, is

call allo 10208. But as concerning words and etymologies, let euery ma gheffe as he lift: howfocuer the names be deemed of, it is for the most part of all men granted, that free=heren or Lozds (call them who-ther you lift) to have in all places lived as Free-borne men, and of great effectie, &I verily think them to have bene the fame, whom Cafar calleth Regulos in France: where even yet vnto this day, certaine of the most olde and ancient Barons, are reported

of Nobility Datiue. Chap. 5.

> with the new Earles. But how full of aueafily appeare, if wee shall eyther respect cient time had hereditary Jurisdiction anwhereof wee at this day retaine a thew in our Lozos courts, commonly called a court Baron: or looke into the most the in the cheefest assemblies of the kingdome. For all Dukes, Marquesses, Earles, and Vicounts, have their feates with the Barons, in the highest assembly of the kingdome, in Parliament, onely by the name of their Baronies; Infomuch, that the greatest Duke sitting in Parliament (although he be placed according to the preheminence of his degree) yet holdeth he his place only by reason of his Barony: vnto our Archbishoppes and Bishoppes Abbots and other of like fort) to fitte there, but that they have the possession and dignity of fome Baronage or Barony annexed and joyned voto theyr Bishopprickes; yea, the eldest Sonne of a Duke wholocuer, although he be commonly called an Earle, as also the eldest fonne of an earle, although by the flattehe be called in Latine Dinasta or Dominue in French Signeur, and after our manner, a Lord, yet if wee shall consider the force of the Law, they are not to be num bred either amongst the earles or the Barons, but only to be accounted Efquires;

neyther can they challenge any voyce or fuffrage in the Parliaments of the Kingdome lo long as their Fathers line. Howbeit, wee haue it often in experience (I confesse) that as often as the King shal see the eldeft fonne or heyre of a Duke, Mar-

quelle, or of an Earle, as well in wifedome

and councell, as of yeeres ripe and flayed, and whom he shall deeme worthic to beepresent at the greatest assemblies of Parliament, him he promoteth vnto the height of that honour : and by a VV titte

of Summons (as they terme it) his I ather

yet being aline according to the name &

file (if he be the fonne of a Duke) of his

ported and reputed by a certaine right of Barony, or if he beethe fonne of a Martheir Baronies, to contend for precedence queffe, or of an Earle, by the name wherof he was before called, and whereof hee thority and dignity the name of a Baron | was heire apparant, and into the inneitiand of a Baronage is, shall very plainly & ture whereof his father also before came.

This I fay, fometime is done, and may the antiquity thereof, as they which of an- be done, by the favour of the Prince onely, whose prerogative is so indeterminate nexed vnto their honour and dignity, and as that he may promote vnto honors, and admit into Parliaments whom hee pleafeth. As for example; it pleated our deceased Queen Elizabeth, in the year 1575. honourable and reverend prerogative of by her Writ of Summons, fo to call William Poulet, Baron S. John of Bafing, at this day Marquesse of Winchester, (viz:) the eldest fonne of tohn Poulet, Marquelle of Winchester, and to assigne vnto him a place amongest the Noblemen of the Vpperhouse, due vnto the ancient Barons of S. Iohn, vntill that their heires male fayling, the heire generall of the same tamily, had married with the flocke of the Poulets. This I fay, the Queene might doe by her neyther is it for any other reason granted royall prerogatine onely, the age and towardlinesse of the young Baron being re-(as it was in auncient time vnto fome | specied and looked into, which he could no way by right haue challenged, his Father yet lining.

Henrie Stanley, Farle of Darby, was by Writ of Summons called vnto Parliament. his father yet living, by the name of Baron Strange of Knokin, and placed in the fame feate wherein the Barons Strange of Knokin were wont of ancient time to fit. rie of custome, and in respect of his blood | The like we now of late have also seene to haue bene done to Gilbert Lord Talbot(at this day Earle of Shrensburie) foune and heire to George carle of Shrewsburie , but of late decealed: which places they could not by prefeript forme of law as vet challenge vnto them, for that theyr Fathers then aline, poffeiled both the dignities & renemewes of the aforefaid Baronies. So that I fay, they were onely by the fauor of the Prince promoted voto fuch honour and degree, whileft that their fathers yet

For wee rightly acknowledge no Barons, but them whom the Kings Royall Maichie hath first by his Charter created, or elfe the Parliaments preheminence & dignity defigned, who fo called and once admitted, and in Parliament placed, are alwaies after to bee held and accounted Barons, and to be reckoned among the Nobility of the Baronage of English, nelhonos, are no wher open, fo things which are once gran ted vnto any man by the Prince, are not to bee a-

For that voto ther doeth it any where appeare, anie of which manner of forme and fashion, tothem to have bene afterwards rejected or degraded, except by chance their pofferwere by no meanes able to maintayne fo ing. great an honour. For as in ancient time the Romane Senatours, which had wasted or decayed their Senators substance were out of Senate remooued; even fo (I fay) fuch are either of their own accord to abthan from comming into the vpper house of our Parliament, or elfe (I may fay perhaps)are not thereinto admitted, althogh that they for ever still retaine the stile and name of their Barony. And these be they whom we acknow-

ther, and feuerally apart, both in dignitic and preheminence diffinguished, is out of the forme of their Creations or admiffions to be better difcerned: which things we will declare by the Letters Patents, or of Summons, given vnto every one of them at the time of their Creation, (which Letters, we by two names call, viz: Royall Charters, and Parliament Writs) and by the ceremonies after our manner, joyned into their Inucstiture, and the custome of ledge to be Named Noblemen : But how they bee now amongst themselues toge-

Baron himfelfe. For why, the name of the Baronage of England is right famous, and more honorable then the rest: resembling the ancientifiew of a Reverend Romane Father, tegiftred to be one of 5 counfell of effate.& of the Senatory Dignity, and with vs giving an entrance vnto all the higher degrees of honor, as did that among the ancient Romanes.

In elder time, it was for a certain space given voto none, but voto men for their martial proweffe renowned, vnto whom the enfigne of a Barony was also given; as was the right to weare a Ring of Gold granted vnto the Romane Gentlemen. But afterward, not onely they whom martiall proweffe had commended, but even they also whom their Nobility of birth, theyr manners, fortune, or wisedome hadde at home ennobled, were wont by the Kings Writ of Summons, to be called forth vnto the high affembly of Parliament. And at length alfo, King Henrie the 6. brought

in the fashion to create some by this very name, by vertue of his Royall Charter:

gether with that other of calling by Writ of Summons voto the Parliament, we onesions were so far diminished, as that they | ly at this day haue in vie in forme follow

> Letters of Summons, or Parliament Writs (as they call them) for the promoting of any one, or of whom foeuer , vnto the Dignity of a Baron, in ful Assembly of Parliament Are in a prescript appointed forme in this fort made : Changing onely such things as are of order to be changed.

LIZABETH, by the Grace of God, Queene of England, France, and Ireland, Defendresse of the Fair. Defendresse of the Faith, &c. Into her faithfull and wel-be-loued Henry Norris of Ricot Knight, Gree. ting - Forasmuch, as Wee by the advice and confent of our Councell for certaine high and orgent causes, concerning the estate de defence of our king dome of England, and of the English Church, have appointed a certain Parliament of ours, to be holden at our Citie their precedency; beginning first with the of VVestmonastery, the eight day of May, next comming, and there to have freech and conference with you, and with the Prelates, the States, and Nobility of our fayde Kingdome: Wee firmely eniogne dy command you. upon the Faith and Allegeance wherein you are unto Vs bound, that the waight of the aforefaide businesses, and the imminent dangers considered, all excuse what soener set apart, you be there personally present the day and place aforefaide, to conferre with Vs, dy with our Prelates and Webility aforefaide. concerning the aforesaid businesses, & there to shew your aduice . And of this, as you loue Vs, and honour the safegard & defence of Our Kingdome, and the Church aforefaid, and the good dispatch of the affairs afore aid, in no wife faile you.

> Witnesse Ourselse, the in the yeare of Our reigne the fourteenth.

> > An-

Another manner there is of creating of Barons by Charter: whereof this is the forme.

by Queene

made Baron

of Burghley.

LIZABETH by the Grace of God, of England, France, and Ireland, Queen, Defendresse of the Faith, or.

Vinto all Archbishops, Marquesses, Earles, Vicounts, Bishops, Barons, Knights, Gouernours, Free-borne men, and allour Officers, Ministers, and Subietts. whomfoeuer, unto whom thefe prefent Letters (hall come, greeting . Wee well perceine and fee the hight and tipe of our Royall Dignity, not onely to be beautified, but encreased alfo, whilft the titles of honors, are by vs conferred unto men for their vertues renowned and in our most weighty affaires wellenperienced. For We thinke our Royall Crowne to be fo much the more adorned and enriched, when as We call and promote grave and wife Men especially such as arc far the Nability of their stocke famous, and for their willadome renowned and mighty, into part of our Royall carefulnesse, unto the degrees of Honour and Dignity and the government of the Com. mon-weale. Wherefore, Wee considering the long feruice, which our well-beloued and faithfull Conncellor William Cicill,our principall Secretary, bath many wates done, as wel in the time of our Procenitors, Kings of this kingdome, as alfo his faithfull, and most pleafine loyalty towards Vs at all times, even from the first beginning of our Reigne, not onely in the notable and grave affaires of Councell, but befide alfo, bath not ceaffed daily to doe, in all other expeditions for our Kingdome ingenerall: and alfo the circumpection, courage, wifedome, desterity, integrity, prouidence,

Know you therefore, that We of our freqiall Grace, certaine knowledge, and meere metion, have fet, ginen, and in our Countie of Northampton promoted; made, and created. and by the toner of thefe prefents, do fet, ardaine, and create him the aforefayde William Civilly omto the flare, degree dignity, and ho. nor, of Baron of Rurghley : and conto the faid William bane impoled, guen, and granted, and by the cprefents, doe impofe, gine, and cill, towards Vs,our Crowns and Digmiy.

Chap.6. The form of creating Barons by charter. 477 grant, the Name, Stile, and Title of the Baron of Burghley. To have, and to hold, the State, Degree, Dignity, Stile, Title, Name, and Honour, wnto him the aforefaid William, and the beyres male iffum of his body for euer. Willing, and by thefe prefents for Vs, Our heyres and successors granting, that the aforelaid William, and his Heyres male aforefaide, may successively beare and have, and every one of them may have and beare the faid Name, State, Degree , Stile, Dignity, Title, and Honour : and may be called and stiled, and every one of them may bee called and Itsled by the name of the Baren of Burghley. And that he the fayde William and his heires male afore [aid] hall [uccepinely in all things be holde for Barons of Burghlev : and (ball fo be wfed and reputed, & that enery one of them fall be wfed holden and reputed, as Barons. And that the faide William, and his heires male aforefaid, may have, hold, and possesse, and their beires male also aforefaid, and every one of them may as Barons have hold and posseffe a feate place, and voicemour Parliaments and Councels, amone ft other Barons, within our king dome of England. And alfo the faide William and his beires male aforefaid, may have, enioy, and We and enery one of them ballby the name of the Baron of Burghley have enior , - wfe, all the Rights, Priviledges, Preheminences, and Immunities, of right, and law jully belonging water the flate of a Baron in all things; which other the Barons of our faid Kingdome of England, in former times, in better fort, more honourably and more quietly, wfed and

enloyed or at this present doe enloy and wife:

and this without any fine or fee, great or

Imall, to bee therefore to our viein any wife

oinen vaide, or madeintoour Hanapery of our Chancery or elfewhere, for that exprese mention of the certainty of the premittes or of any of them erc. Thefe being witnesses. The most reverend father in Christ, Matthew care, and fidelity of him the faide William Cs-Archbifbop of Canterbury Primate and Metropolitano of all England our welbelouel faithful Councellor, Niebolas Bacon might, Keeper of our great Scale of England, and alfo our welbeloued Goofins and Connectors, William Marqueffe of Northampton, Henry Earle of Arundell, Thomas Farle of Suffes, Prefident of our Councellin the North parts of our kingdome, Henry Barle of Huntingdon, Ambrofe Farle of Warwicke, Master of the Ordenance, Francis Faile of Selford,

Robert Earle of Leycester , Master of our

orfe, Walter Vicount Hereford, Anthonie Vicount Mountaque: And also the renerend Fathers in Christ , Edwin by shop of London, Nicholas by bop of Worcester, Edmund by-(hop of Rochester, William by (hop of Chester: And alfo our wel-beloued and faithfull William Lord Lumley, James Lord Mountiny, Henrie Lord Cromwel, Thomas Lord Paget. Roger Lord North . And our welbeloued de faithfull Councellors, Francis Knols, knight, Treasurer of our housbold dec. lames Crofts Knight, Majler Controller of our houshold, &c. Ginen voder our hand, at Westmonastery, the 2, of February, in the 23. yeare of our reigne. By the Queene her felfe. according to the atorefaid date, by the authority of the Parliament.

The ! ites and Ceremonies wfed in Creating Barons by Charter.

filliam Cicill Knight, attired in a robe and Mantle, and in this forme brought foorth. the xv.day of Februarie, the xiii. yeare of the reigne of Queene Elizabeth, was in the royall Palace at Wellmonaflery, in a great affembly of Courtiers, made Baron of Burghley . First, the Heraids go before, by two and two together, whom Garter alone followeth, carrying in his handes the Royall Charter, Henry Cary, Baron of Hunfdon. carried the Barons Cloake : after whome followd William Cecill Knight, in the middeft, betwixt Edward Baron Clinson, on the right hand, and William Brooke Baron Cobham on the lefte: who entering into the Chamber of salutation (which wee commonly call the Presence Chamber) & making there obeyfance thrice, approached vitto her royall Maieflys where Garter first deliuered the Charter to the Earle of Suffex, then being Chamberlain of the Queenes house, who gave the same vnto the Queene, and the againe delivered the fame voto John Wolley Efquire, to be read: VVhere, at the word (Inuestinimus, or we haue inuefted) the Queen put you him the Barons Cloake, and the Charter being read, pronounced him the fayde William Cicili, aron of Burghley, and his heyres male after him, as is before declared. was againe delinered vnto the Queene, who forthwith gaue it to the Baron to be kepte; who at length, after most great thankes given her, for the honour by him received, in his honourable attire, with a great noise and found of Trumpets, departed to dinner, euen in the fame maner that he came in.

After mid dinner, Garter with the reft of the Queenes Heralds, comming neere vnto the Table, and having first altogether cryed alowd, Largeffe; forthwith proclaimed the Queens stile in Latine, French and English, and so with-drawing themfelues a little farther off, and againer epeating Largeffe, he repeated the flyle of the new Baron in these words: Du tresnoble Seigneur Guliaulme Cicil Chenalier, Baron de Burghley: and fo having done their obeyfance, and altogether crying twice Largeffe, they departed.

The manner and forme of admitting of Barons by Rescript or Writ.

Henry Compton, Henry Cheyney, & Henry Norreis Knights, were by writs, called to be present at the Parlement at Westmonastery, vpon Thursday the 8 day of May, in the 14. yeare of the reigne of O. Eliza. beth, vpon which day, after that the Nobles were fet on their feats, thefe three attending without, were by turnes in this maner brought in, and admitted into the vpper house. Carter K. at Armes, came before bare-headed, haning on his royall coar, whom two of the laft made Barons, arryred in their Gloaks, robes, and Mantles followed, bringing in the knight that was to be in his new honour inucited, in the middle betwixt them. Him at length they bring vnto the Chancellor, vnto whome the Knight having made once or twice VVhich thing being done, the charter Obeyfance, deliuereth his Writ of SumThe habite of a Baron.

ment to be laid vp. mons to be read, wherein the declareth by what power & authority he is come the-In the like manner were the other two ther: the Chancellor after the writ read Knights afterward brought in and admitwith great courtesie welcomming him, ted, and in their due order in their feates dismisseth the new Baron (in his Barons placed. So they which entred into the Parliament but Knights onely, goe out attire) to take his place, which place (Garter going before them) they thewe vnto thence and are so accounted Barons, and him : but the writ is by the Chancellour enioy the like honor with the rest of the deliuered vnto the Clearke of the Parlia-Barons of the kingdome.

> The habit wherein a Baron of England, is inuested.

Chap. 12.

CHAP. VII.

The Kings Charter for the Creating of a vi-

The Copy of the L.Patents of K.Henrie the VI.creating Io. Beaumont, vicount of Beaumont. Enry, by the grace of God, King of England, and of France, Lord of Ireland, &c. To all Arch-Byshops, Byshops, Ab-shops, Byshops, Ab-bots, Pryors, Dukes, Earles, Barons, Iustices, Sheriffes, Gouernors, Bayliffes, Ministers, and other his faithfull Subjects, vnto whome, &c. Greeting. Know you, that we, when as wee see it to beseeme our Maiestie, with principall honors to promote them, who with dutifull feruice dayly attend vs.efpecially in fuch things which proceed from our meere Prerogatiue & gracious bounty; and them chiefely, whom the remembrance of their fathers and former Ancestors hath ennobled, and the merites of their owne vertues have with manifest obedience and loyalty graced: that vertue fo rewarded, may in it felfe be firengthened, and withall allure many vnto vertuous actions.

Hecreof it is, that wee confidering the Noble different of our most dearely beloued cosine John Lord of Beaumont, & the good services which his Ancestors faithfully performed vnto our Progenitours, together with the most acceptable Offices which he even from his infancy, hath hitherto commendably done vnto vs, and yet dayly performeth; as he desireth hereafter to continue the same, and to doe vs so much the more better honour i Vvec of our especial Grace, in this our present Parliament, give vnto the aforestald John Lord of Beaumont our cosine; and the feiters male of his bodie, the name of the Kiconns of Beaumont; and do really invest him the faide John, with the Armes of the Vicount of Beaumont, and affigne vnto him in our Parliaments, Councels, and other assemblies, a place about all the other Barons in our Kingdome. Vnto whom as it shall be more fit, and as it is showed in the very State of a Vicount aforefayde, wee of our meere motion and bountie. haue giuen and graunted for vs and our heyres, as much as in vs is, vnto the aforefaide tohn and his heyres, together with the Name, Armes, and place aforelaide, twentie Markes to be yearly received vnto him, and to his heires male yffning out of his owne body, out of the former issues and profits, of our countie of Lincolne, to bee paid by the hands of the Sheriffe of the fayde county for the time beeing, at the Tearmes of Easter and S. Michaell. by equall portions. To have & to hold to him and his heires aforefaid, the Name, armes, place, and twenty Marks as aforefaide for euer; for that expresse mention, &c. VVitnesse our selfe at Redding, the twelfth of February, in the eightcenth yeare of our reigne.

By the Writ of our Prinate Seale.

Here is so great a similitude and likenesse in the Rites and ceremonies in creating of a Vicount, viith those which are yied in the creating of a Baron, as that but chaunging such things as are of necessity to be changed, a man would thinke then almost the very same. But this difference there onely is; that a Baron is conducted betwixt two Barons, whereas a Vicount hath an Earle on his right hand, and a Baron on his less (in case there want Vicounts) to conduct him, and is by halfe a gard ypon his shoulder aboue a Baron, as by the Ricture following in the next Page appeareth.

The creating of a Vicount.

The rites and ceremonies of creating a Vicount.

The

Τt

CHAP. XIII.

The Royall Charter for the creating of an Earle.

The Copie of patents of Q. creating Wal ter Deuereux earle of Effex.

482

God, Queene of England, France, and Ireland, Defendress of the faith, &c. Vnto all and singular Archbishops, Dukes, Marquesses, Earles, Vicounts, Bi-Thops, Barons, and all others, vnto whom &c. Greeting. Sceing that they whom the Divine providence hath put and placed in a Monarchy and Royall Seate, that they being as it were the Lieutenants of him that heavenly Monarch, vpon earth, may well, vprightly, religioufly, decently, and wholefomly rule, gouerne and maintaine, whatfoeuer is to their cuftody and gouernment by God himfelfe giuen and committed : and that the Monarchs in their Monarchies, represent the same thing that the eyes do in the body, whose office it is to direct all the members of the body: Monarchs and Princes therefore as cies of the Commonweale, ought diligently to intend, to looke about, and to fearch into all States and degrees of their Empire, without which wee must needes confesse, no civill administration, or politicall governement, to be possibly made or framed. And so necessary is the preferuation of orders and degrees of men in great Empires, as that after they once fee the Nobility of the States and Degrees, broken, rent, impaired, or shaken, or (as many things happen after the maner of men)by death afflicted or weak ned, they ought with all speed to amend, repaire, increase, and augment the same: so that others, whom both their owne vertues, and the glory of their Stocke and Ancestors hath ennobled, being called vnto Nobilitic and honour, the glorie of Degrees and States may for euer in the glorie and brightnesse thereof bee preferued and kept. Wherefore wee now feeing one honourable and glorious order of Nobilitie amongest the rest to growe few; and knowing right well our most famous and renowned Cosin Walter Vicount Hereford, Knight of our most Noble order of the Garter, Lord Ferrers of Chartley, worthily and valiantly to have for vs behaued himfelfe in that feditious tumult of wicked Traytors and Rebells. raised of most wicked and vngracious men in the North parts of our kingdom: In which tumult and power of armed Traytors, a most great and horrible danger was, not vnto our Kingdome onely. but euen vnto our person also intended: fo that partly by his conduct, not onclie the cruell furie and rage of the Traytours and Rebells, was there in that place repreffed, but many of the Rebels also were vnto our obedience reduced, and so the state of our Kingdome before fore troubled, became againe to be well quieted and pacified.

Wee therefore, for these causes and things by him fo worthily perfourmed, willing to promote him the fayde Walter vnto the State, Honour and Dignitic, of the Earle of Effex : and for that the aforefaide Walter is descended of the Noble Stocke and Family of the Bourchiers, late Earles of Effex, & is by the common Law of our Kingdome, next heire vnto Henry Bourchier late Earle of Effex . Know you, that wee of our especiall grace, certaine knowledge, & meere motion, have erected, created & promoted the faid Walter to be Earle of Effex; and also to the flate, degree, dignity and honour of the Earle of Effex : and by the Tenour of thefe prefents, do erect, create, and promote him to be Earle of Effex. And vnto the fame Walter haue imposed, given, and bestowed the name, stile, and title of the Earle of Effex; and by these presents, do impose, gine, and bestow the same. And him the faid Walter, in fuch the flate, title, honour, and dignity of the Earle of Effex, By the girting unto him of a Sword, and the putting on of a Cap of Honour, and a Coronet of Gold, do grace, inuest, and really ennoble by these presents. To have and to hold the flate, degree, dignitie, flile, title, name, and honour of the Farle of Effex aforefaid, with all and fingular the pracminences, honours, and other fuch things whatfocuer vnto the state of an Earle appertayning or belonging vnto the aforclayd Walter, and the heires male islaing from his bodie for ever. Willing, and by these presents, graunting for vs, our heires & successors, that the said Walter, I hands of our Customers and Collectors, and his heires male aforefaid, shall the name, state, degree, dignity, stile, and honor aforefaid, successively have & beare: and shall by the name of the Earle of Effex aforefayd, be called, and stiled, and enery one of them shall be called & stiled. And that the faid Walter and his heires aforefayd, thall in all things fucceffinely be holden, vsed, and reputed, and enery one of them shall be holden, vsed, and repured, as Earles of Effex. And the faid Walter and his heires male, shall haue, hold, and poffeffe, and enery one of them shall haue, holde, and possesse a place in our Parliaments, and in the Parliaments of our Heires and Successours within our Kingdome of England, among the other earles, as earle of Effex; and in such fort, as the aforefay de Henrie Bourchier, late earle of effex had, held, and posses-fed the fame. And the faid Walter also, and his heires aforefayd, shall enioy and vse, and enerie one of them by the name of the earle of effex, shall enion and vse all & every the rights, prinileges, præeminences, and immunities in all things orderly and of right unto the state of an Earle belonging; and which other carles in al things, orderly & of right, have before these times, in better wife more honourably and quietly vfed and enjoyed, or do at this prefent enioy and vic.

And for because, that as the height of State and Honour encreafeth, fo greater charges and burdens necessarily encrease alfo : and that hee the fayd Walter and his heires aforefayd, and euery one of them may the better, more feemely, and honorably maintaine & support the aforesaide flate of the earle of Effex, and the burdens lying vppon him the faid Walter and his heires: We therfore of our more aboundant grace, have given and granted, and by these presents doe gine and graunt, for vs. our heires and fucceffors, vnto the aforefaid Walter, and his heires aforefaid, for ener, twenty pound of Fee, or yearely rent to be yearely received, of the iffues, profits, and renenues, of our great and litle Cuttome and Subfidie graunted vnto vs, or heereafter to be granted vnto vs, our heiges and fuccessours, arising, growing, or comming, within the Port of our honorable Citie of London, by the

or the Customer and Collectors of our Heyres and Succeffors there, for the time being, at the Tearmes of S. Miehael, and Easter, by euen portions, to be euery year payed. By reason that expresse mention of the true yearely valour, or of any other valour or certainty of the premises, or of any of the, or of any other gifts or grants by vs. or any of our Progenitors, before thefe times made vnto the aforefaid Walter earle of ellex, in these presents appeareth not: or any Statute, Ordinance, Act, Provision, Proclamation, or refleiction to the contrary therof, before had, made, fer forth, or prouided; or any other thing, cause, or matter whatsoeuer, in any thing notwithstanding.

These being VVitnesses. Our faithfull Councellor, Nicholas Bacon knight, Keeper of our great Scale of england: and our most wel beloued Cosins, Edward carle of Oxford, Lord Chamberlaine of england, Reinold carle of Kent, William earle of Worcester, knight of the most Noble order of the Garter, Henry earle of Kutland, Thomas carle of Suffex, of our aforesaid order of the Garter knight, and Prefident of our Councell in the North parts of our kingdome of england: Henry carle of Huntingdon, of the aforefaid Order, &c. Ambroje carle of Warnicke, of the aforefaide Order, &c. Edward carle of Hertford, Robert earle of Leicester, of the Order aforefaid, &c. Thomas Vicount Bindon. And also the renerend Fathers in Christ, Edmund Bishop of Sarum, & Edmund Bithop of Rechester, our Almner, And also our wel-beloued and faithfull, William Lord Howard of Effingham, Lord Chamberlaine of our House, of the Order of the Garter aforesaide, &c. William Lord of Burghley, our principall Secretary of the Order aforefaid, &c. Henry Lord Strange, Arthur Lord Gray of Wilton, of the order aforefaid : William Lord Samier, Edward Lord Windfor, Thomas Lord Wharton, Robert Lord Rich, Thom is Lord Paget, John Lord Darcey of Chiche, whert Lord North, Edmund Lord Chandos, of the aforesaide Order of the Garter, & c. Thomas Lord of Buckingh, William Lord Delemare, Barons, Francis Knoller knight, Treaturer of our House, Lames Croftes, Knight, Controullor of our House. And our well-beeloued and faith-full Henry

The habit and attire wherein an Earle of England is invested.

the Charter it selfe before set down more at large appeareth. These things being done, the fame Master of the Rolles of our Chancerie, and others. Given vuder our hand, at our Mannour of Greenwich, the fourth day of May, in the foureteenth year of our crigue. 1572.

CHAP. IX.

The Rites and Ceremonies of creating of an Earle.

Me same Walter Peuereux, Raron Ferrers of Chartley, & Vicount Hereford, having on an inner Gowne of purple filke, and couered with a Roab of Estate, & a veluet Mantell of the fame colour, and going in the middle betwixt the crle of Suffex on his right hand, and the carle of Huntingdon on his left, both of them in their Roabs was conducted from the Queens Chappell vnto the Queens presence. Next before him went the earle of Leicester, carrying a Cap of Eflate, and a Coronet of Gold: & the earle of Bedford on the left hand, bearing before him a Sword, with the Hilts vpward. Before these also went Garter, the chiefe K. of Armes with the Charter alone, and before him al the rest of the Heralds, by two & two together. When they were now come vnto the Chamber of Presence, after they had thrice made their most lowe obeifance, with fome little space betwirt, they drew neare vnto the Queene then fitting in her Chaire of Effate, where the aforefaid Walter kneeled downe, the rest standing by . There the Charter was first delinered vnto the Queene, who gaue it to William Cicill, Baron of Burghley, who delinered the fame vnto William Cordell Knight, Maister of the Rolles, to reade it aloude. Where at these words (in the Charter) Gladio cincluriauimus, the Queen put about his necke a Sword, hanging onerthwart towards his left hand : and at the words Cappa & Circuli aurei, she also put voon his head a Cap, with a little Coronet. And afterward reading that which was left, pronounced him the faid Walter before vicount Hereford, now created erle of I fex, for him and his heires male, as in

at large appeareth. These things being done, the same Master of the Rolles (in stead of the Secretary, for the helping of whom he had read the charter) delivered it to the Earle of Oxford, Great Chamberlaine of England : but he delivered it vnto the Queene, who also gaue the same vnto the Earle of Effex to be kept. But he after great thanks, with greatest humility giuen, withdrew himfelfe afide amongst the other Noblemen standing there by, expecting another, comming to be created earle. In like maner, & at the fae time alfo, Edward Baron of Clynton and Say, and Admirall of England was for himfelfe and his heyres male created earle of Lincolne.

These things altogether finished they departed in the fame order that they came in, with the Trumpets aloud founding, whom the Heralds received. Garter went before, whom the new Earles followed in the middle, betwixt the Earles of Suffex and Huntingdon. And being fo attired in the Ornaments of their creations, were conducted to dinner into a dining Chamber prepared for the fame purpose. Where, after they had sit a space, at the comming in of the second courfe, Garter with the rest of the Heralds entring into the dyning Chamber, crying aloud, Largesse; he alone proclaimed the Queens stile, first in Latine, after in Frech, and thirdly in english: and having twice repeated the word Largeffe, & withdrawing themselves a little farther from the Table, proclaimed the stile of these last created Earles, in french and english in these words.

Du treshault et Puisant Seigneur Gautier d'Euerux Counte de Essex, Vicouut Hereford,Baron Ferrers d'Chartley,et Cheualieur du tresnoble ordre de la Iarretiere.

Of the most high and mighty Lord, Walter of Euerux, earle of Esfex, Vicount Hereford, Baron Ferrers of Chartley, and Knight of the most honourable order of the Garter.

Du trefhault et puifant Sir Edou.rde Conte de Lincoln, Baron de Clynton et S.ay, grand Admirall d'Angleterre, et Cheualieur de trefnoble ordre de la Iarretiere.

Of the most high & puissant, Sir Edward, earle of Lincoln, Buron of Clynton & Say, great Admirall of England, & knight of the most noble order of the Garter.

Chap. 11.

CHAP. X.

The Kings Charter concerning the creating of a Marquesse.

The Letters Patents wherby King Ed-ward the 4. created Tho GreyMarques Dorfet.

Dward by the grace of God, King of England & of France, Lord of Ireland, re. Vnto all Archishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Dukes, Earles, Barons, lustices, Sheriffes, Gouernours, Ministers, Balines, and all his faithfull subjects; greeting. Know you, that for a much as our Royall Maiesty, after most great victories obtained ouer our enemies, is by the power of Almightie God promoted vnto the Regall Dignitie, and our Hereditary Royall leate: and lest that so great glorie of our Name, should even in the verie rifing thereof, for want of Children, faile, it came most happily to passe, that we were in lawfull marriage loyned vnto our best beloued wife, Elizabeth, Queene of England, of whom we have raised certaine more strong stayes of our future Royall Posterity, that is to say, Edward our cldcft Sonne, Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornewall, and Earle of Chester, Richard Duke of Shrewsbury and of Yorke; with a notable encrease of other our Children alfo: which thing greatly both perfwadeth and enforceth vs, even from our heart, to give the greatest thankes wee possibly can, vnto the most glorious and high GOD, Defender of our Royall right, and Reuenger of our wrongs; and with gracious fauours to profecute, and with greater honour and fauour to grace and beautifie her the same our wife, having of vs best deserved, and all her Progeny. But to the intent that our first begotten Sonne aforesayd, and the rest of our best beloued Children, compaffed about with the faithfull, trufty, and fure strength of their neare and deare friends, as it were with certaine walles. may the more strongly be defended; we will not passe ouer vnrewarded, Thomas Grey their Brother by the Mothers fide; whose noble Stocke, exceeding towardlineffe, worthy valour, but most of all, whose honourable vertues, we with the fincere affection of loue embrace : for

why it feemes a thing most certain, them being brought vp in naturall fociety, and bound together with that sweete remembrance, them to have dwelt in the fame dwelling place before they were borne, to beare a certaine common, and especial loue amongst themselues for ever : and that they who in so strait a degree of confanguinity & loue are joyned together, if any one of them should bee of so small dignity and reputation, as that for pouerty hee should not be able honourably to ferue his greater kinfman when he ought fo to do : we thinke it not unbeferming vs to prouide therefore, so as shall best feeme vs. And therefore we willing that the fayde Thomas should bee promoted with a greater patrimony, and more notable Titles of honour and dignity, that fo he may stand in better stead; and become a greater Ornament vnto vs , our Children, and the Common-weale: of our speciall grace, certaine knowledge,& meer motion, do ordaine, make, and create him the faid Thomas, to be Marqueffe Dorfet: and also by these presents vnto the faid Thomas, give and grant, the stile, ho-nor, state, title and dignity of Marquesse Dorfet : and by the Girding wate him of a Sword, and by the putting on of a Cap of Honour, do inuest him of the stile, title, name and honour of Marquelle of the place aforefaide; together with all the præeminences vnto the same honour and dignity appertaining and belonging. To haue and to hold the faid name, stile, honour, state, title, and dignity of Marquesse Dorfet, together with all the appurtenances, dignities, and other things whatfocuer, vnto the state of a Marquesse of our kingdome of England, as well in our Sessions, Parliaments and Councells, and of our heires, or otherwise howsoener it be vnto the same honour and dignity appertaining and belonging, vnto the afore-fayde Thomas and his heyres male issuing out of his body for euer. And also of our more plentifull grace we have given and graunted, and by these presents do gine and graunt vnto the aforefaid Marqueffe towardes the supportation of the sayde name, stile, honour, state, title and dignitie, 35. pounds of lawfull money of England. To be had, leuied & received yerely vnto the fayd Marquesse, and the same his heires aforefaid, (viz.) twenty pounds

CHAP. XI.

■ The Kings Charter for the creating of a Marchionesse.

ter State and Maiefly, confifteth in the multitude of persons of both Sexes, as well of men as women: and that the go-uernment of our kingdome is fo much the more, with the more excellent honour

strengthened, by how much the moeno-

ble States, and higher Dignity of both Sexes are vnder it, or support it. VVec

therefore vnto the premisses directing our fight, and willing to establish our Royall Scepter with the encrease of Nobles, and especially such as are from Roy-

all race descended. For a Royall Seate

once placed, is with the presence of many Princes to be attended. VVherefore vppon this confideration, as well for the Nobility of her Stocke, as for the excellency of her vertues and conditions; and other the shewes of her honesty & goodnesse, worthily to be commended. VVce

by the confent of the Nobility of our kingdome then prefent, make, create, and ennoble; and by thefe prefents make,

create, and ennoble our Coofin Anne

Rochford, one of the Daughters of our wel-beloued Coofin Thomas, Earle of Wilishire, and of Ormend: Keeper of our

prinate Seale, to be Marchioneffe of Pem broke : and also by The putting on of a Mantle, and the fetting of a Coronet of gold wpon

her head, as the manner is, do really inuef

vnto her the Name, Title, State, Stile,

Honour, Authority, and Dignity, and o-

ENRY by the grace of God, King of England, and Parents who GOO, Sing Of Engandants of France, Defender of the by King Henric & Lord of Ireland:

to all and fingular Arms

to all and fingular Pulses

Part Pulses

Part State Control of Pulses

Par

Bishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Dukes, Daughter to Earles, Barons, Iuftices, Sheriffes, Gouer- Thomas carle nors, Ministers, and all Baliues, & others and of Orhis faithfull Subjects: Greeting. Know mond, with you, that for a finuch as a Royall Seate, & the Titleof the height of regal dignity, with the grea- of Pembroke, thereof to bee had and received vnto the faid Marqueffe and the fame his heyres, of the Fee-farme of the Towne of Dorfet, by the hands of the Bourgesses of the saide Towne for the time being, at the tearmes of S. Michaell, and of Easter, by equal portions. And the other fifteene pounds the remainder thereof, to bee had and receiued yearely unto the saide Marquesse, and his heyres aforefaide, of all the Customes and Subsidies, to vs already granted, or to be granted, and of eyther of the, and of euery part, or of euery parcell of the same, comming and growing in that Port of our Towne of Southampton, by the hands of our Customers or Collectors, or of our heyres in the Port for the time being, at the aforesaide Tearmes by equal portions. For because that expresse mention of the true yearely valour of the premisses, or any of them, or of any other gifts or grants vnto the faide Thomas, before these times by vs made, is not in these presents made: or any statute, acte, or ordinace to the contrary, made, fet forth, or ordayned or any other thing, cause, or matter what focuer not with standing : and thefe things without any fee thereuppon, to our vie in any wife to be payed. These being Witneffes: Our most famous first begotten Sonne, Edward Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, and Earle of Chester, and of Flint. The most renerend Fathers, Thomas, Cardinall and Archbifhop of Canterbury, & George, Archbifhop of Yorke. Our most renowned Brethren, George Duke of Clarence, and Richard Duke of Glocester: and the right renerend Fathers, Thomas Bishop of Lincolne, our Chancellor of England: and Thomas Bishoppe of Hereford. Our wel-beloued Coofins, William Arundell, Henry Effex, Treasurers of England, and Anthony Rivers Earles. And the welbeloued and faithfull Clarke, our Efquire John Ruffell, Doctor of Law,& keeper of our prinate Scale : And also our welbeloued and faithfull Thomas Stanley, & William Hastings, Knights: with others. Giuen vnder our hand at Westmonastery, the XVIII.day of Aprill, in the XV. yeare of our Reigne.

> By Letters of our private Seale, and of the Date of these presents before the Par-ther the rest of the Honour, vnto the same To have and to hold the Name, Stile, belonging and annexed.

Title, State, Honor, Authority, and Dignity of the Marchionesse of Penbroke vnto the aforesaide Anne, and the Heyres male yssuing of her body for ever. And to the intent, that the fayd Anne as befeemeth the name of the Marchionesse of Penbroke, & the Wobility of her state may the more decently and honorably, maintaine and support the burthens to be laid vpon her, we have given and granted, & by this present Charter doc give, grant, and confirme vnto the faid Anne, and her heires aforefaid, thirty and fiue poundes vearely, to be received to her & her heirs aforefaid, of the firme rents, issues, reuentions, obuentions, profites, and emoluments, of our County of Penbroke aforefaid, arifing and growing, as well by the hands of the Sheriffe of that Countie for the time being, as by the hands of the Balyffes, Farmers, or other occupiers of our Countie aforesaide whosoener, at the Termes of Saint Michael the Archangell, and of Easter, by equall portions to bee payed. For that expresse mention of the true yearely valew, or of other giftes or grants by vs, vnto the aforesaide Anne in former times made, in these presents appeareth not, or any statute, act, ordinance or provision to the contrary therofmade, fet forth, or prouided, or any other thing or matter whatfoeuer, in any thing notwithstanding. These being Witnesses. The most reuerend Father in Christ, Ed. Archbithop of Torke, and the Reverend Pather in Christ, Step. Bishop of Winchester our Secretary, and John Bishoppe of London, And also our wel-beloued cofins Thomas Duke of Norfolke, our Treasurer of England, and Charles Duke of Suffolke, Earle Marshall: Thomas Earle of Wilshire, Keeper of our private Seale : John Earle of Oxford, our Chamberlaine of England: and George Earle of Shrewsbury, Steward of our house: Thomas Audley Knight, keeper of our great Seale : William Sandes of Vine, Knight; Chamberlaine of our House: and Walter Deuereux of Ferrers Knight, Barons: William Fitz Williams, Treasurer of our house: and William Paulet, controller of our house, Knights: and others. Giuen vnder our hand, at our Castle of Wind for the first day of September, and in the 24.yeare of our reigne.

The Rites and Ceremonies vied in Creating of a Marchione[]e.

This Anne the daughter of Tho: Earle of Wilshire, and of Ormund, uppon a Sunday, viz.the first day of Septem. 1532 in the 24. yeare of King Henry the eight, was at Windfore in this manner inuefted. The King himfelfe attended vpon with the Dukes of Norfolke and Suffolke, the Marquesses, Earles, Barons, and other the Great estates of the Kingdome, together with the French Ambaffador, and manie of the Priuy Counfell, went into the Chamber of Salutation, which they commonly call The Presence) and there fate him downe in his chaire of Estate. Vnto the which place the aforefaide Anne was conducted with a great traine of Noble Courtiers, both men and women. The Heralds went formost, Garter K. of Heralds, first carrying the Kings Charter. After whom, the Noble Lady Mary, daughter to Thomas Duke of Norfolke, vpon hir left arme carried a robe of estate of Crimson Veluct furred with Ermines, and in her right hand a Coronet of Gold. Her, the aforesaide Anne followed, with her hayre loofe, and hanging down vpon hir shoulders, attired in her inner garment (which they call a Surcet) of Crimfon Veluet, lined with ermins also with straite sleeues, going in the middest betwixt Elizabeth, Counteffe of Rutland on her right hand; and Dorothy, Countesse of Suffex on her left; whom many Noble Ladies & Gentlewomen followd. But the being broght towards the Kinges Royall Scate, thrice made her obeyfance, and comming vnto the King fell downe up on her knees. The King gaue the Charter before delivered vnto him, vnto the Bishop of Winchester his Secretary to be read, which as he was reading aloud at these words Mantella inductionem (in the Charter) the King put vpon Anne the Marchionesse the Robe of estate, deliuered him by the Lady Marie; and at the wordes Circuli aurei, put also vppon her head a Coronet of Gold. At length, the Charter being read, the King gaue vnto her two Charters, viz: the one, of the creating of her to bee a Marchioneffe, and to the heyres male yffuing out of her body for euer. And another, for the receiving of a thousand poundes reuenew yearly, for the maintaining of that her dignity. All which thinges at length performed, the gaue the King most humble thankes, and so having on her Robe of > the Trumpets aloud founding, departed. "HERites and Ceremonies for creating of a Marquelle, altogether a-

The Rites of a Marquesse. Chap.12.

Estate, and a Coronet you her head, with | changing onely such things as me of neceffity to be changed, but that Marquelles haue a Marquelle and an Farle to conduct them at their creating: the rest of the difference is out of the portraiture beneathe gree with those vsed in creating of a Euke | fet, as followeth.

> The Rites and Ceremonies in creating of a MARQUES.

CHAP. XIII.

The Kings Charter for the creating of a

Dukes, Marqueffes, Earles, Barons, Juftices, Sheriffes, Gouernors, Ministers, and to all Baliffes, and other his faithfull Subicas,&c.Greeting. Seeing that there is nothing which more becometh a Prince, then to thew himfelfe bountifull and liberall, especially vnto such as have of him well deferued, & good feruices vnto him performed: wee therefore revoluing in our minde, with how many, how great & worthy feruices our most deare and wellbeloued Vnkle Edward, earle of Hertford hath honoured vs: wee haue therefore thought him worthy, whom wee should promote vnto an higher degree of honour and dignity : neyther can we but for such his great deserts towards vs, but in fome part with due deferts againe requite him. Know you therefore, that wee of our speciall grace, certaine knowledge, & meere motion, and by the aduice of our Councell, do create, ennoble, make and ordaine, him the aforesaid earle, to bee Duke of Somerfet. And by these presents. gine and grant vnto him the faide earle. the name title flate, flile, honour, authority, & dignity, of the D. of Somerfet : and him of that name, with the title, state, honor, authority, & dignity, & other honors to the fame belonging & annexed; by The girting unto him of a Sword, and by the putting on of a Cap, and a Coronet of Gold wpon his head : and the delivering wato him of a golden Verge, do really inuest. To have and to hold the name, stile, state, honour, authority, and dignity, of the Duke of Somerfet to our aforesaid Vnkle, and to the heyres male of his owne body, and of the body of Anne, now his wife, already begotten, and of the body of the same Anne heereafter to be begotten. And if it shall happen the faide Duke to dye without heyre male begotten, or heereafter to bee begotten of his body, and the body of the faide Anne now his wife : VVce will and grant, that if by the death of him the faid Duke, the heyres male of his body, and of Anne now his wife shall decease or dye, then Edward Seymour Esquire, the saide Dukes Sonne of the body of Katharine the first wife, of him the said Duke deceased, shall be Duke of somerfet, and shall beare, haue, hold, and enjoy vnto him the aforesaid Edward Seymour, and the heires male from the body of him, the fame Edmard lawfully descended, the name, state, title, honour, authority, and dignity of the Duke of Somerfet, with all the honours vnto the faid Dukedome appertaining & annexed. And also by the Girting vonto him of a fword, and the putting on of a Cap. and a Coronet of gold wpon his head, and by the delivering unto him of a golden verge, shall be thereof really inuested. And if it shall happen the aforesaid Edward to dve without heyre male of his body lawfully begotten, then we will, and grant, that the heyre of the now Duke of his body lawfully begotten, by any other his wife which he shall heercafter marry, shall bee Duke of Somerfet, and shall beare, have, and enjoy the fame, vnto him & his heires male, lawfully begotten. And also the ftate, title, honour, dignity, and authority of the Duke of Somerfet, with all the honours vnto the faid Duke appertaining & annexed. And also by the Girting vnto him of a Sword, and by the putting of a Cap and Coronet upon his head, and the delinering of agolden verge unto him, shall therein beroyally inuested. And that the same Duke and his heyres aforefaide, may according to the decency of the faid name of the Duke of Somer fet, and the Nobility of his and their estate, more honourably beare themselues. And that the same Edward and his heyres aforefaid, if they shal chance to be Dukes of Somer (et, may the more honourably maintaine, and beare the state and honour of the aforesaide name of the Duke of Somerfet; and for want of fuch iffue, that then the heires male of the body of the faide Duke hereafter to bee begotten of the body of any wife, which he shal hereafter marry, may in like maner more honorably beare the state and honour of the aforefayd name of the Duke of Somer [et : we have given and graunted, and by this our present

The Dukes Charter. Chap.13.

Charter, giue, graunt, and confirme, for | parcell thereof to be behind & vnpaid at vs our heires and successours, vnto the aforesaid duke of Somerset, a certaine annuall rent of forty pounds, of good and lawfull money of England, iffling out of our Mannor of Crikerum, otherwise called Crokhorne, Stokegersey, Wikefitzpane, or of any of them, in our County of somer(et, being late parcel of the possessions of Henrie late Marquelle of Exceter, which came vnto the hands of the late most noble and inuincible Prince, King Henry the eight, our most renowned father, by reafon of the attaindor of the faid Marques, of high treason attainted, and which now are in our hands. To have, hold, and receine the aforelayd yearely rent of fortie pound, vnto the aforesaid duke of Somerfet, and his heires aforesaid, at the Feasts of the bleffed virgin Mary, and Saint Michaell the Archangel, by equall portions, to bee yearely payed by the hands of the Receivers, Farmers, Tenants, and other whomfoeuer, Occupiers of our Manors, Lands, and Tenements aforefayd, or of any of them, being parcell of them. And after that, for want of fuch iffue, vnto the aforesaide Edward, and the heires male of his body lawfully begotten. And for defect of fuch iffue, to remaine from thenceforth, vnto the heires male of the faid Duke of his owne body begotten, by any other his wife, which he shall heereafter marry. And that these our Letters Patents, or the Inrolement of them, vpon the onely shewing of the same, or of the enrolement of them, shall be yearely, and from time to time, as well vnto our Chancellour, and our Councell of our Court of Augmentation and Revencion of our Crowne, for the time being, as vnto all others our Ministers, Receivers, and other our Officers, their heires and fucceffours whatfocuer for the time being, a sufficient warrant and discharge in this part, for the deliuery and payment of the faid verely rent offorty pounds, vnto the aforesaid Duke and his heires aforesaid. And for defect of fuch iffue, vnto the faid Edward Seymour, and the heires male of his body lawfully begotten. And for want of such iffice, vnto the heires of the fayde Duke, of his body lawfully begotten, by any other his wife, which he shall hereafter marry. And if it shall happen the faid yerely rent of forty pound, or any part or any of the aforefaide Feafts, in which it ought to be paied as is aforefaid: then we grant for vs, our heires and fucceflours, vnto the fayde Duke, and his heires aforefaid, and enery one of them: and for lacke of fuch iffue, vn to the faide Edward Seymour, and his heires aforefaid: and for want of fuch iffue, vnto the aforesaid heires of the said Duke, whom he shall lawfully beget of the body of any other his wife whom hee shall heereaftermarry, and to enery one of them, into the aforefaide Mannors, and cuery one of them, and into all and cuerie the aforesaide Lands and Tenements, or any parcell of the faide Mannors, Lands, or Tenements, to enter, and there to distraine, & the distresses there so by them, or any of them taken, to drive, leade, carry away, impound, and with them, and enery one of them to detaine, vntill the aforefaid yearely rent of forty pound, together with the arrerages (if any there shall be thereof) shall vnto the aforesaid duke and his heires aforefaid, or vnto the faid Edward or his heires aforefaide : or the heires of the faide Duke or some one of them, be fully and wholly contented and payed, by vs, our heires and fucceffours, or the affignes of vs, our heires, or fuccessours. And for that expresse mention, &c. These being VVitnesses. The most reuerend Father in Christ, Thomas Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate and Metropolitane of all England; and our well-beloued and faithfull Councellour, William Poules Knight, Lord Saint John, Great Maister of our house, &c. tohn Ruffell Knight, Lord Ruffell Keeper of our prinie Scale: and also our most well-beloued Cozins, Henry earle of Arundell, and Francis earle of Shrewsburie, &c. Given under our hand at the Tower of London, the fixteenth day of February.

The first of Edward the fixt by the King himfelfe.

¶ The

CHAP. XIIII.

The manner of Creating of a Duke.

N the yeare one thousand fine hūdred forty seuen, the xvii. of the Moneth of February, and in the first yeare of the Reign of Edward the fixt of that name, The Nobility being called regether and affembled into the Tower of London. Edward Seymour, the aforefaid Earle of Hertford the kings Vnkle, & Protector of the kingdom, with others promoted unto the diners degrees of Nobility, was in this wife created D. of Somerset. He himselfe being apparelled in an inner Robe of honour, the Heralds went before him in their Heralds coates, the chiefe of whom, Garter following alone, carried the Charter. The Earles of Shrewsbury and of Oxford, going together, the Earle of Shrewsbury on the right hand, carried a Verge of gold, & the earle of oxford on the left, carried the Dukes Cap, with a Coronet of gold. Next voto whom followed the Earle of Arundell, carrying a Sword with the hilts vpward. At length the carle of Hertford himfelfe was conducted in the midst, betwixt the Duke of Suffolke, and the Marquesse of Dorchester: When they in this manner, attired in their Robes of honour, were come into the Chamber of Salutation (which they commonly call The :refence Chamber) they after thrice obeyfance made, went vnto the king, fitting in his chayre of Estate: where foorth-with the carle kneeled downe, all the rest standing about him, Garter king of Heralds, deliuered the Charter vnto Baron Paget, the Kings Secretary, who gaue the same vnto the King, and he delinered it voto him againe to be read aloud. And when hee came vnto the words inuestinimus, (or we we have inuested) the king put a Dukes Mantle vpon the Earle; and at the words (Cladio cineturanimus) girt him with a Sword: at the words (cappa & circulian. rei impositionem) the King himselfe in like manner with his owne hand put vppon his head a Cap with a Coronet of gold vponit: and at length, at those wordes (virga aurea traditionem) the King himfelfe gaue into his hand, A verge of gold: which done, the Secretary read the reft, even vnto the end of the Charter: wherin he pronounced him the faide earle of Hertford, to bee Duke of Somerfet: at which time, the King forthwith gaue the Charter ynto the Duke to bee kept: who after thanks given vnto the Kings Maieflie for fo great an honour and dignity receiued, in this fort attired, flood by the Chaire of Estate, whilst the Noble-men returned to bring in others, who were alfo to be created.

Th

The habite and attire of a Duke.

The Copy of the letters patents of king Henry th: 6.

creating Edward his first begotten Sor Prince of Wales, and Earle of Che

OF

The Kings Charter for the creating of the Prince of Wales.

LIENRY by the grace of God, King of England, and of France, Lord of Ireland, &c. To all Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Dukes, Earles, Barons, Iuflices, Vicounts, Gouernors, Ministers, and to all our Balines, and faithfull Subiccts, Greeting. Out of the excellency of Royall preheminence, like as beams from the Sun, so do inferior honours proceed: neyther doth the integrity of the royall lutter and brightneffe, by the naturall difposition of the light, affoording light fro light, feele any loffe or detriment by fuch borrowed light : yea, the Royall Scepter is also much the more extolled, and the Regall Throne exalted, by how much the more Nobles, Preheminences, and Honours are voder the power and command thereof.

And this worthy confideration allureth and induceth vs, which defire the encrease of the Name and Honour of our first begotten and best beloued Sonne, Edward, in whom we behold and fee our selucs to bee honoured, and our royall housealfo, and our people subject vnto vs; hoping by the grace of God (by coniccture taken of his gratious future proceeding to be the more honorably strengthened, that wee may with honour preuent, and with abundant grace profecute him, who in reputation of vs, is deemed the same person with vs. VVherefore, by the Councell and confent of the Prelats, Dukes, Earles, Vicounts, and Barons of our kingdome, being in our present Parliament, we have made and created, and by these presents make and create him the Gid Edward, Prince of Wales, and Earle of Chester. And vnto the same Edward we giue and grant, and by this Charter haue them) ornaments made of purple filke & confirmed, the Name, Stile, Title, State, gold. Dignity, and the honour of the faid Principality and County. And him of the faid Principality and County, that hee may therein in gouerning rule, and in ruling, direct and defend, we by a Garland wpon bis head, by a ring of gold vpon his finger, and a verge of gold, have according vnto the manner inuested him . To have and to hold the same vnto him and his heires, the Kings of England for euer. Wherefore, we will, and straightly command, for vs and our heires, that Edward our Sonne aforesaid, shall have the Name, Stile, Title, State, Dignity, and Honour of the Principalitie of Wales, and of the County of Chester aforesaide, vnto him and his heyres the Kings of England aforefaide. for euer. These being witnesses. The reuerend Fathers, John, Cardinall and Arch-Bishop of Canterbury, Primate of all England, our Chancellor, and William Arch-bi-Thop of Torke, Primat of England ; Thomas Bithop of London, and William Bithop of Norwich: our most wel-beloued Cosins, Richard Duke of Yorke, and Humfrey Duke of Buckingham, our wel-beloued Cofins, Richard Earle of Warwicke, Richard Earle of Sarisbury, John Earle of Wilfhire, and our beloued and faithfull Raffe Cromwell, Chamberlain of our house, William Faulconbridge, and John Stourton Knights. Dated at our Pallace of VVestminster, the XV.day of March, and in the yeare of our Reigne, XXXII.

By the King himselfe, and his Councell.

CHAP. XVI.

Things required unto the Creation of the Prince of Wales.

LIrst, an honorable habite (viz.) a Robe of Purple Veluer having in it, about XVIII.elnes, more or leffe, garnished about with a fringe of gold, and lined with Ermins.

A Surcoat or inner Gowne, having in it about XIIII. elnes of Veluet, of like Coulor, Fringe, and Furre.

Laces, Buttons, and Taffels (as they cal

A girdle of filke alfo, to gird his inner Gowne.

A fword with a feabberd made of purple filke and gold, garnished with the like girdle he is girt withall, thereby thewing

The habite of a Prince of Wales. Chap.16.

himselfe to be Duke of Cornwall by birth, | declareth his mariage made with Equity and not by Creation.

A cap of the same veluet that his Robe is of furred with Ermines, with Laces and a Button, and Taffels on the crowne therof made of Venice gold.

A garland or a little Coronet of gold.

to be put on his head, together with his Cap. A long golden Verge or Rod, betoke-

ARing of gold also to bee put on the third finger of his left hand, whereby he and Instice.

All these things were almost with Royalifumptuouinesse prepared for Fdward, Sonne to King Henry the eight, to haue beene created Prince of Wales, but preuented by his Fathers death, hee was crowned King, fixt of that Name: yet the forme, with the Rites and Ceremonies belonging to the inuefting of the Prince into the Principality of Wales, you may perceive, by that which is before declared.

CHAP. XVII.

Of the (rowning of the King.

Concerning Charters & Writs of Summons unto Parliament, whereby the Kinges of England, onely upon their good liking & meere motion (us they vee to fay) are wont to conferre Named Nobility, wee have already spoken: and now at length we are come unto the rites and Ceremonies of the Coronation of the Kinges themselues, as they are after our manner with vs Crowned. Concerning which, a few things are now to be faide.

Othing affuredly is more excellent then the Royall dignity, if we shall respect the Maiefly of the name of a King, either among the nations or in holie Scrip tures. The Romanes in ancient time, appointed three Degrees of their greatest Dignities, of all which, the Regall power was the cheefest and highest. Next after the dignity of a King was the Dictatorship; in the third place, followed the power which the Generall of their Armies had, whom they called imperator. Hee that great Iulius Cafar; when after the victory of Phar falia, had beene oftentimes by his army faluted Imperator, yet for all that, vfed he not the name of Imperator, but Dictator. For why, the name of a King, after the time of Tarquinius, was for a great while growne into hatred, and become odious in the Citie. Howbeit, at fuch time as he was about to make an expedition against the Parthians, hee affected to bee called a King : affirming it to be contained in the Books of the Sybils, the Parthians not possible to bee conquered and forme following. fubdued but by a King.

The Dictators most high power, was in all things like vnto the power of a King: and fuch as a man may fay to have bin equall vnto the power of a King. This was (as Varro witneffeth) chaunged into a great Magistrate, whom they called Ma. gistrum Civium (or Muster of the Citizens) which manner of Gouernour of a Citie, the Germaines vied to call, Burnue

The name of Imperator or Emperors, was at first but an Office in an Army, and a bare Title; which yet at length became a dignity of greater State and Maiesties then any of the rest; and yet at length, fo fell, as that the Maiesty and magnificence of the Christian world, is maintained only by the power of Kings. Vnto foure of whom onely, it is written to have beene proper in ancient time to bee annointed, viz. vnto the Kings of Ierusalem, of Eneland, of France, and of Sicily.

The French writers report, the French Kings within the bounds of theyr owne kingdom, to be ftyled Imperatores or Emperors. Chaffaneus allo affirmeth, the king of England, to bee in England, a Monarke And if the name of Christianisimi, or the most Christianking, bee glorious vnto the French kings, and the name of Catholici or Catholique vnto the kings of Spaine, the kinges of England have also a style whereof to reioyee, as (viz:) not in Title, onely to be styled Fidei Christiana & Catholica Defensores, or Defenders of the Chri-Stian and Catholique Faith, but euen with vndaunted Maiesty, to be of both acknoledged the great Champions and Protecters of the same. But concerning attributes or additions of Stiles and Titles, I lift not for to ftriue. But, feeing that the kings of England for their royall dignity, gine God the thankes onely; and that it is onely by the grace of God (as they vie to fay) by hereditary fuccession, by them obtained : they hold it vnto them confirmed by the furfrages of the people, with the requisite forme and ceremonics of Coronation, Confectation, and Inunction. Which being of ancient time (the kingdome fore shaken with Danish wars) ofte kept at King ston vppon Thames, is now vfually holden and made at Westmonastery. a city ioyning vnto the city of London, in

The

Chap. 17. The ancient form of Coronation, &c.

The ancient forme of the Co-ronation of the Kings and Queenes of England.

INprimis. The King to be newly crowned, the day before his Coronation, mall be brought forth in royall Robes. and shall ride from the Tower of London, to his Pallace of Westminster with his head vncouered, being accompanied on horsebacke with his temporall Lords, his Nobles, the Commons of London, and other his feruants.

The seate of Estate.

Item. Let there be prouided against the day of Coronation, in the Kings great Hall at Westminster, a Chaire of Estate, fittingly prouided with hangings of filke and embrodery, with Cushions and Carpets of Arras accordingly.

The Scaffold.

Item. Let it be prouided, that a Stage or Scaffold bee erected in the Church at Westminster, with steps on eyther side: let it be orderly futed with Cloathes and Carpets on all parts, and likewise on the floore.

The Royall Throne.

Item. Let it bee prouided, that upon the faid Scaffold, there bee erected a Throne or Chaire, wherein the King is to fit: Let it bee accordingly futed with rich furniture, and Cushions of cloth of gold.

The Abbot of Westminster.

Item.It is to be observed, that the Abbot of VVestminster for the time beeing, by the space of two or three dayes before the Coronation of the King or Queene, shall instruct them what duties they are to performe in the celebration of their Coronation; as also to prepare their consciences, before the receiving of the Sacred on ction. And if the Abbot be dead, sicke, or absent in some remote Country, or lawfully hindred; the shall one of the Monks of the faide Monastery (nominated by the Couent of the fame Church) supply the office of the faid Abbot in this cafe.

Of the Kirtle and Surcoate.

Item. Vpon the day of the Coronation the King that is to be crowned, shall be placed in the foresaid Chaire of estate, in the forefaid Hall (but beeing first bathed:) and after his bathing, a Kirtle and Surcoat of Veluet shall be prepared for him, open on the breast, betweene the shoulders and blades of his armes: Let his open Kirtle and Surcoat bee fastened together with loops of filuer: and vpon the Kirtle let him be cloathed with other royall Robes, and let him bee shod with Procession.

Item. Let a folemne Procession be prouided by the Abbot and Couent of VVeft : from the fore-faide Church to the Kings feate, in the fore-faid Hall. In which procession, there shall be arch-bishops, Bishops, and other Prelates. Then the King thall descend, and follow the Procession into the Church at VVestminster, and he shall goe vpon blew cloth spread vpon the ground, from the foresaid Chaire to the Stage (or feege) erected in the fore-faide Church. And in the faid procession shall be fung such like Hymnes, as are accustomed to bee sung in the reception of Kings and Queenes.

The Crosse, &c.
Item. The Crosse, Sword, Scepter, and Royall Mace (enfignes of honour) shall be borne in the procession, by the Abbot, Prior and Senior Monks of Westminfter into the Pallace, and there shall they be furrendred to divers of the Lords, to be borne before the King to the Church.

The Barons of the fine Ports.

Item. The Barons of the fine Ports shall carry a rich Canopy vpon filuered staues ouer the King or Queenes head, in the fore-faide procession vnto the saide

The Abbot of Westminster.

Item. The Abbot (or the Monke supplying his place) ought alwayes to be neere about the King and Queene to give enftructions.

Vv3

The

The Arch-bishop ought to demand the good | places, (viz.) in the palmes of his hands, liking of the people.

After the King hath a little reposed himselfe in the Chaire or Throne erected vpon the Scaffold, then the arch-bishoppe of Canterbury, shall goe vnto | vpon his head with the Christine, the fathe foure foures of the Scaffold, & with | stenings and Mantle beeing first opened. a loud voyce, aske the good liking of the people, concerning the Coronation of the king: Meane while the king shal stand vp in his Throne, and turne himselfe vi to the foure squares, in like manner, as the Archbishoppe speaketh vnto the people. And after the faid demand, the Anthem Firmetur manus tua, &c. shall be fung.

The Orffertory of the King.

The anthem being ended, the king shal descend from the Scaffold, up to the high Altar the Bishops leading him: whereppon he is bound to offer a Mantle, & one pound of gold: therein fulfilling his commandement, who laid; Non apparebis vacuùs in conspect u Cei tui.

The King prostrateth himfelfe.

The Offering being finished, the king boweth himfelfe vpon the Pauement before the Altar, being before prepared by the Kings Officers, with cloaths and futable cushions of veluet, vntill the Arch-Bithop hath taide ouer him the Prayer. Deus fidelium, &c. And then ought a Sermon to be preached vnto the people.

The King taketh his Oath.

The Sermon being ended, the king approcheth vnto the Altar to take his oath, which he ought to performe vpon the facrament of our Lords body. Then let the Hymne, Veni creator spiritus, be solemnly fung. VVhich being begun, the King shal proftrate himselfe before the high Altar, vitill the Letany and Preface bee wholly fung ouer him. Which being finished, let the king arife and fit in his chaire, therein reposing himselse a while.

The annointing of the King.

After this, let the King arise from his chaire, and goe vnto the Altar, and there shall he put off his Robes (except his Kirtle and Surcoat) and there let him receive Vnction, the Quier meane while finging; Vnxerunt Salomonem; with the prayer following. Then let him be annointed in fiue on his breaft, betweene his shoulders, on the blades of his armes, and on his head. with holy-oyle, in forme of a croffe; and afterwards making the figne of the croffe Item, after the forefaid Vnction, and wiping with linnen cloaths (which ought afterwards to bee burnt) let the opened places for the annointing, be closed again by the Abbot of Westminster, or his De.

The Abbot of Westminster Shall take off the Kings Cap.

After the annointing of the kings head, let it bee couered with a linnen Cap, be. cause of holy vnction, and so let it remain vntill the eight day after the vnction : vpon the which day, the Abbot of Westminster or his Deputy, shall come vnto the king, and take off the aforefaid linnen Cap, and shall wash & mundifie the kings head. After the faid washing, the Abbot of VVestminster, or his affignes, shall put vpon the King, royall habiliments, viz, a Sindon fashioned after the Dalmatian fafhion, with hofe and fandals: and then let these royall Robes bee facred by the arch-Bishop: as Patet in Libro.

The King Shall be cloathed with a Mantle by the Abbot.

These Offices being finished, the aforefaide king shall be arrayed by the Abbot of VVetiminster, or his assignes, with a long Cloake or Mantle, woulen with faire Imagery of gold, before and behind, with his Buskins, Pantofles, and Spurs fitted to

The fetting of the Crowne wpon the Kings head.

After the King is thus arrayed, then let the Crowne be placed vpon the kings head by the arch-bishop, and afterward let a Ring be put on the Kings hand by a Bishiop.

Of the Sword.

After this, let the Royall Sword bee bleffed, and the faid King shall receive it from the Bishop, and shall gird himselfe with the faid fword, and receive the Bracelets: afterward, let him bee cloathed with a

of Kings and Queenes.

Royall cloake.

The offering of the Sword. After this, let the King offer the faide Sword vpon the Altar to God: which the worthiest earle then present is to redeeme for one hundred Shillings; and to carry it naked before the King. The price whereof pertayneth vnto the fayde

The receiving of the Scepter.

After this, let the King receiue a paire of linnen Gloues, & after that the Scepter, with the Croffe in his right hand, and the Mace in his left. Then being bleffed, he shall kiffe the Bishops, by whom (as also by the residue of the Nobility)he shall bee honourably conducted to his Royall feate, the Quier finging, Te Deum laudamus.

The Prelates, and the residue shall make their homace.

After this, let the Prelates and Lords make their fealty and liege homage to the Lord King: and then let Maffe begin. Item, whileft Gloria in excelfis is finging, the King thall be cenfed by a Deacon: and at Credo, he shall kisse the Booke.

The offering of Bread and Wine.

Whilest the Offertorie is finging, let the King approach to the Altar, & make his offering of Bread and VVine : and after that let him also offer a Mark of gold: which being done, the King shall a little bow downe his head, whileft the Archbishoppe doth blesse him with two Orifons, which being finished, let the King be brought back to his Throne or estate.

The kissing of the Pax after the Agnus Dei.

The kiffe of the Pax after the Agnus Dei Being received: let the King discend from his Estate, and humbly approach the Altar, and there receive the body & blood of our Lord: which being received, the Abbot of Westminster shall minister vnto him wine out of a stone Challice, pertayning to the King, and then immediately the King shall returne to his estate.

Masse being finished, let the King discend from his Throne, and goe vnto the high Altar, and let the Archbishops, Bishops, and Nobility go before him to the Shrine of Saint Edward, where the King shall be arrayed with other Rosbes; all which shall be offered upon the Altar of Saint Edward.

The taking off the Roabes.

The great Chamberlaine (viz.) the earle of oxenford, shall voclothe the king of the forefaid Roabes in a with-drawing place neare to the Shrine: which Roabs, as they are particularly taken from the King, fo shall they be laid upon the faid Altar by the Abbot.

Another Crowne.

The King attired in other honourable apparrell, Thall approach voto the Altar of Saint Edward, where the Archbishop shall put another Crowne vpon his head.

The King returneth to the Pallace.

The faid King being thus crowned, & carrying in his hand the Regall Scepter, from the Shrine to the high Altar, and from thence to the scaffold, then shall he discend thorow the midst of the Quier, by the same way as hee came into the Church, the forefayd earles carrying the Swords before him, returning with great glory vnto the Kings Pallace to dinner.

The delinery of the Scepter.

Dinner beeing ended, and the King withdrawne into his chamber, the Scepter shall bee delinered to the Abbot of Westminster, or his deputy, by the Kings owne hands, to be kept in the faid church of Westminster.

The Coronation of the Queene.

And note, that in the Coronation of the Queene, Procession shall be celebrated: and if the be crowned with the king, then ought the to be annoynted you the Crowne ofher head, and on her breaft : and if she be crowned alone, then ought thee to be announted upon the Crowne onely croffe-wayes with the Chrifme.

The Kings Oath upon the day of his Coronation.

The Archbishop of Canterburie shall demaund the King faying : Pleafeth it you to confirme and observe the Lawes and Customes of ancient times, granted from God by iust and deuout Kings unto the English Nation, by Oath wnto the faid people, especially the Lawes, Customes and Liberties, grantea unto the Clearey and Laity, by the famous King Edward? The King answering that he will performe and observe all the premifes. Then shall the Archbishop reade vnto him the Articles whereunto he shall fwcare, thus faying, Thou Shalt procure onto the Church of God, unto the Cleargie, and people, firme peace, and unitie in God, according to thy power : He shall answer, I will performe it. Art thou pleased to cause to bee administred in all thy judgements indifferent and vpright Iustice, and to ve discretion with mercie and veritie. He shall answer, I will

Art thou pleased, that our woright lawes and customes be observed: and doest thou promise, that those shall bee protected and maintained by thee, to the hondur of God, according to thy ftrength . He shall answere, I grant and promife.

The petition of the Bishops.

The Admonition of the Bishops vnto the King followeth; and must be read by one. (viz.) by the Bishop of Lincolne: Lord King, wee defire your pardon, that you would vouchfafe to defend to enery one of vs, and to the Churches committed unto vs, our Canonicall Priviledges, with equitie and instice, as a King in his Kingdome ought to doe unto euerie Bishop, Abbot, and Churches committed wato him. Hee shall answer thus

The Kings answer.

With a willing and deuout heart, I promife unto you, and I pardon everie one of you, and the Churches committed onto you. I will confirme the Canonicall priviledges. minister equitie and instice, and will defend them by Gods fauour, as farre as I am able ; euen as a King ought with uprightnes to do, unto euery Bishop , Abbot , and the Churches committed unto him.

The Oath of homage made vnto the King.

I become your man liege of life and limbe, and troth, and yearely honour to you shall beare anenst all men that now line. So helpe me God and Holy doome.

Item, that the Arch-bishop of Canterbury, shall first make his fealtie, then the Bithops, and afterwards all the Nobles of the Kingdome.

CHAP. XVIII.

¶ A briefe Description of the pompe and Ceremonies at the Coronation of Edward the fixt, King of England: according to the auncient manner, vied in the Confecration of the Kings of England.

most inuincible K. of England, beeing dead, who departed out of this life at Westminster, the 28.
day of Ianuary, 1546 and 38. of his reigne . Edward Seymour, erle of Hertford, King Edward his Vncle, accompanyed with most of the Nobilitie of the whole Kingdome, forthwith went to Enfield (in the Countie of Middle [ex) vnto Edward, now at length (by right of fuccession vnto his Father Henry) King of

Enrie the eight, the

England, France and Ireland. Whom the Munday following (viz.) the last of January, he with the great applause of the Cittie, and of the people by the way as hee went, was brought from thence vnto the Tower of London. The same day the Heralds from an high Stage fet vp in the middeft of Westminster hall(with a great found of Trumpets) out of a Royall Charter, fealed with the great Seale of the kingdome, proclaimed the death of the aforesaid king Henry the eight, and the Inauguration of K. Edward the fixt to come. Which Charter was dated the 31 day of Januarie, and the first yeare of King Edward.

Vpon Friday following(viz.) the 4.of February, it was through the most famous places of the Citty of London, by the Heralds proclamed and notified, that whofoeuer they were which by right of Fee, were bound at the Coronations of Kings, to performe their Offices or Seruices; should vnto the Kings Commissioners therefore appoynted, in the White hall, the vij. of February exhibite their | wholly bestowed in the magnificent perpetitions: who according to the ancient custome of the kingdome, should determine vnto euerie man their rights and fernices, against the twentith of the same moneth, the day appointed for the Coronation of the King.

The crovyning of Edward the fixt. Chap.18.

Vpon Thurfeday (which was the first day of February)the Nobility and States of the Kingdome affembled into the Chamber of Presence (as they call it) euery one of them in order one by one, did their renerence and ducty vnto the King, fitting in his Royall Scate, killing his hand, and faying ; Long live the Kings

After that the Chancellour declared ento him the Will of his dead Father, and the Names of his Executors : and that for lacke of yeares, he was not yet himselse able to gouerne his Kingdome (for now hee was but going vppon the tenth yeare of his age) he told them, that the Earle of Hertford his Vncle, was by common suffrages chosen Tutor of his person, and Protector of his Kingdome. V. Vhich when the King had approoued, and that the erle refused not that charge, they altogether, and oftentimes doubled and redoubled ; Long line our King Edward: and God faue our King. The next day (viz.) vpon Friday, the

Noble-men meeting together in the Starre-chamber, there bound themselnes by Oath vnto the King : at which time and place also the Maister of the Rolles, and the chiefe Officers of the Chancerie, were fworne truely and fincerely to enrole the VVill and Testament of the aforesaid King Henrie the eight, being

The Sunday following, the King by his Vncle the Protector, was after the accustomed maner made a knight, who by and by after with the same Ceremonies created the Maior of London, and certayne others, knights.

But vpon the Monday, the Commiffioners having well confidered of the matter, and having read the Suters Petitions on both fides, gaue sentence concerning Seruices, after the manner to be performed at the time of the Coronation; of which in their place and order more is to be hereafter faid.

The VVednesday following, was forming of the rites and ceremonies of the Funerall of King Henrie the eight. VVhich done, they entred into confultation concerning the Coronation of the new King. And first of all, for the greater folemnitie of the pompe, the Earle of Hertford was graced with the Title of the Duke of Somer (et. At which time others also, with other honourable Titles, were with great folemnity hono-

After dinner, the Knights of the Garter affembled together into the Kings Chamber, where the King attired in the ornaments of that Order fate (as of right he should, highest) and with joyned voices, chose the Marquesse Dorset, the earle of Darbie, and others, into the fellowthip of that Order.

At length, vpon Saturday (viz)the 19 day of February, the king with a most magnificent pompe, went through the middest of the Citty, from the Tower of London, vnto the Pallace at Westminfter, the great Ordinance both out of the Tower, and the Shippes, on euerie fide thundering.

And in this order they went.

[Irft, all the Kings Meffengers by two and two together.

After them the noblemen of leffer note, or Gentlemen by two and two together also.

The Sergeants of the forraine embaffadors, by couples.

The Trumpettors with great noyfe founding on both fides.

The Gentlemen, keepers of the Kings person (whom we call Esquiers for the Knights (which are called knights, Batchellours.)

The greater Chaplaines.

The vonger fonnes of Noblemen mounted vpon great Horses.

The Senators or Aldermen of London. The Clearks of the Councell. The Kings Secretaries.

The keeper of the facred Records, commonly called, the Master of the Rolls. The Knights of the Bath.

The kings Councellours. Knights Bannerets.

Knights of the order of the Garter, which were not by dignitie Barons.

The fonnes of vicounts. The yonger Sonnes of earles and Marquesses.

Barons.

Earles eldest Sonnes. Vicounts.

Bishops. Marquefics eldeft fonnes. Dukes yonger fonnes.

Earles. Dukes eldeft fonnes.

Marquesses.

Dukes.

The Controller or Cenfor of the Kings house; and the Venetian Ambassador. The Treasurer of the Kingshouse; and one of the Ambassadors of the Prote-Stant Princes.

The kings Almner; and another of the Ambassadors of the Protestant Prin-

The lord William Paget Secretary, with the duke Phillip.

The Admiral of England, with one of the Ambaffadors of Scotland.

The keeper of the private Scale, with another Ambaffador of Scotland. The governour of the Pallace, or great Maister of the Hall, with the Baron de la Garde, a Frenchman.

The Chancellour of England, with the French Ambaffador.

The Archbithop of Canterbury, with the Emperors Ambassador.

Two noble Courtiers representing the dukedoms of Normandy & Aquitaine, attired in Purple roabes, with caps of honour, with their Cloaks cast crosse of purple veluet, furred with Mineuer. Garter king of Armes, in his Heralds coate, and the Maior of the Cittle of London, carrying the Mace of his Mairalty. The Sergeants at Armes, & the Heralds on both fides.

The Constable of England, who for that time was the Marqueffe Dorfet, carried the Sword : on whose right hand went the earle of Warwicke as Chamberlaine of England; and on his left hand the earle of Arundell , supplying the place of earle Marshall.

The Duke of Somerfet Protectour of the kingdome, went a litle before the king toward the left hand.

The King himfelfe went vnder a Canopy or Thole , borne by fixe Knights, (the footmen going about him) before which, two Gentlemen Vihers went with white Staues.

Next after came the mafter of the Horse, with a royall Palfrey richly furnished, After came nine Pages of honor (whom we call Hench-men) bare headed, and mounted uppon great Horses, whom Sir Francis Brian their Captayne followed.

Then followed the gentlemen of the priuy Chamber.

The gentlemen Pentioners, with their Polonian Partifans, guarded on both fides from those Courtiers which represented Normandy and Aquitaine, euen to the Guard.

Then came the Captaine of the Guard, with his band of the Yeomen of the Guard.

The Servants of the Noble-men and Gentlemen shut vp the troope, going in order according to the honour and dignitie of their Lords and Malfters.

In this order they came thorough the middest of the Citty vnto the Pallace at Westminster: The Pageants in the meane time, with diverse shewes euery where fet foorth, and the Orations made, &c. I for breuitie fake purposely omit.

Vpon Sunday, the twentieth day of February, at nine of the clocke, the King was carried downe the River, from the Pallace vnto the Hall at Westminfer, where first in the Chamber of the Court of Augmentation (which now is called the Court of Wardes) he attired himselse in a Roabe of Purple veluet, with a long trayne, furred with Ermins. His inner Gowne was of the same kind of veluer, furred with Mineuer, and fringed round about with Gold. Thefe were called Parliament Roabes, but vpon his head hee did weare a Cappe of blacke Veluer. The Noble-men in like manner also being attired in their Roads of honor, attended uppon the Kings Maiestie, from thence to the Marble Chaire fet Chap. 18. The crowning of Edward the fixt.

in Westminster Hall, and from thence vnto a Royall Throne fet vp for him in S. Peters Church at Westminster. But the way whereby he went, was by the Kings Almner all couered with blew Cloth. And in this order they fet forward.

■ All the Gentlemen went by two & two together.

All the Esquires by two and two also. The Secretaries of the Latine & French tongues. The Senators or Aldermen of London.

The chiefe Porter or Viher alone. Three Croffes.

They of the Quier of the Church of Wellminster in their Coapes.

The Subdeacon of the Kings Chappell, with the finging men of the fame. The Bishops in their Pontificalibus.

The Chancellor of the Augmentation, and the Venetian Secretary. The Gouernour of the Wardrope, with the Duke Philip. The Controllor of the Kings house, with an Ambassador of Scotland.

The Treasurer of the Kingshouse, with another Ambassador of Scotland.

The Almner, with the Ambassadour of France. Secretary Peter, with another Ambassadour of France. Secretary Paget, with the Emperors Am-bassadour. Garter King of Armes, and the Major of the Citty of London.

The Earle of Rutland carrying Saint Edwards Spurres, and with him the Earle of Huntingdon, carrying S. Edwards Staffe.

After that, three drawne fwords; the first whereof was borne by the Baron of S. Iohn, great Master of the Kings house: the second by Baron Russell, keeper of the Private Seale: the third, which is called Cortayna was carried in the mid- line his Maiesty.

dest betwixt the other two, by the earl of Darby. A Sword was also carried before in the Scabberd vndrawne, vnto which vpon the left hand was joyned the Earle of Arundell, as Earle Marshall in stead of the Protector.

The Duke of Somerfet Protector of the Kingdome, carried the Crowne, whose right fide the Duke of Suffolke with a Globe and Croffe of gold enclosed, &: his left fide the Marquefle I or et, with the Royall Scepter. At length the Kings Maiefly went under a Thole or Canopy, which the Barons of the fine Ports (by an ancient right) did beare; supported on the right hand by the Bishop of Durham, and on the left by the Earle of Shrewsbury.

The Earle of Warwicke, as great Chamberlaine of England, held up the Kings traine: whom the Marques of Northampton affifted on the one fide, and Baron Seymour of Sudley, Admirall of England, both of them of the Kings priny Chamber.

The Gentlemen of the priny Chamber. The Noblemen of the kingdome, attyred in the Robes of honour, every one of them according to his place and ancientnesse: whom the Gentlemen Pentioners, the Captaine of the Guard, & the Yeomen of the Guard themselves did follow.

The King in this order beeing brought to Saint Peters Church, was placed in the Chaire of Saint Edward the King, in the middeft of a Throne, seuen steppes high. This Throne was creeded neere vnto the Altar vpon a Stage, arifing with steppes on both fides, couered with Carpets and hangings of Arras. Where, after the King had rested a little, being by certaine Noble Courtiers carryed in another Chaire vnto the foure fides of the Stage: he was by the Archbishop of Canterbury declared vnto the people (standing round about both by Gods and Mans Lawes to be the right and lawfull King of England, France, and Ireland; and proclaimed that day to bee crowned, confectated, and annointed. Vnto whom he demanded whether they would obey and ferue, or not? By whom it was againe with a loud cry answered; God faue the King: And ever

This being done, he was againe placed in the Chaire of the Throne, the Quier finging of an Anthem: The King from thence descending vnto the Altar, there offered his Cloake, and certaine Money, (viz.) XX. Shillings, and afterward lay downe flat before the Altar, the Arch-Bishop saying certaine Prayers; as Deus fidelium, &c. And afterward in formall words, fwore an oath vnto the Kingbe-

The crowning of Edward the fixt. 504

fore the people.

the Archbishop againe kneeling downe, beganne the Hymne Veni Creator firitus &c.and faid other Praiers ouer the King: two other Bishops beginning the Letany, which at length ended, the King arose and came againe vnto his throane: and from thence was brought to a retyring place (commonly called a Trauer(e) where having put off all his former garments, hee was by the Chamberlaine of England apparrelled agayne with other, (viz.) a Crimfon Coate, open uppon the backe and the breast, the shoulders and the elbowes, with a linnen Cappe vpon his head, wrought with gold. The Chancellour in the meane time, from the Stage proclaimed vnto the people the Kings generall pardon.

The King brought back againe out of the Traner fe voto the throane, and from thence vnto the Altar, vnder a cloath of being opened) was by the Arch-bishop with formall praiers vnto God, vpon the Palmes of his hands, vpon his breaft, betwixt his shoulders, in the ioynts of his Armes, and Crowne, with hallowed oile and chrisme annoynted; the Quire in the meane time finging the Antheme :P'nxerunt Salomonem, dec.

After this annoynting (the oyle being lightly wiped off) the openings of his coate and thirt were agayne by the archtithop cloafed, who put vpon his hands a payre of Linnen Gloues, and a Linnen Cappe, (brought thither by the great vnto the Tranerse, was with a Royall Roabe againe renefted.

At length returning againe vnto the Altar, hee there offered vp the Svvord wherewith hee was girt, to be afterwards with fine pound in mony redeemed. The royall Ornaments were after that confecrated. The King fitting before the Altar, the Archbishop and the Protectour brought vnto him three Crownes.

The first was the Crowne of Saint Edward the King.

The fecond was the ancient Crowne of the Kings of England,

The third was of all the richeft, made for that day, and for that purpose (and by turnes, with the great founding of There the king being againe proftrate, Trumpets, and the applause of the People, put vppon his head : the Quier also finging Te Deum laudamus, &c. The Archbishop put a Ring uppon the third finger of the Kings right hand, at which time hee was likewise by the Maister of the Iewells bedecked with Bracelets and other most rich and most precious Ic-

The Earle of Shrewsbury delivered the Scepter into the Kings hand.

The Archbishop delivered vnto him Saint Edward the Kings little Staffe.

The Earle of Rutland offered vnto him a paire of golden Spurres.

The Duke of Suffolke gaue vnto him the golden Globe.

The Earle of Oxford deliucred him the other Royalties.

Hee in this manner attired with all Royall Ornaments (viz.) apparrelled with a royall Roabe, and crowned with golde (the strings of his Coate and Shirt | a Crowne vpon his head, carrying in his right hand a Scepter, and a golden Globe in his left, beeing brought vinto the Throane, hee fate downe in the Chaire of S. Edward the King. Where first the Duke of Sommer fet Protector of England, vpon his knees in formall words did his due homage and fealty vnto the King and his heires, the kings of England: whom the Archbishoppe of Canterburie followed and kiffed the Kings knee. The fame againe did all the rest of the Nobility, which could fo doe. But fuch as stoode about (and with the shortnesse of the time excluded, could not come Chamberlayne,) and so brought backe | nie) the Protectour vpon his knees pronouncing their homage, holding vp their hands, cryed out with loude voyces together, Long line EDWARD the fixt our King.

Divine service at length being done by the Archbishop and two Bishops, the King at the offering time came downe vnto the Altar, where in the patten of S. Edwards Chalice, he offered an hallowed little Crust or Cruet of Wine, and a pound of gold: and then having bowed downe his head, the Archbithop fayde certaine Prayers, and bleffed the King, and fo returning vnto his Throane, there kiffed the Paxe being offered him.

Last of all, hee being brought vnto fit for the Kings head) which being all the Altar, the Archbishop taking the 5.Booke Chap. 18: The crowning of Edward the fixt.

the Altar. From thence the King going into the Trauers, deliuered his royall Ornaments vnto the Deane of Westminfter to be layde vpon the Altar: and in his inner purple Gowne (commonly called a Surcoat) furred with Ermins, with a Crowne vpon his head, returning vnto Westminster Hall in the same order wee before faide; flaved a while in that chamber(which we call the Court of Wardes) untill the Tables were royally furnished. The flately furniture of the Hall at that time, the multitude of Tables, the varictie of diffies and fauces, and the delicate magnificence of the feaft, I willingly paffe by the grace of God, of England, France, and Yet this it is worthy to remember that the Earles of Oxford & Hunting don held water voto the King, which the Earle of Hunting don before tafted.

The Earle of Rutland held the Towell The Marquesse of Worthampton was the Caruer, & before tafted the Diffies.

The Earle of Suffex was Sewer of the first course, and placed it upon the Table. the Marquesse Dorset at that time Constable of England, with a little filter staffe (the figne of his office) and the Earle of Arandel with the rod of the Marshalship. mounted vpon trapped horses, alin cloth of gold came riding into the Hall.

Foure swords were all the dinner time carried before the King.

The Ambassadors of forraine Princes, the Bishops and Noble-men, the Major of the Citty of London, the Barons of the fine Ports, &c. were in their order fet at Tables in the fame Hall. After the fecond course, the kings champion (furnamed Dimock) a knight in conplease Armour, mounted uppon a great Horse, couered with a Caparison of cloth of gold, and attended upon with an Herald in his Coat of Armes, came into the Hall : who cuen at the first, with a proud gate went vnto the King, and with great reuerence made to him his lowe obeyfance. Afterward prauncing his carriering Horfe, by a trumpet founding foure times in the Hall, challenged to combate him who focuer he were that should deny Edward the fixt of that name, to be the true, undoubted, and lawfull King of England, France, and Ireland. And fo often he caft

Crowne from off his head, layde it vpon | downe his Gantlet vnto the ground, as a pledge of his challenge fo made: which when no man would cake vp, the Herald deliuered it vnto him againe: which done, the King did drinke vnto him in a Cup of gold, which he thankfully accepted, and challenging the Cup due voto him as his Fee, fo departed.

Last of all, Garter king of Armes, with the rest of the heralds, having made thrice obesfance before the King, all saloud, in formall words proclaimed the kings stile; in Latine, French, and English, in this fort; Largeffe, of the most Sourraigne, and most inuincible Prince and King, Edward the fixt. Ireland King, Defender of the Faith: and of the Church of England and Ireland, next under Christ in Earth supreame head: chiefe of the most Noble order and Knight-hood of the Garter. Which fame stile, when he had in Latine and French, and fo in three other places of the Hall besiderepeated, they oftentimes altogether crying out aloud, Largeffe, so departed.

A little before the ende of the Feaft, Before the coming in of the first course, the Maior of London (as the manner is) in a Cup of gold, gave a Cuppe of fpiced Wine (which we commonly call Tpoer as) vnto the King to drinke; which after hee had tafted of thee gaue the Cup vnto the Major, as due voto him for his fee.

The rest of the time was spent in creating of Knights of the Bath, and of other Knights, and in appointing of Iustings & Tiltings: All which, as not appertaining to my purpose, I omit; as also the variety of mufique, the divers kindes of shewes, & other things in number infinite, which wonderfully graced & fee foorth the magnificence of this coronation: of all which things, let them fay more at large, which faw cyther the fame, or the pompe of the Coronation of the most Soueraigne Queenc Elizabeth, with the wonderfull happinesse of her Reigne, and the applause and ioyfulnesse of the people on eucry fide.

CHAP.

506 The famous crowning of King lames, 5. Booke

CHAP. XIX.

The memorable and famous Coronation of our most gracious Lord King lames, and our Soueraigne Lady Q. Anne his Wife, the 25.of Iuly, 1603.

The Coppy heereof was deliuered to his Maiesty, by the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury; who faithfully obserued the forme, set downe in the ancient Booke kept among the Regalia at Westminster.

HE King and Queen came from Westminster bridge, to the West doore of the Minster Church.

They received into the Church with an Hymne or Antheme. They passe, along thorow the body of the Church and so vp to the Stage, and do there take their places in their feuerall Seeges Royall. The King (hewed to the people, and they are required to make acknowledgment of their allegiance to his Maiesty, by the Archbishop: which they do by acclamations.

The Second Antheme is Sung.

The King and Queene descend from their Thrones, and going to the Altar, there offer: the King a Pall, and a pound of gold : the Queene likewise offereth. A Prayer is faide by the Archbifbop.

A Sermon by the Bishop of Winchester. After the Sermon, the King is moued by the Archbishop to take his Oath.

The Oath ministred by the Archbishop, and taken by the King, there is fung, Come Holy Ghoft, &c.

A prayer by the Archbishop: when that is done, Letany is faide or fung by two Bishops.

The Archbishop beginneth the Ceremony of the annointing, with the thankigiuing, Lift up your hearts, dec.

After which, the King comming to the Altar, putteth off his vpper garments. The Kings under Garments are so to bee made, as the places to bee annoynted,

may (by the vidoing of certain loops); be made open.

The Archbishop annointeth his Maiesty.

(Palmes. Breaft.

Vpon the Betweene the Shoulders. Bending of both Armes. Crowne of the head.

Then a Linnen Coife is put on his head. the Quier meane while finging the Prayer made by the Archbishop.

The Inucstiture.

Then is the King inuefted with the Robes of King Edward the Confessor, by the Abbot of Westminster.

(With the Tunicke. Close Pall. Tuifni Hofen. Sandals.

Spurs pur on by a Peere.

Then is the Sword delivered his Maiesty by the Archbishop and Bishops, and after girt about him by a Peere.

After; the Armill or Collar is put on by the Abbot of Westminster.

Then the upper Pallor Mantle Royall. ... His Maiefty to bee crowned with the Crowne of King Edward the Confessor.

The fourth Antheme. A Ring to be put on the fourth finger, on the left hand: after which done, the K. putteth on the Linnen Gloues, & goeth to the Altar, & taking off his fword, there offereth it.

Which fword fo offred, the cheefe Peere isto redeeme; and having redeemed it, to draw it, and leave it fo drawne by his Maiesty all the solemnity.

ARod with the Doue to bee borne in his left hand.

A Prayer or blessing is pronounced by the

Then the King gracioully vouchfafeth to receive to his kiffe the Arch-bifhop or Bishops that were affishing to his Coronation.

The Inthronizing.

After this, the King is ledde backe to his Throne, with all folemnity, the Quier finging, We praife thee O God , &c. The King is inthronized by the Arch bishop in the Throne Royall.

and Queene Anne his Wife. Chap. 19.

The Peeres do their homage to the 1 the Communion.

King, so fitting in his Chaire Royall. And after the homage done, they all put their hands up and touch the Crowne on the Kings head, as promifing for ener to support it.

The Queenes annointing.

The folemnity of the Kings Coronation, and inthronizing beeing performed, the Arch bishop leaueth the King in his Throne, and goeth to the Altar.

The Queene, who hath all this while reposed her selfe in her Chaire beneathe, arifeth and commeth to the steps of the Altar, and there kneeleth downe.

A Prayer faide by the Archbilhop.

The queene arifeth from her prayer. the cheefest Lady taketh off the Coronet first, and after openeth her breast.

Then the queene kneeleth downe a-

The Archbishop first poweed the annointing Oyle on the crown of her head. Then he annointed her on the breaft.

A Prayer by the Archbishop.

Then the cheefe Lady attendant, clofeth the queenes Robe at her breast, and after putteth on her head a linnen coyfe. The Queenes Crowning.

That done, the Archbishop puts on the fourth finger of the queenes left hand a

A Prayer by the Archbishop. The Archbishop taking the Corwne in his hands, and laying it before him on the Altar, faith a prayer.

The prayer done, he fets the Crowne on the queenes head, after that hee faith a

The delinery of the Queenes Scepter of Rod. After the prayer, the Archbithop deliuered first the Scepter into her right hand the Rod of Iuory with the Done into her left hand, both which being done, he faith a prayer.

Which prayer being ended, the queene ariseth and goeth from the Altar, and is led by two Bishops up to the Stages, and passing by the King in his Throne, shee doth, Inclinare Regieius Maicstatem (vt decet adorando.)

Which having done, the is ledde to her Throne, on the left hand, and some-what lower then the Kings, and is placed or inthronized in it.

After this, the Archbishop beginneth

Whereas after the Collects. Epific. Gospell.

The Nycen Creede.

Offertory is sung by the Quier.

Whilft the Offertory is finging, the king and queene descend from their Throne, and come downe to the Altar. The King maketh his Oblation; first of Bread and Wine: fecondly, of a marke of gold. The queene after him offereth likewife.

After which, the Archbithop pronounceth the bleffing ouer them: that ended. the king and queene are brought back to their chaires hard by the Altar. The Arch. Bishop proceedeth with the Communion. After the Archbishop hath communicated himfelfe, and those which affilled him, the king and queene come vnto the steps of the Altar, there to receive the holy Sacrament.

The Archbishop ministresh the body, the Abbot the Cup. That done, the king and queene are brought backe to their Throne about the Stages.

There they stay till the Communion bee ended. After which, they both goe into the Chappell of King Edward the Confessor, there they put off the Crownes wherewith they were crowned.

They withdraw themselues into their Trauers. The King putteth off King Eddwards Robes wherewith hee was inuc-

Hee is arraied with his owne Robes royall, by the great Chamberlaine of England. Then comming forth, the Arch-Bithop puts on the king & queenes heads the Imperiall Crowns, which they are to weare. The King taketh S. Edwards fcepter in his hand, and the queene hers. The traine is fet in order, and they returne the fame way they came.

After the king and queene returne to the Pallace.

The Scepters are delinered vnto the Abbot of Westminster, to be kept there among the refidue of the Regalia.

> Xx2 Huther

REGIA MAIESTAS

Hitherto I have described what manner of men the named

Woble-men have beene with as. The forme of their Charters and Referipts I have fet downe, with what Rites and Ceremonies they are after our manner and fashion created: and the Maiestie of the Coronation of the Kings themselues we have declared. Here now a great field is opened wnto me to speake of the right of the precedence of the Nobilitie, and of their Priviledges; but for a fmuch as they rest rather woon Cust omethen woon positive Lawes, I have of a fet purpose omitted many things, proceeding but soft are a the Statutes of the Kingdome may be my warrant and safety.

CHAP, XX.

1 Statute and Act of Parliament, made in the one and thirty yere of Henry the eight, concerning placing of the Lords in the Parliament chamber, and other affemblies and conferences of Counsell.

Orfomuch, as in all great Counall great Coun-fels and Congre-gations of men, hauing Degrees, and Offices in the commonwealth, it is very requifife and convenient, that an order should be had and taken for the placing and fitting of fuch persons as are bound to resort to the fame, to the intent that they knowing their places, may vie the fame without displeasure or let of the Counsell: therefore the Kings most royall Maiestie, although it appertaineth vnto his prerogatine Royall, to give fuch honour, reputation, and placing to his Counfellers, and other his Subjects, as shall be seeming to his most excellent wisedome, is neuertheleffe pleafed and contented for an order to be had and taken in this his most high Court of Parliament, that it shall be enacted by the authoritie of the fame in manner and forme as heereafter followeth.

First, it is enacted by the authoritie aforefaide, that no person or persons of what estate, degree, or condition socuer he or they be of (except onely the Kings children) shall at any time heereafter attempt or prefume, to fit or haue place at any fide of the cloth of Estate in the Parliament Chamber, neither on the one hand of the Kings highnes, nor on the other, whether the Kings Maiefly be there personally present, or absent. And forasmuch as the Kings Maiesty is justly and lawfully Supreame Head in earth under God, of the Church of England, and for the good exercise of the faid most royall dignitic and office, hath made Thomas Lord Cromwell, and Lord Privic Scale his Vicegerent, for good and due admiadministration of Iustice, to be had in all causes and cases, touching the Ecclesiasticall Jurisdiction, and for the godly information and redreffe of all Errours, Herefies, and abuses in the faid Church. It is therefore also enacted by authoritie aforefaid, that he the faid Lord Cromwell, hauling the faid Office of Vicegerent, and all other persons which heereafter shall have the faide Office of the graunt of the Kings highnes, his heires or fuccessours, stall fit and be placed, aswell in this prefent Parliament, as in all Parliaments to be holden heereafter, on the right fide of the Parliament Chamber, and vpon the fame forme that the Archbishop of Canterbury fitteth on, and about the fame Archbishop and his successors, and shall haue voice in enery Parliament to affent or diffent, as other the Lords of the Parliament haue.

And it is also enacted, that next voto the fayd Vicegerent, shall fit the Archbishoppe of Canterbury, and then next vnto him on the fame Forme and fide, shall fit the Archbishoppe of Yorke: and next vnto him on the fame fide, the Bishop of London; and next to him on the fame fide and Forme, the Bishop of Duresme; and next vnto him on the same fide and Forme the Bishop of Winchester; and then all the other Bishops of both Provinces of Canterburie and Torke, shall fit and bee placed on the same side after their anciencies, as it hath beene accustomed.

berlaine the fixt.

liament, shall fit and be placed afore and aboue all Barons, not having any of the Offices before mentioned. And if he be a

Bishop, that then he shall sit and bee placed about all other Bishops, not having

XXXI. yeare of Henry the eight. Chap.20.

And forafmuch as fuch other Perfoany of the Offices about remembred. nages, which now have, and hecreafter And it is also ordayned and enacted by thall happen to have other great Offices Authority aforefaid, that all Dukes not afore mentioned, Marqueffes, Earles, Viof the Realme; that is to fay, the Offices of the Lord Chancellor, the Lord Treacounts, and Barons, not having any of the furer, the Lord Prefident of the Kings Offices aforefaid, shall fit and bee placed most honourable Councell, the Lord after their Anciency, as it hath bene accupriny Seale, the great Chamberlaine of England, the Marshall of England, the And it is further enacted, that if any

Lord Admirall, the Grand-Master or person or persons, which at any time here Lord Steward of the Kings most honouafter shall happen to have any of the faid rable houshold, the Kings Chamberlaine Offices of Lord Chancellor, Lord Treaand the Kings Secretary, have not heerefurer, Lord Prefident of the Kings Countofore beene appointed and ordered for cell, Lord Priny Scale, or cheefe Secretathe placing and fitting in the Kings most ry, shall be vnder the degree of a Baron of high Court of Parliament, by reason of the Parliament, by reason whereof, they can have no interest to give any affent or their Offices. It is therefore now ordaydiffent in the faide house, that then in end. ned and enacted by the Authority aforefaide, that the Lord Chancellor, the Lord ry fuch cafe, fuch of them as thall happen Treasurer, the Lord President of the to be under the degree of a Baron Mill fit and be placed at the vppermolf part of Kings Councell, and the Lord Priuy Scale, being of the degree of Barons of the fackes, in the midft of the faid Parliathe Parliament, or aboue, shall sit and bee ment, either there to fit vpon one Forme, placed aswell in this present Parliament, or vpon the vppermost sacke, the one of as in all other Parliaments hereafter to be them aboue the other, in order as is about holden, on the left fide of the Parliament rchearfed. Chamber, on the hither part of the forme

faide, that in all trials of treasons by Peers of this pealme, if any of the Peeres that shall decalled heercaster to bee tryers of of the same side, about all Dukes, except onely fuch as shal happen to be the Kings Sonne, the Kings Brother, the Kings Vnkle, the Kings Nephew, or the Kings Brofuch treasons, shall happen to have any of thers or Sifters fonnes. the Offices aforefaid, that then they had And it is also ordained and enacted by uing fuch Offices, shall fit and bee placed authority aforefaid, that the great Chamaccording to their Offices, about all the berlaine, the Conflable, the Marshall, the other Peeres that shall bee called to such Lord Admirall, the great Master, or Lord trials, in manner and forme as is about Steward, and the Kings Chamberlaine. mentioned and rehearfed. shall fit and be placed after the Lord pri-And it is also enacted by Authority uie Seale, in manner following: that is to aforefaid, that as well in all Parliaments, fay every one of them shall fit and be plaas in the Starre-Chamber, and in all other ced about all other Personages beeing of Affemblies and Conferences of Counthe fame estates or degrees, that they shall cell, the Lord Chancellor, the Lord Treahappen to be of; that is to fay, the great furer, the Lord President, the Lord priny Chamberlaine first the Constable next; Scale, the great Chamberlaine, the Conthe Marshall third; the Lord Admirall stable, the Marshall, the Lord Admirall, the fourth; the Grand-Master or Lord the Grand-master, or Lord Steward, the Steward the fift; and the Kings Cham-Kings Chamberlaine, and the Kings Secretary shall sit and bee placed in such or-And it is also enacted by authority ader and fashion, as is aboue rehearsed, and forefaid, that the Kings cheefe Secretary not in any other place, by authority of being of the degree of a Baron of the Parthis present Acte.

Be it also enacted by Authority afore-

CHAP.

Chap.21.

The Parliamentary Pompe.

CHAP. XXIIII.

(Viz.) The forme and manner of the going of the States unto the Parliament. (eriously collected out of diners examples. Wherein I thought good, especially to propound that most stately going of Queene Elizabeth, in the xxvy, yeare of her reigne.

Pon Sunday(the xxij.day of Nouember) in the Cham-ber of Prefence(as they doe tearmeit) it was proclaimed that the Nath that the Noble-men and

States, and so all others which were bound to attend vpon the Queenes Maiestic, the next day to be holden at Westminster, thould bee ready at nine of the clocke before noone, to give their attendance, the Queene then lying in her royall house called Saint James, neare vnto Westminster. The next day at the appointed houre, the Noblemen put on their Parliament Robes in the Counfell chamber, and the Bishops theirs likewise, in another chamber next vnto the chappel: from thence they, by the Garden going into the Parke, mounted on horse-backe, attended the comming foorth of the Queene. About eleuen of the clocke the most gracious Queene, attired also in a Parliament Roabe, at the going out of the Garden, mounted in a Chaire of Estate, like vnto a Chariot or Horselitter, carried betwixt two white Horfes. This Chaire was on enery fide open, but that behind a concring hanging forth aboue, femicircle-wife, was with two litle pillers of Siluer supported : vpon the top wherof, stoode on high a Crowne of golde: and vpon two other pillers at her feete, stoode a Lyon and a Dragon ghstering with golde, made with wonderful cunning, supporting the Queenes Armes.
This Chaire (which I might rather call a Throane) being altogether cunningly garnished and gilt, was most magnificently bedeckt with cloth of Siluer (as they call it) and with Cushions of the fame. Wherein, after that the Queene had placed herselse: the rest by two and two in this order fet forward. First went the Mandataries or Messengers of the Kings Court. Afterward the Gentlemen of lesse note. Squiers. Squiers of the body. The Clarkes of the Chancerie.

The Clarkes of the Signer. The Clarkes of the private Scale. The Clarkes of the Counfell. The Maisters of the Chancerie. The Knights Bachelours.

Knights Bannerets. Trumpets heere and there founding. Seruants or Sergeants at Law.

The Kings Sergeant in an volined purple Gowne or Hood. Him followed John Popham the kings Atturney, with Thomas Egerton the Solicitor. Two Heralds. The ludges of the Exchequer, whom we call Barons of the Exchequer. The Iudges or Iustices of the Court of the Common Pleas, and of the Kings Bench, Edmund Anderson chiefe Iustice of the Common Pleas, together with Roger Manwood chiefe Baron of the Exchequer, both knights.

Christopher Wray, chiefe Instice of the Kings Bench, or of England, & Gilbert Gerard Maister of the Rolles, Knights both: but this man ridde in a Veluct Gowne; but aswell the rest of the Iustices, as the Barons of the Exchequer, rid in Gownes and Hoodes of Skarlet lined with a white furre called Miniuer. The yonger fonnes of the Nobility according to their dignities.

The Treasurer of the Kings Chamber. Knights of the Bath.

The eldeft fons or heires of the Nobility. Knights of the Priny Counfell. Knights of the order of the George, or of the Garter. Francis Walfingham knight, principall Se cretary.

Francis Knolles Treasurer of the Queens house, together with James Croftes, Controuller of the Queenes house, both Knights.

Edward

The Parlamentary Pompe.

Norris, carrying the Queenes Hat and Cloake, thut vp this ranke. Two Heralds, whom the Barons followed by two and two together.

Henry Baron Norris of Rycot. Henry Baron Cheney of Tuddington. Henry Baron Compton, William Cecill Baron of Burghley. he went in another place, because hee was Treasurer of England. William West, Baron de la Ware. Thomas Sackuile Baron of Buckburst. Iohn, Baron S. Iohn of Bletefho. Henry Cary Baron of Hun don.

was absent because he was Gouernor of Barwicke. Giles Bruges Baron Chandos. Roger Bason North of Carthelage.

Charles Baron Howard of Effingham. He went in another place, because hee was Chamberlaine vnto the Queene. Thomas Baron Darcy of Chiche. Thomas Baron Paget.

Edmund Baron Sheffeild of Butterwick. Charles Baron Willoughby of Parham. Robert Baron Rich of Leze. Philip Baron Wharton of Wharton. William Baron Eure of Witton. Henry baron Cronnvellof Vicombe.

Lewes Baron Mordant of Turney. Thomas Baron Burgh of Gainsburgh. Henry Baron Wentworth of Netlested. Fredericke Baron Windefor of Bradenham William Baron Vaux of Harroden. William Baron Sandes of Vine. Iohn Baron Darcy of Menill, Cutbert Baron Ogle of Bothall. William Baron Montioy. John Baron Sturton. John Baron Lumley.

Edward Baron Dudley. Henry Baron Scroope of Bolton. He was absent, for that he was Gouernor of Carlile.

Arthur Baron Gray of Wilton, Edward Baron Stafford, of Stafford. William Brooke Baron of Cobham. Gregorie Fynes, Baron Dacres of Herstmonceaux.

Edward Parker Baron Morley. Henry Baron Barkley. Peregrine Bertij Bar. Willoughby of Eresby. Edward Baron Zouch of Haringworth.

George Touchet Baron Audley.

Edward Norris, the third Sonne of Baron | Henry Neuill Baron of Abergauenny. Two Heralds going before the Bifhops. The Bulhop of Glocester. The Bishop of S. Asphe. Bishop of Chester.

Bishop of Car ile. Bishop of Peterborow. Bishop of Landaffe. Bithop of Hereford. Bishop of Cicester. Bithop of Lietchfield. Bishop of Bath. Bithop of Rochester. Bishop of Worcester. Bishop of S. Danids.

Bishop of Bangor. He Bishop of Lincolne. Bishop of Sarisbury. Bishop of Norwich. Bithop of Exceter. Bishop of Ely.

Bishop of Winchester. Prelate of the Garter. Bishop of Durham. Bishop of London, Chancellor to the Bishop of Canterbury. These three Bishops, (viz.) the Bishops of London, Durham, and Winchester, by force of Acte of Parliament, made the xxxi. yeare of King Henry the viii. goe next vnto the Arch-bishops: but all the rest take their places, according to the ancientnesse of their elections. Euery Bishops Gowh was made of Scarlet cloth, made after the fashion of Barons, and hoods of the same, lined with Mineuer, & hanging downe behinde them.

Henry Vicount Howard of Bindon. Anthony Browne Vicount Montacuter Two Heralds, after whom the Earls followed. Edward Earle of Lincolne. The Admirall was ficke.

Robert Earle of Suffex, was absent. because he was under age. Robert Earle of Leicester, went in another place, for that he was for this turne

Steward of the Queenes House. Edward Earle of Hertford. Henry Earle of Tenbroke. Francis Earle of Bedford. Henry Earle of Southampton.' Ambrofe Earle of Warwicke. William Earle of Bathe. Henry Earle of Huntingdon, was abfent because he was President of Yorke. Henry Earle of Suffex. George Earle of Cumberland.

Elward

Edward Earle of Rutland.

William Earle of Worcester Supplied the place of the Marthall, being absent.

Henry Erle of Kent, went in another place because he carried the Sword.

George Earle of Shrewsbury, was ab-

Henry Earle of Northumberland, Then prisoner in the tower of London.

Edward Earle of Oxford, went in another place, because he was high Chamberlaine of England.

Phillip Earle of Arundell.

An Herald or King of Armes.

William Marquesse of Winchester: Hee
in another place carried the Cap roiall.

Heere were places fit for Dukes: all whose parliament roabes (a thing worth the noting) differed nothing from the Barons, but that they wore the guardes vpon their shoulders, three or foure fold. For although all Dukes, Marqueffes, and Earles, in their creations are attired with garments of Silke and Veluet, which are called Roabes or garments of Honour: yet in Parliaments they vie the fame that Barons doe, made of Skarlet, with certayne differences of white Furre, fet as fringes or edgings on their shoulders: for that there they al fit by reason of their Baronies, and according to their dignitie take their places.

Thomas Bromley Knight Chancellour of England; with William Cicil Baron of England; with William Cicil Baron of England; was by one footman carried before the Chancellour: but hee himselfe was attired in a Gowne of black Veluet lined with Sables.

IohnWhitgift also, Arch-bishoppe of Canterbury: with Edwin Sands Archbishop of Torke followed next after them.

Clarencieux King of Armes.
Two Sergeants at Armes with filuer feepters, which we call Maces, gilt.

Garter chiefe King at Armes, in his Heralds coate, having the chiefe gentleman Viher on his right hand.

The Marques of Winchester did beare the Cap repall, your whole left hand the Earle of Worcester carried the Rod of the Matthalfnip of Englad, in fteed of George Earle of Shrewsbury, then earle Marshal, who was then in the Parliament Chamber, although he was not heere present, for that he was ficke of the Gout.

The Earle of Kent after them carried the fword, on whose right handwent the earle of Oxford, then great Chamberlaine of England, and on his lest hand the Earle of Leitetier, Senofthall, or Steward of the queenes house.

The queenes Maiefly carried in a chaire as we have before faid. She her felfe decked up in a purple Robe, futred with Ermines. But her inner Garment was of purple veluet alfo, more straighter unto her body, turned up at the hand, with the same furre.

Foure Quirles of the Stable (whom in French they call Efguiries) and the Footmen in their rich Coates were attendant about the queene: and without them all along in a ranke, waited the Gentlemen Pentioners with their Partifans.

After them followed the Earle of Darbie, Mafter of the Horfe (inflead of the Earle of Leicester, who at this time supplyed the place of the Steward) leading a spare horse of state: by whom on the less hand rode Charles Howard, Baron of Efsingham, Chamberlaine of the queenes house, both of them attired in their Parliament Robes.

After these followed also Christopher Hatton, Knight Vice Chamberlaine, with many Noble women, Ladies, and other Noble Courtiers.

In this order and Royall pompe, the queene came vnto the South gate of S. Peters Church at Westminster, where the Bishop of Sarisbury, the Kings Almner, and Doctor Goodman Deane of that Church, with the Prebendaries, and all the quier received Her in their Coapes. Without the Porch was fet a Forme, furnished with Carpets and Cushions, at which the queene vpon her knees, receiued of the Deane the golden Scepter of S. Edward, which she layde vpon the Cuthion before her: and having received a little Booke of the Deane, vinto her felfe foftly prayed. Afterward thee came into the Church, vader a flately Canopy of Cloth of Siluer, which fixe Knights fup.

The Marchionesse of Northampton, and the countesse of Oxford bare up the train: Baron Howard of Liftinghow being Chaberlaine supporting her: Christopher Hatton Vice-Chamberlaine going on the other side, but not supporting her. But

foraímuch

forasmuch as the Queenes roabes made of rich silke and Etmins, were too weighty and chargeable for her well to beare, the Earle of Arundell on the right hand, and the Earle of Penbrooke on the left, held them up from her shoulders.

Before the Lord Chancellor and the Lord Treasurer, went the singing men and Quiristers, singing of Psalmes, and when the Queene was now come vnto the royall withdrawing or retyring place (commonly called the Trauerse) prepared for them vpon the right hand of the Quier, neare vnto the Communion Table: the Noble-men tooke their places vpon Formes, beneath the Trauerse, but the Bithops fate themselves downe beneath the Pulpit, on the north side of the Ower.

Quier.
The Archbishop of Canterburie, after a pfalme sing, made a serion, the sword and cap of Honour beeing in the meane time borne before him.

The fermon with a pfalme ended, the Queene on foote vnder a Canopy, went vnto the fouth gate of the Chirch, carrying in her hand the Scepter, adedicated to King Edward the Confessor, in which place, thee restored it vnto the Deane of Weilminster, of whom sheehad before received it, to be againe layd up.

It is worthy note, that whileft the Queenes Maiefly was hearing diume fernice in the Church, the Earle of Leicetter (for that time Steward of the Queenes house) went vnto the Lower Parliament house, to be there present at the answer of the Rescripts, (which our Lawyers call the Returne of the Writtes) before sent footh for the sommoning of the knights of the shires, and for the Burgestes of the townes thither, and met the Queene coming unto the ypper Parliament house.

The Queene being come thither, first retired her selse into her owne prinie Chamber, where resting her selse a litel, the Noble-men in the meane while, had in due order placed themselues in the vpper house; and at length the Queene her selse came forth, the Sword, the Cappe, and the Rod of the Marshalship of England being borne before her, shee went vp into the Royall Throne, the Nobilitie of the Kingdome sitting downe about her.

In the middeft of the vpper house he great Sackes of cloth filled with wooll's vpon the vppermost whereof fitteth the Chancellours and vpon those which he towards the fides of the house, fit the Maister of the Rolles, the Queenes Secretary, the Indges, the Barens of the Exchequer, and certayne Lawyers, aswell Civilians as Common Lawyers. Vpon the lowest of all a first the Clarke of the Parliament boute, with the Clarke of the Crowne, behinde whom the other Clarks write, resting your their knees.

When the Queene was fer, and that they of the neather bouse (videlicet) the Knights of the Shires; and the Burgeffes of the Citties were let in the commaun! ded the Lord Chancellour, flanding on the right hand by her, to make his Oration: who turning himfelfe vinto the Nobilitie, and the rest there present, declared voto them, in her Maiesties name. that this affembly of Parliament to be for three causes called (viz.) For the glorie of Almighty God, and the furthering of true Religion : For the health and prefernation of her royal Maieftie, and the welfare of the Common-weale. Whith after that hee had aloude and moftelostuently at large declared, turning his speech voto the Knights and Burgesses. flanding on an heape together below! he willed them to make choyle of their Prolocutor, and to give notice of him fo chosen, to the Lords of the Priny Counfell from whom they should expect what the Queens pleasure and answer was concerning him to cholen, to be afterward prefented.

When the Chancellor had ended his fpeech, the Clarke of the Parliament rising vp, in French, and with a lowd voice proclaimed the names of them, which as Delegates had the power within certain dayes to vinder than do the affaires afwell of the Kingdomes of England, Fraunce, Scotland, and Heland, as of the Dukedoms of Normandie and Aquitaine, and to hear and examine the requests and pertitions of them of the llands and parties beyond the Seas.

Which things being done, the Chancellour prorogued the Parliament; the Quene diffeeding from her Throane, and retiring into her Privic Ghamber, there put off her parliament fobes, when

when the Barons had in like manneralfo | iects : But especially in that she had then done, they in order (with the Sword, the Cappe of Honour, and the Rod of the Marshalship carried before her) attended her vnto her Barge, wherein shee from thence was downe the River carried backe vnto her Pallace (called White Hall:) through which the passed into the Parke, where the mounting upon a most couragious Horse; the Nobility, States, and most honourable men and women attending her, thee happily returned vnto her Pallace of S. James , from whence the before came:

Vpon Thurseday following, the day appointed for the prefenting of the Prolocutour, the Queene about three of the clocke in the after noone, by the Parke came from her royall honfe of S. James, vnto her pallace of White Hall; and when the had in her Chamber put on her Parliament roabes, the went to her I brone, the Sword, the Cappe, and the Rodde of the Marshalship, being after the wonted manner carried before her re The Lord Chamberlaine going on the right hand of the Sword, and the Lord Steward on the left, with the Lord Treasurer, Garter, the vihers, & the Sergeants at Armes going before them. At length, when the Noble men were fet downe, the Chancellour on the right hand, and the high Treasurour of England on the left hand, stood beside the Queene without the barres.

Then at length, the Knights of the Shires, and the Burgeffes of the Citties being admitted in, brought in their most learned Lawyer(viz.) John Puckering, who standing at the barre, and having thrice made most lowe obeifance, sayd what he might, to thew himfelfe voficto vodertake to great a burthen, requesting most carnestly, that they would make choice of another Prolocutor, vnto whom the Queene by the Chancellour made answers That thee liked exceeding well of the choice of him already made, and that the ratified the fame.

Which done, the Prolecutor framed himselfe to another manner of speach, wherein hee particularly rehearfed what great benefits were redounded vnto the Commonweale, by the most wife gouernement of her royall Maiestie : he declared her fingular vertues, her very naturall and Motherly care ouer her Subcalled together the Estates of the Kingdome, there to confult and confider of the most weightiest affaires of the Common-weale, earneftly admonishing the Bishops to prouide for the Ecclesiallicall and Church matters ! the Nobilitie and the rest to bee carefull of the profite and welfare of the Common-weale. In the conclusion of his speach, he most humbly requested , that the auncient Rights and Priviledges of the Lower house of the Burgeffes, (viz.) of freely deliuering of their speach and minds, and of being free from Arrests, as well themselves as their Scruants, during the time of the parliament, might be kept whole and vnrouched . And if that in any thing not well by them vnderstoode, they should happen to offend, he requested leave aswell for himselfe as for the rest, to have accesse vnto her rovall Majestie.

His Oration at length ended, the Chancellor, by the Queene commanded, and in fome poynts, by her instructed, highly commended the Prolocutors Oration, and in the Queence name graunted the leave he had requested.

Which things being fo on both fides dispatched, the Queene rose and retired herselse into her private Chamber, put off her Parliament roabes, and so attended uppon with the Nobilitie, came downe: and at the West side of the Parliament house, mounted into her chaire of Estates a very royall one; and from thence with a great traine of Noblemen and honorable Ladies attending her (the Earle of Kent carrying the Sword before her) shee by Torch-light through the Parke, returned vnto her Pallace of Saint lames, from whence the before came.

The maner of fitting in the V pper house of Parliament, is in this Platforme following in the next Page, most truly and linely described.

CHAP

CHAP. XXII.

The manner of restoring of renewed Nobilitie before loft.

HE maners and formes of creating of Noblemen, with their Rites and Ceremonies, by Chartersand Kefcripts, or Writs of fummons, wechaue

before described. Now heere at length I haue thought it good, to ioyne heereunto the manner of restoring of dignities & honours before loft. Such as have by their owne or others fault, loft their honorable | ding to the manner of the Empire flyled stiles and titles, are wont to bee vnto the fame by petitions, exhibited vnto the Kings in full Parliament restored: which I would fay, to be a confirmation of renewed or restored Nobility. Whereof the request of Margret, daughter to George Duke of Clarence, in Parliament, in the first yeare of King Henry the eight, (to omit others) may ferue for an example. Whereby the is ref ored vnto the Stile, State, Name, Title, Honour, and Dignity of the Counteffe of Sarisbury, fro which Edward her Brother Earle therof, had by his guilt fallen. The Petition it felfe is longer then is necessary to be heere inserted. It is in English extant in the Records, & is thut vo with thefe words.

Which petition beeing read, and to the full vnderstood, and consented vnto by our faid Lord the King, by the aduice and affent of the Lords spirituall and temporall, and of the Cominalty in the aforefaide Parliament being: and also by the Authority of the same Parliament, it was vnto the fame Petition thus answered.

> Soit faict come il est desire. Beit done according as it is requested.

CHAP. XXIII.

Cust omes.

Haue said Politicall Nobility, still subject vnto the dispositions of Princes, and change of time; to rest alwayes vpon the customes of Nations.

For first of all, it is manifest, dignities which were but the bare names of personal Offices, to have at length become hereditary and successory: and yet with diuers Lawes circumscribed.

For although women in Germany born of Dukes, Earles, or Barons, are accorand called Dutcheffes, Counteffes, and Baronesses; yet by the Law of the Imperiall grant, the Principalities themselues, with the Fees thereto belonging, descend vnto the Males onely, who fayling, they reuert vnto the Emperor. Which thing, the most great Dukedome Carinthia, proueth to be fo. For Ericus the last Duke beeing dead without heires male, the dukedome by the Lawes returned againe vnto the Empire: which Lewes the Emperour afterward bestowed vppon Albert Duke of Austria.

Sigismund the Emperor also, the right line of the dukes of Saxony being extinct, gaue the dukedome in the yeare 1423.vnto the Marquesses of Misnia; and the Marquifat of Brandenburg, vnto the Burgraves of Noriburge : whose successors euen now at this day enjoy the same.

The same we reade to have been done in Italy: For Wenceflaus the Emperour in the yeare 1490. graced the Vice-county of Millaine with the Title of a Dukedome: but fo as that for want of heires male, it should together with that Dignitie, bee made a part of the Imperial patrimony. And in the remembrance of our Grandfathers, we reade of certayne (aswell at Waples as else-where,) to have beene by the Emperour Charles the fifth created; but yet alwayes with that common Lawe of Reuersion, that so soone as the last of the male discent should dye, they I meane time he affirmeth, private Princi-(hould be made Imperiall dignities. Yet heere by the way we must remember, that the Emperors did not at all times doe all greatnesse of their power; but sometime by a new beneficiary or bountifull couenant, being requested to to doe, suffered those titles of honours to descend vnto the daughters (no heires male remaining) mittigating the extremity of the law, by wife mens interpretations thereof, regard being still had, eyther of the Commonweale, or of some former agreement, or of the time present.

Chap. 23.

In France, Rennatus Choppinus, difputing of the Royall Demaine, maketh a distinction of dignities. For he affirmeth all Military and masculine dignities, by the Law Salique to be annexed vnto the Fees Royall, neither by any meanes, by meere Law, to come vnto the Women, althogh that the heyres male faile; except by speciall and expresse words it bee before otherwife prouided : which hee faith, himfelfe to have seene and read. Yet in the | here following is contained.

palities not to be denied to women:which hee manifesteth by the example of the County of Arminiack by a womans right things according to the vttermost of the | denolued vnto the King of Nauarre, as by many others alfo.

And to mee, now writing and running ouer some few things concerning our owne affaires, it fortuned a certaine most ancient writing to come vnto my hands, taken out of the ancient Saxon Lawes, and lent me by William Lambert, a great admirer of reuerend antiquity, and a most earnest restorer thereof. Which writing, although that both in tongue and characterit incerely found Saxon like, yet feemethit in fome things, to favour of the Danifb maters, as also of the ancient lawes cyther of the Britons themselves, or of the Saxons, shaken and rent in funder, vinder the rule and government of the Lanes.

But the writing it felfe written in the Saxon tongue, translated into English, word for word, & into Latine, according vnto the true fenfe and meaning thereof, hiv pef hpilumon Englalagum ji leos J lazum pop bezepincoum, Anoba It was sometime in the English Lawes, that the people and lawes were in reputation. And then Tempus erat elim cum Anglicis, legibus & populo suus voique constabat honor. Qui ex pajon leon pivan peondreiperpynda, ale be hirmade. Conl y Ceopl Dern y were the wifelt of the people worthip worthy, each in his degree. Borle and Chorle. Thern and populo prudētis sīmi erant in honore fuerunt suo quis á, or dine. Comes & Colonus. Thaynus &

Decoen ; And zir Ceopl zeheah & he heroe rullice rir hioa azene lanoe, Cirican 7 Undertheyn. And if a Choole to thrived that he had fully five hides of his owne land, a Church a Sub-thaynus. Quòd si Colonus ita re fecisset ot habuerst plenè quing; hidas proprie trre ede

Cycenan, bellour of burhgavered of rundenno ve on Cynger healle, honne far he a hitchen, a Belhouse and a gate, a leate and a fenerall office in the Kings Ball, then was he Coquinam,Campanile,& Portam,locum itë et peculiare munus in Regius Aula, tunc erat de-pannon rond Dezen nizhverpeonde; And zir Dezn zeheah i he henobe Cynze thenceforth the Theynes right worthy. And if a Theyne to thrived that he forced the bing inceps pari cum Thayno dignitat e. Sivero Thaynus ita prouect us crat vt Regi sernicrit, 7 hir paor venne pao on hir hipede, gir he honne hepde Dezn de him riligde and on his mellage or journey rode in his houthold, if he then had a Thegne that him followed. े nuncius eiss esfet & equitauerit in familiâ,st tunc etiā Thaynum sībi famulantē habuerit.

be to Cynger ut pan Fif hioa happe on Cynger revl hir hlarope benove o lubocto the kings erpedition fine Byves had, and in the kinges Pallace his Logo ferued, and qui ad Regiam expeditionem 5 drydas habuerit eiuf ge in Regia aula Domino feruierit, terque

Spilsa mio hir apend zeropa to Cynze he mort riddan mio hir ropade hir hlaropo thrice with his exande had gone to the Ring, he might afterward with his fore Dath his Lordes eius nuncius ad Regem venerst, hic deinceps data fidelitate Domini persona sustinere poterat arplian art inirlicanneodan; And rir Degn gedeal; I he peande to Corle honnepar he part play at any neede. And if a Cheyne fo thined that he became an Carle, then was be thencesi opus fuisset. Quod si Thaynus ita evectus erat ve Comes cuaserit pari erat deinceps ritt an Cople ninverpeonte. And zir Warrene zetean the repos hoits oren fwith an Garles right weathy. And if a Parchant fo thiueb, that hee paffeb thice ouer the Comite dignitate. Et si Mercator ita rem fecissit, ut ter vastum mare sua peritia pio Sæbe hir azenum cpapve,he pælþonne riððan Dezne pizverpeonde;Ano zir leon. tuive Sea of his owne Craft, he was thenceforth the Thernes right worthy. And if a Scholtraiccerit, paritunc erat cum Thayno dignitate. Quod fe Isterarum studiosu litte-

ner gedeah hurhlare i he hanherde I benode Xpe, he par bonne riddan made ler to thrived through learning, that he had begree and ferued Christ, be was thenceforth of bignity ris progressum fecisset, vt ordines habuerit & Christo inseruierit, erat deinde venerandum

y nuinoe rpa micelrepynoe rpa pænto gebyreoe, buton he forporhte phe pær haono and peace fo much worthy as thereto belonged, bnleffe be forfeited fo that be the ble of his bede immunis quantum ad locum eius spectabat, nist ita excidisset ut suo munere uti non te notian ne morte) grœ ne might. potuisset.

520

Thefe

These ruines or rubbidges of antiquity, | having obtained the Soueraignty, accormake shew of a perpetuity of Nobility, e- ding to his pleasure bestowed dignities & uen from the beginning of this Hand, but times are changed, and we in them also. For King Edward the Confessor, last of the Saxon blood, comming out of Normandy. bringing then in the Title of a Baron, the Thaynes from that time began to grow out of vie; fo that at this day men remember not so much as the names of them. And at length, that name of Baronage began to be both in dignity and power To magnificent about the reft, as that in the name of the Baronage of England, all the Nobility of the Land seemed to be comprehended. As for Dukes, they were (as it were) fetcht from long exile, and againe renewed by King Edward the third. And Marquesses & Vicounts, were altogether newly brought in by King Richard the fecond, and King Henry the fixt.

But our Kings descended of the Norman blood, together with the Crowne of the Kingdome, granted an hereditary & fucceffory perpetuity vnto honourable titles, fuch I meane as are the Titles of Earldomes and Baronies) without any difference of fex at all. Which thing I thought good to make manifest, by the examples of the more ancient times. In the reckoning vp whereof, that I may the better acquit and discharge my selfe; in the very entrance of my speech, there be 3 things, whereof I would have the Reader by the way, to be especially forewarned. First, concerning the disposition and inclination of our Kings, in the creating of the nobility. Secondly, of the custome of transferring of honours and dignities by Families. And thirdly, of the force of time, & the change and alteration of things. For why, our Kings (who only and alone, doe in their kingdome beare the absolute rule and fway) are with vs efficient causes of all Politicall Nobility. The Titles of Named Nobility, by our custome, have this naturall and common together with the Crowne it selfe, that the heyres male fayling, they devolue vnto the Women, except in the first Charters it be by expresse words otherwife prouided; and yet fo, as that regard is alwayes to bee had of the time, which is curry where wont to beare fway in the formality of things.

In this manner William the first, King fayling. and Conqueror, Harold being ouercome,

honors vpon his companions and others, (viz.) some of them so anexed and conioyned vnto the Fees themselves, as that euen yet at this day, the possessors therof, may feeme to be ennobled, even with the possession of the places onely. As our Bishops at this day, as also certaine ecclesiafticall Abbots and Priors; who by reason of the Baronies iouned vitto their Bishoppricks, enjoy the titles and preheminence of Barons in the highest affemblies of the kingdome in Parliament. Otherfome of the dignities and honors, he gaue and granted also, together with the lands and fees themselves. As he gaue to Hugh Lupus his kinfman and a Norman, the carldome of Chester. Ad Conquirendum de tenendum sibi & haredibus, adeo liberè per gladium sicut ipse Rex tenuit Angliam per Coronam. To conquer and hold it to him and his heyres, as freely by the Sword, as the King himfelfe helde England by the Crowne. With the Earledome of Richmond hee graced Alanus Rufus, his Nephew, and then Earle of Britaine in France and his heyres : Italibere & honorifice vt cundem Edwinus Comes antea tenuerat: fo freely and honorably as Earle Edwin had before holden the same. And the Earledome of Arundel, which Harold possessed, he granted with a fee vnto Roger of Montgemery. The first two of which honors (the heyres male fayling) by women eftfoones passed into other Families, but the latter Earledome, Robert the Sonne of Roger beeing attainted of treason, returned vnto King Henry the first, who gaue the same in dowry vnto Queene Adeliza his Wife.

The fucceeding Kings more sparingly, bestowed such dignities to bee holden of them in Fee, granting only for the better and more honourable maintenance of their stocke and honour, the third part of the Pleas of the County (as they tearme it) which they in their Charters called Tertium Denarium, or the third penny. So that hee which received the third penny of any Prouince, he the fame man by the fame ancient Law of fuccession, was called Earle of the same Prouince: and so by custome the women, the heyres male

Yy3

And

whence and

beare rule in all things viz. the Law, Cu-

Necessity.

And if any Earle or Baron dying without Sonnes, had many women his heires, howfoeuer order was either by couenant, husband Gilbert, a Sonne called also Gilor by way of partition taken, concerning the Lands and possessions, according to the common Lawes of the kingdome, yet the dignity and honour, a thing of it felfe indinifable, was still left to be disposed of, according to the Kings pleafure. Who in bestowing thereof, for the most part respected the prerogative of birth.

By which right, King Henry the third, after the death of John the Scot, dead with out iffue tother lands and renennues being by agreement given vnto his three Sifters) vnited the Earldome of Chester, with the honor thereof vnto the Crown. This is also manifest in the Earledome of Arundell: which (after Robert of Bellifme, Sonne to the aforefaid Roger of Montgomery, driven out by Henry the first) King Henry the second bestowed vpon William of Albinie, Queene Adeliza his Mothers Husband, and by a new Charter, confirmedit in Fee, together with the inheritance to him and his heires, with the third penny of the Pleas of Suffex, whereof he created him Earle. But Hugh the great, Nephew of this William the first, beeing dead without iffue, all the inheritance of the Earledome was divided among his foure Sifters. Whose dignity and honour for all that, together with the Castle of Arundel, was by Edward the first, at length given to Richard Fitz-Alan (viz.) the Nephewes Sonne to John Fitz-Alan and Ifabell the second of the aforesaid Sisters.

Now let vs passe from Henry the third. vnto Edward the first his Sonne. When as for a time a great diffention was betwixt him and certaine of his Nobility (viz.) Gilbert of Clare Earle of Hertford and of Glocester : Humfrey of Bohun, carle of Hereford and Suffex, and Constable of England, and Roger Bigod Earle of Norfolke, Marshall of the kingdome, and that all those Noble-men, at length had lost their Earledomes and Offices, they being reconciled vnto the King, afterward by new Charters received the same againe in this manner.

The first of them, received the same vnto himfelfe & Joane the fame kings daughter his second wife, for tearme of both their lines, and to the Children to bee by by his first wife being excluded.) This Ioane (called Ioane of Acon) bare voto ber bert; but sheethe second time, secretly married vnto one Radulph, of Mont Hermeri(without the King her Fathers know ledge) in her owne right, made also the fame Radulph Earle to long as thee lived. But the at length being dead, Gilbert her sonne, by the aforesaid Gilbert, succeeded againe into the Earledome, Radulph his Father in Law being yet aliue. In the very same manner he restored the Earledoms and Office of Constableship vnto the aforefaid Humfrey of Bohun, vnto whom alfo he gaue in marriage Elizabeth, another of his Daughters, widdow to John Earle of Holland: and vnto the third, he restored the Earledome of Norfolke, and the office of the Marescall, with a yearely encrease of a thousand Markes; yet vpon condition, that the heires male of his body to be begotten fayling, both of them should returne againe vnto the King. At length, this Roger dyed without iffue, in the xxxv. yeare of him the faid Edward the first viz. in the last yeare of his reigne: and King Edward his Son, the second of that name, both by a new Creation & Charter, gaue the Earledome and the Marshalship vnto Thomas of Brotherton his Brother, and his heyres male.

Thefe things wee haue thus propounded, thereby to shew, how according to the divers dispositions of Princes, & chages of times, it hath by little and little varried in the first bestowing of dignities and honours. Of which thing (that new Law) and to them of ancient time vnknowne, made by King Edward the first himselfe, feemeth afterward to have beene of no finall weight and moment, whereby, hee fauouring certaine private men, more carefull of their owne furname, then of their posterity, it was thought vnto him good, & so decreed, to make Fees to belong to men only. That law I fay which I would in Latine call Gentilitium Municipale, & which the Lawvers commonly call Ius Talliatum, and Talliabile: or the Law of cutting off: for that it cutteth off fuccessions before generall, and restraineth them vnto the particular heyres of Families: which feemeth also to have giuen an occasion of change in the giving them two begotten (his two Daughters | and bestowing of dignities and honors.

For ever fince that time, in the creating | him, challenging vnto himfelte the polof any new Earle, it is begunne to be altogether by expresse words in all Charters provided, that it shall bee but for terme of life onely, or discend unto the heires males alone, the Women being quite excluded. And this I need not by examples to prooue; for why, the thing it selfe producth the same. But the force heires male and kinsmen, of whom hee and efficacie of this Lawe of Entaile, (or of cutting off) I have thought good thus in few words to declare.

The Lands and Fees of the earledome of Oxford (Robert Earle of Oxford and Duke of Ireland, being condened of treafon) by that Law came to Albericus Vere vncle to Robert, who therefore in Parliament, requested of the King, the Title of the Earledome also, and obtayned the fame. This is also most manifest, by the example of the Earledomes of Arundell and of Surrey, joyned together in the family of Fitz Alan. For Edmund Fitz-Alan Earle of Arundell, married the onely fifter and heire of Earle Richard, and of her begot Richard, happy with his in Fraunce. And this Iohn, both Earle twice marriage. Vnto this Richard, the fonne of Edmund, and his heires male by Alenor of Lancaster (his second wife) begotten, and to be begotten, the Castle, Honour, and Lordship of Arundel were entailed in the one and twentith yeare of Edward the third. And afterward (viz.) the same yere, Earle John his brother being dead without iffue, enriched also with the encrease of the Earledome of surrey, he was called Earle of Arundell and Surrey. Of Alenor Richard begot a fonne, called Richard, at length Earle of Arundell and Surrey also : and John Fitz-Alan his fecond fonne, in the right of his wife, called Baron Maltreuers, This Richard had Thomas, his onely Sonne, dead without iffue; and foure Daughters his Coheires (viz.) Elizabeth, Ioane, Margaret, and Alice, who divided the Earledome of Surrey amongst them. Howbeit the dignity therof was granted to John Mowbray duke of Suffolke, begotten of Elizabeth the eldest lister; who by the ancient custome of Succession challenged vnto himselfe the Earledome of Arundell also. But Iohn Baron of Maltreuers, Nephew to the first John Fitz-Alan, and Baron of Maltreuers, by his fonne Iohn opposed himselfe against this man, and withstood fession of that cattle and demaine of A. rundell, as fallen vnto him by the good right of the Law of Entaile.

For Thomas the last Earle being dead without iffue(as is afore-faid, he alleaged the demaine of the Castle nor to belong vnto the Sifters, but to difcend vnto his himselfe was nearest of kinne vnto the faid Earle Tooms of which Fee, feeing by Law he held the possession, he affirmed the Title of honour and dignitic more fiely to agree voto himselfe then to lie in vaine, and to no purpose hidden in the Duke himfelfe. Which thing, although hee could not obtayne, yet Iohn his sonne, a most famous warriour, after the death of his Father, with the applause and good liking of all men, obtained by Acte of parliament, in the eleauenth yeare of King Henry the fixt. Of whom alfo, for his great deferts and most noble vertues, he was the yeare after, rewarded with the dukedome of Thurania and Duke, being dead, Humphrey his fon, in short time after dead without iffice (notwithstanding his fister) left the earledome of Arundell entailed vnto William his vncle, in whom afterward it took fuch root, as that we have feene it in the male line, to have brought forth most famous and renowned Earles, even vnto this our

And what wee have fayd concerning Earles, the same be it said also of Barons created by Charters. But in Barons created by Rescripts or Writs of Summons yet resting vpon most auncient custome, not fo.

For in them (one onely excepted, fent forth to Henry Bromflet, wherein it was prouided him, that fame Henry and his heires male of his body lawfully begotten, only to be Barons of Vefey) women, the heires male failing, were not in ancient time forbidden or embarred, but that they might be accounted, and by name stiled honourable, with the præeminence of the dignity and calling of Barons. And after they had borne a Childe, according to the auncient fauour of our Lawes, and the reverend custome of the Kingdome, graced their husbands also with the same honour; & with the fame by inheritance conobled

Chap.23.

ennobled their children; yea, euen without the possession of those places, from whence the names of fuch dignities and honours may seeme first to have risen. For Fees and locall possessions, circumscribed by the Lawe, are translated and carried from one family to an other, and viually enrich their Lords and owthemselves, neyther bring nor take away Nobilitie, either Datiue or Natiue. By Examples to manifest these things were but needeleffe; for why, all the most auncient Baronies, and the more auncient fort of the Barons at this day, are in this poynt on my fide, and give voices withme. Now, if any man studious of these things, by chaunce meeting with some things of other nature, shall more curiously dispute against these matters, vnto him I would oppose, eyther the force of time, or the carelefnesse and lacke of looking vnto. But, Customes are still like themselues, neyther are we to detract from the authoritie of Kings, who although they have fuch supereminent, and undeterminate prerogative, as that they may feeme fometimes to haue of fauour graunted, some things beside the Lawes; yet shall it not appeare them requested, to have done, or yet suffered any thing to bee done, contrarie vnto the Customes of Stockes and Families. So they fornctime not regarding the folemnities of Ceremonies and Charters. haue onely by their beckes (that I may fo fay) fuffered dignities and honours to bee transferred, as in Ranulph Blundeuill, Earle of Chester, and of Lincolne to bee feene. For the Earledome of Cheffer, he permitted after the manner, to discend to John the Scot his Nephew, by Mand the eldest of his Sisters. But the Earledome of Lincolne, (the King thereunto consenting) hee yet aline delinered vnto Havisia another of his Sisters, now married to Robert Quincy, by his deede, in the feuenteenth yeare of the reigne of King Henrie the third, in these words following.

524

Ranulphus Earle of Lincolne, vinto all inen present, and to come, which shall see this present VV riting, greeting. I would have it to come vnto the generall knowledge of you all, mee to haue ginen and graunted, and by this my prefent writing, to have confirmed to the Lady Hamifia of Quincy, my most deare Sifter, the Earledome of Lincolne, (viz.) as farre forth as it vnto mee belonged fo that the may thereof be Counteffe. To haue and to hold the same of my Lord the King of England, and his heires, vnto ners the possessions thereof: but yet of the faide Hawisia and her heires, freely, quietly, fully, peaceably, and wholly by right of inheritance, with all the appurnances, and liberties vnto the aforefaide Earledome belonging. And that this present Writing may stand in force for euer, I have thought it good to firme and strengthen the same, by the setting to of my Scale. These being witnesses.

> Hawifa with this her brothers writing in this manner endowed, was forthwith Countesse of Lincolne, who yet living, presently gaue the same to John Lacie her sonne in lawe. So also I may not passe o. uer Hugh Courtney the first of that family and name, in the time of King Edward the third : for he, when hee had for many yeares after the death of Ifabell de Fortibus (whose sole heire hee was) quietly possed the lands and Fees of the earledome of Densbire, without eyther the Title or Inuestiture of an Earle, and that at length contention arose betwixt him and the Kings officers of the Exchequer, for the repayment of the third penny, for that hee as yet yfed not the Stile of an Earle, hee having written Letters supplicatorie vnto the King, then busied in the warres in Scotland, received answer; That taking vnto himselse the Name and Dignitie of an Earle, hee should cause himselfe, from that time forward, to bee named and called Earle of Denlbire, in thefe words.

> T'He King to his welbeloued and faithfull, Hugh of Courtney the Elder,&c. Greeting,&c. Whereas you, as appeareth by your Petition exhibited before vs and our Councell, have of long beene fued for the repayment of eighteene pounds, fixe shillings and eight pence, of the yearely Fee of the Earledome of Densbire, which Isabell de Fortibus, late Countesse of Denshire, whose heire you are, and the heires of her the faid Counteffe, and yours, Earles of Densbire, yearely received by the hards of the 1 of Tutbury, a Castle (videlicer) in the Sheriffes of that Countie that were for the time being, and which you likewife after the death of the aforefaide Counteffe, as her heire for a certaine time receiued: And for that they have beene from you detained, because you have in no wife named and stiled your selfe an Earle: as by the Certificate of the Treafuror, and of the Barons of our Exchequer, by our commandement made into our Chancerie, more at large doth appeare. Wee, for that the inheritance which was the aforefaid Counters, and the inheritance of her Predecessours, and yours, the Earles of Denshire; ynto you discended by hereditary right and that you at this present hold the same inheritance; willing in this part to prouide, as well for our owne Dignitie, and theequitie of our Kingdome, as for your honeur: will and commaund you, in requefting you, that in taking vnto you the name and honour of an Earle, you from hencefoorth cause your selfe to be called Earle of Denshire, knowing that wee will make the aforesaide Fee to bee yearely payed vnto you, as it hath beene wont to bee payed vnto the Earles of Denshire your Predecessours . Witnesse the King at New-castle vopon Tine, the two and twentith day of February, & in the ninth yeare of our reigne.

Last of all, we have seene this same not long fince, in Phillip Howard confirmed. For hee, after the most auncient right of the Earledome of Arundell, tooke vnto himselfe the Title of Arundell, the Queene onely confenting thereunto, and approuing the fame; no forme of Charter repeated, or of any forme of his Creation being thereunto joyned.

Hitherto it seemeth also to appertaine, that our most auncient Earles were of auncient time wont (according to the divertitie of the places) where they for the most part chose to dwell, to to bee called by diverse Titles of Dignities. For Reynold who was Earle of Cornewall, for his continual dwelling at Briston, was oftentimes called Earle of Bristow.

Robert of Ferrars the younger, Earle of Ferrars in Normandie, and of Derbie in England, fometime wrote himselfe Earle Borders of Stafford-foire built by his Progenitours. Baldwine and Richard of Riuers, were fometime called Earles of Execter, and fometimes Lordes of the Ile of Wight, for their continual dwelling in the fame places; when as yet in the meane time, they were both Earles of Densbire. William also of Albiniac. Earle of Arundell and Suffex, the first of that name, in the Letters of agreement betwixt king Stephen and king Henrie the fecond, fer himfelfe thereto a Witnes, by the name of William Earle of Ciceiter, for that he there oftentimes dwelt. Adde hecreunto also if you please, the Earle of Penbrooke to have beene called the Earle of Strigulia, of the Calle of Strigulia, built by William Fitz-Osborne Earle of Hereford, and the Scate of the Earles of Penbrooke.

Thefethings (I fay) were of olde and in auncient time, but now at this day. not fo. For fuch is the force of time, and change in altering of the forms of things, as that it eating out of the olde, bringeth still in new. So vnto Earles, whom we faid in ancient time to have beene rewarded with the third penny of the Prouince whereof they were earles, to maintaine their Honour and Dignitie, a certaine fumme of mony is at this day yerely payed them out of the Exchequer, and they enjoy the Titles of fuch places, as wherein they have not any jurisdiction. administration, or profite at all. Barons alfo, who as the Fathers and Senators in auncient time among the Romans, were chosen by their Sestertia; were in like manner wont to bee efteemed and valued by Knights Fees (for why, hee which had and possessed thirteene Knights sees, and a little more, was then to bee accounted among the Barons) are now, more fildome times chosen for their vertue, their great wealth, and large poffeffions.

Neither is there any let, but that a man may hold and still retaine, the name and Title of a Barony, the head of which Barony (asthey tearmeit) he hath afterward fold or alienated to some other common perfon.

In briefe, our kings royall maiefly is alwaves like it felfe, constant, and the fame: which having regard to the vertue flock, wealth, and substance of any man (whereby hee may with his Councellor feruice, profit the Common-weale) may in enery place freely give and bestow Dignities and Honours, fometime chufing moe Barons then one, out of one & the same family, the custome of the succession of the former and more auncient Baron, beeing still kept whole, and not in anie hurt : as we fee , Edward the fixt wifely to have done in the familie of the Willoughbies; which family (that for breuitie fake I should not reckon vp moe) befide the most ancient Barony of the Willoughbies of Eresby, brought foorth another Barony also of Parham. Wherefore wee acknowledge our Kings to bee the Fountaines of Politicall Nobilitie, and vnto whom we may with thankes, referre all the degrees of Honours and Dignities; wherefore I may not, without cause, feeme to rejoyce on the behalfe of our Nobilitie of Britaine, which hath alwaies fo had Kings themselves, Authours, Patrons, Gouernours, and Defendours thereof, that when Lands, Fees, and Poifessions, subject to Couenants or agreements, are still toffed and turmovled with the stormes of the Iudiciall Courts, and of the Common Lawe; it is onelie

Per titulos numerentur aui, sempérq; renata Nobilitate viret, o prolem fata sequantur : Continuum proprià seruantia lege tenorem.

vnto the Kings themselues beholden, and restethypon heroicall orders and institutions proper and familiar vnto it felfe. So

By Titles great, mens Auncestors were knowne still as they came, And fo their owne posteritie, do still enioy the same; And flourish long without decay. with cuerlasting fame.

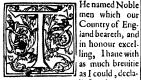

For the Noble-men, for deciding of futes concerning their Honours, and for the giving voto every man that which of right belongeth vnto his Farme and Dignitie, haue their Tribunall or proper Martiall Court, which they are wont to call, The Court of Chualry : whereof, when wee shall come vnto the Order of Knight-hood, wee shall say somewhat more.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Noblemen of the leffer fort.

men which our

Country of Eng-

in honour excelling, I haue with as much breuitie las I could, declared, and in painting of it foorth, propofed it vnto the eye : with what Lawes alfo they are created, and with what orders of fucceffions they after our manner line, I have in few wordes briefely thewed Now if I had vnto these also ioyned the Fellowes of the Order of the Garter, I might well feeme to have ended this Treatife, beeing about to haue written nothing at all, of those whom wee call Noble men of the leffer fort, or Vnnamed: but the earnest and continual calling yppon of certaine of my friends, ouercame mee. Wherefore, feeing that it is nevther altogether strange from our purpose, and may be done without straining of the Methode of that I have taken in hand, both the place, and the requests of my friends have inuited mee by the way to toyne heereunto these few things heereatter following: The Noblemen therefore of the lef-grees or riks fer fort, are in three forts or rankes divi- of Noblemer dedly comprehended.

The first ranke or order, is of Knights: fort, The second is of Esquires: The third, of them we call onely by the name of Gentlemen.

Those whom the Frenchmen simplie call Gentilzhommes, and wee in English Gentlemen, wee thus diftinguish into three fores:

First, hee which derineth his Stocke Plaine Genwith Armes from his Aunceftors, is by out anie other bloud a Gentleman.

Secondly, hee which beareth Armes onely, although he be not yet by Stocke a Gentleman, is yet called a Gentleman, and giveth Gentry vnto his fonnes.

onely for his learning, or for fome Office or function which hee beareth, hee onely for himselfe, is in common estimation accounted a Gentleman; although he had a common person to his Father, and leave his Sonnes common persons also.

An Esquire, who sometime is also called Scutifer, or a Shield bearer, and in ancient time Home ad Arma (or a Man at Armes) in French Escuire, and in Englith a Squire, or an Esquire, is next vnto a Knight: as hee who in ancient time following a Knight, by his fide bare his Armes, as a most faithfull Fellow-fouldier with him, From whence perhaps, they whom wee at this day in our Kings houses, account Squires for the bodie, seeme to have taken their beginning. But that which at first was by institution | a militarie Office, is now become a degree of dignitie : whereof, Antiquitie it felfe, and the cuftome of our Kingdome hath brought forth vnto vs foure kinds.

The first doth comprehend all the younger fonnes of Barons, and of other Noble-men, and their first begotten Sonnes alfo; who together with their being first borne, make the dignitie of Esquireship successorie, so long as their iffue male faileth not.

Another kinde (and that most auncient) is of them, which are borne the eldest Sonnes of Knights, and their eldest Sonnes also.

The third is of them, which of auncient time graced with Armes belonging vnto their Stocke and Family, are the first begotten and chiefe of their house and stocke. And these by a certayne prerogatiue of being the eldest or first born, goe before all the rest of the Gentlemen of the same Family aside discended, and are accounted Esquires.

The fourth kind respecteth the common-weale, and the Kings house. For they which beare publique Offices in the Common-weale, are of Gentlemen in reputation made Esquires . Such as are the Iudges, the Kings Atturney, and Prolocutor: the Sergeants at Law, and other Officers of like fort belonging vnto the Exchequer.

Vnto these also wee may especially ioyne, if not preferre, fuch as proceede

Thirdly, hee which is of reputation | Doctors of Diamitie, or otherwise in other professions in the Vniuersities. For Doctorship is a Title of Dignitic more noble, then they which are Gentlemen but by their flocke onely : voto whom alfo after our manner, in the Kings Commissions concerning the publike affaires, fo much præeminence is giuen, as that they may well feeme in dignitie, to bee compared with Knights.

In the Kings house also, the Apparitors, commonly called Sergeants at Armes, Heralds, and all ferning in the Kings Court, whom for the præeminence of their Offices, we also call Sergeants, are made Efquiers with chaines, viz.) with a Collar made of Silver and blacke SS put about their neckes by the Kings themsclues.

Knights (in French called Chenaliers) Knights are with vs called either Knights Banne rets, Knights of the Bath, or Knights Batchellors.

Other there be of the Garter also, but of another fort, then that they are to be comprehended in a kind, to be compared with these as in due place is to be shewed.

Banneret is a degree of Honour, Bannerers esteemed the last amongest the greatest (I meane Nobilium majorum) or the first with those of the second ranke. Three formes of creations I have observed, as Sir Rob. Cott. fometimes vnder the Royall Standerd displayed: the person having the lower end of his Pennon cut off into a square (fuch as Barons vse) receiveth that Honour : Or as Edward the third enjoyned William de la Poole by Patten, Vt statum or honorem teneret & continueret Banne-retti, Tohim and tohis heires: Or as Nicholaus de Grey was declared, by Writ of Ed.3. King Edward the fecond, to be, De fami- Ex comp. Garlia Regis tanquam Bannerettus; thereby derbig Ed 2. meaning, both Precedencie and Sallary accordingly.

The two other Knight-hoods Batchellors, and of the Bath, admit this difference betweene them, that to the one from elective grace of the Soueraigne (to attend himselfe or Quene in their inaugurations, or his Childrens creations) there is annexed a Ministeriall ductic to their knightly dignities; the other, nothing being left but their bare Stile and proper Merite; and therefore they are eyther in the Record, mentioned by none of

The Court of

of Cheualtic

Clanja Hena

528

ther name then Milites simplici, yet had in | ned the third penny of his Earledonic former ages (as well as other degrees of from the time he was made knight, about honour) many worthy and religious ceremonies, as also peculiar robes at their Creations (as appeareth copiously both in flory and record.) But they by iniury of times, and promiscuous admissions (which somewhat declined their reputation) had beene fully loft, had not the other prescrued the memory and vse of such venerable order.

As for right of precedency betweene these two; or whether such temporallsernice enlarged to the one more then the other, inuefleth a perpetuall priority or no, I leave it to the discussion of those, to whom in due of place, and depth of Judgment, it properly belongeth.

No man is borne a Knight, but men vppon their knees receive that Dignity (which is not but together with life loft, or taken away) of the King or his Licutenant generall; having regard cyther to his stocke, his vertue, or his fortune, or his actes done at home or abroad; lightly striking him that is so to be created, vpon the shoulder with a drawne Sword. The Prince speaking these words in French; Soyes bon Cheualier d'oresenauant au nom de Dieu: (Bee from hence-forth a good Knight, in the name of God.) And they which are fo made Knights, having kiffed the Sword, and this word (Sir) being added vnto their names, for tearme of their lines, are enery where (after the French manner in calling of their Kings) diftinguithed from other men; Sir John Norris, Sir Francis Drake. A dignity indeede of it felfe fo found, apparant, & ful of honor, as that it enery where befeemeth most great Dukes and Earles: and which even Kings thefelues have not disdained kindly to thanke one another for. For fowe reade our King Henry the fecond of that name, to have made Malcolme King of the Scots, Knight at Turwin in France, for his good fernice at Tholouse, in the yeare 1159. And Alexander, the Sonne of William King of the Scots, being not 14 years old, to have received the order of knighthood in England, in the yeare 1212. Hugh Vere restored vnto the Earledome of Oxford, was by the King made Knight. Henry of Lacy also in the right of his Wife, and by the refignation of his Mother in law, promoted to be Earle of Lincolne, recei-

ten yeares more or lesse before hee was created Earle. Beside that, the ancient Register of the Church of Abingdon thus reporteth.

Richard Earle of Chester, with his mother Ermentrude, lodged in the Towne of Abingdon; Farritius the Abbot, and the Countesse his Mother, earnessly calling vpon him, confirmed for wel done, whatfocuer was done concerning the Land of Wimondisleie, and with his writing strengthened the same. Which writing he ap. pointed to bee sealed with his Mothers Seale, for he being not yet knighted, all the Letters by him any whether directed. were closed with his Mothers Seale. And for this cause it is, that it is noted, the writing to be figned rather with the feale of the Counteffe, then of the Earle himfelf. Of which writing, this is the forme; Richardus Comes Cestria, & Ermentrudus Comitissa Mater eins, Nigillo de Oylly, &c. Richard Earle of Chester, and Ermentrudis the Countesse, his Mother, to Nigill of Oylly,&c.

This fame thing doe also the ancient formes of the Parliament writs testific. For it is manifest, Kings have beene wont to summon the Nobility of the kingdom vnto their Parliaments. Ioanni Marchioni de Monteacuto Cheualier (vnto Iohn Marquesse of Montacute Knight : And Henricus vi. Henrico Vicecomiti Bourchier Militi (Henry the vi.vnto Henry Vicount Bourchier Knight.) 1. Edward 4. &c. Which manner of calling, although it hath begun of long to grow out of vie in others of the Nobility, yet eyther in calling out of new Barons, or in fummoning of the olde, it is still right seriously observed: as Gulielmo Brooke de Cobham Cheualier (vnto William) Brooke of Cobham knight.) And Gulielmo Cecill de Burghley Militi (to William Cecill of Burghley knight) when as they both were commonly knowne and called Barons or Lords of Cobham, & of Burghley: fo that a man would almost fay, the order of knights to bee the Seminary of the Baronage of England.

I let passe in the meane time, with how great folemnity of the kingdome, and charges of the Subiccts, Kings in ancient time were wont to conferre and bestow this Military honour and dignity vppon and as it were natural power of monarks among themselues, in bestowing Nobility according to the Lawe of Nations) haue dismissed one anothers Subjects & Ambassadours, graced with this Dignitie. I list onely heereunto to joyne an auncient forme, with the Rites and Ceremonies thereof, out of an old Chronicle of a certayne namelesse writer; Anno (faith he) 1316. Dominus Richardus de Rodney fact us fuit Miles apud Keynsbam die translationis Sancli Thoma Martyris in prasentia domini Almarici Comitis de Penbroke , qui cinxit eum gladio , & Dominus Mauritius de Barkley super pedem dextrum posuit vnum calcar : & Dominus Bartholomeus de Badelismer (Baro vterque) suppofuit aliud super pedem sinistrum in Aula, & hoc facto, recescit cum honore. In the yeare 1316. Lord Richard of Rodney, was made Knight at Keynsham, vpon the day of the translation of Saint Thomas the Martyr, in the presence of Amaricus Earle of Penbrooke, who girt him with the Sword : and the Lord Maurice of Barkley put one Spurre on his right foot, and the Lord Bartholomew of Badelismer (both of them Barons) put the other Spurre vpon his left foot in the Hall; and this done, he with honour departed. But now according to the maner of the time, we live after another fashion; and in this, as in other things, the change and alteration of things hath taught vs, what an alteration of things the long continuance of time is able to make. So in thinking of the beginning of Knights, and as well of the antiquitie of the Order of Knighthood, as of the preheminence thereof aboue other dignities and honours, I can scarse resolue my selfe, but that this name of olde should seeme to make shew vnto me of some (I wot not what) magnificent and maiesticall things contayned in the fame, and more excellent then Nobility it selfe : and mounting (as it were) into the royall Throanes, fitteth as it were a Judge in the Judgement seate, and the Protectour of all civill Nobility. For the desciding of sures concerning honours, and for the prescruation vnto cuery man

the right of his fame or dignity, the natu-

their eldest Sonnes, (viz.) the Princes of grall tribunal Scate or Court for the No-Wales, and with what lufter and magni- bilitie, is every where called Militaris; with Militar ficence, Emperours and Kings loyned in that is to fay, the Martrall or Militatie league together, (by a certaine mutuall Court, and commonly, the Court of Chiualrie: the forme whereof with vs is this. The appoynted place for the holding thereof, is the Kings Hall: wherein the Constable of the Kingdome, and the Marshall of England sit as Judges, where any Plaintife, either in case of dignities or of Armes, or of any other fate or controugrfie concerning Nobility and Honour, may fue the Defendant. But the forme wherein the Constable of England was wont to call the Nobility and Gentry vnto his Courtor Indgement seate, was on this fort:

Iehan filz du Roy Constable d'Angle-

John the Kings Sonne, Constable of England, and Warden of the Eatl-marches toward Scotland, to our welbeloued Cozin, Sir Rafe Neuile, Earle of Westmerland, and Marshall of England, greeting. We command and charge you, that you cause to come and appeare before vs at Westminster, the ninth day of May next comming , before Mounfieur Edward Hastings, to answere to Mounsieur Reynold Lord of Grey, and of Rutheyn, concerning that which he shall then charge him with in our court of Cheualry, concerning the full vling and bearing of his Armes, and to that the Lord Grey faith, and as it shall be more fully declared at the same day; and further to doe and receine that which the Lawe and the custome of our faid Court shall in this part require. Returning before vs at the aforefaid day with this our Precept, al that you shall therein haue done. Giuen at Westminster under the Scale of our Office, the first day of May, in the reigne of my most dread Lord and Father King Henry the fourth, after the Conquest, the Ichan filz, frere, e Vncle an Roys, Duc de Bedford, drc.

John, Sonne, Brother, and Vockle to Kings, Duke of Bedford and Aniou, Earl of Richmond, and of Kendall, and Conftable of England, vnto our welbeloued Cozin, John duke of Northfolke, Marshall of England, greeting. We command and charge charge you, that you cause to be arrested, of King Richard the second. and to come before vs or our Lieutenant at Westminster, vpon the 15. of S. Hillarie next comming, William Clopton of the Countie of Suffolke Esquire, then to answeare before vs or our Lieutenant in the Court of Chiualrie, to Robert Eland which he the faid Robert shal then charge | mory, the Indgement Scate of this Royfet and put to the Seale of his Armes to a false and forged writing, done to the hurt and danger of him the faid Robert an hundred pounds, and more then that, as you shall have therein done. Given vnder the Seale of our Office, the 23. day of November, in the fixeteenth yeare of the reigne of our Lord the King, & fince the Conquest of England, the hundred.

Of the lesser Nobilitie.

The forme of the profecuting of the action, is on both fides tryed, by the looking into of Letters Patents, auncient Charters, and of Euidences (as they tearme them) and by Witnesses. All things are (for the most part) acted by their Aduocates, in Writings, in Latine or in French. At length the definitiue Sentence, according vnto equitie and right, and our owne heroycall cuflome, and not after any ftrange maner, fealed with the publike Seale of the Office is openly read, and afterward is delinered to the Earle Marshall, to be put into execution. If any thing chance to be vnprouidedly done, or vnaduitedly in the fute ouer-flipped on eyther part, it is lawful for them to appeale vnto the king, who is wont to referre the whole matter vnto the Bishops, and other Ecclesiasticall persons, vnto the learned Lawyers, and others of most vpright life, to be diligently againe examined & expounded. And even in this very manner it was argued, adjudged, and appealed, betwixt Reynold Baron Gray of Ruthen , and Edward Hastings Knight, concerning the Armes of the Hastings, in the reigne of King Henry the third. Likewife, betwixt the Barons of Louell and Morley, for the Armes of the familie of Burnell. And Fichard Scroope Plaintife , against Robert Grofuenour Defendant, in an Action of Armes in the ninth yeare of the reigne

But this I leave to the indicious labor of that noble person and excellent judgement, who now can onely repaire the lamented ruines of that Iurisdiction, hauing bequeathed vnto him the Genius of those his renowned Auncestours, that so of the County of Lincolne esquire, to that | many yeares filled vp with famous mehim with by the way of Arms, as having | all Court, referring the eye of further fearch, eyther to the Kings Records, or to those Registers of Armes and Honor whome it concerneth most to sceke out fuch Monuments with the Genealogies he faith. Returning before vsatthe fayd | of Families, and the Armes of Stockes day, with this our Mandate, all that which | and Kindreds to distinguish the same, to write things done, and to register them vp in Bookes, for the perpetuall remembrance thereof. And who themselnes acknowledging the high Constable, and the Earle Marshall of England for their Patrons, receive yearely pensions from the Kings, and are by them with notable priviledges rewarded.

Heere at length I might haue a large occasion to speake of the solemne Ceremonies of the Heralds; of their institution, imminuities (both in time of peace and warre) and of the auncient reputation had of them amongst all Nations: if it were lawfull for mee to roame at large beyond the breuitie I have vnto my felfe propounded, and whom therefore I had purposed in silence to have passed over. But, left I writing of fo many degrees of out Noblemen, and so great things concerning Politicall Nobility, (in leaving to be spokesmen for themselves) I might feeme to have spoken vnaduifedly, and not indifferently, I thought it good briefly, and by the way, to touch these things concerning Heralds. They were Heraldes. in auncient time Feriales, or as Messengers of the publique faith and credit. But fince the time Princes and Monarks, for dispatch of their affaires, first began to haue their Ambassadors stil resident one of them with another, the reputation of Heralds is so impaired, as that they eucrie where line as men neglected, & quite ouerthrowne. Yet what our Heraldes be, and in what houses, and under what Lawes they (by the fauour of our Kings) together with vs in fafety dwell, I will heere, as it were, in a short Inventorie, propound vnto the eye of the Reader.

Of the Society of Heralds. Chap. 23. (Garter, who goeth first, as cheefe) Ringleader of the all: not so much for the antiquity of his creation (for Three Kinges, he was first created by King Henry which of their the fift) as for the super-eminence offices are cal of the Order of the Garter. The notation of the ordained by K. Bidward the 3, and are called Provinciall kings of Armes. n, ort. sight, robe in ort. sopulare aboles. hallengeth if him that prei nella nort. et by weareth i leal spillocal the Somer/et. Chester. giate fociety Sixe Heraldes, which Windefor. of Heraldes by the names of their Richemond. confifteth of additions are called, Lancaster.

xiii. perfons, would be some to mill the confittent of additions are called, Lancaster.

(viz.) of Foure Portuitiones, Rougedragon, which in Heraldise Rougedragon, and followers. and followers, vnto Blew-mantell whom other Names Rouge croix. drog od die de

A Parlaments, are by the Kings themselves immediatelie, or by the Constable of the kingdome, or the Marshall with the Kings Authority, crowned with Crownes, graced with Collars, attired with their rich Coates, named by their names of addition, and with certaine appointed Ceremonies created, receive their yearely stipends out of the Kings Exchequer, to consult and meete together, about Armes and Authenticall Monuments. and helping and profiting vnto the Art of Heraldry. And they by the Kings Charter Incorporate, are endowed with a publike house in London, the cheefe Citty of the Kingdome: where besides the Immunities and Priviledges whereby they live) they are with the preheminences of their degrees and functions, one from another diftinguished.

scruethe dignity and reputation of their fociety, and go-

532

Garter King of Armes, for the supereminent Dignity of the Garter, is of the the cheefe; whose peculiar Office it is, with all dutifull sequice to attend uppon Are fet to pre- the Knights of that order. To aduertife them which are cholen of their new election, to call them to bee enstalled at Windfor, and to cause their Armes to be hanged up upon their feates. At their burials, to haue a care of their Funerall Rites & Ceremonies. Wheruerne the reft, fore, (baside the yearely wages given him by the as for example. Knights) he is by the King himselfe rewarded with a Salary double to the rest. In sucry new Emperour, King, Prince, Duke, Marqueffe, Earle, Vicount, Ba-ton, or Kuight, to be into this order enstauled, hee challengeth of him the vpper most Garment, which he on that day weareth. He all of newest vnio energy new Baron, called vino the Parliament, the place wherein he is to fit among the Peerrs, and ordere in other things concerning their orden. [212] I o of them.

For fome

36,3b

armin ni

clarentim, who is Theferwo haue by char-King of Armes of ter power a vifit the Noal the East, West, blemens Families sto fer & South Proving blemens Families, a to let cet of England on downer their Pedegrees, to this fide of the Ridding with their armes, & uct of Trent. in the open Market-place, force, who is alto reproue such as fallely to acknowledged take yoon the Nobility or for king of Arms Gentry And to order eue throgh the north through the north ry Mans Exequies & Fu-part of the king nerals, according to their River of Trent.

Dignity, & to appoint vnto them their Armes or Enfignes,&c. And in all things gouern the Heralds as well as Garter.

Other some are pointed to obey (viz.) Heralds and the defended of their fociety, or to their own the defended of their fociety, or to their own the defended of their fociety, or to their own the following the commandements of the kings and of the commandements of the kings.

And these onely are the Kings Heralds, with vs fo called, for that they receine wages of the kings, and with publike feruice, ferue all the Nobility of the king-

Howbeit, Noble-men and Peeres of this Land, in ancient time had their Heralds peculiar vnto themselues. For Chester the Herald, and Falco the Purfuiuant, lived at the commaund of the Prince of Wales, and ferued him. Humfrey, Duke of Glocester, and Earle of Penbroke, had the Herald Penbroke his houshold Seruant.

Richard alfo, Duke of Glocester, having now obtayned the kingdome, wold needs haue his Herald Glocester, to bee called King of Armes for all Wales. Charles Brandon folke Herald, and Marlcon the Pursuiuant, his Seruants. The Marquelle of Dorcefter, kept Groby the Herald. The Earle of Northumberland kept Northumberland the Hetald, and Efperance the Pursuinant. Arthur Plantaginet Vicount L'isle, took vnto himfelfe L'ille the Porfoiuant : and Baron Haflaings, Hafting the Pursuiuant. These it pleased me to have out of many others rehearfed, who ferued Noblemen in their peculiar and domesticall feruices. But the condition of the Servant is made better. by the dignity of his Lord and Master, so these forenamed Heralds lived not with like authority or priviledges as with the beautifying and fetting forth of Politicall Nobility: Now at length (by the Heralds leaue) let it bee lawfull for mee to ioyne heereunto and infert fome few things cocerning Armes, whereby Noblemen are wont to be knowne from the vulgar fort, and to be among themselues by families divided, being wont in ancient time to be more sparingly bestowed, then in this our age, and onely vpon such, as had with their good feruice deferued them.

So I breefely touch all things, for the

But such kinde of Armes feeme not to haue taken beginning, but of fuch military rewards, as were wont to be given vnto well deferuing men in the Roman Common-weale. For the Romanes, alwayes most striued for the obtaining of honor and glory, for the nourishing whereof, they with ornaments and rewards, laboured to firre vp mens mindes, for the performance of noble actions, both at home and abroad. In warres flourished Military guifes, Tropheis, Troumphall Arches, Letters Laureat, &c. In time of peace, at home were shewed honourable Titles, Images, Statues, and fuch like. Things indeed wifely at first deuised, and asterward so together with the Empire encreased, that how many, and what manner of Crowns, Bracelets, Chaines, and Crests, euery ma had descrued; what manner of trappings, Speares, Darts, or Belts, they had gotten: thefe they were wont in their expeditions in the wars, to beare in their Targets and Bucklers, or set vpon their Helmets; and againe returning home, in time of peace, euery good Seruitor did hang them vp in their houses; and those Ornaments they

Brandon Duke of Suffolke, retained Suf- by the name of Armes, were wont by long order of succession, to deliner ouer vnto their posterity: and heereof those armes of Families, heere and there difpiercedly by the Nobility, vied in diners kingdomes, were (if it pleafe you so to thinke) of the Germanes called Toncapen. in our language Armes, and in Latine Arma, for that with them the enemies were

Thefe things the ancient Roman Coynes declare, and the credible ancient Romaine Writers; the vie wherof fo at length preuailed in kingdomes, that as names diffinguished men from men, enen so Armes divided Nations from Nations, and Families from Families: first granted by Kings themselues, but afterward by the Heralds (Kings of Armes) by a Royall transmissine power granted vnto them, they enery where especially serving the Politicall Nobility, vnto whom I willingly leave these things. And therefore the name and office of the Heralds was enery where notable, and well beforming an honest man; whom they of ancient time wer wont to call the Fosterers of Politicall Nobility, the Arbiters of Equity, the Protectors of Verity, the Ambaffadors of Princes, and the Writers of mens noble actes.

But woe is me, that I, carried with a certaine winde of this Method, have thus cuen against my will landed ypon our Heralds, whom (I know not by what destiny) euery man figheth and mourneth to fee them working their owne destruction. Although indeed it be not so much to be maruailed at, seeing that the cause is right manifest (for lawfull bee it for mee to fay the truth, which the thing it selfe speketh) (viz.) the want of the Martiall Court, or Court of Chiualry, wherof I but now spake. For why, Nobility it felfe beeing oftentimes hurt or impared, the Heralds themselues therewith languish also.

And yet for all that, heroycall truth wateth not her Patrones, euen amongst the most Noble and reverend Antiquity, olthough as it were banished, and almost a stranger in her owne house, hath together with the Muses, her most louing, kinde and earnest Patrones, and who were not even vnto my felfe also wanting in the perfecting of thefe my endeuors & purpofes.

Zz 3

These

534 The Orders and Degrees of Nobility. 5 Booke

These are the Orders and Degrees, of both our forts of Nobility, Na-med and I'nnamed. Now into what ranks they are among themselues divided, and what honour they owe one of them wato another (by a certaine right of precedence) receine heere in briefe.

THE Kings Maiesty.
The Prince of Wales. Dukes descended of the Royall Dukes not descended of Royall blood. Dukes eldeft Sonnes descended of the 6 Marquesses. 7 Dukes eldeft Sonnes.

Royall blood.

8 Earles. 9 Marquesses eldest Sonnes.

10 Dukes younger Sonnes of the blood Royall.

11 Dukes fecond Sonnes.

12 Vicounts.

13 Earles eldeft Sonnes.

14 Marqueffes fecond Sonnes.

15 Barons. 16 Vicounts eldest Sonnes.

17 Earles fecond Sonnes.

18 Barons eldest Sonnes. 19 Knights Bannarets.

20 Vicounts second Sonnes. 21 Barons second Sonnes.

22 Knights Batchellors.

23 Esquires for the body. 24 Knights Bannarets eldest Sonnes.

25 Knights Batchellors eldeft Sonnes.

26 Esquires.

27 Gentlemen.

The Sonnes of Knights, which are of the Kings priny Councell, for the time, hold the places which their Fathers being knighted, were knowne to hold, beneathe Barons Sonnes. But the antiquity of the creation of euery Knight is to bee regarded : by which reasons, the Sonnes of the elder Knights, goe before the Sonnes of them that were more later created. Amongst Esquires, the antiquity of their Families, their wealth, and publike offices are confidered; whereby it commeth to paffe, that the wines of them of the cheefer Families, or of fuch as beare great Offices take their places before others.

Howbeit, wee see no certainty to bee heere fer downe concerning the places of Esquires or their Wines, neyther concerning the places of yonger Brothers wines forasmuch as many such things oftetimes chance, as cannot in any certaine rules be comprehended: like as it yfeth to happen in Named Nobility (viz.) in Princes, Dukes. Marquesses, Earles, Vicounts, and Barons.

Now at last let us passe unto Knights of the Order of the Garter.

E faid in the beginning, in the dividing and reckoning vp of our Nobility, it not to be befide our purpose, if I should vnto them also joyn the fellowship of the order of the Garter, of others (by farre) the most honourable, For that it maketh Knights, and fomtime them of the leffer Nobility also, being me for their vertue and valour, both in peace and warre aboue others famous not only equall vnto Noblemen at home, but almost even vnto Kings themselves & Emperors. An order verily of all the orders of the Christian world (if it be to be compared with any other) most ancient and most famous, wherein the most true Nobility it felfe, together with Religion and vertue, attended vpon with five and twenty most famous Knights, is seene that (I may fo fay) with undefiled Maiesty to sit in the Royall Throne. Wherefore feeing that it is an order of so great dignity, and more famous then any other Nobility; & greater, then that it can in ranke with the other orders be included, as which inclu-dethall the other degrees of Nobility, I

haue purposed as briefely as I could, here

to fet it downe alone, and there-withall

to conclude this Treatife.

CHAP. XXV.

The Order of the Knights of the Garter when, and by whom it was ordayned.

Chap.25.

anDward the third, the most inuincible King of England and of France, a Prince principally endowed with al ma-ner of piety, magnanimitie, and wifedome, in the xxiij, yeare of his reigne, after he had oftentimes ouer the Frenchmen and Scots triumphed, vnto the honour of Almightic God, whereunto he (as befeemed a denout King referred althings) in his Castle at Windfor, ordained the Military Ornaments and Geremonies of the Knights of the Garter t whereunto he gaue the name of the Blew Garter (but commonly called the Garter). and wherein hee appoynted the Kings of England as chiefe, and fine and twentie Knights or Fellowes and Companions together. Who being men both for their martial proweffe and birth, most famous, and most chosen Chieftaines tolemnely fworne, and binding themselues together with a bond of mutuall and perpetuall friendship, for the defence of the honour and dignity of their Colledge and Fellowship, refuse not to vndergoe any danger, no not death it felfe. And there-Bartholmew of Burgherst, knight. fore they are called Fellowes of the Garter, for that they have the Calfe of their Leg bound about with a little Girdle, fet with precious stones, which we call a Garter: the speciall Cognisance of the order, whereon it is in French, in golden Letters thus writte: Hony. Soit. Qui. Mal. T-Penfe. All these Knights once yearely attired in der, meete together vpon the 23. day of Aprill, a day dedicated to Saint George.

The Rites and ceremonies, where-with they for the most great preheminence of their Order, are with most great solemnity chosen and enstauled at Windsor, and the Statutes under which these Fellowes and Companions liue, feeing they can in heere in few words be expressed. Wherefore I lift onely to rehearfe the names of them, which from the beginning, or together with king Edwardhimfelfe, were the Founders thereof, or elfe hane by our Kings from time to time, for fome their vertue aboue others, bene still chosen to be Fellowes of that most honorable Order, in stead of them that were dead, euen vnto this our age.

CHAP.

Edward the third King of England and of France, &c. Supreame or Gouernour of the Order of the Garter, and with him the five and twenty first Founders thereof, which number they never exceed.

Henry Duke of Lancaster.

Peter Captaine Bouche. William Mont-acute, Earle of Salisburie. Ishn, Lord of the Iland, otherwise called Iohn Beauchampe, knight. Hugh Courtney, knight. John Grey of Codnor, knight. Miles Staplet on, knight. Hugh Wrothefley, knight. Iohn Chandos, knight Bannaret. Otho Molland, knight. Sanchio Dampredicourt, knight. Edward Prince of Wales, King Edward his eldest Sonne. Thomas Beanchampe, Earle of Warwicke. Raffe Stafford, Earle of Stafford. Roger Mortimer, Earle of March.

Iohn, Lord Mohun, Baron. Thomas Holland, knight. Richard Fitz. Simon, knight. Thomas Wale, knight. Neele Lorenge, knight. Inmes Andeley, knight. Henry Efme, knight. Walter Paueley, knight. the Robes and Ornaments of their Or-

> The Founders of this Order being dead, these following were in the time of Edward the third chofen, and being elected into the places of the dead, Supplied their roomes.

iust Volumes be scarse contained, cannot D Ichard, furnamed Burdeaux, cldeft fonne of the Prince of Wales, who was also King of England, after Edward

Chap.24.

Of the Knights of the Garter.

cond of that name.

Lionell, furnamed of Antwerp, the fon of King Edward, Duke of Clarence, and Earle of Vifter.

1)hn, furnamed of Gaunt, fourth fon of King Edward, first duke of Richmond, and after of Lancaster.

Edmund of Langley, fift Sonne of king Edward, first Earle of Cambridge, and afterward Duke of Torke.

Iohn of Montford, furnamed the valiant, Duke of Britaine, and Earle of Richmond, King Edward the third, his Sonne

Humfrey of Bohun, Eatle of Hereford. William of Bohun, Earle of Northampton. Iohn Hastings, Earle of Penbroke. Thomas Beauchamp, Earle of Warwicke. Richard Fitz-Alan, Earle of Arundell. Robert Viford, Earle of Suffolke. High Stafford Earle of Stafford. Inzelram of Coucy, Earle of Bedford. Guiscard of Engolesme, Earle of Hunting-

Edward Baron Spencer. William Baron Latimer. Reynold Baron Cobham of Sterberow. Ishn Baron Neuillof Raby. Raffe Baron Baffet of Drayton. Gualter Manny, Knight Bannaret. Thomas & ford, Knight. Thomas Felton, Knight. Francis Van Hille, Knight. A'an Baxhull Knight. Richard Pembruge, Knight. Thomas Vtreight, Knight. Thomas Bannester Knight Richard la Vache, Knight. Guy of Brianne Knight.

Richard, the fecond of that name, King of England, and of France, &c. Soueraigne of the Order of the Garter, de they which by him were choson into that

"Himas of Woodstocke, Earle of Buckingham, and afterward Duke of Glocefter, fixt fonne to King Edward the third. Hinry of Lancaster, Earle of Darby, & Duke of Hireford, and afterward Duke of Lancaster, and at length King of England, of that name the fourth.

the third his grand-father, and was fe- William, Duke of Gelderland. William, furnamed of Henault, was firft Earle of Ostrenant, and afterward Duke of Holland, Hennault, and of Zealand, Thomas Hilland, Earle of Kent, and afterward Duke of Surrey. Iohn Holland, Earle of Huntingdon, and Duke of Exceter.

Thomas Mowbray, Earle of Nottingham. and afterward Duke of Norfolke, and Earle Marshall of England.

Edward, Earle of Rutland, Duke of Albemarle, and Edmund of Langley his Father being dead, Duke of Torke.

Michaell de la Poole, Earle of Suffolke, and Chancellor of England. William Scroope, Earle of Wilfbire, & Treafurer of England. William of Beauchampe, Baron of Berga-

Iohn Beamont Baron. William Willoughby, Baton. Richard Grey, Baron. Nicholas Sarnesfeld, Knight. Philip de la Vache, Knight. Robert Knolles, Knight. Guy of Brianne, Knight. Simon Burley, Knight. John D'Euerux, Knight. Brian Stapleton, Knight. Richard Burley, Knight. Peter Courtney, Knight. John Burley, Knight. John Bourchier, Knight. Thomas Grandson,Knight. Lewes Clifford, Knight. Robert Dunstanill, Knight. Robert of Namur, Knight.

Henry the fourth of that name, King of England, and of France, &c. chiefe of the Garter: and they which in his Reigne were chosen into the pla-

HENRY Prince of Wales, the eldest Sonne of King Henry, who afterward (his Father being dead)was himfelfe King, fift of that name. Thomas of Lancaster, Duke of Clarence, King Henry his second Sonne. John Duke of Bedford, Regent of France, third Sonne of King Henry. Humfrey Duke of Glocester, fourth Sonne of king Henry, Thomas Beauford, Duke of Exceter, Son | Henry, Baron Fitz-hugh. to John of Gaunt , Duke of Lancaster. Robert, County Palatine, Duke of Baua-Ishn Beaufort, Earle of Somerfet, Brother to Thomas Duke of Exceter. Thomas Fitz-Alan, Earle of Arundell. Edmund Stafford, Earle of Stafford. Edmund Holland, Earle of Kent. Rafe Neuil. Earle of Westmerland. Gilbert Lord Talbet, Baron. Gilbert Lord Roos, Baron. Thomas Lord Morley, Baron. Edward Lord Powe, Baron. Ishn Lord Louel, Baron. Hugh Lord Burnel, Baron. Iohn Cornwell Knight, afterward Baron

Fanhope. William of Arundel, Knight. John Stanley Knight, Steward of the Kings houfe.

Robert Vmfreuill, Knight. Thomas Rampston Knight, Constable of · the Tower of London. Thomas Erpingbam, Knight. Iohn Sulbie, Knight.

Sanctius of Trane, Knight,

Henrie the fift of that name king of England, and of France, byc. Chiefe of the order of the Garter, and the Knights whom he graced with the Garter, in stead of them that were dead.

Sigifmund King of Hungary and Bohemia, Marqueffe of Madenburge, and Emperor clect. John King of Portugall. Christian King of Denmark. Philip Duke of Burgundy. John Holland, Earle of Huntingdon, and afterward Duke of Exceter. William de la Poole, first Earle, afterward Marquesse, and at length Duke of Suffolke. Ishn Mowbray, Earle Marshall, and afterward Duke of Norfolke. Thomas Montacute, Earle of Salisbury. Richard Vere Earle of Oxford. Richard Beauchampe, Eatle of Warwicke. Thomas, Baron Camoys. Iohn, Baron Clifford. Robert Baron Willoughby.

William Philip, Baron Bardolfe. Lewes, Robfart Baron Bourchier. Hugh Stafford, Baron Bourchier, Walter, Baron Hungerford. Simon Felbridge, Knight. John Grey of Eyron, Knight. Iohn Dabrigecourt, Knight. Iohn Robfart, Knight. Trank van Clux, a German knight William Harington, Knight. John Blount, Knight.

Henrie the fixt of that name, K: of England and France, &c. chiefe of the Order of the Garter, and the Knights of the Garter by him made.

A Lbert, Duke of Austria, King of Hungary and Bohemia, and afterward Emperor.

Fredericke, Duke of Austria, Emperour, & Albertus his Brother. Edward, King of Portingall.

Alphonfus, King of Aragon, Naples, & Si-

Casimire, King of Polonia. Edward, Prince of Wales, King Henry his eldest Sonne.

Peter, Duke of Conimbria, John King of Portingallhis Sonne.

Henry, Duke of Visontium, John King of Portingall his Sonne. Duke of Brunswicken

Richard, Duke of Yorke, Father to King Edward the fourth.

John Beaufort, Earle, and afterward Duke of Somerset.

Edmund Beaufort, Earle Moriton, afterward Marquesse, and at last Duke of Somerfet.

Infer Earle of Penbroke, and afterward Duke of Buckingham.

Iohn Mowbray, Duke of Norfolke. Humfrey, Earle of Stafford, and afterward Duke of Buckingham.

Gaston de Foix Capitaine de la Bouche, earle of Longeuile.

Ishn de Foix, Earle of Candalia. Aluarus D'almada Earle of Auerence. Iohn Fitz-Alan, Earle of Arundell. Richard Neuill, Earle of Salubury. Richard Neuill. Earle of Warwicke.

John Baron Talbot, afterward Earle of Shrewsbury.

John Baron Talbot, Earle of Shrewsbury, his Sonne. Ismes Butler, Earle of Willhire and Or-William Neuill, Lord Fauconbridge, afterward Earle of Kent. Richard Wooduill, Earle Rivers. Henry Vicount Bourchier, and afterward Earle of Effex. Iohn Beamont, Vicount Beamont. John Sutton, Baron Dudley. Thom.us, Baron Scales. John, Baron Grey of Authin. Rafe, Baron Butler of Sudely. Lionell Baron Welles. John Baron Hourchier of Berners. Thomas, Baron Stanley. William Baron Bonuill. John, Baron Wenlocke. Ishn, Baron Beauchamp of Pawik. Thom.es Baron Hoo. Iohn Ratcliff, Kinght. John Fastolf, Knight. Thomas Kiriell, Knight.

Edward, fourth of that name, K. of England and France dre. Supreame Governor of the Order of the Garter. chose these Knights, into the vacant places of them that were dead.

Edward Hall Knight.

Erdinand, King of Sicily and of Naples, King Alfonfushis bafe fonne. John, King of Portingall. Edward Prince of Wales. Charles, Duke of Burgundy, Francis Sfortia, Duke of Millan. Fredericke, Duke of Vrbin. Hercules, Duke of Ferrara. Richard, Duke of Yorke, the Kings fonne. Richard, Duke of Glocester, who afterward vsurped the Kingdome. Iohn Mowbray, Duke of Norfolke. Iohn, Baron Howard, afterward Duke of Worfolke.

John de la Poole, Duke of Suffolke. Henry Stafford, Duke of Bucking ham. Iohn Neuill, Marqueffe Mont-acute, Thomas Grey, Marquelle Dorfet. Imes Douglas, Earle Douglas in Scotland. William Fitz-Allan, Earle of Arundell. Thomas, Baron Maltrauers, the fonne of William, and afterward Earle of Arun-

Anthony Wooduille, Baron Scales, afterward Earle Riners.

The Knights of the Garter.

William, Baron Herbert, afterward created

Earle of Penbroke. Iohn Stafford, Earle of Wilfbire. Henry Percy, Earle of Northumberland. Iohn Tiptoft, Earle of Worcester. Galliard Duras Lord Duras. John Baron Scroope of Bolton. Walter Denerux, Baron Ferrers of Chart-

Gualtier Blount, Baron of Mentioy. William, Baron Hastings, the Kings Chaberlaine.

John Aftley Knight. William Chamberlaine Knight. William Parre Knight. Robert Haricourt. Thomas Mont-gomery, Knight.

Edward, the fift of that name, king King of England and France dre. Supreame Gouernour of the Order of the Garter, under whom was no election of new Knights of that order. For as hee had all the places filled with Knights by his Father, whileft hee yet liued, even so he left them. Excepting onely the seates of the Prince, and of John King of Portingall.

Richard, the third of that name, King of England and of France, dec. Cheefe of the Order of the Garter, & the Fellowes chosen into that Order, during the time of his Reigne.

Homas Howard, Earle of Surrey, and Duke of Norfolke. Thomas, Baron Stanley, afterward Earle of Derby. Francis, Vicount Louell. Iohn Coniers, Knight. Richard Radeliff, Knight. Thomas Burgh, Knight. Richard Tunstall, Knight.

Henry,

Henry, the feuenth of that name, King of England, and of France, chiefe of this most honorable Order, and the Fellowes chosen into the places of them that were dead, during the time of his Reigne.

M Aximillian, king of the Romaines, & afterward Emperor, chosen, his Father Frederick Emperor then living. Dhn, King of Portingall. Dhn, King of Denmarke.

Philip, King of Castile, Arch-Duke of At-Stria Son to Maximillian the Emperor. Alphonfus, Duke of Calabria and Naples, King of Sicilia and Jerufalem.

Arthur, Prince of Wales, the Kings eldeft Sonne.

Hinry, Duke of Yorke, & Prince of Wales, his Brother A thur being dead, and he the fame, afterward King of England. Vbald, Earle of Montferat, and Duke of Vrbin and of Pelleran.

Edward Stafford, Duke of Buckingham. Thomas Grey, Marquelle Dorfet. Ishn Vere, Earle of Oxford. Hanry Percy, Earle of Northumberland.

George Talbot, Earle of Shrewsbury. Henry Bourchier, Earle of Effex. Richard Grey, Earle of Kent. Edward Courtney, Earle of Denshire. Henry, Baron Stafford, afterward Earle of

Willbire. Edmund de la Poole, Earle of Suffolke. Charles Somerfet, Knight Banaret, and afterward created Earle of Worcester. Gerard Fitz-gerald, Earle of Kildare. John Welles, Vicount Welles.

George Stanley, Baron Strange. William Stanley, the Kings Chamberlaine. John, Baron Dynham.

Robert Willoughby, Baron Brooke, Steward of the Kings house.

Giles D' Aubeny. Edward Poynings Knight. Edward Widewill, Knight. Gilbert Talbot Knight. Ishn Chener, Knight. Lichard Guilford Knight. Thomas Louell, Knight. Thomas Brandon Knight.

Keynold Bray, Knight.

Ryce Ap Thomas, a Welchman. John Sauage, Knight. Kichard Poole, Knight.

Henry, the eight of that name, K. of England France, and Ireland: Supreame Gouernor of the Order of the Garter, notably chose & ascribed these of the Order of the Gatter, into the vacant feates and places of the knights that were dead.

539

Harles the Emperor, fift of the name. king of Spaine.

Ferdinand, king of the Romaines, and hee the fame king of Hungary and Polenics, Brother to Charles the Emt eror.

Francis the French king, first of that name. Emanuell, King of Portingall.

James, the fift of that name, king of Scots. Henry the Kings Sonne, otherwife called Fitz-Roy, Duke of Richmond and Somer fet.

Islian de Medices, brother to Leo, the tenth Bishop of Rome.

Edward Seymour, Earle of Hertford, and afterward Duke of Somerfet.

Thomas Howard, Earle of Surrey, and at length Duke of Norfolke.

Charles Brandon, Master of the Horse, and afterward Duke of Suffolke.

Ishn Sutton, alias Dudley, Vicount L'Ille, who was afterward Earle of Warwicke, & at length Duke of Northumberland. Annas, Duke Mont-morency.

Henry Courtney, Earle of Denflire, and afterward Marquesse of Excester.

William Parre of Kendall, who was afterward Earle of Effex, & at length Marqueffe of Northampton.

William Paulet, Baron S. Ishn of Bafing, afterward created Earle of Wilfbire, & at last Marquesse of Winchester.

Henry Earle of Surrey, Sonue to Thomas Duke of Norfolke.

Thomas Bullen, Treasurer of the Kings house, afterward Vicount Rochfort, and at length Earle of Willbire and Ormond.

William Fitz-Alan Earle of Arundell. IohnVere, Earle of Oxford. Henry Percy, Earle of Northumberland. Rafe Neuill, Earle of Westmerland. Francis Talbot , Earle of Shrewsbury.

Chap.24.

1597

1601

40	Of the Knigh	rs of the Garter. 5 Bo
mire Thomas term Robers I ware Heary Colon, B. Bedfo Tomas, ward Aribur Edward William I George N Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Channel John Gage houle. Henry Gu Channel John Gage houle. Houle John Gage Houle Houle John Gage Houle Houle John Gage Houle Houle John Gu Gu Gu John John Gu	A Chabot, Earle of New-blanch, A all of France. A Manners, Baron Roos, who was a rard Earle of Rullind. Ratcliff, Vicount Fitz-Walter, after Earle of Suffex. Liftford, Earle of Cumberland. Fitz-Williams, Treasurer of the shouse, and afterward Earle of himpion. Baron Cromwell, who was after Earle of Effex. A Baron Wriothessey, who was after created Earle of Southampton. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the fourth, his base Sonne. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the fourth, his base Sonne. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the fourth, his base Sonne. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the fourth, his base Sonne. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the fourth, his base Sonne. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the Marca. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the Sonne. Plantagenet, Vicount Lisle, Kingred the North. Setting, Baron of Abergeueny. West, Baron Dacres of Gilesand. Baron Dacres of Gilesand. Baron Dacres of Gilesand. Baron Monteagle. Baron Marney. Stanley, Baron Monteagle. Baron Marney. Baron Marney. Baron Marney. Stanley, Baron Monteagle. Baron Marney. Kright, Knight, Master of the caster Controller of the house. Carew, Knight, Master of the caster Controller of the house. Carew, Knight, Warden of the caster Controller of the house. Carew, Knight, Warden of the caster Controller of the house to the King, Captaine of the cothe Controller of the cothe cothe King, Captaine of the cothe Controller of the cothe cothe Controller of the cothe cothe Controller of the cothe cothe King, Captaine of the cothe cothe Controller of the cothe cot	fe Edward the fixt, King of England, France, and Ireland, Supreame Lord of the Garter: by him the femen following, were admitted into the faid Order. I Henry the second, king of France. Henry Orey, Marquesse Dorfet, after Duke of Susfolke. Henry Neuil, Earle of Westmerland. Edward Stanley, Earle of Darby. Franci Hissings, Earle of Huntington. William Herbert, Earle of Fembroke. Thomas West, Baron of Sudely. Thomas West, Baron of Cobbam. Edward Baron Climton, Admiral of England, and after created Earle of Lincolne. William Paget, Baron of Beaudsert. Thomas Darcy, Baron of Chiche. Andrew Sutton, (alias Dudley.) Knight. Mary, Queen of England, France and Ireland, and Supreame Lady of the Order of the Garter, the semen (for orders sake) the other Knights beeing dead, were preferred into their places.
Ireland.	wint-Leger, Knight, Deputy of P, Knight, Captaine of Guynes	Elizabeth of famous memorie, Queene of England, France, and Ire- land, Supreame Lady of the most no- ble Order of the Gatter, chose into that Order, these men following.

na	p.24. Including of	r the Garter. 54
	Maximillian the Emperor, King of Bohemia, and	Henry Brooke, Baron Cobban.
	Hungary. 1,68.	Thomas Cecill, Baron of Burghly.
	Charles the ninth, King of France. 1564	Henry Sidney, Knight, Prefident of the
	Himry the third, King of France. 1,84	Marches of Wales.
	Fredericke, King of Denmarke.	Christopher Hatton, Knight, Lord Chi-
	Adolph, Duke of Holfatia. \\ 1560	cellor of England.
	John Cafsimere, Count-Palatine of Rhine, and	Francis Knolles Knight, Treafurer of the Co
	Duke of Banaria. 1579	house,
	Francis Mentismorency, Duke. 1572	Henry Lea, Knight, Keeper of the Armory.
	Thomas Howard, Duke of Norfolke. 2
i	Fredericke, Duke of Wittenberge. 2559.
	William Parre, Marques of Northampton
	Thomas Percie, Earle of Northumberland. 1563	Iames the first, of Great Britis
	George Talbot, Earle of Shrewsbury. 1561	France, and Ireland, Supreance Lord of the
	The state of the s	ter : by him thefe men following, were adm
	William Summerset, Earle of Worcester. 1574	into the faide Order.
	Henry Manners, Earle of Rutland. 11559
	Henry Hastings, Earle of Huntington. 1570
	Ambrose Sutton (alias Dudley) Earle of War-	Hristiern, fourth of that name, King
	wicke. 1563	of Denmarke.
	Francis Ruffell, Earle of Bedford. 1564	Harry, eldeft Son to King James, Prince 21
	Henry Herbert, Earle of Penbroke. 1574	of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, & Earle
	Robert Sutton (alias Dudley) Earle of Leicester.	of Chester.
	15,19	Charles Duke of Torke, second Son to the K
	Walter Deuereux, Earle of Esfex. 1572	Maiefty, after Prince of Great Britaine. 1
	Edward Manners, Earle of Rutland. 1584	Fredericke, Prince Elector Palatine of
	Henry Radcliffe, Earle of Suffex. 1586	the Rhine.
	Robert Deuercux, Earle of Effex. 1588.	Graue Morris, after Prince of Orenge.
	Gilbert Talbet, Earle of Shrewsbury. ?	Lewes, Duke of Lennox, Earle of Rich-
	George Clifford Earle of Cumberlind. $1592	mond.
	Hary Percy, Earle of Northumberland. 31593.	Henry Wriothefly, Earle of Southampton.
	Edward Summer fet, Earle of Worcester. 51593.	Ishn Ereskin, Earle of Mar.
	Robert Radcliff, Earle of Suffex. 1599	William Herbert , Earle of Penbroke, after
	William Stanley, Earle of Darby. 1601	Lord Chamberlaine vnto the Kings
	Arthur Grey, Baron of Milton. 1572	Maiesty.
	Charles Howard, Baron of Effingham, and Ad-	Fredericke, Duke of Wittenberge, installed 1
	mirall of England, 1575. after Earle of Not-	but elected in the yeare, 1 597.
	tingham.	Vlricke, Duke of Alfatia.
	Edmund Burges, Baron Chandoys. 1572	Henry Howard, Earle of Northampton. I
	Henry Cary, Baron of Hunsdon. 1561	Robert Cecill, Earle of Salisbury, after
	William Cecill, Baron of Burghley.	Lordhigh-Treasurer of England.
	William Brooke, Baron of Cobham. $1584	Thomas Howard, Viscount Bindon.
	H:nry Scroope, Baron of Bolton.	George Hume, Earle of Dunbarre.
	Thomas Sackuill, Baron of Buckburft, after Earle	Philip Herbert, Earle of Montgomery. 5 1
	of Dorfet, and Lord High-Treasurer of Eng-	Philip Howard, Earle of Arundell.
	land. 15+7	Robert Carre, Viscount Rochester, after 11
	Thomas, Baron de Burgh. 1593.	Earle of Somerset.
	Edmund,Baron Sheffeild. 1593	Thomas Ereskin, Viscount Fenton.
	Thomas Howard, Baron Howard of Walden, 1597	William Baron Knolles de grayes, Treasu-
	after Earle of Suffolke, and Lord Chamber-	ror of the Kings house, after Viscount
	laine to the Kings Maiesty, also Lord high-	Wallingford.
	Treasurer of England.	Francis, Earle of Rutland.
	George Cary, Baron de Hunfdon, Lord Chamber-	George Villers, after Viscount Villers, Earl
	laine to Queene Elizabeth. 1497	and Marquelle of Buckingham.
	Charles Blount, Baron Monttoy, 1597. after Earle	Robert Sidney, Viscount Lyle, after Earle
	of Denonshire.	of Lescester.
)	Aaa T

The Knights of the Garter.

4	Hem y Staney, Kinght, Prendent of the
34	Marches of Wales. Christopher Hatten Knight, Lord Chiю	The state of the s
	cellor of England.
ıd	Francis Knolles Knight, Treafurer of the Cucens
9	houfe. 1593.
2	Henry Les, Knight, Keeper of the Armory. 1,97
9.
	1 00 00
3	Iames the first, of Great Britizine,
I	France, and Ireland, Supreance Lord of the Gar-
4	ter: by him thefe men following, were admitted
4	into the saide Order.
v
9
0	O Builliam Count - Color - Tri
r-	CHristiern, fourth of that name, Kingto
3	of Denmarke.
4	H.nry, eldeft Son to King James, Prince 21603.
4	of water, Duke of Cornwall, & Earle
r.	of Chester.
9	Charles Duke of Torke, second Son to the Kings
2	Maielty, after Prince of Great Britaine, 1611
4	Fredericke, Prince Elector Palatine of
6	the Rhine.
3.	Graue Morris, after Prince of Orence.
•	Lewes, Duke of Lennow, Earle of Rich-
2	mond.
	Henry Wriothesly, Earle of Southampton.
3.
_
9	William Herbert, Earle of Penbroke, after
1	Lord Chamberlaine vnto the Kings
2	Maicfly.
-	Fredericke, Duke of Wittenberge, installed 1604.
t-	but elected in the years, 1597.
	Viricke, Duke of Alfatia.
2	Henry Howard, Earle of Northampton. 1605.
I	Robert Cecill, Earle of Salubury, after Lordhigh-Treasurer of England. $1606.
4	Thomas Howard, Viscount Bindon.
•	George Hume Farle of Dunhanna
lc	Philip Herbert, Earle of Montgomery. $ 1608.
	Philip Howard, Earle of Arundell.
3- 7	Robert Carre, Viscount Rochester, after 1611.
	Earle of Somerset.
3•
3	Thomas Ereskin, Viscount Fenton.
7	William Baron Knolles de grayes, Treasu-
r-	ror of the Kings house, after Viscount 1615

THE

Maximillian

that Order, these men following.

THE PERORATION, OR EPILOGVE OF THE WHOLE VVORKE, concluded this Treatife of Nobilitic Politicke, Datine, and Natine, as breefely as I could, and the greatnesse & dignity of the subject would permit. First generally; as applyed to the Customes of Countries, whereto the same is tide; then particularly exemplified, by the Rites and Ceremonies in vie among our felues. Wherein, if seeking to adorne the magnificence of fo flately a Theame, with eloquence of words, and beauty of flyle, as it felfe doth deferue, I feeme to have failed, I must plead for my selfe, as a plaine meaning man, that fometimes through zeale and denotion to the Church, undertooke to carue an Image, representing the Dei-ty and greatnesse of his God, out of trembling and feare, was forced to crane ayde of skilfuller workmen, hauing nothing to excuse the weaknesse of his wit, and expiate withall, the horror of his worke, but pious simplicity. Euen such is my case: For I willingly confesse, that being doubtfull of my felfe when I tooke this Taske in hand, yet my hope and comfort was, that howfocuer I might erre, and heerein bewray my skill, my faults proning veniall, I might gine occasion, to stir vp riper wits, to further the perfection of this rude and rough-hewd-worke, and Whetston like at leaft, to fet and sharpen others.

If now by the fight and view hecreof, (fuch as it is) any like to take the paines

Hus have I at last | shape, to the substance; & from the shaddow, to the body, to wade any further; the Volume now fucceeding, afwell of all the Persons, as their atchieuements of honour, marriages, alliances, and defcents, that ever this Monarchy hath invested &: ennobled with the titles and degrees of Political Nobility, from the Earles voward. (Vice-Contes and Barons make a Volume of themselues) digested into Catalogues, will further declare.

A worke, though not so perfect as the time may make it proue, for at the beginning, what thing was cuer fo? (Without pride be it (poken) of extraordinary fludy, care, and industry. Wherein, if onely for the publike, I have thus emploied my felse, and done my best endeauour, To acribes one hegegathefetai. Let no ma take occafion to taxe me of double diligence, much leffe of affectation, felfe-love, or flattery, that propounding thus a Pilgrimage pretended to bee generall, I have fpent my whole denotion on the Samts of Great Brittaine. I was to fit my mould to the matter already framed, and therto wholly bending and deuiting with my felfe, I aymed withall, in fecret to redeeme fo faire a fubicat (fublifting enery where on theciall Lawes and Rites) from the wandring Ideas of discoursing Philosophers, and contemplatine Divines to her owne proper Station, and peculiar Customes, that others elfe-where defirous of the like, I might seeme rather to give, then to stay their good example.

It remaines then now, to make good my first division into Celestiall, Morall, from the Meathe, to the blade; from the and Politicall Nobility, that I lay downe tituale (vango Garterus) generals & literis mainfailis aurit. HOMI SOLT OVI MAL Y PENSE des plaine demonstration and comparing of their Essences mutually together, the world may fee, how cuen this of Great

Heret profectio Comen sutrerfum veri, Que extatar voial-Lante Doctions. Nam, curregul Conterecta censemus.Ni merfus al 0 2 un et tomes cords ?

Piety.

Boct.lib. 1.3

Probity. Grace,

Pugencia. Eugenes.

Ingenuitie,

Generofity.

Christianity

Ciuility.

Brittaine (which heere I call Ours) is of it selfe absolutely, the most affured Patterne, and best ordered of all others. By Gods eternall providence, it is fo fore-ordayned, that for ornament and fafety of humane life and Nature, we fee and feele daily, some steppes as it were of divine intelligence, and feeds of Morall vertue, ftill foftered vp within vs, euen in this lower world. Est Deus in Nobis azitante calescimus Illo. That (divine intelligence) by heavenly inspiration, doth teach vs to know God, and moues vs to ferue him with all holinesse of soule, and religious observation. This (vertuous disposition) by an in-bred ingennity, becomes the Mother of this our Positive Nobility. For, as these two still joyned together, first open the way by steps and degrees (though by diners paffages) to come to Kingly Grace, and Soueraigne Eudochyst, Datiuely; fo Ex 1 menuis funt Eugenein Eugenes, from inbred Ingenuity, men first become Geselfe-same Nobility Natively. For as godlinesse or piety, by diuine inspiration, and in-bred Ingenuity, by vertues infufion, makes vulgar men exempted, and fo honeftly respected about their fellowes, that nothing may difgrace them, but iniquity and herefie, yeelding matter and occasion to this kinde of Nobility that Subjects obtaine from Soueraine grace & fauour, Datiuely: Euen fo, where grace becomes so fixed in the person of any, that nothing can remove it but Death or high-treason; it begets generosity by descending to posterity, Natively. So that, as to be gloriously happy in the world to come, by dinine inspiration from God to man, by the name of picty, proceeds from Christianity imputatinely. And as to be honourably effeemed before God and but properly at home, for feruices performan, for inbred ingenuity, by the name of med in the Church and Common-weals. probity, proceeds from civility infufinely; gar fort, by the name of Generofity, pro- earth, or ennobled at the least, receive it ceeds from grace, Mediate or Immediate first or last from God, & his Lieutenants, respectively al worthily ennobled in their whose infusive grace and greatnesse, are the dignity of each by themselves, that by | becomes aswell Nobilis (which wee call a gentleman, and the French found Gentil- Nobility. homme) as the Emperor himselfe, saying; Gentlin. Foy * de Gentilhomme. And Me voicy Gentilhomme auffy bien que le Roy. Though in prihaps why English and in French, the word it felfe in England feeme ftraightened. For we call no man our Nost, men, firm the Noble, but from the Baron vpward, wher Boson p. Nobilis in Latine, includes the meanest ward in Gentleman, aswell as Lords and others. point of bo. The names of Kings, Princes, Dukes, to no other Marquesses, Earles, Vice-Counts & Ba- by laying oathes,dica rons,&c. beeing titles of preheminence, their hands to distinguish the celebrity of each mans breastype, place & function, for orderly precedence. reft vpon Thus then, though none become Chri-their honoen ftians by the rules of piety, carnally; and our inbred-ingenuity, proceed not from our Parents by the rules of probity, naturally; yet a Gentleman, one may be both reputed, and so called by the lawes of celerity, alias Cheualry, alias Heraldry, euen for humanity, and honest conversation civilly, and so become ennobled in himfelfe and his posterity Politically. For. "Est aliquid clarus Magnorüsblendor Auorü "Illud posteritas amula calcar habet.

And as to be a Christian, is the glory Glory. nerous, which also leades them on in the of all Nobility, and to be an honest man, Honour. is of it felfe most honourable: so to bee aduanced by the eve of Soueraigne Maicfty, with fuch Enfignes of Nobility, as demonstrate his celebrity in himselfe and his posterity, is properly most Noble; Noble Armes being in this respect ordayned to Armes. limit Families, as proper names do men. Whereby (this) flands diftinguished fro the other (two.)

For the first, from religious imputation, Gloticus. being hid fro the world, makes Christians only glorious by faith, with God in heaue. The second, from vertuous infusion, makes honefty most honorable, & vertue still admired by good works among men. And this third, from absolute affection in Soueraigne loue and grace, makes fubiects rife ennobled respectively abroad,

Now, all that have the happineffe to be Ennobled fo to be lawfully exempted from the vul- glorified in heaven, or honoured vppon feuerallkindes and places: whereby the 'the grounds of all our credits.

meanest Subject being thus made happy, The first, by Diumes, beeing religiously being morally disputed, like Twins of one birth or confin-germans at least, by piery and probity in a heattenly kinde of kindred, makes mortall men immortall, and by fame to live for ever. But the third, which this Treatise hath begot, or gladly would restore; being meere possitive with Kings, within their kingdomes, and Orphantlike committed to their care and speciall trust depends upon their wils, their Rites it is we fee fuch Rankes of Nobility, fuch feuerall names of dignities, and titles of honor, bestowed upon Subjects for Piety and Probity, conspicuous in the world by Soueraigne grace and fauour. Who at first, being but meane, and of slender beginnings, become at last extolled to places of renowne, from the foot-stoole, aduanced to the type and top of honour, & the fame like ebbes and floods, with time againe decline. These kindes of Nobility thus seueral-ly laide open, and by a three-fold disposition made apt to be divided, are not (notwithflanding) fo at oddes within themfelues, that their Natures and their Effences admit no reconcilement, or may not be vnited in one Person altogether. For the first, being celestiall, and meer-Notelliny Theological ly dinine, admits no worldly vanity, whose Soueraigne is God, and whose Robes of perfection wee shall then put on your vs. when wee come to bee presented before Christ our King in Heauen. This is our more proper to the kinde. cheefest glory, our fummum bonum, and highest blisse, whereto who strines to rife, and hopes to attaine, must worke it out by faith, and lay his foundation on the true Christian-Catholique and Apostolique-Religion: without which, euch Vertue her felte, with all her Morall Leffons. auailes vs nothing, as pointing onely to this end, aymes at this happinefie, but obtaines it neuer.

Nobility Phidophicall.

And they that being heere conversant with me on carth, have their mindes fo cleare and enlightened from aboue, that fore-feeing this end, they bend themselues thereto, and by a prudent care and constancy, still ayming at Instice, seeke onely the good of the Church and Commonwealth. These (I say) by their vertues nium and Modell of the reft, the most 110once confrienous, become for enerfamous, and worthily honoured with that nourably-Noble Order of knights of the

taught, and the second by Philosophers, | kinde of Nobility, which Philosophers fo.

magnific and extollymothe world. Now, these also at length being noted by their names, and made knowne to So- Nobility Poueraigne Kings (that as Gods with God-Almighty rule heere the earth in common) are by them ennobled; first Datinely, with that Nobility, which descending to potterity, by right of inheritance, is Native of it felte, and in all places subject to peculiar Customes. From whence it and Country Customes. From whence comes to passe, that seeing Honesty, the height and type of honour, and vertue the way that leads vs thereunto; wee admire more Nobility Danine, being truely derined and raifed for it felfe then that which is Natine, and descended from other, as whose person first for vertues take, being for it felfe beloued, becomes with all illuftrious, and layes the foundation of happineffe in others, Nam Genus de Pronnes. & Que non fecimus Ipfi : vix es nostra vo co. For though in Nobility Politike and Civill, Generofity by antiquity, feeme to be respected; and to be borne a Lord, be more Noble, then so to be created; yet is it not so honourable, though farre more Honorable. generous. For Vertue of her felfe being Generous, enery way magnificent, first honours the Father then dignifies the Sonne, & magnifies posterity, which by the Grecians is more fignificantly fpoken, and better vn-

derstood, by their Eugeneia and genaion Eugenela. applying this to Ingenuity, which belongs

vnto the minde; and that vnto Celebrity

This then at the laft, is that Celeftiall, Morall, and Politick Nobility, that at first I propounded: whereof, when Dinines in their Sermons feeme to freake, and Philotophers by discourses goe about to dispute, they demonstrate nothing but Allegoricall idem, and immaginary fliaddowes, the inbitance whereof, wee must hope to finde in Heauen; when as heere cuen on earth for the good & furtherance both of Church and Common wealth, it is cherished and dignified at the hands of Soueraigne Kings, and as fitteft for grave Councellors placed next vnto the feluce, or Modellor whereof this rude Treatife containes the lathree kinds truefl patterne that the world affoords and one Order namely, The Nobility of this Menarchy of of the known Great-Brittaine, And therein as Instar Om- of the Gatter.

Garter: there

there being nothing found recorded, for | Lands, sencelesse and transitory, that nev-Religion, in thew more befeering a christian; for Vertue more Heroicall; nor for Poilicy, more affured, then this Religioully most Honourable and most Noble Society. For whereas all other of like institution, by growing ouer-vulgar, are become the leffe effected; or prouing elfe but icle, are at all hands neglected onely This is still so well supplyed with the Flower of true Nobility, that euer fresh and fpringing, by vearcly thowes and lufters, it difinifieth the beholders with greater admiration, then the best words of my Pen are able to viter.

546

For heere, all behold Maiesty herselfe, betweene Greatnesse and Decorum, defeend from her Throne, to walke & talke kindely with her owne Nobility; and Nobility it selfe betweene Honour and Reuerence, ascending on the Seate of her own Soucraigne Maiesty.

Heere the Religion of our Church, the Wifedome of our State, and the Nobuitty of our Court, admiring Kingly Maicfty, meere all in one rogether.

And heere our King with his Prince. our Prince with his Pecres, and our Pecres with their Worthies, meete and march together in one Bond of Loue, in one Order of Chualry, for mutuall defence both of Church and Common-wealth, aniazing the beholders with the stately fight and view of one personall Maiefty, in one fellowship of Honour, and one body of vustained and true Nobility.

Heere therefore to conclude, as the fittest place to end this weake and flender Treatife. If that which hath beene faide, descrues to be regarded (as Truth sayes it should) why do the Soucraignes and Monarchs of the world, then wrong themsclues in their Greatnesse and Authority. giuing way to proud violence, and prophane intrusion, wherby Popes haue put downe Emperors, & Cardinals presume to compare themselues with Kings? For whereas they alone by speciall Commission and Preheminence of place, and Vncommunicable power, and Prerogative of Grace, are made the Moderators of the vertuous endeaours, and onely Creators of all Titles of Honour, belonging to their Subjects, they fuffer Nobility to be tied, as it were against her owne Nature, to Fees, Houses, Caliles, Cities, and ther infuse Religion, nor administer Inflice, nor encrease ryther in their prophane Possessors, nor make vulgar Tenants more honest, or more noble. For Ornanda potius est Dignitate Domus quam ex Domo Dignitas vicung, querenda, neg, a Domo Dominus fed a Domino Domis est vbiuis honestanda.

And thus having ended in the best fort I could, if I were to yeeld a reason of all that I have done, in a word, it should bee thus: The glory of God, and my Countries honour, to whom all stand indebted in all that we are, or can bee of our felues. Allegiance & Service to my Soueraigne, and his Nobility, and affection by Alliance, to the memory of mine Vnckle and deceassed Friend, were the Motiues only moued mee to take this worke in hand.

Hauing therefore now both offered vp, and thus paide all my vowes: mine Enthousiasme compels mee to salute his bleffed Genius, that by louing of Nobility, so hartily & so well, thus happily made happy, liues ennobled now in Heauen.

Quodena prima fides visa est tentasse, nec vitra Quasi tia prima fate vija epi emajje, spec vira in Patrica emplere decu for Bata fanchart:
ECCO via exegi, softrom pigusu Amarum,
Quada vi ilia dies, que iam tibi corpori urubram
Aduluti, paceti faculum dimi defigura aui:
Partic tames metiore tui, fuper alia petermis Quaque patet domitis Britanna potentia Terris, Dotta per ora virum perque omnia secula viues, Si quid babet grati Generosa propugo virorum.

What thou didft once attempt, our Countries worth to flow, But couldft not bring to paffe, the Fates for flade thy hand; Loe here, I have performed that Afflibou toou may know, Which enuy shall not cate, nor withering age with stand.

And though the day be paff, that bath thy Soule remov'd From hence; and bodies mortall fhape be parcel cleane away, And threats the like to me. yet that I cuer low!, (I meane thy better part) I hope, I shall againe enjoy.

And now, as far as Brittifh power, by Fame it felfe is rais'd, Or raming Sword, or by the helpe of any learned Pen, Thy name shall line, and Thou by future ages prais'd, If Honour dwell in Noble blood, or Honouly with Men,

(Efficient, as without which it hath no) For, and du-Regula iuris. Being, namely, foueraigne Endocky, | ring life only | For, as to infamie & or Grace and Fauor, without which, basenelle, the Gates as it could not subfift, so is it not of dignitie are never loft, but onlie by Lefe-Maiestie, high-Or made fet open: fo Honor Treason. Therefore, from the soue once bestowed by raigne, as from the fountaine, it is foueraigne grace, is deriued both Datiue & Natiue, and Hereditarie, not to be detracted is bestowed. either | & fuecessue to the Parties thane. eVertue, that of her Militarily, Which albeit they become difelf is conspicuously or, Materiall, or the Subminuhed and noted. All Nobilifpent, yet is not iect, wherof foueraigns ty political. Nobilitie withall create nobilitie, to wit, Fortune, or habilitie Fees, or In loft or extinct, u derined, to fulfaine Nobilitie, heritance of that of her Na-Namely, Goods. trie. and best knowne by the causes. | Creater caled Nobles Trudary by Dukes. | Dukes. | Letters parents, or write of four n for to the Parliament, wiz. | Earles Vioe. Counts. | Bartons, | Earles Vioe. Counts. | Formall, as how (Immediately) men become | by the Souclawfully digni- raigne, In England fied according nobility is to rites and ce-Or, diftingniremonies, and Leffer mad: by \ Knights. Bannetet. fhed into Commission, or without Let- Efquires. peculiar cuftos Batcheller. of Countries | Mediately by ters patents. cither | Committion Gentlemen. Finall, to what end, Service done, and to be done, to the King, and to be done, to Common NOBILITY political is a Dignitic bestowed by Soueraigne Grace, upon Persons of Vertue or ability, for life, or for euer, whereby a Man exempted and raised by Degrees, becomes lawfully preferred about the vulgar People, the better to doe service to the King and Commonwealth.

Est, aliquid clarus Magnorum splendor Auorum, Illud Posteritas amula calcar habet.

The

* A River

which divides

Nathone (16

Liguria.

ning our of Apannin us, &

parting Lieu

na from He-

The figuatio

of the cittle

Geneway.

truria.

SIXT BOOKE.

OF THE GOVERNEMENT

and Administration of Iustice, observed in the Common-wealth of Gennes or Geneway.

CHAP. I.

He people of Li guria are contained betwixt the Riuers of "Varus & *Macra, along the Sca-coast. & the downefall of the Apenines. Of all which country, the city Gennes or Geneway (most noble for antiquity and power) hath(for the larger part of time) held the rule and Soueraignty because both for buildings, as alfoin nobilitie of actions, and in respect of valiantmen, it hath enermore beene very notable among all the rest of former times. This Cittie gracing the South with hearbs, beauteous lookes, is most prowdly built vpon the Sca-coast, and hath her backe vpon the North, at the foote of a mountaine; even as if the were descended downe the mount, and come to repose her selfe vppon a Plaine, the mountaine remaining on her backe part to defend the citie from the furious North. It is not altogether plaine nor mountainous, but participateth both of the one and other giring about the compaffe of fixe miles, fo faire and goodly as can be defired.

And because concerning her Antiqui-Concerning tie, we can not deliuer any thing certaine the antiquite of General, (in regarde fome doe maintaine, that it and by whom was built by Genoua or Iuno, the daughter of Saturne; others, by Genuinus, the companion of Phaeton; and some by Innus, who was faid to be Noah) it shall be fufficient therefore to fay, that it was accounted a citty two hundred and ninetie yeares before the comming of Christ on the earth, as manifestly appeareth (fetting afide Titus Linius in the Decade of his eight Booke) by a Table of Braffe, found (no long time fince) in the Valley Abrascuble of Pozzenera, and placed in the Church found in the of Saint Laurence: whereon is engranen zeuena, in auncient Letters , That in the Confulthip of Lucius Cecilius, and of Quintus Manilius, Indges were fent from the Senate of Rome, to discide the variance betweene the Vitturi, and the people of Geneway, concerning the neare neighbouring valley. And because as well the fententiall execution, as the gaole delinerie of prisoners, which were in respect of that strife maintained, was to succeede and follow in Generaly: therefore we may heereby comprehend, that the City (vntill that time) confifled upon some other confiderations.

Now,

Now, this to noble Cittie, in former times held a great estate, and was posfessed of many Countries in the East parts: and now it is very powerfull by Sea in all respects sometimes seruing the the Duke of Millsine, fometimes the king of France, euer being traueled with much busines, either in regard of being an illustrous and famous Cittie, or because it is the paffage, and (euen as it were)the gate for going from the mountaines into Italy. Whereupon some conceine and are perswaded, that it was called Janua, as a Gate for Italie, and not Ianua of Ianus, who was old father Noah. But let it be in maner howfocuer, the men of this nation are industrious, enermore attentine to merchandize, whereby they attaine vnto great wealth, and as with other people it fareth, euen fo amongest them, there is alwayes great plenty of money, because no one prinate man, but very many more beside, haue made paffage of five hundred thoufand ducats, euen after the best valuation.

And yet these men so great and wealthie, beeing molested by some parcialities, which divers times have endange-The readnes red Italie, are now, and so have beene for notifical no small time, ready with their weapons in hand, expulfing now one familie, and foone after another, from the State; and now the Nobles gaining superioritie, afterward the popular fort; one fide fauoring the A lorni, another the Fregofi, and at legth reduced (by the benefit of prince Andrea Doria) to the present libertie which they now enjoy. For Geneway being in the power of the French, and Doria departing from service to the King of France, to whom hee was Admirall : at one and the felfe fame time, deliucred both himfelfe and Countrey from feruilitie to the King of Fraunce, and questionlesse with vinconquerable corage. For he might have impatronifed and pofferfed himfelfe of the whole State, beeing entreated and euen (as it were) confirained by his friends, that he would vouchfafe to take the commaund of them : but he rather affected (fetting afide all ambition) to reflore them to their former freedome, with fo much glory to him in future ages, as fo rare an example in him did juilly merit : whereto (perhaps) hee might be the rather incited, by the enuic

he bare to Christopher Columbus, because, | Andrea Do. if he opened to modern people the other the honour of part of the world, which had for fo many Christopher veares beene that vp from all other : 10 Columbus, this other (with wel gouerned thoughts) ring of his fpurning at all appetite of dominion, Countries limight open to his owne Citizens (with bette. their libertie) the State fo long lockt vp, by the difford of their owne opinions. Wherefore, deservedly the Generatyes A Statue ere-erected a Statue to his perpetuall glorie, etcl in honor and the memorable renowne of his im-mortall actions: as for his immente gift by his worthy industrie, was done to Columbus, by the Princes of Spaine. Geneway thus receiving in anno 1528.

her nouell reformation; entred upon the fame forme of government which it now maintaineth. A description was then An observation made, and therein set downe all the Fa- on made conmilies of account, as well noble as populer ben Families lar, appearing as descended of fixe hou- in Geneway, fes in Geneway : and the reckoning grew defined of the fo, that in Geneway there were found 28. and amounting to eight Families . All the rest remaining out of and twentie. this account, and yet were of some confideration, but not derined from those fixe houses; were aggregated and written downe in the aforefaide number of twentie eight families, by the title of Nobilitie, excluding the remainder of the people and Plebeians. And notwithstanding this entrancethus made, there The noblewas an addition to the number of these men more ad Nobles, of tenne persons in like fort ennobled, either for their riches or vertue, of cight and and these were made choice of eneric twente. yeare, applying their paines still fro hand to hand.

With all this prouldence, they could not yet so well prenaile, but in the yeare of our Lord, one thousand fine hundred feauenty and foure, a new tumult arofe in the Common-wealth, and as in the wonted civile differtions : fo a division happened that yeare, betweene two factions, termed olde and new. The principall occasion which moved this contention, was, that the olde fide, being not contented to have the greater part of authoritie in the Common-wealth; die mortally hate the new fide, abhorring & difdaining (albeit that the new fide, both for auncient Nobility, and true vertuous merit, were equall to them in al respects) to joyne in kindred with them. This was

A rew tumult between two

Matheo Sens reen a man of great account and who (at that time) was great Chanamong the Genewayes, ftrining to al-lwage this per cellour, and chiefe Secretarie of the cipall of the new fide more then once, turbation.

> intreated them, affirming, that it was not well, that fuch dinerfitie of interests and prinate respects, should have life in one and the fame City: shewing also by liuely reasons, bow availeable it was to eucry man, and likewise profitable for the State, that all should converse and like most justly to be affected) before any pri-

nate respect whatfocuer, had not bride.

led the head-firong course of intended hostiluie. Wherefore hee wrought so paintully with the Generages themselues,

the Emperour, the King of Spaine, and e. specially with Pope Gregorie the thirteenth, all favoring him with their help-

full affiftance, as the tumults in the Citty

were quieted, and after some few desperate accidents, the furie of Armes was quite blaffed, wherein both the faithful-

neffe of Senarega, and his admirable

wifedome cordently appeared. Hee be-

There are none to viole: as wilfull aged men, when they are grou ded on an ob finate opitio

But the words and euident reasons of Senurego, failing of fufficient efficacie, putfed up the olde fide with greater obftinacie, yet drew a farre better opinion of the new, prougking to farre to defend them, that oftentimes he was in danger of his life among them. For the old fide did great'y enuie, that the authoritie of Senareza thould pearch to fuch a height, that in him onely thould be reposed, the

tion preuailed any Armes or violence against the new by generall finiage polov fide. the olde, by the meanes of red the Common-wealth, if Senarega, Senarega. fore-feeing the weighty perill, and pre-

Ali flirresand tempefluou. tumulte calmly oner-blowing by the di ligentende nours of Sc.

and both of the publike & private Councell; with very fingular Eloquence hee mutually together.

ga, a Citizen of most eminerat authority,

Common-wealth; also had beene prin-

The great Councell.

of Geneway.

recited Families, is congregated a confiling of Councel of four e hundred persons yerely, who together with the Duke and thoritically the Gouernours, have the charge of have. the Common-wealth in their power. This Councell maketh election of the efficacie of the publike and prinate go-Duke, and of the eight Gouernours, uernement. Neuertheleffe, Senarega op-(because the Governours are the just posing their pernicious demonstrations number of eight) and have care of the with wonderfull wisedome, mooued State for two yeares continuance. They especially (as the same went) by a genemannage matters of importance, and concerning generall good, as also for rous disdaine, wrought in such fort, that the new fide affumed the chiefe place in the confernation of the Selgniorie : and The Signoria these Gouernours (with the Duke) are ordoning government, excluding (well-neare) properly called the Signoria. But and if all the olde, conftrayning them to forfake their Countrey, if they attempted they are at any time to handle fome occasions, which are not so important and weightie, but of meaner confide Aleffercoun ration : The Signoria haue a leffer dellot abundered Noble These words would much have stir-Councell in readie feruice, confifting men. of an hundred men of the Nobilitie, ferring the publique good of all (beeing elected by the Signoria by lotterie, and out of the maine bodie of the forefayd

The Duke.

fourchundred.

'He head or chiefe of the Commonwealth is the Duke , because he hath The most er the Title and Honour which appertaine vnto him: and it is an auncient degree in mon wealth, the Citty, whereto by varietic of times, and the substitute of times, and the substitute of times. divers persons have attained, but not by hit years. any course of Lawe. He continueth for two yeares, and in all that time of his au-

infinitely displeasing to Mattheo Senare- | ing appointed (by vniuerfall consent) Ambaffadour to Rome, with infinite prouidence and care (to the honour of the Common-wealth, and his owne great reputation) discreete qualified both factions, already growne to such a head on either fide, both by power and maleuolence; as not onely threatned danger to the Countrey it selfe, but likewise to haue filled all Italy with innumerable calamities and confusions; whereof the Pope (by his Breues) delinered most honourable testimonie, writing the acti- A Talebe. ons of Senarega to the * Doye, as alfo to to the Dukes

the Procurators of the Commonwealth of Venice and

ERom the whole bodie of the before- A Councell

Chap.1. Of the Common-wealth of Geneway. 551 thority, he dwelleth in the publique Pal-lace, having five hundred high Germaines as his Guard, reprefenting heerein the forme of an absolute Soueraignetie. At the beginning of the affumption of his magistracie, for two dayes hee is clothed in his Ducall ornaments: but afterward, and the whole confistence of his regiment, hee weareth other habites.

but yet of Veluet or crimfon Sattin, and fometime purple. His authoritie is very any other, may propound what cause he wil in Councel and in the Senate, which is forbidden vnto any other Senatour.

Whereupon, whofoeuer would record

any Lawe to the Common-wealth, or

elle propound a motion of some impor-

The manner of the Dukes elections is of the passed Duke; because hee hauing

ended his Office of two yeares returned

the first day of lanuary home to his own house as a prinate person, and remaineth

a Procurator all his life time. The leffer

Councell with the Senate, doe elect among them (by ballot) eight and twenty

Noblemen, one for each Familie, who

to foone as they are chosen, are called into the Pallace, and there thut yppe in a

Dikes autho meconfile important, because hee onely, and not sbrue all o-

tant matter, he must break it to the duke, and paffe it by his meanes. arribe Duke thus: The third day of the moneth of retelled on Ianuary, the Senate doth affemble with the leffer Councell, without the person place by themselues, and there, together with those Senatours, who eyther in regard of age, or by contumacie of the Families are not capable of the dukedome: they elect eighteene men amongst themfelues, one for a Familie; and those eighteene, together with the fame Senatours, do elect another eight and twentie, which eight and twentie are called, and beging lockt vp with the aforefayde heh eache Senatours, they proceede by ballotting them that are to bee propounded to the Councell to be Duke. But heere you must know, that they may propound no more to the great Councell, but foure perfons onelie, and in the election of that number, it is necessarie, that the eight and twentie doe agree in two third paris among themselves, with the part of the aforefaide Senatours. This being agreed between them, before they come forth of the Confistoric, they elect another eight and twenty, one for each Family, who returne together with them, from ballotting the aforefaid foure. And they rife from their Election with the two thirds, and put in place of him or them (not formerly appropued) one or more, but of the number of the Senate: which being done, the Councell meete together, and they propound the names of the foure men concluded on and elecled by the Electors : whereupon, hee of side addite the foure that hath the most ballots, is of Genewa . named for Duke. And at the time when I wrote this difcourse in that honourable degree of Duke, was chosen the most cur-man, for goodnesse of life, and practife Of the eight Governours.

teous and famous Lord, Paulo Baptista

Caluo, sometime a Judge, a most worthy

in the worlds occasions.

THere sit vpon the Bench (with the Duke) eight Gouernors, as his councellers, and their Office doth endure for Benchwith two yeares: and they, with the duke are the Duke. named the Signoria, and gouerne the Common-wealth. All these together cannot deliberate on any thing, wherein the interest of the people is concerned, or of any chiefe important business but they call for the ayde of the Great Councell. These Gouernors are elected by two at a time, at fixe and fixe months;

and their elections made in this manner. The leffer Councell and the Duke being affembled together, they elect eight and twenty men, one for enery Familie, unnours are who beeing chofen by the Senate and chofen by the Duke, doe propound fometimes twelve, Duke and tel fometimes foureteene men to the great Councell; who (by ballotting) do make election of one of them at a time. The next day following, they observe the fame order in electing the fecond, to wit, the leffer Councell do elect another eight and twenty, and that eight and twenty performe the rest as both beene faid. Enery one of the eight Gouernors ending his office, remayneth Procurator or Atturney for two yeares space : fo that in the Colledge of the Proctors, there are alwayes eight, that thand for the gouernement of the Common-wealth; 8.Procurators and all these come into the Senate with alwayes athitthe duke, and with the eight Gouernors, ing the Con-delibera-

The Proftor

con the lie

higheit digni

is an O acet

Two luiges

more as his affultants.

tic ot al.

Chap. 1.

nadefmen &

fuch as deale

inall profet-

guarde & de

ence of the

Cittie, and

heirready

preparation

ters; and thus with these Gouernours & the Duke confisteth the whole summe of the State. Two of them have abiding in the Pallace, the other keepe at their owne houses; and they change by turnes two at a time, at three months, and three

Of the Procorators or Proctors.

Oncerning these Proctors, some of them living, doe come to be in the Office of Dake, and some doe remaine in charge but two yeares, and they are fuch as have beene Governours. They have care for procuring all publike occafions, collecting the rents and reuenues, and other such like businesse; being men of chiefe reputation, and of no meane importance.

Of the Potestate or Prostor.

A L the forenamed Magistrats, do on-lie attend upon the gouernement of the Common-wealth. Next now, con-The Potestate | cerning matters of Iustice and Iudgechofen abread ment (fpeaking first of criminall causes) and not of the they are guided and ordered in common by a forraine Potestate, who is a doctor, and they graunt him an honourable ftipend. He hath his residence in a Pallace, which is neare to the Dukes, and he heareth and judgeth all offences happening; but can affigne no capitall punishment, without confent of the Senate. Two other Doctors, being strangers also, doe affith him, whereof the one is called the ludge of Malefactours, and the other Fiscallor Atturney generall: and by the ayde of these two ludges, all processe and fuites are formed against guiky perfons, dealing also in cases of like nature. Beside these afore-named, the Potestate hath his Vicar, who attendeth vpon Ciuile causes, onely executive.

Of the extraordinarie Office.

THere is an Office of seauen men, cal-led Extraordinarie, and these do reorefent (as it were) the Princes person. ecante he is bufied in administration of the Common wealth. Their care confiffeth, in reforming and proronging of deliberating together on important mat | variances, and granting tutors to Schollers. And because contention is forbidden betweene Parents and Parents, and betweene poore and rich by ordination: these men doe appoynt what magistrate they meete, to heare offending parent and kindred, as also the strifes betweene poore and rich. Their Office continueth the space of sixe months, and is of much dignitic.

Of the fine (upreme Sindicators.

Here is also a Magistracie, wherein Such as trie are fine men, called supreame Sundicators, They have authority to arraigne, of higher to not onely the Duke, but the Gouernors mineral for alfo, after the expiration of their charge: and they have the like power over all other magistrates of the Commonwealth, to punish both the Duke and Gouernours, finding them to bee delinquent.

And when the Duke is out of his Office, and that the Gouernours havefulfilled their magistracie; a Proclamation is published by these Supreame Sindicators, That if any man haue ought to charge the Duke withall, or the Gouernors, let them appeare in their presence, and lustice shall be done them. In which respect, the Duke and Gouernours have eight dayes affigned them for this scin-The Duke and dication; which beeing past, and they Gouerned found in errour, they are punished : but haue eight being innocent, they have a Pattent af dyelor ber figned them of their innocencie, whereby they are after called to be Proctours; because they cannot enter as Proctours, except they have the Pattent from those Supreamemen, to allow their expedition. Finally, the greatnesse of this Office is fuch, that the Common-wealth elected for one of these Supreame Scindicators, the Prince Andrea Doria, the deliuerer of his Countrey. They are elected by the leffer Councell, with the Senate, and fit in the Pallace next to the Senate, for their respect.

Of the Rota.

BEcause wee have formerly spoken of other Doctors and let us say through the same of the s formewhat concerning citale causes. pointed took Wherein ye are to know, that the Com- fure in could mon-wealth doe make choice of fine dotors, forraignes or strangers, at euery 2. yeares, which bodie of authoritie is called Rota . These men attend vpon Civile causes onely, and dwell in the Dukes pallace : Al fuch matters as they confure on, are guided by ordinarie course of the Imperial Lawes, forming their Processe and fuite, according to the indiciarie order appointed for the Cittie, which is after the auncient maner.

Of the Cenfors.

JOw, as concerning Arts, Trades and Mysteries, Censors are appoynted to that charge. These men do prouide, that buyers, fellers, and all fuch as trafficke in handi-crafts, shall have measures, weights, and all things elfe to them belonging, iuft, and according to the auncient Lawes. And here we are to obserue, that enery Art hath chiefe or head men, who are called Confulles, which make eeury under lection of Artists amongst them . These Confulles have authoritie in the matters of their Artes, and amongst these Confulls, fuch as deale in filks, may command much ouer their men : fo that their power extendeth, to put them to the halter, to banish them, and perforce send them to the Gallies, or to give other ca-

Of forty Captaines.

stigations to delinquents.

IN the Cittie of Geneway there are forty Captaines, of the number and bodie of the Nobilitie, and they are changed eucry yeare. These men haue under them an hundred men (for one) of the people, fo that they make (in all) foure thousand persons, and the Common-wealth is ferued by them at all occasions. For they make a guarde in time of the least suspition; and when the Signoria is abroad, thefe fortie Captaines (bearing them company) are all clothed in Veluet, goodly and honourable ornaments, meete to attend on to great Lords. Moreouer, all men in the Citty, and the whole Burrough, that are apt to carrie Armes, are registred downe, from the age of twentie, to three fcore, and are reduced under the gonernment of those Captains, who (with them) fland alwayes obliged to be readily armed with weapons in hand, according to the auncient cuffome ordained.

Of the Generall.

T'He Common-wealth hath continually a Generall, who is appoynted for Armes, to ferue in all occurrences, and in times of warre. At this instant it enioyeth (well deferring fuch a degree, and to the fatisfaction of all the Nobili tie, much pleafing to the whole hoaft of Souldiers, and vniuerfall liking of the Augustino Spi people) the Lord Asquestino Spinola, a nota Genemost honourable and valiant Gentleman ratof the Gentleman neway torces. of that Citty, full of incomparable bountie and knowledge, not onely in the occasions of Armes, but for all mannagements of the world belide.

Of the Office of Saint George.

THe Office and Magistracie of Saint At what time George, most noble among all the rest saint George in the Cittie, was ordained in the yeare, beganne. 1407. It is now (by length of time) the confernation of that Common-wealth, which, in those yonger dayes had not any naturall riches or wealth, fitting the qualitie of such a Country: yet notwith standing, it wanted not men of quicke and apprehenfine indgement, to find out the way, and forme some means for procuring of moneys, that might arise to common vse : whereupon, they that liued in those auncienter yeares, and gouerned the publique occations, tooke vp Provision for moneys of particular persons, some by somey alconstraint, others with much willingnes. waves in bank for the catties And true it is, that in this money matter, vie. fuch prinate perfons as disburfed any fumnies, the publique vie payed them, tenne, nine, eight and seauen in the hundred, according to the varietie of times, to the end, that they might not fuffer any endammaging , by fuch feruice as they did for publique benefit.

Proceeding in this course, it made men willing, ready and cautelous, in fee king fecurity for their moneys, dayly put into the publique Banque, by felling to fome (as for example) the power and in rifdiction of toll for meates, to others , Great flockes the imposts of wines, and to others the otrome autaxations layd on corne. And thefe contracts madeboth in publique and parti- poorelogincular, was tearmed among them Bargai. | ning. ning and Buying, as when particular men bought any thing of the common fort, or in generall.

And

Seaten men termed Extraor Image: O ficers, & who their charge

The begin ning of tra-Jing and So cie i sinGene way, onely by cae Banquers hat lent out moneis to yfe

554

disburfed an hundred pounds, hee was faid to hold one place among the buyers : he that disburfed two hundred, had two places; and hee for three hundred, three, it could be at the beginning. and fo it paffed from hand to hand. So that this kinde of commerce and viance | Banquers, they are not fo determinate multiplied greatly, and had names of diuers ordinations; as of the Capitoll, of Saint Paule, and others of their profession, by dealing in Salt, and diuers other belide, whole Titles and Names grew by their trading, and helde correspondencie particularly among the best Cittizens, having care for inft payments, and the dues of the profites, with confideration of the Banquer, who alwayes ordered the contracts made publiquely or prinately. Heerenpon, the number of dealers dayly encreasing, both by forraigne Nations and home-bred friends, which required divertitie of Governours and Ouer-feers, and which elfe would grow to great confusion : it was therefore ordered by the Signoria, that all the Banquers should bee reduced and united into one absolute Societie, and named the Company of Saint George. Beeing thus ordained, they were also

Light gouerappoynted to bee gonerned by eight Cicers of the tizens from yeare to yeare, who provi-Baugger, both ter ka ding and al lowinces.

ded and gaue order, how the Banquers flould let out their fummes, and receive in their interests and allowances, whereby they held the eminencie in the Office of Saint George . And in regard they perceyned, that this Office gouerned thefe matters with wifedome and inflice, bufineffe dayly encreasing, and the number of places supplyed by new persons : alienation of profits grew among the Commons, and the charge of the Office euery way to be greater, by reason of lands and communities interested with them, fo that the Office attained to many priniledges : first, by the Signoria of Geneway, and afterward of many Popes, Emperors and great Lordes, which came to dominion in the Citty: So that the Office of Saint George, although it depended on the common people, as also the Signoria of Generaly : yet all that came to the gonemement or Seigneurie of the Cutie, were faorne to conferue the Priniledges of the Magiffracie of Saint George, and to maintaine it. And because (naturally)

And it was ordained, that who focuer things take original of weake beginnings, and to in processe of time attayne to perfection: even fo did this magisterial Office, being much better ruled now, then

First, in answering the profites to all nor certayne, as at the originall : but yet Thebega. according to the proportion of former affairts med allowances, leffe or more, and according helpentine vinto expences for the confernation of by the face, things of especiall care, and according to at ameto to the fruitfulnesse of tolles and taxati- true integer. ons, beside divers other benefites, affigned by the Commons to the Banquers: they are farre more fecure, and more neately qualified, concerning mens con-

Moreover, this place hath obtayned Seigneury and dominion by many good and fufficient allowances, which it could not have at the beginning. Beside, eucrie way are made new rules and orders, whereby there is farre better expedition of Causes, for the punishing of delin quents, and fubmission of the people to gouernement.

And who focuer docth confider the Two Concess high account of this Magistracie, shall internate incompand stude the body of the Cittie; thereby to howshever containe in it selfe two communities, the goutened. one great, the other leffe. The great is gouerned by the Pallace, and comprehendeth all the Citty; the leffer is gouerned by Saint George onely, as concerning the occasions before remembred. and comprehendeth all the Banquers and changers.

The first Communitie, or the greater, is subject to variation, and is many times under regiment, rather to bee tearmed Tyrannicall then otherwise: but the leffer is alwayes free, firme, an I vnder the Anote well Cittizens. And certainely, which is a wonth the differention. matter admirable, and rarely found, eyther by Philosophers or others, that have discoursed on causes concerning Common-weales, to obserue: that within the circuite of one and the fame wall, and all at a time, there should be tyrannic and liberty, life civile and corrupt, juffice and licence.

Of eight Protectors of the Office of Saint George.

Oncerning this Office of S. George, there are eight men appoynted to gouerneit, who are called Protectours. They continue for a yeare, and are eleared every fix months foure times, by the whole number of the Banquers, or Cre ditors for lands, & Creditors for letting forth certain fums, after this manner. A. mong the whole number of Citty Creditors, by lot are chosen 80 men, who meeting together soone after their election, they make a furuey among al those toure fcore, and felect out of them foure and twenty by balotting, who being thut vp in a roome by themselues: they may not funder or depart, till they have ballot. ted for the eight Protectors, and in this ballotterie, fixeteene ballots doe confirme the election.

In the yeare 1444, an other Office

Another Of oure and for tic, being cho irn out of a thouland,

Chap.2.

be manner

of electing the

dors of Saint

was made of Saint George, confilling of men, which was then called the Officeoffoure and fortie, in regard of a thoufand, out of which number they were created. The occasion of creating these eight men, was, that being the space of thirty feuen yeres, the Office fo encreafed and augmented that the eight Prote-Aors could not (in a whole yeare)terminate nor restrain the butie occasions happening, whereby the emoluments and interells of some creditors arose to great, and other moneys in dinerfe manners: it was thought fit (for fetting downe good order to fuch Remaines, which were (in effect) the riches and substance of the office) that a necessary participation of the gaines should be digested, for the creation of fuch as should helpe in this prouident care, for generall villitie of the Office of Saint George, and yet to be carried infecret manner, for taking away all occasion of tyranny. And so eight Cittizens were chosen; of which two are changed yearely t and they take charge of collecting and governing fuch over pluffes as do arife yearely, by the managements of the eight Protectors,

This Office hath vnder protection the Isle of Corfica, and many other Citties and important places; and thence enfueth the expences layd out for their conferna-

CHAP. II.

An excellent Relation, concerning the estate of Religion and Common wealth, which was observed among the Lewes.

T is not to bee doubted, but by the fingular councell of our eternall God, the Father of our Lord Iefus Chrift, who created mankinde, whereby

a Church might bee affembled and congregated: a perpetual! historie concerning the creation of things, was given to

And although that the Philosopher Democritus, and others like to him , drca- Democrine med of an eternitie of a former world, or dreating of else of innumerable worlds, and made a soft innumerable worlds. mockerie at the beginning of things, and Jable worlds thought fuch a recitall to be buttabulous: yet notwithstanding wee holde them to be most true, considering, that Almightie GOD appropued the Writings of Moles by apparant testimonies, as by the rayling vp of the dead and others.

Now, a beit wee receive the auncient Historie of the Church, and fingularly allow it for the Dinine authorities : larly allow it for the Dinine authorities: The suncient yet there are many more Eurocences of Inflorie of the trueth besides; for, the auncient names Church. of people, doe agree with the fuccession of the Pathers that related them, and the order of Empires bath bene fuch, as they were foretold to be, and to thould be in their forceeding times.

The Prophetical Historie then is the Therrophetitruest, and the most auncient of all o- cal Historic ther; and the reason of that continued the most and Historie, was, not onelie to let vs know | mod ancient, the beginning of mankinde; but much more to notific vnto vs, the Promiles of the Sonne of God, and to give vs certainety of the first, and no way to be corrupted doctrine of God, and of the reflifications to oftentimes rendred to other by that doctrine, what the governe-

Bbb 2

ment of the Church hath beene; for it

The daily in creating of the Office of Saint George

udas or Ioia

leufalem &

Profund the

b'affings of

God vpon his

556

was preferued in the dinerfitie of tumults, amongst Empires, like to a Shippe floating vppon raging and tempestuous billowes, what the battailes of the Church have beene, and the exercises of Faith.

that hee gaue a certayne feating vnto his Church, euen as an Academie, for more then fixeteene hundred yeares in a commodious place, betweene two most potent Kingdomes of Egypt and Babylon, the voyce of his doctrine might be heard. the Miracles adjusted, which are witnesbe informed by true doctrine, in the conflicts of the Church, and her manifold reconeries.

Concerning the inflerence la ter times.

Propheticall haltonie reached to the

The Cherch

Now, it was a great bleffing of God, to the end, that throughout them both There the Promises were repeated, and fes of the presence of God: whose will was to have those things set downe in writing, to the end that Posteritie might

And although nothing is found in writing by publike authority, touching the last times; yet notwithstanding, our Lord was carefull to have the latter Historic knowne, which hath beene declared partly by Isephus, and partly by Philo, whereof I have made a collection, because the more studious might enjoy a continuall Historie of the Icwish people, cuen to the destruction of Ierufalem. And it pleafed God, that a continued fuccesse of histories should remaine to men: for feeing that Prophetical histories reached fo farre as the reigne of the Persians, or to King Cyrus; the Greeke and Latine hiflories afterward, reported the great mutime of C reat tations of the following Empires, which King of Perfia alfo was feconded after by the Apostles writings, concerning the Sonne of God, borne of the Virgine Marie, crucified and raifed againe; and after the Apostles, En. (chius, Epiphanius, and Nicephorus purlued in the Ecclefiafticall Hiftory. Wherein I make no doubt, but all fuch as are well advised, will confesse, that the knowledge of the order of Times is necessarie, to vinderstand when the Doctrine was reuealed, the Sonne of God manifefled, ftormes; and yet (after all)gracionfly delinered. Wherefore, let vs give thankes | ancient. to God, for bestowing on men the conpily diameted / timined Hiftoric of his Sonne; and let vs keepe fuch Writings religiously: wherein having taken fome paines, I hope it will proue pleasing to all Christian Rea-

The beginning of the Catalogue is the continuation of fourraigne Sacrificers, or high-Priests that gouerned the Iewish people, after their returne from Babylon, with the princes issued of the race

The first Familie being the Posteritie of Icfus.

CHAP. 111.

A Catalogue of the High-Priests; or foueraigne Sacrificers, beginning with Seraia and his fonne lofedech.

of lofedech, came backe into Indea with to lofedech the Prince Zorobabell, fine hundred and thirtie yeares before the Natinitie of Christ. He lined under the Kings of Perfia, Cyrus, Cambyfes, Darius the fonne of Hystaffes, Xerxes, cuen to the twentieth yeare of Artaxerxes, Long-hand, and prefided (as chiefe Prieft) first fixe and thirty yeares. Afterward, in regarde that the building of the Temple was hindered, he went into Babylon to Darius, the fonne of of Hyslages, whom the Holy Historic nameth Anafhuerus, and was absent the space of eight yeares. After his returne hee was twenty yeares more in the highthe Church congregated in diuers kinds, Priefthood. Philo is of opinion, that he fometimes agreated by temperations wrote the Historic of Indith, which others (neuertheleffe) holde to be more

The Sonne of Lefus was Isachim.

Oschim helde the Priest-hoode eight yeeres, in the absence of his brother, and eight and fortie veres after his death. Heelined under Long band, and Darius the Battard, untill the twelfth yeare of Artaxernes Abafbuerus, who was also named Mnemon; hee did fet downe in writing the Hiftorie of Hister, and the memorie of Phurim was by him instituted, as Philo writeth.

ElisCh the fon Eliafib was his fonne, who was in Office of the Soucraigne Priest-hoode one and twentic yeares, vntill the foure and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Artaxer-

> Indus or Ioiada sonne to him, was hic-Priest foure and twenty yeares; vntill the third yeare of the reigne of Darius, who fucceeded next to Mnemon, Ishn and Isfus were his fonnes, the latter whereof beeing fiered with ambition, infinuated himfelfe (by the power of giftes) into the fauour of Vocefes, Satrape of Persia, to take (by his helpe) the chiefe Priest-hood from his Brother: But immediately hee payed the penaltie due vnto his wicked prefumption; for in a debate and blowes being moued in the temple, he was flaine by his brother. Heere was the beginning of the cuills in Indea, about an hundred, fixtie and feauen yeares, after the returne from Babylan.

John having murdered his brother tefus in the Temple, was the cause of bringing the people into a miferable feruitude. For, the Satrape Vogefes being advertised of the death of his friend le/111, entited with a mightic Armic into terusalem, prophaned and pilled the Temple, faying, That he might afwell doe fo, as the high-Prieft to foyle it with the blood of his owne Brother : he collected the tribute money rigoroufly for the space of seaten yeares together, proceeding therein to farre, as forcing the lewes to pay an hundred crownes of the Sonne, for enery beaft that they facrificed. Iohn held the high-Prieft hood foure and twenty yeares, even ynto the death of Ochue, and the beginning of the reigne of Arfanes.

His Sonnes were taddus and Mana//es.

Manufes following the example of k-ladder and Minates ions to them, to threngthen himselfe against to tehn. balat the Chuttean, fent Satrape by the last Darius into Samaria, and tooke to wife his daughter Nicoffa. But in regard of this valawfull marriage, hee was repulfed from the Sacerdotall Office, with diuerfe others for the same caute. Beeing bereft of the Priesthoode, hee made his recourse to his Father in lawe in Samaria, who after he had obtayned leave of Alexander the Great; builded a new Temple vppon an high mountayne in Samaria called Garizim, thaping it after A newTemple the forme and magnificence of that at boot on anoti-Ierufakem, and there hee cauted his fonne Samana.

Mana//es to prefide. This diuftion of High Pricits, was afterwards the cause of great tumults in Index; for, as all they which were ex- Great Britis pelled from Irrufalem, for transgressing and contents the Ceremonies of Alofes Lawe, as allo the two Isan for some other offences, betooke them- ples. felues to this new Temple : in a thore time after, they grewe to fuch an head and strength, that inciting those Sacrificers, Apoflates and Samaritans against the lewes: it likewife gane occation to many riotous courfes and theeneries on cither fide. Nothing was found by pofferitie of this Manaffes: but two hundred yeares after, the Temple on this Mount of Garizim was deffroyed from the toppe to the bottome, by Ishn Hireanus, fonne vnto Simon the Afmonean, and Succeffor

Liddus administred the hie-Priesthood for feauen and twentie yeares, under Arfanes, and the latter Daries, even to the time of Alexander the Great. He de-Italiandepti prived his brother Atanafes (and the ret.) methodies of the right of Priefthood; because (con fet the Pacit trary to the Law of Almightic God) they hold. had married with thrange women. V. hile Alexander the Great belieged the Cittle of Tyre, heedemaunded aide and tribute the author of of this Laklas, fuch as the Towes had for- toddisto A merly payed to the Pertians. Whereto I Sander the he returned antwer, That in the life time ling ande and of Darius (to whom hee tooke his oath) where. ВЬЬз

The

Alexander

with all lub-

Alexanders

his dreame.

milion.

A Catalogue of the High-Priests. 6. Booke

he neuer acknowledged any other Lord, because that the lewith Nation had been tubutaric to the Kings of Persia, almost euer fince their returne from Babylon. Alexander growing angrie at fuch an anfwere; after the taking in of Tyre and Gaza, mounted up to lerusalem with his Armies, intending to subjugate the lewes by strength of Armes. But Iadd:ss beeing thereof admonished in a dreame, tooke his Priestlie garments, and went to meete him in great humilitie, accompanied with all Iaddus meetes the Sacrificers and Citizens. Alexander beholding the Soueraigne high Priest, alighted on his feete, and gaue vnto him reverend adoration. Being demaunded what should mooue him to reuerence an enemie, that came with submissing entreatie vnto him : hee replyed : At the time of my abiding in Macedon, and thinking on the Empire of Asia. aman was presented to mee in my sleepe, in the same or like habite as the High Priest weares, who perswaded mee to undertake the expedition of Afia, and gaue mee good hope of profperous [uccelle. When hee was entred the Cittie, he was so farre from offering the least talte of an enemy, that, after hee had facrificed, he adorned the Temple with magnificent giftes, and at his departing hee gaue them libertic to vie the Lawe of their Fore-fathers, and the immunities of the featenth yeare, wherein the fields were not fowne.

> The sonnes of laddus were Onias and Manalles.

phew to like

Oncerning Manayes, weeken Oncerning Manasses, wee reade not Manaffer Ne. next to his Nephew Eleazar, and was a friend to Seleucus Gallinicus, and that vnder his gouernement, the Samaritanes being displeased at the Iewes in despight of the Temple, and feruices there performed, they put to fire and fword the whole territory of Ierufalem. Some are of opinion, that this man was not the brother to Omas, but rather the brother vnto his wife, and make thereabout fome contronerfie.

A Catalogue of the High Priest's Onias called the Amcient.

IN this mans time, Ptolomie, the fonne of Lagus, defiring to make the people of the lewes become tributarie; as hee entred vpon a Sabaoth day into the Cit- The cruelis tie of Ierusalem, to offer Sacrifice (the against the Iewes not daring to take Arms, for feare leves. of doing contrary to the Law) vsed great cruelty against the Inhabitants, of whom he led away into Egypt some thousands,

The Sonnes of Onias were Simon

as captines and hoftages.

and Eleazar. CImon was named Iustus, for pietic and Denignitie towards his Nation. The Iewes enjoyed peace under him, all the Simonfim while as the Successours of Alexander med lutus the great, Antigonus, Demetrius, Seleucus to his name and the rest, tought in Asia and Greece for the Monarchie.

Eleazar succeeded after his brother Simon, as Tutor to Onias the fecond, being as yet a childe. In his time, Ptolomie Philadelphus enfranchifed aboue an hundred thousand Iewish slaues, led into Eexpt, partly by the Kings of Verfia, partly Anhundred by his father Ptolomie the fonne of Lagus. An mundred thoulandless Moreouer, he fent Ambaffadors with Leptinflancy magnificent Prefents to Eleazar the high by Prosume Prieft, requesting to have threefcore and Philadelphia, twelue lewes, that could translate the Writings of Moses and the Prophets, out of the Hebrew language into the Greeke. Which being done, hee fent them backe agayne with great giftes, and a Table of golde dedicated to the Temple, and other Presents of especiall value. His vnckle Manasses succeeded after his death; vnckle by the mother only, according to fome: for the Greeke word fignifieth vncle both by father and mother.

Simon had three fonnes; Tobias, whom Philo and Saint Luke in his third chapter The Jonnes calleth Mattathias; lofeph, that pacified of Smoon, and Ptolomie. And Annas Hyrcanus, the last also. Prince of the Iewish people, of the Linage of Iuda, and house of David: who flew himfelfe, for feare of Antiochin the Noble.

After this man, the high Priefts drew vnto themselves the governing in all af-

The daughter of Simon the high

A Catalogue of the High-Priests. Chap. 3.

Priest, was married to Tobias, of the house | tweene the Prince of the high-Priests, and of Danid.

Onius being left a childe by his Father, at luft, in his agefucceeded to Manaffes in the High-Priest-hood. By his auarice he offended Ptolomy, King of Egipt, and raifed him in rage against the lewes, because heerefused to pay the ordinary tribute. For the high-Priests were wont to pay their reuennues yearely to the Kings of Egipt, for their Cittizens, amounting to twenty Talents, that is, twelve thoufand crownes of the Sunne. But Isleph afterward appealed Ptolomy, who was Nephew to Onias by the Sifters fide, a Prince of the posterity of Danid.

Onias succeeded his sonne Simon.

Philo faith, that he was firnamed Inst me. Vnder him, Iesus the Sonne of Syrach wrote his Book called Ecclesiasticus. And that Simon had three fonnes allo, who (each after other) obtayned the Priefthood, which lofephus tellifieth apparant-The Sonnes of Simon, were,

sigb in Antiq b.1 s.cap. 16

Oniss com-

He'indorge nthe wealth Onias. Iefus, otherwife called lafon. Onias, alfo called Atenelans.

The great Onias is commended in the fecond Booke of the Machabees, for his piety and inflice, and is faide, that hee was a friend to Seleuchus, Brother to Antiochus the Noble; who fornetimes furnithed all necessary affaires in the Temple, with the renennues of the Realme of Syria. But afterward, another man, called Simon, who had the charge of keeping the Temple, having conceyned malice against O

miss the high-Pricit; reported to King Seleuchus, that there was an infinite maffe of gold hidden in the Temple, which the Priefls applyed to their own prinate vies. And this was the canfe, that the king wold no longer fureifh the Temple with the wonted monyes; but also fent Heliodorus, to make feizure on the wealth, and commit it to the Kings Treafury. But as hee would have addactionally have entered (with his followers) into the fecret place of the Temple, he was fmitten downer & very neere dead, yet reconcred agains by dininemercy, and by the prayers of O-

Afterward, the diffeord to encreafed be-the Tranor Simon; that many murders were committed by the friends of Somen: which made Onias to retire himfelfe towards the King Seleucies, and gaue way to ochus as much as his Brother; ducit not go to hi n, but went to a free place, neere

the fury of his enemies. But before Onias could get thether, Seleuchus was dead, lafon getteth and Isfon, Brother to Onices, had obtained Priefs Office by bribes and gifts to Antiochies the No- frem his lito. ble (fucceeding the deceaffed King) the ther Onis, administration of the high-Priests office. Whereupon, Onias doubting King Anti-to Daphne, a city of Syria, & being drawne thether by deceitful meanes, was also Themurder flaine by Andronicis, Lieutenant to the officer Oni-King, and at the request of Atenelaus, who as. Is on having expulsed, possessed himselse

559

The Sonne of this Onias the Great. was Onias.

shall be declared.

of the high Priests Office, as hecreafter

Onias beeing left young at his Fathers death, and afterward growing to more ripenesse of yeares; standing in teare of Oniastlych Alcinus the high-Prieft, he fled into Egipt Prolony Phito Ptolomy Philometor, accompanied with Jonesor.

fome of his fellow citrizens. There Ptolomy gaue him permission, to builde a Towns and a Temple, in the Territory of Heliopolis, in refemblance of that at Inufalem; which was called Onion, fine great miles from Atempha, now called the great Cayro. For in regard that Ptolomy waged warre with Antiochus the Noble, & flood in need of his neighbours fuccors, he was The building perswaded by Omas to build a Temple, of a new tem as if by that meanes, all the people of the Plein Egipt.

lem were ruined sit was also despoyled of all her Icwels, and that up by Edict from Pelbalian the Emperor. The Sonnes of this Onias, dwelling in Fgipt, were Helebias and Ananias.

leves would league with the Kings of Egipt, & take their part. About 230. yeares

after this Temple was built, at the fame

time as the Citty and Temple of Ierufa-

Thefe two Brethren, beeing Colonels of the Teiptians Army , ascied valuantly three Com-Cleapatra; to that her Sonne Lathuria be- manders of ing excluded, the obtayned the kingdom, the Egyptians

Tho two bre-

The High-

pought tor

Prieff: Office

cos. Lalence

Infon is juftly

requited for treachery : o

his brother

Onias.

6. Booke

But after that Ptolomy had recollected his forces, and passing into Enipt through Iudea; Helebias putting him to flight with his Army, died in Syria of a sharpe disease. For the rest, wee reade nothing of the posterity of the high-Priests of Egipt.

lesis, named lason also, second Sonne to Sinson, after the death of Seleuchus, bought of Antiochus, brother and fucceffor to Seleuchus, the high-priesthood, for fine hundred Talents, that is to fay, three Tunnes of gold, as wee speake vulgarly; promifing him befide as an ouer-plus, forty eight thousand crownes of the Sun, as an annuall tribute. And to gaine himfelfe more grace with this wicked King, he builded places in Ierusalem, for the exercifing of young people, in fuch pastimes as he had inflittited, and these were to bee performed, at fuch times as the people vfed to meete in the Temple. He received and magnificently entertained Antiochus ment of king | Epiphanes with his Army, with Lamps and flaming fires, & fongs composed in praise emerchasias to Jerulalem. of the King: and this was at loch time as the King departing thence, planted Garrifons of firength in the Fortreffes of lerulalem, and this was but a beginning to the intollerable feruitude which afterward followed.

> Infon having enjoyed the high-Priesthood three yeares, fent his Brother Menelaw with gold and great charge to Antiochus: but now hee prooued to be payed with coyne of the fame stampe, as before he had done to his brother Onias; for by the fame crafty contriuing, Menelaus fet him quite befice the Priefthood. And Iafon standing now in scarc of Menelaus. with-drew into the land of the Ammonits, where he closely concealed himselfe, vntil a falle rumour ran abroad, that Antiochus entring Egipt, dyed. Thefe newes fo cheered up his drooping spirits, that being accompanied with a thouland men in arms, he intruded upon the Citty, where being fanoured by the inhabitants, for the rapines and cruckies committed by Menelans, he flew many of Antiochus his fection, and compelled Menelaus to faue himfelle in the Syrians Garnsons kept in the

But hearing the returne of Antiochus som the Land of Empt, and loting all hope of the Priefflood, agains he repred-

not now be received, it inding in feare of Antiochus, who was neere at hand with his army. Expulsed also (for the same reason) by Aret.is, King of Arabia, out of his marches, and having no accesse into Egipt, & laftly, forfaken of all; he paffed by Sea to the Lacedemonians, among whom hee was Themilesis concerned in kindred: and yet, as a inft and writhed end of Island punishment for his ambition, he dyed very poorely in banishment.

Onias, named Menelaus alfo, the third Sonne of Simon, according to Tofephus (albeit in the fecond Booke of the Maccha- 2 Marcha) bees he is not faid to be the Sonne of Si capa, monthe High-Priest, but brother to one Simon, of the Tribe of Beniamin, who had charge of the Temple, as we faide before in speaking of Onias) beeing sent to King Antiochus the Noble, by Ialon, Prince of the facrificing Pricits, with money and commission about important affayres; did fo cunningly infinuate himfelfe, into the Menelus ha good grace of the King and his Courti-tunning who ers, that by promifing three hundred Ta-theking and lents (which is an hundred and fourfcore Counters, thousand crownes of the Sun) more then all that which Iason payed, and accusing him of divers crimes befide; he prevailed fo farre, that the Soueraigne Priesthood was taken from Jason, and conferred on him in his stead.

This dignity thus obtayned, he purfued the same impicties as Infon did, in the customes and manners of the Pagans, & farre exceeding him in rapines and cruelties. For at the entring into his gouernment, to make himfelfe the furer of foill- Menelan gotten honour; he flew Onices, eldeft Son more wided then his liter to Simon his brother, as lofephus affirmes, the thom who being exiled, kept close in a franchifed place neere Dapline, a Towne in Syria; there hee caused him to bee murdered by Andronicus (Gouernour of Caelofyria) by fraud and treafon, and for which offence, Andronicus was fentenced with death by the King.

Afterward, being vnable to fornish the great payment of money heehad promifed to the King; he folde many veffels of critedgeally gold, which he had concretly floing out of a bleahabe the Temple: which facrifedge comming Temple, and yet cancilor to be knowne, great mutinies were mo- away by or ued among the people. At length, Mene- inprior. law was accused and continued by three Ambaffadors fent from Jerufalem to Tyre. an ong the Ammonites, of whom he could | But by the meanes of a Courner, named Ptolemy

A Catalogue of the High-Priests. Chap.3.

Ptolomy (foundly corrupted with money) | nie: which treasure had bin partly given hee was abfolued and the King pacified, prenailing withall fo farre, that his accufers were executed for calumniators : and he returning backe to Ierufalem, began againe to tyrannize ouer the Cittizens.

Much about this time, for the space of forty dayes, there appeared in the Heauens, hoafts or bands of men, fighting both on horsebacke and foote: which prodigious fignes, prognofficated the horrible calamities which foone after were to follow. For as Antiochus was leading his Army (the fecond time) into Egipt, purpofing to viorpe the Country by open warre feeing he could not do it vnder colour of Guardianship, because Ptolomy Philometor (his Nephew) was yet but young : Isfon rushed into the Citty with his Army, againg to repulse his brother from the Priefillood, ouer-comming a great number of the Inhabitants, that tooke part with Antiochus and Menelaus. Who finding his strength too feeble, fled to the Fortrelles and Garrisons of the Syrians, dispatching messengers vnto Antiochus for better ayde.

And now Antiochus being vrged thereto by the rigorous command of the Romanes, and delinered by Popilius; left Egipt, comming thence in a raging madnes, fearing a further repolt of the lewith Nation. Having brought his Army beforethe Citty, hee found the Gates fall thut, and the inhabitants ready to defend themselves. Whereat being vexed he forced into the Citty without any great difficulty: because Menelans with his faction, and the Syrian Garifons ran vp and downe in the Citty, and put to the Sword many Cittizens, and giving entrance to the enemy at the Gates. Being entred, Antiochus charged his people to kill all that they met with in Armes, and not to spare eyther age or fexe: fo that within three dayes space, fourescore thousand men (or thereabout) were flaine in terufalen, befide diners thoufands ledde away captines, and fold for flanes.

beste lera

A pictifull

folde into the

The King, conducted by Atenelius, entredicto the most holy part of the Temple, touching with his polluted hands the facied Veffels, which he caused to be car ried thence into Syria, with a thoufand, eight hundred talents of treafure, as much to fay as eleuen Tuns of gold of our mo-

to the Temple, and partly was put there in trust for the benefite of widdowes and orphanes, as into the onely furest place both for renerence and functity. So, after both for renerence and functity. 30, and Menchus reAntiochus had restored Menchus to the Menchus rehigh-Priesthood againe, and had planted high Priest firong Garifons in the Citty (wher of Phis- land aga no, lip of Phrygia was Captaine, a man very and Catton bloody and cruell) hee returned backe to planted in the Antioche again with his great booty. Two City. yeares after, fearing a renolt of the terres, he fent the Colonell Appolenius to Ierufalem, with two and twenty thousand men, who expressed no countenance of an enemy, but encamped without the Citty, attending for the Sabboth day, and then giving the determined fignall, hee flew & maffacred the vnarmed multitude, that came foorth to behold the Campe of the Syrians. Then entring violently into the Citry, hee put all to the edge of the fiverd that withflood him, robbing, spoyling, & burning it in many places, throwing downe the walles and fortifications : yet rampairing the Walles and Bulwarks, in that part called, The Citty of Daniel, and planting there a potent Garifon.

This was a preparatine, to attaine (in time) to the Kings full ayme, who purpofing to turne (perforce) the terrer from the Law of their fore-fathers (a thing which he knew they would withthand to their vttermoft power) first of all he gane order, to disposicife them of Armes and Weapons, leaving them naked of all munitions, fuccour and refiftance. This difcomfiture made by Appalenius in Ierufalem; whereby to foone after the King fent thether Athenewanother of his Colonels, with an efpeciall Edict, whereby he commanded all Nations that were in subjection to him, to vie (in cuery kingdome) the fame Religion which the Greeker did : prohibiting expressely to the teres, the vie of circumcition, & other ordinances commanded them by God. He likewife planted Garrifons aswell in terusalem, as in other Cities and Townes of Indea, to inflict cruell punithment og al them, that did not obtemperate the Kings Edict. Befide the Tem- fent but by ple was prophaned by the Kings Command, and the Image of Jugiter Olympus worthipped in the Sanchuary, even in the Sanstum Sanstorum, and many paillardizes and whoredomes committed

The Citry of Daniante.

The Tewes victefillance n he'pe thê tchies,

A culell Edia Antiochus a Laton frome

encouraged.

and equal

Ly demond .

MAINE.

The Citizens of Icrafalem opposition in their owne defence

within the circuite of the Temple. More- i tle of Soueraigne high Sacrificer, euen ouer, by the same Edic Royall, the holy Bookes were forbidden ingenerall, and that man judged worthy of death, with whom the Booke of the Law should bee found; yea, and feuere inquifition made for it enery Moneth.

As thus the Cittizens of Ierusalem were difarmed, oppreffed, & very firong Garifons planted ouer them: euen fo were durit make no they destitute of any Captain, not daring to vie force or opposition, against the wicked commands and excessive tyran-Menelaus the foueraigne High-Priest, had formerly instituted the behauiorss vsed among Pagans in Ieru/alem, to keepe himfelfe in his dignity, & in the Kings fauour, approuing and affifting all his enterprizessin which respect, many that made vertuous profession of the Law giuen by God, were most inhumanely murdered by the Soldiors of Antiochus, and their goods confilcated. Others (in great number) forfaking the City, and leaving all their goods behinde them, went to hide chemfelues in Caues and defert places, as | w. Mattathias the Asmoned withdrew (accopanied with his children) into the little Village of Modin.

In the fecond Booke of the Macchabees is described the horrible punishing of two women, who were accused to the Lieutenant of Antiocher, that they had circumcifed their children, contrary to the Kings Edict. Whereupon, they were condemned, and (for a terror to other) they were led naked through the streetes of the Citty, their infants ffrangled, hanging at their breafts, and afterward throwne downe from the top of the City wall. There is alfo fet downe, the feuen Brethren & their Mother, tormented with most exquisite tortures; and yet they helde faft the profession of the Law. By which horrible crueltics, judgement may be made, aswell of the extreme rigour of Antiochia, as also the miferable efface of Gods people: of whom, fome reliques were yet referred, by meanes of the Asmoneans, raised up by God, to represe the rage of Antiochus, & to maintaine the Law of God by Armes, as heereafter thall be declared.

In the meane time Menclaus, Author, beholder and promoter of these instidions upon the people; retayned full the ti-

then when Iudas Macchabeus tooke (by power) the Citty and the Temple: he being then hid in the Fortresse, under the protection of the Syrians, vntill that after the death of Antiochus the Noble, his Son Antiochus Eupator, hauing feized on Ierufalem, concluded peace with Iudas Macchabeus, and by the perswasion of Lysias, brought him captine into Syria, as the firebrand of all the warre, and of the ouer- Captine in throwing of the Syrian Armies by the Af- Syin. moneans, and there he was also flaine, after nies of Antiochus: confidering also, that he had held the high-Priesthood twelve yeares. This was the last Sacrificer of The last is the posterity of Aaron, to whom the di- Priesto At uine right appertained, for administration rouspoiling of the Soueraigne Pricithood. For Antiochus Eupator appointed in the place of Menclaus, a certaine man named Alcimus, who might bee of Aarons posterity; but not of the Family of that lefus, who with Zorobabell had returned from Babilon into Alcimufa-Indea. This Alcimus prefided four years, conditions and then dyed of a sudden sicknesse, two hood yeares after the death of Indas Macchabe-

Alcimus being dead, the Temple and the people was featien yeares without a Soueraigne high-Prieft, vntill fuch time as the power of Ionathas encreased, who was the Brother of Indas; when the dignity of the Priesthood was transferred (by consent of the people) into the Family of The Highthe Asmoneans, where it remained follong, Parellina as to the beginning of the Reigne of Hethe Lamity of the Aliance.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the Asmoneans, being the Second Family.

As much to fay, as them of the posterity of Simon to whom the principality as well of the High Priefthood, as alfo of the lewish people being transferred, it continued from the time of Antiochus the Noble, untill the Reigne of Herod.

Simon. John. Mattathias.

THE Sacrificer of the Family of Ioarib of Ierufalem, dwelling in the Village of Modin, did first oppose himselfe against Amiochus the Noble; who by horrible and torments constrained the lemes to transgreffe their Law, and to deale in those behaulours vied among the Pagans; in the hundred, forty and fine yeare of the kingdome of Syria, an hundred fifty and nine yeares after the death of Alexander, and an hundred fixty and fine yeares before the birth of Christ. For Mattathias feeing a certaine Ierr, who (to pleafe the King) facrificed a forbidden beaft vpon a Pagan Altar, it being prohibited by the dinine Law: enflamed with a just and holy zeale (in the presence of the Cittizens of his owne Nation, fuffering fuch a wickedacte to be done, as also of the Kings Lientenant) flew the offender, and then beating downe the Altar, delivered arms to all them, who (making more account of the word given by God, the the threatenings of a Pagan King) had forfaken their goods and lived in the Deferts, fro whence many returning daily; hee levied a great Army, by whose helpe he delineredworthily the neighbouring Townes, from the Idolatries of Antiochus, and replanted the fernice and ordinances commanded by the Law dinine.

But this valiant man, deepely flept in age, atter hee had (for a yeares space) led this banished wandring troope, and after he had exhorted his Sonnes to the fludy of piety, as also the valiant desending of the Law ginen by God, againft the wicked Edicts and torments of Antiochus, reconciling them all to concord and mutuall renerence, dyed peaceably, in the yeare 146.0f the Kingdome of Syria, 160.after the death of Alexander; and 164. before Christ was borne.

Lieazar fir-

out Lange

Chap.4.

lew a lew fo

hankong a

Atattathias had fine Sonnes. Indas, Jonathas, Simon, John, and Eleazar.

Eleazar, otherwise called Amean or duaran, a very hardy young man, after he had performed many valiant deeds in the fift yeare after his Fathers death, going to finde out Antiochus Eupator, Sonne to Antiochin the Noble with his brother Indias the faw (among other) a goodly Elephant. exceeding in greatnesse & rich forniture. Whereby, hee imagining that the King thould be upon him, ran towards him ouer-boldly, and flaying many Soldiours | lem, and very famous for Religion.

euery where about him, got vinder the E-Eleaza thin lephant, and giving a deadly flabbe in his for an his belly, the Elephant feli downe vpon him fenantisting and thereby was the death of Eleazar. John firmamed Gadais, after the death tohn daine of his brother Ind.es, was tent by Ionathes by the . m. and Simon his other brethren into Arabia, mornes. with the lewels & precious things which they had conquered in warre, to place them in the cultody and guard of the Aabatheans: but the Animorites layed ambulles by the way for him, and haning flaine him, tooke also the spoyles away from him and his traine.

which diction in Hebrew is written Aleccabai, wherof each letter fignifieth a word, taken from the Song of Mofes in Execlus, in thefe expresse words: MECAMO Nicimocha CHA BAILEM LEHOVA? That on. is to fav : Who is like wato thee (O Lor.) among the Gods? Indas ving this fentence for his Motto or denice, and making one phrase of the first Letters of the foure words, caused himselfe to bee simumed Macchabens. His father being neere his death, appointed him the cheefe guide & Leader of the poore and miterable mul- links made titude: who had rather endure all affiicli- lead tot the ons whatfocuer, then renounce the doctrine given them by God. Soone after the death of his Pather, he onercame the Army of A polenius, and made vie of his Sword in all the battailes he fought afterward with a final band of menshe vaneuithed the Army of Seren, Gouernour of Syria, who was flaine in the field, and with access to lar lar him 8000 men. These victories obtained Macchabeus, the first yeare, made Indas Macchabens highly renowned. The yeare tollowing, which was the 147, of the Greekes reigne, Antiochus went into Perfic with his Army and left in the kingdome of Syria Lyflas, as Regent and Gouernot to his Son Antiochus Enpator, giving him expresse charge to deflroy the tener. For the execution of which command, Lyfas lent Lyfasmale into Palestine, forry thousand foore, and Conemor of feuen thousand horse, vnder the conduct vour Anii of Ptolomy, Nicanor and Gorgian his Colo land nels, who entred hoffilly with their Armies into Iudea, and encamped before the Village of Emans. Ind. a perceionic perill. led his Army into Majeba, a place (lone agoe) built before the Temple of Terufa-

The horrible punifiment inflicted vpo. two women.

The Afmone am raifed by God to reprefic Anti-

Indus, was firnamed also Macchaliens,

The fmall Army of men that Iudas had with him,

fulfucceffe of

of Judas againft Gods

Lyfias com-

meth with a

against the Macchabees

giuing charge, that by earnest and hearty prayer they should craue of God, that so small a handfull of men (for hee had but three thousand apt for warre with him) might valiantly defend themselves against fo great a power of enemies. Which being done, he removed his Campe, and went directly to confront the hoaft of his aduersaries, and setting upon them in the night season, droue them to flight, & flew three thousand with the Sword. Vpon the fuccesse of this exploite, hee went to feeke the other part of the Army, which was guided by Gorgias, who intended to steale vpon the lewes in the dead time of night. But Gorgias hearing the former defeature, and perceiving the smoake of lighted fires in the Campe of the lewes; fled away in hafte with his forces. So Indas, with fo filly a power of people, enforced the huge hoafts of his enemies vnto flight, and got very great booties from ill fuccesse, being mad with anger, leuied a farre greater power, to make fresh warre vpon the Macchabees. And the yeare following, which was the 148 of the Greekes reigne, himfelfe in person (for hee grew distrustfull of his Captaines) accompanimighty Army ed with threefcore thousand foote, all of them pickt and choien men, & fine thoufand horse, innaded Iudea, by passing thorow Idumea. And as he was encamped in Bethfura, on the Frontiers of Judea, Judas Macchabeus came to meete him with ten thousand men (so much was the number encreased, of them that detested Ethnick Idolatry) and after hee had innoked publikely the ayde of God, hee fought with the enemy.

Lyfins perceiving how couragiously the lewes fought, as men that meerely de-Indas encoun spiled death, breaking surrously through his rankes, his men beginning to turne their backes, and fine thousand of them hewen in peeces; ralliered together his feattered troopes, and led them backe to Antioche, hoping to speede better at another time with a new expedition. Where-Antiochus re- in he was prenented, by the death of Antrochius the Noble, who being repulfed fro informed (by the way) what bad fucceffe the Garrifons made many courfes; killing pulled at his belieding befiedging Perfepolis, as hee led backe his Perfepolis. Army in ill order by Babylon, and beeing arc:h the

great Army

There he publikely commanded a fast, | his Armies had sustained in Index: he fell first into a greenous vexation of spirit, & afterward of body, so that his intestines were smitten with horrible discases. Yet being nothing the milder by this visitation, but rather more vehemently pronoked against the lewes : after his returne, he purposed a speedy iourney to Indea; there to race their Citties, especially Ierusalem, and vtterly to extirpate the Iewish Nation. But as he proceeded on in this violent Theganh refolution, and making too much haste hombers on the way; the Chariot (wherein he lay declared) ficke) was ouerturned, and his body fo bruifed against the ground, also the extremity of his impatience so violent; that his blood jouer-boyled, his entrailes putrified, and his flesh outwardly rotted, yeelding forth a most loathsome and intollerable flinke, fo that in wonderfull torments, he gaue vp the ghoft, acknowledging the dinine vengeance of Heanen. Thus died this most cruell Tyrant, in the 148. yeare of the Greekes reigne; of his owne the 12. Lyfias having intelligence of his mens and the fourth, after those many robberies, as well of the Temple, as the Citty of > Indas Macchabem, much encouraged The return by this fo notable a victory, conducted of ludano his Army to Ierusalem; where he cleansed his purious the Temple, formerly defiled and pro- the Temple phaned by the fernice of Idols, and offered facrifices according to the Law, in the yeare of the Greekes, 148. before Christs Nativity, 1 62. the 25. day of the Moneth of Chiflen, that is to fay, Nonember; the very same day, that (three yeares before) it had beene robbed & prohaned by Antiechus, placing therein Images and Idols. He builded also Sion, and strongly munited Bethfura, that it might ferue as a Fortreffe against the Idumeans.

> Having done this, he kept his Armour Indas went daily on his backe, because he was still af- daily with his fayled by the Idumeans, Ammonites, and o- Armour on ther, who laboured to ouerthrow the power of the lewish Nation, which began to exalt it felfe in fome good meafure. But the brethren of the Macchabees, repelled those infulting Nations worthily, diniding their Armies, & fighting fortunately in many places at a time, yet vfing their victories rudely enough. In the 150. yeare of the Greekes, Judas laide fiedge before the Forts of Ierufalen, which from fuch as would facrifice in the Temple, & | Eupator, and his Gouernour Lyjius Now very much molested the Cittizens. But Antiochus Eupator, being vrged by Mene. law, to fend him aide, for reliefe of them that were belieged in the forts; fent an army into Indea by Lysias, confishing of 10000, foote, and 20000, horse, and besieged Bethsura a long time. In the meane while, Indes beeing aductifed of the Kings comming in person thither, railed his fiege from before the forts, and went to meet the enemy with his Souldiers, of whom he made force flanghters in diners skirmishes . Yet finding himselfe firong forces with Alcimus to tafe proto be oppressed by so over-great a moltitect him returnd back into Syria . While tude, retired into Ierusalem, where being thus Alcimus abused the power and fauor enclosed within the munitions of the of the King, for putting many to death Temple; he endured a long and difficult that were contrary to him : Inder finding untill the King, being certified of Phillips coming, who, voder colour of reducing the Persians under the awe of Epiphanes, fought to possesse himselfe (as the sune went) of the Kingdomes both of Lia accufation against Lidas. and Syria: offred peace to them that were befieged in the Temple, with libertic of living according to the laws of their forefathers. But after that India had brought his garrison out of the Temple, the King this compact being discourred, he entired being amazed at the fortifications , beat into open armes; and being fought withdowne their walls, contrary to the accord all by Indis in plaine battell, was conmade at the Temple, and led Menelaus strained to retire to the fort of Sion. Af-Mendan led the Soueraigne Sacrificer captine away terward, iffuing forth of I.rufal-min great

fiege, enforced (vpon the coming thither of Antiochies, who followed after Lyfi.is) to

So long lafted this flarpe befreging,

play vpon aduantages.

my captine with him (according as we have faide already) influenting Alcimus in his flead, who also was named toachim, and so took his way home againe to Syria.

CHAP. V.

Antiochus and Lyfias are put to death by Demetrius; the wicked behaviour of Alcimus the high-Priest the death of Ind.is, and the succession of his brother Ionathus.

IN the 151. yeare of the Greekes, Demetrius flying from Rome, where hee had bin detained in hoftage, made feizure on the kingdome of Syria: putting to death the fonne of Epiphanes, named Antiochus Alcimus, coucting to recaine full the dig- The greedie nitie of the High-priefthood, conferred defice of Alvpon him by Eupster and Lyfins : went to cimus tertil Demetrius, and there accused all his nati- Priestnood. on (especially the Asmeneans) as Authors of the tumults, and perturbers of the peace of Isdes, & that they had throwne him out in banishment. Heereupon, the

these courses to be intollerable, & taking to heart fo great cruelty in the foueraigne

Sacrificer; vndertoolethe defence of in-

King fent Bacchides with a maine army to Brechidesen. reseate Alcimiu in his office. Being entred lem with his power, by fraude hee Aranic. flew many innocent Citizens, & leaving nocents, putting all them to death that ladas vnder taketh to retooke part with Alcimus. Whereuppon, ucne the

Alcimin fearing the vertue and power of ourses of Indes, fled the fecond time to Demetrius at Antioche, and there formed a criminall

Nicanor then was fent with a puiffant Army, who thought craftily to ferprize Indus Fights

Ind. s, vnder a colour of kind conference, in plane barand fo leade him along to the King. But taile.

inforced his Armie, encountred againe with Nicanor at Bethfura, in which bat- Nicanor flain taile he flew the captaine Nicanor, & dif by Indas in comfitted the whole army, being about the fesonal 9000.men. This hapned the 13.day of the moneth Adar, which is February; and ued, in regard of fuch a notable victorie. After these successefull aduentures Lidas perfwading himfelfe, that Demetras would feek reuenge on the Lewes for this his great ouerthrowsdenifed to throughe his power by the affiftance of ftrangers. Heereupon, hee fent Ambafladors to the

that day was afterward folennely obser-

anger, all his forces affembled together;

hee threatned all the facrificing Priefts

with death and viter destruction of their

Temple, if they did not delinet Indas aline to his hands . But Indes having re-

Romanes, to capitulate vpon confederacy

Iudas craueth ayd and fauor of the Romanes.

Bacchides & Alcimus lent with an Army into Iudea.

The valiant death of Iudas Macchabcus.

Alcimus Or ken with a dycd.

Ionathas folbrother Iudas

with them, requesting (among other par-) treating him to vndertake the defence of ticulars) that the Senate would forbid Demetrius, heereafter to molest and afflict the Iewes. But (as humane fuccors are deceitfull) fo the alliance of the Romanes was more discommodious to the Iewes, then if they had given them no ayde at all: because it made them the more sleepy and negligent, and also was more offensive to the enemy. Whereupon it hapned, that the yeare following being the 152. of the Greekes, Demetrius lent Bacchides and Alcimus with a potent army into Iudea. There Iudas met them with two thousand men onely, and although the most part of the flipt away, and forfooke his company, eyther thorow wearineffe of fo long a war, or fearing the enemies power, or by the practifes of Alcimus: yet notwithstanding he ventred on the Army of Bacchides with eight hundred brane Soldiors, and fighting valiantly, there he dyed with the al, in the fixt yeare after his fathers death, good old Mattathias, and before the Natinity of Christ, 158 yeares.

Theyeare following, which was the 153. of the Grecians Reigne, Alcimus caufed the walles of the inner house of the Temple to be destroyed, which the ancient facrificing Priests had builded : to the ende, that not any munition fould remaine, which might ferue to retreate the aduerfaries to the Kings of Syria. And hardly had they begun to beate it downe, but he was imitten juddenly with a Paliv. and therein furrendred vp his foule : but fudden palfie he had continued dumbe fome long time before; and this was in the fourth yeare of his Pricithood. Ionathus the second Sonne of Mattathias.

Ionathas, or Ionathan, succeeded in the principality to his brother Iudis, and by degree to his this occasion. After the death of Macchabeus, while the lewes (which had embraced the manners and religion of the Pafought for all those well disposed people, that had followed Indas & his Brethren, fending them to Buchides to bee cruelly mutdered; adding also the famine, which greatly encreased, because, during these continuall warres, the fields had bene left without any tillage, fo that the best per-

the poore afflicted, and to imitate therein the vertue and piety of his brother. Ionathas confenting to the, foone after made longthas m head mainly against Bacchides, and hardly derial eth the escaping, retired his Soldiors into the de- Bacchides fert, where Bacchides made no account to purfue them; but fortefied fome Townes. and planted strong Garifons in them, daily to torment the lewes by fallics & courfes. Which being done, he retreated back his Army into Syria, after the death of Alcimus. By which meanes, the Jewes had fome relaxation from warre, for about the space of two yeares, to wit, the 154. and 155.of the Grecians reigne.

In the yeare, 156. Bacchides was againe incited by the apostate lewes, to surprize (by some sudden aduantage) the two brethren of Indas: but the ambushes being reuealed, hee came and openly affaulted them in the Towne of Betheffen. Neuertheleffe, perceiving the Towne to be well Bacchider munited, and the Tewes furnished with all mide a pear fitting matters, as fully refolued to defend themselves valiantly: he made peace with Ionathas, and the captines beeing furrendred on eyther fide, tooke his way backe to Syria, which was the cause that Iudea had sometime of repose and quietnesse.

The yeare 160. Alexander the Noble, who fought to possesse himselfe of the Ambassador kingdome of Syria, which was then vsur- fent to lond that by Akt- ped by Demetrius, Brother to Antiochus ander the the Noble, and understanding the power Noble. of Ionathas; sent Ambassadours to him with worthy presents, to practife with him for to joyne in his intention, offering him (moreouer) the Soueraigne Priesthood, on condition, that he would avde him against Demetrius. Beside he solemnly inuited him to the mariage, which hee had purposed in the Citty of Ptolomau, with Cleopatra, daughter to Ptolomy Philometor. Ionathus being allured by these ofgans) grew to be more emboldened, and | fers, vnder hope of enioying (by this meanes) two neighbouring Kings to bee his friends; went to be prefent at the royall wedding, and carryed gifts of great value with him. He was entertained by the two kings, fo honorably as possible might tonshire be, and afterward fent backe againe, with High-Pitch confirmatio in the high-Priefthood, as al- office, and fons, and which had most vnderstanding in religion, were extremely anguished: (after the decease of Alcimus) had remaind the principality of Indea, for the people lay of Indea, for the I they made their recourse to lonathus, en- ned 7. yeares without a Soueraigne Sa-

Demetrius

Chap. 5.

by the people

of High-Priesshood to the Almoneans, the ninth years of the principality of Ionathas; of the Greekes 160. as hath bene faide; and before the birth of Christ, 1,0, But s. yeares after as Ptolomy had caught the kingdome of Syria, with his daughter Cleopatra; fo he gaue them both to Demetrius Nicanor, Sonne to Demetrius, & then Ionathas had work enough to do to enter into the good grace & fauour of the new King. Neuertheleffe, by gifts and offrings he prevailed so well at last, as youn the anouching of his grace towards him, hee recourred a great part of Iudea, & wonne among his own people, no meane power and credite. In the latter dayes of his principality, he fortefied the Temple of Ierusalem, and renewed alliance with the Romaines, contracting kinde friendship alfo with the Lacedemonians. Soone after he was furprized in Ptolomais, by the fraud & treafon of Triphon, who, although he had promifed to release him, if he might have his two Sonnes fent him as hostages, and an hundred Talents (whereof his brother Simon made fatisfaction, fending both the money & the children) neuertheleffe, the most cruell Tyrant murdred both the Father and his fonnes. Having done this abhominable deed, and thinking no way to be refifted in his wicked courtes; by treachery he flew Antiochus, firnamed Sedetes, Sonne to Alexander the Noble to whom he was Tutor, & for the restoring of him to his Fathers kingdome, hee had enicted Demetrius Nicanor out of Syria, but got it into his owne possession. In this manner Ionathas held the principality of the lewish people eighteene yeares, and was the first administratour of the Soueraigne Priefilhood of the Almoneans, which hee held ten yeares.

Simon the third Sonne of Mattathias. Simon succeeded his Brother Ionathas, in the yeare of the Greeks, 170. & before the Natinity of Christ, 140 being elected (by common confent of the people) Duke & Soueraigne Sacrificer: because he had valiantly affifted his Brethren Ind.es and Ionathas, for maintaining the doctrine gine by God, & the repressing of perfecutions. At the beginning of his government he furprized fome Forts from the Grecians, among which was that of lerufalem, which till that time had beene held by the Syrian

By this meanes, came the dignity first | Garifons, & had wonderfully tormented the Citizens. He famithed them in such fort, that they were conftrained to yeelde themselues, and afterward purified prophaned places, the 23 day of the second Moneth, in the yeare, 171. Vnder him, lu-Moneth, in the yeare, 171. Vinder min, 44-1 ladea began to respire and breathe a while, to recover which for the space of 25. yeares after An- breathing & tiochus the Noble, had bin terribly fhaken quietneile. and wasted with continuall warres. The fields began again to recouer their former nature; places burnt and deflroyed, to be re-builded; and those prophaned with 1dols to be neately cleanted : In briefe, the voyce of heavenly doctrine began againe to bee heard and delinered in the Temple and Synagogues. In the third yeare of his simon renew Priefthood, Simon renewed alliance with edalliance the Romanes, and by a Decree from their with the Romanes. Senate, was confirmed Soueraigne Sacrificer, & to be flyled Prince of the people.

Afterward, Antiochus Soter brother to Demetrius Nicanor, preparing war against Antiochas Triphon, who viurped the Kingdome of Soter tentes Syria: labored Simon with great promifes . Tiphon. for alliance, as doubting leaft hee would giue hinderance to his enterprize. But hauing conquered the Kingdome of Syria, and Triphon chased thence, in the yeare, 174. he fallified the former alliance, & redemanded divers Townes and Citties in Indea of Simon, as also the Fort of Ierulalem, and a great fumme of money befice; Antiochus or elfe he would denounce warre against breaketh his him, if he did not yeeld to what he dem ided. Now in regard that Simon refused to and vigeth grant fo vniust a demand, Cendebeus was vniust defent into Indea with an Army, whom John Hyrcanus and Indas, Sonne to Simon, difcomfitted, as he was wasting the champain Country; and having destroyed the Forts built in the Marches of Indea by the ene. my, they returned backe with great glory.

Three yeares after, to wit, the 177. of the Greekes, and 133. before the birth of simon grow-Chrift, as Simon (growing now auncient) eth ancient returned, vifiting & ordayning the Chur- myeares. ches, and the diffipated pollicies in Iudes; he arrived (with his Wife and two of his Sonnes, Indus and Mattathias) mereto his kinefman Ptolomy, the Sonne of -thobus whom he had conflituted Governour of the whole Region about Ieriche. But he wickedly murdered him, fitting at the Ta- Simon murble of a Banquer, whereto (most traite- died at abanroufly) he had inuited him, onely for that some in law. bloody purpofe. Ccc2 Thus

Lindred Hyt

The Temple

Foure Aimoneans, the Father and his three fonnes.

Iudea not wholly recouered from Paganifme, & the reason why.

The writings of the Prophots fafely preferued a mong fo many perfecuti

Judas and Ionathas left not any iffue theirs.

ther Mattathias, and three of his Sonnes (each after other) fighting valiantly three and thirty yeares, in defence of the Law giuen by God, against the persecuters of his people, ended their lines. And although they could not fo compasse the matter, as to cleanse Indea wholly of Pagan Idolatries, because many among the people were (openly) Epicures, and many mightily dejected, by feeing the woful calamities of the people, and others inueigled by the Gentiles prosperities; did willingly renounce the first received doarine of their Fathers, and embraced the impieties of the Paganes: yet notwithstanding, they prevailed so well by their power, that the writings of the Prophets were presented, the service ordained by God, nor abolished, nor the Iewish pollicy any way diffipated. All which enfired by the fingular goodnesse of God, to the end, that the pollicy and ministry appointed by him (in some good measure still maintained) should continue to the time of Christ, that men might know, when & how the Messias was to be sent. The principality and high-Priesthood continued (fometime) in the Family of the Asmoneans, to the fuccessors of Simon, because In-

CHAP. VI.

das and Ionathas had not left any iffue of Concerning the imprisonment of Simons two Sonnes and their Mother, by their cruell Unckle Ptolomic; and lastly, their lamentable death. The valiant actes of Iohn Hyrcanus, Sonne to Simon. The destrustion of Samaria, &c.

The Sonnes of Simon, were Iohn Hyrcanus. Iudas. Mattathias his fuc-

A Daughter, maried to Ptolomy, the sonne of Abobus, Gouernour of Icricho; who murdered his Father, as also his Wife of two of his Children.

Indus and Mattathias.

Auing accompanied their Father, going with his Wife to fee Ptolomy their Sonne in law, to whom he had formerly spoken, to give him the governe-

Thus foure Asmoneans, namely, the Fa- | ment of Iericho: they were imprisoned with their Mother, by their Vnckle Ptolo-my, who before had flaine their Father at a Banquet. Now, while Hyrcanus, feeking to revenge so horrible a deed, had befiedged a finall Towne, whereto Ptolomy had withdrawne himfelfe: the Tyrant canfed them there to bee pittifully difmembred, as also their Mother; untill such time as Thetwosom Hyrcanus, moved with compassion, & not of Simonal able to endure the torturing of his brethren and Mother, raised the siedge, albe-nened ithis captined Mother, still vrged him carneftly to maintaine the affault. Iohn Hyrcanus.

In the life time of his Father, hee difcomfitted the Army of Antiochus Soter, whichwas conducted by Cendebeus. Next whichwas conducted by Cenaeveus. Next after the death of his Father, and the talant of Anixan king of his two Brethren, himselfe hardly soter range escaping from the ambushes of the mer-shedby ldn derer Ptolomy: hee came to reuenge his Hyrcanus. Fathers death, and befiedging the Towne whereto Ptolomy was returned, being ouercome with pitty, by feeing the torments which his Mother & Brethren fuffered, at every time when hee gave the affault, confidering also, that the seventh yeare of rest was neere at hand; he retreated his Army. Afterward, Antiochus Soter John Hyramade warre vpon him slo that he was flut vp within the Citty of Ierufalem, which Antiochus besiedged in seuen places all a vector of the control of the cont one time: being pressed with famine, hee agreement yeelded up the City, upon condition, that he would beate down the Fortefications of the Citty, deliuer hostages, & fine hun-dred Talents, that is to say, three Tunnes of Gold.

But as he was in want of money, or accidentally feeking for fome by vigent necessity, or admonished so to doeby a dreame: he opened the Sepulcher of Da-uid, wherein he found three thousand Ta-and Talent lents of Gold, which amounteth to 18. of Gold found Tuns of Gold. Being thus readuanced, he uids grane. not only made peace with Antiochus, but also entred into amity with him, so that he entertained him into the Citty with his Army, and being well provided of mony, he was the first (of the Icwes) that had frange Soldiours vnder his pay. With whom he accompanied King Antiochus, he going in warre against the Parthians 5 and yet his company was but flenderly beneficiall to the King. For although by the

Antiochus

Cyzicentis

ghitor the

valiancy of Hyrcanus, he ouerthrew a part | for the kingdome of Syria; Hyrcanus and of the Parthians Army, yet soone after, when Arsaces, King of the Parthians, came with a new Army, & he should then have met and loyned with him: Religion hindered Hyrcanus and the Iewes from going to the fight, because it was then the Feast of Pentecoft. By which meanes, Antiochus being destitute of the lewes helpe, was flaine, with a great number of his people.

After the death of Antiochus Soter, Hyrmus began to make fmall account of the Kings of Syria ; as being men,that (by ciuill warres) had broken the forces of their kingdomes. Wherefore, bringing back his hoaft from Afia, he tooke many Cities and Townes in the kingdome of Syria, which had in former times appertained to Iudea. He razed alfo the Temple of The Temple of Garizam in Samaria, builded by Sannaba-smana ra-lat the Cutthean, (as hath before bin remebred) two hundred yeares after it had bin builded in fauour of Manasses, Brother to Isddus, in the time of Alexander the great. He compelled also the Idumeans (after he had given them many chaftenings) to receine circumcifion, and other ceremonies of the tewes. And to strengthen himselfe the more against the Kings of Syria, who he thought not fit to make any more furprizing of Citties; hee renewed alliance (by Ambassadours) with the Romanes, in the fourteenth yeare of his principality, and the 191. Of the kingdome of Syria: Cneus Domitius Barbaroffa, and Caius Flaminias being Confuls, an hundred and 19. yeares before the Natinity of Christ.

Afterward, as Demetrius Wicanor had bene restored to his Kingdome by Arfaces, and as quickly againe repulfed from it by Alexander Zebens, when he prepared himselfe to make warre on the lenes : fo Hyrcanus, allying himselfe with Alexander with Alexan. the victorious, had fustained as little ioy der the victo. thereof, if an admirable accident had not corrected their error. For Antiochus Gryphus, Sonne to Demetrius, feeking to recojuer his Fathers kingdome, flew Alexander in battaile, and (after that victory) purpofed to inuade Hyreanus, the leagued friend to his enemy. But hearing of another preparation of warre against himselfe, by his brother Antiochus Cyzicenus; he was glad to keepe at home still in Syria. So, while the two bretheren did wel-fauouredly contend with one another (a long time)

Indea remained in quietnes, during which time, Hyrcanus well fortefied himfelfe by strong Castles newly builded, re-enforcing al his most commodious munitions, collecting vp great fummes of money, & prouiding other necessary matters, to exploit his warre affaires.

Finally, hee laide fiedge to the most firong Citty of Samaria, and left there his fiedgeaby two Sonnes Antigonus and Aristobulus to Hyrcanus and continue it, while himfelfe attended to the administration of more important Occonomica laffaires. Hecreupon, the Saniaritaines called to fuccour them Antiochus Cyzicenus; who repulsed the fonnes to Hyrcames, and chaled them fo farre as to * Scythopolis. Againe, the two brethren A City of brought their Army before Samaria, and Syria, neere againe Antiochus Cyzicenus (being requeled alio Deca fled) entred into Indea, pilling and fpoy- polis. ling wherefocuer he came. But being :epulled, hee gaue the charge of his Army to two of his Captaines; one of them being flaine by the lewes, and the other corrupted with money, furrendred (by treafon) Scythopolis, and the other neighboring Citties. So the Citty of Samuria, hauing endured (in great mifery) a whole Samaria a. yeares fiedge, was at the last forced and zed and dequite destroyed. Such was the ending of throyed to the this most mighty Citty, which (for along time) had paragond it felfe equall with Ic. rufalem; but about an hundred yeares after, it was builded againe by Herod, who named it Sebasta, in the honour of Augu-Stus Cafar.

CHAP. VII.

How the rest and prosperity of Indea, begat fundry Sects among the people, effecially of the Pharifies Sadduces & The dinerfity of their opinions : and a breefe narration of the Doctrine, in vie among the

THE Country of Index, being thus reduced to repose & quietnes, & by the Ofthe Sector paines of Hyrcanus; her professing procu- the Phanifes red enny & diftafte, afwel toward her own and their difpeople, as (more especially) to the Pharifics. For fa Lions grew the in great effect among the meaner people, by fimulation Ccc 3 of fanctity, Samaria be-

The gouernment of leri cho giuen to Ptolomy by

t'e tirit do-

cchaons

fine: enerca

The barmer

Of the first

anne, and fu-

Hyrcanus a fauouter of the Phanifies, leaneth after ward to the Sadduces.

Hyrcanus &

hated of the vulgar people

The diffrence

betweene the Pharfites and

Teftimonies

of Gods will

giuen to our fult Fathers.

his Sonnes

fanctity, and great swarmes of denised traditions, concerning some kindes of bodily exercises: so that (whensoeuer they pleafed) they could cause the common people to mutiny against the Princes and the High-Priest. Hyrcanus had sometime beene a curious fauourer of this Sect; in which regard, the Pharifies did beare him great affection: but at the last, he estranged his kindnesse towards them, finding himselfe offended at the punishment of Eleazar the Pharific, by some outrage offered him. And this was the reason, that hee tooke part with the Sadduces, who tharply reprodued the traditions of the Pharifies, and in hate and spight to the Pharifies feet, hee abolified (by publike Edicts) many of their traditions, which made him and his Sonnes to be mortally hated, aswell of the Pharisies, as of the people. Whereupon enfued great mutinies among the people: which his Sonne Alexander very harely appealed, but not without great effusion of blood.

Now, because mention is here made of these two Scots, both of the Pharisies and Sadduces, whereof more will be spoken in the following Histories, as likewife is in facred Writ: I thinke it not amiffe to make some addition, of matters found in authenticall writings, concerning the variance and difference betweene them. For in speaking of their originall, we can but follow conjectures onely: except this Sees of the infallible certainty, that both the one and other Sect were newly forged, by leaning the ancient and pure doctrine of the Prophets. I his firme rule ought euermore to be held in the Church, that there is one fole true doctrine, of the divine effence & will, made manifest of Godby certaine and vindoubted testimonies, and was giuen to the first Fathers and Prophets: but much more enlightened afterward, by the voyce of the Sonne of God, our Lord Icfus Christ, dead, and rayfed up againe for vs, as also by the voice of the Apostles. And no opinions ought to be embraced, contrary to that first Prophetical doctrine and voyce of Gods owne Sonne: because many fayings of the Prophets do witneffe this rule to be true. As I fay condemneth | duces, who declared fufficiently, the very those Doctors, which propose (as the doctrine of God) opinions forged in their wne braines, and fuch as neuer were ginen of God. Being armed then, and well warned by this rule, wee may the better iudge of their Seas.

But in making this recitall, I may not forget that most lamentable complaint, which the fo mighty infirmity of mankind ought much to bemoane, because even then, when the Church confifted of to The proofer, finalla number, to wit, in few Tribes of finallbreinning of the Ifrael, poorely impayred, and flut vp in Churchinge that narrow country neighbouring to the Phanitians, and that then (with fo finall continuing) pollicy) discipline could scarfely main-thereof in taine it selfe peaceably, or doctrine bee many troubles. kept in good concord: fuch horrible furies being prepared against it, yea, & they embraced by the greater part of the Gouernours, publishing them wholly, without diffembling any thing, although they were plainly repugnant vnto the Law of God The Sadduces acquitted them felues Concerning of facrifices, and neuertheleffe affirmed the Sadda publikely, that after this prefent life, there cos. remained no other, nor any judgement; and that the foule (being separated from the body) thould have no more life, and that men should not rife againe. But the Pharifies were a little more modest, and note modest yet notwithstanding, they had as well cor-then the Salrupted the doctrine given by God, as we duces, shall have better occasion to speake of heereafter.

Neuerthelesse, God had a true Church God alware all this while, which stil retayned the light hadhisme of his doctrine : and yet, was it not great- Church, te ly to be lamented, that in one & the fame the beheld company, which bare the name of the his Doltrine Church, among a troope that called vpon God in truth; fuch errours should not onely bee dispersed, but also allowed by the authority of Princes and Doctours? Befide this, the affored and prophaned arrogancy of many (euen in our times) ought greatly to be reprehended, who dreaming of no dispersion of errors in the Church, cyther for fatisfaction of their owne ambition, vnder colour of religion The crossed feeking after kingdomes, or by heaping fuperfittions one vpon another, thereby ranto be to fit and furnish their owne avarice; doc differned. neuer thinke on (in this case) the ancient and old examples of the Pharifies & Sadlike cuils crept into the Church, even as apparantly then, as those of other times. It is therefore very necessary, to have one certaine rule, in liftening to the voyce Euangelicall,

uangelicall, according as Saint Paul faid: If any man preach any other Gojpeil to you, let him be accurfed.

Furthermore, consideration is to bee had, of the time of that first Doctrine, agreeing with the voyce of the Prophets, the Sonne of GOD, and the Apostles: and next, of fuch perswasions as have crept into the Church, fome whereof have beene confirmed by the superstition of men valearned, others have beene voluntarily received, as feruing the ambition of the mightie, and for benefite to the kitchin. Acknowledging then, and bewayling the harmes of the Church: let vs sceke after the springs or fountaines of true doctrine, to the end wee may truely call vpon God, who hath alwayes preferned some part of mankinde, where his true knowledge might thine, to bee the Temple of God, and afterwards partaker of his glorious company, because mankinde was not created in vaine. But before I discourse on the original of Sects, and Diutions of the Church, it is needfull first to say somewhat, concerning the first true Church or Schoole, which from the beginning of mankinde, hath beene gardian and keeper of the true doctrine : from whence hath iffued many, who (as feditious) have scattered divers corruptions among the truth of doctrine.

The reason why God cre-Mankind was not borne by accidentall chance, neither created without cause: but it pleafed God, that he should have a reasonable nature, embelished with a bodie, wherein the knowledge of him might thine, and to whom he might communicate his wisedome and goodnes, & that. hee should enjoy his company once and for euer. Now, although God expressed his wiscdome and goodnesse, by creating the great workemanship of the world: yet notwithstanding, his goodnes made it felte much more apparant, in that (after the fall of Adam and Euc) he fent from his fecret feate, that infinite mercie for their recourry, by giving them the promifed Seede to come. And to make it the better knowne and understood . hee would have men to heare the found of Genel 3.15. that fiveete voice : The Seede of the woman lball breake the Serpents head . Such as recemed graciously this consolation, were received of God, and made members of all, the Church was created, and the The first cre-Schoole inflitted, wherein our first Pa-Church by rents taught the doctrine of God to their God, entirue children: concerning the creation of all third to our hith their owne fall; the and to rotheir paines and punishments to enfue; the tre- potterne. cheries of the diuell; the causes of death and all humaine mileries; the promife of the Seede to come, whereby the great and just anger of God was to bee appeaied. Alfo, how finne was to be deficed, eternall life restored, the difference of good and enill works, and that fuch a difference being imprinted in the foules of men, was truely the Lawe dinine, agreeing with the intelligence and dinine will; fo to thine in the spirites of men, that it might bee a testimonie of God to men, that he was one God, and how to bee adored : admonifhing likewife, that hee would judge the actions of men, because conscience would else exercise a burde. nous judgement in vs.

There they were raught the diffrence between hea betweene this naturall knowledge, and between ne ueniy know the other of higher qualitie; the pronoun- ledge, & that ced promise of the secret bosome of the which is natueternall Father, touching the Seedesthe future judgement of all mankinde; and that fuch as (by faith in that Seede) attayned to beleeve therein, were acceptable to God, and in that faith had recourfe to him, striuing to order their manners by the rule of the divine Lawe, thould line eternally in the most sweete company of God. Others, who arrogantly contemned God, & the promifed Seed to come, running furioutly on the bridle of their wicked defires; were like vnto dinells, cnemics to God, and after death should The despiters liue in horrible torments, whereof they of God and the promited discerned some resemblance in this life, Seede. by the terrours of fuch, whose bodies were adjudged to terrible punishments.

Those first Fathers declared, how God had clothed them with the skins of beafts, of our first Fa to fignific, that (after death) they should thersin thebee denested of their corrupted bodies, skins of beats and put vppon them (as the garment or relation, roabe of the Lambe) that is to fay, the promifed Seede, which was to be facrificed, that all mankind might be faued by him. They taught the will of God to bee fuch, that by this meanes it should bee fought, knowne and called on, as it was the eternall Church of God. Thus first of | made manifest: and that our mindes lea-

Efay 25,14.

One fole and certaine affembly inftituted by God to bee his Cnurch

572

The reafon why accient ceremonies were influi-

What the Sacritices did reprefent.

Christ was alfilling to his Church long before his incarnation.

The first meants of knowing the blefled Frine tic according to the inftruction of the first Fathers.

stand, that then wee are in the grace of no other Divinitie was to be imagined. God, when (by fayth) wee relie voon his promifes, and that hee would have no other gods to be received, or Sacrifices offered by them that forgot or rejected this doctrine given by God. They also manifested, that God would have one sole and certaine affemblie, which should be confenting in doctrine, gathered together by inuocation and facrifices: in which fole affembly, should be the future heires of eternall life with God. As an Interpreter to their Sacrifices, this predication was often repeated; This maner of behauiour, and thefe publique afsemblies are instituted, to the end, that this doctrine (hould be fent to Posteritie. In them the voyce of the dinine Promife, and the doctrine declared by vs. was to be heard: for god would have his voice to be heard of all men. In which tespect, it was and is requilite that there should bee honest affemblies; and although the Church will be alwayes tormented with great calamities : yet shall the be exalted as a Castle on a high mountaine. These our Sacrisices which you see, are the chaines and linckes of fuch affemblies, and no other paintings have we to admonish vs, then the duine Promile fo graciously given

Hauing enstructed their children in these great matters, they added, concerning the Seede to come, That that Lord, who should breake the head of the Serpent; was already (and cuen then) affifting to his Church, although he was not (as yet) renefted with humaine flesh. That he was the Image of the Eternall and only Father, begotten of him, who prayed to his Father for the Church, and defended it, and (with the Father) comforteth the hearts of Beleeuers, euen in their greatest feares, by his Promises, and kindleth in them the light of the bleffed Spirit, for the beginning of eternall life. Which Spirit proceeded from the Father, and from this promifed Lord. By this meanes they taught to know the only true God, wife, good, iuft, true, chafte and pure, Creator of heaven and earth, of Angels, and of mankinde; to the end, that all might understand, there was one only eternali Father, who had created all with this promifed Lord, who is his I-

ning vpon his promife, gaue vs to vnder- | mage, and with the bleffed Spirit, fo that

Moreouer, in this holy Schoole, the first fathers taught the doctrine concerning the nature of things, giving to vnderftand; that there were certayne lawes of Celestial motions, to deliner testimony, that this world was not made by aduenture, but created by the intelligence of a super-excellent workeman. They taught beside, the course of the years to be ordained, because God would have men to ted by the fa know the order of times; thereby allo to understand the order of divine promises, and how they were to be reuealed, as to know what the first given doctrine was, thereby to judge of the newer afterward. And because men might coprehend, that all things were created by the Dinine Councell and Prouidence: they shewed dinerse vses of Plants, to what end they were created, and for the vse of man. Heereupon they expressed, how God affifted the nature of man by those remedies; thereby also enstructing, that oftentimes Innocents are holpen of God by of Plants. admirable meanes, and yet without the ayde of creatures.

That this was the doctrine of the first or Primitine Church, the narration of of the golden Mofes fufficiently declares, in Genef. And Age before it is not to be doubted, that the wifedom the Floud of the golden Age, before the Floud, was much greater then that after the Floud, whe nature became more weak & feeble. And though that many, both before and after the Floud, might forget or misprisc true doctrine; yet notwithstanding, God would not fuffer his true Innocation to be quenched among men: but euermore referred for company that kept this doctrine, (from one time to another) renued & dispersed it further off by nouell testimonics. Againe, when after the Floud, Godeuerthe multitude of men began once more und the important of the chereate about the transfer of the chereate about t to encrease, though the light of true do- cating you Ctrine might be extincted in Babylon : yet his name. notwithstanding the studie of Astrology remayned, touching the motions and effects of the Starres, with the knowledge of things growing in the earth.

And in this meane while, the promife of God was flill preserved and kept, renewed and illumined in the posteritie of Noah. Afterward, when this pollicie became to be fo well ordayned among the people he ten tribes lings of Juda, mihof Docnne still en-

dodrine grev

Some rem-nants of Gods truth at all unes remain-

people of Ifrael: all the Colledge of the Leuites was as an Academie and place of exercife. There, some Sacrificers and Prophets taught againe the auncient and vncorrupted doctrine. But afterward, when the tenne Tribes were cut off by the Kings of Iuda : then great confusions (both in Religion and Doctrine) followed. And yet neuertheleffe, God raifed in the difmembred part of Iudaes Kingdomes, Elias, Elifeus, and other Prophets, to draw divers there to the truth of knowledge : which was the reason that the Prophets had great troupes of Auditours, in regarde that Elias, Elifeus, and the rest had delivered stoode in the Euanglicall Historie, and (from hand to hand) their facted preachwhat their principall errours were. For, ings and interpretations. Some did leaue although they carried themselues as intheirs written, as Efay, and they that folterpreters of the Prophets : they apoulowed after. This custome did alwayes continue in this people, and especially in the Temple, where the facrificing Priests gaue the interpretations, or elfe-where among the Doctours, and fuch as were interpreters of the Writings of Moles helde falle opinions concerning the vie and the Prophets. of the Lawe, and transferred the promi-

But in the latter times, after the returne from Babilon, and after the Prophet Zacharie, when the High-Priests beganne to affect familiarity with the kings of Iuda, and fought to make themselues great and powerfull, the study of true doctrine became contemned, and after that Indea was spoiled by Antiochus; many places were loft, the companies of Students, and their Maisters scattered, and and discipline being thus neglected, it is very likely that the fludies became to bee wonderfully changed. Howbeit, that alwayes some of the Colledge of the high-Pricits, and of the people, kept fome sparks of the true doctrine living among them : as Simeon, Zacharie, Anne, and other, whose youth neighboured to the warres of Antiochus . Notwithstanding, many audacious Expositions of the Propheticall Bookes, wandred farre off from the auncient doctrine.

It is very likely, that at the beginning, the name of Interpreters was common to some men of the best judgement, and likewise to other, that transfigured the doctrine of the Church into Philosophie. By succession of times, as this new Philosophie was most pleasing, and many carneftly fauouring it : the Schooles began to be so much the more frequented, and a kinde of doctrine was then concluded on. In this manner a profession or Sect (which then was in admiration) was ordained; without changing the name of Pharifie, asimuch to ging the name of Pharitie, aunuci to fay as an Expounder, as nowadayes the Pharifie is an honest Office and Profession: for many learned men doc conceiue the Pharific to be named, rather for Interpretation or title of Doctour, is the name of a most Exposition. Exposition, then by separation or divi-Issephus reporteth some of their opinions, but they are better to bee vnder-ched the Bookes not onely of Mofes, but also of the other Prophets, adjoyned to of the Scribes the holy Histories by publique authoritie and Pharifies, of the Ancients, to remaine in their credite and integritie. Neuertheleffe, they held them.

vie. They helde exteriour Discipline, for Inflice fatisfying to the Lawe, anddenyed that wicked affections were finne, or doubting of God, or courage enkindled by hatefull or luftfull defires : prouided that they proceeded not to outward offence. These corruptions are expressely Math. 5,28. reprodued in Saint Matthew, where it is faid; whofoeuer looketh on a woman, to lust after her, bath already committed adultery with her in his heart . And although that many villearned men in the Church, read these Sentences as Paradoxes of the Stoickes, who painted the Ideaes of the vertues, to the end that men should ftriue to come nere to them (which is impossible for any man in this world to do) yet are they propounded to the Church to

fes of the Messias Kingdome, to politicall

other ends. The Sonne of God knew, that in the Noman in imbecillitie of this nature, no man can dislifetime be without bad defires; therefore hee would have the preaching of repentance and vnlawfull to be dayly founded among men, that affections. acknowledging our corruptions in due manner, wee should confesse our owne guiltineffe, and make our recourse to the Sonne of God . The Philosophic of the Pharifies, obscured this aucient Prophe-

The Pharifics

the promites

made to Abra

The carnall

opinions of the Pharifies

concerning

the Meffins

dome.

and his King-

celebrated

ham.

The Pharifes

maintained

They allow

of the Lawe

Ceremonie

Matth.6.7.

the freedome

Of the Pharisies.

ticall do êtrine, as it had beene in all times | remonies of Moles, at their pleafure; and after Caine and his Posteritie.

In like manner, the other part of heauenly doctrine, to wit, the promifed Meffins was also obscured. The Pharifies knew and celebrated the magnificet Promifes made to Abraham, recited by Isacob, and often repeated by the Prophets: but they maintained, that they spake only of a politicall kingdome. They dreamed alfo, that the Mellias should come like vnto an other Cyrus or Alexander the great, to vse the whole Empire of the world, the people beeing subjected vnto him: and yet notwithstanding, that this Empire should be more just, milde and peacefull, then any of them before. They affirmed that the Meßias should reigne a a thousand yeares; that the Israelites thould live three or foure hundred yeres without feare of warres, seruitude, or famine, or any other great calamities: And that there should bee no other nature in the Meßias, but humane.

In these idle imaginations, all the doctrine of the Sonne of God, of anger against sinners; of the facrifice and death of the Messias was buried. And yet neuertheleffe, truth was not wholly quenched in the Church, but (as I have faid) fome sparkes remayned with Simeon, Za-Prophets without corruption.

the words of the Lawe, and the promifes thereto appertaining : they dreamed that finnes were to be pardoned by ceremonies and flaughter of beafts, ordained in the Lawe. This perswasson brought in great gaine, for the people (being thus perswaded) multiplied the more their sacrifices. These so thicke mistes of darkenesse had some apparance of wisedome and pictie; which neuertheleffe are oftentimes reprehended of the Prophets.

Ceremonies growing to great augmentation and encrease, many questions (as in the like cases happeneth) were moucd, touching the manner of perfourming them, & other circumstances, which (indeede) required many declarations. And as Monks heaped vp together great fummes of money, by the buying and felling of humane traditions, with their annexed circumstances: euen so the Pharifies would locke up and let loofe the ceadde to them their owne nouell denices, as well for the confirmation of superstition, as their owne gaine. Saint Matthew! Maubles telleth vs , that the lucratine tradition is reproued:that it was much better to gine fomewhat to the Temple, then to norith and relieue their owne poore parents: euen as now adayes it is maintained, that a number of flouthfull ide Monkes, should rather enjoy great renenewes, then any thing spared for the reliefe of poore Schollers.

The tradition of the Sabbaoth was al. Tradition for fo in great vsc, as Hierome alledgeth: for daire income Alziba and Hilletius, both Rabines, do fay, 2 hahe nels, a Sabaoth dayes iourney is but two halfe appointed the Phases miles. Befide in this Sect remained fome studies of doctrine, and some care of gouerning the discipline. They could well conclude, that there was an eternall and intelligent God, true, good; inft, chaffe, well-doing, and a renenger of offences: whereby they confessed all things to bee created, the heavens, the earth, Angels, men and other creatures. They affirmed The Phailies alfo(by opinion of philosophy) that there allowed but was but one person in the divinitie, boldly reiecting the Primitiue and Propheti- Godhad call doctrine concerning the Sonne of GOD and the bleffed Spirit: although charie, and many fuch like, who read the they had apparent testimonies of the Son of God in Dauid, Ffay, Micheas and Da-After that the Pharifie had corrupted | niel; and of the Holie-ghost, in many Sermons of the Prophets.

Moreover, they confessed, that God Of the Last the Creator of all things, was manifested what the cerby his Promifes, and by publishing his theredition Lawe: furpaffing all other in goodnesse, with a most goodly pollicie, ordayned and warranted by many testimonies of his presence. Wherefore they would not have any one to call in doubtfull question the providence of God, nor to doubt that the posteritie of Abraham (to whom God had given this ordayned pollicie) should bee any other then the people of God, or the Church whereof God had a peculiar care. They taught them that Particular God gouerned the principall mutations inauters which happened in this life, as the encreasings and diminishings of Empires, the ruine and building agains of great Citties; because they knew their euents to agree with the prophecies of empires, which are in Mofes, Efay and Daniell; adChap. 7. |ding withall, that they knew that their Ci- | men, which was the cause that adulteries | Women fatie Ierusalem had beene divinely builded.

And yet(for all this)they affirmed that the affaires and lines of all men, were gouerned by humane councelles; and they magnified the libertie of mans will, as also the faculty of Free-will: yea, and in fuch fort, that they held a man might fatisfie the divine Lawe, and be just by his diligence, meriting all goodnesse both present and heavenly. And contrariwise, that fuch as offended the dinine Lawe by exteriour transgressions, should be punifhed both in this life and the other. For their opinion was (that the foule feparated from the bodie) should line, and that there should bee a resurrection of the dead, wherein God would reward the just, and fend into euerlasting punishments, fuch as had foiled themfelues with execrable vices. And yet they held withall, that he would punish many crimes by present calamities, adding also, that some might be defaced by facrifices, and the penalties due to them, made more milde or leffened. Now, although this doctrine was very passable in appearance; yet notwithstanding, they abolified the true vie of the Law, and with the benefites of the Mesias, the doctrine of free pardon . Wherefore eyther they confirmed trust in mens owne justice, or left their consciences in pittifull doubts: in regarde that mens minds being thus ouerthrowne, fled from God, and trembling against him; neyther darst approach neare him, nor call vppon him truly

For the more fure maintaining thefe their disciplines, they had instituted many exercises; the most part whereof ferued rather for oftentation, then any rethraint to their owne bad defires. The maner or forme of their garments was notable; for they wore great long cloakes. with fringes about them, inter-wouen with the words of the Lawe. Oftentimes they vsed to wash themselues, having at the entring into their houses holy-water, wherewith they sprinckled themselnes. They observed choice of meates in their falls, muttering long prayers to themfelues, which Saint Matthew calleth Battologie, much babbling.

Their facrifices and apparance of piety attracted greatly the familiarity of wo-

and divorces grew to be very frequent among them; and to enjoy therein the more liberty, they enlarged the law of di uorces. For the auncient custome of dinorces implied, that they were not to be done, but vpon knowledge of the cause, and the instruments to effect them, was, with the knowledge and confent of the magistrate, and seperation might not be graunted for light causes and disturbances; but by good reasons induced to the Iudges, who were knowne to bee grave bilot divorce, men, and of great integritie.

But the Pharifes (viterly difannulling this auncient custome) made dinorces vpon their private authority, either without cause, or for causes of no moment: fo that the lawe of dinorce ferued onely as a baited hooke, to allure and betray other mens wines; as among the Pagans, and as at this instant with the Turkes, it is traying of

By this kind of proceeding, men might reject their wives when they thought fittest, without any reasonable cause, and contrary to the nature of mariage, which Godhimselse instituted at the beginning, Gods first in stitution of to the end, that it might be the aliance of marriage, an inseparable company when hee saide: They shall be both one steft; that is to fay, a Genesis 2.24 male and female shal be joyned together inseparably. In like manner, the Lawe of Moses lawe Mofes did not permit divorce without for divorce. cause; but rendred a reason whereby separation might be allowed to wit , If any Deut.24.1. vilenesse were found in her . And the ancient Atticke custome intended, that no diuorce should be granted, without know- custome conledge of the cause. Since when, by succesfion of times, the bands of discipline haue been let loofe, by the encrease of lewdnes and incontinencie: fo that the auncient Atticke custome became quite changed. And soin the latter times of the lewes, times of the all granity for the maintenance of aliance lewes much in mariage, grew greatly extenuated. For negligent in fine could not be faide to be a true wife, fies. whom the husband might cast off at all times, and whenfocuer fuch giddines intoxicated his braine, and without anic wighty cause. This vniust custome of the Pharifes was the cause of that question in S. Mathew, where mention is made concerning the alliance of marriage, and the Maul. 19.6,7 first institution therof repeated : also by a manner for graunting the uerce letued for the be-

The Atticke

Sinnes to be pardoned by cercia mira and killing of beafts ordained in the Lawc.

Questionsco acting & per deuised cere-

The Saddu

ces name held to be e

The vniust custome of the Pharites.

and common

to luperfliti

ous natures

or the Phari-

Most of the

Their pride

in opinion of

and their acti-

all and none

good enough

to be equal

with them

thendelues,

nations.

feuere declaration, light and triuiall separations of mariage, yied both among the people of the lewes, and Pagans likewife. are forbidden and condemned.

It hath beene common to all superstitions natures, in all ages and nations, to Vices frequér peruert the order of precedent actions; yea, & in such fort, that they grow to be very difficult and rigorous exacters, of in all ages and multitudes of their owne denised ceremonies: being (in the interim time) very careleffe for the necessary fernices of life. whereof the Decalogue giueth comands, and letting loofe the bridle to infinit lewd affections. And many of them appeare meerely as Ingglers, such as are described ingling tricks in our Satyres, who (by counterfeited grauitie) disguise great vices, whereof is faid; That they shew themselves to be wife men, and yet live in dissolution.

And although among the Pharifies, some were more modest then others, as Gamaliel; some also vnderstanding the do-Arine more purely, renouncing errors, as Nichodemus ; yet notwithstanding , the most part of them were of this coyne or Pharifes were of one molder frampe. They had execrable errors (conrours held by cerning the Divinitie) engraven in their the Phariles, ipirits, and touching the political Empire of the Mesias. They understood nothing of the promise for remission of fins, nor of the true Invocation. They had a false opinion of the Moifaical ceremonies, and of their owne. Moreover, they added other enorme vices to these; as to esteeme wel of themselves, for they reputed themfelues to be wife, infl, princes and pillers of Gods Church; preferring themselues before al modest and religious people indeed, because they affected to have their ons, excelling carriage more scene and observed themselucs to bee more honoured and feared. then any other. Neuerthelesse, they were in continual debates and variances, afwell among themselues, as the Citizens, feafting together for pride, ambition, enuy, contempt, hatred, cuill speaking and venimous injuries. So that through their private couctoufnes, they moved not only many domesticall tumults, but aymed at the yoake of strangers; for they were > themselues) in seeking to compasse a tyrannicall power. First of all, they strengthened themfelnes by the fauors of neighboring kings, > skilfull in those artes (welknowne among of high Courts, mighty men, and planting factions among the people; forgeting factions among the people; 101get and practice ting to imitate the ancient faying; If the wete inob. Serpent doe not eate a Serpent, hee will neuer feruation a. become a Dragon. And either by calumnies, or other like means, they oppressed all fuch, as (in emulation) were hinderers to their power. About all, they were very spleenative against the professors of true doctrine, carefully feeking all occasions whereby to spoile them: as it is said, they flew Zachary the Father to John Baptist.

Now although (as I have formerly faid) that among the Phariles, some were more modest then other, & some (being thereto admonished) forfooke their errours, and embraced the true doctrine: yet notwithstanding, the following Histories of the Lewish people, and the Euangelical makemore narrations doe testifie, that the opinions apparant and behauiour of this troupe, and all fuch the proofe of thefe people. as made profession of this Sect, partaking with them in their rites and ceremonies, were none other then as I have heere fet downc.

CHAP. VIII.

Concerning the originall of the other Sect. tentmed Sadduces, contrary in nature to the Pharifies, and what customes were observed among them.

Haue beene the larger in discoursing on the Pharifes, in regarde that this Scott dazled or deceiued mens sight, by an apparance of farre greater surfaces, and perstition, then that of the Sadduces, and going beyond them in authoritie. Now I (hall (in briefe) fay formwhat of the Sad- had their oil duces, in fo much, as this Sect received ginally no originall from superstition; but rather from contempt of God, fauouring to be Epicurian.

Forasmuch as the Pharisies charged men with numberlesse ceremonies, that neither their bodiesor consciences could bear any moredike to some other in these later times, whose lawes and impositions haue growne beyond all measure, that fired(with tears) to be disburdned: fo ftarted vp other profane people, who, without any true judgement, loofing the bads of all restriction (by an Epicurian audaciousnes) instituted another Sect contrary to that of the Pharifes, naming themselues Sadduces. For to cary fome effect before the people, they tooke this honorable title delinered from Inftice: For Zaddikim fignifies Infines, & this name was oppofite to that of the Pharifes, who were tearmed Interpreters, and disputed on many things. Now it was a matter more notable and glorious, for men to be stiled Iust, and doers of the Law, then Interpreters and Disputers. Others deduce the name from Sedak, a Chaldean word, which fignifies to part or divide. Bicause they undernore glori-on then that of the Phariflood the Sadduces to be termed (according as we speake) Schismatickes, divided from sentence with the rest of the church; but I gueffe that their aduerfaries forged that Etymologie.

> pellation came, let vs rather confider the deed it felfe,& be terrified withall, in thinking on so horrible an example. Wherein plainly appeared the power of the diuell, forraging in this company, which bare the name of the church of God confidering, that (euen then) in people very well conditioned among whom discipline was eafily entertaind because their extendure was fo final, & where there were no ftrangers to intermeddle; many durit (by publike authority) propound most execrable errors, and creek, even in the midft of the Church, a Schoolelike that of Epicurus. Let vs consider on this also, that after these Churches were spread abroad farre & wide, many mighty errors were fowne in & by them: as namely the confusion of the Empire, and the conversation of Pa-

It is no great matter, whence the ap-

And although it is not possible to report all the mad prankes of the Sadduces, without great griefe and anguish; yet notwithstanding, it is necessary the Historie should be written. For it plainly appeareth, that some profane Iewes brought a monstrous audacionsnes into Iudea, and fuch wicked opinions as they had learned of Pagans, meerely Epicurians, by haun- Inis present fight & comprehension. And gans, among whom they lived. Wherefore, let vs not flatter our felues, by a vain assurance of the name of the Church, as if that all had bin, or were without finne.

ting to them familiarly; for they carried no meane refemblance with them. The Sect of the Sadduces retained the name of God, for feare left it should appeare, that they would diffipate the pollicie, which was fingularly maintained by the bands of Religion. But they endeuoured to efface out of mens understanding, the true inugcation vpon God, and the true feare

They maintained that mens foules being fundred from their bodies, should neuerreft, and that men should reuine no mottmothrous more after death: neyther that any other | blatphemies iudgement was to be expected, wherein tained by the the just were to be discerned from the vn- Sadduces. iust. The names of eternall life, & of hell, were to this Sect as meere fables, and terrours to affright young children. And because they would make their intention knowne, that it was to cafe the mindes of men, from the burden of Pharifaicall traditions, and to teach liberty: they feigned. to recall men back to the writings of Mofes, and therefore alleadged his faying, where it is forbidden to adde to the Law. By this meanes they frustrated all the writings of the Pharifes, with all their inter- made voyde pretations and traditions : the release and and of none discharge whereof was pleasing, and affected by many, because that the number of them was well-neare infinite. From thence, and there framing their All the books beginning, they went on further under the of all the profame colour, & reiccted all the Bookes of by the Sadduthe Prophets (the bookes of Moles onely cessonly the excepted) an outhing, that he neuer meant books of Moor spake, but of this present life onely. To maintaine the forme and order of their Commonwealth, they fayd; That the law ought to be obeyd, & facrifices to be performed, because God punished great offences in this life. Contrariwife, for good actions and obedience, he gaue peace & abundance of goods: confirming al their fancies by the words of Moles, where hee speakes both of blessings and cursings.

The brenitie of this Doctrine, agreed The Sadduand contented light headed spirits highly; ces doctrine and prophane persons were not a little delighted with these opinions : which were of fente only confirmed by the judgement of fense only, because every man thought that an intollerable burthen, and hardly gaue credite to those Articles, which were out of

of the groffe and abhominable errours

of the Saddu-

ces Sca.

therefore this Sect (how wicked foeuer) in fuch great matters , let fuch as reade, Matter let it were) wanted not store of tolowers. Now although it be true, that God is A refutation the gardian of politicall focietie, and that he punisheth vniust murders in this life. left the companies of men should be confumed, as also to the end, that they may be manifest signes of his divine Iustice to euery eye: yet notwithstanding, God in meane while (by an admirable councell best knowne vnto himselfe) suffereth many inft persons to be slaine by the wicked; as Abell, the children of Ifraell in Egypt, Ionathas, Efay, Ieremy, and innumerable other. These examples doe testifie, that there remayneth another Iudgement, wherein God will declare his inflice, by bringing the just and vniust into indgement; and the wicked, being fent into torments, shall shew the just to be victori-other judgement to enfue after death.

The reason why the people of Ifrael were condem ned by the Sadduces

ous, although it continue some time after death. For, Teeing that God declared, that he had a care of Abell, Ionathas, Efay, and Ieremy during their lines : if after death he should have made no account of them, it had much diffented from his præscience; yea, and from his inflice also. It is then most enident, that the Sadduces, who denyed any other judgement to remaine after death; did cut off the divine and just prouidence, from a great part of mankind, and especially from such as have excelled in righteouineffe. The facrificing Priest of the Sadduces, beeing at the Altare, conceined, that the Ifraelitish Nation was not chosen of God (who onely had the true knowledge of God on earth;) because they nad been fo often oppressed by Kings of the Egyptians Chaldeans & Syrians; and, even when their neighbors (being dispersed throghout Iudea) spoiled many thousands of just persons, compelling them that survived. to feed on the flaughtered bodies of their fellow-Cittizens: in this case, shall there bee no attribution of iustice and prouidence to God, if instantly hee shewe not himselfe to have a care of his, and that (therefore) there remayneth no immortality? Thus vnder the shadow of ceremonies, were mens foules abused, by outward and apparant Legier-dumaines, the divine Providence being exactly taken away, euen as the Epicurians did.

Now, confidering there were these debates between the Pharifes and Sadduces.

conceine, not onely how great and frequent the tumults and perturbations of this people haue beene; but also, how confiderance rudely both the Pharifes and Sadduces, and divers other with them (being manifestly Atheists) vsed the true Church, as Simeon, Zachary and their poore flocke. But as then (among fo many wolues and lions) some faithfull guardians of the true doctrine were referred, fo(no doubt)but God will stil continue it to all succeeding times; and as hee did to Simeon and the reft, fo he will enermore stand in the just defence of his Spouse the Church, supporting her against all miseries whatsoe-

CHAP. IX.

Of a third Sect, contrary to the Pharifes and Sadduces, who termed them felues by the name of Essans: their originall, Religion and maner of life.

Tordinarily happeneth, that when feditions hate once gotten them chief once gotten themselves Sects and diinto actiue motion : ma-my partialities and diuffi-ons will thruft in after my more to them. As Homer feigned, that the Store- follow. house or Armory (wherein Acolus had locked up the winds) being broken open: the Sea became troubled enery where, the windes flew abroad with fuch extraordinary violence; euen foin kingdoms & Empires, after that politicall order commeth to bee once troubled and dif-joynted; many divisions must needes follow after. Many Sects exalted themselves. during these debates betweene the Pharifes and Sadduces. For some, detesting the profane doctrine, and Ethnicke licence of the Sadduces, and feeing Religi- Pharifes and on and piety masked by the Pharifes, and that, to difguise great and groffe vices, fuch as were whoredome, ambition, malice, enuy, cruelty, lying, rapine, and the like, they fet before mens cies (as a cloude of diffimulation) dreadfull seueritie, and and some seuere ceremonies; beganne

Chap.9. Of the Essæans.

to divide themselves from both one and And these Seperatists & divided people, formed a name for themselves, called Estans, workers, by which title, they gave net, in regard me to understand, that which they reproued in others, & wherin they would feem more excellent then they : namely, that they fled from the profune libertie of the Sadduces, & allowed not the hypocrific of the Pharifes, difguifed in fo many kindes: but that they would doe deeds or workes profitable to other, and commaunded by

God, having alwayes this vivall fentence

Arine, but retained the doctrine of Moles

in their mouths; Euery word without work, is meerely vaine and unprofitable. There is no mention made of them in No mention the Ecclefiasticall history, either because Ecclesificall they had not inveted any new kind of do-

> & the Sacrificers: or in regard they dwelt at th'end of Iudea, toward the lake Alphal. tida, as in a retiremet, & neuer intermedled with the government of affairs, thunning the contentions of the Pharifies and Sadduces . Their maner of life was like to that of the Monkes; for cither they were not maried, or if they were, they abstained from their wines; having their goods in comon, doing fuch bufineffes as were inioyned the. They fought not after riches, voluptuous pleafures or honors; but digd and deluced in gardens, as in a life of folitude, feeking carefully for knowledge in the nature of Plants, and their inyces, stones and animalls, learning their remedies, and exercifing Philicke faithfully, which ferued more then all other Artes

quaimics exerciled by the harthey li-

red far from

for the life of man. Moreoner, they practifed many vertues, as beneficence, patience in visiting ficke persons; such as were not able to helpe themselues, they would feed them, carry them, wash and bathe them, neuer thrinking at groffe fauors, coming either fro wounds, fweats, or other annoyances. Their cunning, faith & diligence was very commendable, in knowing wel how to prepare medicaments; to know the kindes of difeafes; what remedies were ant for them; to know also times & seasons, when phisice ought to be ministred. In briefe, the vertues & welldoing of a learned, industrious and faithful Phisition appeared in the most of them.

And as it is a good thing, that youth should be enstructed in learning, the do- The Arrest Arine of good maners, the Art of philick, and to accustome their tender spirites to mable tobe discipline, & the vnder standing of virtue: learned by cuen fo in the affembly of the Effeans, the yong people, very skilfullest were chosen by a certaine number, who instructed many throghout Iudea. For al modeft men, & fuch as thunned the managing of affaires in civile dif-fentios, affected rather to have their children taught by the doctours of this Sect, then any other, which they held in horror, & would have no acquaintance with them, feeing them fo tempestuous in the Common-wealth, by their owne particular couetous defires, and continually mouing vnnecessary contentions.

The Effeans addicted their life and reli- The doctrine The Effeans addicted their me and rem-gion principally to two heads or points, and inc of the Effeans aimd to wit: In calling vpon God in a prinate onely attwo kind of life, and in honest bodily labours, especial ends which were the expulsion of vices, and profitable to other men. And for fatiffaction both to the one and other, they had partition of times, fo that they might attend on busines till the fift houre of the day, that is to fay, to cleuen houres before midday. Their labor ending at that houre, Concerning certain numbers of people (round about) their meetmet there together, according to the pla- ings and aftenblies. ces distributed to eucry one. In this affembly, some passage in Moses and the Prophets was read, the Auncients that fate as Prefidents, gaue addition of the exposition : which they would not have to be written, but retained in the minde, and so transferred to the government of manners, admonishing (according to the exigence of time) what they thought promeddle in the Common-wealth. After this reading & exposition, they What times inuoked Gods affiftance both in publike & particular. They held those times to be most meet for meditation & praier, when diration and the body was not charged with meats & prayer. fumes, & that inuention is most sprightly in them, whose mindes were fasting from worldly cogitations. Two or 3. houres being employed in reading and prayer, enery one went to supper, or walked in company, or alone by himfelfe, according as it stoode with his good liking, or as his heart required, The rest of the day, vntill the Eucning came, was spent in Ddd 2 learned fitable for peace and tranquilitie, for they would have none of their followers to

The exercifes afterreceuing fustenance.

Discipline ec-

dayned for

fuch as offen-

their colleges

Matth. 18.17

ded against

learned discourse and talking of God, of Plants, of medicaments, and their experience in enery thing: or elfe of the hiftorie of their owne nation, and what miferies had beene common to them. Before the darke houres of night, they met together againe, and went to prayer.

Now, although the order of their behauiour and actions were wifely gouerned, and many (in their Colledges) lined modeftly; yet notwithflanding it came to passe, that some of them (wonne by their owne couctous desires) forgot the Lawes divine, and (in the neighbouring towns) fell to voluptuous pleasures. But the rigour of each Colledge was fuch, as if any one had defrauded another, if hee had lied, or had infected himselfe with whoredome: immediately (by common fentence) hee was excommunicated out of the company. For (among them) was kept the most ancient custome of the Synagogue, whereof is spoken in Saint Mathem, Because there might no question be vrged, for instituting any new forme of Indicature; but the playne auncient fathion, recited as it was given by the Fathers, the traces whereof are remaining in the Church.

This pollicie of the Effaans, comprehended the principall parts of their doctrine, to wit; the fludy of learning, the exercises of Inuocation, reverence to their

Gouernors, bodily labors, temperance,

and modest maners according to the De-

calogue, the nourishing of youth; who were instructed in learning, and the Art of Phylicke; paines and punishments also appointed for delinquents . Iosephus commended the College of the Essans,

comparing them to the Schoole of Pythagoras. Pliny also makes mention of them in very honorable maner, terming them

Estaneans, as(fince then)divers other did;

for there he speaketh of no other people,

dwelling towards the Lake Albhaltida, on the west side, not farre from the Citty of Pericho, where were the gardens of Balme.

It may be, that this place was chosen to study the Art of Physick, as not being the

like in all the world, for abounding in all the principall medicines. By this passage of Pluny, and by Iofephiu, it appeareth, that the colledge of the Effeans continued to the time of Vefpafian : besides, tofephus re-

The principall parts of the doctrine taught by the Edwans.

Iofeph.in Antiqlib.z. cap.9. Plin. in l. 5.c.2

The habitati on of the Efporteth, that they carried themselves very valiantly in warre.

Now wil we returne to Hyrcanus, who after he had held the gouernement, and after he had held the government, and the High-priesthood 31 yeares, died, lea-termetoile uing 3. children. Hee was accounted fingularly happy in 3. things; to wit, that he 116. had bin fo long a time a peaceable prince of the people, and the foueraigne Sacrificer:adding thereto, that he was beleeved to haue the spirit of Prophecie, & knowlege in things to come by the gift of god.

CHAP. X.

Having briefly discoursed on the 2. severall Sects, of the Pharifes, Sadduces, and Ef-Caans: we go backe againe where we formerly left, to speake of Hyrcanus and his Ohn Hyrcanus had fine fonnes, Aristo- The valuat bulus the first, Antigonus the second; a actes of Amigraue yong man, who in his life time, accompanyed with his brother Aristobulus: expulsed Antiochus Cyzicenus out of Iudea, and tooke Samaria. The father being dead, his brother also was crowned King. But soone after, when hee had exploited the affaires in Galilee, he went up to Ieru-(alem, accompanied with braue Souldi. ers to be present at the Feast of Tabernacles. His brother growing suspitious of him, and caufing him to be entrapped by Antigonus his warlike troups; he was flaine by them flaine byhis neare to the Temple.

Alexander the third, called Jamnes alfo, had two fons, namely, Hyrcanus the first, Aristobulus the secod, Absolon the fourth; being of a most milde and peaceable spirit, lived by himselfe privately. A daughter of his was married to his cofin Ariftobulus. The fift some of Hyrcanus is not The fift some named at all, and yet was flayne by his flaine. brother Alexander : because that (after but onely the Escans . Hee placeth their the death of Aristobulus) he affected the kingdome.

Aristobulus, after the death of his father Hyrcanus, being the first that changed the Principalitie into a dignitie Royall; imposed on himselfe the diademe, and fent also for his brother Antigonis, whom he loued. He put his other three brethren in prison, and that which is Aristobulus much more, he starued his owne mother to death in prison; because she demaund of ludes

Juigement of Godiustly she wed vpon A-tot bulus,&

Aprediction

Mexander

ded the fuccession and gouetnement of mighty hauockethere; called from Cyprus half the principalitie, which Hyrcanus had Ptolomie Lathurus, expulsed by his nother un, between left voto her on his death-bed.

Afterward, he caused his brother Antigonus to be flaine, he being a braue man, and a bolde warriour, laying diverse anibushes for him, as hee returned victorioufly from Galilee; only because he suspe-Aed that he affected the kingdome.

Immediately, beeing highly distasted by this murdering of his brethren, he became feized with a grienous paine in his entrails, and having cast vp a great quantitie of bloud by vomiting, the Page that carried the Bason from him, fell (accidentally)in the fame place, where the ground remained as yet infected with the blood of murdred Antigonus, and there he foilt the cast blood of Aristobulus: which hee vnderstanding, and falling into acknowledgement of the divine full vengeance; in excessive torments both of soule and body, yeelded up the ghost. After he had reigned one whole yeare onely, and during which time, hee had augmented the kingdome of Iudea, and constrained the Itureans to vndergoe Circumcifion, hauing formerly vanquished them. He was called Philellin, because hee vied greatly the familiarity of Pagans. Alexander, called also Ismnes.

Has father Hyrcanus neuer faw him, for as he was in great care about the fuccession of his children: it was foretolde him in his fleepe, that his riches and principalitie, should fall into the power of that new borne babe, whereat hee growing greatly offended, commaunded, that hee should be nursed in Galilee, like to a simple prinate person.

After the death of his father Hyrcanus, he was clapt vp in prison (with his two other brethren) by Aristobulus. But Aristo. bulus dying at his yeares expiration, hee came to the Crowne, by the means of Alexandra, wife to Ariftobulus, to whom he had promifed marriage.

Soone after he was crowned King, he flew one of his brethren, who practifed nouelties; and entertained the other (named Absolon) honorably, because he was of a peaceful spirit. Then taking order for publike affaires, hee befreged the cittle of Ptolomais round about. The cittizens feeing all hope of fuccour voyde from Syria, in regard of the civile warre, which made

Cleopatra. He coming to them with 3000 Cilicia and men , A'exander retired his army into his Syria. countrey, and dispatched a messenger secretly into Egypt, defiring ayde of Cleopatra against her son Lathurus. Publikely he capitulated aliance with Lathurus, promifing him 24 tuns of gold, if, expelling the tyrant Zoilus, who viurped Doris and Cafarea, he would render those Seigneuries Greece, neare to the lewes.

A country of the gulie Me-

But Ptolomie being advertised of Alexanders secret machinarions, breaking all alliances, inuaded Judea with his Army, where Alexander mette him with his for ces well appoynted, and after a rude encounter, Alexander was put to flight, and lost 30000. of his men. Lathurus not a litle glorying in this victory, made mightie waite in Indea, facking & fpoyling all places where he came, killing both women Thegreat and children in enery village; and after he Lathurus ahad fliced them in peeces, he caused their limbes to be boyled and eaten by his fouldiers, to make them the more terrible to ludes. the Iews. Very foone after, Cleopatra chafed this Tyrant out of sudea, as doubting lest if he should grow any greater, the he would further infult vpon Egypt. Alexander went to visite her at the siege which the maintained before *Ptolomais, where Tolomiraby he gaue her great gifts: and after he had bin royally welcomed by her, and combined alliance with her, he tooke his way homeward againe.

Much about this time, while Lathurus returned to Cyprus, and Cleopatra into E. Decapolis in gypt, Alexander tooke Gadera, Amathunta Syria. and Anthedon, and having held a long fiege before Gaza, with loffe of a great number of his men: finally by the treason of Lysimachus, he entred it, & flaying the Citizens most inhumanely, he raced it to The barbathe ground. Nor would he pardon 500. rous butcheof the principall persons, who labored to derthe High yield the city to him but drew them from prieft, foorth the Temple of Apollo (whereunto they had fled for freedom) to put them to death. But these iocund prosperities were ouertaken with a domesticall sedition: for, in the Feast of Tabernacles, hee was iniuried by the people, as vnwoorthy of the Priesthoode, because hee was borne of a flaue: And hardely it happened, that (in his facrificing) he was not flayne

lewes in

Citties of

Alexander ped killing, & bloodily renenged it of the people.

582

The Moabite & Galaadite conquered.

The lewes entredinto ciuill warre gainft Alexander.

Alexander findeth belo in his heaus extremity.

The most part of the lewes in Armes ftill against Alexander.

Eight! üdred checte Icwes crucified by Alexander, while he banqueted with his Concubines.

by the multitude then about him, who I murdred. The rest (affrighted by this cruclies, which the lewes vied to carry at that Feast. Not a little enraged at this wrong, he called his fouldiers together, and entring youn the vnarmed people, flew about fixe thousand of them: calling diuers strangers from Persia and Cilicia, to ferue as a Guard about his body. Afterward, marching forth with his Army, he vanquithed the Moabites and Galaadites, compelling them to pay him tribute.

Shortly after, to his great misfortune, hee encountred with Oboda, King of the Arabians, fell into his ambushes, and his Army being hewen in pieces, he escaped with much difficulty. Vpon this bad fucagainst him) tooke occasion to raise the most part of the lewish people likewise in mislike of him, with whom he warred (very hardly) fixe whole yeares. For the lewes that were his aduerfaries, drew Demetrius, the Sonne of Gryphus, to oppose his forces with such troopes as hee had called from Damas, where hee reigned against whom Alexander fought to his great loffe, for all his strange Soldiors lay Ilaine in the field, & he had no means to fauchimselfe, but by flight. Yet, notwithstanding his instant calamity, some say some-what concerning Alexandra, of the Iewes were hartened to take his part, in turning requitall vpon Demetries: and beeing affifted with some fixe thoufand men, he made a smal recouery of his former loffe.

Now, albeit vpon this victory, Demetrius (perceiuing the reuolt of the Iewes) retired his hoaft home into his kingdome: yet notwithstanding, the most part of the Jewes (who were conjured against Alexander) continued in Armes still, whose power Alexander brake by little and little, aswell through industry, as by vertue. And after he had sped well in fome skirmishes, hee shutte vp his very mightieft enemies, in the Fort belonging to the Towne of Bethom, which he enforced with great difficulty, & vied extreme cruelty vpon his captines. For he tooke eight hundred of the principal Iewes, caufing them all to be crucified, while he fate banquetting at a Table with his Concubines, and in the presence of al his inuited guests, having formerly commaunded their wines and children to be miferably smote him with the boughes and bran- | ellexample) fled out of Ierusalem in the night time, being about eight thousand of his enemics.

By this meanes, that dreadfull civill warre was appeafed, which had continued more then fixe yeares; and wherein a children in the lines of boue fifty thousand lewes were flaine. At- more then ter these domesticke troubles, by continuall courses hee reuenged himselfe on strange aduerfaries, who had given succour and retreate to the feditions Iewes, winning from them many Townes and Citties.Returning home againe, through his intemperance, hee fell into a Feauer quartane, which held him for the space of three yeares. And yet, hating to abstaine ceffe, the Pharifies (enraged with hatred (all this while) from trauaile and war, dy- Alexandera ed in befiedging a Castle on the Mount fiedginga of the Gerge enians, in the nine and forti- Calle. eth yeare of his age; of his reigne and Priesthood, the seuen and twenty. Before his death, he left his kingdomes gouernment to his wife Alexandra, and gaue her charge to pacific the Pharifies, whom he and his Father had offended, vnto their great detriment.

He left two Sons: Hyrcanus of Aristobulus. Of whom we shall have leyfure to speak heereafter; because first of all, we are to the wife of Alexander Iamnes.

Alexandra wife to Alexander Iamnes.

After thee had instituted in the High-Priesthood her eldest sonne Hyrcanus, who defired nothing more, then to leade a private life: the fucceeded in the king- Alexander dome after her husband Alexander, being created high especially aided by the power of the Pharifies, to whom the gave authority, to reuocate and erect their ancient traditions, which Hyrganus (her father in law) had abolished, & granted to them many other fauours beside. So that the Pharisies administred the whole Regiment of the Awoman Kingdome at their owne pleasure; onely reignethout the bare name of Queene remained to the lewes. Alexandra. Finally, as they vndertooke the boldnesse, to execute (vnder colour of inflice) the cheefest Councellors to the deceassed King Alexander, who they suspected to have incited him against the Pharifies Sect: fo they proceeded on in many inhumanities. The friends of Alex- Alexander ander going to Rome with his fonne Arificials go flobulus, obtained (by fauor of the Court)
bulluro flow

na viurpeth

Chap. 10.

The death of

thren, Aristo balus conque reth both

to goe as Captaines of warlike troopes, | miles, to attempt the restitution of Hyrcato the Castles.

At this time, Tygranes King of the Par-Syria; because the Syrian Kings had confumed all their strength and power by domesticke warres. And being entred also into Iudea, planted his Campe before the Citty of Ptolomais: whereof (neuerthelesse)Queen Alexandra bought the peace by liberall bounty of gifts. After the taking of Ptolomais, Tygranes returning with his Army to his Countrey : heard newes concerning the victory of Lucullus, and the flight of Mithridates.

Within a while after, Alexandra being Aiffobulus a fallen into an extreme ficknesse, her Son great enemy Aristobulus, taking in ill part the dominito the Phanifes, on of the Phanifes: fled to the friends of his Father, who had the guarding of the castles, by whose assistance, he got possesfion of the principall Citties in Iudea. In this feare of the Pharifies, and no great affurance of Aristobulus, who (neuertheleffe) approched neere with his Army; Alexandra was called out of this life, in the ninth yeare of her Reigne, and the Lxxv.of her age, which brought peace to the Land of Indea. But because she had encreased the power of the Pharifies; it was the reason of many troubles which followed.

> The sonnes of Alexander Iamnes, and of Alexandra, were (as bath bene faid) Hyrcanus the fecond. Aristobulus the fecond.

Hyrcanus the second, naturally peacefull, and a louer of quietneffe, was enflalled by his Mother Alexandra Soueraigne War betwee Sacrificer, in the place of his deceaffed Father. And moreouer, after the death of his Mother, by hereditary right he obtayned the kingdome. But being vanquifined by his Brother Aristobulus in battel, he was glad to faue himfelfe in the Fortresse of the Temple; commanded there to leade a prinate life, the kingdome and High-Priesthood beeing quitted to his Brother. For fome time he endured thefe conditions, but beeing afterward moued by some accusations, which Antipater the Idumean (father to Herod) put into his head, as also the frauds and fetches of his brother Aristobulus; hee was induced to flye thence into Arabia, to king Aretas, whom Antipater had won by liberall pro-

nus to the kingdome of In lea.

Aretas inuading Lidea with a potent thians, made feizure on the kingdome of Army, and having Aristobulus at the encounter; ouercame him, and taking the reflore Hyr. Citty of Ierusalem, held him so long befiedged in the Temple, vntill by the command of Scaurus, Lieutenant to Pompey, he was forced to retire with his Army into Arabia, and to the enterprize for Hyrcamis proued to none effect. After that Pompey had vanquished Tygranes, & was come into Syria, the two brethren, Hyrcanus and The two bre-Aristobulius, accused each other before threnpleade him, touching their right to the Kingdom before Pomand High-Priefthood. But Pompey, more peyenclining to the part of Hyrcanus, by the providence and services of Antipater; releafed Aristobulus vnder certaine conditions. Neuertheleffe, Ariflobulus meaning nothing but meere mockery to all commands, and trufting to the munitions in the City of Ierufalem: Pompey (in reuenge) entred it violently, and won the Temple fo strongly defenced, where were flaine of the Imes, about the number of two and Indea and Ie twenty thousand, and the City (with the insalemmade most part of Indea) rendred tributary to tributary to the Romaines. Which tribute they payed tor a certaine time, as lofephus confesseth, amounting to the fum of 10000. Talents, which is 60. Tuns of gold. Pompey having walked in the Temple, and entred into the holiest part of all, called Sanetum Sanetorum: at his departing, restored Hyrcanus to the Soucraigne Pricfthood, but not the kingdome. Alfo, he led along with him to Kome, Aristobulus as prisoner, with his two fonnes, Alexander (who neuertheles escaped by the way) and Antigonius, and his Pompey. two daughters likewife.

Thus Hyrcanus, being possessed of the foucraigne Priesthood, about foure yeares after the death of his Mother Alexandra, fuccored Scaurus (left in Indea with two legions) when he befiedged Petra, a City of Arabia. Afterward, he fel into the fauor of Hyrcanus in other Romain Lieutenants, sent into Iudea good fauor only by the perswasion and friendship of with many of Antipater; as with Gabinius, Craffus, Cafsius Licutenante. and Iulius Cafar himfelfe, to who he fent aid, vnder the conduct of Antipater, when he was much hindred in the war of Egipt. And because Antipater had caried himself valiantly, Cafar confirmd the high-Priesthood to Hyrcanus: & appointed Antipater

Ind lib 3 cap.7

6 Booke

protector of dayes to speake) Protector of all Indea. At the fame time also, Cafar permitted to Hyrcanus, to re-establish the fortifications of the Citty of Ierusalem, which had beene beaten downe by Pompey.

poisoned by Malachus a

Malachus

staine by He

rode Antipa-

Antigonus e

fcaped the Roman pri-

fons.

ters fonne.

After that Iulius Cafar was flaine by the conspirators, a powerfull Iew, named Malachus, being offended at the encreafing greatnesse of Antipater the Idumean, and that the whole administration of affaires should be in his hand; surprized his life by poisons. But thereupon, Indea, beeing destitute of so wise and valiant a Gouernour, fell to very miserable condition. For Malachus, tempesting his thoughts with mounting hopes, to become fole maifter and commander; was flaine euen in the entrance to his enterprifes, by Herode fonne to Antipater, to whom (though he was as yet very yong) his father had giuen the charge of Galilee. On the other fide, the brother of Malachus, desirous to revenge the death of his brother, theeued in the manner of an enemy . Alfo, Antigonus the captined fon to Aristobulus, escaping from the prisons of Rome: leuying men of arms, made him selfe maister of a great part of Iudea.

After that Herode had imbarred his proceedings, Antigonus vnder promise of a thousand talents, which value fixe tuns of golde, and of five hundred most noble women; procured Pacorus and Barzaphernes, Satrapes in the Kingdome of Persia, to enter with a maine army into Indea, to ouerthrow Herode and his brother Phaselus, whom Anthonie (one of the three Monarches) had before made Tetrarchs of Indea. Which beeing done, they should perforce render the kingdom of the lewes, to the fonnes of Aristobules . Pacorus thinking it best, that Herode should bee surprized rather by subtiltie. then by violence; fent Antigonus on before with fome bands of men, to get pofmies meeting fession of Ierusalem; and he(in the meane while) would follow with his Armie by Sea, so farre as to Ptolomais, where he had ordered, that Barzaphernes (hould meete him with a passable Army. Many gaue kind welcomes to Antigonus, running affectionately to him, and promising their ayde against Herode . Neuershelesse, Herode and his brother found themselues be Tutor, Curator, or (as we vie now a- 1 ly within the Citty, but also without the

Finally, Anticonus distrusting his forces, called Pacorus into the Citry, vnder pretence, that (as an Arbitratour) hee summing semantics. should compound the difference for the compassibile Principalitie, which was betweene him which hear and Herode, vnder conditions more tol. lerable: but his purpose was indeede, to furprize Herode vnprouided . Morcouer, hee laboured with his vnckle Hyrcanus and Phafelus, worming it fo into their heads, to go in embaffic to Barzaphernes (remaining in Galilee with his army) and to preuaile so farre with him by rich prefents, that he should retreite his power into Syria. To which councell Hyrcanus the High-priest, and Phaselus (brother to Herode) yeelding, without suspect of ill; were taken by the Parthians, (euen as the matter was in monopolizing) contrary to the right of Nations, and delivered as ken prifonen captines to Antigonus.

Herode being formerly aduertifed of these plots and compacts of Antigonus & Pacorus; went foorth of the Citty in the night feafon, with all his family, some friends, and 800. women, rich and excellent in beautie, and left the persons and their goods in custody of Massada, a well to Rome. defenced Citty of Idumea: which being done, he went thorow Egypt to Rome, euen in the worst time of all the world.

Phaselus, brother to Herode, doubting the cruelty of Antigonus, because he was without armes, and bound; ranne his head (with great violence) diuers times a himfelfe. gainst the wall, and by that meanes slew himselfe.

Antigonus, not contented with the difpoyling Hyrcanus of the High-priesthoode, caused him beside to become the cruely deformed, by cutting off his eares, feat-of one bro ing left he should afterward attain to the ther to ano-Priesthood againe. For it was not lawfull, that any gelded man, or defective in any limbe or member of body should administer in facrificing. Moreouer, distrufting that he had not sufficiently enough prouided for his owne fecurity; hee deliuered Hyrcanus captine to the Parthians, to carry him out of Iudea, as farre as poffibly they could.

The flight of Herod being come to the haucce of the barbarous notice of the barbarous vnciuile people, multitude,& the stronger in many encounters, not on- and they singularly displeased for the wo- Hyrcanus led

Hyrcanus led

Chap.10.

Hyrcanus denered by K. Phraates, and ent into Ba-

The spoyle &

bloody murdering of the Almone ans by Herode.

tertained by

The spoile & | men: which Antigonius formerly had promiled to them; pilled and spoyled the citty and the pallace royall. And yet not fatisfied with this booty, robbed many places about Ierusalem, without leaving any thing behinde them. And after they had ordained Antigonus King of Ierufalem: they withdrew their armed troups home into their owne countrey, leading Hyrcanus (the foueraigne Sacrificer) along with them captine. It was not long after, that Phraates king of the Parthians, beeing informed of the nobilitie whereof he was descended; did fet him at libertie, and fent him into Babylon, to be President ouer the Iewes inhabiting there, where, for about fine yeares he was in great honor. But having heard. that not onely Herode obtained the kingdome of Iudea, by Augustus Casar; but alfo, that he was contoined to him in affinitie, because hee had taken in marriage his Niece Mariana, the daughter of Alexander : he thought on returning him backe againe, promifing him mountaines and meruailes, for the goodwill of Herode. About this time it fortuned, that He-

Hetode worrode, defirous to beget vnto him the coubeth with the rage of the Iewes, whom hee knew to King of Par-, this, for the return of Hyrbeare great affection to Hyrcanus: repealed him backe by Lettets and Ambaffadors, and foorthwith fent great Presents to the king of the Parthians, to pay the ransome for his captility. Whereupon, Hyrcanus thinking there would not be any further question of deferring; contrary to the councell of al the Iews which were in Babylon (who entreated him earnestly to flay there, as fearing that which followed after) returned into Iudea.

Herode wellcomed him very magnifi-Hyrcanus hocently, and (for some time) vsed him honourably ennourably; euen to the appealing of his father, and often conferring with him on the very principall affaires. Notwithstanding, he would not furrender to him the principality of the high-Priesshood, for the defect of his eares: but inflead of Antigonus (flaine before) substituted a certaine man, named Ananelus, come from Babylon, to enjoy the Priesthood. Soone after, he gane manifelt fignes of his dead-The cucland ly hatred, against all the posterity of the Asmoneans. As, when (by a close ambush) he flew Aristobulus, nephew to Hyrcanus, and his most dearely affected wife Mariana, Niece also to the said Hyrcanus.

Finally, after the ouerthrow of Marke Antony, one of the 3 chief rulers to whom Herode had beene companion, and fent him fuccors divers times in war, as fome fad thoughts ouertooke him, for feare of Augustus, being Conquerour, and of his aduerfaries thorow the country of Indea, but especially fearing the people (who loued him not) should mutiny by this occasion, & transferre the kingdom of their Ancestors to Hyrcanus (who only remained of the roiali family of the A(moneans) ly left of the began to lay fnares and close contriuings against the life of the miserable old man. For, he imposed a false crime vpon him, that hee would have viurped the Kingdome : and to make it probable, he composed counterfeited Letters; whereupon he being condemned by fentence of the great Confiftory, was executed, albeit he Herod caused was aboue 80. yeares olde. All his life Hyrcanus to be most wrong time was troublesome vnto him, being a tully put to gitated with infinit accidents of fortune, death. yet he(naturally) offecting quietnes, and a meane estate. Only heerein reprehenfible, that he was too facile, in liftening to fuch as prouoked him on to the attempting of fond nouelties.

Aristobulus the Second.

Rother to the about named Hyrcanus had a gallant the second, and some of Alexander: As young a man as he was, and of hote younnul and hote disposed and lively spirit, yet notwithstanding for nature, nine yeares space, he left to his Mother the administration of the Kingdome, which Alexander (dying) gaue to hir; contenting himselfe with a private life. But at the length, his mother being detayned by a long fickenesse, and very dangerous. and he (not a little offended) that all matters were guided according to the fancie of the Pharifes; by stealth made his recourseinto the citty, and conferred with the friends to his deceassed father, who had the keeping of the Castles. Being ay- His strengthded by them in bountifull maner, he ga- ning himselfe thered an army; by whose affistance, hee friends. possessed himselfe of divers neighboring places about Ierusalem.

His mother Alexandra dying, vpon this his preparatine for warre: Hyrcanus. who all the life time of his mother as Queene, had held the High-priest-hood:

Herode and Phaselus Te trarches in Iudca.

ouercome by Ariftobulus in barrell.

The hope of

Hyrcanus to recouer the Kingdome a gaine from

Ariftobulus.

by right of inheritance. And to defend his right by Armes, hee went to affront his brother neare to Iericho, with an army ordred in good equipage. But being left of his people, who renolted to Aristobu. lus, vnder hope and perswasion of better recompence; he had no other helpe but to shield himselfe in the munition of the Temple, where he was for fome time befieged by his brother, and finally deliuered, vpon condition, that he should leave the Kingdome and High-priesthoode to his brother, and leade a private life by himfelfe.

Some while after, hee conueyed himfelfe couertly into Arabia, by the perswafion of Antipater; as hoping to regaine the Kingdome from his brother, by the meanes of king Aretas. Ariftobulus knowing the comming of Aretas, King of the Arabians, with Hyrcanus and Antipater, went foorth to meete them : and beeing vanquished in a day of warre triall, hardly fled backe againe to Ieru/alem, where hee was (for a time) befreged by the enemies, that closely followed his footing, vntill fuch time, as having promifed 300. talents to Scaurus, Licutenant to Pompey, he prevailed thereby fo well; that Scaurus fending in the name of the Roman people to Aret.18, commanded him to anoyd out of Iudea, except hee would be enemy to the Romans . By this meanes the fiege was raised; and Aristobulus, desirous to be reuenged, affembled men, and made warre

vpon the Arabes, of whom he flew fixe

While these things were thus in work-thousand in one fight.

The coming of Pompey Damas.

Scaurus rai-

which was laid to Ieru-

(alem

feth the fire

ing, Pompey, having pacified the East parts, came to Damas, where Aristobulus fent him a magnificent Prefent, accusing his brother Hyrcanus very strongly to be a perturber of the common peace. Pompey heereupon appointed, that at the Spring time, both the brethren should be personally prefent, before him at Damas. Where Pompey understanding the difference betweene them, was more inclined to the case of Hyrcanus; as well for the equitie of his cause, as for his love vnto Antipater . Neuertheleffe, he fuffered Aristobulus to depart, under conditions, which he cared not to keep, but (by machinations) made a mockerie at the matters commanded him; and (indeed) did being the eldest son, made himselfe King | nothing at all. Hecreat Pompey beeing highly offended, entred into Iudea, with the Army which he had brought against the Arabian * Nabathaans . And because People of Aristobulus had againe mocked Gabenius, hetweene is one of the Lieutenants to Pompey, not Perfan Set furnishing him (according to promise) and the red concerning the delinering of certaine fummes of money: Pompey beeing much incenfed by the difloyalty of Ariftobulus, brought his Army and Engins before Ierusalem, and because the lews would not yeeld themselues, he tooke the Cittie by force, ayded by the councell of Hyrcanus, on the fasting day of the third month before Pentecost; and in the yeare when Marcus Tullius Cicero confounded the Conspiracie of Cataline in Rome.

In the furprizall of the Citty two and twenty thousand Iewes were flaine by the Souldiers, and Pompey (with his friends) entred into the place called Sanet um San-Etorum, and intruded to fee fuch things as were not lawfull, but onely for the Soue- and profand raign Sacrificer. And vnderstanding that by the Rothere were great fummes of Golde and gold money in the Treasury, and twelue tuns of filuer coyne; without taking anie thing, he departed thence, and commanded the place to be purified againe. Hee restored Hyrcanus to the high-priesthood, and caused the authors of the warre to be beheaded, who had bene motiues to the rebellion of Aristobulus . Afterward, he demolished the walles of Ierusalem, and made all Iudea tributarie to the Romaine people. Also he adjudged to the Empire and Towns of Rome, the Citties and Townes of the of the Afre-As moneans, which were take before from the Kings of Syria: restoring also such to pire of the Bo libertie, as in times past had lived in free- mane people. dome . By this meanes hee locked up the nation of the Icws within narrow limits, that before had extended their dominion very farre.

At his departure, hee left two legions in Iudea, vnder the conduction of Scaurus, taking Aristobulus captine, with A. lexander and Antigonus his two fonnes, to leade them home in triumph : but Alexander (having deceived his keepers) escaped by the way. Here was the beginning of the seruitude of the Iewish nation, who were thus enthralled to the power of the Judesbrought Romaines . The discord of two brethren into flauciy gaue the first occasion of this calamitie: by the different of a brethern

Christ; foure yeares before that Aristobulus (his Mother dead, and his Brother Hyrcanus dejected from the feate Royall) had taken the Kingdome of Indea. Saint lerome writeth, that Iskin, father to the euer-bleffed Virgin Marie, was borne the fame yeare that Ierufalem was surprized.

Chap. 10.

A towne on the edge of

three score yeares before the nativitie of

I thought it fit also, to infert heere the fad iffue and fuccesse of Pompey, conside. ring, that it feemed to be done dininely, that hee should be murdered face to face the place which hee had profaned, aswell by effusion of bloud, as by foolish audaciousnesse. For, soureteene yeares after the taking of Ierusalem, being vanquished by Cafar in the battaile of Pharfalia, and thinking to faue himfelfe by flying to the Sonne of Ptolomie the Fleutster, whom he had recommended to the Romaine Senate, when he was chased and banished out of his Kingdome neare to * Pelusium, coming foorth of a small Barke, and aged about three score yeares; he was flaine by thought, Virgill wrote these verses on his A great Truncklying wpon the Sea shore, A bodie without head; a headlying

the command of King Ptolomy, in the presence of his wife Cornelia. And, as it is Farre from the (boulders. Relusium is distant from Ierusalem, a litle more then thirtie Germaine miles, but iust confronting it, according to the calculation of Ptolamie . Sequen weares after the furprizing of terufalem, A iftobulus, being escaped from imprisonment at Kome; came into Indea with his other Sonne Antigonus , where agains he forrified the Fort of Alexandrion, which Gabinim had destroyed. Many lewes (affecting nouelties) ranne to him, fo that being accompanied with eight thousand chosen men, hee dared to encounter with the Romaines, which Gabinius (then Proconfull for Syria) conducted, who, but a little before, constrained Alexander, the other sonne of Aristobulus (thinking to posfelle himselfe of the kingdome) to deliuer him vp those Fortresses, and to crave peace. But Aristobulus, sustaining the worst in a sharpe fight, retired with two bands of men into the most strong towne hederonde of Macheron, feituated on the Lake Af-bie where of Macheron, feituated on the Lake Af-phalista, formewhat a little lower then the party as a to eath, place where Lordaine entreth into it. In which towne Saint Iohn Baptist, beeing a long while imprisoned, was finally beheaded. In two dayes the Romaines conquered the towne perforce, and Aristobulus taken, was led to Gabinius, wounded as he was; and fo the second time sent bound to Rome, with his two children.

Matters thus pacified in Iudea, Gabinius, attended by his Gendarmery, reseated Ptolomie the Fleutster in his Kingdome, he being expulsed thence by them of Alexandria; in which exploite he was affished by Hyrcanus the soueraigne Sacrificer, and Antipater the Idumean . At his returne, he found all in Judea and Syria full of troubles and tempests, for Alexander ranaged againe throughout Indea : but Gabinius ouercame him in a day of battell (where he had worke enough to doe) and chased him quite out of Lidea; having massacred ten thousand Iewes.

Afterwards hee continued two yeares Iofin Apr. in the Province, governing all matters lud.lib.9.c.15 quietly, according to the testimony of Iofephius. And having repayred many Townes, which had beene much spoyled in the precedent warre; he left the Army in the power of Marcus Craffus, a veric Marc. Craffus greedy and couetous man, who attempting warre against the Parthians, arrived the armie.

there in Syria, in the yeare after his fecond Consulship, one and fiftie yeares before the birth of Christ. This man having intelligence, that there was a great maffe of money locked vp in the Temple of the Iewes, went to Ierusalem, and was admitted to the most fecret place of the Temple; from whence (contrary to his former faithfull promife) he carryed away more then ten thousand ralents, that is to fay, three score tunnes Crassus breaof golde; beside a beame of gold, which weighed three hundred Minaes, or (as Io-Sephus expoundeth it) feuen hundred and fifty Romaine pounds weight, amounting to fiue Quintalles and more then an halfe of our weight. Eleazar, Guardian of the Temple, deliuered that beame to Craffus very willingly, because he had promised and protested by oathe, that hee would not touch any treasure of the Temple, no more then Pompey had done tenne yeares

Now, concerning this auaritious Pro- heaven on confull, foone after, he dearely payed for Graffus for his wilfull periury and facrilege; beeing his periury & facriledge. miferably

Fleuister re. fored to his

plighted to E-leazas guardian of the tred into la dea with his Armic.

Chap. 10.

Pitholaus a Iew raifeth tumultson the behalfe of Aristobulus.

Cassius takes

Pitholaus pri

Ariftobulus

poyfoned and buried in the

Sepulchre of

The feditious

Spirit of Ari-Stobulus.

milerably flaine by the Parthians, with his | andra. First married to Philippion, sonne fon Publius, an excellent towardly young man, and wel-neare thirty thousand Romaines, that rather would bee flaine, then taken; Crassus was then threescore yeares In the meane while, one Pitholaus, 2 very powerfull Icw, and friend to Aristobulus the captine; after his second surprizall, beganne to raise tumults in Iudea, and weakened the fide of Hyrcanus and Antipater. But after the ouerthrow of the Romaines by the Parthians, when Calfius, Questor to Crassus, re-assembled the rest of the Romaine Armie, who had fled away, and brought them backe into Syria, and as he ransacked the Cities of Indea for want of mony : he was perfwaded by Antipater and Hyrcanus the High-prieft, to make triall of his forces against Pitholaus, whom he vanquished in the field of battell, and brought him captine with the Romaine army into Syria, fo that thereon en-

Fine yeares after, the warre was kindled betweene Cafar and Pompey; and Cafar comming to Rome (forfaken of Pomper) tooke Aristobulus out of prison, and fent him into the East with two Legions, to subdue Syria & Iudea. But being poifoned by the way, by them that tooke part with Pompey : hee remayned long time in the Ile of Malta vnburied , vntill Marke Anthony, one of the three Monarchs, fent his body into Iudea, and commanded that he should be interred in the Sepulchre of fued peace in Iudea for some time.

Such was the end of Aristobulus, after many mutations of fortune, having been twife taken and fent to Rome, where hee was almost foureteene yeares prisoner. He was of a factious and feditious spirit, for being moued with ambition, he quarrelled for the kingdome of Judea with his brother Hyrcanus: vntill fuch time as hee caused his death, and brought his Countrey into miserable seruitude, which proued the ruine of all his nation.

He had two fons, and as many daughters; Hyrcanus the second his first sonne, foueraigne Sacrificer, who had a daughter named Alexandra, married to his cofin Alexander : a woman wife, but very vehement, whom Herode afterward put to death . Ariftobulus the fecond had Alexander, Antigonus the second, Alexto Ptolomy, king of Chalcis, which is a Region on the coalt of Libanus. Afterward, Ptolomie (inflamed with the loue of his daughter in lawe) flew his fonne Phillippion, and tooke her in marriage. And after succoured and defended his brother Antigonus, against Herode and the Ro-

Alexander the second.

Surprized with his father Aristobulus by Pompey; before he arrived at Kome, de-Alexander ceiued his guardes, and escaped. Fiue elcaped from yeares after, affifted by an Armie, hee inuaded Iudea, expulsed his vnckle Hyrca. com to Rome nus from Ierusalem, repayred the destroyed munitions, and planted there a Garrifon. But Gabinius, Proconfull of Syria, being called thereto by Hyrcanus and An- The explain tipater, hauing fought with him in bate Syria, tell; held him a long time besieged in the Citty of Alexandrion, vutill fuch time as he was constrained to yeeld himselfe, and put downe the chiefest fortifications. Being pacified by the entreaties of Alexanders mother (who always condemned the foolish enterprises of her sonne against the Romaines) face obtayned pardon for Alexander . Neuerthelesse , Gabinius sent him to Rome with his father Aristobulus, and Antigonius his brother captines : yet writing to the Senate, that it might fland with their good liking, to fend backe the of Obbinion children of Aristobulus to their mother, of the find of Aristobulus to their mother, of Aristobulus to their mother, of the find of Aristobulus of Aristobulus and the control of Aristobulus of Aristobulus and the control of Aristobulus of Aristobulus and the control of Aristobulus and t because he had made such a promise in name of the Senate; in regarde that that valiant woman, had euermore také good pare with the Romaines.

The Senate was willing heerein to gratifie Gabinius, but Alexander, being returned into Iudea; returned bad recompence to Gabinius, and the Senate, for the great grace which they had granted him. For, feeing Gabinius to be hindred in Egypt, by much trouble (as hath already beene faid) being fauored with thirty thousand men: againe he ftroue to fubiugate Iudea, and tallofder cruelly murdered all the Romaine Souldi-anderto 0 ers, that he could finde in the garrifons of binius and the furprized Cities. For which cruelty, Senate, hee payed the just punishment about fine veares after.

Gabinius being returned into Iudea, laboured first to appeale these matters with Antipater: but no way preuayling, he vni ted the forces of the Romaine Armie; giuing aviolent and dangerous encounter to Alexander, wherein ten thousand Iemes loft their lines, and the rest driven all in route. Alexander strining to saue himselfe, and feeing his attempts fo often times frustrated and his forces broken lay close hidden for a while vntill he vnderstoode. that civile warre was kindled betweene Pompey and Cafar, and his father Aristo. bulus (deliuered out of prison) came thither with two legions. Then he bestirred himselfe to leuy Souldiers also; but was taken in Syria, euen vpon the very beginning of his enterprise, and led to Antioche to Scipio. Before him the Romanes accused him of cruelty, which he had vied against the Romaine Souldiers in the Garrisons: whereuppon, by Commaund received from Pompey, hee was beheaded before Scipio, who then helde Syria, fome few moneths after the death of his father Aristobulus; forty fixe yeares before the Natinity of Christ; and the selfe same yeare as Pompey was flaine in Egypt, as hath bin

This Alexander had these children by Alexandra, daughter to Hyrcanus the fe-

Wistobulus the third.

Alexanders

Alexander

accused of crueltie be-

Mariana, whom Herod after espoused But we shall speake hereafter of Alexanders children, because I am desirous first to relate somwhat, concerning the a-Ctions & fortuns of his brother Antigonis. Antigonus, the last sonne to Aristobulus

the 2. was twice taken with his father, and fent to Rome: once by Pompey, and another time by Gabinius. But then (by the fauour of the Senate) he was returned into Iudea with his brother Alexander ; & spent some time with his Mother in the City of Ascalon . Then hee went to Ptolomy, (Lord of Chalcis) his kinfeman, who refuled to affift the fool-hardy and vnhappy attempts of his brother Alexander, for feare of the Romanes. But after the death of his father and brother, when as Iulius Cafar had finished the war of Alexandria, & was come into Spaine: he presented himselfe before him in al humility, and made a great complaint, aswell of the pittifull ouerthrow of his father Aristobulus, as also of his brother ther Alexander, both being cruelly flaine by the partakers with Pompey.

He further proceeded, and taxed Antipater with vniust governing, who becing but of a meane descent, and a stranger: had (neueriheleffe) vfurped the kingdome of the Iswes, and had left nothing to Hyrcanus, but the filly name of Soueraigne Sacrificer, doing all at his owne pleafure, to establish the power of his children, and pretending to take away the principalitie from the lewith : the people (of the royall family of the Asmoneans) thereby to tranf- The allegation ferre it to his Sonnes. He faid, that him- onsimerred felfe was the onely man left, to whom the against Anti-Lawfull fuccession of the kingdome apper tained; who notwithstanding, being spoiled of his hereditarie dignity, was forced to wander as a vagabond, a banished man and left to all distresse. Concluding finally with humble interceffions, hee requefted, that the administration of the lewith principality might be restored to him, and Antipater dismissed.

Whereunto Antipater answering, began to accuse Aristobulus and his sonnes Antipater no before Cafar, because (contrary to all bules and his right and equity)he had violently rent the tensbetore kingdome from Hyrcanus his eldest bro- Caefar. ther, and alwayes beene difloyall and an enemy to the Romaines: wherein, his fons had well followed his example, filling Iudea and Syria with tumults and blood: that being the maine reason, why Aristobulus was follong, detained prisoner, and Alexander had his head finitten from his shoulders, for the cruelties he vsed to the Romaines. Afterward, hee procured faithfull witnesses, how modestly he had carried himselfe in governing, and what favors he had ener extended to the Romane Captaines. Cafar beeing thereto mooued by these inst causes, licenced Antigonus to depart, and confirmed the High-prieft- Antigonus hoode to Hyrcanus; and ennobling Anti-dismiffed from Cafar pater with new titles of Dignity, he con-without any stituted him Tutor of all Indea. Antigonus much displeased with this refufall, returned to his kinfeman the king of Chalcis, where he contayned himfelfe almost foure yeares space, vntill Iulius Cafar was murdered by the Conspiratours. For then, when all the world was vp in mutinie, and that Cassins (who was forraging in Syria, impeaching the warre a. gainst Marke Anthony) had retired the Romaine Armies out of Syria : Antigonus, affifted by his kinfman Ptolomy, and other

The Sonne murdered by his owne Father, to enjoy

Antigonus far against the gouerne-ment of Anti-

The Sacerdo tall Familie of the Afinoagayne with fresh forces.

An office fo

gouerning the fourth

part of the Realme.

New deuifes

and machina

tions of Anti-

gonus to com

paffe his in-

What cannot

gold and wo

men procure?

tent.

neighbouring kings, inuaded Indea with put Herod in possession of the Icwish kinghis Army againe; where Herode (his father Antipater being dead) being very powerfull and strong, repelled and gaue him coming into Indea. tharpe repulse, after the fighting of a bartell with him.

Some yeares after, when Anthony one of the three Monarchs had encreased the power of Herode, having ordayned him (with his brother Phaselus) Tetrarches of all Iudea: Antigonus enraged with anger. thought it not tollerable, that the kingdome of Indea should bee devolved vnto strangers in this manner. Wherefore, to leny a new Armie, hee had found out a yong man of a fiery temper, named Ly (ahand the kingdome of Chalcie was fallen, by the death of his father Ptolomy, vnto whom (as hath afore beene fayd) Alexandra, the Sister of Antigonius, was given in marriage. As they were working vpon these conclusions, another occasion (very apt and opportune) offered it felfe, because (asthen) the Parthians insulted ouer the Province of Syria, vnder the conduct of Pacorus and Barzaphernes. Lyfanias having fent great presents to them, and a thousand Talents promised by Antizonus, as also fine hundred women, excelling in nobility and beauty; they were heereby incited, to reseate Antigonus in

Before, in the life of Hyrcanus, we have expressed the stratagem of the barbarous people, to furprize Hyrcanus and Phafelus (being Ambaffadours)caprines, and how wickedly Antigonus did cut off his vnckles eares, fending him also captine into Parthia, to the end, that hee might the more fafely enion the High-priesthood and the Kingdome But this authoritie, gotten by fuch wicked cunning and practifes, could not keepe firme, or last any long while. For Sone after, Herode going to Rome, declared there to Marke Anthony, his flight and calamitie, complaining on the outrages and difloyaltie of Antigonus. In briefe, hee sped so well in his purpose, that instead of Tetrarch, he was proclaimed King of all Iudea, by confent of Augustus, Anthony and the Senate, and Antigonus adjudged enemy to the people of Rome. And although fome Romane Captaines, being fent with Legions into Syria, had charge to expulse Antigonus, and possession of his fathers kingdome.

dome : yet notwithstanding, by bribes and gifts, Antigonus kept them off from

At length, Anthony undertaking warre Sudurfar against the Parthians, Sofius was sent into with an sing against the Partmans, softway was tone must be to referre the redes the red the redes the redes the redes the redes the red rode; wherefore he and Herode, their for- ludes. ces being joyned together, befreged fome few moneths the Cittie of Ierusalem. Finally, they tooke it by force, the feuenth yeare after the death of Cafar, or of the Empire of Octavius Augustus, and the felfe same day that Pompey (scauen yeares before) had taken it.

At that time, as the Souldiers (indiffemiss, his kinfinan and hofte; into whofe rently on either fide) flew and murdered one another, without sparing eyther age or fexe: Antigonus, not able to endure the fight of fuch a flaughter among the Cittizens, came willingly forth of the muniti- who fenthin ons of the Temple, and fell before the captine into feere of Sosius the Romane Captaine, crauing pardon for his offences, and defiring (aboue all elfe) that hee would remit the common people, who were no warriours, and to spare the Temple. But the prowd Conquerour, making a mockerie of the fuppliant King, called him oftentimes (in derition) Antigonas, and after fent him captine into Syria to Anthony, who was returned from the warre of the Parthians.

Herode being possessed of the whole Kingdome, was advertised, that Anthony purposed to leade Antigonus with him in re-advance triumph to Rome . And fearing withall, ment of Anthat in due consideration of his nobilitie, kethhisdera or in compassion of his miserie, Augustus and the Senate would free him from imprisonment, and send him backe agayne into Iudea: with much ado, he obtaind of Anthony, by many reasons alleadged, and great gifts bestowed, that Antigoniu was flaine.

The principal argument that made Anthony yeelde thereto, beyond all other. was, that Iudea would neuer be peaceable, that procured folong as Antigonus lived. Confidering, the death of that many lewes were fo displeased by be- Antigonus ing subjects to high; as it was not possible, by horrible and extreamest torments, to force them acknowledge him the name of King. And therefore hee conceived, that there would neuer want companions in feditions and mutinies, where fuch a Commaunder as Antigonus should beare rule, against the liking of the people.

And thus Antigonus the last King of the Asmoneans, was flaine by the Romains in Antioche, after that Herode had expulfed him, and led away his vnckle Hyrcanus having obtayned about fine yeares the kingdome of Indea, by helpe of the Parthians: twelue yeares after the death of his father Aristobulus, and of his brother Alexander; thirty fourcycares also before the Nativitie of Lesus Christ our Sauior.

Afterward, the Principalitie of the Icwith people, taken from the Sacerdotall Familie of the Asmoneans, and especially, from the nation of the lewes: fell into the hand of Herode the foune of Antipater the Ilumean, and of his fonnes, and fonnes fonnes. So that from the first yeare of Iudas Macchabeus, whom his Father Mattathias (dying) appoynted Duke of the warlike troupes, vntill this yeare that Herode beganne to reigne, after the taking in of Ierusalem, and death of Antigonus, was an hundred and thirty yeares. Antigonus left not any heire maffe, but only one daughter, who afterward was wife to Antipater, the fonne of Herode . But his brother 4lexander, by Alexandra, the daughter to Hyrcanus, had these children.

CAriftobulus the the third

This Aristobulus, was but foure yeares olde, when his father Alexander was beheaded at Antioche by the Romaines . Afterward, coming to the age of 17. yeares: hee obtained at the beginning of Neroes reigne, the hie-priesthood by this occasio.

Herode beeing fully confirmed in the kingdome, would not establish in the hiepriesthood, his brother in law Hyrcanus, renoked from his banishment in Babylon: as fearing to contrary the Lawe of God, that denyed imperfect or difmembered people, to minister in the holy Temple, and fuch a one was the care-leffe Hyrcanus; but exalted to the dignitic of Soueraigne Sacrificer, another Iew of meane condition, named Ananelus, who was lately come from Babylan. Alexandra daughter to Hyrcanus, taking it to heart, that Herede made none account of her father, nor of her fonne Aristobulus, but had conferred the high-priefthood vpon a strange man; laboured by letters and gifts, to incite Cleopatra, that by the means of Marke Anthony, the High-priefthood might be conferred upon her fonne Ariftobulus.

Herode having intelligence heereof, & receiving letters from Anthony, whereby he was charged to fend him Ariftobulus; fearing left Anthony (although a wicked minded man) wold be inneigled with the beautie of the youth, and judge him, not onely worthy of the Priesthoode, but likewife of fome portion in the kingdom; Herodes cunmade a modest denyall to Anthony, vnder ning denyall colour, that if Ariftobulus thould be fent to Marke Anout of Indea, it would be the occasion of thony, for not many mutinies to arife in the kingdome, Hobulus to as in hope to enjoy a new King : Neuer- him. theleffe, to pacific Alexandra and Mariana, who he fawe trauelled fo earnestly on the behalfe of Aristobulus, and to the end, they should compasse no more contriuings, with working new cases to Anthony and Cleopatra: of his owne goodwill, hee deposed Ananelus from the High-priesthood, and inuefted therein Aristobulus: Notwithstanding, being highly offended against his mother Alexandra, for working fuch close and vnder-hand practifes: he gaue order, that shee should be arre- Alexandra fled, and more warily attended within the watch and Pallace, because (hereaster) she should warde. not attempt any thing in the like maner.

Shee beeing a Lady of great refolue, scorned this suspition and distrust in the King', holding it most dishonourable in him . to be so watchfully kept and obserued : by a faythfull and fecret Meffenger. fignified all her misfortunes to Cleopatra: who againe commaunded, that Alexandra, accompanied with her fonne Aristobules, should be fent to her in Egypt.

To compaffe her intent the more cunningly, Alexandra had caused two Coffins and Beeres to bee prepared, fuch as the dead are vsed to bee carried vpon into buriall : wherein shee and her sonne should bee carried to the Sca side; and there a Shippe attended ready for them, the custodie for transporting them thence to Cleopatra.

Alexandra imparted this denice of her owne wit, to a certayne Courtier, named Sabbion, whome thee knew to bee farre out of fauour with Herode: because hee stoode suspected as one consenting to the death of Antipater, father to Herode, who formerly had beene poyloned; and therefore fice made no doubt, but must needess continuance.

Authoririe

gotten by vn-

iust meanes

Anágonus bribis the Ro maine Cap.

Mariana wife

ode, and his

to King He-

other wife

Doris put a

Resions al-

ledged why

Mariana did

Sabbion proued falle, and betrayed Alexandra to Herode.

No miserie

more, then to

finde treaton

where trust i

faithfully rc-

Sabbion would bee the more fure and fecret, in furthering of her escape from thence. But hee considering, that now hee had an apt occasion thrust euen into his hand, whereby to treade downe the conceiued fuspition of poyloning, and make good proofe of his loyaltie to the King; declared the whole intent and purpose vnto him, and how it was to be perfour-

Especiall Spies and Guardes were ap-

poynted, to take knowledge of anie appearing accident, but most of all, when the Coffins and Beeres, should be transported away, and in such artificiall order euerything was carried : that Alexandra and her Sonne were both furprized, euen in the very bearing thence in the Beeres. Sharpe and seuere threatnings were vttered by the King, to the no small affliction of Alexandra and Aristobulus, to be fo treacherously preuented in the verie height of all their hopes : yet pretending pittie and commiseration, hee promised his free and gracious pardon for this offence, prouided, that (afterward) they should not practise any such attempt againe. This clemencie hee then vsed, fearing lest if he should have inslicted any other execution on them : hee might thereby runne into the displeasure of Cleopatra, who was confenting to the manner of their escape. And yet hee would gladly haue punished this feminine boldnesse in her, but (aboue all) faine he would have Aristobulus dispatched out of the way : because hee was the High-priest, and highly affected of the people, in regard of his Royall discent, and many finguler graces

Ariftobulus highly plea-feth the peobyeuerything that he did or

In the projecting of these his wicked deuices, it chaunced to be the Feaft of Tabernacles, when Aristobulus, beeing ple inthe feast richly adorned in his Priestly garments, performed the office of foueraigne Sacrificer, with fuch extraordinarie grauitie and decencie: that both in respect of his age, stature, and beautie of body, he appeared wonderfully pleafing in every eic, so that the people standing about him, showted out aloude with ioy, applauding enery gesture, and any thing that hee did or faid, with clapping their hands, expresfing the fauour and inclination of all the people to Aristobulus, and what desire they had, to enjoy a King of their owne Nation, in regard that their hatred to the present estate of the Kingdome, therein plainely appeared.

Herode ill digefling this love to hisenemy, which he imagined would increase Herode condaily more and more; began to feeke into death of Ati all contriuings, whereby he might (forth- Robulat. with) compasse the death of Aristobulus. And it came to passe, that the Feast being ended, Alexandra feasted him in the citic of Iericho, as hoping to qualifie all displeafure in the King. Hered there shewed him felfe so chearefull and gracious to the women, as possibly might be, and (aboue all) having to the youthfull Lord, I othat the whole reliance day was spent in sports and delights of distinct the way was spent in sports and delights of distinct the way was spent in sports and delights of distinct the way was spent in sports and delights of distinct the way was spent in sports and delights of distinct the way was spent in sports and the way was spent in sports and delights of distinct the way was spent in sports and the way was spent in the way was spent in sports and the way was spent in the uers kindes. At enening Aristobulus walked with his company in the Kings Garden, where (after he had somewhat extraordinarily heated himfelfe with running and leaping) the Guard of Herode, thereto appoynted by the King; prouoked A.

ristobulus, to coole his sweating by swimming in a fish-pond neare adjoyning.

Such was his gentle & flexible nature.

and no way suspitious of anie intended treacherie, as hee was thereto foone perswaded. And as he came swimming neere to the banckes fide: they threw water on him in leasting manner, holding his head ditters times vnder water, vntill at laft he Herodercunwas quite stifled thereby, while Herode inprocuring (walking by himfelfe alone) feemed not they to thinke on any fuch matter. But when and death of Ariftobulus, one of the guard came, and informed him thereof, and in what maner it happened, without any mallice intended towardes him:one while he gricued, another while raged, threatning the guard with death, for being so ouer. bold with him . Before the Mother and Sifter of Aristobulus, he Pompe and presented himselfe in most wofull maner, cost do iman wringing his hands, and tearing the haire monftrous & from his head, as if he had truly mourned horrideallifor the Princes death; preparing a most one magnificent funerall for him, and whereat there wanted no cost and pompe. By this hellish fraude in Herode, was Aristobulus the third innocently murdered, aged 18. yeares; and after hee had one yeare enioyed the High-priesthood, which Herod restored Ananelus againe vnto, Hyrcanus the second, yet living, who remayned the onely masse of the Associate and Mariana fu-

Ipefred by Herode, and

accused of a

Chap. 10. was not fit to administer the Priesthoode, as hath alredy beene declared.

> Mariana. Sifter to this Aristobulus, daughter to the fecond Alexander, the youngest sonne of the fecond Hyrcanus, was most excellent both for beauty and chaftity. Herode espoused her, after he was declared King dea remayned, vittil the destruction of by the Romanes, a little before the furpri- Ierusalem. zing of Ierusalem, and the death of Antigonus: hee having repudiated his wife Doris of Idumea, by whome hee had a fonne named Antipater. This dinorce was the cause, that Mariana was continually in the diflike of Cipris, mother to the King, of his fifter Salome, and of fome other women beside. Herselse also (afterward) encreased this hatred, because she,

being iffued and descended from Kings:

despised the Mother and Sister to the King, they being strangers, and derined but from meane condition. It may be, that thee grew the leffe familiar with the King, acquainting herfelfe but feldome in his company; because hee had taken the Kingdome of Iudea men that we reade of, the feemeth to me king Herode from her father Alexander, and put to the most vnfortunate, as well by accident, therand fifter death her vnckle Antigonus, and had also as thorow her owne defects. And that (by treason) murthered her brother Athey may be the better understood, I have ristobulus the third, a worthy innocent in order here inferted her parentage. voong Prince : Adding withall, that he had executed her grandfather Hyrcanus, a good olde man, impoling vppon him, that hee affected the Kingdome . It was no great matter of maruell then, if this noble and high spirited woman, disdained amiable conversation with him, who had given her fo many occasions of extreame affliction; confidering also, that the eares of this yoong Lady were daily pestered, with shamefull injuries and complaints, which her Mother Alexandra continually made against the house of Antipater. Finally, the grew to be suspected by the King, for matter of adultery (as I shall heercafter more at large relate in the life of Herod.) And Salome the Kings fifter, confederated with other Ladies of the Court (abounding in hatred more and more against her) maintayned strongly the suspicion; adding moreouer, an intent of impoyloning him. Wherein the taking no care to cleare herfelfe, relying vpon Herodes intimate lone vnto her, and her owne innocencie: thee was accused Mariana. by Herode before his friends, and flayne by the sentence of them. Shee left fine children liuing, which thee had by Herode, three fonnes, and two daughters, of whom afterward came the two Agrippaes, to whom the Royall power in 111-

All the other race of Herode, which Herodes iffue he had by nine other wines, and in great vitterly failed. number, fayled, as shall be declared in their due places.

Almost all the whole family of the Afmoneans, beeing thus expressed, there re- Alexandra maineth now for me, that I should write the race of of the posteritie of Antipater : but A'exan- the Almonedra yet resteth of the Asmoneans, who and most standing upon the Nobilitie of her race, | was daughter to the second Hyrcanus, and valorunate. wife to the second Alexander. And although we have already fayd fomewhat of her, and are yet to speake of the actions of Herode : yet notwithstanding, I have thought good to descipher heere summarily, the wofull misaduentures of this Ladie: for, amongst all other miserable wo-

> Hyrcanus 2. Aristobulus. Alexandra. Alexander 2. Antigonus. Aristobulus 3.

[Irst of all, this Alexandra beeing but a The kingdom young maid, faw, after the death of A- and Highlexandra her grandmother (who reigned ken from her but nine yeares after the deceasse of her father. husband) the hereditarie Kingdome and High-priesthood, taken perforce from her father Hyrcanus, by his brother Ariftobulus, who had long time besieged him in the munition of the Temple.

Afterward, being very young, she was married to his cofin Alexander; and the Cittie of Ierufalem beeing furprized by Pompey: The faw the pitifull fortune of her tather, most vnhappily performed, to the

The diacrs aductfities 8 calamities happening t Alexandra.

A fecond fub

iection of Alexander to

the flatteric of

the Romaines

His expulsion

out of Judea

like a poore exile, and

fhamefull ex ecution.

being accomplished with horrible massacres, foule prophanation of the Temple, flaughter of infinite Citizens, beside robberies of their goods. Moreouer, the destruction of the Cittie walles, insupportable exactions, with a perpetuall yoake of most seuere dominion of the Romaines: belide the captinity and transport of her vnckle Aristobulus, her husband Alexander, and her cofin Antigonus, to be led villainously (in derision) through the Citic of Rome, to grace Pompeys triumph. No doubt but thefe mighty misfortunes, were causes of no meane griefe to Alexandra.

Shee likewife beheld the escape of her husband Alexander by the way, who came to make new tumults in Indea: but being ouerthrowne in many encounters, and beside despoyled of allenabling forces: the fawehim againe fent captine to Rome by Gabinius, with his father Aristobulus, and his brother Antigonus.

Againe, shee sawe him sent into Iudea, where growing as tempestuous and troublesome as before: he was agayne chased out of the Countries limits, wandering from thence as a poore vagabond and banished man. At length, she heard that (by the commaund of Pompey) he was fhamefully executed at Antioche, and that (but a little before) his father Aristobulus, after a long detention of his person, being (with great difficulty) deliuered from imprisonment, was poyfoned.

Next, shee saw the Cittie of Ierusalem taken by the Parthians treacherie, and her father Hyrcanus (by fraude and deceite in Aristobulus) apprehended, his cars cut off. and led away into the enemies land. She. in this perillous furptifall of Ierufalem, got forth by night with her Mother, the wife. the fifter of Herode, and many other Ladies, hauing her son with her, aged a dofen yeares, and her daughter little more then he: but both exposed to infinite iniuries, as well of Souldiers violence, as of great wrongs to their tender yeares, the barbarous people spoyling and rauishing

From thence the was fent (with the other Ladies) to a strong fortresse in the Citty of Maffada in Idumea, in great feare and danger of Antigonus, then reigning: where thee remayned about two yeares, vntill fuch time as Herode (hauing obtai-

all wherefocuer they came.

great harme of the country and her felfe, I ned the title of King by the Romaines) returned into Iudea; and finding there his power to be ftrongest, deliuered her and the rest from imprisonment.

A third time also she saw the Citty of Irusalem taken, ransacked, and filled with Lerusalem fin. murders, by the Souldiors of Herode and Prizeda third Sosius : her cosin Antigonus led prisoner to Marke Anthony, and afterward pur to execution.

Alexandra fawe and felt all these extremities, before the Kingdome of Herode could be confirmed : which beeing once effected, the likewise beganne to breathe, feeming fully acquitted from all calamities. Nay, which is more, the might haue ties. Nay, which is more, the might have fetled hir estate in the height of happines, forume sholl if shee could have made vse of Fortunes have some fauours, as they showred themselves in plentifull manner vpon her-

For Herode being King, had divorced his first wife Doru, and defeated his sonne Antipater, from all hope of incceeding after him; having married Mariana, the daughter of Alexandra, whom hee most fingularly affected, as wel for her beautie, as many other graces of spirit wherewith the was plentifully endowed. Hereupon ensued, that her Mother Alexandra, being The grants called to the Court, was worthily respe- uours and ho cted, and had great credite with the King nourdogeto and all other. Her Father Hyrcanus alfo the Court (already returned from exile) was reuoked home into his countrey to him Herode, and the rest (by the Kings example) yeelded great honour, as vnto their Fa-

But Alexandra ouerthrew all this happines, by her vehement ambition, fiercenesse and impatience; so that (at length) the became to be enucloped with might her faire for ty calamities, and was the cause of her tunes, & conowne death. For, taking in high difplea- renterly fure, that Ananelus was authorized with death. the High-priesthood, without any regard of her sonne Aristobulus, to whom it appertained by hereditarie right : she grew to machinate many dangerous matters, to exalt her fonne to that dignitie of the Priesthood, procuring (by the meanes of Cleopatra) to incente Marke Anthonie against Herode. Which being discouered, the yet attayned the felicitie, that her fon was made soueraigne Sacrificer : but her advanced to felfe was not in fo noble estate as before, the hie-priestbecause thee was heedefully guarded, as hoode.

one dangerously enclined, and much suspecied by the king.

She, not able to endure this intollerable rigor of the King, being thut vp from the vie of her libertie; practifed fecretly to escape to Cleopatra, as hath already bin faid, and being taken with her fonne in the very act, wel vnderstood, that she was then runne into the vnrecouerable hatred of Herode . Shortly after , the extreame forrow the fuffered, to fee her fonne A. ristobulus so treacherously murthered, might well have admonished her: that it much better anayled, to conquer Injurie by Patience, then roughly to wrastle with a Kings courage, naturally addicted to wickednesse.

Then againe, bringing Herode into

on to wexe coole; but not without cause

and fuspition, in regarde of her Mothers

cunning contriuings. Adding withall,

that her father Hyrcanus was not so much

honoured, neither respected by the king,

as he was wont to be. Whereby Alexandra tooke occasion, to incite her father alichus, King of the Arabians, euen then,

when (after the battaile of Actium) the King was in great danger, standing then in no meane feare, because Augustus was fure in Augustus against Herode, for his friendship to Marke Anthonie; the Scepter would be taken from the Idumean, and restored to the true heires of the house of

This vnhappy councell being discoue-

red, by the meanes of intercepted letters;

was the cause of putting to death the good olde Hyreanus, aged foure score

yeares, and bringing Alexandra into the very depth of forrowes. Neuerthelesse,

her fromak froken with fo many wounds;

and, even hardned (as it were) against all

grieuances whatfocuer, was scarcely sen-

lible of any of these oppressions; after the

loffe of fo many neare kinred, dispatched

by diners kindes of strange and vinworthy

deaths. Among whom, her husband Athe Amoneans.

danger, by accusing him before Anthony, for the murdering of her fonne : she won nothing thereby, but much more contempt and hatred in the King. Infomuch, that her daughter (otherwise choicely cherished by the King) found his affecti-

hight to Cl

whight from gainft Herode, advising him to flic to Maquitor in the Conquerour. For the wily woman did day at A dium thinke, that if the could procure displea-

Hyrcanus pu to death be ing aged, 80

lexander , and Antigonus his Lrother were | The kinred of beheaded. Her vnckle Arytobulus, who was likewise her father in law, was poiso-dinersmanned : her onely fonne Aristobulus trayte- neis. roufly drowned, by the procurement of Herode. Her father Hyrcanus (fo neare to his graue) dispatched by an ignominious infliction.

Her onely daughter Mariana remay- Mariana most ned, who beeing married to the King, gainst the might somewhat comfort her in these ex- king herhus. tremities. But this violent woman, fwel- band. ling in hatred against the King, declared herfelfe most strangely troublesome vnto her husband, by continuall reproaching the Idumean house, and complaying of the Kings horrible cruelties : So that, after she became to be suspected of adulterie; and a falle crime imposed on her, that the practifed to poison her husband : He. rode was the easier wonne to her death, albeit he loued her intirely, and the had borne him fiue children.

mitie, in the miserable & voworthie death and voconofher daughter; Alexandra could not yet querable coube conquered, neyther understand, how rage. many incumbrances her accempts turned by misfortunes to her and hers; yearto many other that truely pittied her indif. cretion. Nor could the be admonished. moderately to beare precedent and prefent mishaps (whereof continually thee gaue the occasion) but rather prouoked nouell extreamities, by her impatience and pecuish folly : for, after the execution of Mariana, Doris, mother to Antipater, and formerly dinorced : fix yeares after was recalled to the Court, and her wonted lodging in the Kings Chamber, Herode recaland it appeared, that her sonne Antipater led home to Court his former dimored mer dimored cluded quite. Alexandra perceiving, that the onely remayned of the Asmonean royall family, and that the was to take care of hir daughters children: affected rather to runne into extreamity, then after fuch frequent causes of griefe, to line in the despite and contempt of Doris, Salome and Antipater, who was to reigne after his father, and to Such yikesom fee the same Antipater, borne of Doris the and offensive Idumean, and not noble (cuen when He- fights as Alex rode lived but in private condition) to be able to indure

after him, and the sonnes of Mariana ex-

Now, notwithstanding so great cala- A woman of ned by the King, in hope of fucceeding wife Doris.

preferred

Hard and wo full extremities for a Ladie to fuffer and endure,

Her imprilon ment with o ther Ladies in Indumea.

She laboured

tilons to re-

Her endeuors

for advancing

ters children

to the king-

Herode veri

icalous of any

that affected

his kingdome

dome.

her daugh-

Chap. 12.

laid upon lo-fephus the hi-doria, for not juftly nubring the foueraign

ly of lefus the

fonne of lofe-dech and how

Herodes reigning. Hereupon, the began to confider on some apt opportunitie, to exploit a certaine desseigne, which shee imagined to be divinely instructed to hir foulc; in regard that the King (being very greatly perplexed in mind, grieued extraordinarily for his wifes execution) was ficke; even to death, in the citty of Samaria: which made her (by faire promises) follicite the Kings Garrisons to renolt from him, whereof there were two, one in the Cittie, the other in the Temple, and these beeing reduced to partake with uolt from him her, it would be a very casie way for her to enjoy the Kingdome.

Alexandra exhorted those warrelike bands by faithful messengers (considering the incertitude of the Kings life, or rather the affurance of his death:) to possesse themselues of the Pallace, before that Antipater, or any other should inuade the kingdome, and to preferue the fucceffion thereof, for the fonnes of Herode by his Queene Mariana, till they came to lawfull age, because they were the legittimate heires, and the Kingdome (by right) belonged to them. But the Souldiors, hauing duely confidered on the matter among themselues: concluded, not to follow the perillous and ill-aduised councell of this audacious woman, whom they knew to be most maliciously enclined to the King . For (indeede) they greatly feared the Kings dangerous nature, most couctous of reigning and commanding, and accustomed to renenge (very seuerely) any attempts, in fuch as hee held the least fuspition of, beeing any way affected to the kingdome : as he witneffed most euidently, in the punishments inflicted upon his owne children.

One of the Souldiers thinking, that by reuealing the aduice of this woman, hee fhould winne great grace and fauour of the King: poafted to Samaria, and there disclosed to the sicke King, all the machination of his mother in law; which grew the more tedious to Herode, in regarde of very impatiently enduring the anguish of his difeate : and therefore (wholly ouercome with rage and choller) heefent instant commaund to Ierusalem, forthwith to put his mother in law Alexandra to death, as a trayterous confpitator against preferred the fons of Mariana, who was a | his life; and it was accordingly perfour-Queene, and they borne in the time of

Thus after infinite calamities, Alexandra ended her dayes in this tragicall maner; for, being neuer contented with any present fortune, she daily begate nouell miseries, one still in the necke of another, only through dittafting any initiant condi-tion. Otherwise, she was a woman graue, autoriting only through distasting any instant condidiscreet and ingenious, but ouer violently given vp to ambition, hatred and an- which short-inch the red her date! ger (very vile and bad councellers) more then needed. She had out-gone the compasse of three score yeares, when she was thus put to death; and so became the family of the Asmoneans quite extinct : but onely what remained in the heires of Mariana, deriued from an Idumean father.

Let this Discourse suffice, concerning the noble house of the Asmoneans, which from a finall beginning (in the defence of a most honest and good cause) became a most honest and good cause) became exalted to sourcaigne glory and dignity, the mole so by their owne industry, but (more especial Admostration) ally) the helpe of heaven. Afterward, hauing left the principall cause, they began to feeke after power and riches, according to the fashion of Pagan Kings, and to ftirre in many vnnecessarie matters: partly trusting to their owne might, and partly relying on the affiftance of strangers. Whereon ensued, that, being first distracted by domesticke discordes. and next, admitting entrance to strange enemies: they beganne (by little and lit- The whole tle) to diminish; and finally, to leane the other leading to leave the whole possession of the Iewish kingdome, kingdome to the dominion of ftrangers. Euen after den oue to they had held the principality of the people, from Indas Macchabeus, vnto the beginning of Herodes kingdome, for an hundred and thirty yeares, and hadkept the High-priefthoode an hundred and feuenteene yeares.

CHAP. XI.

Abriefe entrance into the description of the posteritie of Antipater, holding the principalitie of Iudea, but not the High-priest-differently) held the principalitie of Judea, but not the foueraigne Sacrificers Office (for it was not lawfull, that so sacred a charge should bee administred by strangers) vntill the destruction of the Cittie, and the Temple of Ierusalem.

For the High-priesthoode was in the hands of others, who indeed were lewes; but yet of diners and obscure Families, enstalled by Herode and the Romaines, cyther by fauour or rewards.

It is no easie matter to describe their fuccession, neither doe I hold it any way necessary for this discourse : considering that afterward, the foueraigne Sacrificers were neuer potent or powerfull; and befide, the fourraigne gouernement remained in the hands of Romaine Captaynes and Princes.

In fephus also was not very carefull, curioully to number the fourraigne Sacrificers; but rather fatisfieth himfelfe, with declaring, that in the kingdom of Herode, accounting from his reigne, vntill the de-Aruction of the lewish nation; there had beene nine and twentie High-priests, which space of time continued litle more then an hundred yeares. For from the beginning of Herodes reigne, vnto the fecond yeare of the Empire of Vespasian, I finde by computation, an hundred and fixe yeares.

But in the first Familie of Iefus, which held the High-priesthoode, after their returne from Babylon, vntill the time of And tiochus the Noble; there are accounted fifteene foueraigne Sacrificers onely, although the time was thrice as long as the latter. For, as we have already elsewhere related, that from the first yeare of Cyrus, vntill that of Alcimus; are found three hundred eightie and fixe yeares, or thereabout. The cause of this multiplicitie of High-priefts, grew by so often and frequent changes, one still defeating and ouerthrowing another : one while by the power of money, fauour, or both; another while by might, and affiftance of eThe third Family.

CHAP. XII.

Concerning the Posteritie of Antipater the Idumean of Ascalon, transferring the High-priesthoode (at their pleasure) to frangers : having violently got it from the Asmoneans, and held the principalitie of the lewish people, untill the destru-Ction of Ierusalem, under the reigne of Ve/pafian.

Dumea is the vtmost part of the Land of Canaan, confining Exple and Arabia, and closing vp the coast of Indea towardes the South, holding on that part, which the Tribe of Iuda had by lot in their inheritance. In elder times, it was inhabited by the posteritie of Esau, (brother to laacob) who was also named Edom, that is to fay, Red-hayred. Of him they came to be called Idumeans, and hauing lost the true doctrine, and holy sernices commaunded them by God: they fell to the worthipping of Idolles, with their neighbouring nations. King David first of all brought them into fubication, and made them tributarie to the Kings of Iuda. About an hundred and fiftie yeares after, they renolted agayne vnder Ioram King of Inda, fonne to Iehofaphat, and rebelled against the Iewes, divided into two kingdomes. And although the succeeding Kings compelled them divers times, to vnder-goe againe their former feruilitie: vet notwithstanding, they defended their libertie by armes, vntill fuch time as Iudas was led captine into Babylon. And then, they tooke many Citties from the Iewes: which afterward (by the Edict of King Darius) they were enforced to reftore vnto them agayne, when they were returned from Babylon.

Not long after, John Hyrcanus, fonne to Simon the Asmonean, hauing ouercome them in a very difficult warre: constrayned them, to make profession of the same doctrine and religion with him, caufing

brother to

made the Idumeans tribuuolts and rebellions of the

fhed by John Hyrcanus.

Th'enterprife of Alexandra was diffoled and the put to ther to King

Herode,

more freely with the lewes; fo that they Courts of the Iewish kings. Antipater fain warre by A.

governour King of

of Icrufa- Iudea.

reftobulus a

Antipater came of this Idumean nation, whose sonne, named Herode, having afterward obtained the Iewish kingdome, and fearing to vie himselfe with them as a stranger: would be esteemed a Iew, because (as hath bene said) the Idumeans had received Circumcifion under John Hurcanus. Iofephus thus recordeth this family.

them to vndergoe Circumcifion. Heerehence it enfired, that they trafficked the

Antipas the Father

The iffue of Antipater the father.

Cephalion flaine Antipater the fa- Cypris an Idu mean wo canus Tutour of all Iudea.

These children came of Antipater.

Antipaters

Antipater go

Idumea.

~ ~ ~ ~ Phatelus Herode Sofippus Pheroras Salome a gouernor Tetrarch. daughter.

Antipas the Ascalonite, father to Antipater, was appointed Gouernour of his Countrey of Idumea, by Alexander Iamnes, and beside afterward enjoying it still (sometime) vnder the Queene Alexandra; he gathered great store of wealth, and obtained the principall authority in that Region.

Anaipater.

Succeeded in the government of Idumea, after his deceaffed father, during which time, he not only wonne the hearts of his owne nation, augmenting and confirming his wealth, by aliance with neighboring Kings, and Cities, but also strongly infinuated himfelfe into good grace with Hyrcanus the second, by many acceptable seruices. For he being instituted Soueraigne Sacrificer by his mother, who then ruled the kingdome. Antipater had great hope, that the fauour of Hyrcanus would (in time) aduaunce him to higher degree. Now, he perswaded himselfe, that withHyrcanus the mother being dead, hee should come to inion the kingdom by hereditary right. Wherefore , Antipaoer was very diligent towards him in all kindes of courtelies. making no account at all of the yoonger brother : which made him wonderfully hated by Aristobulus, as it fell out after in open apparance. For their mother being dead, Aristobulus having fought with were called to their warres, and to the his brother Hyrcanus in a field of battell, & afterward held befieged in the temple: he was at length constrained, to dismiffe himselfe, both of the kingdome and high-Priesthood. And then (by flowe and politike degrees) he deposed Antipater from Antipater de the gouernement of Idumea, for his for the gouernemany good services to Hyreanus in war. mentolists

This injurie more and more enflamed the hatred of Antipater against Aristobulus, and because hee could not reuenge himselfe by power: hee incited the greatest Lords of the Iewes against King Ari-Stobulus by secret accusations. About all, he handled Hyrcanus in divers kindes (hee beeing of his owne nature, modest and temperate) one while terrifying him with frange feares, another while chearing hishopes, with vndoubted comming the chear that to his Crowneagaine. He told him that canus, his brother Aristobulus, (aman meerely vile by complexion) fought all occasions, either by close contrivings, or open violence, to prevaile against his life: for his more fecure enjoying of the kingdome, whereto hee had aspired by such wickednesse. Hee auouched, to have certayne knowledge, of divers enterprifes in Aristobulus by cuident fignes : either because they were truely so indeede, or for the more prouoking Hyrcanus against his brother. Moreouer, he shewed the meanes Incitation for and wayes, whereby Hyrcanus might regayne the Kingdome belonging to him, rabia. to wit, if they both fled thence to Aretas, king of Arabia, with whom he had ancient amitie and alliance, and who (he doubted not) could fatisfie their defires.

Hyrcanus was at last wonne by these speeches, being formerly wounded with the wrongs which his brother had offred Hyrcanusgs him; fo that accompanied with Antipater, eth with Anand some other, who not a little despised cret manner the dominion of Aristobulus; he fecretly to Aretas, and went to Aretas in the city of Petra. There complainto humbling himfelfe before the King, hee him. defired affiftance of him against his wicked and cruell brother, who not only had depriued him of the High-priesthoode, (contrary to all right and equitie) which hee had peaceably enjoyed nine yeares in his mothers life time; and not onely also bereft him of the kingdome, which by the

the eldest sonne : but (beside) layed daily trappes and traines for his life. Whereupon he promised, that it hee should be restored to his Kingdome; he would furrender to him ten Citties, which his father Alexander Jamnes had taken from the Realme of Arabia, and other honourable recompences beside.

Eng Arctas

Chap. 12.

Onias a holic

law of Nations belonged to him, as being | the people befreging against the Priests,

Aretas, more moued by the perswasions of Antipater, then all the praiers and promifes of Hyrcanus, inuaded Iudea with fiftie thousand men . Arist obulus encountring with him, was vanquished, chiefly by the valiancie of Antipater : and beeing abandoned of his fouldiers, the most part yeelded themselves to Hyrcanus . Aristobulus got closely into the Citie, and there (with some of the Sacrificers and Cittizens) kept within the fortresse of the temple, being prouided of all things necessarie to endure besieging. But yet besore this extremitie, he had sent an ambassage (in great haste) to Scaurus, Lieutenant, abiding then in Syria, intreating fuccour of him against the Arabes: promising him foure hundred Talents, that is, two hundred and fortie thousand crownes of the Aretas pursuing Aristobalus with his Armie, entred into the Cittie, to lay his fiege before the Temple; the Cittizens yeelding themselves to Hyrcanus, and the Cittie alfo. But some Icwes foreseeing, that this debate betweene the brethren,about possession of the kingdome, would cause the ruine of the whole country; left there their goods, and fledde into Egypt. Other of the Cittizens ioyned with the Arabes, belieging the munition, and preffed the inclosed Sacrificers very narrowly; yea, much more nearely then the enemie, vfing deceits and fubrilties with their crueltie. For they drew out of the fecret Sanctuarie (where this civile warre was most vnciuilly maintained) a holy man, named Onias, who in an extreme drought and dread of sterilitie, made his prayers to God, defiring raine in that needefull feafon: and would have compelled him, nan,extreme to curffe and damne the befreged to the diuell, because they would not yeelde themselues. But hee (on the contrary) made his prayers aloude to God, that he would neither heare the Sacrificers, or Priests besieged against the people, nor for which cause the lewes stoned him.

And when the feast of Easter was come, when there was neede of many beafts for Sacrifices, the Priests required, that such fore might be deliuered them, as was necessarily to be vsed in such solemne Sacrifices, agreeing to paya thousand drachmes for each beaft; that is to fay, an handred crownes of the Sunne. But after that the lewes had received fo great a fumme Falle and fraudtull dear from the Priests: they descended from the walles, and would not personne a lote lews with the of that which they had promised, but facificing mocked the facrificing Priefts, who were ouer credulous in beleeving them.

But the Lord God being offended with this wickednes, and taking vengeance for The inflice of their foule transgressions; sent a sharpe lews for their winde on the Corne then almost ripe, wickednes. which being vtterly spoyled, the famine was to great, that a buthell of wheate was

The belieged beginning to feele the want offoode, and that nothing hindred them from yeelding, but onely to heare an answer from Scaurus (under the hope whereof, Aristobulus encouraged the Ambassadors Priests, to endure all difficulties of the fent fro Scau. fiege:) it fortuned (very fucceffefully for retas. them) that Scaurus sent Ambassadours to King Aretas, that he should withdraw his Army out of Iudea, except hee meant to prooue the displeasure of the Romaine people. Aretas obeyed this commaund, and so much the rather, because his army was in great distresse for foode. By which meanes, (without doing any thing elfe) Hyrcanus and Antipater returned backe to Arabia with the King.

folde eleuen times more deare, then viu-

ally it was wont to be: to wit, at cleanen drachmaes, whereas before (in eneric yeare) it was fold for a drachma, and leffe.

Soone after, Pompey came out of Arme. nia into Syria, whereupon, Antipater pro- procured Ari cured many of the most potent lewes, to stobulus to be accuse Aristobulus before him. Himselfe fore Pompey likewise, as an Ambassador sent from Hyrcanus, went to Pompey, and pleaded the cause of Hyrcanus against Aristobulus, and entred into fuch respect with Pompey; that after the furprizing of the Cittle, Hyrcanus was restored to the High-priesthood, but not to the Kingdome. And from thence forward, Antipater beganne to grow great, gouerning (well neare) all

Antipater

ter laboured to keepe himfelfe in fauour

Thereason

why Antipa-

The cunning infinuations of Antipater with the Ro man captains

Antipater

peace betwin

Scaurus and

Aretas,king

of the Arabi

and his gene rall Caffins.

The actions

of Antipater

in Egypt, and his taithfull

ternice to lu

lius Catar,

(being a louer of quiemeffe) left all to his rule. And fo gracious was he with the Romune Captaines, in all fuch feruices as possibly he could do for them : that he infinuated farre into their friendship, caufing Hyreanis daily to bestow magnificet gifts, and himfelfe received all the thanks and profite for them. First, he was very diligent, to furnish

Seaurus with all kinde of munition, when he was left in Judea with two legions, and made warre upon the Arabes. Next, being fent in embaffage by the fame Scaurus to the king Aretas: hee procured peace, in regarde of his auncient amitie with the King, and perswaded Scaurus to bring his Army out of Arabia, after he had received of the King three hundred Talents, as much to fay, as an hundred and fourescore thousand crowns of the Sunne. Afterward, he affifted Gabiniss against Alexander, fonne to Aristobulus, but especially in the restitution of King Ptolomey the Fleutster: where he made passage for Gabinius, to goe from Indea into Egipt by Idumea.

By the like fubrile and cunning means, he qualified rich Crassus, and his General Casius, being removed from the Parthian warre; fearing left any thing fhould bee attempted, that might be hurtfull to Hyrcanus, who (from time to time) was accufed to the Romaine Captaines, as well by the formes of Aristobulus, as by diverse powerfull Iewes, that were of the fame

But, for the more fure establishing of his power, hee ayded Iulius Cafar more then all the reft. to whom he performed faithfull feruice in the Alexandrian warre, in bringing him three thousand Iewes. & procuring the Arabes, Idumeans, and Iews dwelling in Egipt, to be his companions in that warre. And when Mithridates of Pergamum (who went with a great Armie of Cilicia and Syria against Cafar) was repulsed in Egipt : Antipater (Damieta being fubdued) brought helpe to C.efar, and faued him by the way; when he was compelled (in an encounter) to give place to the enemy his men being ready prepared for flight.

For these deserts (the Alexandrian war being ended) Iulius Cafar confirmed the High priesthood vnto Hyrcanus, permit-occasions what socuer, because Hyrcanus, | ting him to builde up the Citty walles agayne: Moreouer, he appoynted Antiba ter to be Tutour of all Juden, and fent him into Iudea, honoured with the title of a Romaine Bourgeffe, and perpetuall immunities beside.

Antipater seeing himselfe exalted to fuch dignitie, deuifed also how to aduace his fonnes. Whereupon, Phaselus (being alterhisticus the eldeft)he appointed him to be gouer- to feueral nour of Ierufalem, and the neighbouring dignities, places about it : in regarde of the negligence and carelefnesse of Hyrcanus in the gouernement. Next to him was Herode, and he as yet but yoong : yet he gaue the charge of Galilee to him. Both of them very commendably performed their feuerall offices, which caused their father to bee much more effected generally, and won the fauour of many powerfull persons, by both his owne, and his fonnes liberalitie.

Hereupon it hapned, that fome Iews grew iealous and fuspitious of Antipater, Diuers lewes feeing him (purpofly) to maintaine the remiffenesse of Hyrcanus, onely for the exAntipater. altation of his owne fonnes: abusing also his riches and reuenues, to bestow great fauors and gifts vpon the Romains. In this respect, some of the best adulted lewes, and of the better fort, feared not to reprehend Hyrcanus publiquely, for his neglect and flouthfulneffe, in referring the totall administration of all things, onely to Antipater and his fonnes, who were scarcely started out of childhood. Hauing already gathered fuch heaps of wealth and cheui-fance, onely to curry fauour with the Ro-maines, that they were become dreadfull, list great to the whole nation. They bad him to be negligence. well aduised, whereto tended this power in the Idumeans, shewing him withall, that he dealt vniuftly and indifcreetly, having fo many Iewes, excelling in valour and expertnesse of armes: to reject them from managing publike affaires, reposing his whole trust in the defence of a stranger, who intended no profit to the Iewish nation but only how to leave the kingdome of Iudea to his owne fonnes.

Now, albeit these speeches did a little moue Hyrcanus, himfelfe also fearing the power of Antipater:yet notwithstanding, he could not forget, what benefits he had received by him, and what loyalty he had declared towards him, having alwayes kept him in extreame dangers. Beside, he

Conspiracie how to comdeath of Anupater, by Malichus a

The horrible

rapines of Callius in

ludea,to pof-

Chap. 12.

Thereading of Antipater topleafe the feared Aristobulus, and his sonnes, against whom he thought he stood in need of a powerfull defender, which made him anfwere; that he could not difmiffe Antipater from gouerning the generall affaires, in regard he had received his authoritie from the Romaines; who he might by no meanes offend, without both hazarding himfelfe, and the whole Country to vnauoidable dangers.

When the accusers of Antipater perceiued, they could worke nothing on the flow and neglect nature of Hyrcanus, they began to colider on fome fubtile means, whereby they might put Antipater to death. And one of them being named Malichus, excelling all the rest in wealth, wisedome, and corage, sought how to intrap Antipater, by secret plots and ambuthes prepared. But Antipater getting intelligence thereof, withdrew himfelfe beyond Iordane, where he leuied an Army, by aide from King Aretas his deare frend, with full deliberation to reuenge this iniury. Neuerthelesse, he was appealed by Hyrcanus, because Malichus purged himfelfe by oath, that he neuer intended any treason against him. This hapned immediatly after that the Conspirators had flayne Iulius Casar in the Senate house, when Cassius (Author and chiefe, in the conjuration) was come into Syria, and from thence into Indea: felle himfelfe where he villainoufly ranfacked the Cittics and Townes, onely to get money, fo that he fold the Magistrates of some places, with their whole families, and pillaged foure great citties in Indea, felling all the Citizens for flaues: because they had made refufall, to give fuch a large fumme as this infatiable beaft demanded. As he asked of the Iews feuen hundred talents, (which fumme amounted to foure tunnes of gold of our coyne, and twenty thoufand Crownes of the Sunne:) Antipater gaue charge to leny this money, partly of his Sons, and partly of the most powerfull Iewes: fo that the whole fumme being fuddenly payd in : Antipaters fonnes were the better welcomed among the Romans. And fo farre it proceeded, that Cassius (enen then) made promise of the kingdom of Indea to Herode, who ouer & aboue the

summe whereto the taxation mounted,

carryed store of gold to the campe in Sy-

Marke Anthony and Octausus. But for the present he commanded the Prouince of Syria to Herode, and the Army by Sea.

Malichus well obseruing, that the power of Antipater fo mightily encreasing, was not (by any patient meanes) to be indured; practifed & dealt with the Tafter or Cup-bearer to Hyrcanus the High- with Hyrcaprieft, by great gifts and fummes of mony : fo that one night, as Antipater was at Supper with Hyrcanus, the Tafter povio- his Fafter. ned him; albeit the fayd Tafter had twife bin deliuered from death by Antipater, & held his life of him . Thus was Antipater murdred, in the yere following the death of Iulius Cafar, he being (vndoubtedly) a man very excellent, wife, and provident. Some imagined, that Hyrcanus was not ignorant of the deed doing, or (at leaft) it was not doone in any despight of him: although Antipater by the means of Pompey, got him restored to the Soueraigne Priesthood, and afterward (for the space of 22. yeares) alwayes kept and defended him against the violence of his enemies.

Perhaps one way he had offended Hyrcanus, that (to fatisfie the couetous defires wherby Hyrof Cassius, and to forestall perills incident be offeneed to himfelfe) he was fomewhat ouer-rude with Antipain vrging money from him, he being an old man, sparing by nature, and the more gripple in holding, in regarde of his age. For which fault, Hyrcanus declared no great distaste in the murdering of his Benefactor. Because many times it comes to passe, that some men, having received good benefites for a large length of time, and yet growing (at length) to be displeafed : they forget all good deferuings past, and resting not so contented, proceed to diuers dangerous practifes against them. Of fuch ingrateful men, Philip Melanet on, my worthy master, & good father, wrote certaine Verses to this effect:

Some men there are, if thou transport their states With pompe to Rome, and plant'ft them in the gate ! landlhons Such fauour they require not with due grace. But (like ingratefull wretches) all deface.

Not long after, Hyrcanus pavd dearly for this his foolish ingratitude, because (the yeare following) Antigonus compasfed the meanes to bring the Parthians in- payd dearely to Iudea; when Hyreanus being taken, & for his ingraled into a strange land by the enemy: well tipater, found(but ouer-late) what defence he had rea) when he had ended the war against lost by the death of Antipater, and then in

Antipater be-ing at Jupper

Philip Me-

Hyrcanus

Antipater made a Romaire Rour geffe by Inlin most commendably for fixe yeares space.

during the life time of his father . He being dead, hee appeafed (by his vertue) a great trouble arising in Ierusalem, in regard that a certayne man, named Falix.

driven by Casius into Ierusalem with Sol-diours, being corrupted with mony from diuerse lewes; laboured to ouerthrow it.

But this Falix was vanquished by Phase. lus, and for a while kept in prison; but af-

Next, it was no little joy to him, to fee

Malichus (the murderer of his father Antipater) punished for his wickednesse:

of Cassius, and by the industrious meanes

ny came into Syria, and made Phaselus &

Herode Tetrarches of Indea: notwith-

Cassius being conquerd, Marke Antho-

terward released vpon certayne conditi- found leufs

who labouring to inuade the Principali- fedition Mai standing all the criminall accusations, al. Phaseles and leadged by the Iewes against them. But Herodinite Phaselus enioyed not that dignity any ludes by long while; for the yeare following the Marke At.

death of his father, the Citty beeing fur- thony.

prised by the Parthians and Antigonus:he was (by fubtilty) taken with Hyrcanus, and flew himselfe remayning prisoner, as I have already related in the life of the fe-

ty of Iudea, was flayne by the Souldiours lichus.

Chap. 13.

Joseppus také & beheaded

vaine lamented his owne folly, in listning to Malichus, and other Boute-feux, against so deare a friend as Antipater had alwayes bin to him.

CHAP. XIII.

A further entrance into discourse, concerning the race and Posteritie of Antipater, for the better clearing of some obscure doubts in divers Authors, and full satisfaction of the Reader.

Of the Sonnes of Antipater.

Phaselus the eldest.

The worthie performance of Phaselus in his charge. Ee being constituted by his Father, to be Gouernor of Lerufalem, and the round neighbouring places, to affift Hyrcanus (careleffe, and very vnapt for administration) in regard of his age; discharged his Commission | cond Hyrcanus.

Phaselus left a sonne

Herode King.

of Herode.

Mariana the Asmonean.

Phaselus, to whom Salome, daughter to Herode and Mariana was married, by whom he had these children.

EXECUTE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE

Antipater, of whom Herode and Alex- Alexandra, mar- Cypris, afterward we reade nothing. der, both dying young children.

ried to a lew of marryed to king Cyprus, beeing Agryppa.

Iosippus the third Sonne of Antipater.

espect of his age. But I holde it more convenient to speak first of his brethren, whose actions were of lesse fame and e-

Iosippus (called by some Gisippus) the third sonne of Antipater, was appoynted Gouernour of Idumes by his father, who

Herode commeth next after Phaselus, in | had obtained the Principalitie of Iudea. After his fathers death, he valiantly defended the family and affaires of his brother Herode, they being driven into exile drawing them into the City of Massada, fended his by Antigonus and the Parthians : withagainst the fayd King Antigonus, enduring brothers there a very difficult fiege, vntill that his hisfriends brother Herode (being returned out of Italie) delivered him and them, and was afterward proclaymed King by Octanius Augustus, and by Marke Anthony. Within a while after, when his brother Herode went to Marke Anthony, who belieged the Citty of Samofata, neare vnto Euphrates the charge of the Army was giuen to him. But going inconfiderately forraging for Corne, with fixe filly bands of Souldiers : he was taken in the Straits of the mountaines neare to Iericho, and there flain with all his men by Antigonus, about foure yeares after the death of his father.

His head being smitten off, was carried vp and downe in a mockery, and finally bought of Antigonius, by his brother Pheroras, for fifty Talents, that is, 20000 Crownes of the Sunne. He had a fonne named Iosippus also, to whom his vnckle Herode gaue in marriage, Olimpia, the Sifler of Archelaus, of whom he begat Mariana, afterwards marryed to Herode the leffe, King of Chalais.

Antipater

Iosippus Pre- Herode King Manthaca 2 fident of I- of Indea. Samaritane his wife.

Iosippus, his Wife Olympia.

Of them was borne Mariana, wife to Herode, fon to Aristobulus, King of Chal-

Pheroras, the yongest sonne to Antipater, when his brother Tofippus was flain; being as yet but young, he continued alone, yet ayded his brother Herode valiantly, managing dangerous warres (on his behalfe) against Antigonus, At the request of Herode, Amoustus Cafar thade him Tettarche, and yed him very honorably, yet returning but bad recompence therefore to his brother! For having procured him ito pur his wife Marina to death, and his two fontes Mlexander and Aristobulus heat the length compacted with Antipater, to compaffe the death of his brotheralfo. But being preuented by fudden death, hee efcaped punishment. He dyed forme few yeares before his brother Herod, and left two formes, to whom Augustus marryed two dalighters of deceassed Hirode, Roxana and Salome, endowing each with fine and twentie thoufand Crownes of the Sunne. Hee had a daughter also, marryed to the sonne of Antipater, yongest sonne of King Herode.

Salome, daughter of Antipater, Sister to Herode King of Indea.

IN her first marriage, thee was given to one named losippus, who being constituted guardian of Mariana, wife to Herod; was flaine by the Kings commaund . because hee would not reueale some matters of secrecie. Afterward she was married to Costabarus, Gouernor of Idumea. from whom the seperated her selfe by di uorce, contrary to the Lawe of Mofes: which permitted Husbands to leave their Wines for fome cause of importance; but not Wines to leave their Husbands. Neuerthelesse, Salome wfed this licence, confiding in the power of her brother : and afterward was the cause, that the sayd Costabarus dyed miserably. Finally, in despight of her selfe-will, Herede made her marry one Alexas although the was almost madde in love with a potent Arabe, third mariage named Sylens, an ytter enemy to Herode, and one that would not be circumcifed.

This Salome was a meere Fury in the Court of her brother, and a flaming firebrand of domesticke discordes, whereon many murders enfued. For being whol- fusion in the ly ouercome with hatred against Mariana | Court of king the Afmonean (who despised her, because brother. the was not nobly borne) the ceaffed not to enflame the spleene of her brother: contriving false crimes of adultery and poyfoning against her, vntill Herode had put his dearely affected wife to death. Which being done, and Salome fearing fome revenge to be inflicted on her : be. ganne to prouoke the father against Alexander and Aristobulus, the sonne of Mariana, feruing her turne heerein with Antipater, the forme of Herode, who flood in feare, that these two yong men should be aduanced and preferred before him to the kingdome.

She preuayled fo well by her cunning plots and practifes, that they both standing accused, for affecting the Kingdome, both execuand preparing of poylons, they were condemned; and, notwithstanding all their excellent partes and perfections, they

Her firft huf-

from her buf.

Salomethwar.

Alexander &

Concerning the brethren of Phatelus

Antipater dif

graced by her

meanes, and

The bountie

of Herode to his fifter at his death.

brought to

his de ath.

6. Books

Of Antipaters Posteritie.

803

were strangled by their fathers com- [which amounts to fifty thousand crowns maund.

Moreouer, by her secret and subtile reports, the wrung Antipater into his fathers ill opinion and difgrace, although hee had beene her companion in all her wickednesse; plotting and preparing all the treasons against his father, whereof he had falfly accused his most innocent brethren, the sonnes of Mariana, vntill himfelfe was caught in the fame fnare, and (by his fathers commaund) dispatched

Shee, the minister of so many monstrous cruelties, did survive her brother Herode; who left her (by his last will and testament) three most opulent Citties, to wit, Jamnia, Azot and Phafelis; befide two millions and an halfe of filuer coine, I came these children following.

Castabarus President

of Idumea.

Mariana the Af- was his confine. ristobulus.

fifter to Herod, Judea.

Vnckle Herode.

by the 3. huf-

Cypris.

law to Salome, King of King of bulus. fifter to Herod, Judea. Chalcus.

of the Sunne.

Moreouer, the being familiar (by Let ters) with Liuia, wife to August us (whom Infepher continually calleth Iulia) the faid Augustus gave her the Castle royall in the Citty of Ascalon. And the received called called annually out of the fore-named Citties, calon given three score Talents, which arise to thir- to Salone. tie fixe thousand crownes of the Sunne.

Haning lined twelve yeares after the death of her brother Herode; thee dyeda yeare before the departure of Augustus out of this life, and left (by her testament) to Liuia, wife to Augustus, those Citties Theldenhol which the formerly held. She left a fonne salome, and named Antipater, and a daughter fingu- what if ue larly beautifull, called Berenice, of whom field

the Asmonean.

mentiond

in the go-

Levelle, and Markey . 1 compare

a the congestion are with

SECTIONS OF STREET

Salome fister to

King Herode.

Cypris daughter Antipater espou- Berinice married Aristolulus Son to king Herode by sed her, albeit she to her cousine A- to king Herod by Alexas fonin Agrippa Herode Aristo- Herodias Mariana.

Agrippa
The second, succeeded in the Kingdome of Chalcis, after his Herode, the second sonne of Antipater; whom some doe call and can-

the Great, was the first King of Indea, being of a contrary

of Hyrcanus him from th

Chap. 13.

against Icrureverled by his father 8

bethAnthony

with a reasonable guard, and recommended by Sextus Cafar. Hyrcanus perceiving, that the Iudges were heavily incenfed by the adverfaries of Antipater, and that they would not faile to giue sentence in sharpe manner: desiring to gratifie his friend Antipater, he fecretly admonished Herode, to withdraw himselfe out of the citty, before he were condemned by the Iewes fentence; and thereupon conuaied to punishment. The yong man returned backe into Syria, ters from his father, appeared at Jerusalem

on the day of Affignation, accompanied very impatiently bearing the injurie, which he conceined to be doone him by the Iudges declaring to Sextus Cafar the treacherie of the Cittizens, and having received from him part of the Romaine Army, and the regiment of the lower Syria: hee resolued to revenge the wrong which the Councellhad offred him : So, going vp to Ierusalem with a maine Army, hee could hardly be with-held by his father, and his brother Phaselus; who met him by the way, and made him to retreate his army into Syria. But yethe could not remoone his mallice, which still he continued against the Consistorie: and which he veterly quailed and ouerthrew, after his coming to the Crowne. Not long after the death of Iulius Cal far, by a close ambush, and ayde of Cassius his Souldiours; he procured Malichus to beflaine, beeing the murtherer of his father Antipater . Which beeing done, once more hee expelled out of Indea Antigonius, the fonne of Aristobulus, whom he ouercame in warre, albeit he had reconcred part of Iudea.

After that Cassius and Brutus were vanquished neare to Philippi, when Marke Anthony was come into Syria: Ambaffa. dours went from the lewes to meete him at Bithynia, accusing there Phaselus and Herode to him, because the lawfull heires of the kingdome were expulsed, and they (by force) holde the whole gouernement of Indea. Herod also met them there, wel furnished with rich and sumptuous gifts. to bestow on Marke Anthony: of whom he was entertained most benignely, for the loue he had borne to his father Antipater, when being Lieutenant to Gabimius, hee was still in warre, during the howfocuer he liftened to the leves acenfations; yet he ordained Phafelus and his brother Herode Tetrarchs of Indea. And because the lews ceassed not to send Embaffie vpon Embaffie, and continually in great number, amounting to a thousand men in the end. Marke Anthony punished them with imprisonment . And because Anthony, imthey never would gine over, but daily intreated, that (by no meanes) they might be subjected to Herode; hee caused some of them to be put to death.

Hyrcanin descended to Anthony in Syria (already conioyned with Herode in af- Hyrcanus co. finitie, to whom hee had given his younger fifter Mariana, daughter of Alexander and Alexandra:) who was honourably ly welcomed entertained by Anthony, and confirmed in the possession of the High-pricsthood: and obtained those cities and persons(reduced by Cassius into servitude) to be delinered and enfranchifed; and that the rapined goodes should be restored to their first owners.

The yeare following, Pacorus having fubdued Syria (attracted by great promificial in the fes) brought Antigonys backe againe to Ierusalem, as hath formerly beene sayde. great compa-Where Herode (hearing that his brother Phalelus and Hyrcanus the foueraigne Sacrificer were detained prisoners, contrary to the lawes of Nations, knowing alfo , that the lewes were affected to Antigonns, fearing both his enemies and the Cittizens) he departed foorth fecretly in the dead time of the night, with his Mother Cypris, his wife Doris, his fifter Salome, his affianced Mariana, his mother in lawe Alexandra, and eight hundred other women, beside a great company of friends, and (with much adoe) got not safelie into Idumea. For his mother was fore wounded by the way, by reason of the Waggons ouerthrow vpon her : for that Herode (as halfe desperate) thought to have flaine himfelfe, because he was ouer-closely pursued by the barbarous people, whom (neuerthelesse) hee valiantly droue backe, and quite ouercame.

There he left al his company, and fuch Herode leagoodes as they carried with them, in a ftrong Cittie named Maffada, vinder the fada, and go charge and protection of his brother Io- eth lecretly fippus: and went very fecretly (attended to King Aretas in Arabia, but with a few Souldiours) to king Arepeace of Syria and Indea. Wherefore, tas, relying vpon the love and friendship

pidoned and put to death the lews Am ny with him.

Ezechias the Iew and his complices vanquithed & flayne by Herode in his yong dayes.

Herode being as yet but young, was ordayned President of Galilee, by his father Antipater, foone after Julius Cafar had fi. nished the warres in Egypt . He gaue immediate probation of his industry and valour, having destroyed and flaine Ezechias the lew, and a troop of thecues that wasted Syria: for the which being highly commended by the Syrians, hee found great grace and fauor with Sextus Cafar, who then gouerned the Prouince of Syria. It fortuned, that by the instigation of them that enuyed Antipater, Hyrcanus the Soueraigne Sactificer (contrary to his will) gaue personall summons to Herode, in regarde of the Temes by him taken and flayne in Syria, without liftening to the fentence of foneraign Judgement, which Herode fone then was tearmed Sanhedrin, of the Greek only specword Synedrion, as I conceine, and con- rance by its fisted of seauenty and two Judges , who were called the feuentie Ancients . Philo writeth, that before the kingdome of Herode, the Judges of that Councell were. chosen out of the posteritie of David only. Herode having advertisement (by Let-

Chap. 14.

The arrivall of Herode a Rome with Marke Anthony.

The grace & i wour that Herod found mane Senate

to Rou e,and

of iudea.

TheRomaia

captains cor-

repredby

golde from

Antigonus, ftill hindere

Herode.

Antipater. But being hindered from entring into Arabia, hee paffed (with great difficultie) into Egypt to Cleopatra, who furnithing him with needfull things : hee tooke shipping in the worst scason of all the yeare, and shaped his course directly for Rome; where being arrived, he acquainted Mark Anthony with the fraud of Antigonus, his owne flight, and perill of the people hee had in charge; humbly entreating him, that hee would not fuffer him to be thus trampled on by his enemies, to whom he had expressed kindneffe, and oftentimes exalted them.

Anthony reported the complaint and request of Herode, to his companion Augustus in the Empire, and both they together commended their suppliant friend to the Senate remembring the perpetual denotion & loyaltie of his father Antipater, towards the Captaines and Souldiours of Rome, and especially to Iulius Cafar. In briefe, they prenailed fo farre, that (by common voice) Antigonus was indged enemy to the people of Rome : and the kingdome of Indea conferred on Herode, the seauenth day after his coming to clared enimy Rome. He was conducted to the Senate house, going in the middle betweene Auclaimed King gustus and Anthony; Domitius Calumius, and Afinius Pollie, Confulles, going beforehim, accompanied with other Magistrates and Senatours, even all the way thence to the Capitole, where the Sacrifices were perfourmed. And this beeing the first day of his reigne, hee was magnificently feafted by Marke Anthonie: foure yeares after the death of Julius Cafar: two yeares after them of Cicero, and thirty seuen before the birth of our Sauiour Christ.

> Herode being returned into Indea, had a very difficult warre against King Antigonus, which continued the space of foure yeares : because that the Romaine Captaines (as Ventidius, Silo and some other, who had the charge of placing Herode in ful possession of the kingdome) were corrupted by gold fent from Antigonus, defiring nothing more then deferring, and neuer earneftly affifted Herode. Befides, many lewes (ill affected to the house of Antipater) moued many troubles against which was betweene him and his father was wonderfully difficile, and yet (not. withstanding) by his industrie, diligence and vertue, and foftly, steppe by steppe; he Herod out. ouercame all hinderances, and possessed hinderances himselfe of Galilee, Samaria, and the very whatforuer. greatest part of ludea.

The beginning then of Herodes reigne

Afterward, Ventidius fent some bands to fuccour him, conducted by one named Macheras; but Herode perceiving him to be dull and flowe, and that hee went but coldly about the businesse, as expecting, Herole good. that Antigonus should fill furnish him against Antiwith fresh handfulls; without expecting Bonus belie. any further ayde from fuch Captains, he lata, vndertook great journies, to encounter with Antigonus, who befreged Samolata. And (by the way) sped very successefully, against diners theenes that hindered his passages.

As thus he drew nearer to his enemie. Marke Anthony came to meete him , and did him fuch honour as became a King, with the greater part of his Armie. After Marke An hee had heard his complaints, concern- thony acen ing the disloyaltie of some Captaines, with Herod, and vied his who(corrupted by the gifts of Antigonus) very honors had executed no part of the commaund bly. from Augustus and the Senate : hee fent two legions of olde Souldiours into Indes, and commaunded Sofius (one of his faithfull Captaines) to follow them with an other Armie, fo foone as the Citty of Samofata was furrendred.

In the absence of Herode, his brother Iosippus, fighting to his owne disaduantage; was flaine with his Armie, by the flaine, and Souldiers of Antigonus, neare to Iericho, Galileerend Alfo, the Galileans revolted, and many rebelled in Iudea': wherefore Herode returned with those olde bands, and hardly appeafed them of Galilee . Afterwards , by many encounters, wherein hee had one while the best, and another while the worst, he so weakened the forces of Antigonus: as (at length) hee withdrew into the fortreffe of Ierusalem.

Herode brought his Armie against the Cittie, and after he had raised his munitions, and builded diverse engines needfull for batterie: hee left the Armie vnder certaine Captaines and iournied into Samaria, to espouse Mariana the Asmonean, who (as I have formerly tolde you) was daughter to Alexander, the yongest fonne of Hyrcanus the fecond, who (foure yeares before) was affianced to Herode, conquered by Herode and Sofius,

The furie of very eafily robberie and that is to fay, before that the Parthians had inuaded the Countrey.

In the meane while, Sofius being fent from Anthony with his Souldiers, marched on diligently, and joyned his armie with the other belonging to Herod; whose nuptialls being ended, and he returned to istorces with lerufalem: the two Captaines beganne to affaile the Cittie manfully in diners places. The belieged lewes had great want ofprincipall munitions, and yet notwithstanding having embraced an imaginary hope, they thought, that they mould be divinely delivered. For they continutope and perwifion in the ally vied to fay, that they fought for freelensfor their dome of the people for their lawfull king against strangers, for the Temple and Religion against Pagans; sustaining (for fome length of time) a very sharpe besieging, and much molesting the enemy by their fallies. But finally the City was furprized in the moneth of Maie, the very fame day as (fetten and twenty yeares before) Pompey had conquered it as hath beene faid, M. Agrippa and Canidius Gallus being then Confulls.

The Romaine Souldiers being much displeased at so long a siege, and losse of many of their people; made pittileffe flaughter, not onely of the armed lewes. but also of such as had no defence at all. King Antigonus, throwing himselfe at the feete of Sofius, humbly defired pardon: but he was injurioufly rejected, and being strongly bound, sent to Marke Anthonie at Antioche, where, at the request of Herod, he was flaine.

In this Militarie furie and combustion, Herodhad worke enough to do to hinder the Romaines, from entring into the most fecret place of the Temple, to robbe and carry thence the facred treasures. Moreouer, hee was glad to promise an infinite fumme of mony, to obtaine fuch fauour, that the goods of the Citizens might not bee imbezeled, and borne away by the Souldiours. And in this troublefome tempest, we will give conclusion to this Chapter; because we enter now into the reigne of Herode, and are to speake of matters concerning those times.

CHAP. XIIII.

How Herode, after all thefe tumultuous troubles and molestations, attained to the fole Gouernement of the Kingdome of Iu-ken in this manner, and Antiques (the last King of the Association) states the enione of enioyed the Kingdom of Fter that the Cittie was ta-

King Herede

Indea, three and thirtie yeares before the Natiuity of Christ. Hauing taken order for the Realmes affaires, hee cruelly murdered all those great Lords, that had joyned themselves with Antigonus against him. And feeing that hee had confirmed and waited all his goods, as also those of his kinred and friends, in gifts and charges of the warre; by an especial Edict, he compelled the Citizens, to bring all their Iewells of gold and filuer to the kings castell, and all such money as they had befide. He appoynted likewise Guardes at the gates, to fearch all fuch as paffed in or out : yea, such as carried the dead to buriall, fearing left (in any manner) they should convey thence coine, or any precious thing whatfocuer.

Hereds cruell

At this time happened a famine, in re- A great fagarde of the feuenth yeare of reft, where- mine among in it was not lawfull to fowe the grounds. And in the former yeares past, the fields remayned (in many places) vntilled by reason of the continual civile warres. So that the estate of the Cittie was very miferable, being fallen into woful feruitudes whereof the better fort of people, as Simeon, Zachary, Iofeph and some such other tooke part: who neverthelesse, in these fad spectacles and miserable calamities, cheared up their drouping spirites, by hope of the Mesias his comming, who should saue them. And they perceived it to draw neare, because they obserued, that the Scepter was now wholly taken from the house of Iuda.

Herode standing in scare of the displeased people, by his horrible rapines and cruelties: to appeale and quiet them, re-

! lope of the comming of the Meffias', a great con o lation to the faithfull.

Hyrcanus re called from bandlment by Herode,& highly hono

Ananclus de

poled and A riflohilus

made high-

pricft.

of Epire,

hs.

Hyrcanus the second, who lived then in Babylon, bicause he had maried the daughter of his daughter, and fent presents to theking of Parthia, for the ranfome of his captiuitie. When he was come to Ieruimperfect : but in recompence therefo that in publique affemblies, he caused him to fit in the highest roome. At the der an account for this imputation: rather pacified him by golden giftes, then any vaine and vnaudible excuses.

* Towne and Promontorie where Augu flus,after hee had conquered Anthony and Cleopatra built the citic Nicopo fauourable and aducife to Herode.

An earthquake, which killed many people in lu-dea.

repealed(by his letters) from banishment falem; hee did not make him foueraigne Sacrificer, because hee was mutilate or of, bestowed great honours vpon him, fame time he substituted (in stead of Antigonus in the High-priesthood) another Iew come from Babylon, named Ananelus, a matter greatly offenfiue to him and the people. Which Herode perceiving, hee deposed Ananelus, and placed in his stead Aristobulus, brother to his wife Mariana: whom hee caused to die by detestable fraude a yeare after, rendering the Highprieft-hoode to the fayd Ananelus againc. Whereupon, Alexandra accused him of this crime to Cleopatra, and he being appealed by Anthony to Landicea, to ren-

The warre at * Actium being now on foote, as Augustus and Anthony prepared themselves, to contend who should remaine the mafter: Herode conveyed himfelfe to Anthony, and vokuntarily made him offer, of whatfocuer he could doc against Augustus, having forces in readines for him . But Anthony made him anfwere, that he had not any neede of fuch fuccour; giving him charge (by the perswafton of Cleopatra) to make warre on the Arabes, who would not pay the annuall pension of two hundred Talents. whercof, he had made promife to Cleapatra. At the very entrance into this war, he ouerthrew the Arabes in one day: but Fortune afterward changing her fauour, hee loft (well-neare) all his armic, and was taken likewife in the field.

Befide this calamity of the Iewes, a fudden Earthquake happened, which flew aboue ten thousand persons in Iudea: euen when the Armies by Sea of Augustus and Anthony, encountred together at Actium, in the feuenth yeare of Herods reigne. Hee having (fo well as he could) vnited his forces together againe; repulfed the Arabes, and compelled them to returne home into their countrey: which otherwife had converted to the lewes heavier One mife. wife had converted to the renes meaner calamitie, because they (encouraged by the ned to their wofull miseries) put all to fire and another. fword throughout Iudea. And this earthquake, as also the inrodes of the enemie were followed by a dreadfull peftilence: which made lamentable spoyle and hauocke, both in the fields and citties, and likewise in the Kings campe.

After these apparent and publique calamities, meeting together in fuch grieuous manner; Herode fell into a great perfonall danger. For after the day at Adium, wherein Anthony (the chiefest friend Herode lost Mark Anthto Herode) was foyled, and dying there- ny his bell vpon : Herode was in no meane difmay, friend, for feare of Augustus the Conquerour; and the people well perceived his feare, because hee knew not how to determine Herodein of himselfe. Whereupon, some of the great season people (vnable to endure this dominion Augustus, of a stranger) beganne to exalt their spirits, vnder hope of some sudden nouelty, and loyed at the danger wherein Herode was. Aboue all the reft his mother in law Alexandra (imagining the time to be now come, wherein thee might renenge the andra against death of her fonne, and retreate the king- her fonne in dome againe to her own family) folicited very strong and firmely her father Hyrcanus (now very aged and decrepite, and one that alwayes affected quietnesse) in regarde of his many injuries; to flie into Arabia, to the end, that if Herode were ill entreated by Augustus; he might the cafier inuade the kingdome, beeing affifted by the Arabes.

Dositheus, a most disloyall servant, deliuered the Letters (intended for this purpole, and fent by him to the King of Ara- vofaithfull bia) to King Herode: who defiring to bee feruant. more fully informed in the fact, feut Defithem into Arabia with the Letters, and after hee had receyued answere from the King, concerning the Letters fent vnto him : he caused Hyrcanus to be condemned, by the sentence of Iustice as a traytour, and so put to death. Some others Hyrcanus write, that Herod, fearing the peril where- condemned in hee fawe himfelfe to be fallen, and the multitude of the Iewes (of whom he was by the cun deadly hated) might eafily be moued by ning treacheric of Herod fuch an occasion, to transferre the Kingdome to Hyrcanus, who onely remayned of the Asmoneans race : imposed a false

int to the drion, and his

Chap. 14.

n what gratorable man er Augustus crime vpon him, and preuayled fo well by counterfeited letters, that the good olde man was condemned to death.

This being done, hee fent his mother, his fifter, their other kinred, and all their attendants, as also his brother Pheroras, to a strong munited Cittle in Idumea, called Massada. But withdrew his mother in lawe Alexandra, and his wife Mariana (who hee thought could not well agree with the other women) to another Fort, named Alexandrion; giving the charge of them to Dippes, General for the finances of the kingdorne, and to Soemus his most certaine and singular friends. And this trust also he imposed on them, that if Augustus offered any ill to him: they should kill the two women instantly, and conferue (fo much as in them possibly lay) the kingdome for his fonnes, vntill they were come to age, by the affiftance of his brother Pheroras.

These matters being thus ordered and cause and the Emperours clemencie; he confessed, that hee had beene a friend to Marka Anthony, and would have fent him

fuccour, if he had required it; but that he was dininely withdrawne from his company (in how miferable condition foe-

uer by the warre Which hee then made ypon the Arabes. Wherein he had fustained fo many loffes and misfortunes, that he was sufficiently bunished for his friend.

Thip to Anthony, and for the feruices he had done vnto himt. But if now it pleafed Mugustus to experiment his faithful-

neffes hee would make it apparent vnto

19 Mugustus tooke fuch delight in the magnanimous confession of Herode , that hee embraced him amiably i restoring

him to his Crowne, and afforing him.

to expect as many kinde benduolences

from him, as ever hee had received by

, on Herode finding Augustus forgracious,

tooke courage from the former despayte

wherein hee was, affuring now the post-

fession of his Kingdome the more firmely to him . Wherefore hee exceeded his abilition gifts to stuguetus; as also to his ansthean.

him, by as true feruices.

Marke Anthony.

appoynted, he trauelled on to Augustus, who then heard all Ambassadours in the merchion he Isle of Rhodes, where, leaving off his diademe and kingly roabes, keeping all the rest of royall liberty, as trusting in his friends and the Army. Hee bare the Emperour company befide, at his fayling into Egypt; and when he came into Syria: hee receyued him with entertainement more then royall, having borrowed all parts of Iudea.

Augustus finding so many great respects, meerely flowing from Herode: refored that part of Iudea to him, which Anthonie had given to Cleopatra : adding larged the po thereto likewife Samaria, and other Citties on the Sea coastes, whereby the Herode. wealth of hiskingdome was greatly aug-

necessarie prouision, throughout all the mented. Herode having mette with all this hap-

pinesse and felicitie abroad at his returne home into Indea, found all things there very bitter and troublesome, by private and domesticke hatreds. For, his wife :Mariana had already gotten intelligence (two feuerall times) by the Guardes, that they had charge to kill her and her mo- forme or ther; if eyther Anthony before hand, or Herodes in. Augustus now in this doubtfull time, difpoled otherwise then well of him. Wherupon, at their meeting, Mariana by no meanes would come neare him, not withflanding all the flatteries or fignes of ardent loue hee shewed to her : reprooning him for fuch cruell commaunds, and plainely telling him, that they were no testimonies of a true husband. Herode entred into suspition, that it was not posfible for him to be disclosed or his secrets knowne to the Guardes : but eyther it | fing and pramust be by losppus, or lastly, by Soemus, wherefore he grew very chollericke, and studied how to taxe and punish her for adultery And yet fuch was the power of his loue, thathe could not credite all that he suspected, neyther exercise any crueltie against so faire a woman of great Nobilitie, endowed with all graces belonging to a body of fuch fingularitie.

At lengthi, his fifter Saldme remooned Deadly is the all these hinderances in him, and prouoked him on to an execuable execution; woman to an for, finding apt occasion to reuengeher owne contempt, The kindled a fierce fire in him of suspition, namely, in the matter of adulterie, adding withall, an intent of poylon prepared for him, which shee appropued to the King! by testimonie of bis owne Tafter or Cup bearer, whome the had wonne thereto by liberall gifts of money.

Herods bountie to Auguond his power & ability.

Mariana in-

Herodes fuffecrets difcloching genft

lappoynted to

ches were v-

Mariana the wife of King Herod wron fully executed, for which he repented heauily after ward.

A gricuous

pellilence in

ludea,King Herode him

felfe lying deadly ficke

in Samaria.

The death of

Alexandra.

Herode crue

to his familiar irsends.

to be immediatly executed, although the had beene the mother to him of five chilthunning all focietie wharfoeuer. And, vnder colour of riding on hunting, hee would fecretly steale into Caues and Dennes in the forrest, as hoping there to finde fome affwaging of his forrow; and of melancholie, hee fell into a deadly dif-

plague or pestilence in Iudea, whereby multitudes of people were confumed: fo that many men were perswaded verily. that God had fent this punishment for the Kings cruelties. And as the King himfelfe lay extreamly fick in Samaria, where cuery one was in mightie despaire of his life: Alexandra(his mother in law) ftroue; by large promises, to winne the Guardes | Marches of Arabia. of the Temple and Cittle to partake with her. But the conspiracie being reuealed, Herode gaue order for her fudden execution. The King then feemed outwardly to be somewhat recourred, but yet carryed himselfe most cruelly against those friends, that were of greatest familiaritie with him; because his sickenesse (howeuer shaddowed) encreased daily impatience, which made him the more inclined

When he perceived, that there remained not any one of the Almeneans Family, or of any other fide, to interrupt him in his power, onely the multitude excepted; hee grew to fuch affurance of himfelfe, that he did many things repugnant to the lawes of God, and the customes received by the lewes. For, in the Citie of Jerufalem it felfe, he builded a Theater and an Amphitheater, wherein were perfourmed foule and diffolute playes, huntings, and combates of Fencers, according to the maner of the Pagans. He instituted alfo (at enery five yeares end) a louft and Tournament, in the honour of Augustus, proposing there publiquely to all vileneffe and tyrannie.

money. Heereupon, the King grew out- tayned by them. But vnderstanding, that ragiously incensed against her; and hat the people were greatly offended with uing caused her to be condemned by the these vn vsuall things, prohibited by the sentence of his friends; commaunded her Lawes of God, and prouoking many to practife his killing, as also conspiring meanes whereby to effect it : he fortified had beene the mother to him of flue coni-dren. But soone after hee repented his divers places very respectively, against all of Renet, of Renet, and the control of the control vnaduifed raffineffe, and so extreamely ambushes and seditions; as Alexandrion, flanding in defired his wifes company agayne; that Herodion, Hyrcanion, and others, and plan- feared his he fell into an extraordinary languishing, ted strong garrisons in the most commodious places.

He builded also newly (or else magnificently repayred) diverse Citties and Townes, which he stiled by the names of Emperours, or of his friends: the princibeing vnable to withstand the extremitie pall whereof was the Tower of Straton on the Sea fide, which hee called Cafarea: and Samaria, distant a dayes iorney from At the same time, there was a great Isrusalem, which he called Sebasta, that is Citional to fay, Augustus, according to the Eripe- towns areh builded or rours name. Also, he repayred Athedon, repaired by which he called Azrippion, of Agrippa, the Herode. kinfeman to Cafar . Hee builded Antipatrida, by the name of his father, in the field of Caphar salania. Also Phaselida, by the name of his brother, neare to Iericho: and Herodion, by his owne name, on the

> In the thirteenth yeare of his reigne, A wonderful there happened a great dearth through- famint to the with the out the Land, by reason of an extraordi- petilenced nary drought; which was the cause, that men & beat a great famine did accompany the preceeding mortalitie of men and beafts: during which time, Hered caused diligent fearch for corne, & brought great quantities out of Egypt, and other neighbouring Regions befide, which he diffributed all his plant (by the poule) to the people But, be- and tends cause money grew short for sitch a distribution, in regarde that the royall trea- the proph fure had bene wasted, about those sumptuous and excessive buildings; hee employed all his veffells of golde and filuer, and all his lewells besides, in the buying of corne: By which bounteous liberality, hee not onely redeemed the loffe of his eredite, by the offences done to his people, but also drew great fauour and affection from them.

In the fourneenth years of his reigne, A regional Augustus comming into Syria, gaue the Syriabethan Kingdome of Chaleis to Herode; adding Libarus and alfo therero * Drachanitis, and Batanea. Therist Moreover, he gave him power , in this A place the Cafara Images, and the Victories ob- his long fickeneffe, to appoying and leave neare to far which phrates.

heire and successour. In recompence of which large bountie, Herode dedicated a goodly Temple to Argustus, which hee builded in Paneada, neare to the fourfes that feede the river Iordane. Which Pagan flattery of his, estranged agayne the multitude of the lewes from him; and therefore to please them, hee quitted the third part of their taxations. Notwithstanding, as he could not containe some of them, crying out inceffantly, that it was intolerable, to erect temples to mortall men in Iudea, and there to reverence them as Gods: fo hee fought to restraine other by violent torments, fending Spies and Picke-thankes into publique and priuate Assemblies, who reported vnto the King whatfocuer was spoken of him. It is further reported of him, that himselfe (fickely as hee was) in a common habite or difguife, would often walke abroade in the night time, liftening in such companies as conferred together, to know what they faid, concerning the present e-

At length, finding neither love nor fidelitie in the people, hee strone to binde them fast to him by oath; wherein hee of all, he bestowed wines on them; gipreuayled, attracting some by large and goodly promifes, to give him their oath of Allegeance and Lovaltie: others hee constrained by feare of torments, putting some to death in diners kindes, that peremptorily refused to sweare. Onelie the Pharifes stoode excepted, whom hee pardoned, in loue to a few aged men, that hee reuerenced for their fanctitie of life, and which made them deare to the people. Neuerthelesse, he condemned them in great fines and amercements, which were payed by the wife of Pheroras, to binde that Sect in loue to her. He quitted also the Effeans from taking the Oath, holding them in no meane admiration: as following a manner of living most holily, and farre exceeding humane nature; beeing fingular in fore-telling things to come.

flate of the kingdome.

In the eighteenth yeare of his reigne, beeing defirous to vnite his subjects to him by farre greater benefites, and to abolish the remembrance of his precedent excesses: hee vndertooke to builde the Temple of Ierufalem most magnificent- shewne him the munitions and other which of his fonnes he pleased, to be his may beleeue losephus) beeing vtterly beaten downe, which building had continued fine hundred yeares, after the returne from Babylon. This worke, admirable in The Temple greatnesse, sumptuousnesse and cunning, was finished in eight yeares, and dedica- deaby King ted with great folemnitie: wherein hee gane three hundred Oxen for the Sacrifices, seauen yeares before the Nativitie of

> Afterward, the Disciples declared the Matth. 24.1. magnificence of the building. And, as Marke 17.1 Christ fore-tolde, after that the Temple had continued about foure-score yeares; it was vecerly ruined by the Romanes, from the top to the bottome.

The building of the Temple being ended, he would needs be carried to Rome, to falute the Emperour August us : From thence hee brought with him his formes to lee the em-Alexander and Artitobalus, whom he had Perour. by his murdered Mariana, and had fent them tenne yeares before to Rome, to be brought vp in the house of Asinius Pollio. And the reason of his bringing them his anoble thence into Indea, was, to quicken and Romaine. cheare their hopes; that they were to fucceede him in the kingdome. And first uing to Alexander, Glaphira, daughter to Archalaus, King of Cappadocia; and to The matiages Aristobulus, Berenice, daughter to his fi- of Herodes Ster Salome.

These yoong Lords and Ladies, were very gracefull both in minde and bodie, which made them the more choicely affected of the people. But Salome, and They that fome other (who had induced Herode to dealt in blod murder his wife, fearing if they should are alwayes come to the Crowne, they would re- sufpitious of uenge the death of their mother) laboured, by little and little, to kindle hatred in Herode against them, deliuering asper. fions abroade; that they difdayned their fathers company, bicause he had put their mother to death.

Herode growing into health, by weake degrees, and thefe wicked deuices proceeding on; newes came, that Agrippa (neare kinseman to Augustus) was arriman to Augustus) was arriman to Augustus) was arriman to Augustus of Bustus came meete him, quickely perswaded him to mto Asia. visite Iudea. Having ginen him there most honourable entertainement, and lly, the former building (if heerein wee | buildings; he returned to his Campe, ma-

Afinius Pol.

Theaters erected in lerufalem for lewd and dif folute (porter

Falle accufa tions imposed on Alexander and Ari tobu lus, by Salome and Pherora him, when he croffed to Pontus his armie by fea, and kept him company during the time of that expedition. Returning foon after to his owne home, hee found all in disorder, by domesticke harreds purposely prepared. For his fifter Salome, and his brother Pheroras, immediately accused had openly complayned on the vniust death of their mother, and threatened to be revenged for it. Heereto they added, traine for their auncient father : trufting the Romaines on the other fide, which they had long both wrought to this inof Augustus.

Herode layes traines to en trap his inno cent fonnes vpon the trea cherous Spee ches of his brother and fifter.

A man willing to credit lies is foone perswaded of any thing to uantage.

king great hafte in going thither. The winter being ouer-past, Herode followed Alexander and Aristobulus (beeing the fonnes of Mariana) affirming, that they that winning the Vulgars fauour without any diffimulation; they had prepared a to the power of Archelaus, father in lawe to one of them, and to the friendship of Herod enduring continually any thing, much rather then the least suspition of undermining his kingdome; became amazed mightily at these allegations, appoynted some of his intimate friends, to be present at banquets, and other familiar conferences with his fonnes, to be the better affured of their words & attempts: When (perchannee) the yoong Lords (neither projecting or suspecting any ill) might vtter some one word more liberally then other (being thereto prouoked by croffe language in the vrgers) purposly delinered forth, to draw somewhat from them, in extolling the nobilitie and vertue of their Mother, which is the bounden duty of any childe to doe. Bur this ferued the turne fufficiently, for Herode to credite, that whatfoeuer his fifter had reported, was true. First of all theretheir truth in fore, he reprehended them very feuerely; next, to induce their better modesty and reuerence to their father, by feare and iealousie; he beganne to countenance, and carefully respect his sonne Antibater. (who was borne of Doris, when the lived a person of private condition) that they might thereby gather his intention, for kingdome. This did more vehemently distaste the voong Lords, and made them now to as also of their owne vnhappinesse and ill vfage; all which behaviour in them, was imparted to their father by the afore-fayd intelligencing spies. Beside, Salome compelled her daughter Berenice (by frequent injuries incited betweene her and her hufband) to disclose what secrets passed betweene the two brothers, and what priuate conferences they had together. All daughters. which the made in much greater manner gainft the lite to the King, then they were indeed, onely by hir vile additions, and falfifications, incenfing him still so extreamely against them, that he tooke them both with him to Rome, and accused them of treason before Augustus.

There, after the infortunate Gentlemen had made satisfaction to Augustus and some other Judges, by enident purgations, teares and intreaties, they were conciled the reconciled again into their fathers grace, fonsto their father, tent, with the very mightiest in the Court | and returned home with him to Indea: where the Multitude beeing met together, he declared before them the cause of his iourney, and to what happie fucceffe it had forted. Adding withall, that (by the liking of Augustus) Antipater was next to succeede after his death, as being his eldest sonne; and then afterward, A. lexander and Aristobulus should enjoy their right, in reigning each after other: all which hee reported to the people in a long discourse, which we have formerly related in our Militarie Orations.

From this time forward, Antipater in- Antipateth fifted the more audaciously, in whetting worken as the fathers spleene against his brethren, liciously by falle, forged and crafty calumniations; betthen, beside divers other reports of nouelties, having that meerely denifed for the purpose. He being highly displeased, that they should haue any title or claime at all to the kingdome : as fretting extreamely, that their credite held more specially with the people then theirs did, for the mothers fake of whome they came. In briefe, he neuer ceassed, till (by the helpe of Pheroras and Salome) till he had perswaded his father. that his two fonnes Alexander and Aristobulus, were growne prowde voon their reconciliation, and practifed (instantly) making him to bee his successour in the to possesse the Kingdome. Herodounts Herode becing further informed of those ny friends of accusations, by such as were employed his ownered for the purpose; by racking, torturing of his fonner complaine more bitterly of their father, and other cruelties, put to death many of you faller And yet no other harme could bee approoued against them, but onely youthfull and vnaduifed complaints, of exceffine cruelty in their father; and his ouercalie facilitie, in lending care to false reports, only through the detestable impietie of their brother Antipater, and them of his linage.

hetwo bre-

and time.

Herode impatient at fo many suspiti-The two bre-hrenaccuted ons, and fiered housely with the diuells gaine by let- of his house, Salome, Antipater and their complices: once more, by his letters fent to Augustus, he flatly accused Alexander and Ariftobulus of treason. Now, because Augustus had given him permission, to punish his formes according to the exigence of their crimes : hee accused them before Saturninus and Volumnius, Gouernours of Syria, and other Romaine Cittizens his friends there present, whom he had caused to come from Indea to Beritha, a Cittle of Syria. After that they were condemned by pluralitie of voyces, he fent them to be strangled in Sebasta : where likewife were executed three hundred persons more, who were said to give consent, to an imaginarie flight imposed vpon the two innocent Princes. Ariftobidus at his death left three formes and twoo daughters, which hee had by his wife Berenice; and Alexander two fonnes

by Glaphyra, befides foine daughters,

whereof we will speake in their due place

From this time forward, Herode beganne to be very vnfortunate, because all his Court was troubled with bitter hatreds, disdaines, suspitions and treasons: fo that Antipater (compacting with Pheroras and some other Courtiers) determined to kill the King his father. And as hee was plotting printly, how he might be called to Rome by Augustus, for better strengthening himselfe with the Emperours power, and winning friends in his Court by gifts : it came to passe that Pheroras dyed, whose wife was accused before Herode by some of her owne friends, to have poyfoned her husband. Herode making inquifition after this oftence by tortures, channeed (by little and little) to come to the knowledge of farre greater crimes, and the treasons of his sonne Antipater plainely appeared.

his owne friends, and of his Sonnes, enraged, spared not any of his Court from torturing cruelly; no not so much as the women and their daughters, very neare in loue and kinred to him, if hee tiers cruelly. could suspect them in the very least manner. And as hee strone to informe himfelfe, by all his best and diligent meanes, fo much the more hee grew to be hated of all his followers, fo that (confequently)he became worfe then miferable.

Onely his Sifter Salome, was faithfull to him, who compaffed the meanes by craftie Spies, to finde out the plots of all the Conspiratours, which shee still reuealing to her brother, enflamed his fury her brother extraordinarily : making him to diffruft Herode. them that were most familiar with him. by forged tales and faithleffe fuspitions. So that Herade accused Antipater (who was taken with the poyfon readily prepared for his father) before Quintilius Va. ken with poy rus (who was flayne by Arminius Cherufehres in Germanie, twelue yeres after with Legions) and beeing connicted of the finne of parricide, and condemned; hee commaunded him to bee kept prisoner. untill by Letters and Ambassadours, hee understoode the will and pleasure of Augultus, concerning his punishment.

In the meane while, hee executed many, both men and women, as beeing consenting to Antipaters attempts : amongst whome were diverse innocents, hardly want wrongfully accused by malicious ene- workeon, mies, and meerely swallowed up in Herodes furie, as in the roaring billowes of

Soone after, beeing about the age of feauentie yeares, quasht and confounded with domesticke calamities: his former fickenesse grew now to farre greater Herods fickviolence vpon him, which made him ten fed vpon him times more cruell towards his subjects. For now hee was verily perswaded, that the lewes reioyced as much at his homebred miseries, as they did at the extreamitie of his disease. Wherefore hee deuised very cruell punishments, for matters of filly or finall offence : for hec bur- The cruel tyned aline fortie yoong Schollers, of the ranny of Hevery chiefest houses in Indea, with two sickenesse. Maisters that were excellent men : because (being mooned with just griefe, to fee the Temple of God prophaned) they had ouerthrowne (fomewhat violently) Heereupon, the King being extreamly an Eagle of golde, placed in the Portall of lerod tortu. erh his cour-

for his father.

Forty schollers and thei maifters burned aline.

Sanhedrin

the auncient

ladges of lu

dea flayne.

The husban

The murde.

ring of the

yoong infants

in Bethlehem

and other places.

of Salome

flaine.

the Temple, and in the honor of Cafar; a thing very coftly and magnificent, but contrary to the customes of the Iewish nation. The monstrous crueltie inflicted vpon these yoong men, was the cause of great troubles in the Cittie, after Herodes

Hee exercised also other great cruelties, amongst which, Philo the Iew recordeth, that in the thirtieth yeare of his tyrannicall reigne, he flew the Sanhedrin: to wit, the ordinary Judges of the house of Danid, and substituted other (newly converted to Iudaisme, or skilfull in the Lawe) in their stead. Moreover, he slew the husband of his fifter Salome, who was of the Tribe or Linage of Iuda, and a Sonne, which hee himfelfe begate of a woman of the same Tribe; because hee had fayd, that Christ our Saujour was already borne, who was promised in the Lawe, and by the Prophets, to be of the house of Danid.

Also Saint Matthew the Euangelist, in the fecond chapter and fixeteenth verfe, maketh mention of an other notable example of his crueltie, where he writeth. that being advertised by the wise men of Persia, that the Messias was horne; hee gaue strict commaund, that all the masle Children should bee murdered, in the Towne of Bethlehem, and all the villages round about.

Macrobius is a witnesse of this most inhumane act, who recounteth (among the witty conceits of Augustus) that hearing report of the Infants flaughter, from two yeares olde and under, caused by Herode to be done in Syria, and his owne fonne, being also slayne among them, hee fayd: That he had much rather be Herodes Hogge, then his Sonne.

Morcouer, feeling his entrailes to rot and putrifie, his bloud and flesh boyling, and vermine creeping all ouer his bodie, despayring of living any longer : by Edict he assembled the chiefest of the Iews, fuch as excelled the rest in wisedome, wealth and authoritie; causing them to come from all parts of the Kingdome to Iericho.

Beeing there arrived vpon his commaund, they were thut vppe in the place appointed for Triumphs, as if hee purposed to conferre with them before his death, of some important matter concerning the State of the Kingdome. But hee gaue charge to his fifter Salome, and to her husband Alexas, that fo foone as hee had given up the Ghost: they should dispatch the lives of the mightiest lewes by the Archers of his Guarde, coueting ill beferening by this meanes, to make a wofull lamentation amongest the lewes, who else would rejoyce at theyr Kings miserable

Besides, that they should thus keepe (without any manner of impeachment) the possession of the Kingdome for his fonnes, when they of greatest power were dead and gone.

Now, albeit Salome, and her husband made promise to the King, for the execution of his bloudy will: yet after his death, and before they made any declaration thereof, they let loofe all the leafed with lewes, without offering them the least out any hum iniury, accounting it to be neyther safe done to them for them, nor the children of Herod, to obey such a barbarous and inhumane iniunction.

A little before his death, the Ambasfadours which returned from Italy, did bring him Letters from Augustus, whereby hee gaue him power ouer his Sonne ued letters Antipater, eyther for life or death. But from Auguthe rage of the Father was now fome- his death. what cooler, wherefore hee commaunded, that his Sonne should be brought to Ieriche; but yet to keepe him still in

It fortuned, that Herod (living in fuch horrible and extreame torments. with flincking putrifaction of his body:) Herod into fodainely caught a knife, and fought for lytokillian the fittest place to ridde himfalfa our of the the fittest place to ridde himselfe out of selfe. those paines.

But Archelaus, one of his kinsemen, and other scruants (beeing by) hindered his violent intent of murdering himselfe: whereuppon, a great tumult and out-cry ranne throughout the whole Pallace; euen as if the King had beene dead . Antipater being prisoner, and understanding, why these cries came thus from enery place: beganne to be very iocund and mirthfull, euen as if his father were dead indeede, and would have induced the Antipater Guardes to let him haue liberty, vpon ve- feekethio ry liberall promifes he made to them.

But he that had the especiall charge of him, fearing the crueltie of the King, went

ull and ignoof Herode.

Three (peci: aductfaries with whom bee had to htrusteth a

cur Lord

Chap. 14. to fee whether he was dead or no : reporting to him his fonnes merry disposition. and the matter which he had fo earneftly mooued him voto.

Herode mightily offended at these tydings, commaunded, that (without any delay) his fon Antipater (hould be flayne in prison. Which beging done himselfe. lined but fine dayes after his fonne. So that, what with the violence of his fickenesse, encreasing the torments of his foule, he died: having reigned foure and thirtie yeares after the furprizall of Ieru(alem; and seauen and thirtie yeares after the Romaines had proclaimed him King. minioutdeath A man equally cuell to all men: from base and lowe degree, exalted to eminent place of honour, by industrie, bountie and friendship: very happy abroade, vnfortunate among ft his owne, and hated (both of his subjects and domestickes) for his crueltie.

> All the time of his government, hee had contention and quarrell principally with three aduerfaries. First of all, against the Family of the Almoneans, which hee strone vtterly to extirpate by all his pollicies Secondly, against the lewish people, who could not endure the dominion of a stranger: and although they kicked continually against him, yet finally they were charged with a hard yoake of feruitude. The third aduerfarie; more troublefome and difficult then both the rest. was his owne housholde people. For, as hee flew one part of them (beeing no way guilty or offenfine towardes him) by liftening to falfe reportes of the enuious. and according to his owne suspicions . still to support his greedie desire of rule: fo did he punish others taken in the fact. who indeede conspired against him , vntill fuch time, as beeing more broken and battered by his domesticke encumbrances, then by extreamitie of age; he payed the tribute due to Nature. Philo the lew writeth, that hee reigned fixe

> In the three and thirtie yeare of his reigne (as it is auouched by Epiphanius) under the first description of the World: Iefus Christ, our bleffed Saniour and Redeemer, was borne in Bethlehem of the Virgine Mary. At the age of two yeares, by the Angelles admonition, hee was yeares lawfully, and one and thirty yeares

tyrannically.

with-drawne from the cruckie of this wretch, by his father and mother, who fled with him into Egypt . Afterwardes, hee was brought backe againe into Iudea, at the beginning of the Primacie of Archelaus.

Herode altered his Will three feuerall The test amer times : The first chaunge was, after hee changed by had put to death his two fonnes by Marians the Asmonean, and then hee fent it by the hands of Antipater (hee going to Rome) to Augustus. That Will confirmed as his heire in the Kingdome, Antipater, his eldest some by Doris : but yet with this condition, that if he dyed before the time, his fonne Herode, whome hee had by the daughter of Simon the high-prieft, should succeede him. To whom (vpon this occasion) according to the opinion of tolephus, hee had given in marriage Herodias, the daughter to Aristobulis, fonne of Mariana the Almonean.

After the death of Pheroras, brother to Herode, the treasons began to be difconered, and the King beeing informed, that the Mother of Herode, his destinated successour (and daughter to the Soueraigne Sacrificer) had confented in wicked councell with Antipater : hee Antipater & razed the names both of Antipater and Herode out of his Will, frustrating them fathers tellafrom all hope of euer comming to the mothers ex-Crowne.

Beside, he expulsed the two mothers, Court Doris and Mariana, out of the Pallace, despoyling also his father in lawe Simon. of the High-priesthoode.

In his second Testament , hee lest the The second Kingdome to his last sonne, named He- alteration of rode Antipas, and hee to succeede after his Wil. his death, beeing borne of Marthaca a Samaritane. Therein hee made no mention at all of Archelaus, nor of Phillip, who were elder in yeares then hee : because. by the suggestion of Antipater, some of of his friends had falfely accused them by Letters, in the time of their studying at

By the fame Testament, he left a thou- A thousand fand Talents to Augustus, which amoun- talents given teth to three score tunnes of Golde . To by Herode to Liuia the wife of Augustus, and to the children and enfranchiled friends of Augustus, hee gaue fine hundred Talents, that is to fay, thirtie tunnes of golde.

Last of all, after that (a little before Ggg 2

Joseph in Ant.

A most horrible intention in King Herode.

A witty faying of Augu-

Chap. 15.

The iffue to Herode by

Mariana, and their matches

in marriage.

The third and laft alteration of his teflament.

Herode Anti

pas and Phil

lip made both Fetrarches.

Herode boun

gacies to Au-

ther.

616

his death) hee had caused Antipater to bee flayne, for dinerfe conspiracies against his father and brethren : he grew into good liking of his two elder fonnes, which was the reason of altering his will the third time, leaving the Kingdome of Indea to Archelaus; provided also, that it might bee as pleasing to Augu-

In stead of King, hee made Antipas Tetrarch of Galilee and Perea, that is to fay, of the Region scituate beyond Ior-

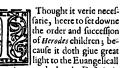

In like manner, hee appoynted Phillip Tetrarch of Gallonitida, Traconitis, Batanca and Paneada. To his Sister Salome (who amongst all his kinred) he had onely found faithfull to him, and helpefull in all his aductities, hee left three wealthy Citties , Iumnia , Azot and Phaselidi, with fiftie thousand Crownes be-

Hee affigned great reuenews to his o. ther fonnes, and to their children, whom hee left in private condition, and augmented the Legacies which he had fent to Augustus and other at Rome. But Augustus (afterwards) distributed all the gustus and o money to him appoynted to Herodes kinred; retayning nothing to himselfe, but onely certayne costly vessells, as a token of remembrance for the dead.

CHAP. XV.

A briefe Collection, concerning the children of Herode the Great, which hee had by his tenne wines, as also the order of their (enerall successions.

losephus varieth from the Euange. licall historie

Hillorie, in regarde that the Description made by Iosephus, is somewhat disfenting. Especially in Herodias, whom Iofe; bus fayth, to be formetime married, not to Phillip the Tetrarch, as the Euangelist Saint Mark, in the fixteenth chapter and seauenteenth verse of his Gospell auoucheth, but to Harad, sonne to the daughter of Simon the High-prieft, who soone after was advaunced, and joyned with Herode Antipas Tetrarch of Galilee, that flew Saint John Baptist.

He fayth besides, that the dauncing daughter of Herodias, was married to The gener Phillip: But the authoritie of the Euangelists ought to be of greater weight with vs, then to that of Iofephus, who in this Genealogie of Herode, speaketh things very contrary, which is not much to bee maruelled at, in a Familie of so great extendure. For King Herode, according to the auncient manner of the Kings of Iudea, had many wives together, in all being tenne, two whereof were barren.

Doris his first wife.

Her he married in private condition, taking her from a place of flender repute, her father beeing as then living. Of her hee begate Antipater, whom hee dis-inherited, his mother Doris beeing divorced, after he was married to Mariana the As monean: nor would hee permit her to be present in lerusalem, but onely at three famous folemnities.

But after that Mariana was put to death, hee received Doris agayne into uedintogua his Court, and gaue her admittance to agains and his bedde, re-calling home the fonne her fonner alfo : beeing fully refolued, to have left him heyre to the Kingdome, if hee had not beene the cause of his owne ruine and death, by wicked machinations, contriued against his father and brethren; beside, hee brought his owne mother into the diflike of his father.

Antipater tooke to wife the daughter of Antigonus, the last King of the Asmoneans, by whom hee had also antipa- had a sonne ter, to whom was married the daughter pater also. of Pheroras his great vnckle. Afterward hee married Mariana, daughter vnto his brother Aristobulus, whom he caused to be murdered.

> The iffue by the third wife to king He-

By

Theiffue of Ariftobulus.

and his write

By his fecond wife Mariana the Asmonean, he had many heires, thus following in order.

Mariana.

Glaphyra, daughter to Archelaus king of Cappadocia; Alexander, flaine by his fa-

Herode.

Aristobulus, flaine by his father, left fine children by Berenice, as followeth after. The third dyed immediately.

Salome was married to Phaselus, sonne of Phaselus, brother to Herode, of whose children we have spoken before.

Cypris was married to Antipater, the fonne of Salome, fifter to the King.

Alexander,

Tygranes, who was fent by Nere King into Armenia.

Tygranes was King of Armenia, and afterward accused at Rome, dyed without

The names of Aristobulus his children, by Berenice.

Aristobulus, strangled by the command of his father Herode.

Berenice his wife, daughter of Salome, fister to King Herode.

Agrippa the first King of Iudea.

Herode the fourth King of Chalcis. Aristobulus, to whom was espoused lotapata, daughter to the king of the Emefians, by whom hee had lotapasa, a deafe daughter.

Herodias, who left her husband, and the laft; had a daughter Salome; who for the reward of her goodly danneing, required, and had the head of Saint John Baptist.

Mariana, affianced first to Antipater the sonne of Antipater: but afterward Antipater, fonne of great Herode, tooke her to wife.

Mariana daughter to Simeon the foueraigne Sacrificer, the third wife to Herode, of whom came. .

Herode the fecond, who had a daughter named Salome, married fometime to his vnckle Phillip the Tetrarch; and afterward to Aristobulus, some to Herode king of Chalcis.

Herodias his wife, yoongest daughter of Great Herode, and also the daughter of Aristobulus, flaine by his father.

Herode affecting this Mariana for her rare beauty, who was the daughter to to a filly facrificing Prieft, he perceiving unneed to the that he could no otherwise enjoy her, but High priest. by lawfull marriage; made her father Si- houde. meon (fonne to Boethus) High-priest, by deposing lesis, the succession to Ana-

Of her hee begate Herode the fecond, Herod thefewhom he had instituted (in his first Will) second heire after Antipater his elden ceeding in fonne. But growing offended(afterward) the kingdom. for fome fault in his mother: hee altered his Will, and deprived him of all hope of facceeding.

Is fephus writeth, that this Herode the fecond (who alwayes afterward lined priuately) tooke to wife Herodias, the daughter of Aristobulus, flaine by his father; who afterward was exalted by his brother Hered Antipas, contrary to all right and rea- Genealogie. fon. But (as I have already faid) this Genealogie of Islephus agreeth not with Saint Marke, who ruleth it in this maner.

Herode the fecond, borne of the Highpriests daughter, lived without publique

His wife Herodias that left him, married with the brother to her husband.

Herode Antipas, Tetrarch of Galilee. Phillip the Tetrarch, who died without children. The daughter Salome was married to both, each after other, and engendred by Herode, Agrippa, Aristobulus; of whom I finde nothing at all recorded.

The fourth wife of Herode was Marthaca, or Malthaca, a Samaritane: of whom were borne, Archelaus, who by the last Testament Theissue of of his father, was ordayned to be his fuc- Herode by ceffour . But by Augustus he was inflitu- his fourth wife. ted to be * Ethnarche.

Herode the third, called also Antipas, Terrarch of Galilee; the ravisher of Herodias, and murderer of Saint Iohn Baptist : he was called also, the Fox for Christ.

The Geneaogie according to the description of Saint Marke.

Seditions and

tumults hap-

Olympia, married to Iosippus, sonne of | long with him his mother Marthaca, who Tofippus the brother to King Herode : Of whom came this Posteritie following:

Mariana, espoused to Herod the fourth, King of Chalcie, and had a fonne named Aristobulus, who (by Nero) was instituted Gouernor of Armenia the leffer . He had to wife Salome, the daughter of Herodias, as formerly hath bene declared.

The iffue of Herod by his 618

The fift wife of Herode was Cleopatra of Jerusalem, whose chil-

Phillip, who (by the last Testament of his father) was appoynted Tetrarch of Trachonitis.

Herode, of whom I finde nothing recorded in any Historie.

lofepb. in Antiquit Ind libr. 17 (49.10.

Iosephus foud

contradictory

to himfelfe.

But, confidering that losephus faith, that this Phillip was brother to the father and mother of Archelaus; I make some doubt of divers other places before mentioned by him, where (perhaps by want of memory) he wrongeth himfelfe in the numbring of Herodes children; as in the fecond Chapter of the same Booke. And that of the same mother Marthaca, were borne Archelaus, Phillip and Olympia: And that of this Cleopatra, issued only Herode, called Antipas. From whence it proceeded (as I thinke) that Iofephile attributeth two fonnes vnto this Cleopatra, Phillip and Herode: of whom (neverthelesse) he maketh not any mention in his Historie.

I thinke then, that Antipas should bee placed for Phillip vnder Cleopatra; for because he nameth Herode also : some (not very skilfull) have attributed two fonnes to Cleopatra: euen as if I should say, that Iulius and Cafar had beene two Confulls. Affuredly, this coniecture feemeth to be confirmed, because Archelaus (being vpon his departure to Rome, after the death of his father) left all the care and managing of the kingdomes affaires to Phillip, as to his nearest and dearest brother; and not to! Antipas, whom he ought to hauc preferred before Phillip, if hee had beene his germaine brother by the same mother. But this showes it selfe much more euidently, in regard that Iofephus, in the thirteenth and fourereenth Chapters of the same seuenteenth Booke, saith: That Archelaus iourneying to Rome, tooke adved there, before the fuite (concerning the fuccession) was descided; and that (foone after) Antipus followed him, who Antipus and likewife was accompanied with his mother. It must needes follow then necesfarily, that they had diverfitie of mothers. Wherefore it somewhat amazeth mee, that Iosephus repeateth in the Historie of the lewes warres, to have spoken ill in his Antiquities: to wit, that Archelaus and Antipas were brethren by one mother.

The fixt wife of Herode, was Pallas, who Pallas, Phz. had a fonne named Phaselus, of whom dra and Elpis Islephus writeth nothing.

The feauenth wife was Phadra, who had by Herod(being then ancient)a daughter named Roxana.

The eight wife of Herode, was Elpis, by whom hee had a daughter named Sa-

Afterward, Augustus married the two formes of Pheroras, to these two fisters. Roxana and Salome, beeing but young when their father died . To whome (befide the Legacies of their father) hee added (of his owne) in their dowrie, two hundred thousand peeces of filuer mony: The bounce which fumme, if Insert it is a limit in the mumber of Augusts to the mumber of the mum mounteth to five and twentie thousand and and sand San crownes of the Sunne.

The ninth wife, was the daughter of his brother, whom tofephus nameth not. The tenth, was his Cousine germane, vn-

By these two wines Herode had not any children.

named alfo.

All this fo great linage of Herode, failed (well-neare veterly) within the space of feuenty yeares, the most part of them liuing in prinate manner . Such as attai- competico ned to governement of affaires, and fuc- yeares. ceeded in some small portions of their fathers dignitie; were only three fonnes of Herode, to wit, Archelaus the Ethnarch, Phillip and Antipas, Tetrarches, and two yonger fonnes; the first Agrippa, King of Iudea, and Herod the fourth King of Chalcis; Agrippa the last, in whose reigne was fucceededin the lewish warre, and the destruction of gouernment Ierusalem. I will speake briefly of them all in order.

CHAP.

CHAP. XVI.

Of the Ethnarchie of Archelams; and the plea of him and his Brother Antipas before Augustus, for the right of Gouernment.

commotion or mutiny, riing in the ci-

Y the last Testament or the Father (as I haue already sayd) Archelaus was appointed successfor with royall power; prouided, that Augusta Sepleased. But scarsly was the fathers body interred, when a great mutiny arose in the Citty, and he lost his peoples affection by cruelty. For some of the kindred & parents of the yong schollers that wer burned aline, about beating down the golden Eagle, returning to the Feast at Easter, mooning the people by their teares and complaints to challenge reuenge of certaine flanderous persons. and deposition of the Soueraigne Sacrificer, whom Herode had established in the ending of his dayes: Archelaus fent his Light horsemen against the people, and made a bloody flaughter, to the number of three thousand, beside divers put to flight. After that, the tumult was for a time appealed, hee left the charge of his kingdomes affayres to his brother Phillip. and tooke his journey to Rome, accompanied with his mother Marthaca, and fome other friends, to require of Augustuche full establishment of his Fathers VVill.

By the fuggestion of their Aunt Salome, Herode Antipas followed after his Brother, to contend with him for fuccession in the kingdome before Augustus. There hee accused him of cruelty, approouing, that the Crowne should rather bee his. then any due to Archelaus because by the fecond testament, he was onely ordained heyre to the Royall dignity; when his father Herode was found both in bodie and memory. And fuch a Will fo made, ought to bee of farre greater respect and weight, then the last so neere his death ; when both body and mind were vncapeable of fenfe and reason.

Soone after, fifty Ambassadours were fent from the people of Iudea to Rome, to entreate, that they might no longer bee Arequest gouerned by a King : but rather that In- made by the dea (being reduced to the form of a Prono longer go.

uince) might be vnder command of the Romane Captaines (as afterward it was, but to the Iewes no great aduantage. But if needes they must have a King, and of Herodes posterity : they openly confesfed, that they much rather affected Herode Antipas, then Archelaus, who (at his very entrance) gaue them sufficient vnderstanding, what mildnesse and mode ration they thould afterwardes expect in

While this fute was thus in hearing, and Augustus confulted thereon, with fome of his most intimate friends; gree- ning in Ieruuous tumults chanced to be moued; first, ther places of by Sabinus, Procurator for Cafar in Ieru- Iudea. Salem, and afterward in diners other places of Judea. For some people (of no worth)emboldned by the Kings absence; having gathered together certaine companies of Theenes; durst attribute vnto themselues, both the Royall dignity and Ornaments, During which time, Iudea was wonderfully wasted in manie places with fire and fword; vntill (by the vertue of Quintillius Varus, who scattered the armies of the Theeues, and hanged vppe aboue two thousand, such as were cheefe Leaders in the fedition) the danger was well ouer-blowne.

These troubles being certified by Let- Herodes fons ters to Rome by Varus, caufed Augustus fentbacke to (having ended the fute concerning the ludea againe, fuccession) to send backe the Sonnes of dome divided Herode to Indea againe. But he had divi- into partitided the whole kingdome of Herode into two partitions: one whereof hee gaue to Archelaus, whom he named Ethnarche, which dignity he affoorded to be greater then that of Tetrarche, & yet much leffe then Royall power. Promiting (neuertheleffe) that he would make him King, after he had made triall of his industry & moderation in this government. Moreover, hee divided the other part into two Tetrarchies, which he gaue to the two Brethren to Herode Antipas, Galilee and Peres; the revennewes wheteof amounted to two hundred Talents, that is fixe fcore thousand Crownes of the Sun. But the Ethnarchie of Archelaus, which containd Idumaa, Indea, and Samaria, valewed fixe hundred Talents in reuennewes.

The division Tetrarchies.

fue by Herod

Jaughter of

thet Archeus to Rome

veterly expiring in a fmal Title to the Arche-

The iourney of Archelaus to Rome, after the King his fachers death, and hi mother with

The cruel behautor of Ar che aus to lus lubicets after his returne a mong them-

Archelaus fell

in loue with his brothers

wife Glaphy

ra,& married

her, contration

to the Lawcol

The death of

Glephyra, af-frighted by a fearful dream

Archelaus

fent for to death.

Rome, his co

uiction and

God.

des, enflamed with hatred against his subiects (by whose accusation, hee had not only loft his Kingly authority, but almost the halfe part of his gouernment) began to carry himfelfe cruelly towardes them, and (for small or no causes at all) did put to death fuch persons, as hee imagined had defired the alteration of the State. Moreover, he highly foyled his reputation, with marriage prohibited by the laws of God. For at his returne from Rome, as he passed thorow Cappadocia, to visite his kinfman king Archelaus; hee found there Glaphyra (widdowed the second time) who had bene first married to Alexander that was put to death by his Father Hered with his brother Aristobulm. After his death, her Father in law Herode, fent her (with her dowry) vnto her owne father, where the was remarried to Inba King of the Numidians; who being likewise dead, the came and lived with hir father again. Archelaus (inneigled with her beautie) tooke her to wife, notwithstanding shee had bene married to his brother Alexander, divorcing his owne wife, named Mariana. This Glaphyra died a little before Archelaus was lent into exile, beeing afrighted with a dreame, wherein the feemed to fee the ghost of her first husband, reproouing her for this wicked marriage with his brother.

ting extraordinary oruelties; fo he chanced to be accused at Rome, by some of the principall Iewes: after he had nine yeares held the principality, from the death of his Father Berode. Whereupon, Augufire fummoned him to his appearance; & after he had bene convinced by fufficient Witnesses, hee was sent into Daulphine, where he died, without leaning any children that were knowne. His goods were confiscated to the Romaine Emperour, and the Countries of his Ethnarchie were (for a time) ruled by the Romaine Gouernors: as by Coponius, Marcus, and Annius Rufus, who governed the Countreves (each of them) two years, euch vntill the death of Augustus, whose succes-

for Tiberias, fant Valerius Gratus into In-

den. Eleugy yeares after, he fent Pontius

Pilate alfo, who behaued himfelfe cruelly

in Judea : and (amongft other notorious matters) he condemned our, Lord & Sa-

Finally as he ceased not from commit-

Pontius Pilat fent gouernos into ludea.

Archelaus being come backe into Iu- | uiour Iesus Christ to be hanged vpon a Crosse, in the seauenth yeare of his Gouernment, and the eighteenth of the Emperor Tyberius.

CHAP. XVII.

Of Phillip, Sonne to Herod the Great, do how be governed in his Tetrarchie.

Ing Herod, by his last Wil

Jand Teftament, lefte his troduct from Philip Tetrache of Philip Tracont is, & of the neighbouring Regions beyond Iordane; euen from the Sea of Tyberias or Genezareth, to the fprings of Iordane, and the foot of Mount Libanus. He gouerned this his Tetrarchy the space of seuen and thirty yeeres (with great commendation for inflice and modesty) which hee also beautified with many goodly Buildinges: For in Paneada, neere to the fourfes of Iordane (where fometime his Father Herod had erected and dedicated a Temple to Augustus) he builded a Cittie, which he called Cefarea of Philippi: and another Thebuildy vpon the lake of Genezareth, named Bath- of Cziana faida, which encreasing and growing into great wealth, he called it Iuliada, after daby Phip the name of the wife to Augustus.

Iosephus writeth, that this Phillip tooke in martiage Salome, the daughter of Herodias, whereas Saint Marke the Euangelist, in his fixt chapter and the seauenteenth verse writeth. That the Mother Herodian was espoused vnto Philip: and afterward being carried away, was coniovned with his Brother.

He dyed without any heyre, in the 20. yeare of Tyberius the Emperor, that is to lay, two yeeres after Christ was crucisied, role from the dead againe, and the Gospell was spread abroad by the Apo-files, from forth Indiana Neighbouring translated Nations. His Tetrarchie was annexed (by Tyberius) to the Province of Syria.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the life and death of Herod Antipas, brother to Phillip, and Tetrarche of Samaria and Perea, &c.

Perca a most

His Herode Antipas, by the fecond Will was instituted fuccessfor to his Father. But the Testament being the Testament being altred, he was ordained Tetrarche, and had (for his partage) Samaria and Pe-rea, which is a most fertile Region beyond Irrdane, betweene the Lakes of Tyberias and Albhaltida. Neuertheleffe, being not contented with his Fathers gift, and trusting to the precedent Will; hee contended at Rome with his Brother before Augustus, touching the poffession of the kingdome. All which notwithftanding, hee obtained nothing else but the Tetrarchie left him by his fathet, & then againe confirmed to him. He took first to wife the daughter of Aretwe, King of Arabia, lining with him more then fifteene veares. But afterward, being called to Kome, paffing along by Phillip the Tetrarche, or (as Iofephis writeth) by Herode the Antipartalles fecond, borne of the daughter to the high Brouist, & Pricit: beeing enamous of the countries of the Priest : beeing enamoured on Herodias, contracted marriage with her promiting to repudiate his Arabian wife.

Being returned from Haly, he tooke away from his Brother, Herodias and her Herodias and daughter Salome; whereat the daughter per daug ter of Aretas finding her felfe offended (fecretly difguised) fled to her father in Arabia; whereupon enfued a famentable war. For Aretas, purposing toreuenge this vninft divorce of his daughter, fent a potent Army against Herode; which did vtterly ouerthrow all his Forces, notwithstanding their strength and multitude in num-

This Herode Antipas, detained S. John Baptist sometime prisoner in the Grongdefenced City of Macheron (fituated on the Marches of Perea and Arabia, neere to the lake Asphaltida:) because he hadde boldly reprodued him for this incessuous marriage; where the Adulteresse found the meanes (afterward) to have his head smitten off. The same Herode laboured fubtilty to entrap Christ, as he was teaching in Galilee; and afterward, when Pilate fent him prisoner to him, hee sent him backe againe opprobrioufly, because (at his request) Christ would not worke any miracle before him.

He likewise embellished his Tetrarchy with faire buildinges; for (to his great Citties that charges) he builded Sephorim, a Cittie of were builded Galilee, which he caused to bee called An- by Antipa, in his Tettarchy tocratorida. He called another Inliada, by the name of Augustus wife, which before was named Betharanta. After the death of Augustus, because he had beene a kinde friend to Tyberius; he builded a new City in Lonour of him, neere to the Lake of The new citie Genazereeh, which he commanded to be called Tyberias. But because the place was prophaned by great heapes of dead bodies there buried, fo that (by Mosses Lawe) it was not lawfull to dwell there, he allured fome (by divers commodities and immunities) to builde there, making habitations for poore people; compelling the rich and mighty, to inhabit (with their families) in this new City.

In the second yeare of the Empire of Caius Caligula, when Agrippa the Brother of Herodius returned from Rome into Iu- Brother of dea; adorned(against all attempters) with Herodias, the royall dignity: Herode, by the continuall injuries of his wife, was enforced to Emperor, and undertake a iourny to Rome, to entreate allowed royal the royall dignity of the Emperour. For dignity. this woman (burning with ambition) said it was vnfufferable, that her Brother A. grippa (being but a while before poore & beggerly, and fo farre indebted, that hee was made fernile to his Creditors) shold now triumph with a Kingly Crowne; furmounting his Vnckle in power and dignity, he having beene to him as a nurling Father, and adjudged (by the second testament) worthy of the kingdome.

Antipas, prouoked by the inceffant in- Antipas accufligations of this arrogant woman, went or the street of t peror Cains, to enjoy the name and dignity Royall : beside, by manie greenous Caius Caliaccusations, he practised to make Agrippahatefull to the Emperor. But Agrippa (aduertised of his Vnckles voyage and intent) preuented him, and fent letters before him by an intimate friend: wherein

Agrippa the

CHAP.

S Ichn Bop. off kept in Pilon by An-arriage, and

rie behea

Agricpa pre-uented his brothers acculations to the Emperor he informed Caius, that Herode Antipas was confenting in the conspiracie of Seianus, against Tiberius, and that now (hauing close intelligence with the King of the Parthians) there was some noueltie intended against Caius. A matter easily tobe coniectured, by the great prepara. tion for Armes which Antipas made: whereby, in an instant, he could be suddenly furnished with an Army of threefcore and tenne thousand able fighting Caligula, incenfed by this report from his friends, demaunded of Herode, what prouision hee had in a readinesse for his

Tetratchie: Whereto hee aunswered:

Herod intrapped in his own answere, and fentinto per petuall banish ment at Lions in Fraunce,

The fubrile

answer of He

rodiasto the Emperour.

That he had all things fitting for a King. Whereupon Caius inftantly commaunded, that hee should be carried prisoner to Lions in France, and therekept in perpetuall exile. Morcouer by his Letters, hee gaue all his goods, with the Tetrarchic of Galilee and Perea, to Agrippa: except what appertained in proprietie to his fifter Herodias, whom he reputed innocent, and for her hee would have all to be intirely referued, if the would returne into Iudea againe. But Herodias, thanking Caius for his liberalitie, replied: That presently she could not make any vie of this great fauour, because the held it vnreasonable, to leaue her husband in this calamitie, whom the had alwayes accompanied in his flowring prosperity, and taited thereof very royally.

Thus spake this subtile woman, as hoping thereby, that the Emperour would alter his rigorous fentence, concerning the condemnation of Herode, and that thee thould not undergoe the felfe-fame cenfure, confidering his supposall of her innocencie. But Cains (being highly difpleafed at her haughtie stomacke) commaunded, that being despoyled of all her goods, thee thould walke with her hufband in the same nature of exile. Thus Herode was the instrument of his owne harme, by liftening (ouer-lightly) to the perswasions of this ambitious woman: for, if he could have contented himfelfe with his estate, hee had longer time enioved peaceably his dignitie of Tetrarch. But they both descrued justly this heavie penaltie; because, beeing joyned together by incestuous marriage, and charitably admonished in the greatnesse of their finne : they did put to death the The inno ica most innocent man Saint Ishn Baptist, deaths. 151. Baptist into vnder colour of a rash oath, pretending reneinged

This great downe-fall happened vnto them, about tenne yeares after the beheading of Saint Iohn; eight yeares after Herode had hunted Ielus Christ, and fent him bound(clothed like a foole in white) as vnwilling to endure his prefence. There is not any thing recorded of his Posteritie, but that the Principalitie of Iudea went from the fonnes of Great Herode, to a yonger sonne of another sonne Aristobulus and Mariana an Asmonean, to Translation wit, to Agrippa and Herode, of whom I have here let downe the Ancestors and dea.

Mariana, an Asmonean. Cypris, daughter of Salome, fifter to Aristobulus.

Agrippa the fecond, King of Chalcie. Drufus dyed in his youth.

Herode the Great.

Salome his fifter. Berenice his wife Aristobulus. Herodias. Mariana.

Aristobulus flayne by his father. Agrippa the first King of all Indea. Herod, the fourth King of Chalcie. Berenice, married to his vnckle Herod. king of Chalcis, who being dead, the remayned with Polemonking of Sicily.

Mariana joyned with Archelaus Helchias, and begate Berenice. Leauing him, the wedded Demetrius of Alexandria, by who the had Agrippina, Drufilla most faire, being but young, fixe yeares olde, was affianced by her Enchans father to Epiphanes, fonne of Antiochus, king of *Comagena. But he making refufall to be circumcifed, her brother Agrippaganeher to Haziazeus, King of the Emefians. Afterward Felix, brother to Pallas, Gouernour of Isdes (by power of Promifes) made hir to leave hir husband, and tooke her to wife. By whom the had a sonne, named Agrippa, who dyed with Mount is his wife. at the burning of the Moun- Sommain taine *Vefenus : which made an inestiro, otherwise called the Great Campania.

is part of Spria, about Ci-

The line fis

whence the

difcent came, failing in the

fonnes o' He

rod the great

ertie and

CHAP. XIX.

The life of Agrippa, the first man of that name, coming to be King of Indea.

filla, in the foure and twentieth chapter of the AIs of the Apostles, and the source and twentieth verse, affirming her to be wife to Felix.

Litle before the death of his grand-father Herode, being as then but eight yeares olde, this Agrippa was fent to Rome, and there nourished with Drusus, the sonne of Tyberius. Hee was greatly affected by Anthonia mother of Agrippa was educated at Rome with the empetors Germanicus and Claudius the Emperour, in regarde of his mother Berenice; whom the loved as if the had beene her fifter.

Being come to age, he retired into 14-dea, after the death of Drusus : because Tyberius expelled from his court, al them that had beene friends to his deceassed fonne; as fearing left the fight of them, should bee the renewing of his forrow. But Agrippa became charged with great doubts, whereinto he had entred at Rome, after the expence of all his owne meanes. Wherfore he wandred abroad for (fome times) with his wife Cypris, beggerly, poore, and veterly abandoned of his friends; so that at length, shame and pinching pouertie would have prouoked him to shorten his life. But his wife Cypris making humble supplications to Herodias, the fifter of her husband: The preuailed so farre, that Herode Antipas the Tetrarche, builded a house for him in the citty of Tiberias, and assigned him there a yearely reuenew. Not long had Agrip. pa enjoyed this benefite by his brother in law, but Herode growing offended at his table, for some wordes spoken by Agrip. pa, ouer-boldely reproued him angerly, terming him a begger, and a vagabond, and that he liued by his bounty.

Agrippa grieuing at this reproach, forfooke this fauour afforded by Herode: and borrowing some small store of money of one that respected him, but at extreame interest; once more hee intended to vifite Rome, and there agains to make triall of his fortune. Hee went to falute Tyberius in the Isle of Caprea, where he found gracious entertainement for a few dayes: vntill some Agent for the Emperour, wrote backe from Indea, that Arrippa did owe thirtie thouland Crownes of the Sunne, to the Receivers of the Emperor. Miferie foo. Beside, that he had formerly made many with enemies escapes, euen when the dayes for repay-then triends. ment came, ving nothing but fubrile and cosening shifts.

Tyberius much offended at these tydings, commaunded Agrippa to anoyde his Court, vntill hee had made full fatiffaction: which hee did (with great difficulty) by the means of Madame Antonia. Wherewith Tyberius was fo well pleased, The ftrange that hee appoynted him the guardian of and variable his twinne sonne Tyberius. But a little condition of Agruppaes forume. he fell into his disfauour. For, becing at supper one night, with Caise, the young adopted fonne of Tyberius, among other speeches passing at the Table; Agrippa wished, that olde Tyberius might quickly die, to the end that Caius should enjoy the Empire.

This wish comming to the cares of Tyberius, Agrippa (by the Emperours commaund) was clapt vp in close pri- The coming fon, and there so kept, vntill such time of Caius to the Empire, as Tyberius deceassed. Caius, well affisted and read. by his warlike troupes, and by his father unncement Germanicus, came to enjoy the Empire, of Agrippa. and having released Agrippa out of prifon; adorned him with the habits befeeming a King, fubicating also those countries to him , which Phillip the Tetrarch. and Lysanias formerly had commaunded. Moreouer, he gaue him a chaine of gold, of equalitie in weight to the yron chaine, wherewith he was bound lying in prison.

scffion of his kingdome. Thus you fee, that hee who (before) was not onely despised, in regard of his necessitie and great debts, but also durst not abide in any place, for the importunitie of his creditors; was (to the admiration of all fuch as fawe him in that wofull miserie)raised to the magnificence royall,

Hee remained a yeare with the Emperor of Agrippa Caius at Rome; and then tooke leaue of to possessibility him for his returne to Iudea, to take pof- kingdome.

on Herod and his wife Herodias.

The punish-ment inflicted

Chap. 19.

Honors heaped more and more vepon Agrippa by

> Agrippa maketh a journy to Rome.

Philo the Icy fent Ambafla Jour for the lewes,

A great com plaint made to Caius against the

A commaund to erect the: Emperorifta tue in the ho lieft place of the Temple.

Petronius : o eth with a po werfull army to Ptolomas to execut the Emperours

ed and refuted to aide him, or had injurioufly repulfed him, while he lived in prinate estate and extreame ponerty. Soone after, Cains Caligula gane him Galilee and Berea; with all the cheuisance of Herode Antipas his emulatour, and of his fifter Herodias, as in our last Chapter we have related : wherfore, after he dad taken order for his kingdomes affaires, hee tooke his journey towards Rome, with gifts and presents, to declare (on his owne behalfe) what feruices and acknowledgement hee made, for fo many gracious fauors done to him by Caius.

During the time that Agrippa was at Rome, there happened a strife betweene the Cittizens of Alexandria, and the Iews dwelling in the same Cittie: fo that (by lottes) Ambassadours were sent on eyther part to the Emperour. Amongest whom was Philo the Icw, whose testimony we have divers times made vie of, in the course of this present Historic. There the lewes were tharpely accused by a Greeke named Appian, for many faults, and especially, for obstinate contempt of the Imperiall dignitie: because in all parts of those Citties where the Icwes dwelt, they would not fuffer any Statues or Images of the Emperour Caius to be erected; but if any were fet uppe, immediately they would throw them downe very oppro-

with this complaint, repulsed the Iewish Ambassadours, somewhat rudely, and wrote to Petronius, (who from the beginning of his Empire, he had fent Gouernour into Indea) that with all the hafte he could possibly vie, hee should erect the Emperors Statue, in the most holy place of the Temple of Ierusalem, if not by confent of the lewes, yet in despight of them, and (by force of Armes) whether they would or no.

Petronists, willing to obey this comand, the least of his commaunds. vetknowing the execution would not be eafic; called the Legions from all parts,& being prouided of fufficient fuccor, went from Syria to Ptolomais, carrying a braue army along with him . But first he made knowne to the lewes (by Ambaffadours and Letters,) whereforehe came in fuch dreadfull manner, as grounded upon the Emperors commaund; defiring the peo-

which caused some to tremble, that deni- ple, that he might rather perfourme it by their good liking, then by the course of force & violence. The Iews, not a litle affrighted at these news, came from a great number of Townes and Citties, into the fields before Ptolomais, bringing no arms or weapons with them : but entreating Petronius, not to fulfill fo wicked a com- lance palled maund, protesting, that they would ra- betweene the rher endure a thousand deaths, then fusfer the Temple to be prophaned with the Statue of a man.

Contrariwife, Petronus admonished them to take heede, lest this their stiffenecked opinio, should procure the countries devastation by fire and sword; alledging stil vnto them, the sterne commands of the Emperour, how gracious hee had beene towards him, and (being angerly mooued) would admit no mercy, to fuch proouing his speeches by examples of diuers tormented in strange kinds. He further defired them to pardon him, in not commands a denying to execute the Emperors charge imposed on him : because they knew well enough themselues, that neuer any refused to fulfill his command, but was extreamely punished for it. Wherefore, hee rather intended to aduenture his life, in fighting against their whole Nation: then to bee held remisse or negligent, in what the Emperour had enjoyned him.

ioufly.

Hecreupon the multitude refolued to Angunent alleged in infift, entreating him to pardon their religion and iust constancie, if (more fear-the lewish ing God, the Creatour of heaven and muliture earth, and having often experimented his heavy wrath, by their transgressing his commandements) they did now oppose themselves against the Emperours will, beeing full of impietie. Confidering alfo, that Petronius himfelfe confessed, that he stoode in such feare of a mortall man (whose life was vncertaine) that he held it no fafetie for his person, to transgresse

> Petronius, amased at this obstinacie in the people, and (after that the affembly was dispersed) finding himselfe in great perplexitie, what hee should doe in this dangerous case; paused a while vponit. For, hee had beene particularly admonished by Aristobulus, brother to King Agrippa, and some other Princes of Iudea, with earnest imprecatious, not to soyle himfelfe

The lewes

efteeme their

remonies and

The confetence be-

ewes againfl

himfelfe, with the innocent bloud of fo great a multitude, by the wicked commaund of the Emperours; because in to doing, hee thould brand the Romaine Empire, with so infamous a note of cruelty, as the like was never heard of before, destroying a whole Nation, for refuling to fuffer the Image of a finfull man, to be advaunced in their most holie Temple. Which divine honour, no man (of vnderstanding or good judgement) did euer couet before : but contrariewife, many, to whom such an offer had beene made, did holde it in no meane detestation.

They further aduited him, that hee would write to the Emperour, and let him vnderstand the peremptorie resolutiunciented on of the people, in defence of the doctrine and ceremonies given them by Almighty God, calming his displeasure so well as hee could, from proceeding in so cruell a sentence. But if it should so come to passe, that the humour of the Gouernour might not bee altered : yet then hee had enough to goe on in, and (when hee did please) to proceede in Petronius desiring to consider in these matters more maturely, and to trie the peoples inclination yet a little further: went with his Army to Tybersas, where an infinite number of Iewes met him, inceffantly entreating him, that their facred Temple might not bee prophaned. Why ? answered Petronius, Dare you watre with the Emperour? Feare you not the power of the Romaine Empire, knowing how weake your strength is, to contend against so mighty a Monarch? Wee relist not by Armes so great a power (cryed out the Icwes) but humbly lay downe our lines at Cafars foote: rather then, against the Lawe of our God, we will see the Stame of the Emperour, to bee erected in the holiest place of our Temple. Which words were no fooner spoken, but they all fell flat vpon their faces, prostrating their neckes to any that would finite them.

Petronius perceiuing them fo refolued and inuincible, that they rather would die, then suffer their Temple to be violated; confidering also, that already (for the space of fortied , , they had not toucht the carth with any labor, although it was the onely apt time to fowe their leede : after he had confulted with forne of his friends, hee coucluded, that hee would write to the Emperour . Yet, before he would make any publication therof, he meant to presse those people somwhat further. So, caufing a mighty multitude of the vnarmed Iewes to meete at vrged by Pe Tiberias, and to feare them in most dreadfull manner; he engirt them on all fides with warrelike troupes, and his horsfemen ready prepared to ouer-runne them. Once more hee declared to them, the rigorous commaund of the Romaine Emperour, the obedience of all the people in the like case; the daunger wherein he and al his were, if they did not effect what hee had commaunded. Wherefore hee exhorted them, that the Emperours anger might be endured : because such fayled not to revenge cruelly, the breach of any thing commaunded by him.

But when the Iewes cryed out all with The answer of one voyce, that hee ought to make more the people to account of Gods commaund, then of a- Petronius. ny mortali mans whatfocuer, to trample them vnder his horses seete, or slice them in peeces with their Swords, that fo all the lewes being extirpated, he might vie the Temple at his owne pleasure: Petronius, entirely mooned to mercy, his heart throbbing, and his eyes ouer-flowing with teares, commaunding filence by a Trumpet, thus he spake.

The Oration made by Petronius, to the Icroes affembled at Tyberias.

Seeing you are so resolute, that you desire rather to die, then violate the Law given you by God, I am not the man, that (by a wic- ble dispositiked kinde of obedience) will foyle your Temple; for which I fee you endeaour fo much. Nor will I doe feruice to the Emperour my Maister, in a matter so monstrous and inhumane:but rather willbe a partaker in your perill, then purchase my life, by the innocent bloud of so great a multitude . Be comforted then in this your Religion, and returne to your labour, which (for fo many dayes) you have omitted . For mine owne part . I will labour by my friends and mine owne Letters, links in Co to alter this opinion in the Emperour . If hee commaund me to Rome, and condemne mee Hbb

Commander.

626

The lewes

interpretati

on concer-

of raine

ning a showr

King Agripps

Empe, or, and

maketh inter-

cession for

the lewes.

Agrippa win

neth pardon for the pco-

ple of the iewes.

to death, I will gladly endure it : knowing, that by my death, a people lining in great daunger, may yet preserve their Religion to themselues. For your part, pray to God, that what I enterprise for your safetie, may have a good iffue for ws all.

When the Iewes had heard this Oration; as people extraordinarily joyfull, they beganne (with loude voyces) to extoll the pictic of Petronius, wishing to him all felicitie. And fodainely, vpon the Assemblies seperation, there fell a mightie thowre of raine (all the day before, and the whole moneth fore-going, the Heauens were fo cleare and bright, that the earth was burnt by extremity of heat) and this the Iewes interpreted to bee a signe of their happinesse.

While matters proceeded thus In Iudea, King Agrippa being at Rome, vnderstoode the troubles in his kingdome, and the occasion from whence they proceeded. Whereupon, he made a magnificent feast for the Emperour, consisting of all the delicates that possibly could be deuised. Caius welknew, that Agrippa would not launch out in fuch liberall expences, but that hee intended some especiall suite to him: wherefore, with a gracious countenance and franke spirit, hee bade him boldly ask what he would protesting that he should not be denied. In a long & well prepared Oration, Agrippa refolued the Emperour, that he defired not any enriching of his kingdome; but humbly craued pardon for the lewish people, if, in feare to be punished by God; they had not received his Statue into their Temple of Ierusalem.

Caius accounting it a shame and disgrace to him, if heerein he should refuse his friends request: wrote to Petronius, of his commaund. Adding withall, that if (with the peoples liking) the Image was already placed in the Temple, fo to let it rest : but if the people would not voluntarily suffer it to bee doone, by no means to offer them any violence. Soone after came the Letters fent from Petronius, concerning the stowte resolution of the Icwish Nation: which quite altered him from his former minde, and made him highly displeased with his Captaine, for not perfourning what hee had enjoy-

Wherefore hee wrote agains to him, that if he would not be brought to Rome, and there be maffacred with most horrible torments : hee should make choice of what kinde of death himfelfe pleafed, as a punishment for the contempt of his

It came to passe, and (no doubt) diuinely, that the ship which carried these cruell Letters, was greatly tardied by Chim Cales boysterous tempests: so that an other la,his with shippe (bringing the newes of Caligulaes daughter murdreds) death) arrived there in Iudea before it. murdred together, and Fearefull indeede was his death, but well brendly a worthy fuch a monster, who shortly after took years hee had written these terrible menaces culously proto Petronius, was maffacred, with his uented. wife and daughter, by Chereas and his confederated conspiratours. Whereuppon Petronius, beeing infourmed of the Emperours death, and thereby exempted from all feare; received the other Letters of his death. Thereby he plainely perceyued, that almighty GOD had miraculously prescrued his life, for the good hee had doone to the lewish Na-

About the same time, Claudius was faluted Emperour by the Souldiours: madeline has been both country, when had been both country, which we had been both country, which we had been both country, when had been both country, which we had been both count celled and affifted by Agrippa, at fuch time | pa confi as hee remayned in Rome: he confirmed kingdom, with ohim (by publique Edict) the Kingdirigan before dome of Iudea given him by Caligula, adding also Samaria, and all the other parts and portions, which his grandfather Herode the Great formerly posses-

Moreover, hee gaue him the Tetrarchie of Lysanias, called Abella, with a A Town part of Cilicia, and Comagena, which hee Campana in had taken from Antiochus. He conferred called Bella. commending his care for the execution | also on Herode, brother to Agrippa, the Kingdome of Chalcis.

Agrippa beeing in this manner richly recompenced, returned to Iudea, in the first yeare of the Empire of Claudius, and ascending up to Ierusalem, gaue thanks to the Lord for his good successe. There hee made a follemne great feast, hanging vp in the Temple, the Chaine of The Chaint golde which Caligula had giuen him in of goldhand memory of his miferies, and divine deli-ple.

Afterward, he beganne to fortifie the ancient traput to death and 5. Peter

Agrippa.

non of lose-

the theater to fpeake to the people, with the Historic of Saint Luke in this manner. After hee had reigned ouer all Indea for the space of three yeares; in the fourth, hee came to Cafarea, where hee celebrated the Feast with a great company of the Iewes; canfing Playes to be acted, in honour of the Emperour Claudies, and for his health. The second day of the Feast, he entred the Theater in the morning, attired in a Roabe of cloth of filuer, tiffued, and made most sumptious and artificiall: where. on when the bright beames of the Sunne did cast their radiance, it caused such a lustre by their reverberation; that all cies were dazeled with the folendour of the garment. Whereupon it happened, that fome of his Flatterers, interrupting him in his Oration; tolde him, that he spake like a god; nay, and (with a loude voice) called him God berauing mercy of him, begause (viill then) they had feared him

Cittie of Ierusalem, and with such sufficient furniture, that Claudius (fearing a revolt in the lewes, vnder truft in fuch a well ordered fortification) forbade Agrippa by his Letters, to finish the work

hee had begunne. Hee was also most liberall towards his subjects, and (about

all) a superstitious observer of the traditions, received in the forefathers lawe.

So that, hearing the Apostles to valew

them of no reckoning to winne the good liking of the facrificing Priests, and fa-

uour of the vulgare people: Hee executed some of the Disciples of our Saviour

Christ, and namely James the brother to

Iohn, they beeing the fonnes of Zebedee.

Hee also caused Saint Peter to bee put in prison, during the dayes of valeauened

Bread, to bring him foorth to the people after the Feaft. But the Euangelist

Saint Luke amply declareth, that Saint

Peter was delivered by the continuall prayers of the Church: where hee also

declareth, the miferable end of this Herod

Infephus, speaking of his death: it agrees

Now, concerning the description of

As the King gloried in these flattering clamours, no way reproouing them for fuch impious behauiour: hee was fodainely finitten with a most gricuous

but as a man onely; but now they plainly perceined, that he farre excelled all humane nature.

paine in his entrailes, fo that very hardly hee could bee carryed to his Pallace. & just judge Where, after many horrible torments, mentof God his life expired the fift day : beeing iufly vpon King punished for the crueltie, which hee had exercifed against the members of the true Church of Christ, whereas otherwise, he was very benigne and gracious towardes all men, especially to strangers and Gentiles. Hee reigned (in all) about seauen yeares; for hee helde the Tetrarchie of Phillip(vnder Caius Caligula) three yeares. and foure other yeares, the whole Kingdome of Indea. He dyed in the foure and The yeares of fiftieth yeare of his age; the third of the Empire of Clandius; and the twelfth yeare after the refurrection of our Lord and Saujour Christ Icfus.

His posteritie hath already beene related, whereof Agrippa, beeing his eldest Sonne, and of the age of seven years when his Father dyed, albeit Claudins the Emperour gladly defired, that hee should have beene successour in his Fathers kingdome: yet fome other preuavled fo farre with him , that all the Regions (fubicated before to his Father:)were againe reduced into the forme of a Prouince; and the first Gouernour sent thither to rule in Indea, was Cuffins Fadus, dus. or Fadus Cultius.

ded not his father in the kingdome.

Culpius Fa-

CHAP. XX.

Of Herode, the fourth King of Chalcis, youngest forme to Herode the Great, brother to the first Agrippa.

brother Agrippa.

Haue heretofore named this man, Herode the fourth, for his better differenting from other; who led a private kind of life, witill Clandius (mooned to be here). Haue heretofore named led a private kind of life, Claudius by the intercession of his brother Agrippa) bestowed vpon him the Kingdome yeare of his Empire. of Chalcis, in the first yeare of his Em-

yeares, furniting onely five yeares his

Hhh 2

pire, which he enjoyed the space of eight foone changed from lis promife made to Agrippa, S wrathfully in-

The Empero

cenfed againft Petro

After

A debate or contention for keeping the ornamé of the hig 1-Priefts.

The liberall triunt of laudius to Herode.

Thendas the So ceret his abufing the people, and put to death by Cuipius Fadus.

A&15.36.

A great fanane in Iudea, toretold by Agabus. Act: 11.28,

A people li ungbeyond Armenia.

Accs 11.29.

The death of

After the death of his brother , Cufpim Fadus beeing fent into Iudea, stroue to have the custodie of the Roabes and other ornaments, which belonged to the Soueraigne Sacrificers, and to transferre the Sacrificers to Romaine Gouernours: whereupon, Harode transported himselfe to Rome, at request made to him by the lewes, whose cause he maintained there to well; that he obtained, that the garments belonging vnto the High-priest, should be kept in the custody of the Hiepriest. Moreover, hee obtained of Claudias, that he should have the charge and care of the money, confectated to the Temple of Ierusalem. Having power alfo, to depose the High-priest, for some causes of importance, and to substitute an other more sufficient. A Graunt which brought great gaine and profite to the Kings; because the Priests sought by power of mony, who should have that foueraigne dignitie.

Culpius Fadus gouerned the Countrie of Iudea, when a certaine man, named Theudas, abused in such fort the vulgare people by his enchauntments: that hee brought them to lordane, promifing to make them passe (dry-footed) ouer the dinided riner. But Fadus following, took him by his horse-men, and having put him to death, feattered all the heapes of his followers . Gamaliell maketh mention of this Theudes, in the fift chapter of the Astes of the Apostles.

Tyberius Alexander was fent by Claudius, to fucceede Fadus in the government; under whom happened that terrible famine in Indea, which Agabus had foretold in the eleanenth chapter of the Actes of the Apostles; and which was about the fixt or fenenth yeare of Claudius : which extreamitie was fomewhat affwaged, by the liberalitie of Helena, Queene of the * Adiabanes, who caused great plenty of corne to bee brought out of Egypt, and figges from Cyprus. Also the Churches of Greece and Afa, gathered much mony which they feat to fuccourthe brethren. that endured the famine it widea.

Herode, King of Chalcio dyed in the eight yeare of the Emperour Claudius. Hee had two wines, each after other; the first was Mariana, daughter to Olympia, the yoongest daughter to Great Herode, Herode king by whom he had Aristobulus. Afterward, he married Berenice, daughter to his brother Agrippa, who brought vnto him two fonnes. And this was his iffue or posteritie, which was reputed quite confumed, by the calamities happing in the warres > Aristobulus. flaine by his Father Herod the Great.

Agrippa the first. Mariana, daughter of Olympia. Herode, the fourth King of Chalcis. Berenice, daughter of Agrippa the first, who had by her vnckle, Berenicina, Hyrcanus. Of these we reade nothing.

Agrippa the last. Salome, daughter of Herodias, first maried to Phillip the Terrarch.

Aristobulus, to whom Nero gaue the gouernement of the Leffer Armenia, and had by Salome, Herode Agrippa Aristobulus.

Iosephus maketh no other kind of mention (concerning them) that I can finde.

CHAP. XXI.

I Of Agrippa the last, Sonne to the youngest fonne of Herod the Great, the last King in any part of Indea.

His Agrippa, being aged seuenteen years, Agrippa hing was at Rome with declaration in mediate face Claudius when his fa-ther dyed; and fue-this father. acceded not immediately after his father, because of some enemies about Claudius therein were his hinderance: who alleaged; That his youthfull yeares were not apt to gouerne so great a kingdome, neither to bridle a people fo rebellious. But indeede, their pretence was, to enrich themselues by gouerning the Countrey.

The iffue of Herod the 4

Agrippa made King

and enabled

rend behauiour of an in-lokent Souliour to the

A of Cuma

Fine yeares after his fathers death, his vnckle Herode beeing dead also : Claudius conferred on him the Kingdome of Chalcis, at the age of 22. veares. He gaue him also the same power his vnckle had, to keepe the treasure of the Temple of Ierusalem, and to create the High priests. Of which authoritie Agrippa made verie good vie: for (in a short time) he deposed divers, and substituted other at his pleafure.

At fuch time as Agrippa beganne his reigne, Cumanus was fent into Iudea, to fucceed Tiberius Alexander in the gouernment, who greatly tormented the country, which already fauored of the fucceeding ruine. For, at Easter, the fourth day of vnleauened bread, a Romain Souldier of the band, which (according to custom) kept a garrison about the Temple; vnreucrently shewed his base backe-part to the people, they being dutifully bufied in the service of God.

The Iewes not a little mooued at this iniurie, gaue very bitter speeches against the Gouernour Cumanue, because hee did not punish this wicked act of the Soldiour.

Cumanus taking in difdayne their bold words, and fearing fome violence by the mutinous multitude : fodainely (but vel ry fecretly) fommoned his armed Legiz ens and horsemen together, who discol uering themselues before they could be suppected; made such an affright among the marmed popularity, that they fled away so consusedly crowding, that more then twenty thousand men and women. were trodden and crushed to death in the Streetes and other places, to the great and grieuous lamentation of all the peo-

Another tumult also followed soone after, the issue whereof was not yet fo pittifull. Por some theening lewes, had (vpon the highway) (hrewdly beaten and wounded one Stephen, a fertiant to the Emperour Claudius, stripping him out of all that he had about him.

Cumanus heereat highly offended, and not finding them that had done the deed; tooke all the neighbouring parts, where the fault was committed. Which being done, a Souldiour finding a Booke in his booty, which containd the writings of Moses and the Prophets, made a publike shew thereof in derision, & after tore it to peeces, in prefence of the chiefest Iewes. Sodainly a great multitude of the Icws ranne (by troups) to Cafarea (where then was the ordinary abiding of the Romaine Gouernors) and required, that iuflice might be inflicted vpon him for this wicked act: whom if Cumanus (by the perfwafion of some) had not beheaded , to fatisfie the enraged peoples anger; this tumult could not have been appealed, without very great effusion of blood.

Afterward, some of the Galleansascen - Divers Galiding vppe to Ierusalem to the Feast, were the Samaritas flaine by the Samaritanes; which was the cause of many murthers committed on both fides. For, eyther part beeing encouraged to reuenge, ranne into fresh iniuries, by way of robberies, putting to fire and fword all they met withall. But, because Cumanus (corrupted with money) did not represse those thecueries done by neighbour on neighbour. Quarreus, Prcfident of Syria, was called thither by the Cumanus fent to Rome contrary fide, who (having received in- by Quarreus, formation of the fact, and executed the after whom authours of the mutinies) fent Cumanus lix, to Rome, to render a reason for the Prouince committed to his charge. He being consided of auarice and crueltie, was fent into exile by Claudius, & in his place, was appointed governor of Indea and Samaria, Claudius Pælix, brother to Pallas, who (long time before) was fent into Palestine, to gouerne the Tetrarchy of Philip, as is affirmed by Cornelius Tacitus.

Almost at the same time, that is to say, in the twelfth yeare of his Empire, Cliudies gaue to King Agrippa the Tetrarchy of Phillip (being destitute of a Gouernor) which contained Trachonitis and Batanea; The liberall giving him alfo Abella, the Tetrarely of bountie of Eyfanias. Then he gaue to his vnckle pa- Claudius to ternall Aristobulus (brother to the first K Agrippa. Agrippa, and Herode of Chalcis) the kingdome of Chalcis.

After these affayres thus paffed ouer, the condition and estate of the Iews grew worse and worse; and now beganne the government of Falix, who beeing reprooued by Ionathas the High-prieft, for high-Prieft his rapines and other wicked actions by reproued the him perfourmed, and yet not daring to lix, and was depole him from the Sacerdotall dig- fecretly murnitie, because hee stoode in feare of the dered. people: subborned diverse Ruffians, who

Hhh 3

leans flain by

Mens liues bought and

The miferable afflifitio of the lewes, no way to b redreffed.

fold as roffi;

pleased, with

out any pu-

Paul imprifoand Druilla. Actes 24.24.

The death of Claudiusand reigne of

Portins Fcflus fent to govern Inde

entring into Ierufalomat the feast with | Portius Festus was arrived in Iudea, hee the multitude) flew fo fecretly the High-Priest Ionathas, and others marked for the same purpose with him; as very easily they were concealed in the troupes.

This attempt speeding so well as the Ruffians could defire, fell out to bee the occasion, that (at every feast) they made a market or merchandise, of killing the honestest of the people : sometimes being hired there-to by other, fometimes out of their owne spleene and mallice. So that every man stoode in seare, because no one knew how to fecure himfelfe; audacious boldenesse dreading no punishment, in regard of the Gouernors carelesse negligence.

Troups of the cues ranne cuery where making spoile, though many were apprehended by Falix, and executed : yet wickednesse had taken such deep roote, onely through neglect in the precedent Gouernours, as it could no way be holpen; no not by the greatest scuerity of instice. And the worst of all was, that these theeucries were maintayned by the Highpriests authoritie: amongst whom, such as were best stored with money , kept bands of desperate villaines about them. by whose meanes they oppressed such as they pleafed, laying close ambushes to kill and murder them.

In the thirteenth yeare of Claudius his Empire, Paul the Apostle was taken in Ierusalem, and being led thence to Cafareas pleaded his cause before Falix and Drufilla, as S. Luke declareth in the foure and twentieth of the Actes. Afterward, Fabefore Folix Lix called for him divers times, and heard him answere for himselfe, hoping that Paul would redeeme himfelfe by money. But after hee had kept him two whole yeares in prison; at his departing from Iudea, hee left him there, to please the Icwes.

Claudius died in the foureteenth yeare of his Empire, and Nero (at the beginning of his gouernment) encreased the authoritie of Agrippa, adding thereto part of Galilee, with the Citties of Tyberias, Tariches and Iuliada . Forthwith he fent Portim Fest us into Indea, calling home Falix, whom they of Cafarea followed, and accused him of cruelty, rapines and other vniust dealing; but he escaped by the cunning of his brother Pallas. So foone as Portius Festus was arrived in Indea, nee gaue audience (at Cafarea) to Paul and Paul approx the lewes his accusers : and as he inten- to answere ded to fend Paul to Ierufalem, he (fearing before Cziu the ambushes of the Iewes) appealed to the Emperour Nero.

Some few dayes after, Agrippa went to Cafarea with his fifter Berenice, onely to falute the new gouernor: which fifter (after the death of her husband Herode of Chalcis) lived so familiarly with her brother, that there was great suspition of incestuous acquaintance. Paul was brought Paul phades before them to pleade his cause, and (in a before Festus wel couched oration) fo approued his innocencie; that, according to the Kings owne opinion, he might have gone at liberty, if hee had not appealed to Cafar. Not long it was, but Paul was fent (with other prisoners) to Rome, in the first yeare of Neroes Empire, as is auouched.

Agrippa returning to Ierusalem, offended the Priests very grieuously, by a building erected in the Pallacerovall, and fomewhat neare to the Temple : for hee A continue could thence discerne, whatsoeuer the gippa a de Priests did in the inward parts, and when they loytered in the facrifices and diuine abuilding. Service. The Priests holding this action vnlawfull, erected a wall (on the Temple fide) of the like height; whereby Agrippa was not onely hindered from feeing the Temple, but also a great part of the City. The King infifted, that the wall should be beaten downe; but the Priests so preuailed (by means made to Poppea the Emperours wife) that Nero allowed the wall to remaine as it did.

Heereat Agrippa being exceedingly offended, deposed softended to seph the sourceaigne Sacrificer, placing Ananias in his roome, who was of the Saduces Sect, a man very Ralled bolde and cruell. He (Festus dying in Indea, and Abinus his successour staying fomewhat long ere he came) tooke occafion to exercise crueltie against many worthy persons; especially against James the sonne of Joseph, brother to our Lord Iesus Christ by an other mother, a man (in the judgement of all them dwelling in Ierusalem) excelling in innocencie of life and piety, who was throwne down headand (by command of the faid Anamias) obecomdend with flones about the first becomdend yeares after the birth of Christ. For Ananias dismiffed from his Office by

Chap. 21.

Florus a more

wicked goues not then Al-;

binus, fent a a luft plague

come to paffe

For this wicked deed, he was accused before Agrippa, who feared the Romane Gouernour, named Albinus, now neere approaching; and also stoode in feare of the peoples fury : wherefore Anamas was dismissed from his Office, exercised by him but three moneths onely. And yet he ceased not to commit great cruelties, against them that were of his owne condition. For, in regard of his great power, hee had many Theeues (kept at his charges) of whom he made vie to murther his enemies privily. Beside, hee made them breake into the Garners of corne to steal the Tythes therein enclosed : which beeing often done without any punishment, was the cause of staruing to death manie of the poore Priests.

Albinus being ouercome with infatiable couetoufneffe, cared for nothing elfe The greedy & infatiable co. uctoufnes of Albinus the but onely to get wealth together, by any vile meanes whatfocuer : wherefore, fuch of the Priests as gaue him Gold, hee winhed at all their wickednesse, and permitted Theeues to doe what they lifted, if their kindred or friendes would redeeme them with money. By which meanes, in short time, all Judea was full of Theeues, all things turned topfic turuy, no Iustice exercifed in any place : and there was no acte fo horrid or execrable, but it might quickly be pardoned for money.

Gessius Florus was sent as successor to this Horse-leech, who farre exceeded the rapines of Albinus, by infinit other wicked courses; so that the Iews reputed Albinus 2 Saint vnto this other. For Florus proceeded not couertly, nor after the cunning manner of his predecellour: but by open violence, scorning, stealing, rudely taking, and doing whatfocuer hee pleafed; for will onely was a Law to him. And furely it feemed, that he was meerly fent by destiny to the Iewes, so to irritate them by open injuries, and blinde them from all defire of reuenge, as finally to be their yeter ruine, For, the whole country being ouer-runne with Theeues, and the people growne desperately desirous of warre, had a hope of some other Dominion, groaning under the tyrannical Romaine rule, and (infortish zeale) were per-The time forc fwaded to recover their liberty. prophesiedfor the destruction

In breefe, the time was come, which Christand the Prophets had foretolde, concerning the destruction of the whole

Priesthood, and policy ordained by Mofer and divine authority: confidering. that the Messias had already beene sent, for the loue of whome, both the Priesthood and policy had bin (till that time) dininely preserved. Wherefore, under Gessius Florus, threescore yeeres after the Nativity of Christ, five and thirty yeeres after hee was crucified and rifen againe, the twelfth of Nerses Empire, the feuenteenth of this Agrippa now in question; and three yeares before Paul was put to death by Nero: the warre began to waxe tempestuous, because the Iewes revolted from the Romane Empire, and entred into mutiny against Cafar.

Florus could eafily have quenched this Florus a bloowarre in the beginning; but that hee rather affected, to nourish and feede the of the lewish flame newly kindled, by prouoking the Iewes dayly more and more, still adding iniury vppon iniury: vntill the fire flewe foorth both farre and neere, that finally, it wrought the destruction of all In-

Agrippa labo

At the beginning of this revolt, Agrip. palabored very ferioufly, to flay the lews from this furious desire of warre, and to to the Romas regaine peace and tranquility, by requiring pardon of the Romanes for their offence, which they might have obtayned on meane conditions, in regard it was very euident, that they had some inst causes of rebelling, by the outrages done vnto them by Florus. But he came so short of their expectation, they hating nothing more, then to heare of peace or equity:as (very hardly) he escaped theyr violence. Perceiuing then the Nation fo enraged for fight, & (like men blindfolded) throwing themsclues imperuously into perdition; he retired from their furious enterprize, and fent ayde to Velpaliania Iudea, to tame the head-strong course of those Rebelles, foreseeing already in his foule, the fad ruine of all the Iewish peoplc.

Heere I could weave up the fagge-end of this History, with report of the lewish the warre bewarre, which Iofephus and other authors tweene the haue described; but that my heart will not ferue me, to discourse those straunge & milerable ouerthrows, which (in their pitileffe euents) did exceede humane beleefe. For no History is found of any nation whatfocuer, that was fo long time

ble horror of Romaines.

Chap. 21.

The viter extermination

of the lewish

people, for their contem-

ning Iclus

and fantasticke spectacles. Some other

(by huge troopes) to cut out a Channell

heavy wrath, against the contemners of his Sonne Christ, and the doctrine Euan-

gelicall; almost all this nation was vtter-

ly exterminated. Hapning by the Divine permission, that at the Feast of vnleauened bread, when the Iewes were wont to meete at Ierusalem, from the farthest parts of all Indea; the Citty should be thus be-

fiedged, and all the desperate Robbers.

Theeues, & Ruffians, dispersed throughout the whole Regions, should (euen

then) be retyred to Ieru(alem) to fhelter space of fine yeares) had first of all subdued well-neere all Indea, conquering many strongly munited Citties, yea, destroying and burning them, onely through the wilfull obstinacie of the inhabitants: in the last halfe yeare, Titus brought his Army to the Citty of Ierusalem, and there planted his fiedge, in the fecond yeare of the Emperor his Father; and the fiedge

continued for the space of sixe moneths,

which sofephus tearmeth by Macedonian

Language

CHAP. XXII.

A breefe Collection, of the principall Accidents which happened in the time of the

which in our May.

(are thus cal-)luly.

Aprill.

August.

-September

JIune.

names.

Xantiqua.

Dention.

Panemon,

Gorpiaion.

Loion.

The names of Artemision.

the 6. months

wherein leru-

falem was be-

After that Vespasian (for about the

themselues in her fortifications.

By these pittifull examples of Gods

betweene the Agaum and Ionian leas.

The lewes reuolted in the 12 yeare of Nero the en peror.

tiality and factions in Ica

The richest

Citizens in most wofull

perplexity.

rula!cm.

thut vp from all fuccour, wofully tormented, and finally (wholy confounded, with ther quite raced out, and destroyed. For after that the Iewes were repolted in the twelfth yeare (as is affirmed) of Nero, the army of the Romanes neuer ceased for fix whole yeeres together, cruelly to ratiage the countrey of Indea, because from time to time, the Iewes (by their inuincible obstinacy) prouoked the victorious foldiers to fuch tyrannies, as the like were neuer heard of.

But though Ispare to relate the deua-The milerastation of the whole countrey: who can ble effare of Ierufalem, fi conceine (with true indgement) but the whole yeares miseries of the Citty Ierusalem it selfe? tegether. Which, before it beheld the Romane enemy, for the space of sixe whole yeers, felt (within it felfe) farre more cruell domeflicke aduerfaries : as beeing divided and torne in peeces, by Sects, Factions, and Seditions of Theenes, fighting amongst themselues (when they had none else to Bands of parquarrell withall) for rapines, murthers, and other mischeefs, every Faction thinking to support it selfe, by dooing injurie vnto it selfe, and surmounting one another in number, and manner of nonel villanies and extremity.

Furie grew on to fuch horrid perfection, that if any Man or woman were effected holy, religious, and modest s these were arguments sufficient, to yeild a pregnant reason for their death; and the goodes of the richest Cittizens, must bee brought foorth, and layde before their doores, while the Factious fought who should enjoy them. To kill people of meane or simple condition, was but to ridde them out of the turbulent crowdes, for they were efteemed but as a charge to the Citty, and hindered the way when the fiedge fhould beginne: for this they accounted their wisestionists, and best meanes, to abide a long lingering fiedge.

If any man durst but speake a word, or expresse by any apparant signe, that hee difliked the present License vnto all Villanics, it was presently termed Treafon, and flatte conspiracy with the Romaines; yea, it was a finne deferting terrible punishment. And as great an offence it was, to mourne or lament for Parents or Friends, being flaine or murthered in these vprores.

To prophane the verie holyest part numberlesse calamities) almost altoge- of the Temple, with Rapes, Murthers, and Massacres; they sayde, it was fighting in defence of the Temple, and for the Religion of the countrey. To beare away violently the riches out of the Temples Treasurie, and to waste them in all Villanie and abhominable excesse: this was tearmed, borrowing money, wherewith to defend the feruice ordayned by GOD. And vpon paine of death, no man durft flye, or get him gone, from these horrible, diuellish, and dangerous

Moreover, fuch as dwelt in the Citie, the lews fuch beheld (beside these publike miseries) as sildom any their owne bodies, their wives, children, natton was e uersubied to and goods, exposed to the violent & vnbridled attempts of those mercilesse Villaines. In breefe, there could not be thought or denifed any injury or opprobrious behaviour, which the miserable Icwes might feare or expect from the Enemy, but they first made triall thereof Men forward nemy, but they first made triall thereot to vseany in open themselves, vsing no resistance at all object vsean against it. Wherefore the coming of the themselves. enemies army was no way dreadful vnto them, but rather gladly defired; and even but as a tolleration, or rather a recreation (when the City was sharply assayled) the feditious factions were enforced to joyne their forces, for repulling the enemy, and to breath awhile, from their owne dome-

Ricke theeneries and warres. The last fix moneths of this warre, after that the Citty was round engirt with enemies, and themselves had pilled, polled, and miferably spoyled all that they could by their intestine robberies they began to feele a famine in the heighth of extremity, which was accompanied likewife with fo greeuous a Peftilence, that in Peftilence & the time of the fiedge, about eleation extrangit, hundred thousand me died by the plague whereof thete and famine. During this war alfo, great died, 11000 multitudes wer daily murdred within the wals, by the mutinous and rebellious factionifis: & in the affaults, furprizals, and facking of the city many millions of people loft their lives. Also in the war time, there were taken 97000, persons, who were partly sold as slaues, and partly difinbuted to rounde neighbouring great desouncedy Citties, there to bee giuen and detions red by wilde beafts, in publique Playes,

The begining of the fiedge.

He fourth day of the first moneth, Xantiqua (which is Aprill with vs) the Citic of lerufalem was befiedged neere to the feast of Easter.

The two and twentith day after, Titus Preparation were compelled to fight as Fencers in the effaying (in vaine) to have it yeilded, rai for battery. Theaters, with the like fury as hostile efed his Bulwarkes, and prepared his Ennemies: and some were sent into Morea gines to batter the City.

The scuenth day of Artemision, which is May, Bazetha (that is to fay, the new ci- The tiking of ty, the first wall being taken) which was a the first wall by the Romis part of the Citty beyond the Temple towards Bifa, newly annexed, and enuironed with walles by the first Agrippa) was seized on by the Romanes.

The tweifth day of the faid month, the fecond wall was taken, and yet the fame day it was recourred againe.

The fixteenth day, the Romanes hauing taken the other wal again the second time, enjoyed the base or lower part of the City, which the Iewes called Acra, & was feated beneath on a little hill.

The one and twenty day, two parts of Two parts of the Citty were loft, when the lewes (being graciously entreated by Titus) disdained to embrace peace. Then the Souldiers began to mount their scaladoes neere to the Towre called Antonia, ioyning to the third wall, where their Enfignes and Bulwarkes being raifed in twelve dayes. they were againe as quickely burned by the lewes.

All the whole moneth of Dention, the which answereth to that of lune, the Romanes were ferioufly bufied, in engirting the whole Citty with a Wall, to hinder the bringing of victualles to the Iewes, and also to bereaue them from all means of flight.

The first day of Panemon, which referreth it felfe to our July, Titus taking compaffion on the people, whom he knew to dve by the extremity of the Famine and Pestilence, onely through the obstinacie of some among them; being defirous to deliuer them without long delay, he ere-&ed new Terraffes vp aloft, and began to batter the third wall, called Antonia, veric difficult to be surprized . This Antonia, was a most magnificent building, and very strongly munited nere to the Temple, foure square in forme, and carrying the greatnesse of a very large Castle. Herod the Great had builded it, in fauour of the Herode the Soueraigne Sacrificers, and gaue it the Great builded name of Marke Anthony the Triumuire. Within that goodly Monument, the Ornaments belonging to the High-Prieftes were continually kept.

the city taken

A wall built

ing on Antonia the thirde

this Antonia

The

Such matters as they accounted in their madne to be Treafor & confpiring with the Ro

634 The Antonia

The furpri-

ning of the Temple.

zing and but

The batterie

of the City of

The hie town

All the Cittle

The Natioin

taken.

burnt.

Dauid.

The fixt day, the Antonia was wonne, King Danids reigne, untill the finall debecause the walls fell downe of theselues, on that fide where the Iewes hadde vndermined, to get foorth of the Cittie, with intent to burne the enemies rampiers.

The eight day of Loion, which is the moneth of August, after that the Iewes had beene many times exhorted, to defire peace of fo gracious a Conquerour; after they had repulsed his often Ambasfages by base injuries, and wicked abuses: the Temple was forcibly taken, beeing a worke well worthy of admiration. And (contrary to the Edict of Titus) it was fet on fire by the offended Souldiers. So that it burned the very fame day, when as (fix hundred, threefcore, and nineteen yeares before past) it was burned by Nabuchodonofor, Collonell of the Chaldeans.

The twentith day, was the batterie of the high Towne (called the City of Dauid) begunne: after that the Iewes (once more admonished to lay downe Armes) refused peace, being gently offered vnto

The seventh day of Gorpiaion, which is our September, the high part of the City was taken : the Fortreffe whereof was the Temple, as the Antonia was Bulwarke to the Temple.

The eight day, all the City of Ierufalem, (pilled & ranfacked before) was conuerted all into ashes.

The foure and twentith day of October, Titus celebrating the birth-day of his brother Domitian in Cafarea (a Cittie on the Sea-coast) had Playes there of fundry kindes: wherin were brought forth three thousand lewes captines; some of them being denoured by beafts, the rest killing one another, fencing and fighting each against another.

The feuenth day of Nouember, Titus went to Berytha, a City in Syria, where he celebrated the Nativity of his Father Vespasian; & where (in sports & pastimes presented before the Romans and Grecians) a great nüber of captine lewes, were some trodden to death, others hackt, hewed and torne in peeces.

I have collected this small discourse, concerning the wofull confummation of this Citty, which fometime was the principall feate of Gods people, and of his dithese histories uine Doctrine : from the eight yeare of struction, being eleuen hundred, thirtie and seuen yeares. The due Observation whereof, may ferue to testify the mighty anger of God, against the despisers of his Sonne, and of his word in him reuealed; exampling vs. from falling into the like calamities, either by a violent appetite of oppressing the true Doctrine, or to darken & obscure it by false interpretations, or (vtterly contemning it) by wandering into enery wickednesse.

Now I returne againe to Agrippa, who His returne (according as hath beene fayde) detefting backeto the the furious madnesse of his Nation, and ry of King Aeuidently fore-feeing their wofull ruine) Brippafent ayde to Velpalian, making VV arre against the Iewes, and by that means partly faued his owne Countries, from the lamentable spoile happening in this warre. Nero being dead, and Galba chosen Em- The death of perour, he proiected a journey to Rome, Nero, and fee with Titus the sonne of Vespasian, to en- Cession of Galba, treate the confirmation in his kingdome by the new made Emperor. But contrary winds intercepting them, they could not compasse what was intended: but receyued tydings neere vnto Achaia, of Galbaes ney to Rome. death: which was the reason, that Titus returned towards Syria, Agrippa holding on his course for Rome. But Italy beeing embraced with civill warre, because Otho tending Viciliar one (successor to Galba) being slaine, and Fis-passani lib tellius presuming to the Empire, Agripha ted Emperot. was very hastily called backe to Indea by Letters, where he affifted Vefpafian to bee faluted Emperor by his foldiers, and fafely to conduct a well prouided Armie towardes Italy, with purpose to encounter the Captaines of Vitellius. So he left his fonne Titus (with fome legions) to beate down the Iewes, especially them of Ieru-(alem, as hath bin faid before.

I finde no other matter of Agrippa, or Howlong h any other of the posterity of Herode the gippa reignd. Great: but onely Philo, writing of Agrip-deed. pa, faith; That he reigned seuen and twenty yeares. He dyed then (by Philoes account) in the threescore and eighteenth yeare of Christ, the seauenth of Vespafian, and the fift yeare after the destruction of Ierusalem.

Philo further faith, that this Agrippa had Agripine, for and furcellor a fonne, named Agripine, who reigned to K. Agrippo thirty yeares after the death of his father: wherefore he attained to the year an hundred and eight after the death of Christ, and to the eight of Traiane the Emperor, which yeare Philo, being ouer-spent with yeares, foretold would be the last of his rcigne.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of three great and notable Doubtes, which the ancient Philosophers knew not how to resolue, and for what cause.

demination of ancient naturall de

Chap. 23.

musil defire

HE ancient Philosophers. illumined by the gard God, madecurious fearch into all things belonging to nature and verified all their illumined by the gifte of propositions (without contradiction or repugnancie) by other propositions meer ly naturall. Notwithstanding, they never knew how to resolue three things, verie doubtfull and of importance, neyther could yeelde a reason for the causes of their originall.

The first was, that they well knewe a defire given to man by nature, that hee would neuer dye, neither feele any paine or greeuance whatfocuer:but to line happily in the pleasures of this world, without the want or neede of any thing; and yethee could neuer attaine to the end thereof. On the other fide, having made this proposition, that God and Nature neuer did any thing in vaine, & that this appetite in man enfired thence, whereof they coucted to finde the cause; considering belide, that in all other naturall effects the proposition alwayes did verifie it selfe: they were veterly confounded in infinite perplexities, being neuer able to compasse the end.

The fecond was, they faid & affirmed naturally in like manner, that cuery man felt in himselse a peruerse carnall inclination, or sensuality, quite contrarie to the former appetite of vnwillingnesse to dye: and yet this carnall lusting defire, canfeth full difficulty; but feemed (as it were) a man fall into diuers diseases, which are the abridging of life, yea hafteneth on death, wherto his other appetite is an vt-

and pompe; feeking to winne them couragiously in the field; where soonest of all they meete with death, or elfe hear away wounds, maimes, afflictions of mind, & other misfortunes, quite contrary totheir defire indeed.

The third doubt proceeded from the The .doubt, order of nature, all inferiour things beeing gouerned by their fuperiour : as wee orde in the fee the elements obedient to the celestial bod of mar. bodies; the Orbes and Spheres to the mooning intelligence, and all the intelligences to the cheefest of al, which is God loued and defired. Onely in man is this order peruerted; for he being composed of a foule and a body, the fleth which is the vileft part of all other, flands repugnant to reason, yea and to the soul, which them stand is the very noblest part of all: and (which blep it of all is farre worse) draweth it to the bent of other in man. his owne wicked will. And therefore the Apostle saide ; That hee felt a Lawe in his members, repugnat to the law of his thoghts, and attracted him to fin.

The Philosophers that were before the comming of Christ, neuer knew how to find out the occasion of this disorder: yet making curious fearch for it, fell into many and fundry errors. Wherefore Anagorastaide : This exorbitant irregularity, The opinion happened at the beginning of the world, and and faying of when all things were confused in the ancient Anaxagoras, Chaos. For the intellect being separated by the discordace discord, and reiogned by concord, all things of things in were created good, and well ordered in their kinde; onely man excepted, whose slesh hee Saw to be ill disposed, and disagreeing with the reasonable soule. And therefore, euen as in that Chaos thefe two things were difcordant : so in like manner afterward, they still

continued repugnant, contrary to the rule do

order of allother things in the world . In this manner, this poore Philosopher imputed the blame of all, to the Dinine intellect, which is God himfelfe.

Others faide: That this proceeded from the celestiall constellations, under the which The indgeman is engendred, and receivesh birth. For other Philo-Aristotle durst neuer bee so bolde, as (o- phers, and A penly)to yeeld a refolution of this doubtto contradict himselse sometimes, saying , Senfuality is naturally enclined to evil, howbeit (with great difficulty)it may fometime be ruled or tamed by the moral vertues. Moreouer, many couct after riches | And in another place he faith, That the feriflotle him-

of Domitian celebrated by Titus, with the death of gooo.lewes. Titus honou

> The cheefe reason why the Authour made the col

red his fathers

bi th day.

licity which is atcheened by the vertues mo- [rall is the gift of God. By confequence then those morall vertues, in whose operation the happinelle of man doth confift; must be the gift of GOD, and no way natu-

Contrarywife, the Manichees, defirous

to render a reason for this peruerse disorder, saide : That there were two soules in

The Manichees main. tained a man to haue two foules.

man, the one good, made of the substance of the Prince of Light; and the other badde, made of the Substance of the Prince of darkenesse, and these do cause this continuall com-Origen afterward saide; That before the Origens con creation of the world, all things were conferued in Heauen which sinned against God: & ceit of this irtherefore (as apunishment) they were disporegularitie in fed into ill complexioned bodies, and from thence enfued this controverse in man.

Aug.in Lib.1. De duab, enin Et in lib.s. de Nat.boni.

All these detestable opinions wer confuted by Saint Augustine, writing against the Manichees; where, by long & pregnant reasons, hee producth the occasion of the subuersion of this order; and that because they had no understanding in the facred Scriptures, they veterly loft that light. For in them is declared to vs, the full resolution of these doubts, and there may plainly be discerned, that these two propositions are good and true, and both of them in the order of Nature. To wit, that God and nature neuer did any thing voide of purpole, and that it is very conuenable, that a man (by nature) should not desire to dye, but to leade a happie kinde of life, and yet without power of attaining thereto; not because he hath this defire given him in vaine, for it is truely naturall: but to obtaine the end and effe@therof, is a matter accidental to man,

God created man immortall, and not b

Death not natural to o first father, nor fuccelul to vs.

our prime father, neither successively enfuing to vs, but accidentall; beecause it was not the intention of God.

Thus come wee then to refolue this doubt, that defire not to dye, nor endure refound any paines; is given to vs by nature, and not in vaine because the power was giuen vs to obtaine the effect, but in regard of our disobedience, the desire stil remaineth, and cannot be taken from vs. By the felfefame reason is the second doubt an- second. fwered: for of our felues, by carnall obfeenity, and gluttinous gourmandize, we purchase death, and make way to this disorder. In like manner, the third is refolued Refolution in by Adams sinne committed, whereby he thethird. loft the originall righteoufnesse vyhich God had given him, which ferued him as a bridle to moderate himselfe by just order, and so this harmony fell into confusion. For the foule, which ought to gouern the body, as beeing the thing most noble the body, as beeing the thing most noble and excellent; came afterward to bee gouerned by the fenfe, and by the bodye. And so wee see enidently, that this subuersion is no way naturall, but acciden-

By this meanes then, the proposition remaineth firme & true, that those things most worthy and most noble, ought to gouernethem of leffe noble and inferior quality: which fayleth not, neyther can, as well wee may observe in the celestiall bodies. And if in man it fallethout otherwise, it is by accident of the faulte, deferuing this and worfe, but not by Na-

CHAP. XXIII.

Of Such Ceremonies as were wfed by the Romaines, before they mooned any warre.

Vch as haue reade the facred Ceremonies, and Religious obfernations which of pate and were vsed by the auncient Romaines, as well in matters concerning peace, as attemptes and enterprizes of warre: doe not make any wonderment at all of the great Victories

by them obtained, against so many furi- | like afterward; wherein finding obstinacy; ous people, and most potent nations. On the contrary also, they maruell not at the decadence of that Empire, which begans when they began to contamne those Ceremonics and religion . For we may obferue by infinit histories, full of examples, that fo long as they were best obedient to religion; their Common-weales profpe red fo much the more happily, & the enterprizes of their Captaines fell out then; fuccessively. As was well noted in Pompey, Brennus, and infinite other, who albeit they were idolaters land neuer knew the true God: yet it fcemed (neuertheles) that by certaine meanes of terrestrialline; tribution, God fauoured them that were religious. And it might be perhaps to this end, that like as the people were then zer lous in a religion, whereof they had neither foundation, or any perfect beleefe; they would (by far stronger reason) bee good observers of the true faith, if it had bin renealed to them, as now it is votto us, The effects then make it enident that hea uen neuer left them, without fome apparance of good profperity, & fortunate fucceffe in their temporall affaires.

The Geremonies which the auncient Romaines observed in times of warre, or peace, were many and divers; wherein I must needs be filent, because the relating of them all, would require more time the I am alowed; and it might offend to fpeak of some, and not of other. My intent therfore is, to make relation of fine only, and especially by them observed, before war was mooned against any Pronince. To the end, that moderne Princes may perceiue, how farre our of the way they wander, in attempting war inconfiderately, & making no confultation first to GOD: wherein (if they judge rightly) they may conceive, that ill fucceffe happeneth to them by no other occasion, they living in Religion fo farre inferiour to Ethnickes

When newes came to Rome, concerning the rebellion of fome Prouince, or of any trouble gitten by fome barbarous Prince to their countries, or to anie of their confederates: they fent ambaffadors to him, by whom the Senatogaue to vnderstand, that they would know, in what maner the wrong received should be repaired, with refraining from offering the principall Cittizens, as intending to gra-

and Idolaters.

then war was intimated! The Senate hauing created a Gaptain for this expedition, called the Sactificers who were conmanded to innocate the Gods with their prayersifor the Romans neuer went forth to fhed the blood of their enemies, varill the Priefts had first webt and made their folemne prayers in the Temples. Afterward, the Senate beeing affembled, went to the temple of hunisquiper they fwore a most folenm path. That at all times when the enemy (against whom the instant warre going to the was published would require a new coufe- temple of lu deration publishers, or defire pardon for the piter, & their Oath there offence pathotementy found never be denied taken. him. This being don, the Gonful blegged for the enterprize went to the Capitole, and theremade a folemnayow, to flight a one of the Godein whom he reposed cofidence to offer forme lingular thing vito vammade in himsiffic returned home victorious from the Capitole. the war. And were the offering of neuer forgreat yalug, yet the people floode obliged to pay it. Then the bannen of the Eagle, being the ancient enfigne of the Romans, was broght forth into Campus Martim, which they did, to let the people ynderstand, that in Rome ther might no feaths bacelebrated, fo long as their fellow Citizone and kindred were in war: & fo bringing out the enfiguess, delivered them to their feneral Captains. But first, a Prætor mounted on the gate called Salaria, caufing a Trumpet there to found, while the their captains foldiers reddiliod flidit pay. Wherby may be gathered, that they flird not their armics at any time, till they had first appeafed and honored their Gods, and likewife made their orifons for the prosperitie of their Captains, and vertuous carriage to their enemies in conquering them. For, if their Confuls (appointed for war) in coquering any Province or city, made not enident testimony, aswell of their vertue as valor, they were greenously punished by the Senat. Hereof we have many examples, but two only shall ferue my turn: the one for vling vertue in his campe; the other, for due punishment insticted vpon him, who (being victorions) foiled his reputation in base manner. Fabrities, be e-

The Confuls

The Enfigne of the liagle, the Confull in Campus Mar

The other en-

ing encamped with his army of Romanes | The honorabefore Fidena, a schoolmafter of the Cit- ble act of Fatie came forth with the Sonnes of diners difloyall and ichoolmafter.

Both the pro politions aprr.oued to be good and true

created man immortall, in such fort, as effectually (according to the very foundest opinion of all Dinines)he could not have dyed, nor be subjected to any miserie, if hee had observed his commaundement.

But having transgressed, hee ought inftly

to fuffer death, and the miseries of the world; therefore, because he obeyed not his command, he incurred death and all afflictions. So that by the finne of difobedience(as the Apostile said)death came into the world. Hereby it appeareth the,

that death was not (at the first) natural to and not naturall. For it is plain and apparant, that God

The Confuls

of Rome make warre against

the Sarmates

Pius was ap -

the expeditio.

and Lucius

pointed for

The Scienari

tific the Confull with them, and fo prefented them vnto him. The Confull (albeit hee might haue detayned them, and and thereby have made himfelfe Lord of the Cittie) not onely refused to accept them : but stripping the Schoolemaister naked, and binding his hands, hee gaue a Rod to every Scholler, and fo fent them (whipping him) backe to their fathers. This benignitie tooke fuch preuzyling power in the foules of the Cittizens; that they yeelded themselves instantly to the

The other was thus. In the yeare of Romes foundation, 218. warre was deliberated by the Senate and Confulles, against the Sarmates } and other people inhabiting by the Mountaine Caucasus, which (according to Cosmographers) deuiding Afia in the middelt, terminareth Syria on the one fide, and finishetli India on the other; where, by extremitie of cold, the Vine hath no ability to grow. Lucius Pins was created Confull, and appointed for this expedition; where, was ging cruell warre against them : Fortune was one while fanourable to him, & then againe frowhing. But in the time of a ence concluded betweene them, Lucius very friendly entertained the Sarmates Captaines, and having divers times butketted them, perceiuling that they were lickerously affected to wine, because it was a rarity among them; at last he made them a bountifull feast, wherein he fitted them a bountituil learn, where the triber with great planty of wines that they which want to him) yeelded the which want whole Prouitice tributary to the Roman had nothe people. The warres fo concluding, & the Power today Confull being returned to Rome, hee demanded Triumphes; which not only was denied him by the Senate, but also his forme of victory fo abhorred by the that publikely they did put him to death, and for his greater defamation, engraued an Epitaph on his Tombe, speaking in this manner. 1 () กอบเฉลาเลือง เลือง

The Epitaph appointed by the Romaines, to be engraven on the Tombe of Lucius Pius. Here lyeth the Confull Lucius Pius , who ,not An Episph by Armes in the fielde, but by carrowfing at hing Conqui bis Table : not by the Lance, but plenty of tor. wine conquered the Sarmates.

And yet the Senate, not fatisfied with this his differace; caused publikely to bee proclaimed thoroughout Rome, that all (whatfoener) had bene wonne in the Romaine peoples name, by Lucius Pius, shold be accounted as nothing. And wrote (moreover) to the Sarmates; that they denyed any Conquest of them; but referred them vnro their former priviledge and liberty.

The end of the fixt Booke.

THE SEVENTH BOOKE.

CHAP. I.

¶ Of the Gouernement and Administration of Iustice observed in the Commonwealth

vea is a noble Cittie (leated in the Country of Tuscam) so called of Lucomenus, King of the Tuscanes. Strabo saith, that Lucais a Citieneare to the mountaines of Luna (and nowadayes the Country is called Lunigiana) and that the Region yeeldeth very woorthy men. apt and able in valour for Armes: there being a multitude of knights, from whom the Senate received the Military order.

But because we are to discourse of our times, I fay, that Luca is now found to be about two miles in circuite, seated singularly, and in a good place. It containeth about foure and thirty thousand persons within the walles; and there are rich families, because the men of this Citty do trafficke greatly in merchandife, and especially in matters of Silkes: for which (amongest all Christians) they have no meane name . In the time of Castrucio Castracani (who was of the Interminelli) he became Lord thereof, there beeing a division of many families, that would not obey a Tyrant; they vied the Arte of making filke together, derining great wealth from divers parts of Italie. They brought also into Florence, the Artes of making cloth of golde and filuer, whereby they attained to inestimable riches. The men are (naturally) very curteous and modeft. not niggardly, but bountifull, and therefore prosperity commeth the more freely vpon them. The Lucan tongue in Tuf-because they have no medling with novous accents, which are common to all other cities of the Prouince. This fo small a cittie, hath a long time maintained it felfe in freedome, and fo flill doth, with good and fubstantiall orders.

The Councell.

HEr maine foundation (as it is in all other Common-wealths) confettes of the Councell; because on them depend, and from them are deriued all the other Magistrates, that are members of a bodie so well ordered. These Councellors do discourse on the State occasions, and are (indeede) Fathers of that Common-wealth, It is compounded of three kindes of persons, because some are ordinarily of the Councel, and they continue awhole yeare. Some others are inuited lors. ad bene placitum, and are not ordinary. Some others are subrogated in the place of fuch as die, and fo endure for a full yeare. This Councell confisteth of an hundred and three score Cittizens, but ordinarily are in number an hundred and twentie.

The Signoria.

The City of Luca is divided into three parts, which (there) they vie to tearine Terzieri: The one is of S. Salnadore, the fecond of S. Pauline, and the third of S. Martine, The Councell doe elect the Signoric from the three forenamed Terzieri, that is, for every Terziere they ereate three men, which are nine in ful number. Beside these, they elect the Gonfaloniere, who is the head, or chiefe of the Common-wealth, & (for examples fake) he is first elected from the Terziero of S. Saulour; next from that of Saint Pauline; and the third time from that of Saint Martine: and the Terzieri being once fo cany, is held to be very sweete and pure, gone ouer, the Gonfaloniere returneth

The Languagei (weete

or creating all other Ma giftrates.

rall degrees

uiour, S.Pauline and S. Martine.

Some hold this Office to be the cheefe StanderdThree Secre-

640

for election to S. Sauieur, and fo succel- it fine Lordes or Signiors, they remaine finely (each after other) according to the with him : yet notwithstanding he canot forefaid order.

Elders, Con forts, or Con panions.

Acount mode of the Ballot to their full numbèt.or ouer againe.

The outhwi

ty of the A!-

bringing the

elected perfons to the Magiftrates.

formeri in

liuing abroad, other are to be elected, called Antiani, and the election is made in they tearme Affortitori, one for each Terziero. These, have the charge of couning the Ballots of them that are elected, culling out such as they think fittest, after that the Councell have made choyse of many men, and then they elect the Gonfaloniere. And in making this election, the Affortitori fit in Councell separately els rebaiotted in a place, and account the Ballots vntill they come to the number : which beeing not compleate, they reballot them ouer againe, vitill they be an hundred & eighty in number. And neither such as are ilibrogated, nor the other ballotted, are published to the Councel; but onely are made knowne to the Affortitori. And becanfeino fraud or deceit may enfu by the Affortitori itwo principall chosen Fryars are as their affillants; one of the order of S. Dominicke, and the other of S. Fran-

Thefe Affortitori hane Authoritie, to: bring the men elected to the Magistrates, at fuch time as they think fitting in feueral months: and this deputation done by the Affortitori (who are the prime men of Luca i) it is kept by them in fecret, & they are sworne not to reneale it. The Affortitori created, then they create the Seigniory, who cannot bee vanquished, if they haue two third partes of the Ballots, alby none but onely by the Affortitori. The charge of the Seignory is to hear (freely) matters of justice and punishment, being alwaies prefent in the Palace, & may not depart thence under capitall penalty: the in the Palace, publike purfe payeth their expences.

By this forenamed body of ten, one other officer is chosen, whom they call Comandatore, and this new man they make neere voto them, his government lafting no longer then three daies: in which time he hath liberty and authority to commad all the other; yea, and the Confaloniere, & is Patron in enery busines. And although the Supplications which com to the Signory, are prefented to the Comandatore, & lifthe wil not prefent them to the colledge dispose of them without the authoritie of By these men, and by the Gonfaloniere the Signiory. And if the Comandatore propone the supplications to the Signorie,& there they paffe two thirds the Gonfaloled Antiani, and the election is made in the election is made in this manner. Three men are chosen, who nieve propones them afterwardes in the the Signal, Councell. The authority of the Signorie Power, extendeth vnto straungers, but not ouer the Citizenstand they propone al things, but conclude nothing.

The Secretaries Office. The Office of the Secretaries (who are) three in number) is very important. These taries, and its men haue authority; onely in matters of- authorite. fensive to the maiesty of the Commonwealth, being absolute in that case, & are about the Gonfaloniere. But true it is, that they can do nothing without the Gonfaloniere; and before they conclude any action they must tender the cause vnto the Councell. Sometime it falleth out, that feeking judiciously into the matter, they accomplish it, & afterward render a reafon for it to the Councel, when they have done it: either, because they coulde not congregate the Councell in the instant, or in regarde the cause necessarily required, to have flich fodaine expedition.

The Councell of Conference. The Colloquie, or Councell of Conference, is composed of 18. Citizens, and they are elected by the Councell. These where days they are elected by the Councell. men, if the Lordes are doubtfull in any matter, and that the case cannot be easily deliberated: they meet together, and difcourse on the cause propounded to the Councell, and after they have discussed though the forefaid Ballots are to be feen | it pregnantly, then they determine together, whether it is to bee granted by the Councell, or no.

The Councell of fixe.

Thefe fix men (being of found reputation) have charge of the expences & pro-fits for common imployment. They pro-or received uide and command all things, which paffe uennues for in mony accounts, and are as Gouernors generall vice of the rents and reuennewes. They have alfo a Chamberlaine, who is the executer of their deliberations. And all these are likewise chosen by the greater Councell. The Rota.

In many Cities of Italy, this office is ordinary, confifting of three forraine Doc- liming out of tors, within the compasse of fiftie miles. the Cities la One of them hath the Title of Potestata;

the second is Judge of malefactors, & the third is Judge in civill causes. By turnes they have their feuerall changes, and euery fixe moneths, one of the Centers as Potestare, beeing first judge of malefa-Aors; and his Office of Potestate beeing past, hee becommeth Judge in causes ciuill. So that each one of them is Potestate, Judge for Malefactours, and Judge in ciuil occasions, as it comes to his turn. If the Potestate haue (perhaps) a Citizen in his power; he doth no more but form the Processe, and sets downe (in writing) his owne opinion, what is the merite of the delinquent, and fo it passeth vnto the Councell, who either commend, teare, or temper the opinion and fentence of the Potestate; and then in such a case, the Potestate entreth into the Councell. On strangers, the Potestate may absolutely determine, without any other: And in breefe, these three men do also discourse on civill matters.

The Marchants Court.

These Officers are nine in number, being elected (by threes) out of the Terzieraes. They have a forraine Doctour for their Judge, being their Affistant. They iudge in causes appertaining to merchan! dife their authority ftretching (in the faid matters)to blood.

The Office for Store.

In like manner there are nine Officers, & fo chosen out of the Terzieroes. These men are the prouiders of Corne, that the Citty may continually be furnished therwith, and they hear all causes concerning the matter. Provision still beeing made for every three yeares, and the Garners diligently respected where the Come is kept, being still supplied, that there may be no want.

Six Commissioners.

And because thoroughout the whole Commiffaries Countie certain assemblies are ordained of fuch persons as are meete to manage armes: for this especiall businesses, and fuch occasions as may happen in times of warre; these sixe Commissaries have authoritie to muster and make ready bads of Souldiers, and all fuch things as are requilite for them. What focuer belongeth to this bufineffe, paffeth thorough theyr power, and their centence in their carieth allowance.

For Health.

There are likewise three especiall Prefidents, for matters concerning the countries health. Thefe Officers do regard, that Prefidents ap all the food may be found and good; that whollome dyall filth and vncleannesse may be fent out et, and cleane of the Citty, and men imploying all dili- keeping the Citie, gence, to conferue the people from being offended by any pestifferous accident, or whatfoeuer annoyance may be prejudiciall to health.

The Councell for disobedience.

And because in enery Citty, there are | Slothfull found too many perions, not enclineable Rogues and to any goodnesse, but practifing to line idle vagavicioufly, addicting themselues to lewde courfes, and are meerely opposite to all well inftituted rules, for living civilly, & in good order, therefore the men of Luca haue a Councel, which they entitle, for disobedience, and inflicting punishment on such (as by their vile example) may be the ruine of a well-policied Common- Banishment wealth. And the forme of their discipline yeares. (in this case) carieth some correspondencie with the Ostracisme vsed amongst the Athenians; only herein is this difference, that the Athenians banished such, whose greatnesse and power grew suspitious to the people, and fo fentenced them for ten years, wheras here it extended but to rafcality onely, and the fentence lasting but three yeares.

The Office for Lodgings, Eight Gentlemen are appointed to this Office, who have charge for vnderstanding the affaires of all strangers comming provider care into the Citty, and what bufineffes they and meeteto haue there. All hofts stand bound to give in writing the names of such Guestes, as werner Civic. come from any part abroad, and are not of the Citty, and those names they must deliuer to these officers. And if perchace fome one tell a lye, reporting one thing for another; he is then examined by the strappado, because the truth of his busineffethere, ought to be knowne. Such as approue themselves good and honest, being no spies or treachers to the Citie, are kindely entertained, their Lodginges orderly appointed, and their expences well respected.

The Guard.

The Signorie electeth an hundred Soldiours, living within fifty miles compasse, to bee as a Guarde for the Pallace,

The power of the Coman datore.

Their abiding

O'Supply:n ed cohe Co macadarate.

heir prouifio

Citizens are the watch and guard for the walles.

Two cirizens Commillaries & their charg and out of this hundred are chosen Captaines and Collonels. These men haue good Wages, if they be called to guard the Walles in the night time: wheras otherwise, the guard for the wals consisteth of Cittizens artificers, such as haue wives and children, and are waged with three Crownes each man every month. At the gates stand men of the country, and each gate also hath two Cittizens Commissaries: one of them being there early in the morning at the gates opening, & fo continuing til dinner time; and at his parting commeth the other, who stayeth there til Evening, when the gates are shutte in a-

CHAP. II.

What benefite and honor it is to a Prince, to have a comely bodye, a gracious countenance, and venerable aspect.

Beauty of bo dy is no mean blessing in a Prince.

Pythagoras,

punion) which Maieflie of a Prince to be Maieflie of a Prince to be most venerable (speaking of exteriour graces) is beautic he accompani NE of the parison maketh the pinion) which maketh the INE of the parts (in mine o-

of body: which we fee to be accompanisd with fingular grauity, and which yeeldeth argument of wifedome and knowledge.

And although the rule of Pythagor as The faying of hath often bene noted to faile, affirming, That in a crooked body, there can never dwell crooked body a right foule (because we have seene in an ill thaped body, to reigne divers choyce vertues) yet that which is most frequent and ordinary, is to fee the contrary. And if an honourable aspect and representation, scrued to no other end in a Prince , but to encrease his authority and reuerence, yet are they much more dignified, if fome fignes of vertue and bountie doe beare them company. As on the contrary, they are diminished by ill shape and detormity. For Cicero Tayeth , The habitude of vertue is of such efficacie, that it maketh us to love him that is possessed therewith. Euen fo, Maichtie in the person of a Prince, hath a veneration meerely in it felfe, which attracteth the heartes | be Alexander.

of his subjects vnto loue: vrged thereunto (perhappes) by no expresse fantasie, in vis. Prince ought to bee vertuous, and it. conforme his actions to the beauty of his

This reason (it may be) hath induced many barbarous people to judge, that of dimension there was no man capeable of a good fpi- barour nui. rit, to bring any great attempt to fuccef- ons. full end; but onely fuch a one, as was endued (by nature) with a goodly proportion of body, and an honorable presence. Macrobius declareth, that in the Isle of wan, is, in, Meroe on Nilus, the inhabitants (who are faid to live halfe againe as long as we do) vie to elect as their Prince, him whome they know to be the strongest, and of far goodlier presence then any other. There is no man, but will repute a deformed Prince, yet vertuous; ought to be prefer- ther favoreh red before him of goodly person, and vi- comelined, cious: but when wee come to make equality of them, our affection will rather leane to the comely body, then vnto the

Demetrius, the fonne of Antigonus, was The exceller of fuch a goodly and honourable reprefentation; that there was neither Painter fon of Antior Caruer that durst attempt to portraire gonut. him: for there was in him both a sweete complexion, and terror mixed together, yet loyned with fuch manfuetude & grauity, as it plainly appeared, that hee was meerely borne, to be affected feared and reuerenced altogether . VVcc reade of The country Marius (who had so many Triumphs) that he was of such a venerable aspect, as beelife in gent ing prisoner to his enemy Silla : a French perill. man was fent by him to murther him Who entering into the prison, with his weapon ready drawne, and noting in him a verie graue and dreadfull aspect; he became to difmayed and terrified, that hee returned backe, leaving the prison open, and (by that means) was the cause of preferuing his life. Alexander the Macedonian (being but of meane stature, and not ouercomely countenanced) walking with his deerely affected Friend Ephestion: the Mother of King Darim (being verie delirous to falute Alexander) offered her courtefies to Ephestion, making him ma- flead of A ny humble reuerences. For, feeing him lexander, or hee for goodly a man of the fee for goodly a man of the fee for goodly a man of the feet of the fee to bee fo goodly a man of perfonishe verily thought, that (of necessity) hee must

The benefit of manly ap-

core lightly appeared

Historics make report, that Alcibiades, Scipio, and many other, did highly honor and make great the dignitie of their authoritie, onely by their fightly appearance: wherewith also their innated vertues being combind, did inestimable benefite to their seuerall Countries and Common-weales. On the contrary, we finde that many Princes and Captaines, as well auncient as moderne, haue bene despised for their lowe stature, and other defects of honourable presence, even to the peril of their lines, whereof I purpose to produce two examples onely.

Philopæmenes, Duke of the Achaians, and much renowned, was of so lowe stature, mil shapen presence, and deformed countenance, that when he arryred himfelfe in mechanicke habite (as oftentimes he vied to doe) he seemed rather to bee of vile and vulgare place, then woorthy to have governement of the people. He was greatly addicted to hunting, and therefore reforted very often to Megara, It fo chaunced on a certaine day, that this defire of hunting carried him further off, then hee had any willing intent to goe: fo that hee arrived at the house of a Cittizen neare adioyning, who was a fingular friend of his, and had lately before beene marryed. He had but one feruant in his company; because the rest hee had fent to other places, and being come to his friends house, he knockt at the doore: and the women looking foorth at their window, demaunded what they would have; when the fernant replyed, That Philopamenes, Duke of the Achaians came to have entertainment there. . The woman being much amazed, that a man of fuch worth, and to much vnexpected, should come on such a fodaine thither, and (having neuer feene the Duke) reputing thefe to be but two of his fernants, which came before to give knowledge of his coming, because they were thus alone ; without returning any other answer, came and opened the dore to them. When they were entred into the house, she sent one of her servants to aducttife her husband speedily (who was then abroad at the next village:) requiring Philopamenes & the other with him, to fit downe in the meane time, while the bestirred her felfe to prepare supper. About the house trots she and her maid, her thoughts much builed and molefted, beginning one thing, and then another, but neuer going thorow or finithing any, though the had but little time of allowance. At last, looking on Philopæmenes, who fare muffled in his cloake, and might be more cold then hee would make thew lette the wold of (whereat (happily) the more smiled, not have then at his deformitie) the, fomewhat roundly (like animble flirring hufwife) prayed him to lay by his Cloake, and help her to make a good fire, because her want. other feruants were elfe-where imploied, and that supper might be made readie in due time, against the coming of his Lord and maifter.

Heereupon, he tooke a hatchet which the gaue him, and fell to cleaning wood Philopomen for the kitchin : having formerly given | cleveth wood order to his man, to take no other knowledge of him, left the woman (hould difcerne any feruple of the deceit. While hee stoode stoutly to this employment; home came the mafter of the house, who knowing Philopamenes, and wondering to see him so homely busied; did him humble reuerence , faying ; My Lord, this is no office for you to undergoe. Whereto (Imiling) hee replyed : Worthy friend , les A free conmee alone, I doe but pay the penaltie due to leislonot his my deformitie.

In our time, Ferdinand King of Spaine, who had the title of Catholike, a verywife and different Prince; but of flature rather too lowe, then of any mediocritic, and although hee had a royall face, and was a man of great governements yet it appeared plainely in him, that it was not correspondent to his other members. Be- Ferdinand, fides, hee virially wore his garments of called the cloth, whereby he was rather thought to Spaine. be a Cittizen, then any way taken to be

The King transiling (on a time) to Naples, accompanied with Queene Ifabell, and beeing there louingly expected; by occasion of weather, hee arrived at a hauen towne on the Sea coaft (called * Pwteoli) with his onely Gally, the rest bee- Campania, ing much better prepared, remaining be- eight miles hinde. Landing there, he was honourably received by the Inhabitants, according to the extent of their power in such a place. While the Pallace was furnishing, and prouision for his diet preparings hee walked alone by himselfe in a Hall, the tooke him in fome

chen to make ready supper.

Another Hi-

1.1b. 3 cay 7.

oca gorth

The conference betweene a blunt Fifterman and the King

The Fisherman would not credite outward apparance.

The Kings pleafant words to his Lords.

Another Hiftory concer ning the fame more diffafte full manner.

The King in danger of life by his de formity.

where (very soone after) a poore blunt fisherman came to him, who (by chance) had taken a goodly fifh, wherewith he intended to present the King. The Fisherman, not knowing him, defired to vnderstand where the King was : he presently answered him; I am he. The Fisherman brake foorth into loude laughter, imagining that hee had meerely mocked him wherefore hee prayed him agayne, to tell him where the King was: and he againe affirmed himselfe to be hee. But the Fitherman, difcerning in him no maiesticall refemblance, either for his person or habite, and no attendants about him fitting for a King; returned backe, and carryed away the fish with him. Hereat the King could not chose but smile, and some of his especiall Lords and Fauourites immediately entring (after they had faluted him with their wonted reuerence) laughing outright, thus hee spake viito them. Lordes, did yee not meete a Fisherman going foorth? If you doe not goe and give him af-Surance, that I am your King, wee shall loofe the best Fish that ever I faw . Instantly the Fisherman returned backe againe, and beholding him (whom he fo much negle-Acd) to bee fo duetifully reverenced by fuch worthy persons; he beganne to conceiue in his foule, that (vndoubtedly) he was the King, and falling vpon his knees before him, he humbly presented the fish

Wee may account this for a merry accident, in regarde of another which hapned to him, and by the fame occasion of mif-cenfuring his person. For, at another time, the same King being at Barcellona, going in Procession with his courtly attendants, as wayting on the Sacrament, on the day dedicated to that follemnity: hee was fodainely fet vpon by a Spaniard, who gave him so mightie a stroke with a great Dagger on his necke, as had beene sufficient to finite off his head; but that the blow was rebated by a great chaine of golde, being then (accidentally) about his necko. This Spaniard being taken, and suspected that hee had fome other complices in the action; was put to the tortures, where he would confelle nothing elfe, but onely that he was moued out of his owne mind to do it, in meere hatred he bare to the King. Heere-

fhould so prouoke him to hate the King? He answered; Truely nothing else, but because his countenance did not please him, for, it appeared fo vngracious vnto him, that if they did fet him at libertie, yet he would kil him, what so euer came of it. Questionlesse, it was a strange case, that a man should so desperately endanger his owne life, because a King was not formed to his liking.

CHAP. III.

Cofthe inhumane actions, and monstrous cruelties of Aristotimus the tyrant; a subielt well befeeming a Tragedy.

Ristorimm, vnder the fauors, and forces of King Antigones, tyrannically vsurpedouer the * Elensians, exercifing his power so intemperature.

fing his power fo intempe-rately, that he omitted not any kinde of tica near # injury or crueltie, whereby he might af- thens, where flichthe miserable Cittizens; for he was Cerestide (by nature) more inhumane and cruell, then any man liuing in his time. Hee added to this his cruel disposition, the councell of barbarous men, to whom hee not only gaue the rule of the kingdome, but also the gardance of his owne person. Among all the extraordinary cruelties, that which he inflicted on Philodamus, a very honourable Cittizen, deserueth to be recorded for a most especiall example.

This Philodamus had a daughter of ad-This Philodamu had a daughter of ad-mirable beauty & fingular graces, named Mica, on whom a foldier called Lucium (an especiall fauourite to the Tyrant) became daughtet & daughtet became fo extremely enamored; that (in a bold & ca. imperious manner) he fent to her father, commading him to fend him his daugh. ter. Philodamus, much afflicted at fo fawcie a commaund, & knowing what power Lucius had with the Tyrant, fearing also what might happen to him and her mother, laboured by perswassons, that his claughter (hould go to him. But the yong Virgin, who more prized honor then life, by meere inftinct of her noble education, fell on her knees before her father, & embracing his knee very (trictly, humbly entreated, that hee would not expose her to Mica to bet fuch monstrous dishonour, but rather to Father. fenher dead before his face, then deliver upon he was demanded, what occasion her to such shame and indignitie.

The father being moued by her teares to compassion, sate downe by his wofull wife, and forrow now fung gricfe in three fad parts, which admitted no leifure for a finall resolution. Whereat Lucius growing impatient, through the violence of his hote and fiery luft, feeing the mavd not brought, according to his wicked expectation: he ran himfelfe to the house, where finding her on hir knees before hir parents, fall holding her fathers legge in her armes; with heavy threatnings, hee commanded her to arife, and goe thence along with him immediately. Shee continuing her wofull complaints, refufing to rife, or liften to his menaces; the cruellman, tearing off her garments to her maked skinne, did ftrike and beate her in most vnmanly manner; all which she endured with a most constant courage, not breathing foorth fo much as a figh, but as one prepared to fuffer his vetermost

On their knees fell the mournefull father and mother, before the wretched man, not able to abide forufull a spectacle, entreating him, to take pitty on the Virgine, and their age. But feeing they could not preuayle with this mercileffe barbarian; they called for helpe to the gods and men, whereat hee wexing extreamely displeased, drew out his sword, and flew the Virgine, as thus the embraeed the knee of her father. Although this horrible cruelty mooned not the Tyrant aiote, yet the Cittizens fodistasted the deede; that fome of them hee punished with present death, and banished some other, fo that eight hundred fearefully fledde into Aetolia: who afterward writing backe to the Tirant, defired to much fauour of him, that their wines and children (with some part of their goodes) might bee fent thither to them, to line with their husbands.

The women, not a little glad at this good motion, beganne to make vp their fardells, fome prouiding wagons, others horfes, for conveying thence their goods and children.

Vpon the day appoynted for their departure, all the Gates were fet open for them to passe out at; their waggons and horsics loaden with their children and goods; and as they offered to iffue forth, diners Sergeants and Catch poles (flan- | dure, the outrage and crueltic inflicted ding ready for the purpole) cryed out to them with dreadfull threatnings, to ftay the monand paffe no further, ouerthrowing the cruellacte of waggons and horses, laden with their Atalonaus, goods and children, fo that they were not women and able to escape out of the crowds: but be- children. held their yoong children bruifed in pecces vnder their heels, they not being any way vnable to helpe them. Afterward, fuch women and children as were left aline, the Souldiers affembled them together, driving them on before them, (like heards of cattell) beating them with staues towards the Tyrants Pallace, who (caufing all their goods to be taken from them) imprisond them and their children together.

This horrible cruelty did highly dif-pleafe the Cittizens, who not knowing

how they might belt incite the Tyrant to pitty their wines : tooke fixeteene velfall A Procession Virgins, confectated to Diomfine, and at- or fixteene tyring them in their religious habites ! veitallyinging they tooke facred things out of the Tem- cruell Tyrant ple in their hands, and (in follenne manner of a Procession) went towards the tyrant, to crave mercie of him for the women and children. The Souldiers, who floode as a guarde about the Tyrant, being mooued with reverence to those holy Virgins; inade way for them, that they might the eatier come into his prefence. Aristotimus affoording audience, to vnderstand what these women desired, and gathering by the very entrance into their Oration, to what end the full scope aymed; hee gaue very disdainefull lookes vpon his Guard, reprouing them roughly and rigoroutly, because they suffered them to come so nearehim. Whereupon, the rude Souldiers, without any regarde of their Sexe or religious condition; fmote them with the flanes of their halberds, giving them many cruell blows by view by the and bastinadoes, vntill such time as they soldious awent away from him, being each of them | bout Authori condemned in two Talents fine belide, enter into his presence. There was a noble Cittizen in the Citie,named Hellanieus, two of whofe chil- Noble Caudren the tyrant had put to death, and yet | ren, practi-(in regarde of his age) did not account him any way to be suspected. This working the tythy Gentleman, being no longer able to because they had prefumed so boldely to

diferente ils

" A Region in Greece,betweene Acar-

Ariftotimus

elly threat-

neth them.

on his Countrey: determined to finde out some apt occasion, and to revenge all wrongs by the death of Aristotimus . In the meane while, the other Cittizens, that were fled before into Aetolia, having mustred so many men togither as they could possibly procure; entred into open armes, and came into the Eleusians confines, where they fortified themselues, and daily drew more and more to their faction, determining present warre vpon the Tyrant, many neighbouring friends affilting them with supplying forces, so that they encreased to an indifferent armie.

Vpon these proceedings, the Tyrant became afflicted with very great feare, fo being in feare that he went to the women whom he dewomen prifo. tained prifoners, and being a man of a diners, and cru uellish spirit, coueting to compasse whatfocuer he would have, rather by rigorous menaces, then any faire or gentle means) commanded them very roughly, to write to their husbands by Ambassadours, that they should defiss from their present enterprise : otherwise, hee would instantly massacre al their children, and cause them to be beaten starke naked throughout the Cittie. To these threatnings the women returned not any answer, which incensed him with the greater rage against them; and hee sternely commaunded them, to giue him resolution what they would do. Some, not having the boldneffe of spirit yet making no account of all his threat-

Megeftena, wife to the Noble Lord Thimoleon, chiefe among all the women

Among this company of worthy women, was one, named Megestena, wife to Thimoleon, who, as well in regarde of her husbands Nobilitie, as her owne innated fingular vertues, was held to be the very chiefest of them, & (with the like esteeme) they honoured her. This Lady, when the Tyrant came in among them, would not rife to giue him any reuerence, neyther fuffer any of the rest to do otherwise then as the did. She having heard the Tyrants menaces, litting stil ypon the ground, and returning no figne at all of reverence, the

to reply, stoode stedfastly looking uppon

the rest, as questioning in their soules,

which of them should returne the answer,

foake thus,

The answer of Megestena to the Tyrant Aristotimus.

A Ristotimus, if there remained in thee any wisedome, then wouldest thou not The proud make thy recourse to women, to have them tolly of the write a direction to their husbands, what reproved by they should doe; but rather thou wouldst send their wives to them, with better speeches and more woorthy consideration, then thou hast vsed toward them, making a mockerie of vs, by a most base and dishonourable deceit. And now, when thou feest thy felfe able to doe nothing else; thou presumest (by our meanes) to beguile our husbands by faire wordes as formerly thou hast abused our credulitie. Thou deceinest thine owne indgement, for, wee will not suffer them to be agayne ouerreached by thee; neyther doe thou imagine them to bee fo foolish, as to shield their children from death, or prevent the losse of their poore wines lines, they will forbeare to execute that whereto they stand obliged: I meane the freedome of their Countrey. For the loffe of us & their children is not fo yrkefome to them, as the glad some satisfaction will be, to deliner their people and Countrey from outrage and cruelty.

Longer would Megestena have continued her discourse, but that the Tyrant rable & wot (beeing vnable to bridle his rage) commanded the Ladies sonne to be brought to the amit thither, that there hee might be flaine in mentofile her fight . But whileft the Officers were Tyrant. feeking among the rest of the imprisoned children for her fonne; the mother (with an vindaunted courage) calling him by his name, fayd. Come hither to me, [weete Boy, and rather die by thy mothers hand, then endure the bloudy crueltie of a Tyrant. Thele wordes to amazed Aristotimus, and kindled fuch outragious choller in him. that (drawing foorth his Sword) hee purposed to have flaine the Lady. But one of his chiefest familiar friends, named Chilon, standing by, caught her in his armes, and pacified his fury.

This Chilon was one of them, who pra- Chilon one of Ctifed with Hellanicus the Tyrants death, the Confede as vnable also to suffer his cruelties. Hee Hellanicus having somewhat calmed the extreami-ty of his rage, caused him to put vp his Sword agayne: plainely telling him, that it was a matter monftrous, and ill befeeming the dignitie of a Prince, to foile his hand with the bloud of a woman.

Within a while after, there hapned a Arange

strange prodigie, as foretelling the death of the Tyrant. For, being in bedde with his wife, whileft the Cooks were making ready his diet, an Eagle was feene to houer ouer the Lant-horne of the Pallace. and letting fall a great stone directly into. it (it being ouer the Chamber where hee lay) it made a great noyfe in the fall, and giving a fearefull loud shoute, the Eagle vanished from the fight of all that beheld it. The Tyrant awaking, with the confuled murmure of fuch as had feene it, and not a little difmaied when it was reported to him; fent for a cunning Soothfayer, in whome her repoted no meane confidence, to understand what the meaning neercof might bee. The Wizard bade him be of good courage, for it figured nothing elfe, but that Iupiter had an especiall care of him, and fent his Eagle so to expresse it. But he told the Cittizens quite contrary, in whom he durst repose his truft, because he knew their hatred to Aistotimus: and bade them be bolde, that some sodayne and strange kinde of death, thould (in a thort while) happen to the Tyrant.

Hecreupon Hellanicus and his Confederates, thought fit to delay the time no longer, but concluded to kill him on the morrow following; because the verie fame night, Hellanicus fleeping in his bed, feemed to fee one of his founce, that before had beene flaine by the Tyrant, who cryed out aloude to him , faying , Deare father, Why doe you fleepeshus? Wherefore doe you trille away the time? Stand you in doubt, that you (ball not be made Prince of the Cittie? Hellanicus confirmed by this Vision, went earely the next morning to finde his vowed friends, haftening them to execute the deed determined. At the felfe same time, Aristotimus had received tydings, that Crateris was comming to affifthim with a great power of Souldiers, and that hee was already fet foorth from *Olympia. Which news were not a little welcome to him, fo that feeming now free from all feare; he walked abroad to take the aire, forme finall distance from the Pallace, accompanied onely with Chilon, not attending for any more, although they came dropping after one by one. Which Hellanicus well obserning, thought it now a fit time to execute the nall to the rest of the confederacie, he lifted vp his hands to Heauen, speaking aloude; What stay yee for, valiant Gentlemen? Why make yee not now the goodlieft spectacle that ever yet was seene?

Chilon was the first that drew his weapon, and killing one that came laft from the Pallace, who offered to steppe in the tyrants defence: Arestotimus espied Thrafibulus and Lampidius (two whom he most trufted) drawing their weapons likewife vpon him. Whereupon, hoping to escape their violence, hee ranno into the Temple of Lapiter, where he was flaine by his flaine by his owne followers. Afterward, his bodie owne follow being throwne forth into the open ftreet, Temple of the people cryed out , Libertie , Libertie. Iupiter. The women were the first, that (making way through the throngs) came thither, who joyfully embraced them, that by the tyranis death) were the happy delinerers of their Countrey. In the meane while, multitudes flocked to the Pallace, where The Tyrante the wife of Arifformus (hauing heard of the murder of her husband; and doubt-withher ing how the people would deale with hir) chaine of gold flutting her Chamber doores about her; there with her Chaine thee strangled her

The Tyrant had two very goodly and beautiful daughters, of yeares apt and able for marriage, who having heard of Afpafia and their futhers death, had lockt themselues Hillaria, the vp close in a Chamber; from whence daughters of they were drawne by the peoples violence, and in their furie they would have flaine them. But Megestens, with divers other of the Ladies, stoode in their defence, faying: That it were an cuill deed, and inftly deferuing blame, to kill them confidering, they had not learnd fo much courage of the Tyrant their father, to exercife cruelty vpon themselves. By these speeches the people were appealed, and a decree was fet downe, that they should make election of their death, and performe it on themselves with their owne hands, if they had the heart to doe it.

So beeing fent into their Chamber, Applia the eldest fifter expressing no ap reduction of pearance, eyther by countenance, or any twosisters in figne elfe, that the flood in feare of death; their death, loofed her girdle, and faftening it about a timber-beame, refolued to there to hang her felfe, exhorting her fifter (with enterprife, and without giving any fig- manly courage) to perfourme the like

The words of Aspasia to her fifter Hillaria, before her

vpon her felfe; Hillaria the yonger daughter, taking her fifter by the hand, defired her to permit, that thee might die first. Whereto thee replyed in this manner: As during the time, that Nature permitted vs to line like Sisters, I never did willingly deny thee any thing; so farre be it from mee now to refuse thee in thy latest request : howbeit, nothing can afflict mee more, then to fee thee die. No sooner were these words Spoken, but Hillaria taking the Girdle, Brangled her felfe therewith immediately. When thee was dead , Alpafia kneeling by her body; and loofing her girdle from about her necke, turning herfelfe to Megestena, & intreating, that their bodies might receive no shame after death, with the felfo same constancie of corage, the ended her life likewife.

CHAP, IIII.

MIT he reason why men cannot know and understand the truth of many things while they remaine in this life.

I ue principall calles there are, why a man can not thow the truth of diuerfe things, during his abiding in this world: which if hee could attaine vnto, he might repute him-

selfe to be wife indeede.

The first is ignorance of his end, that is he knows not to what end he was created for it is a matter most certayne, that if he did know that; he would labor no leffe to obtaine it, then he doth to get digniagree with his appetite) they make him to imagine, that all his happines confifts in them. But in this cafe it fareth with him. as with a kings fon in his child-hood. For, if it be demaded of him, whether he doth more affect the succession in his Fathers kingdom, then Apples, Cheries, or fome other fruites, presented instantly to him: questionlesse, hee will rather accept the Apples or Cherries, then the kingdome, bicaufe he finds them futable to his yong defires, as having both fight and knowledge of them in talte and apprehension.

Euch fo it happeneth to a man, for if it were demaunded of him, whether he best liked to make choice of, Riches or Wile-

dom: his election would fland on wealth and power, being meetely ignorant, that Wifedome onely is the chiefest wealth. and that the Wife man only ought to ordame and gouerne. For without Wifedome and Knowledge, power 3s not po There canbe Wer, but weakenes, and vtter deprination no greater of power indeede: And riches without wealthing knowledge, is but a bestiall possession, worldthen an abundance of prefumption, and a kind of fottish substance. Whereas on the contrary, a wife man hath alwayes fufficient for himfelfe & others befide having in him that truly abounding treafure, that can never faile or deceive film And all this onfueth to a man, because he is ignorantin his true onde

The fecond cause, is the vie of corporall delectations, voluntary and fensible, which ouerwhelme and drowne, not on-ly the femes of the body, but alfo-those of the spirit and intellect. So that a man, be-thower took ing thus wrapped vppe in the mire of the body and this world, is like the beautifull daugh? ter of a King, to whom appelraineth the inheritance of her fathers Kingdome, but having committed adultery with some blacke deformed flaue, loofeth the right ofher fuccession thereby.

The third cause ensueth by the Indisposition of such matter, as many times maketh a man vncapable of learning and vpapenetic of knowledge which commeth often fo to the County whereaman paffe, in regarde that the region or place is borne, by of his birth ; is veterly difagreeable, and two extremicaufeth him to receive a bad complexio. As in some of the Easterne parts, and of Affrica, where men are borne fo beaftly. by reason of the heates expreamity; that ties & riches : wherein (because they best | they are not capable of any reasons And contrariwife, some places in the northern parts are so colde, that verie furious men are there borne & bred; fuch as the Gothes and Oftrogothes: fome whereof feede on humane flesh. And these people may aptly be compared to an Eagle, that hath a stone fastened to her soote, to keepe her from ouer-violent flight, which commonly is naturall vnto this Bird, caufing her to foare about the cloudes.

The fourth is , difficulty in the Scien- 4.Difficulty in ces. For, although a man doe plainely nuely under differne, that the defire of his foule is to thanding the feeke attentively, as coueting to know the truth of high and deepe causes : yet notwithstanding, he findes them to hard to be understoode that he retreates, and quite giueth ouer his enterprise. Wherein he resembleth his owne eye, which fixing respectively to beholde the Sunne: the splendour thereof producth so piercing, that it ecclipfeth and troubleth fo his fight, as he is not able to endure it.

3. The indif-

The last and strangest of all, is an affe-

An affecti. en to fome the time of a man youth, and so conti

ction taken by a man in his youth, vnto things wherein he hath beene instructed. and especially when his defire hath lasted of fomelong continuance thereto. For then, Custome converteth it selfe into Nature, and therefore worketh a fetled feare in the mans foule, and a fingular loue to those things embraced, hating all other contrary to them, and the whole world (almost) is swallowed up in this errour. Do we not observe that children among the Turkes, before they can reach to the yeares of reason: doe vtterly abhorre our Faith and Religion; and to the Iewes in like manner? Wee fee alfo, that countrey people, by being inured and accustomed to field-dwelling, do liue grofely, disdayning conversation with Courtiers, or fuch as inhabite citile Citties. From whence infued the Prouerbe : Vnluckie is the Bird, that is bred in a bad valley. For, by vse and conversation receiued there, he cannot part thence, though he beholdes a much better place for him. And not onely heerein is knowne the power of this habitude: for we our felues do despile them of another countrey (except fight or frequentation have begot more familiaritie) and only through fome bad and abufine relations of them. This errour hath also prenayled with women, with whom, matters of long vie beare fo high a priviledge, that beethey never fo badiyet they despite the contrary, be they neuer fo good. Finally, this affection to continued vie, and detellation of fuch things as we know not; extendeth it felfe to all matters in our election. Wherefore, it were good to expell those hinderances out of our hearts, to the end we may (if possibly wee can) know the veritie and tructh of things indeed. For, in the knowledge The true fell. of them, confifteth all contentment in opinish this world, and the way to an some that her cafter : imitating the good hufgrounds for the best advantage, doth first roote vp the thornes and weeds, because his graine will bee the better borne. So, when the Physitian would give a sicke man health, he first purgeth his stomacke from all corrupt humors; because in matter ill disposed, the former cannot induct it selfe. Let vs then contend against all these impediments; for the reasonable man, that will not yeelde to reason, but onely leane to his owne appetite: is like Comparisons to him that will fayle ouer Mountaynes, aprly aniweor builde his dwelling in the Sca: for the purpole. effect both of the one and the other, are deprined of their proper ends.

CHAP. V.

■ Of diners Accidents (monstrous in nature) which ferued as dinining Auguries, or coniectures of shings to come, in olde and auncient times.

N precedent times, who by permiffion of the true GOD; fundry Oracles, which were spirites of illustions, in Idelles and Images, gaue answere to Idolaters : many prodigious fights were seene in the Ayre and on the earth.

And because that in these latter dayes of ours (we living in the light and tructh of faith) none fuch are now to be feene ; it is a matter of some difficultie, to credite what learned Authors have written, concerning those which hapned in their

Yet (mee thinketh) there needeth Graue Auno diffruft at all 3 for they having written Histories of warres, and other occa- ble credite, fions happening in those dayes: by infer- deferue not to ting the memorie of prodigious Accidents, we ought not to make any ferupu- tingslous doubt of them; but rather to reft perswaded; that as they dealt faithfully in the one, they yfed the like inflice in the other; especially, when they are likewife confirmed by many and fundry other Authours.

Kkk Amongs

A Kings Son cares more for an Apple or a Cherry in his childehood, then his Fathers king. dome,

Fine impedi-

menu to a

mans knows

t Ignorance

in the cause

why he was created.

ledge.

Plininlg4.14

of Modena, vnder the Consulship of Lucius Martius, and Iulius Sextius, Confulls: where two mountaines arose out Two great of their proper places, and mette toge-Mountaines ther so impetuously, that hurling a great met together, and did much flame and sinoake vp into the ayre, by the harme to violence of their encounter; they retur-Townes, Men and Cattell. ned backe agayne, not onelie destroying villages which were betweene them, but also killing an infinite number of catmane Knights.

Pliny, in his ninth booke, and in the fifteenth chapter, likewise relateth in the Plm in 1,9.c.15 fameplace, faying, that in his time, and

vnder the same Empire of Nero, Vessus Marcellus, a Romaine Knight, whome the Emperour had fent (on his behalfe) into the kingdome of Naples: had (there in the maritime territorie) two fieldes, each distant from the other, the one becing a fayre meadow, and the other veric thickely planted with Oliue trees.

tell, in the open fight of many trauellers,

and likewise of a great company of Ro-

Amongst other Prodigies in the Ro-

By an admirable accident, but how, I know not, these two fieldes chaunged into each others place : for the Oliues field was transported where the meadow stoode, and the meadow into the Oliuc plottes place; and this was conceyued to be doone by an Earthquake. This is not onely reported by Plinie, but also is anouched in the Chronicles of manie learned men, as also in the Booke of the Mountaines warre.

And although hee cannot be induced to credite, that men may be metamorphofed into Woolues; yet neuertheleffe hee declareth, that Enanthes, an Authour of no meane authoritie among the Grecians, recordeth the Arabians to haue written, that in Arcadia there is a great standing Poole, whereto men are brought at certayne times to passe thorow it: and as they fincke into the fand, they are instantly transfourmed into the (hape of Woolues; and having continued to for the space and tearme of nine yeares : they doe recouer their former formes agayne, according as Fabius Pietor in his second booke and in the ninth chapter; who addeth also, that Scopas, who wrote the Olympiades, speaketh of one, named Demarchus, had eaten the bowelles of a young Boy, which they of Arabia had facrificed to Inpiter Lyceus, maines dayes, the most notable was, that and presently hee was transfourmed into a Woolfe, in which forme he continued the space of tenne yeares, and afterwardes recovering the shape of man agayne, he wonne the victoric for Luteplaying at the Mount of Olympus. Saint Augustine in his fourteenth booke De Ci-Augustine in his tourteenth Dooke De Ci-uitate Dei, and the third chapter faith, that Daili [19]. Varro also recordeth the same. In mine opinion these transformations could not thus happen, but rather were performed by diabolicall Arces.

Now, concerning these things of wonder written by Pliny, they are not to Plin intbak be wondred at , because he setteth downe figra. many matters, reputed vtterly impossible, as the transformation of a woman into man, and yet himselfe will not credite the like things, or of leffe impossibilitie, and which have beene apparant to his owne judgement. Notwithstanding, fuch as confider well the Scriptures, need not incruaile at transformations, happening really, and not feigned. For we know what is written in the feuenth chapter of The forcern Exodus and twelfth verse, That the Rods rods connerof the Nations were (not in apparance, tedino Serbut in effect, by fecret charmes) turned Exod 7,11. into Serpents. Now, which thing is more casie, to change a Rodde into a Serpent, or the true body of a man (I doe not fay his spirit) transformed into a beast. The opinion of Saint Augustine is heerein a- Augustinais uaileable, where hee fayth; A certayne Dallingar man conceined in his minde, that his daughter was turned into a young Mare. And bringing her to an holy man, named Hellarion, the grave olde man looking on her, faid: I fee a young Maid, but no Mare: for it appeared that by his deuoute prayers, the had recovered her former thape againe. Wherefore we may judge, that fome things are shewne to men, which are not indeede; and fuch a thing may be apparant, and yet not existent.

But returne wee now againe to our Auguries. It hath beene observed divers in a Beall be times, that in the opening of a beaft, that ing imband no heart hath beene found in him : as it leaded to happened at the General state. happened at the first time, when Cafar, the Dictatour fate in his golden Chaire, and then it was disputed among the Auruspices, if a beast were to be found without a heart.

Plinie

figure of featenth chapter reporteth; fo doth Ci- Trumpets, and clathing of weapons. District Cap .9 prefumed, that false spirits did thus delude and abuse the people, taking away the beaftes heart in the Sacrifice time, knowing well thereby what was to hap-

Two harts

Chap. 6.

A Country in ihe North de les fide. lb.16.cap 14. Afree country of Macegaules.

donia hy the

tuftunder in

cero in his Divinations, that Caiss Mari- And in the third yeare of the Confulus, offering Sacrifice at Vica: even in the Thip of Marius, two Armies were feene same manner, there was not any heart in the heavens, that went from the East, found in the beaft. But it might be then to meete in the West: besides many owell observed, that it chaunced not thus ther the like Prodigies, whereof Saint by nature : but rather was rightly to bee pen after.

Oftentimes likewise hath beene obferued, that two hearts have beene found in one beaft. For, wee reade that in the Sacrifices, which Marcus Marcellus made before hee dyed in the battaile against Hanniball: the first day he found no heart in the beaft he facrificed; and the next day following, hee found two. Pliny writeth in the place before alleaged, that in Paphlagonia, the Partrige hath two hearts: fo likewife faith Theophrastus, the most expert (among Philosophers) in naturall kiler Afia, by things, as Adus Gelline declareth. Theophrastus fayth, that in * Bifaltia, each

> In Naffa it is quite contrary, for there they are very great, and double in divers. And Frogges, which are there called Ru. bettes, have two livers, the one venemous, the other medicinable : fo that when they are dead, the Antes make fearch for them, and feede on that which is Phyficall.

> Wee reade, that on the day when Pyrrhus dyed, they facrificed the heads of dead beaftes, that licked their owne bloud youn the ground.

> The same yeare, when Hanniball was vanquithed by the Romaines, vnder Publins Active, and Cheus Cornelins, Confulls, Wheate was feene to growe vppon Aristander (a learned Greeke Author) declareth in his Booke of Prodigies, and (ten spiding in the third chapter (and it is also confirmed by Cneus Epidius, the Romaine, in his Commentaries) that fome Trees haue beene changed into another kinde of Trees.

> We reade also, that in the warre of the Cimbrians, a great noyfe was heard

Plime in his foureteenth booke and the in the Ayre, like vnto the founding of Augustine maketh mention in his Booke of the Cittie of God.

CHAP. VI.

Of a very strange and admirable A:cident, which happened on an Armie in the night feafon.

Hofoeuer shall reade aunci-ent Histories, needeth not wonder at somethings, hap-pening in those times, or else related by such as haue feene them : for fometimes it hath beene observed, that either the same accident, or elfe but little differing, hath chaunced in one place as well as another. Among Hare hath two Livers . And in some plat the admirable Accidents, which I have ces (as in Euboa) the beaftes have no read in auncient or moderne Hiftories: I finde that to be very finguler, and well deferuing memorie, which happened to Agathoeles (the Tyrant of Sicilie) in

This Agathecles was a man very expert in Armes , whereby (beeing but of Agathocles base condition, to wit, the some of a the some of a poore Potter) hee made himfelfe Lord poore Potter, of the whole Isle of Sicilie. Having had fingular Sollong warre against the Carthageni- diouranda ans, and feeing himfelfe befieged (both by Land and Sea) in Syracufa, by Amilcar, with a powerfull Armie of Lybians: hee was of fuch an vudaunted courage, that, leaning the Cittle to the guarde of his brother Antander, and having certain thippes readily prepared; by the helpe of a cunning stratageme, hee gote foorth at a narrow port, with about feauen thoufand footemen, and a finall number of horse, and went to land on the thoares of Affrica. Having gote there in pay fixe thousand Greekes, he went and befreged Carthage, bringing the Citie into fuch di- Carthage befireffe, that the Senators knew not which | fiedged by Againstes,

Many battailes were fought betweene

Two distant

Fields remo-

ued ftrangel

others place

by reason of

Men meta-

morphofed

into Wolues

Ewanthes in la

2.cap.5.

an Earthquake.

into each

Fabius Pictor in Ub. 2 _cap_0. Scopas in O. lymp.s.

A fresh supply

from Lybia,

came to the

Carthageni-

Agathocles

maintained

the allault fti

A bloody and

of facrificin

oblerued a mong the

Carthageni-

cruel manner

to his owne

loffe.

ans,

victorious; because the time so sauored him, that he had drawn no meane troups of horse to take part with him. The Carthaginians (beside their Citizens, and many mercenary Souldiers (in great number) which they had for defence of the Citty, being vnable to equal the cauallerie of Agathocles) called one of their chiefe Captaines from Lybia, bringing with him a powerfull army into the field, to haue a day of tryall against Agathocles. After divers skirmishes passing betweene them, vppon a day, Agathocles would needs affault the enemies Campe (for his men wanting victualles, defired nothing more then prefent fight) but the enemy being very firogly planted, would not iffue foorth, though they were very hotely fet vpon in theff Fort; knowing the necessitie of Agathocles, and the defperate condition of his men.

them, wherein Agathocles proued alwaics

Continuing the affault still, to his owne difaduantage, he payed the penaltie due to his boldenesse: for the enemy repulfed him with great loffe of his Souldiers; one part of them beeing flayne, and the other within compasse of the enemies power. The night preuenting the battailes conclusion; I am to tell yee an example of wonder, which strangely followed thereupon, in this manner. The Carthaginians, after their victorie, facrificing vnto their Gods, in figne of their thankefulneffe (with a cruell superstition) a great number of their prisoners, both Greeks and Italians; brought fuch a quantitie of wood to burne the bodies, that the fire grew fo impetuous: asit not only confumed the facrificing Tent, but alfo the Pauillion of their Captayne and Generall, besides infinite other, being a lamentable spectacle to all that beheld it. For, through the extreamity of this accident, a mighty tumult grew among them, proouing to occasion the death of many; for fome, labouting to quench the fire, fell into it, and so perished; others thrining to escape from it, crowded one another to death in the throngs.

In this night of horrour and confusion, one nonell accident drew on an other: for, in the Campe of Agathocles. there was found about fine thousand Lybians newly arrived, in whom hee durft repose no trust; for they intending to this contuffon passe on, and to joyne with the Carthaginians forces, were miss-led, onely thorow the darkenesse of the night. On still they went from Agathocles Campe, till they came within hearing of the Guards and Centinells of the Carthaginians, who imagining them to be the Armie of Agathocles, re-affembled againe for a fresh affault; and hoping to finde them in diforder (as indeede they were, through the foes violence) rayled fodainely fuch a strange noyfe themselves, that the whole Camp fell to flight, and was vtterly broken, so that few or none remained, but all were dispersed, some running thwart the fieldes, others backe to the Citty, to fane

The Cittizens hearing this noyfe of the people (conceining verily, that it was fulion happe. the enemy, who had foiled their Campe, and came now to affault the Cittie:) were fo confounded with feare and amazment, Caulinge. that they left the Citty without any dofence, feeking how they might best secure their owne lines. So that if Agatho cles had received but the least intelligence thereof, and had gone immediately to giue the affault: this night had made him Lord of Carthage, and the whole Kingdome thereto belonging. Fortune, not yet satisfied with blinde-folde confusion. caused the fine thousand Lybiano (perceiuing what had happened) to turne backe vpon the difordred Campe of Agathocles, who fearing a fresh onset of the enemie; Anothered fled, fome one way; fome another, and dent in the felinto fuch a madding fury among them felues, that thinking their owne people among them (still as they mette) to be Carthaginians: | felues. they flew one another very cruelly, the obscurity of the night not permitting them to fee their owne errour. So that, through this inaduertence or inconfideration, fine thousand were flaine among the Grecians, and as many of the Carthaginians, flying and fighting in this confufed maner. By which meanes, fine thoufand men (erronioufly mif-ledde) againft their willes, brake three hoafts or Armies, with no meane example, of Fortunes power in actions of Armes.

CHAP.

CHAP. VII.

7. Booke Chap. 7.

the combate was honours

ptelly forbid-deh combate

Cittizensat

■ How indifereete a thing it is, and greatly to be blamed in Christian Princes, to permit the Duello, or fingle Combat between man and man.

Ike as abuse is growne among all things (well-neare) in the all things (well-neare) in the world, by the coldnesse of cha-ritie in men, and their mallice augmented one towards an other; Euen fo falleth it out in Duells or fingle fights. For, amongest great Princes, when they lawfully exercifed themselues in Armes, it was honourably admitted in certayne cales, and differences of most high importance, which could not otherwise bee termined or discided. But now it is grown to fuch corruption, as every filly and priuate Souldiour, for very small or simple occasion, presumeth, that it is lawfull for him to vindertake it. But that which most of all distasteth me, is to fee, that Christian Princes onely doe permit it, confidering, that in them (more then in any other) the Lawe doth exprelly forbidde it:

and it is encreased to such an abuse, that,

except God amend it, it is to bee feared,

that Prelates of the Church will also suf-

The Duell or Combate, is denied to a Christian man, to docit, to graunt it, and to fee it, by reason both dinine and humane, as well Canonicall as Ciuile. It is prohibited by divine reason, according to this argument. Eucry acte whereby God may be tempted, is prohibited to a Christian by the commaundement of God : For, it is written; Theu Shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. That GOD is tempted by the Duell or Combate, I produc it in this manner: To make triall of things, which cannot be reduced to an end by naturall meanes, but onely by the Hand of Heauen: fuch attempting is to tempt God. As it happeneth in cafes of purgation, where it is most notorious and enident, that (by naturall courfe or disposition) the strongest, active, and most powerfull person cuer vanquisheth the weaker, and of leffe abilitie. Contrariwife, that the stronger bodie shall be ouercome by the weaker, can not happen but miraculoufly.

Bringing then two fuch vnequall perfons into the field, victorie is defired for him which hath right and reason on his fide, to the end, that the trueth may be made apparent. But then God is tempted, in feeking, that he should performe Miracles only a myracle; which must needes bee so, the power of when the weaker man conquereth the God. stronger, beeing (as it were) directly against nature.

I prooue it further forbidden by Diuine reason, after this argument: when a Law prohibiteth a thing, it forbiddeth also the dooing of it; and a man performeth an especiall inhibited thing, when hee knoweth (by the Divine Lawe) that hee is not to kill a man : The Combate | Murder may then is flatly forbidden, because thereby harpen by

I yet proue it otherwise thus. The Dinine Lawe forbiddeth enery action, that differeth from the fountaine of charitie, which is the scope and end, of al vertues, and veterly expelleth vice : The acte of The acte of Combate is farre off from charitie, lean- combate kiling vnto vice ; because charitie is nothing leth , Charity elfe, but to love God and thy neighbour, and he that enters the Combate to kil his neighbor, is out of all obedience to God.

It is likewise prohibited by the Canonicall Lawe, because it evermore followeth the divine Law; and in plaine reason, what the one inhibiteth, the other neuer aloweth. Combat is also forbidden by the Lawe of men, and the proofe is, that cuery thing which repugneth and contradi- common law. Geth naturall equitie, is likewife prohibi- and law of ted by the reason of man; because reason turall equity, is grounded vpon naturall equitie. The reason of equity among men willeth, that he which committeth a crime Ishould be punished, and the innocent cleared: notwithstanding, by Combate it falleth out many times quite contrary.

It is turther proued by this argument. Naturall equitie, whereon (as we have already fayde) all reason in men is groun- try i for the ded; is entirely for the confernation and conternation encrease of them. That acte then, which turnerh vnto the diminution and destru-Gion of men, is quite forbidden : fo ought Combate to be, because thereby

Combate cor

Naturall coulof mankinde, and combate is for his de.

The coming of a treffi company of Lybians,caufed a ftrange accidentin murder may happen.

The two'ma precepts of naturali equ ty,are broke by the acte combate.

Combate for bidden by the greatest price in the world. Moreover, of naturall equitie, is forbidden by mans reason, because it is grounded thereupon. One of the precepts is, that no man shall defire profit or honour, by the prejudice and hinderance of another. The fecond is, that no man shall wish that to another, which he would not have done to himselfe. The acte of Combate contradicteth them both, because hee which commeth so prepared into the field, coueteth his owne glorie, by the shame and harme of him against whom he fighteth, which is his neighbour; and witheth that to him, which he would not have executed on himfelfe; for, he would vanquish and kill him.

It is also forbidden by Ciuile reason. and this is the rule. Civile right prohibiteth euery acte, whereby Iustice may bee denved to men, or injurie doone them. Now, in the case of Combate, oft times it falleth out quite contrary; for the innocent man dyeth, and the guilty offender remayneth aline, so that by this meanes, Iustice can not take her due place.

CHAP. VIII.

of strange and admirable properties in the Affe.

Mongstall the properties in beafts, those of the Affe are most to be admired; for hee is so meeke and domesticke, as that Isidore doth fay,

He taketh his name of feating; for, in elder times, men motited on fuch beafts backs, to faue themselues securely. Or else it cometh of the Greeke diction Afinos, composed of A, which is a Greek diction prinatiue, fignifying Sine, Without, and Cinos, which fignificth Senfus, Wit or Senfe: fo that coupling thefe two vocables together, fignificth, without Wit or Scales. Heereupon it is faid, that hee is fearefull to goe ouer a Bridge, where water runneth underneath it : because having a weake brayne, hee is (by instinct of nature) fearefull to fall therein. He is timo-

men kill one another, and men are of rous also to enterwater, how shallow soener it be; fearing by the current thereof. euery acte which repugneth the precepts his braine may be troubled, and he drowned; which proceedeth from a kinde of knowledge that hee hath of his owne imperfection.

This creature is flouthfull and melancholy, because he is colde, drie, without The Affe memory, laborious, and apt to carry bur- flothfull and dens. By reason of his great frugalitie, he cannot live in colde Countries, and if by aduenture he doe live there : hee affeetch not the generative action, neyther can he there ingender. Hee beareth best vpon his reines, rather then on his backe The ability of or shoulders : for, being melancholie, burdens, his bones behinde are the more strong and dry, for there is the figne of melancholy, and there is his skinne so thicke and hard, that though he be bearen with great staues, he cannot be killed without much paines. Also, because he consisteth of an earthie nature, hee is hardly disciplinable, and fatneth very little. Albertus Magnus fayth, That by the felfe-fame Albert Mign reason, hee endureth much paine in his head, and dieth tumbling his head afide, and in regarde of his heads weightinesse, a thicke and viscuous humour falleth on his lights or lungs, which maketh him to breathe with difficulty, and fall downe swowning. He eateth little, and the more he watcheth, fo much the more he drinketh beyond other beafts.

In regarde of his great coldenesse and drienesse, hee can not stirre to ingender, gendechoo at fuch times as other beafts doc, to wit, whenother before the Winter Equinoctiall, or else beafts & vnder the Equino cially but in the month of May, when the Sunne mounteth, almost to the right angle of the Equinoctiall, and then his groffe humiditie beeing depressed and diminished; he is prouoked to the acte with fuch fury, as if hee were a wilde foale, and especially when he is yong. The thickneffe of his skinne, is caused (as we have sayd) by his grosse humours ; and he that mendeth his thoes of the Alle with leather, of that part of the skinne, skin in weswhere the Asse hath longest borne his lingitin burdens, can not weare it out at all, but it will long time endure, paffing oner stony or craggy wayes, and will at the last growe to fuch hardnesse, as the feete can not suffer it : Albertus Magnus speaketh thereof by proofe.

milke of the Female Asse is subtile, that it cannot curdle: and therefore it is Physihyfical for a call for fuch as are in a confumptio. Moreouer, the purity of this milkes whitenesse maketh the skin of men or women wonderously faire, and very cleare. Hereupon Pluny reporteth, that Pappaa, Cnocubine to Nero, often yied to bathe her bodie in before. because he bites of the bushes & thornes, Small birdes are enemics where they builde their nefts: and with de Affe hath,

The curiofity

of the Affe in

gendering of Mule be-

een an Affe

Chap.8.

his crying noise, makes them fall vnto the ground, or frights them away when they fit in the bushes. The Rauen is his naturall enemie, to that when hee hath taken any harme on his skinne; hee mounteth thereon, and pittifully plagues it with his bill. So do the small Birds likewife, onely to be reuenged of him : but the Rauen aboue all the rest, labours to picke out his eyes with his beake; against which cruelty, the hollow concauity of them, docth ferue him as an especial defence, the hard nesse of his hide, and continuall agitation of his cares; for by cloting his eies, he chaseth them away with his cars' stirring.

The Bear alfo is his enemy, wearying him

(oftentimes) to kill him, defiring to feede

the Milke of a shee-Asse. This beast hath a custome to Vrine in the place, where he finelleth that another Affe hath staled

He is very much hated by fmall Birds, on his raw flesh. He will not drinke but at fuch Springs or Welles where he is inuredly & where hee may paffe without wetting but that deferuing meruaile, is, that if the water be troubled, though hee be never fo thirfly, he cannot be procured to drinke, vntill fuch be given him as is pure and clear. Pliny faith befide, that he will hardly bee constrained to drinke, vntill his backe bee disburthened of his loade. The shee-Asse fo intirely affecteth her young Foale, and is to fearefull of it by Nature: as thee dreadeth not to passe through fire to find

Anglin Gener. Aristotle faith, that the shee-Asse will remaine to long time from conceyning, vitill the graines of Barley, steepte in the blood of a Mulet, bee given her to feede on. For the generation of Mules, the Mare must be of no lesse age then source yeares, and not about tenne. Now, in regard that (naturally) no beaft will habite

From this drinesse it ensueth, that the | with any other then of his owne kinde , fuch Heardfinen as would have a Mule engendred by an Affe and a Mare, do vfe this kinde of cunning. The young Affefoale is nourished with Mares milk ali his tender time, but in some obscure place, for better taking it. By this meanes, comming to age (as adulterated) he groweth to lone Mares. And in like manner, norithing the Foales of Marcs with milke of a shee. Asse; they habite afterwardes willingly with thee-Afles. And if it happen that the Mare be taken, and the Afle hath yet vic of her immediately, her greatneffe will corrupt, through the extreme coldnesse of the Asse. And so it fareth with the shee-Asse, if the horse have joyned with her, and by the same reason.

The Mule that is bred of an Asse and a Mare, cannot engender, the caufe (according to Aristotle) is, that the feede of the Affe (as we have already faid)being cold, & that ionning with the feed of the Mare which (hauing respect to the sexe Feminine) is also of cold complexion; & therefore, that engendred is so cold, as it canot be proper for generation. And albeit Plimy faith, that divers times they have yong ones: vet (for all that) it is not naturallie. but rather as a thing prodigious.

Aristotle granteth that they do engen- Aift de Gener. der, but the fruite cannot bee reared or Anim. La. cap. 3 brought vp. Theophrastus faith, That in Cappadocia they engender and haue yong. Aristotle further faith, that the Afle fatneth more by drinking troubled Water then that which is cleare, and best agreeeth with Kine. The Foale of the fhe-Affe, The thort is of fo fhort memory, that following the memory of damme, if it be but five paces behind hir. it hath forgot, and followes no further, but stayes and standeth stone still. It is faid, that the flice. Affe hath a natural cuflome, when the is ready to Foale, thee withdraweth into some obscure place. but the opinion of Alberta's Magnas is y albert Aleg, in the doth fo in regard of the weakenes of 16.4-49.7.

the Foales fight. It is a thing well approved, according to the judgement of the fame author, that the Liner of an Affe being boyled, and afterward roafted the fame day is verie foueraigne for the falling fickneffe!, prouided, that it be often yfed : the like power hath his hoofes, being burnt, beaten into powder, and drinking the weight of three Ducates Aistot lin Lib.

Pli,in 1,8, c.44

the Aile toale

A definition of the Affes

Isider in lib A

nim.3.cap.8.

name.

Fearefulneffe in the Affe to paffe ouer a Bridge.

A present re medy for blee

Plin.in L.B.c.44

ding at the

Ducates, and enery day an ounce. An emplaister made of the same powder, diffolueth the Kings cuill, & heals the chaps, which trouble the handes in Winter by cold.

Moreover, the hooves so beaten into powder, and applyed vnto an Impo-For an Impostume, quickely breaketh it. The Vrine flume. of an Affe, is very anaileable for the Difease of the Reines, caused by grosse humidities; and his dung, either burnt, or not, made in an emplaister, restraineth the Flux of blood, and fmoking any house with the Lunges of an Affe, it killeth all wormes and mothes.

long a time to relate.

Againe, his dung steeped in Vinegar, and applied to the nose in a cloth, ceaseth the extreme bleeding:making also an emplaister thereof, and binding it to the forhead, it hath the same vertue . Pliny also faith, that both the Milke and bloud of an Affe, are very effectuall against the biting of a Scorpion.

His Vrine, applyed with Spickenard, encreafeth and conferueth haire : and his bones being broken, and the powder of them drunke in white VVine, is very foudraigne against poyson. Aristotle, Albertus Magnus, and Pliny, reporteth infinite other Vertues, abiding in this much despised creature, which would require too

CHAP. IX.

Of the fingular wertue and constancie, of the Noble Lady Aretaphila, the enforced Wife to the Tyrant Nicoreon: And her honest policy, for the deliverance of her Countrey.

An honorable Gentleman of Cyprus, and a worthy folditer of Aglator, and wife to Fedimo, who for Nobility and riches, was one of the worthiest men in the whole countrey : and in those times the was no leffe endued with fingular beauty, then admired wifedome and eloquence in her fpeaking. It came to paffe, that Wicoreon vfurping the gouernment by tiranies, condemned many wor- Nicerconagi thy Cittizens to death. And among other cruelties by him committed, hee caused preme authorized Melnapius (the Priest of Apollo) to bee iny. flaine, to make vsurpation of his Priesly

Afterward, hausing treacherously put to death Fedimo, the husband of Aretaphila; constrainedly, and whether she would or no, he married Aretaphila. Continuing on his pride against his people, & day by day encreasing his cruelty, hee furiously put a great number to death. And beecause they were to be buried without the Citty, he was enftructed by fome of his ny were put picke-thankes, that many counterfeyted to for eleathemselues to be dead, for their safer efcaping out of the City, onely thereby to auoid his cruelty. Hereupon, guards of fouldiers kept the gates, with long Iron Pikes and Bodkins, made red hotte in the fire; wherewith they pierced the bodyes carried by, to try whether they were dead

These cruelties, were greatly displeafing to his wife Aretaphila, who greeued Actions to fee her Countrey thus oppreffed; and to fuch a height grewe her compassion, that hating Nicoreon for her former Huf-hazuedh bands death, the refolued to make aduen- ownellien ture of her owne life, to free her country deliuer it. from fo bloody a Tyrant. And although Nicoreon affected her extraordinarily, & bestowed infinite fauours on her, onely to please her : yet could shee not quit her thoughts from this magnanimous determination. And, when (through the tyrants power) all hope in the people was viterly loft, for ever freeing themselves from his tiranny: The only grew the ftronger in her confidence, that shee should compasse the meanes of his death. Heerein the was still the more encouraged; by remembring the vndaunted refolue of the Thebane * Pheraa, fo much | Anhonorrenowned thorough the world, coueting to imitate her example. But because sheet had not the benefite of affilting Friends, as Pherea had; the concluded her enter- fon. prize alone by her felfe, purpofing to kill the Tyrant by poylon. By which meanes the ranne into great dangers (as you shall reade heereafter) in regard me failed many times of her attempting; and beeing furprized at the last; all dissimulations were not fufficient, but shee was conuinced by most cuident arguments.

Chap. 9.

The Tyrants

Her witty In-fenation to

couer what

Achad close

At this time, Caluia, Mother to the tyrant (beeing a Woman of fierie temper, and one that heavily hated Arctaphila) laboured him by earnest perswasions to put her to death with grieuous torments but the feruent loue of Nicoreon towards hir, and her owne couragious spirit, in answering the accusations of her enemies; occasioned the delaying of her death. Neuerthelesse, after much clamor and constraint, she being conuinced by apparant testimonies, and no longer able to denie, but that she had prepared a breuage for him: In the presence of the Judges, with an vndanted and cheerefull countenance, thus she spake.

The Speech of Aretaphila,

in the presence of the Tyrant, and allher hatefullene-

Y Lord and Husband, I freely con-

fesse, that a drinke was prepared by mee to give thee ; yet farre from fo much as thought, that porton, or any harmefull thing should therein be compounded : but onely as a drinke, whereby to incite feruent love and affection. For, feeing my felfe to bee enuied by so many Ladies, in regarde of the kinde love by thee extended to me, and exalting me to wealth and honor, farre beyonde any capacity in them of compassing the like: fearing withall (most worthy Lord) that they would not pare their ottermost endeuour to kil that louing kindnesse in thee towards me, and quench the intire affection folong continued: I made that Breuage purpofely, to preferue the heate of Loue in full power, and rather orgeit to a higher reach, then fuffer it to qualle in the least degree. If therefore beerein I have offended, Reafon (me thinkes) should free mee from punishment; inregard that [botleffe love(to confound that foul frend hatred) thereto procured me. Nevertheleffe,

if I shall bee faide to merite chastifement; it cannot wree death, as to an hatefull impoyfo-

ner : but rather fuch an amable and fauou-

ring affliction, as fuch a wife may be thought worthy of, who will not pare to practife any enchanting Potions on her Husband to continue his Loue in correspondencie, equall unto

Such was her constant carriage in this answer, and appearing of so sound truth in the Tyrants opinion; that by no means ther tryall by he would permit thee should bee put to death. Onely, through their diuellish & dye. violent vrging, he suffered her to be further tryed by Racks and Tortures, as hoping (that way) to extort confession. Caluia causing the extreamest tortures to be prepared, floode by, while they were inflicted on her, even according to the mea fure of her monstrous crucky; and fo many violences was done to the poor Lady, mild, patient, that Caluia her felfe, grewe wearie with and constant the very fight of them. So that Aretaphila, not confessing any thing more then the had done, was deliuered from further tormenting, and adjudged innocent by Nicoreon; repenting that hee had permitted her to bee so cruelly misused, and his loue now growing to farre greater extremity towards her, made him labour by al amorous blandiffiments, and gifts of extraordinary valew, to reconcile fanour,& qualifie all conceiued vokindnesse in her. And she, being a wise and sprightly minded Lady, had her owne discretion so much at command, that the could feeme as earnest in loue to him as euer : vet car- phila. rying an inward vnconquerable remembrance of her Countreyes Oppressions, and her owne extreame wrongs, waiting but time and meanes for iust reuendge, which offered it selfe to her in this man-

-She had (by Fedimo her husband) a yong daughter, of admirable beauty and vertuous qualities , named Miraguarda; and Miraguarda, Nicoreon had a Brother, named Leander ; daughter to youthfull, gallant, and somewhat diffo- Acetaphila, & lute in affection to women, which made ther to Nicoher the more diligent, to procure liking reon. in him towards her daughter, and cafily the prenailed therein, by the help of amorous enticing drinkes, and other devices, wherin the wanted no furtherance of her cunning Physitian. Beside, the witty enstructions shee had given her daughter, for her carriage in the company of Leander; caught fire on the Tinder of his affection, in such violent manner; that in all haft) he entreated his Brother to graunt wil not let her

his marriage with Miraguarda, wherto he as quickely gaue confent, prouided, that he could induce the good liking of Aretaphila therto, which was not long in obtaining (though excused with some sewe faint and modest doubts) because it was the onely mark the aimed at to compatte that which the further intended.

The marriage the onely meanes to be reuenged on the Tyrant.

The perfwafi guarda to Le anderfor kil ling his Brother.

Leander is won to murther his Brother, afsisted therein by his Dannilles.

Leander, being married to his beloued Miraguarda, their mutuall affections fo fweetly simpathized together, as he could neuer besatisfied with her louely embracings, nor shee contented without his company. During the heate of this reciprocall fierie temper on both fides, Miraguarda, ingeniously instructed thereto by her mother (knowing the could craue nothing ofher Leander, that eyther hee durst or would deny her) aduited him to were her witty remonstrances to his veilding foulc (alledging the acte to be generous, the freeing of his country from tyranny, and a certaine affurance to himfelf, that in requitall of so bleffed a benefit, the people could not choose but elect him their King, by whom they enjoyed theyr long defired deliverance) that he liked the motion extraordinarily. Nor left thee off fo, but plyed him still vnto the same purpose, that if hee did make deniall of the decde, the Cittizens (in their violent hatred to the Tyrant) would acte this Tragedy themselues, as therto they were all folemnly fworn; and then there could

So prenailing were thefe perswasions with Leander, that instantly he conspired against Nicoreon, perceiving that Aretaphila did not difallowe it; and imparting faithfulfriend his intent to Dannilles, his familiar & very faithful friend: by his affiftance he flew him, fleeping in an Arbor of his Garden, and thereby became Lorde of the Kingdome. The possession whereof made him fo proud and powerfull, that, despising Aretaphila and her worthy counfels; the world might plainely perceive, that hee was rather a murtherer of his Brother, then a conspirator for his countries freedome, because he governed by injustice and improvidence; albeit (afterward) he began to renerence his mother in Lawe fomewhat more respectively, though the people were still oppressed, by many extreme violences.

be no fecurity of his own life.

Aretaphila perceiuing, that shee had not yet deliuered her country from tyrannot yet deliuered her country from tyran-ny; concluded to compasse it by his death taphilatore likewise. Heereupon, by secret intelli- deliuerance gence, the wrought with Anabius, a warlike Prince, and a Natiue of Lybia, to rife in Armes against Leander, wherto he was very eafily induced. Hee being at hand with a potent Army, Aretaphila conuerfing with Leander, told him, that his Captaines were not equall in courage and ftrength, to those braue Warriours that came with Anabius, and therefore it wold proue disaduantageous for him, to make hazard of his weake forces against him, being not certaine of his owne subjectes, whom he had too much prouoked by his harsh vsage; and therefore farre vnfit to be trusted in trial of warre. Wherfore she the killing of her brother. And so sutable admised him, to labour by honest & planfible meanes, that a pacification might passe betweene them, promising to practife fuch meanes her felfe, that hee should have a friendly imparlance with

Leander liked well the Counsell of his Aretsohile mother in law, and praied her to proceed contributa therein; whereuppon, thee dealt for the meeting beday of their meeting. Prevailing fo well der & Anabl (in the meane time) by faithfull Messen- us. gers to Anabius, that when Leander shold come forth to confer with him: he either should kil him, or take him prisoner, promiling a great fum of money for the performance therof. Leander being fearful by nature (as commonly all Tyrants are)dai- Tyrants at ly deferred the enterparlance: but his themselves mothers pressing him with shame of base cowardife, and faint-harted effiminacy, (sheepromising to goe along with him in company) procured him to iffue forth vnarmed. Anabius comming on to meete him with his traine, Leander made a timorous flay, faying; hee would not passe any further, vntil he had his guard about him. But Aretaphila, one while by faire foceches, another while by foule reproaches, calling him nothing but coward at every delineted le word; ftil made him to walke on alog with her, and taking him by the arme, as to infpire him with courage, brought him forcily to Anabius, and deliuered him vp as his prisoner, who safely there kept him, vntill the promifed fumme of mony was

Afterward, the returned backe to the Chap. 10. her fuccesse, and how shee had deliuered her Countrey from the Tyrants power: Whereupon, the fumme of money was collected and forthwith fent ynto Anabius. Then was Leander delinered to Aretaphila, who instantly gaue him into the Magistrates power : so that by generall sentence, he was sowed up in a sacke, and drowned in the Sea, after he had feen his Mother Caluia burned. All the Citizens flocking before Aretaphila, humbled them felues on their knees, confessing the just merit of her praise: because (with so great perill of her life) the had faued her Countrey; enforcing her to vndergoe the Gouernment, which shee did, and ruled graciously vntill she had reduced the estate to perfect peace. Then, refigning vp her Office into the Senates hands: Thee entred a Monasterie of Sacred Virgines, where shee lived privately, and peaceably passed the remainder and rest of her dayes.

CHAP. X.

Of the Famous Philasopher Euxinus: And of a Letter fent by the Senate of the Athenians, to the Lacedemonians.

discomfitted by the Athenians: the vanquished defired truce with the Victors,

and for their eafier attaining therto, they

fent (as Ambassador) the renowned Phi-losopher Euxinus, who spake in so eloquent a style to the Senate, and onely in the praise of peace, deliuering such learned and pleasing allegations, as not only truce was granted to them, but alfo they freely gaue them those Confines, which they pretended was appertaining to the,

and (by the chance of warre) hadde loft.

Such power had the Oration, deliuered

by Buxinus; and the Senat of Athens back

Lacedemonians, a verie cruell warre was waged, about the difference of certaine Confines, and in the field of batteristics warries theing foyled and

City, there manifesting the manner of to the acquainted them with their minds in this maner.

> The Senate and People of Athens, send health and peace to the Lacedemo-

TEE call the Goddes to Witnesse, that in the late passed battell betweenevs, Wee more greened to see you so bloodily vanquifhed, then we loyed in our owne fortune of victory: because the effects of Warre are fuch, that damage is certaine to the Conqueror, and benefit to the Conquered is doubtfull. Wee could heartily haue wished, that the demaund by you now propounded had bene before in like manner required : but fuch is the lot falne both on you and vs, that you have loft very much in this warre, and yet wee can boaft of no benefit thereby. For the rule hath ordaind, is most certaine, that what soeuer is ap- is not to bee: pointed by the Gods, cannot be compre- ditappointed, hended by humane judgement, nor impeached by the power of man.

You require truce for three moneths, to the end, that in that time, an agreemet may be concluded betweene vs. Wee returne you answer, that the Senate of A-ancient Lawe) that either they accept of cruell warre, or elfe freely condifcend to perpetuall peace.

thens neuer vied to make truce, after they had begun a VV ar : obseruing (as a most

VV ee labour and practife in the times of peace, to allure Wife-men into our Schooles, to helpe vs with their counfell in the times of VV arre; and now they aduise vs, not to make a truce on suspected conditions: whetein wee thinke they counfell vs well, because a counterfeyte peace is more dangerous then an open waged warre. The Philosopher Euxinus your Ambaffadour, hath spoken so eloquently in Good wordes the Senate, that we hold it vnreasonable, then weapons to deny any thing by him named : and can doe. therefore it is a matter more honest, to granthim peace that requires it by kinde words, then him that rudely askes it with the Weapon. Wherefore we tel you, and now give you to understand, that our Senate (with a franke and free hart)granteth to you Lacedemonians, loyall peace,

The events of warre are vncertaine 10

7 Booke

Of the Bees Commonwealth.

66r

deliuering you from all suspition of war: | And this wee doe, that the world may know, the Athenians are of fo great spirite against the audacious, and so woorthic friends to fuch as are wife, that they both know how to chastise foolish Captaines, and how to be commanded by discreete

The occasion of the war be tween the two States.

A worthy c. filmation of Learning and learned men.

Philosophers. Well wot yee, that all our difference hath growne about possession of Townes seated on the bankes of the River Milina. By this letter we tell ye, and fweare thereto also by the immortall Gods, that wee freely renounce all right wee can pretend vnto them, on this condition: that(at our meeting) you shal give vs your Ambassador Euxinus: for the happy Athenians do more affect a Philosopher in their school, then a whole Prouince for their Commonwealth. Yet Lacedemonians account it no acte of leuity in vs. to change towns and territories, to bee governed by one onely man: because the Philosopher can teach vs how to line well, whereas fuch Countreyes may give vs occasion of dying ill. And in regard, that (of auncient enemies) we now declare our felues your true louing Friends: We not onely deliuer you from VV arre, and fend you Peace; but likewise will give you Counfell how to conscrueit; for the Physicke that preferueth health, is farre more excellent then that which expelleth difeafes. And this is theremedy which wee!

giue you.

As ye defire, that your yong men shal exercise themselues to Armes, in like manner bee as diligent, that your Children may have Learning in due time: For, as Warre is made with cruell weapons, so with sweete words is peace soonest obtained. And thinke not (Lacedemonians) that wee heereto aduife yee without cause; for, in leaving the counfell of the Wife, and fuffering ydlenesse to encrease among the people: it engendreth seditions and civill Warres, onely to make men murther one another. Nor would we have ye thinke vs friends to busie pratiers; for our ancient Father Socrates appointed; that the first Lesson read to a Scholler in our Academy; was, that for the space of two yeares, hee should not dare to speake a word; beecause it is a matter impossible, that any man can be wife in speaking, except he be admirably patient in filence, and knoweth howe to hold his peace.

May it please you then, to permitte Euxinus to remaine with vs. and immagine, that if wee hope for benefite by his presence; you may rest assured that from fuch counfell as he gives vs, you cannot receive any damage. For, it is a very ancient law in Athens, that the Senate may A consumin neuer attempt any Warre, vntil our Philosophers have first made examination, kingdone whether the cause bee just or no. So wee ceasie, praying both your and our immortall Goddes, to preserve you and vs in perpetuall peace: for that onely is perpetuall that stands confirmed by the will of the Gods.

CHAP. XI.

The true Module and Patterne of Gouernement, to be observed in any Commonwealth; derived from the communitie among Bees, and how many wayes they may be examples to men.

HE forme of a Co-🏖 monwealth obserued amongst Bees, mecthinkes is fo proper and answerable vnto that of mentas it may bee verily prefumed, that GOD gaue them it by a Naturall instinct, and for an instruction vnto our manner of Gouernement. This little The deint Creature, is named by the Latines Apis, inc worth a derivation from the Greeke, which figpis from the nifieth to bee without feet : not in regard Greeke that it hath no feete, but because they do ioyne fo closely and aptly with the body, as if indeede it had none at all.

Many haue written of their propertics and qualities; as Aristotle, Pliny, and many more: beside, I find in elder times, that Hilifous Tatius was verie inquifitiue, usa diligen to vnderstande the properties of these searcher if Creatures, and that he might render the the properfounder reasons of his knowledge; hee liued in Forests and solitarie places, where best he might attaine to his owne intent.

Hilifens Tai

of forty yeeres (without attending to any other exercise) gaue himselfe wholly to the same labour : and both of them wrote divers Bookes very apt and worthy for all posterity. The first and most notable thing, ob-

A kinde of religious reucued in Beet, ming forth of their hiues.

Chap. 11.

ferued in the writings of moderne men, is, that they have noted an admirable kinde of Religion in these little Creatures: For, before they wil yssue forth of their Hiues, they bow downe their heads forwarde in such humble manner, as if they were deuoutly at meditation on their knees. Declaring therein (euen by Naturall instinct as it were) to vs that we should not undertake, or beginne any thing, before wee haue first honoured God, and recommended our endeuours to his gracious goodnesse, that they be begunne and ended in his name. Very respective are they, that | fire abroad, untill they first fee, wwhether say y. by the foode they gather from fweet Flowers, they may produce hony, beneficiall both for others and themselues; demonbonn for them frating thereby, that men should labour Glues, but for (by vertuous meanes) to performe good ring their Prince, to whom GOD hath actions in their life time, auaileable both for themselues and others; considering, it is a duty required in men, and for which they are born, not to labor for themselues, but also for their Countrey, and their Friends.

They are content to liue in their owne habitation, without intruding for dwelling in anothers house. As a notable example to vs, that (for the peace of the Common-wealth) enery man should rest contented with his owne, without coueting or viurping ought from any other.

Eucry Hine hath his King, and both he Nomore but one king im e buy hine (or order of Go and his attendants, doc thun noyfes, clamours, and windes. Which teachethys, that we ought to have one cheefe Commander in one Common-wealth, by who all the rest may be well gouerned: & that we should shunne the smoake of Ambition, in being greater one then another in the Common-wealth, to the end, that there may be good discipline. Also, we should the from all windes of vanities, tumults, partialities, and enmities. Flight, labour, foode, and fruite is common alike to enery one; to let vs vnderstand, the mutual lone and charity which ought to be among Cittizens, in being helpful one to another: and partaking likewise in o-

Andlowachus | And Aristomachus likewise, for the space | thers diffresses, for by this meanes, mens mindes become linked together in fuch amity, that the Commonwealth flourisheth in peace and quietnesse, and is a goodly president to other estates.

These creatures line without lubricitie, although they engender more then a- A worthy preny other. Which instructeth vs, that infect in life, for the peace and repose of the people, men should have care of childrens generation, to perpetuate their owne kind and the Common-wealth, without lufting after adulteries: but to live chaste and temperate in pleasures carnall, the libertic wherof doth procure contentions, quarrels, and death.

They doe respect their King with such loue and obsernance, that they account it an honourable deede to die for him. And Saint Ambrofe faieth thus: They will not de Cena Dom. he will flye foorth, or no : that they may keepe him company, in finding foode, and other effects for common benefite. Which may minister example vnto men, for honougiven such Authoritie, to bee assisted and imitated in those paines, which he taketh for the good of his people, hee being the principall of the Common-

They endeuour continually, to cleat In what manfuch a one for their King, as (in appa-ner the Bees rance) is most Noble, as also the mildest, a choice of their not vling his fling against anie other, king. which onely is as a punishment for offenders. Aduifing vs heereby, to elect fuch for our Gouernors and Magistrates, as are of generous Nature, discreete, wise, and debonnaire. And these small creatures, are of fuch nature, that they who are of greatest bodie amongst them, are alfo (commonly) the most humaine and gracious. Signifying nothing elfe to vs, but that he ought to be most milde such as are and courteous, that is exalted vnto the highly advanhighest dignity, as well in Nobilitie of bloode, as in wealth and vertue: which things naturally beget enuy in others, and vet destroy themselves by humanitie, and converteth into love. Most obedient are they to their King; and if any one haue declared disdaine, or disobedience, & the same bee discerned : hee neuer attendeth for other correction, but instantly flayeth Loue and fihimselfe with his sting. Whereby we are delity to our superiours.

A bufy talker can neuer bee

Honourable

counsel giuen

by the Athe-nians to the Lacedemoni-

ans.

a Wileman.

No idlenes a mongst the Bees, but all imployed in feuerall offices, & all fo generalbene

A good admo

ties & incor-

liners.

offend, euen to death it felfe. No Bec is flothful or idle in the Hiue; for some flye forth to combate against other in open field: others watch to feeke for foode; others contemplate times, to foresee when stormes and raines will enfue; others compose the hony Combes; others lay aside the waxe by it selfe, and thereof others make little Lodgets, caries and rounds, in very straunge and wonderfull order. Neuertheleffe, in fo many and fundry offices, no one intrudes into anothers businesse, or dare make any stealth or robbery from his companions: but by his owne labor and vertue, hee feedeth abroad on hearbes and flowers, and yet brings a part of his pains home, for generall good of the Commonwealth. Herein we have a notable instruction, to abhor & banish out of our Ciries, flothfull rogues nition for Citand idle vagabonds, that will not like by porate townes their owne labour as they ought to doe. to auoyd ydle Wherefore through fuch deboshment & negligence in men, all fuch vices arise in Citties, as doe corrupt good manners, and ouerthrow order: for every one shold liue vpon his owne endeuour, without vfurping ought of others; and what he hath superfluous, is for generall aide of the Common-wealth, and to be ministred to others necessities.

admonished, to be faithfull and louing to our Prince or Magistrate, and searefull to Naturehath giuen them stings to defend themselues, and offendsich as dare The weapons of defence for or acrence for themselves, & affaile themsor prefume into their citty or hiue: and although they are not of any offending ene great corpulence, yet not with stading they haue vnconquerable corage & prudence. For with the gum of trees, they annoynt the superficies of their hines, to the end, y no beaft or other enemy may enter in at any rift or chinke; and if the passage or isfue be ouer large, they labor diligently to restrain and make it lesse. By which example men are admonished, to bee stout and couragious for desence of their countrie, and wifely to foresce, that no Vices enter into their Common-wealth, that may infect, corrupt, or poyfon it.

By naturall inftinct, they are enclined, that each one staies on the first flower hee finds, and parts not thence away, vntill he haue taken his refection and norishment: whereof he wil discharge himselfe, before he seekes out any other. And much they frequent the leaves and flowers of the Oliue tree, making there fom long abiding. feruing vs as an example, what fobriety wee should vie in the course of our Life. When they feed on the flowers of the Almond tree, their hony is the more fauoury and temperate; whereas contrary-wife, when they feed on bitter herbs or flowers it is far leffe fweet: notwithstanding, it is thinner, very mundificatine, profitable for divers difeathe opilations of the Liner, and good for fes. the dropsie, as also to heale the biting of a mad dogge.

Such as have made triall by experience When the K, of these creatures, doe instific, that when their king cannot fly he is carried abroad & cannot fly by troops of them; and during the time y he lineth fo fickly, the females are separated from the males. But when he is dead, then they conuerfe together again: which declareth, what pitty and piety wee owe to our Prince and countrey, and that men thold gladly support and suffer for one another. The sting of the female is sharper then the males, & there are many males, that have no stings at all. Hereby we may A good advnderstand, that the tongues of women uestilemen are more piercing then mens, & ofttimes for Women cause very great inconveniences: in which respect, they should be kept short & temperated that their lauish liberty breed no blame and contention among neighbors. The best Bee is litle, round, closely plump bending in the midft, and least hairy. Som feed on flowers of the mountaines, others onthem of Gardens and husbanded pla- Of mountain ces: the first whereof, are much lesse then from whet. the other, as also more strong and robust, Phinhiodist to endure labor. Beside, according to Pliny they are of far dreadfuller aspect, abiding in the rifts of trees, or in some smal vaults. And what fairer example can nature afford vs, then of their strength and abilitie? For, such people as are not educated in delicacies, but in continual exercises of mind and body; are most profitable memuney ply their worke in their hines, & feed on the superabundance of their Combes, beriefeld knowing by meere instinct of security. bers for the Common-wealth. Closely if they shold not do so, & give vigilant attendance: Spiders wold get into the hine, & there kil the. When they have but smal ftore of hony, the most of them keepes the entrance, it may not be taken from them vntill they are better prouided. A worthy ous things out of their Common-wealth, least by the meanes of them, the venome of hatred may be bred among the, which may procure the death of one another. And when dearth or scarsitie happens in their Cities, vigilancy is needfully required, to preserve such store as they have; that it may not bee elfwhere transported, & so publike calamity ensue thereon.

There are a kind of Bees which labour

president to men, to banish all superflu-

erfection in

he gouerne-

Chap. 11.

not to produce hony, but cate that already made, and they are longer then the other: the good Bees have continuall war with them, to expell them out of their Commonwealth. Signifying to vs, that flothful persons should be excluded from other mens company; and fuch as feeke to feed by others fweat. Their King neuer flies abroad, but he is atteded round with a great company of Bees, and if it fo happen, that they meet with another flight of Bees, that likewife haue their King with them, they leave their owne, to accompany the new King. And if their owne King contends to reduce them againe under his obedience; they kill him, and follow the other newly made choise of and him they elect as their king. This excesse hapnesh very fildom, & is one of the two imperfections which these creatures have in their gouernment:beside,it is necessarie, that in euery kind there mould be some vice. If they chance to fting hard, they put foorth the whole length of their fting; whereon themselves die withall, because their bowels iffue out thereby.

Their Kings and Gouernors sting but fildome, although they are thereto prouoked; for some say, that they have no fling at all. And Pliny is not certaine, whether they have any or no : but notwith flading he is well affured that they fting not: Neither care they that the king should be fo armed, prouided, that he bee of good gouernment, valiant, & maiesticall: which proueth, that Princes ought to be benign. milde, and patient : neuer to take any delight in cruelty, but rather to be gentle & mercifull. Such is the cleanlines of these creatures, that they cannot endure any foule or noisom fauour; & therfore when they returne to their Cittle or Castle (for fuch they account their Hine to be) they discharge their bellies in the aire, & many times(through bad finelles)they become fickly, and fo foone as any one of them dycil, the rest hurle him out of the Hine. They grow ficke also thorow idlenes, and therefore they will not fuffer any to bee flothfull amongst them : and the finell of boiled fish, such as Creuises, Lobsters, and Crab-fish is deadly to them. An excellent example for men to live cleane & neatly, free from a vicious life, carefully respecting both their foules and bodies.

The winde is very contrary and hurtfull for them; and therefore when it is great, Their delight fiffe and boysterous, the hives ought to in winter and be carefully couered. VV arme places they fummer. affect in winter, as other creatures do, and in Summer, fresh aires are most fitting for them. It is very necessary to vse dili- A caucate for gence, when the hony is taken from the: taking the ho because, if ouermuch be taken away, they ny from them will labour little; and if more likewise be left then is convenient, they will bee the leffe diligent in making more, & therefore a moderate and reasonable quantity must remain, according to the number wherof they consist. What worthier example to men can there be then this? declaring that in the commonwealth, cuery thing ought to be moderately measured; because ouer-great, pompous, and luxurious dyer, digality is not to but deftroy famous families, abound to beevled, fo do but destroy famous families, abounding in al superfluous things. And yet not gardiferdefer to be too niggardly and iparing in proui- ueth reproofe fion needfully required. For as by the first children and fernants may become careleffe and negligent; fo by the latter, they may grow wretched and desperate. Another diligent care is required in the that make vie of Bees, to witte, that when A note forethey heare their great swarming noise in telling when the hiue, it is a fignificatio that they wold for fake their begone and leave the hine: but then if the hine. hiue be gently fprinkled ouer with fweete wine they will not flir abroad . Such as keepe them may eafily take note hecreof, because (ordinarily) they make no other noise then when they are flying: Wherein we are instructed, that by sweet language and kind behauiour, we may qualify sterne anger in discontented brethren.

'Aristotle further faith, he did wel obserue it by experience, that their feet before are fhorter then them behind; which is fo giuen them by nature, for their eafter rifing from the ground. He faith moreouer, that when the hony corrupteth in the hine, it engendreth certaine wormes, which make Aristot, in Lib.

naturally addiaed in their diet and feeding, and what leaues and flowers doc most delight

mies to their

Theneste thanlineffe of Bees, ex-impling men

7 Booke

Chap. 11.

Pliniu lib.11.

Of Reuelations from the dead.

665

weaue spiders webbes in the

Reasons of their multiply

ing & decrea

Three rampiers of defence to guard their hony combes

Their flight 2-broad,& hinderance from seturning home at nigh

The Sentinell to awake the nings.

Wormesthat | webbes like vnto Spiders; whereby they wexe ficke, and dye. A very apt example for men, to bee vigilant and respective of themselues, that the sweet daies and prosperity in the world, doe not so corrupt their foules, as to beget the baneful worm of ambition, which is deadly. In moyste times of raines, they multiply greatly, by reason of the humidity: and contrariwise they decrease in the times of drought, thorow want of moisture. Also in Winter, their strength much faileth them, in regard of cold weather, fnowes, and windes out of the North; which hindereth theyr fruitefulnesse, and therefore they keepe closely hidden. But when the Flowers of Beans begin to sprout, they come abroad to labour : and the first worke they doe at home, is to builde their dwelling houses, next to engender, & then to yeeld hony. They make three feuerall rampiers be-foretheir Combes, as their guarde and strength: the first crust (being vemost) they makebitter; the second (within) somewhat fweeter; and the third, thickeft of al, because it ioyneth next to the Combes; & thus is the foundation of their defence. A good instruction for men, how to shape their building in this worlde, to vie diligence in their prouision, so soone as they can, especially of things necessary; then to marry, for encrease of children, and still to keepe employment in naturall exercises. When they flye foorth vpon fome vrgent occasions, and are preuented by night, so that they cannot returne home vnto their owne habitation, they fleepe topfie turny, the vpfide downe, because cold mists, fogs and raines should not offend their wings, to hinder their flight home to their owne houses, or execution of their other enterprizes and affaires.

Sentinels they have of their owne appointment, who make a noise at break of day, by which found they all awake; and turning themselues on their secte, they make a noise againe to their Sontinels, as a thankfull figne of ioy: but then, vppon another found from the same Sentinelles, they are all filent, as attending what instat charge is to be given them. Informing our judgements, in times of warre to bee very vigilant; well prouided, and no way negligent. Excellent experience hand they, when raines and vnfeafonable times will enfue, which they foresee by flying abroad in the Euenings, about their owne needfull occasions; and finding it to follow as they feared, they will not by anie meanes boudge from home.

They hauc (befide) a maruellous order among them; namely, that the youngest Bees flye abroad, and bring home the foode; the elder fort biding at home, to order natural dreffe and prepare it . But that which is ly observed. yet far more admirable is, that when the yong ones arriue, laden with hearbes and flowers laborioully; fome of the aged fort do meet them at the entrance, and help to ease themostheir burthen. Moreouer, such as come so home ouer-charged, seeke the fweetest aires to passe thorow, and where they are calmest : as fearing, least rude winds should make them let fal what they haue carefully gathered, or dry vppe their honey, and therefore they flye lower towards the ground : and fuch as can bring home no lading, are woont to carrie little stones or grauell, that by the weight of them, they may the better resist impetuous windes.

By this precedent example, yong men A notable al are admonished, that they ought to stirre and labour in the Commonwealth; & the porting of the pring of the p more aged, to preserve the fruits of their Common paines. Yong men also, that do busy their, braines in the blufterings of ambition; should take a lower flight, and neerer to the ground, efteeming themselues to bee no more then men : confidering vprightly in their foules, that what foeuer benefit enfueth by their paines to the Commonwealth, they stand bound thereto by obligation. Let no man therefore ouer-ween, or striue to outgo or be aboue other, except his contention be honorable, & that his trauell may most aduance the good of the Commonwealth.

While thus these poore creatures are The King P laboring abroad, their Ki. abides at home, werfully defended by his having a ftrong court of guard about him Corpide wel armed with their stings, for the defece Guard & & ing abroad of his person. He goeth abroad but very with his arm fildom, and when it is his pleasure to goe forth, he is (in like manner)royally attended. But whe he wil haue his army abroad to any expeditions three daies before, loud fummons is given for orderly preparatio. If any troop of them fwerue from following him, they find their error, by fmelling to the ground where the King hath past, & fo pursue in that tract, vntill they ouertake loft by their negligence, the army loofeth it selfe, and then they go to ioyne with another King. Pliny also reporteth, that whe their king dieth, they are fo full of anguish reuelation, not onely should faith bee deand forrow, that they will neither feed nor stroyed, but also it would bee an occasion flye abroad for any provision: so that if he be not taken away dead from before the, they will also dye with greese and hunger.

Tutoring vs heerein, that if strifes & variances happen among vs, they should not or brother were raised, and returned again Kingdoms fil-dome gain by chaunge of last of any continuance: also howe the death of our Prince should be irkesom to vs, because little benefit cometh by changing Gouernors. Thus we perceive, how many good examples may bee derived from the Bees Common-wealth, not veterly vnnecessary for our imitation.

CHAP. XII.

How finfull and dungerous a thing it is to de-fire reuelations from the dead, or know-ledge of things belonging to future life.

not faue vs without our felues, wil not faue vs without our felues, wil feluesieuen fo hath he giuen the ground-wall he given Vike as God, who hath crea-The absolute foundation of ternall life in he worlde to the ground-worke of all meanes for our faluation, which is Faith, with hope of all those bleffings, which (in the ancient Law) he hath promised, concerning the life to come, which also hee hath reuealed by his owne fonne, and are not to bee obtained without beleefe and hope in him. But humane frailty, or to speake more properly, Faith in man is so weake, that when the glorie which God hath ordained for that life is preached to him, he answeres, he beleeves it: But vet notwithstanding (faith he) it is a matter of no meane meruaile, that of fo many men as haue dyed; not fo much as one man is returned back, to tell vs the fecrets of that other life.

The very greatest signe of incredulity, that can be in the heart of man (in mine opinion) is this earnest defire, to wish from God a reuclation of the life to come. For feeing that faith confisteth in beleefe, and

him. It is to be admired, how highly they I to hope in such things as are not apparant are comforted in his presence: for if he be if they were reuealed to vs: why then faith remaineth no more, and fo the fingulare meanes of faluation should be taken from vs I say moreouer, that by such manner of in vs, whereby to runne into great error against God, as wee may easily prooue by

> Admit the case, that our father, mother, or brother were rancu, and returned into this world, euen in the fame fieth as to appropriate they parted from vs: and to the end, wee the intalgability of the instalgability o might the more confidently credit therif, to be the very fame persons, they did cate, of reuelations drinke,& converse with vs(as our bleffed Sauior of the world did with his Apostles, to avoide all scruple of doubt, that they were not shadowes or phantasinaes) they reuealing to vs, matters belonging to that concealed life: no doubt need to be made but wee would liften, and verily beleeve whatsoeuer they said to bee true. If this were fo, all were but man, having a bodie and a foul, and we beleeve him, whom we credit to be but a man, who is a liar by nature. Hereon then it followeth, that in giuing faith to him, we that thew our felues Godonely is rather to beleeue a man naturally a Lyar, lyars then God, who is the foueraigne truth indeed, and cannot lie, but hath oftentimes repeated tovs, what rewarde is prepared for the good, and what punishment for the wicked.

I thinke then, there is no man, but he wil confesse it a greenous sinne, if hee should lend faith to a reuelation, defired by a retched man, to beloeue the creature, rather then the Creator. Let no man then couet beleeued, but that which may redound to his own damnation; confidering, what God hath bestowed vpon him, and also what is denied for his faluation, when hee may helpe to worke it with feare and trembling. If all, are tyed to this conclusion, so much the more it belongeth to a Christian, whom our Sautor hath taught to beleeue, whatfoeuer hee hath renealed in the Scripture, And faith in the Parable of the Glutton, that to know heavenly things, wee have the Lawe and the Prophets to instruct vs fufficiently.

> LII 3 CHAP.

ter alledged by the deade.

The creature ought not to the Creator

ι,

dowes might offer in this

Temple,but

good for fo lewd a kinde

CHAP. XIII.

Of a Disputation made in Antioche, in the presence of King Ptolomy, by seuen seuerall Ambassadors; to know, which of their kingdomes had the best Lawes and Cu-Stomes.

Ing Ptolomy being at Anti-oche, Ambassadors from the Romaines, Carthageni-ans, Sicilians, Rhodians, A-thenians, Lacedemonians, &

Sicyonians, came thither vpon feuerall occasions to him. And sitting at supper with the King, a disputation chaunced to bee moued, cocerning the condition of their Countries and Common-weales, which of them was best policied, and prouided ofgood Lawes and commendable Customes. The dispute was long debated & maintained among them, being defended with good and fufficient reasons. Whereuppon, King Ptolomy, being defirous to be resolved in the truth, commaded each man to speake, the customes in their kingdomes : whereby might best be differned, which of the Proninces merited most to be commended.

The Ambassador for the Romanes first began, and answered in this maner. We hold our Temples in great and reuerend respect; wee are obedient to our Gouerpours; and greeuoufly we punish wicked and lewd liners.

He for Carchage next spake, faying. In the Common-wealth of Carthage, our Noblemen fight for vs; our Plebeians & Mechanickes labour for vs; and our Philofophers enstructivs.

He for the Sicilians; faid In our Common-wealth, Iuftice is intirely kept; our Negotiations are truly managed, and all live equally together.

Hee for the Rhodians, faide. In our Common wealth, our olde men are how nest; our young men bashfully modest; and our women line folitarily, vfing but few words.

our Common-wealth, we neuer confent, that rich men shall be partiall, poore men idle, nor our Gouernors ignorant.

He for the Lacedemonians, faid. In our He for the Lacedemonians, raite. In our Common-wealth, entry cannot reigne, Sparta or Lacedemon, because we are all equally nor auarice, because all our goods are in common; nor idlenesse, because all labour.

In our common-wealth (faid the Am- Sicyonia, baffadour for the Sicyonians) weepermit none to voyage fourth abroad, because at his returning home, hee shal not teach & instruct vs in matters of nouelties; neither do we fuffer Physicians, who may kil our healthfull men; nordo we allow Orators, because we couet not quarrelling

When King Ptolomy had heard all the feuen Ambassadors, he highly comment of King Pleded all their kingdomes; affirming, that long to the they were all well and iuffly gouerned. Ambassadors. That each of them had good Customs, worthily deferning commendation: and that it was hard for him to judge, which of them was best ruled and ordered. So the Ambassadors taking their leaue of the King, returned home vnto their severall countries, very joyful and contented, that the king had dealt with them fo gracioufly in judgement.

CHAP. XIIII.

Of a very proud and sumptuous Temple (dedicated to Venus) in the City of Corinth. in the service whereof, were fine hundred Ladics : And of the answer of an Abbelle to a great Lord.

N Corinth, the principall City of Achaia, lined a ty, Greece, carried thant, famous for wealth & called the Victous life, firnamed Heringent, who cattled a fumpture on; who cattled a fumpture

ous Temple to be built in the middeft of Phocis the City, in the maner of a Monastery, & dedicated it to the Goddesse Venus . In this abhominable Temple, were more then 500. young Ladies & Gentlewomen of Afia, whom their fathers there offred to the Goddeffe Venus, and to her feruice ! The Athenian Ambassador saide. In fo that such of them as were most wanton and lascinious, were held in greatest unileso farte off, to find out Monasteries Monasteries and religious. It was not lawfull for any of them to go out of the Temple; but each one might there sinne, and please her selse ued in this dewith fuch as thee best liked, and as often uftable Temas shee would: so that all their Religion confisted not in being honest and vertuous maydens, but they had power to doe what they pleafed.

Among them was an other Lawe also, that if any of them had a mind to marrie. the infamy of her body, which was permitted that the might fo doe. Moreouerthat befide her husband, the might have an amorous friend : for, in being dedicated to the goddeffe of Loue, they intended, not to loofe the name of Wanton and Amorous. And no married wife or widdow, might offer in this Temple, but onely virgines. And fuch as were fo vnhappy, or wretched in fortune, to come and offer their Oblations there: before a yeare was expired, became a she diuell in this hellish fanctuarie; and, of a chaste virgin, a shamelesse and lascinious strum-

All such as had admittance there, were expert in reading, writing, finging, playing on instrumenrs, and dancing. Wherby men were allured thither extraordina. rily, and it was no shame for them to bee feene there.

The like Temples are (at this day to be feene) in the Portugall Indiaes, in the Prouinces of Iappan, where there are aboue eight hundred Monasteries, the least of which hath more then thirtie Nunnes in it, called there Banzes; whereof there are two forts : one clothed in blacke, the other in lighter colours.

It is a common fame in those Countrics, that these Bonzes doe feede on a certayne hearbe, to anoyde conceining with childe; but if conception can not be preuented, then they eate another hearbe, to destroy the infant conceined. They enftruct yong maydens in reading, and fuch is the fortifhnesse of the people, to credit verily, that they can deliuer the foules of their deceassed parents from Hell; and therefore (in that respect) they are greatly honoured and reuerenced.

Woour felues in thefe dayes (almost monstrous and miserable) neede not tra-

where Religious women or Nunnes (if Monatteries of Nuns necwee may tearme them Religions) leade rerhome, litheir lines as lewelly and diffolutely, wherof themselues make no other concealement, but that all commers and goers, finde there exceeding kinde wellcome. Which ensueth by ouer-much libertie & ydlenesse, or else, by being placed there by their parents, contrary to their owne liking. But the good and vertuoufly difposed (whereof there are many) are not comprehended amongest these deboshed women: And as for the voluptuous and immodeft; they regarde not who knowes their loofenesse, and may well say of them selected, as an Abbesse did, of whom Nicholas Boyerus maketh mention in his Decisions. She had fortie Nunnes voder her charge, and there belonged to that Monastery twenty Priests.

It came to paffe, that a Prince, whose predecessours had founded that Monasterie; passing rhat way, and visiting the Re- The confeligious companies : found all (elfe where) rencebe-

in good order, except the number of Prince & the Priests, and these Nunnes, whose number Lady Abbetse he thought not well ordayned; whereup-

CHAP. XV.

on hee sayde to the Abbesse. Truely Madame, me thinkes, that in flead of fourty

Nunnes, fortie Priests had beene better

appoynted, and twenty Nunnes onelie

had beene sufficient. My Lord (quoth

the) perhaps the order is not fo ill contri-

ued, as you imagine it to be, neither is it to be condemned: for, of the fortie Nuns

heere appointed, twenty are for the twentic Priests; and the other twenty serue for all comers and goers.

¶ Of the Oracle of Apollo in the Isle of Del-phos, the Originall thereof, and upon what occasion it came.

He most renowned Oracle long since in Asia, was that of Apollo in the Isle of Del-People of Babanata phos, whither resorted infinite persons, and from all parts of the world: offering there great gifts, and confulting on especial matters;

moued to the Ambaffadors by the King. for a refoluti on therein.

The argumet

For the Romaines.

Carthage.

Sicily.

Rhodes.

Athens.

Chap. 16.

The admira-

blepiety of the Ladies &

Matrones of

Genef,8,18,

Dan. , , 2.

3 Reg. 22, 25

Pompeymade

Gods Temple

and the pu-

therefore inflicted on him

The words 'in the Letter of

Marcus Aure-

King of Tri-

nacria.

nifhment

thence, then from all other Oracles. At the first, there was a deepe, crooked, winding caue or ditch, out of which issued a winde, that blew extremely at the mouth or entrance; thereon was feated a yoong Virgine, dedicated to Apollo, that gaue aunswere to all things demaunded of her. This winde was the diuell, who blew into her eares; and before the Temple was builded in Delphos, a she-Goat descending downe into that caue or ditch, became fuddenly filled with a dinine Spirit, dannfing, skipping and leaping for ioy, as the like had neuer bin feene before. Whereat the Goate-heard wondering, followed her downe into the caue, and beganne to fore-tell of things to come. Many more beside made proofe in the same maner; so that who focuer would know what was to enfue, most put his head into the entrance of the caue.

because more aunsweres were returned

But in the end, this could not be doone without daunger, and loffe of many perfons: whereupon a Temple was erected to Apollo the Diviner, and the Priest named Pythia, who made choice of a Virgine, to be placed on the Tripos: whereof Lactantius the Grammarian speaketh thus, interpreting this Verse of Achilles Statius, in his first Booke of his Thebays.

Salue prisca sides Tripodam. Tripos (faith he) species est lauri tribus radicibus, Apollini confecrata, propter vim diuinationis. Iamblichus, in his booke of the Aegyptian Mysteries, saith; Sybilla, in Delphis duobus modis suscipiebat Deum, vel per spiritum quendam tamen igneumque, qui erumpebat alicubi ex ore antri cuius dam, wel sedem in adyto super sedem aneam, habentem tres aut quatuor pedes , & Deo dicatam. The Virgine that was the Organe of Apollo, fitting on the Tripos , held'a Rod in her hand, and was crowned with a greene Chaplet of Laurell.

Many other Oracles there were in diuers other places. Liber was the Oracle of the Sicilians; Ceres, that of the Rhodians; Diana, of the Ephesians: "Berecinthia, of the Romaines; Belus, of the Palestines; Iuno, of the Numidians ; Venus, of the Thebans and Cypriots; and many others, in whom poore abused Idolaters reposed all their confidence, rendring to them their Vowes and Sacrifices, albeit veterly in vaine. For, the answers of these Oracles, vs in pietie and religion.

were nothing else but ydle imaginations, and meere fables proceeding from the dinell, the father of lies. And by good right were fuch abuses and superstitions condemned, by them that had knowledge of our true eternall God; as Dauid, Baruch, and other holy men, who detested such Idolls and Images of the Gentiles, made of golde, filuer, stone, wood, and other matter, and by the hand of man.

CHAP. XVI.

¶What care our Elders had in ancient times, concerning the perfourmance of their Sa-

N auncient custome (good and commendable) hath euermore beene, not onelie on the behalfe of Christians, but also amongst the Ethnickes: in acknowledging the benefite hauebing they received from God; not by wordes full of Religion and alone, but also by effects and exterior Sa- time, crifices. So that there is no Nation fo barbarous, but hath confessed his God, by fome outward figne. And the Roman Senate did alwayes holde Religion in veneration, that so often as they met together (as Varro reporteth.) Although they Maus Van had affaires of great importance, and which inlib.1.414 required hastie diligence : yet the first thing ligings. that they propounded to themselves (before decision of any doubts) was religious humiliation to their gods. At all times, and when soeuer the Romaine Confulls or Emperours should go forth to warre, they never would prepare Ammiant for the field, till they had first facrificed to Marchath their gods, faying; All felicitie and prof- 1993 peritie proceeded from them. And Marcus Aurelius faith; They helde it for an infallible in Hordey. rule, that there can be nothing perfect among Prim. mortall men, except it bee perfected by God. Lycurgus, the auncient Law-maker of the Lacedemonians, among other Lawes, ordayned : That no man should be so bolde to feeke for fauor from a Prince, except he were knowne to ferue the Gods diligently. Nor do I alledge these examples, as intending to confirme my faying by Pagans and Idolaters : but onely to make vs bluth with fhame, by feeing, how farre they exceeded For,

For, if wee would reade Histories, we should finde, that Gentiles and Pagans fought carefully, to recouer all their neceffities from the gods.

In the time of Quintus Fabius and Publius Decius, they warring against the Samnites and Hetrurians, the Roman Matrons performed wonderfull things, neuer ceafing day and night, in offering great Sacrifices to the gods, faying: If they were once appeased, they needed not to stand in feare of their enemies.

But leaue we Idolaters, and let vs feeke what the auncient children of Goddid, Examples of the children of God. who at all times, and whenfocuer they were afflicted, had their recourse to Sacrifices, when they would expresse their rhankefulnesse to Almighty God, for benefites received . Noah, after hee came foorth of the Arke, erected an Altare, facrificed thereon, and the facrifice was fo acceptable to God, that he promised him, neuer more to drowne the world agayne. Good Taacob, being gone from the house of Laban, to give thankes to God, built an Altare, which hee confedrated to God.

> our God. We reade in Efdras, that after the children of Israel were returned, to re-edifie their Temple, that they might facrifice to God; they were fo carefull, that building with one hand, they helde their weapons in the other, to defend them from their ea nemics.

SMS CONFORD ON L

The children of Ifrael, beeing afflicted in the wilderneffe, fayd : Let vs go on for three

dayes, and afterward wee will facrifice wato

In Leuiticus, mention is made of innumerable Sacrifices, whereby God pardoned offences committed. Hereupon Daniel being in the captivitie of Babylon, and feeing the Sacrifices to be forfaken, favd : In these times, there is heere neyther Princes Gouernaur, nor Prophet; nor Holocaust, nor Sacrifice, nor Oblation, nor Incense, nor place to offer our First-fruites on before thee: Re. cesue therefore vs, with our foules broken. and our firites cast downe . Elias alfo. lamented grienously, because the Altares were ouerthrowne, and in his carnest zeale to God, vnable to fuffer fuch ruine, defired to die . For without all doubt, nothing is more milerable, then when the feruice of Almightie God is despised, and where it faileth, a punishment from God furely followeth.

Aarons sonnes, Nadab and Abihu, were confumed with fire from heaven, before all the people; because they observed not the Lawe ordayned for the Sacrifices. King Balthafar, prophaning the veffels of gold and filuer, dedicated to the Temples feruice, to ferue his wines & concubines for drinking therein at his Table : didinely fawe a Hand writing on the wall, foretelling his neere approching ruine; so that he was taken by his enemies, and flayne the same instant . Achab, having prophaned the holy place, erected a Temple to the Idoll Baal : but afterwardes, going against the Syrians, he was slayne with an Arrow shot from a bowe.

The Records of Histories doe also tell vs, that Pompey, hauing made a Stable of Gods Temple, after hee had robbed, ranfackt,& spoyled Ierufalem, became thereby fo abominable to GOD, that thence forward he was most vnfortunate. And although hee had before vanquished two and twentie Kings, yet at the laft, himfelfe was miferably ouercome. The fonne of Darius was so prowde and presumptuous, that hee would not onely abuse men, but euen the gods also, and sent soure thoufand men to beate downe the Temple of Apollo : but fo great a hayle and tempest fell from Heauen, that destroyed them cuery many For this cause, the good Emperour Marcus Aurelius, writing a Letter to the King of * Trinacria; reprodued him greatlys, because he had beaten downe a Sicily. moity of the remple, to enlarge his house. Thou thinkest (quoth he) that the stones and morter, wherewith the Temple was built, to be of small value : it is very true ; but the Gods to whom they are dedicated; are most mightie. I wish therefore, if thou would have peace wish the Romaines, I having frandallzed Rome, and priened the Senate) that thou Shouldest take as much of thy house to enlarge the Temple, us thou halt taken from it, and build it a great deale higher, and wider then it was; and then thou shalt be happie, in taking nothing from the house of the Gods, but rather that they possesse part of thine.

The Athenians, who were alwayes conquered by the Lacedemonians, in many wars which they have had together : complayned to their God, because they had exceeded in their Sacrifices to him , farre beyond those of the Lacedemonians, But the Oracle of Jupiter made them answere

In what manner answer was giuen hefore the Temples erection.

The reason for building the Temple.

Laclant.Gram mat,in Achil. Stat.lib.Thebayd.

Lamblic.in lib. Egipt.Mist. cap.s.

One of the names gluen Cibele, mother of the Gods.

by Licurgus

Reg.19,14.

Chap. 19.

Peacthes a

The Oracle of Jupiter an fwering the Athenians.

I Peter 5.3.

the Lacedemonians, are more agreeable to the Gods, then all the exteriour pompe of the Athenians. In which respect, we holde it as a Catholique maxime, That God giueth care to the prayers of the humble, and reproueth those of the presumptuous. Deus enim superbu resistit, humilibus autem dat gratiam. For God relifteth the prowde, and giveth grace to the humble; fo fayth Saint Peter.

CHAP. XVII.

Tof divers and fundry opinions of the Philosophers, concerning the feate of the Soule in the body of Man; And a contrarie coniecture of the Platonists.

Variety of conie 5 ures dinerfly deli

Philo Indaic. in

lib.Alleger : leg.

Opinion of Christians

Aug in lib.ver

vil.cap.33.

Lato and Democritus lay, That the feate of the Soule is in the head. Straton the Philosopher limitteth it; Betweene the eyebrowes. Erastratus within the skinne or filme of the Braine. Heraclitus placeth it, in the outward agitation. Moschion gives it place, throughout all she hodie . Xenocrates , in the crowne of the head. Parmenides, Epicurus, the Stoicket and Aeexptians, lodge it wholly in the heart: as the like doth Orpheus. Xerxes, King of Perfia, thought it to be in the eares. Empedocles, in the heape or pile of the bloud . Philo the Iew, in his Booke of Allegories of the Lawe, faith thus. The reasonable facultie or part of the soule, is in the head; the irrascible, in the heart, and the concupifcible, in the groine, or lower part of the belly.

Butwe Christians, hold it to be in the beart, whence proceedeth good and euill cogitations. Saint Augustine in his booke concerning the knowledge of true Life, Writeth thus; The Soule is difperfed thoroughout all the body, and keepeth wholly in every part thereof . Very true it is (layth he alfa) that it yeeldeth far greater effects and actions, in some one place, then other : either by the will, which in that place fendeth out. his strength; or elfe by those instruments, proper and commodious for action.

The Platonifts fay , That the Soule defcendeth by Cancer, and mounteth agayne by Capricorne, and I thinke, that from hence they ground this coniecture Because Cancer is the house of the Moone, the vortue

thus. The humble and fincere Sacrifices of | whereof gouerneth ouer the vegetable parts, it viuisieth the body; And Capricorne is the house of Saturne, which prefideth for contemplation, whereto the Soule being freed from the body it may walke at libertie.

CHAP. XVIII.

 How men ought to shunne and auoyde Cu-riositie; And what penalties and punishments were appoynted by our Auncients, for curious people.

HE Athenians had a Lawe, which was well observed among them which was well observed a- The Athenia mong them , whereby eue-ry man was forbidden (of what degree or qualitie foe-uer he were) that hee should not dare, to enquire of any stranger, newly arrived in their Cittie : from whence he came, what hee was, nor what he fought for; under penaltie for him that demaunded such questions, to be well whipt with roddes, and banished his Countrey. The end, for which our grave Auncients made fuch Lawes, was, to keepe men from the vice of curiofitie; which is alwayes ouer-ready, to prie into other mens affaires, and be regardlesse of their owne.

Plutarch, Aulus Gellius and Pliny doe thinke, that they can never fufficiently The great commend Marcus Portius the Romaine, wifedomes because no man did euer heare him, to enquire what newes were at Rome; nor maine. how the people liued in their houses. His talke alwayes was, of fuch things as hee knew was profitable for the Commonwealth, or elfe fitted fuch demaunds as required necessary answere, Plato, writing of Diony sus the Syracufan, speaketh thus : Plate in libb The curious man, that would know the life | Legis, 3,49,6 and actions of another man; is more friend to his enemies shen to himfelfe . For hee will quickely bestirre his tongue, in talking of his enemy, and what harme hee knoweth by him; but never cares what foule offences himfelfe hath committed.

A King of Sparta requested Pindarus to The answer tell him, what was the most difficult thing the Poet Pie for a man to doe } Whereunto Pindarus thus replyed; Nothing is more easie for a man, then to reprodue an other; nor more dif-

A good ad-

of Plato to Dyonifius the Tyrant.

ring with the Poet Philip

Penethes, who among the Thebanes was a Philosopher much renowned, could neuer be numbred among the curious, nor condemned with the malicious. He hauing liued as a Philosopher, for the space of thirtie yeares in the Academies of Thebes; being blamed by some, because hee did not reprehend the finnes which hee fawe committed, answered: When I know that I have no sinne in my selfe, then will I beginne to reprooue sinne in other. Plate departing from Sicilie, for his returne to Greece, and taking his leaue of Dionyfius, the King spake thus vnto him.

After thou commess among the Philosophers of Greece : O how ill wilt thou speak of me, and of my tyranny ? Plate an fwered; Doubt not (Diony fins) what I shall speake of thee in the hearing of Philosophers: for their manners are fo vertuous, and themselves so imployed in their studies; that they have no time to heare idle talke. Moreouer he fayd; Know, O Diony fius, if thou beeft ignorant, that fuch is the height of our Philosophie, as to perfwade and councell men. Then every one should judge himselfe, and not to busie his brains, to defame or reproue the lines of other.

Philippides, who was the first innenter of Comedies, being a great friend to king Lysimachus; the King conversing with him vpon a day, fayd; What dost thou defire of me (O Philippides) and I will freely graunt it thee, whatfocuer thou requireft? The greatest grace (quoth Philippides, that thou canst give me, is, never to acquaint mee with any of thy secrets. O wise and worthy answere! read by many, and vnderstoode of few : For if this Philosopher would not know the secrets of a King, much lesse would hee ynderstand them of his neighbours.

CHAP. XIX.

¶ Of the three Conquests of England, by the Saxons, Danes and Normans; occasioned by the finnes, either of the Princes, or of tht People, or of both.

F wee confider the three diverse Conquests of England, fince it receyued the ficult, then to endure reprehension in him- Christian faith, and the state thereof at the same time, together with the judgement and testimony of the grauest Authors that have written thereof; we shall eafily fee, that the same have proceeded of no other cause, but by the sinnes of the Princes, or of the People, or of both. For, although the infirmitic of man is fuch, as the three co. there never wanteth matter for Gods Iu- quests of Engflice to punish in Common-wealths (by Saxons, reason whereof, we see, that in all Coun-Danes and tries, the people are scourged more or leffe from time to time, not onely particularly enery one in his owne person, with misaduentures, sickenesse, losse of goods, death of children, and fuch like, but also generally, with plagues, famine, inundations and warres) yet the subuersion of Common-wealths neuer chaunceth, but for some great excesse of sinne, eyther in the Prince, or in the People, or in both: Great excelle And commonly, after many warnings & of fine in Prince, people and fweete corrections. Such being the longanimitie and patience of Almighty God, that he layeth the Axe at the foote of the tree, long before he cutteth it downe, and trieth all means to cure the foares of his feruants, by lenetiues and fomentations, rather then by cauterifings and incifions, or by cutting off the infected meber, which hee neuer doth, but when there is no other remedy.

This course (we see) hee helde with his owne people, for, though hee often chastifed them with famine, pestilence, inuaquilitie, plentie and peace, vntill they held with the fions of enemies, and civile wars: yet (after a while) he cuer restored them to tranprooued so incorrigible, that the Prophet Ieremi in the second chapter, and the thirtieth verse, lamented, in the person of God, that all his Fatherly corrections were lost vppon rhem, saying : Frustra percusti silios vestros : I haue beaten and chastised your children in vaine. And againe, the aforesayd Prophet in the fifth chapter and in the third verse, faith to Almightie God; Percusisti eos, &c. Thou haft beaten them (O Lord) and they haue not beene forie; thou hast confumed them, and they have refused to teceiue correction. As who would Gy, there is no other remedy left, but reprobation, subuersion, and veter extirpation of them. And therefore Almightie God

The causes of

towards his owne people, like to the

The opinion of the Platonifts concerning the figns Capricorne.

gaue them ouer into the hands of their enemies; first, the tenne Tribes in Samaria, as in the fourth booke of the Kings the feuenteenth chapter and eighteene verfe, which were all taken with their King Hofea, and translated into Syria. And afterwardalfo, the other two Tribes in Inda, were carried into captiuitie by Nabuchadonofor king of Babylon, where they remayned three score and ten yeares. And though they were afterwards restored to their Countrey, and their Temple reedified; yet at length they were (for their extreame ingratitude, and peruerfe obstinacie) vtterly ruinated.

The like proceeding Almighty God v-

fed with England, in the time of the Brit-taines, after they receyued the Christian Faith; for he chastised them, sometimes with dearth and famine, fometimes with pestilence, and other-whiles with incur-

frons of their enemies, and with civill

warres amongest themselues : so long as the same sufficed to reduce them vnto repentance, and amendment of their fin-

full lines, as fometimes it did; which their famous Countrey-man Beda, and

auncient Guildas called, the Sage, doe

testifie : Declaring, that the Brittaines,

being partly driven by famine, and partly by inuation of Scottes, and Pictes, cy-

ther to abandon the Country, or to hide

themselves in the Mountaines, Woods,

and Caues; craued helpe and fuccour of the Romaines, writing vnto them that lamentable Epistle, whereof Guildas ma-

keth mention; in the which they fayd:

Our barbarous enemies doe driue vs to the Sea, and the Sea doth drive vs backe

to them agayne: fo that of two kindes of death we have our choice; that is to fay,

Whether we will have our throates cut,

or elfe be drowned. Thus wrote they to reason of their great warres at the same time with Attila, they beganne to haue recourse to the mercie of God, and to relie wholly vppon his helpe (as the forefayd Authors have reported) and fo (with his affiltance) affayled their enemies out of the Caues and Woods where they lay hidden, and not onely gaue vnto them

great ouerthrowes, but also droue them out of the Countrey; and shortly after

had such plenty of corne, fruite, and all

But being not succoured by them, by

the Romaines.

The patience which God vied towards the Britaines before their Conquest.

The miferable state of the Britains inuaded by the Picts and Guildas de ex cidio Britan.

The Britains destitute of humane help had recourfe to the diune and obtaine

Beda Ecclef. Hift lib,1,c. 11 Giildas de ex cid. Britan.

kinde of victualles, that the like had neuer beene feene, nor heard of before in many ages. Whereuppon followed the effect, which Mofes noted and lamented in the children of Ifrael , Deuteronomie the one and thirtie chapter and the three and twentieth verse : Incrassatus est dilectus Deut.31,13. (fayeth hee) & recalcitrauit : The beloued people of God was made fatte, and then they beganne to kicke: that is to fay, (as hee expoundeth it even presently after) Incrassatus, impinguatus, dilatatus dereliquit Deum factorem fuum. Being become faire and fatte, they for looke their became into God and Creator; fo fell it out with the lent and vo.

For, they prooued fo vngratefull for Gods great mercy towards them, that (as the aforesaid Authors doe affirme) they fell into the extreamitie of all mischiefe Beda Eulif. and wickednesse. Non folum seculares vi- Hill librate ri, &c. Not onely Secular men, but also the Ecclefiasticall; giving themselves wholly it drunkennesse, to animositie and contention, enuy, cruelty, hatred of trueth, loue of lies, and all vice. Wherevpon our Lord fcourged them with fuch a pestilent mortalitie, that (within but a Idem Isid while) there were not men enow aliue(as these Authors testifie) to burie the dead.

And when that sufficed not to renoke them from their vicious lives; Non multo New insufpost (faith Beda) acrior gentem peccatricem white diri seeleris secutaest. Shortly after, the Pitchen a sharper punishment of such detestable wickednesse sollowed vpon that sinnefull people. For the Pictes and Scots beganne againe to make fuch irruptions vppon them, that (not being able to with stand them) they were forced to call in the Saxons to affift them. Quod Domininutu (faith Beda) dispositum esse constat, &c. Which it is manifest was done by Gods disposititheir defents which (by on, to the end that their wickednes might receive due punishment. For, within a Gods infice, while, the Saxons did confederate themfelues with their enemies, and picking their ouerquarrells against them, destroyed all the end Countrey with fire and fword, burning Idem, cap. 14 vp houses, villages, and townes, and killing all fortes of people: infomuch, that many fledde into forraine Countries, and others hid themselves amongst the hilles, mountaines and wooddes, vntill acknowledging the instindgement of Almightie God vpon them, they called to him for mercie. Vnanimo confensu auxili- nerall corruption and wickednesse of the um cæleste precante; Crauing helpe from Heauen with vniforme confent, wherethem Ambrosius Aurelianus for their captaine, and diverse notable victories, by his meanes. And especially at Blackamore in Yorkeshire (for so was called Mons Badonicus, as faith Polydore Virgil in his flaughter of them : as that (for fome certayne yeares) they did not further molest

For, beeing (as Guildas in his booke De Excid. Britann. reporteth) mindefull a few, and those very few. For the kings the Altar with a pure heart. Ignorant, mies, and all kindes of iniquitie.

le vices of te Cleargië nd Laytie in

And now to shew some particularities of this, and how justly the vengeance of Almightie GOD was powred out vppon the whole Kingdome: The fame Authour, in the place before cited, toucheth briefly the lines of fome of the Kings and Princes, which lived in his time: as of Constantius, Aurelius, Conanus, Vortiporius, Cuneglasus and Maglocunus, tax. ing them with tyrannie, periurie, facrilegious murthers, and parricides (committed euen before holy Altars) adulteries, horrible incests, breach of vowes, of religion and chastitie; yea, and two of them with beaftly Sodomie.

For the which enormities, and the ge-whole Kingdome, hee threatneth, or rather prophesieth vnto them, vtter ruine and destruction; which (shortly after) worthily fell vppon them, as the Brittifb Chronicles by Geoffrey of Monmouth in the twelfth booke of his Historie and the fifteenth chapter, also acknowledgeth: For hee fayth, That King Cadwallader (who was the last of the Brittaines race) vied thefe wordes, as hee fledde by Sea King Cadwalinto Fraunce, with the reliques of the Bretaine nation; Va nobis peccatoribus ob immamia scelera nostra, &c. Woe beeto vs fin Gods inflice ners, for our grieuous fins, wherewith we voon himfelfe neuer ceased to offend God, while we had for their fins, time of repentance; and therfore now the punishment of God falles vpon vs. which roots vs out of our native foile. Thus faid realme at fundry times, for the space of almost 200 yeares. But the good king Alu-

red, or Alfred, Founder of the famous Va

niversity of Oxenford, recovered all for-land : except fuch as were content to be-

parts, stirring afterward against his sonne, Angli

called Edward, were by him veterly oner

throwne; as also the other in Northumberland, in like manner, and vpon the like occasion, were subdewed by his Grand-childe Alelstane, who made England a

Monarchie, which fo remained and flourished without further infestation of the

as Ingulphus tearmeth him, Honor & Rofa

Regum: The Honour and Rose of Kings.

all Ecclefiasticall Orders flourished, learned and vertuous men were highly effec-

med, all civill and forraine warres ceased,

and he was called the King of Albion, be-

Of whom it is written, that in his time,

K.Cadwallader, and more to that purpose. Afterward hapned the invasion of the The conquest

Danes, who first by piracies, & after by o- of the English pen wars, cruelly infested & troubled the merly loft, & droue the Danes out of Eng- expelld al the would not be come Christians, to whom he game the come Christians kingdomes of Northumberland, and of the ans. East-Angles, who, during his time, neuer mooued warre. And they of the Easterne ingulph.hist. Poli Virg.hift.

Danes, during the reigne of four kings, the The mercie of fucceffors of Adelstane; to wit, his two bre- God to the thren, Edmond and Eldred (who succeeded the good king one another) and the two fons of Edmond, Alured, to the called Edwin and Edgar, which Edgar was Guil, Malmel (for his excellent vertues, and prosperous reigne) called Honor or delacie Anglorum, Agelorum with Gods mercie was mooued to give third booke) where they made fuch great of their former calamities, and of afflictions laid on them for their finnes: all forts of men spirituall and temporall, as well the Princes as their subjects, did eneric one their duetie in his vocation. At illis (faith Guildas) decedentibus, &c. But they being dead, and another Age succeding, ignorant of the miferies past, and corrupted with present ease and pleasure; All trueth and inflice was fo subverted : that there appeared not fo much as anie fight thereof, in all the aforefaid states of men: Except is pancis, or valde pancis, Excepting (faith he) were Tyrants, the Iudges most wicked and corrupt; the Priests negligent of their duetie. Rard facrificantes, on nunquampuro corde inter altaria stantes; Seldome facrificing, and neuer comming to impudent, fimoniacall, lascinious; and all fortes of Lay men loaden with wickedneffe, with murder, parricides, pride, adulteries, swearing, periuries, blasphe-

The honour and delight of England : or,

Mmm

land by Swc-

no,recouere England a-

gune,& vied hisformer

crucky and

Idem Ibid.

no King of

The Danes

returned a-

gaine into

England, an conquered i

Polyd.Plrg. Hist.Anglic. lib 6.

What the offence was of

King Edgar, and Alfreda bis wife.

3 Reg 12,10

Anglib.7.

7 Book

ing no lesse powerfull by Sea, then by well, that the like sinne of King Edgar, was Land. No yeare of his reigne passed, wherein hee built not a Monasterie, or else did some great and notable good to his Countrey: And fuch were his vertues, and great fame for felicity, that there came principall men from out of all the Countries adjoyning, to see, and be acquainted with him.

Now, whereas the Danes returned againe into England, Thortly after Edgar, in the reigne of his sonne Etheldred; and not onely molested it with incursions (as they were wont) but also conquered and possessed it for a time : it may well be prefumed that they were but the instruments of Gods inflice therein; and that this conquest made by the Danes, proceeded of the finnes, partly of the famous King Edgar (though hee were dead before) and partly of his wife Alfreda; and lastly, of their sonne Etheldred, in whose time the Countrey was conquered. For, although King Edgar excelled in all pietie and vertue in his latter dayes; vet he did an acte in his youth, whereof it may be thought, that his children and posteritie payed the

This I fay, for that after the death of Elfreda his wife (by whom hee had King Edward the Martyr) hee fell in loue with Alfreda, wife to a Noble man called Ethelwoolfe, whom (with her confent) he caufed to be killed, to the end he might marrie her. How grieuous this sinne was in the fight of Almightie GOD, and how iustly punished in his posteritie, wee may well judge by the like offence of King Dauid, who, to the end he might marry Bath-Beba, procured the death of Vrias her hufband, for the which, the Prophet Nathan, in the second booke of the Kings, chapter twelve, veife ten, told him from Almightie God: that the sword should neuer depart from his house; and that his sonne in the Cradle, should die therefore. Befide, Almightie God permitted (for punishment of that sinne) that all his other children (except Salomon) died most vnfortunately. For Amnon, having defloured his fifter Thamar, was killed by his brother A folon; and Adonias by Salomon; and laftly, Absolon rebelling and fighting against his owne father King Dauid, was miserably slaine, hanging on a tree by the

also seuerely punished in his children.

To this purpose, it is to be noted, that his marriage prooued most vnfortunate, not only to the fruit that proceeded therof, and the whole Realme (as shall be declared hereafter) but also to king Edward, his fonne by his former wife, who shortly after was killed, by the meanes of Atfreda his stepmother, for the advauncement of her sonne Eltheldred. Wherein I cannot but note (by the way) the feueri- The feuering tie of Gods Iustice in punishing sinne, of Gods is feeing the fayd young Prince, being very ing finne. holyand innocent of life, could not escape the temporall punishment, due to his Fa-

But to proceede, such was the common opinion of the innocencie and holinesse of this young King Edward, and enormitie of the sinne committed by Alfredright in da, in the murder of him : that the conceit Anglibrary of most men at that time was (as William of Malmesburie witnesseth) that the Conquest of England by the Danes, was a punishment of God for the same; which wel may be so presumed, especially, if we adde thereunto the offence, not onely of his father(whereof I have already (poken)but also of his brother Etheldred, for whose cause hee was murthered; and in whose time that Conquest hapned. For it may be thought most consonant to the Iustice of Almightic God, that Etheldred (being the sonne of the wicked Alfreda, and fruit of the curfed marriage; yea, and withall, most wicked of himselfe) should beare the penaltie as well of his owne, as of both his parents finnes : As partly was fore-tolde Dallant for at his coronation, by Dunstane then Arch- told the con bishop of Canterbury, saying: That for his questo Ext Mothers sin in the murder of King Edward, popd. Vr. 8 both hee and his children should bee sewerely 7.Inguish punished, and his Kingdome transferred to Hill.day.

And if wee doe confider the manner of his life, and the nature and qualitie of his offences; we shall find them to be the very fame, which the Scriptures affirme to Ecclesion. bee the cause of the translation of King- The offence doms from one nation to another; whereof Ecclesia friend Saich . Research of Ecclesiaticus saith: Regnum de gentein gentem transfertur, &c. Kingdomes are conquerd transferred from one nation to another, England. because of iniustice, iniuries, calumniatihaire of the head. And therefore no mar- ons and divers deceits. In which kinde of finnes King Etheldred greatly exceeded; for he had his eares fo open, and shewed fuch fauour to all kind of accusers and calumniators: that (as Polydore Virgill faith) No mans life was in securitie. Besides, on euery light occasion, spoyld & banished the richest and wealthiest of his subjects, beeing also addicted to all kinde of riot and diffolution. And therefore William Culiel. Malfm. of Malmesburie writeth of him briefely thus : Eius vita cursus sauns in principio, miser in medio, turpis in exitu: The course of his life was cruell in the beginning, miferable in the middeft, and shamefull in the end.

Furthermore, he was fo cowardly and base minded, that hee was no lesse contemptible to strangers abroad, then hateful to his owne fubiccts at home. Where-King Ethel-dred expelled upon, the Danes tooke courage to enter England againe, who made him graunt them a yearely tribute, wherewith they were content for a time; and after turning thither agayne, forced him to flie into Normandie, and to leave his kingdome to Sweno their King, who exercised all kind of cruelty vpon the English, and enioyed the Kingdome as long as he lived. Which was not past fine yeares. After whose King Ethel- was not patt true yeares. After whole death, Etheldred recoursed it againe, and possessed it two yeares, whilest Canutus fonne to Sweno was held busied at home. with a rebellion of the people of Nor-

In which meane while, Etheldred returned like the dogge to his olde vomite of cruelty and iniuffice, especially against the Danes (who had beene for fome yeares planted and marrowed in England) caufing many of them to be killed with cruell torments. And amongst others, Sigifredus and Morgandus, two of the noblest of them) were falfly accused of fained crimes. and put to death for the fame. Befides. Prince Edmund sonne to Etheldred, rauished the wife of Sigiffed, being a woman no leffe admirable for her beautie, then commendable for her chastitie. All which when Canutus vnderstood, being mooned with defire, as well to reuenge these iniuries done to his Countreymen, as also to recouer the Kingdome of England, conquered by his father : hee passed ouer thither with an Armie, and put all to fire and fword; whereupon Etheldred dyed with

And although his forme, fornamed Ironfide (after disers conflicts, and a com- Edmond bate fought hand to hand with Canutus) possessed the one half of England by com- dred. polition : yet within a yeare, Canutus enloyed the whole by the todaine death of Edmond, flaine vpon a priny as he was eafing himfelfe; and so he remayned absolute King thereof as long as hee did line. which was about some twentie yeares af-

The three Conquests of England.

Herein neuerthelesse it is to be noted, how the mercie of Almightie God concurred with his Inflice, and moderated the rigour thereof; for that (of his infinite turning then bounty) he determined by this conquest, as it feemed, rather to chaftife, correct and redresse England, then to ruine and oppresse it. And therfore, after he had somewhat facisfied the feueritie of his justice. not onely vpon the Realine, by the fine veares cruell reigne of Sweno (who ranfacked and spoyled all forts of men, aswell Ecclesiasticall as Temporall) but also vpon the persons of Etheldred, and his sonne Edmund : hee gaue them Canutus, sonne to Sweno, for their King, who, although he was a stranger, yet gouerned with all clemencie and good example of life, doing continually actes of pietie, making good Lawes and wholesome, easing the people of taxes and impositions, and deferuing well of all estates, by the meanes whereof England flourished (in his time) in peace and much plentie. Of whom I can not forbeare (this occasion beeing offered) to expresse and declare heere (by the way) a notable acte, which I with all Princes would well weigh and consider, in the height of their prosperity and greatest fortune.

It chanced once, as he was walking at Southhampton, by the Sea fide, some of his noble men flattered him, and extolled (a long angl. Hift. 7 in fine. him the most mightie and potent King of all Kings, commaunding absolutely over men, land & sea. Whereupon to correct their flatterie, and to shew mans infirmitie, he went to the very Sea fide, and fitting downe, faid to the waves (as the tide was comingin,) I command yee, that you touch not my feete. And beeing presently after well washed with a wane that came in vppon him; hee arose; and turning himselfe to his noblemen, said vnto theme Mmm 2

Canutus king

The mercy of God rowards conquetts to their comfort

piety of king

2 Reg 13,29

3 Reg. 2,25. 2 Reg. 18,9.

An admonici-

on to Princes

& Magiftrate

Henricus Hun tind Hift, Angl 4 .6.

Guliel.Milfm.

de geft Reg lib

Polyd. rirg. 1 8

Ingulphus Hift. Hen Huntind.

Roger Haved.

Annul par. 1.

Guliel Malme

Hist. Angl. Lib.

2 CAP-12

Lord of Land and Sea; though I cannot commaund one of these little waves : Therefore know yee, that the King of Kings, and hee that commaundeth Land and Sea, is the Father of our Lord Isfus Christ, by whose will and providence all things were governed. And having thus faide, hee returned to Winchester, and tooke the Crowne which he yfed to weare voon his head, and put it (with his owne hands) vpon an Image of CHRIST crucified, which was in the Church of Saint Peter and Saint Paule. and would neuer after weare any crowne so long as he liued.

Though this may feeme a digression from my matter, yet I thought good to recount it heere, as well for the raritie of the example; as also that it may appeare, how mercifully God dealt with the people of England, to give them fuch a King, by whose pictic their Conquest turned to comfort. And this his mercie appeared much more afterward, when it pleased his divine Maiestie so sweetly to dispose, that after the death of Canuttes, and his two fonnes Haraldus and Hardicanutus, or (as Polydore calles him) Cunuaus, which two reigned but fixe yeares: the Crowne returned agayne to English blood; yea, and to fo excellent a Prince, as was King Edward the Confessour, who reigned in all tranquility, peace and felicitie aboue three and twenty yeares.

Now, although learning, religion, and vertue had flourished many yeres among the English, yet a little before the comming of the Normans, the same was vtterly destroyed and decayed. For (fayth William of Malmesbury, who lived in the same age) the Priest's were fo unlearned, that they could scant pronounce truely, the very words of the Sacraments and divine fervice. And fuch was the ignorance generally of all men, that a Grammarian was helde for a wonder; Religious men were wholly giuen to delicacie and kept no rules of Religion; the Noblemen and Gentlemen gave themselves to gluttony and lasciuionfnesse: there was no respect of Religion nor care of Iustice : infomuch that the common people serued for no other then as a prey to the Nobility, who spoyled and ranfacked them at their pleafure. It was a common custome when men had got their maid-fernants with childe, ey-

Loemy Lords, you call me King of Kings, and ther to fend them to the Stewes, or to fell them for Slaues. Drunkennesse, and all the vices which commonly doe accompany the same, or follow thereon, were generally throughout the whole Realme; This reporteth william of Malmesburie in

Also holy King Edward himselfe, declaring a Vition which happened to him, Edward. fayd, That the Magistrates, as well first wall King Edward as temporall, were no better then ministers words atha death, conof the dinell; that God was every where dif- cerning the honoured , lawes contemned, truth trodden finnes of the under foote, pitty and mercy banished, crueltie helde for a pastime and entertainement, follow in re-And therefore (layd he) the wickednesse of nishment thereof. the English is now complexee and growne to the height, and the revenee and punishment thereof is Shortly to follow.

This was proued true by the euent, which in a yeare after, when William Duke of Normandie, called the Conquerour, came Pula ringill into England, whom God made the instrument and minister of his Iustice, to them. chastife them . For, beeing admitted and crowned King (presently after the bloody battell, wherein king Haralde and twentie thousand men were slaine) hee beganne to tyrannize vpon all estates: hee spoyled The tyring the Nobilitie of their lands, goods, digni- of William ties and offices, to give the same to the goryoons Normans. He oppressed the people with estates. infinite and intollerable taxes and impofitions, he depriued Citties, Bishoppricks and Monasteries of their immunities and privileges forcing them to redeeme them of him againe for great fummes of mony. Hee tooke from Churches and Religious houses, not onely such mony as they had in store, but also the holy vessells, dedicated to Gods service. He abolished the olde Lawes, and ordened new, caufing abolifiction them to be written in the Norman tongue, new ordinal which the Early of the Control of the which the English vnderstood not: wher- in the Nor vpon there grew great confusion in the exercise thereof in all sortes of Actions and Pleas, as well criminall as civile, and many men wrongfully loft their lands, and goodes, and many their lives, and a gate was (at that time) opened to all in-

Furthermore, he was not content onlie to spoyle the English of their wealth, but also deprined them of their pleasures, taking from very many Noble men and Gentlemen The English depoyled of dest wealth and pleasure

crucky of

Chap.20.

Gentlemen, their Parkes and Chafes for his owne vse; but also overthrowing houfes, Churches, Villages and whole Pari-thes, to make Forreits. Infomuch, that (as Rolydore Virgilbreporteth) to make the Chase, which now is called New Forrest.

hee dispeopled and made desert all the

Countrey betwixt Salisbury and the Sea fide, for thirtie miles space. And when divers of his Nobilitie (by reason of his tyrannie) rebelled against him; he tooke

occasion thereuppon, to vse all kinde of seucritie and crueltie not only your their persons, when they fell into his hands but

allo voon whole Countries and Prouin-

ces, which hee fo spoyled and ranfacked,

that they lay walte for some yeares after.

Finally, his governement, during the time of his reigne, feemed to ayme at nothing

elfe, but to extirpate and extinguish the

in England in his time, partly by rebellion

of his Subjects, and partly by inualion of

Strangers; wee shall finde, that England

had not one yeare, no, not one day of

eafe and repose, during the one and twen-

tie yeares of his reigne. Which calami-tic also continued, or rather encreased for thirteene yeres after his death, by the fue-cession of his sonne William Rufut, who farre exceeded his father in cruckie, aua-

rice, oppression of his Subjects, and contempt of God and man; by reason where-

of, hee was so hat dof the people, that when his death was knowne (which was to fodaine, and exemplary, for he was killed by chaunce with an Arrow, as he was hunting) the people were so transported with ioy, that they went enery where to the Churches, to give God thanks therefore, as for the happiest newes that ener

came to England, in hope, that the last day of his life, would be the first of their libertie. If therefore we confider all this.

we shall enidently fee , how true the prophecy of holy king Edward proued, when he said; That England should be given (for a time) into the hands of enill and wicked Bi-

Whereto if we adde the frequent wars

race and name of the English.

The cuelty and austice of King Willian Rufus, Payd vir. 1 10

The English had not one day of ease, during the thereof.

rits, for the fins of the Nobilitie, Cleargie and Heere then I conclude, that whereas the first Conquest seemes to have proceeded, of the fins as well of the People, as of the Princes; and the second, of the offences, rather of the Princes, then of the Peond the cau-

ple; the last was (as good King Edward teftified) in punishment of the peoples fins, rather then of the Princes. Whereby:we may fee the fimpathy in the body politike,no leffe then in the naturall body betwixt the head and the members in the participation for finne, or reward for vertue. Which may ferue for a morine to all Princes and Magistrates, to have especiall care, to anoyde the offence of God, not onely by their owne lines, but also by puniffling and reforming their Subjects left enegligence in cyther may draw GODS wrath vpon both, to the destruction of the whole Common-wealthwayair maker

The three Conquests of England.

TRO COST ALSA FRANCE TO A STORY CHAP. XX.

I foll is emelyoffall for.

The Battell of Gaza, fought betweene Synan-balha, Generall for Selym the great Turke; And Gazelles, Lieutenant of Tomumbeyo, athe Soldane, or Sultane of Egypt. 1516.

Selymintending to intuade Egypt, sent before (from Damafen) his Generall Synanba-

Tha into Indea, with fifteene thousand horse, and a very strong power of Harquebusiers, selected our of the Ianizaries and Afappes, only to furuey that Region, and to open a passage way to Ga. za; which indeed was very moleftuous & troublesome, in regard of the potent'. rabes. The dity is feated on the fea-coast, on of the Cit. and in the confines of Egypt, neighboring ty of Gaza. vpon the hote fandy deferts; a very hard and painefull paffage, for fuch as journey to the remotest Egypt, and to the Citty of Cayro. The people of Gaza, being deftitute of warlike garrisons of souldiers, to stead them in extremitie of armes, entertained Synanbalha at the very first view, although in craftie and diffembling maner, Synanbalha giuing him many thankefull gratulations, deceitfully welcommed for vouchfafing to free them from the by the Citti-Mamalukes intollerable flauerie; in requi- zens of Gaza tall of which benefite, they promifed to continue loyall and feruiceable to Selym and his fucceffors for ever.

Now, while Synanbalbalay encamped. within an Arrow reach from the Citty in expectation of Selyms comming, and practifing his best meanes of understanding the course of the Region and Countrey, that should allow them passage into Mmm a

Colletted our of Paulus Io-

The scituati-

of the Clergy Nobility-and people of Englandat the time of the conquest thereof by the Normans

The enormous finnes

Synanballia

released his

army, beeing

Intelligence fent by the men of Gaza to the new. Sultane Tomumbeyo.

Syrian Spycs fend aduertif

ment to Sy-

nanbafha,an

what he pre-

fently did to

preuent all danger.

Ægypt; endemouring belide, to compalle friendship with the Arabian Commaunders, and subborning certaine Spies, that went to Cayro, to vndermine the counsels of the Mamalukes and Tomumbeyo, whome (vpon Campfons death) they hadde made choise of to be their Sultane : the inhabitants of Gaza (beeing naturally extreame enemies of the present Turkish Armie) gane Tomumbero intelligence of Synanba-These comming , addertifing him withall, that this power of Turkes might eafily be oppressed and destroyed, before Selim could arrive with his supplies : onely by fending a strong power of Mamalukes, vnder conduct of some skilfull Leaders, to venture vpon them at an expeditious aduantage, projected in this maner. A time (in the dead of night) beeing concluded on, betweene themselues and the Cittizens, the Mamalukes should make a fodaine inualion on the fleeping Turks, and they likewise (at the same instant) would yffue forth of the City, and idyning with them, make vnauoidable fpoile & hauock of the enemies Campe.

This aduife is allowed and embraced, betweene Tomumbeyo and the Mamalukes; and Gazelles fent with fix thousand horse or Mamalukes, and a strong Armie of the Arabes. Scarfely was hee departed from Cayro, but (by certaine Syrian Spyes) Synanbasba had advertisement thereof, and that (not staying for any carriages) they would be there within two dayes. Now, as these newes preserved the Turkish Army, fo was it of no meane moment, for compassing the intirevictory of the whol warres. And although Synanbasha had no intelligence at all of the Gazans falshood, yet (being a man of great wisedome and prouidence) suspecting what Treacheries might circumuent him, and fearing least hee might meddle with two enemies at once : refolued to meet the Mamalukes by the way, and fo try the fortune of fight. So, dislodging after the second watch, he filently marched away out of the Citties fight, reaching fifteene miles on the way towards Cayro; arriving; neere to a small village, which had the benefit of a plentifull Spring there arising, and therefore was the reason of Trauellers vsual lodging

It fortuned, that Synanbasha purposed to stay in that Village, and Gazelles had the Turkes. The fight was very cruel, and the like intention of breathing there fome few houres, to refresh both his men and horses, that he might the sooner galloppe to Gaza in the night time: when, even at one instant (as it were) both the Generals the lamping at one in received intelligence (on either fide) by their vant-currers, that a mighty dust was raised, and the enemy neere approached. Gazelles became much perplexed in mind at this strange and vislookt for accident: perceiving apparantly, that fayling of his purposed intent, heewas also mable to match the enemy, if he should encounter with him, because his horses were halfe spent and weary. Yet had he no diffray in courage, although he was compelled (vpon fuch a fodaine) to denife what instantly might be done, for generall fafety of the Army. Whereupon, he aduised eueric Therefold man to make ready his Weapon; and to of Gazelija confider, that what could not be performed by flealth and ambush, according to a precedent intention, required now couragious resolution, and must be dispatcht

On the other fide, Synanbasha having his men fooner fet in order, then Gazelles could doe, having formerly advertised them, what was to be done on the fightes encounters cheared all the ranks with honourable speeches. And the iffue of his his encour Oration, was, That flight must veterly bee forgot, because all places round about the would be thut vp, and injurious to them, except they were victors. Moreover, of one thing to perswade themselves especially, that no man should perish that day, but he whom heaven had destinated vnto death, by the most certaine lawes of Fate; and that with equall perill, the Valiant should finde safety in middest of the encmies fwords, and also the fearfull, death in their very fafest flight, through the power of ineuitable lot.

The Harquebusiers were in the wings, wwwere extended foorth in length with a fingle array, and no man standing nere to another, for handling their Harquebuffes ficulty of the more freely, and to compaffe the encmy but the Pikes were placed in the very midft, to sustaine the impression of the Mamalukes. But Gazelles approching, fent the Arabian troopes before, to disturbe the Wings; and he himself (with a square battaile) charged the middle regiment of greatly boaft fhis Victory

long time doubtfull, because the Turkes (though superiour in number) were not able to endure the power of the Armed horse. And now being beaten from their ground; and dispersed, some one way, and fome another, by the Mamalukes that brake in vpon them, they looked rounde about for flight, fixing their eies and harts stedfastly for it. When sodainly, by Synanbasbaes commaund, the Harquebusiers, who (with their first storme of shotte)had driven backe the Arabes: reducing in their wings, enclosed all the whole battaile of the enemy.

Now, both meh and horse, were (a far off)beaten down with deadly bullets ftor-

ming vpon them in fuch multitudes, as no place (to expresse valour) was left to the enclosed. For when any troope of Mamalukes ranne in violently vpon the Turkes;

they, by reason of their nimble lightnesse

(being accustomed to give ground) did fwiftly flye backe : and in all places this was their endeuour, not to encounter the

with their horses, but onely to play vpon

them with their Harquebuffes. When Gazelles faw, that his horffes were tyred

with extreme wearineffe, and that manie

of his stoutest men, were now either flain

or hurt, and hehimfelf greenoully wounded in the necke; he; with the reft, making

themselues way with their weapons, fled vnto Cayro, through those defarts that he

There perished in this battel the Cap-

came, lofing all his Enfignes, lands

Victory incli neth vato th Turkes, For-> taine of Alexandria, and Orcomas the go uernour of Cayro, men of great account; & befides them, a great number of Arabes, and almost a thousand horsmen of marke. Nordld Synanbasha win a joyfull and vn-bloody victory, for nee lost about two thousand horse; and (among them) some of his cheefest Captaines. But because the fight had continued from noone to Sunfet, the Turkes were not able to purfue their enemies, their horses beeing wellnere dead with thirst, and they themselves fainting through want of meate, and extreme labour : but encamped in the place where the battell was fought, neere to the Spring before remembred.

CHAP. XXI.

Of three seuerall Battails, fought in the years 1516. and 1517. betweene Selym the Great Turke, and Tomumbeyo, the great Sultan of Agipt.

Elymhauing received intelligence, that Symanbalha of Paulus Iohad furprized Gazal's overdrowne Gazelles, and had received a fresh supplie of men by Sea, from Constantinople, for his owne further feruice he marched with all his Army towardes Gaza, and (vvithin eight dayes more) recourred fo farre as *A City in E-*Cayro, reputed to be the Sultanes cheefe gypt, not faire feat, Synanda Ba still marching a daies iour- from the life

ney before him.

About the distance of fixe miles from the Citty, there was a fmal village, named Rhodania, whereto Tomumbeyo (the newe made Sultane) had conveyed all his prouision and furniture of great Ordnance, having made also ditches, crosse thwarting the plaine fieldes, and high wayes: which ditches were couered ouer with light earth, and finall stickes, artificially shadowing them. But himselfe, with his Mamalukes (who were about twelve thousand) and a great number of Arabian A cusning horsemen, fitted for the intent, kept in a ambuscado, place better befeeming: that when the prepared by Turkes Army should drawe neere, they to entraphis might be there entrapt and beaten downe enemy. by the vndiscouerable Ordnance, ere they could come to reach the Ægyptians with their Harquebusses; and then this stratagem having round engirt them, hee had the aduantage of immediate fight, they being veterly distoynted, and fall into the fnare prepared for them.

So cunningly and prouidently were thefe matters ordered, and perfected with fuch answerable opportunity, that not a of wars neuer man in the Army could imagine, or vrge any doubt of the dayes victory. And questionlesse, no meane difaster had mette be a flickler. with the Turkes: but that the giddie headed Goddesse Fortune, ouer-friendly to Selym, and cruelly vokinde to Tomumbeyo,

In stratagems

Chap. 21.

The Egyptias

Gunners for their great

Foure treche rous Mamalukes defeated Tomumbeyos hopefor

Preuention of perill is no meane helpe in accidents of Armes.

A diffeeffe that would trouble the braine of the bett foldier it the world.

as (had not the worthy paines of the Mamalukes, bin treacherously disappointed) onely through the meanes of a few perfidious Varlets, plainly had appeared.

As in all Armies there neuer wantes Villaines, fo in the Sultanes were foure Mamalukes, borne Albanoises, who fliffely stomacked, that Tomumbeyo (by suffrages of the contrary faction) was aduanced to the dignity royall. And they, either impelled by lewd disposition, or adducted by hope of rewarde, and more bountifull respect, foreseeing their owne side to fall on wracke, and wisedome aduising, to feeke for new and more affured Friends: fled to Synanbasha, as to their chiefest Turkish Captaine and Countriman. By these horsemen Synanhalba, and (soon after) Selym, vnderstood all the counsels & intents of the enemy, and what an Ambufcado Tomumbero had prepared for them, with fingular fubtilty and dexterious Art, vnauoidable from falling into, except they forfooke the high and direct way. Whereupon, beeing guided by thefe Fugitiues, they fetched a great compasse about on the left hand, and (before breake of day) recovered their old wonted way, having their battels ranged, their Ordnance ready mounted, to anoyde the least delay of fight, and so shewed themselves at the enemies rereward, and neuer coming neere the front of their Campe.

ctured by his enemies march, that (by his owne mens treason)his provided ambush was discoucred. And albeit his mind was afflicted with matchlesse greefe, to see so painfull an employment of his men, and fo full of expectation, to be in a moment vtterly defeated : yet notwithstanding, he being a man of vnconquerable courage, called all his fenses and valour to sodaine counfell, and fummoning his Captaines about him, gaue present order for those things which were to be done. And now was Tomumbeyo in fo narrow a straite and necessity, that all thinges, and at one inftant, must receiue order from him. Hee was to give the fignall to his Soldiers, for mounting on horse-backe, vsing theyr weapons, turning the course of his camp, ranging his battailes, encoraging his men, and conceying his Ordenance to contrary quarters, as the occasion required . Al

which things, as one Captaine could not

When Tomumbeyo faw this, he conie-

performe alone, but very hardly aud con- | The beff ca. fuledly, fo must they needs be effected as Generall or rawly, peruerfly, and to halfes, by manie Commander, indifereet vndertakers.

But that which most hindered speedie performance, was the hudling of men together, for removing the Ordnance from place to place, they being ill-fauored huge pieces, made of fron, and fette in great stockes of Wood, with Iron ringes, after the rude and nauall forme of Workmanthip, yied in elder times: and fo, by reafon of their excessive waight, could not be carried from their places, but by the draught of many beaftes; besides, great heaving with iron Crowes and Leavers, Many inconrequiring greeuous labour of men. And ueniences the other great Field-peeces, mounted on rough want carriages with wheeles, being drawne by different and the witlesse and hasty multitude, with orderly Mills great clamor of fuch as haled and should them through all parts of the Campethe tumultuous passage of them, disordered men mounted on their horses, and the Souldiers repairing to their enfignes: yet two maine helps equalled these hindering difficulties; namely, the chearefulnesse of A great conthe foldiers, and the fingular constancy of nerall, who them all, almost beyond the compasse of his Souldiers mans beleefe : because they had not conceiued fo much as a thought of feare, nor polition, failed in their hopefull hearts, as it commonly happeneth in fodain aduerfe chances, whereby old tryed foldiers do manie times forget their ancient valour. For being twice before vanquished in battel, yet they refumed the greater confidence and courage : perswading themselues, that not valour or skill in fight, but onely fortune favled them. Nowe, when Tomumbeyo had fet his men in good order, and the foldiers (with earnest desire of fight) requested the signall : he commanded the multitude of the Arabians, to bring their winges about on the rere of the enemy, and to beginne the fight first that the Turkish horsmen might be troubled and disordered with a doubtfull danger of fight, before himselse would Tomumbeyo iffue forth with his felected troops. Strait prepareth his way he commanded the great Ordnance the chemit (which by this time was brought about, battaile. and directed against the enemyes) to bee shot off. And immediately the Turkes did the like; who had once discharged their smaller and greater peeces, when

is well tried in

they were a just distance off, and quickely. I their backes, as they had beene comman. Four efightes re-charging them, had brought the within an Arrowes shoote of the Ægyptians Ordnance, fighting a long time on either fide, onely with discharging their Orde-Ordnance al. nance, while the Armies approched neerer. In which contention, almost all the Ægyptians Gunners were flain, and most of their Artillery dismounted from theyr wheeles, beeing broken in peeces by violence of the enemies bullets. The Turke had very skilfull Gunners in his Campe, whom he had allured (by his great rewardes, and rich entertainment) out of Italy and Germany, and especially many out of the Iewes rable, who beeing expelled by the picty of King Ferdinand out of the Spaines; brought afterwardes fuch rare and vnufed deadly Artes into all rhe East, o spice our men withall. The Captaine or cheefe man of all these Gunners, was one lames, borne at Reggio in Lombardie, a man of extraordinary skill in those Artes, who being enticed by Turkish gittes: had (a little before) forsaken the service of Christ, and revolted vnto Mahomets superstition. The fight beeing brought (on both fides) to handy ftrokes. the Mamalukes raifed a cruel and horrible cry, and in three quarters, charged the Turkes with great valour : For Selym(kceping his old order) fo marched, that hee approached in the forme of a Crescent. The Captaine of the Afians in the right Wing, was Mustapha, and Innubasha of the Europeans in the left : but himselfe gouerned the middle battell, whierin was the squadron of the Ianizaries, with a great multitude of Ordnance.

But Synanbasha being made General of the fielde, had chosen for himselfe a band of the valiantest men, taken and pickt out of all the companies, to ferue for all vncertaine euents of the battaile. Whereto hee added (out of Selyms (quadron) fine hundred foote of extraordinary valor and swiftnesse, that hee being ready in all places of the battaile, and for all chaunces (were they neuer fo fodaine) might fuccour that part of his fellowes, which was most pressed by the enemy. So that almost at one time, when Tomumbeyo had stood in the middle battaile against Selvin. and the wings of the Mamalukes, had encountred the Turkith with equall Front, and the Arabians had fought valiantly at ded; foure fights were very furioufly and at one time in hotly attached at one time, and in diverfe places. distinct places.

They that were present at this battell, Credible redo report, that thorough the cries of the ports concer-Soldiers, the noise of Drums and Trum- ning this pets, the thundering of the Artillery, the tell bat clouds of dust, and clashing of Weapons, all mens minds were fo amazed and confounded, that they, being al on both fides alike blinded with furle, rushed on with fuch desperate madnesse, that neyther could the voices and watch wordes bee heard or knowne one from another, nor the Enfignes feene, nor commaundes of Captaines be regarded; but even (by mutuallerror) they flew a great number both of their owne fellowes, and also of theyr enemies, without any respect at all. For neuer before that day, had any armies endespetate finy countred together, enflamed with greaor both the ter spleene and harred; nor euer had two Armies, as the fuch miglity Emperors, more constantly ucrheard of. and feruently declared their valour both of body and minde; nor with leffe care of life and fafety: For, when both of them plainly perceived, that with like daunger of theinselnes and their Armies, they had fet their lines and Empires vppon present ruine : they also well vnderstoode. that felfe should bring with it. Now Gazelles enflumed with defire of The course honor and reuenge, to returne the Buro- of Gazelles peans a foile equall to that which liee had inhope offoi received at Gaza, charging Innubalha with paies. great violence, had ouer-run the formoft and refifting troopes shad beaten downe the Guidons : and the Arabes purfying on hard at his heeles, had made the vanquithing companies (enenthole of the Thracians, Theffalians, and Macedons) to turne their backes which noner any enemie had done before.

there would be no other hope lefte to ev-

ther of them, but that which victorie it

Then Synanbalba, beeing readie for all occasions of victory, flew upon the fide of the enemy, with a fresh and powerfull company of his men, re-enforcing the battell, which was much declined & foully scattered. But anon after, Synanbusha, who had discontinued the manifest victory of the enemy, by exercifing a fupreme finine fighting acte of proweffe, was flaine, fighting veric valuantly bevaliantly before his men, after that the forchismen.

Hevitus Dia-

darius and

Giapall Or-

comas,two

famous Cap

taines of the Egiptians.

Chap. 22.

alwayes were

vnfortunately

lifcoucted.

Mamalakes (vnder their fierce Captayne, Bido) had turned themselves prowdly on their new enemy. And his horsemen striuing to take up their dead captaines body from the ground, were (a great number of them) flaine and put to flight by Gazelles, who had spread abroad his troups, that having the more spacious roome, they might the more freely vie their fwords; in which kinde of fight the Mamalukes doe most excell. And also that noble band of Ianizaries, being enclosed, were ouer-runne & flaine; after that they (being forfaken of the horfmen) had long time relisted very valiantly.

In another quarter, Mustapha giving a vehement charge with all his horfe, wpon the left wing of the Egyptians (wherin comaunded the most renowned captaines Haylius Diadarius and Giapall Orcomas) very sharply viged them. A little before they had received a notable detriment, by the Ordnance, which (by chaunce) was shot fro Selyms middle battell thwart the field; which Multapha perceiving, and being defirous to trample on olde ignominy, they being once disordered, constrained them fiercely, & bringing in his troupes freshly yoon them, brake thorow, ouer-ranne and beat them downe. And being remarkeable all the battell over, both by his Armes and vovce: adhorted the Asians to confider, that their ancient martiall honor, they lately loft at the battell of Alepo, must be recovered now by height of manhood, or (at vitermost) by an honourable death.

At the same time also, Tomumbeyo, hauing broken through the midle regiment of horse, was come to the foot, and being a mighty man both in body and strength, performed infinite actions of worth with his Cemitarie: the Arabians likewise enclosed the outer-wings of the Turkes, forcing them (in many places) to fight with double front . And Selym aduaunced forward his foote squadron, which was his onely and affured helpe in this extremitie, whose charge, neither the fierce barded horse, nor the victors men could abide: because most part of his Souldiers being harquebusiers, and beeing impaled with pikes, did much mischiefe, for their immoneable force, being closed into the array of one body, bare downeall that they incountred. Yet they fought with variable cuet on both fides, from the fourth houre of the day, till Sun-fet, neither was there any part of eyther Armie, but suffered sun- and success dry alterations. Fortune being fome while alike in both prosperous, and then againe aduerse. For, the Amer, from the 4 both the vanquished and victors, beeing houre of the madded with mutuall & implacable rage, day till Sun. fought with obstinate & indurate hearts; the Mamalukes disdaining, that victorie should be taken from them, by men (of whom) they had flaine fo many; and the Turkes chafing, that they whom they thad before foiled in two feueralbattels, should make follong refistance against them. Informuch, that their bodies, wearied and tired with wounds, and their armes faintly languishing, yet supported onely by furie & pertinacy of heart; scemed able to have maintained another daies murdering, but that dark shut vp the violence of so great a

Tomumbeyo, who (no doubt) was vanquished, distrusting the entire losse of the first founded field, first commanded retreat to be sounin the Cuppe
ded, that his men, who now could not beyout match the other fquadron, might feeme not to haue bin beaten backe, but onely to be led backe: which he conceived to be of no meane moment, both for the establishing of his fouldiers, & maintenance of his owne authority. As one that being deceiued in his first hope, might promise himfelfe(as men in mifery commoly do) more prosperous successe afterward, prouided, that he fainted not in corage. Whereup- effeinste on, preserving those few powers lest him, condbatuit he intended a fresh reparation of warre. The battell being broken off by the nights countermad, the Turks being victors, won the enimies tents and Ordnance, purfued the Mamalukes still very late in the night, albeit (almost in maner of flight) they marched towards Cayro. In the flight were taken Diadarius, who could make no speed, by reson of his grieuous wounds, and with him Bidon, having and flinkly one of his knees broke with a falcon-shot, mand. which also sue his horse. But the next day, Selym caused them both to be flain, either in regard they could not be healed, or as thinking them to be acceptable facrifices for appealing Synanbasha; for whose losse hee igreatly lamented. Now albeit the Turkes had nobly vanquished, yet was their strength mightily empayred, and by the meanes of these fortunate battells, wherein the 4. part of them was spent with

fickneffe

Variable tit

my four daics at Rhodania.

Selym resteth

his weary Ar-

Of the second Battell at Cayro, betweene Selym and Tomumbeyo. The valiant

corage of Fo nithstanding all his gree-nous mistor-nucs & loffer

Omumbeyo, beeing all this while nothing bruifed, not-withstanding so many lamentable losses and disa-steers; still affembled together. ther the Mamalukes from all parts, and pitched his Campe in a most commodious place, betweene new Cayro and the riner Nilus, wherein he had eight thousand Æthyopian flaues or bondmen, which kinde of men he had not (till then) made any vie of, in regard of an ancient Rebellion by them committed. Beside, setting open the old Armory, he gaue armor and weapons to the Mamalukes sonnes, and to Moores which were their retainers, as also to the Iewes and Arabians, preparing for farre fickeneffe and wounds, and a great number of their Horses vtterly foyled, especially through the tediousnesse of this daies feruice.

These were maine motiues, to hinder Selym in his wonted course of expedition, because (as yet) he was ignorant, what deuotion the Ægyptian inhabitants of Cayro bare towards him ; neither did rumour afford him any intelligence, where Tomumbeyo had bestowed himselfe, or what hee furthet intended. For, till he had deliberately confidered on all these occasions, he would not adventure the fafety of his owne person, and perill of his whole Armie, to the mercy of innumerable Cittizens, and in the greatest Cittie of the world. Wherefore, abiding foure dayes space in his old Campe at Rhodania, caufing the wounded to bee cured, and his flaine souldiours to bee buried : but the bodies of his enemies, he left to be deuoured by Birds and Beafts. And then dislodging thence, and marching towards Cayro; he encamped on a plain, between old Cayro and Bulach: for the City of Cayro is divided into three Townes; old Cayro, new Cayro, and Bulach, for their more commodious feruice of water.

CHAP. XXII.

kish Campe, and the same againe vuluckily discoucred to the Turkes (who beeing readily prepared for it, repelled (though with some losse) his formost rankes, he by the aduice of all his Captaines, entred the City of Cayro.

fharper warre against the Turks, then formerly had bene. But afterward, having intend da fodaine camifado vpon the Tur-

The Battaile of Cayro.

The motiue heereto was, because the Mamalukes (hauing bene foyled in all precedent battailes) confidered with themschues, that they must now make warre after some other manner of way: & in that regard, aduised him to fortifie the Cittie, placing strong Courts of guard in the most conucnient parts thereof, to hinder enery way their enemies entrance. And being in this lamentable condition, that they must needes fight for their houses, wines, and children; they helde it highly to dye in the honourable, aud answerable to the glorie fight of their of their ancient valour, to dye fighting in dren. their fight, and even before theyr owne

Heereupon, each Mamaluke going to his own house, furnished all his houshold, and the very toppe of his house with all kinde of weapons: instantly also entreating the Egyptians in each ward & firecte to take Armes against the common cruell enemie, not fuffering themselues to bee flaine, and their wives and children carried away as flaues. For (quoth they) if the fauage and infatiate enemy do winne witten norethe victory, as accidents of warre are al- spectof perwayes doubtfull : no spare will bee made, fone. no not of fuch as beare themselves but indifferently, leaning in help to neither fide; because victory swelles with such infolent licence, as he respects not any man, but fuch as (without doubtful staggering)run desperately to assist his fortune, when war stands vpon vncertaine successe.

Most of the Egyptians that were rich and wealthy, as they did well foresee, that alteration in the State and Empire would be very hurtfull, and bring great losse and hinderance to their wealth and Trafficke: The baser fort fo, in denotion and helpe, they were not best benefite failing to the Mamalukes . As on the contrary, most of the poorer Citizens, and no means multimate a felture of the poorer Citizens. meane multitude of the worfer fort (who, ftreames. being voide of danger, do euermore gaine by others losses) remembring all the villanies and extreme oppressions, which they

table spirit of Tomumbeyo in the tokk cft throngs.

The vndaun

had fuffered (for the space almost of three | hundred yeares) under the Mamalukes, in very wofull and wretched flauery, they kept themselues within doores, awayting for the fights fuccesse: iocondly hoping, that the time was now come, for punishing their proud oppreffors, and that reuenge would be fought by the bloud of strangers; the iffue forting so, that theyr eyes should be satisfied, with a pleasing & long expected spectacle.

Tomumbeyo fortified the gates & waies belonging to the City.

The bufie im

ployment of the Mama-

lukes against

their enimie

without any curiofity, or

scorne of taking paines.

In the meane time, Tomumbeyo with most indulgent care and labour, fortified the gates, and all the waies of the Citties entrance, appointing Captaines for eucry street. In cuery market place, Court, and affembly of people, he made very witty and perswasine Orations, permitting no idle loytering in the workes: and finally (which is faide to be the hardest matter in diffresse and danger) he' carried an vnappalled countenance, deliuering fignes of extraordinary hope and valour no way to be daunted. But the Mamalukes, ouer and about necessity (which in extreamities makes men mad and desperate; yea, kindleth courage in errant Cowards) being stirred up by emulation : did speedily and couragioufly execute the duties and offices of worthy Captaines; for euerie one of them, as his wit and invention best instructed him, made trenches thwart the most passable streetes, laying also great Logges of Timber croffe vpon them. Others, made priny pits and holes, with sharpe-pointed stakes surely fastened in them, whereon the enemies vnwarily falling, might gore and split themselves. Others likewise fitted the houses and VVindowes of enery turning streete, with such plenty of thot as their store and ability afforded; and all these thinges were performed with fuch expedition, as no man (not the very Mamalukes) made it nice, or strained courtesie, to take the pickaxe & spade, or to do any seruile seruiceable Worke: whereby it appeared, that nothing could be thought denised, but it was as expeditiously effected. Now, although the Citty (being verie

ver there were Gates, and but certayne

the middeft of the Citty. The rest of the great and old) had no wals to enclose it; The great Ci ty of Cayro was not enwayes for entering into it, one whereof closed with was a direct and very broad street, leading wals. from the East gate to the Castle, and into waves wer but very narrow freets or paffages, somewhat vnsightly and disgracefull, where no Ordnance could be drawn, nor an aranged battell meete with his opposite. Into this maine way or streete had Tomumbeyo especially brought a power, because he well perceived, that their enemy would couet entrance, in regarde of the spacious admittance. But the other in the City, all quarters of the City further off, hee kept the reftbutef flender pas with small guards: yet the inner & middle fage. part, where the Castle stood, was guarded with a sufficient power, for the better supply of all other places, where the enemies cry, or their owne fellowes perill might call their affistance. For the Citie, being the greatest of all other, with fo fmal a power, could not be defended round about, namely, wayes lying open into it in euery

When Selym had received certaine intelligence, that Tomumbeyo vvas entred. marchethon Cayro, and all the Mamalukes (gathering Cayro, All the way he encouraged his troopes, to confider with themselves advisedly, that now they must intend an entire conquest of those Enemies, whom they had already fo often vanquished; and to take a little the more paines, that their victorious rewards, might be answerable vnto theyr braue endeuour, for which they had formerly coueted with immoderate defires. So paufing a while, and commaunding a Trumper to fummon general filence, thus againe he proceeded.

A briefe Oration of Selym, to his Souldiers.

Riends, and Fellowes in Armes, let mee intreat you to remember, that there re- He encount maineth now but a few wretched men, gethihemby with a for faken naked King; who, being lately bent with wounds and feare, were not able successe. to endure the field, but flying thence cowardly have verily determined, to expect at home (in the fight of their wines and children) the Supreme and last cast of a miserable life.

Moreover the Egyptians (of their owne accord) hane fent for me: for they deadly ha-their strength into one maine head) wold try the vtmost fortune of warre : hee marched with his Army neerer to the Cittie.

The great

harm done b the ambushe

promise to fight from their owne houses, vtterly to destroy the race of those wicked sauage men. Neuerthelesse, the absolute victory of the whole war, confisteth in viter vanquishing the remnants of the defeated, or thorowly affrighted Army; because they cannot bee accounted as overcome, that are yet hopefull in Armes, and possesse the seat defire of spoile, and being all readily ranked wanted but the fignall for irruption .

Whe Selym entring at Baffuel gate, fent in Cayro at Baf-fuel gate, and further pro-

Chap. 22.

The Battell of Cayro.

ting the Mamalukes very name: dee with greedy desire expect their destruction, and of the Empire, euen the greatest Citie there-The fouldiers foules were on fire with his horse troopes at many places at once: but the Ianizaries entred at the broader passage, where the horse (on eyther side) meeting together, a cruell & bloudy fight began in the turning streets, and narrow lanes. The foot, haling out their Falcons and Culuerings before them in the front; flanked all the streetes with them as they went along, making them naked of anic defendants. But when they came to the munitions and trenches, labouring to remove the logges and beames, which were great hinderances vnto their passage . the Mamalukes gaue them very valiant refiftayre was meerly darkned with the fmoake ance, and either fide thewed fuch rare corage and valour: as neuer(in our memory) did men encounter more fiercely & bloodily. For both the Mamalukes and Turkes mour among the foldiers, the clattering stoode on their highest tearmes of manhood, vling all their cunning flights & policies of war, in this one deadly dagerous fight ineither part beeing ignorant, that this was the last hope of life and Empyre, Fortune equally and indifferently presenting them with honorable rewards for the Conqueror, and shamefull disgrace for ble to endure labour and watching) had the vanquished.

Mighty flaughter was made at the munitions, by reason that the Turkes rashly running vpon the couered trenches, pits, and downfals, were ouerthrown on heaps one vpon another, the hindmost thrusting them on that were before; others, beeing gored & spitted on sharpe pointed stakes: vpon which aduantage, the Mamalukes wines and children (with man-like hardineffe) hurled and tumbled down tiles and great stones on them thus ouerthrowne beneath, beating out the braines of verie many. On the contrary fide, the Turkes with their Harquebusses, fetcht off such as they faw in the windowes, & on the houfes, breaking open the doores where any harmfull thing was throwne downe, and fighting in those houses with diverse euents. Also the Egyptians, beholding fortune now on the one fide, and then againe turned to the other; affayled both fides alike as equall enemies, leaning where the A cunning lot of victory was likelieft to happen, that they might appeare onely to have affifted the Egypuam that page and the Egypuam that part, and thought vtter enemy to the other.

Many encounters happened in diners

quarters at once, and according to theyr

confused running in the streets, now this company, then that, lighting vppon fresh and new troopes of enemies: & they that constrained the victors in the Front, were often intercluded by the adverse part, and beaten downe in the Rere. It was a wofull

fight to beholde, the distances betweene

house and house, ouer-flowing with rec-

king blood, which ranne out of the flaine

which rose like athicke mist or dark cloud

of the Ordnance and leffer Artillerie, as

also clouds of Arrowes shot from theyr

bowes: and fo great was the cry and cla-

of weapons, and thundering of the Can-

nons, that the very earth feemed to groan

and tremble, and the houses were rent &

tage on either fide : but only that the Ma-

malukes (being few in number, and not a-

retreated themselves by little and litle, into the inner parts of the City, vtterly for-mens bodies, as there they lay mangled & The extremidismembred on heapes : that the Dust, ty of a thicke before, was now laide therewith, and not blood of flain to be seene at all. Notwithstanding, the mens bodyes.

torne in peeces. They fought continually They fought two dayes and two nights, with doubtfull two dayes and fortune, and flender apparence of aduan-two nightes continually.

faking the formost munitions. The third day, when the Mamalukes were in the very pitch of perill of lofing their whole estate, and all that they had, (which case viually augmenteth supreme enterprizes) chearing up the hearts and endenours of all men, they renewed the fight with fuch furpaffing valor, that they droue the Turkes a great way backe, and intercepted certains of their Faulcons. Which accident, made Selym to despaire to let the hou les on fire.

A fodain fuc-

cesse happing to Mustapha, against the Mamalukes.

The Mama-

Selym despair of victory, so that hee commanded to set ring of victory the houses on fire in all places: inst wrath against the Ægyptians, compelling him | the will and pleasure of the Conquerour. to that cruell proclamation, because (in his very fight, and but a little before) Innubasha was greeuously wounded in the head by a great stone thrown down from a window.

Now were the houses on a flaming fire, now was nothing heard but wayling and weeping of the suppliant entreating A. gyptians: and nowe the Turkes fighting fornewhat faintly, expected that retreate should be founded: when sodainly newes was brought by many men together, that in another quarter, the Mamalukes being beaten from their stand, and defeated by enforcing Mustapha, reposed they latest refuge in flight. For Mustapha thorough the intimation of certaine Egyptians, and fugitive Mamalukes, came to a very large streete, where the Mamalukes had placed their horses ready bridled and sadled; intending, that if any ill hap befell the, their recourse might beethicher, where taking theirhorses, they might escape to places of further determination. He got al those horses, and led them away, having chased their guides within a part of the citie, nothing fuspected, which was very weake, & defended by none but boyes and horse-

Which accident/as commonly it hap-neth in ferious and vnexpected chances) luker vangu shed and en did wonderfully weaken their valour and forced to resolution, wherefore when they wer thus defeated in their hope of flight, and they fo roud ringed about, that the fight could be maintained by no other helpe or comfort, but onely meere manhood:being as men vanquished by their own confession, they turnd their backs. Many making haft to Wilus with Tomumbeyo (who had in vaine tried all Art of valiancie, wisedome, and policy, to avoide the foile in this battaile)passing ouer the river by boats, went into the Region of Seiectica. Another multitude hid themselves in the Egyptianshouses, and in most shamefull lurking dennes, But aboue 1500. of the valiantest Mamalukes, fled vnto the greatoft Temple Temple couk be no retuge of the Citty; where after they had long for them. time defended themselves, as out of a cafile, because they would not yeeld but vpon honotable termes : at length, beeing confounded with thirst, wearines, wounds and the Ordnance violently playing still vpon them they submitted themselves to Part of them were presently flaine before the Temple, by the angry fouldiers of Selym, he politickly winking thereat; & another part(fome few dayes after) were caried downe the river to Alexandria.

The victory thus flanding for Selym, he fent two bands to quench the fires, and proclamations were made thorough all fauouring Se parts of the Citty, that all the Mamalukes which would come in and yeelde themeth his fould felues, and within the limitation of twelve ento quench houres space; should be secured from any the flaming fire. further harme. But all fuch as were found after that time, should dye for their refufall; and large rewards were promifed to all the Egypuans, that could disclose the lurking Mamalukes. Cootrarywife, fuch as hid or concealed any of them, were prefently to be spitted vpon stakes, & selling their wives and children as flaves to burn their houses to the ground. Vppon the fame of this Proclamation, a great number of them came abroad, who were inthering of the thankly put in yrons, & afterward all most Mamalukua cruelly flaine in prison; because they were prison, after that they had faid to haue practifed an escape. But di- yeelded then uers, who would not violate the rites of feluts faith and friendshippe by betraying their friends being accused by their neighbors, fuffered loffe of life, dying very constantly for their friends.

After this, the foldiers encreasing their fury, vpon the pride of this victory, fearching all places; drew violently out all such as were hidden, and prefently flewe them, spoiling also the Egyptians houses where they were found, leaving no place that or concealed from them. And the very fame The coming day it hapned, that Gazelles cam to Cayro; of Gazelles Cayro, & his who had beene (ent (a little before) into [hb miffion to] Thebus, to leuy Arabians, & to hire aides. Selym. But seeing the case to bee quite changed, and that he was able to do no good either by his person or aduice; hee came with three Arabian Captaines, and many horse with them, and yeelded himfelfe to Selim; who entertained him and all his traine very honourably, euery man according to his degree and merit.

CHAP.

CHAP. XXII.

Of the third and last Battell fought at Nilus, betweene Tomumbeyo and Selym, with the ill successe and disgracefull death of Tomumbeyo, and hard face of his Ma-

River of Nilus, into that re-gion which is called Seietti-ca, lying towards * Cyrenai-

ca;although with fo many difastrous mis-

the war. For there was come to him a potent supply of Mamalukes fro Alexandria

being sent for by letters out of the Cittie

Garrifons, and many more also followed him in flight. Beside, the Arabians of Affri-

ca repaired to him, and the Moores like-

wife which were inhabitants of that coun try promising him their vittermost fauour

and helpe. Nay more, diners Ægyptians of Cayro, whose houses and people had bin

spoyled and dishonested, by the couctous

and luxurious Turks, gaue faith alfo, that they would raise a tumult and insurrecti-

V.T Tomumbeyo, being fled

(as ye haue heard) ouer the

haps he had formerly bin vanquished, yet na, of the fine still hee made a couragious reparation of

Chap. 22.

The coming

on, if he would speedily come thither in the dead of night; wherby might be compassed, that such Turkes as were lodged in the City houses, might sodainly be destroyed by inuasion of all the people together. For the Citizens, having suffered by them all abhominable and enemy-like parts could no longer endure the injuries of fuch proude and malapart oppressors. Further they alledged, that the Turks, being (before)a potent army, were now reduced to a contemptible number: for, a great part of them were flaine in the battels at Rhodania and Cayro, and well-neere all the rest were spent with woundes and fickneffe. While Tomumbeyo was thus busied about his needfull preparations, Albuchomar the very greatest man (for authority, lands,& riches) in all Seiestica, came to Selym : eyther to preuent the mischiefe of imminet warre, to the no meane peril of his countrey, or elfe to win the victors favour by Treason: and acquainted him not onely with the new collected powers of Tomumbeyo, but also with the practifes concluded among the Cittizens of Cayro. Which when Selym vnderstood, he caused stricte and strong watch and ward, to bee planted in all parts of the City; commanding alfo, that the suspected Cittizens should be kept in the Castle, which (vppon the Garrisons for saking it) very easily hee surprized. Furthermore, in diners places along the river of Nilus, he ordered a great number of veffelles, well furnished with fland Tomum Ordnance and foldiers, to defend the further banke of the river.

Neuerthelesse, considering aduisedly

with himselfe, how perillously he had often fought with most valiant enemies, and ous deliberahow difficult it would be for him to inter- tion concercept Tomumbeyo, who (by flight) ftill into dangerous waste and vnknowne Regions prolonged condition. the Warre, still getting fresh and newe supplies. Considering also, that his owne power was fo fmall, and fo far from fuccour, as it might eafily bee oppressed in that mighty Citty, by huge multitudes of men of vncertaine Faith. Vppon these discreece considerations, hee desired rather to conclude the Warre by fome honest composition, then by forcible fur-

And so much the rather, because hee Fresh compahad intelligence by them of Seiestica, that nies of Horlie fresh Companies of Horsse were leaved Mamalukes. from all partes by the Mamalukes, which had fledde into divers Regions: and the Nauie likewise, which was sent into the streights of the Red Sea, in the Arabian Gulffe against the Portugals, stoode now vppon the hopefull expectation at Porte, ther contending, to entangle himfelfe in new dangers.

In the Nauy were about three thoufand Mamalukes, land Amyraffes, and Ray Salomon, all very expert Captaines: and a great number of braffe Peeces: whereby it appeared, that Tomumbeyo might gather ability, to repaire his former received iniuries, and so returne againe to the Cittie, being fent for thither by his friends.

But the maine motive of all, was his care of the Persian affairs, lest Humbracof-(a(whom he had sent before to the mountaine Taurus) should not prooue able to match the Persian power, whereby hee

The cheefe matter that moued Selym to feeke compolition with Tomumbero

688

The effect of the charge giuen to the Amballadors

audience.

The Ambaffa dors barbarou fly murdred.

A bridg builded ouer Ni-lus by Selym,

Fomumbeyo distructed the Prouincials constancie to should be excluded out of the lesser Asia and Syria, before the Fleet from Constantinople could come to Alexandria, with new supply of Victuals and soldiers. Hereupon, he fent very honorable men of the Cleargy, and likewise certaine Ægyptians of great estimation amongst them, as Ambassadors from him vnto Tomumbeyo. The effect of their Commission was brieffly thus. To counfell him for a ceffation from Armes, and now (at length) to acknowledge the Victors great fortune, engaging their faith to him, that if (in fuppliant manner) he would come to Selym; by humanity and fauour of the Conqueror, he should quietly enjoy the kingdom, which he was not able to hold by power. But if hee would proceede and continue Warre, careleffely forgetting his owne weakenesse: then, when warres fortune was thorowly found and determined; according to his inft defert, he shold expect no condition of dignity or life, at displeafed Selyms hands. Thefe Ambaffadors being come into Seiectica, were (with franticke and barbarous cruelty) all flaine by certaine Mamalukes, before they had any

Which proud and cruell deede, brake off all further patience in Selym, who was a man by nature (though not otherwise mooned) extraordinarily vehement and fierce. Immediately he proclaimed a voyage into Seiectica against Tomumbeyo, comanding victuals and other provision for it. Moreover he gathered Boats from all parts, causing a sure and a very broade bridge to be built ouer Nilus riner : as allowing it neyther answerable vnto his dignitie, nor futing with the vigent occalion, to make his passage ouer with

When Tomumbeyo had intelligence by his Spies, as also from the Cittizens of Cayro, that fuch an intention was prepared against him, and so strong a Bridge made ouer Nilus; hee (doubting the vnfaithfulnesse of the Propincialles, whose hearts he feared to be revolted from him, by the treacherous departure of Albuchomar) determined to try the felfe-fame fortune of battell, which had so oftentimes deceived his hopes. For he being inferior in all things, could not now lengthen out the war, nor make expectation of his ene-to fly againe with loffe of his dignity, and thorough farther wildernesses of hazardous aduenture, and dangerous successe.

Outs aduenture, and dangerous inceesie.

Wherefore, confulting with his Captaines & Commanders, concerning this cap to preced last attempt, which he and his Mamalukes the intention were to make; by breake of day he departed fro Selectica, accompanied with 4000. horfe, and twice fo many Moores and A- Ittatagem. rabes foot, continuing trauel night & day til they came to Nilus, that (by a bolde and fodain aduenture) he might decevue the Turkes, who (as he vnderstood) suspected no fuch forwardnes, in weake, vanquisted & more then halfe difmayed men, wheras celerity would forftall any fame of his vnlookt for comming; fo to destroy y part of the Turkish power, which first had aduentured ouer the river-before they could receive fuccour by their following Fellowes. Nor did the space of time beguile his opinion, because the hours (being truly accounted) made iust agreement with his speedy march thither; and even as hee formerly coniectured fo fel it out, that the vaw-ward of the Asians had alreadie past the River. But the Muleters and boyes of Selyms Camp, feeking for the pleafanteft places for pitching their Tents, raunging The discour ouer farre, were the first that descried the beyos neer dust of the approching enemy: whereof approaching Mustapha being certified, the allarum was presently giuen.

This rumour fo danted all hearts with feare, both of them that had already paffed the river and theirs also which stoode ready to follow after them : that Tomumbeyo charging the Asians with incomparable valour, while they were making themfelues ready, and reforting vnto their Enfignes, flew them in the Front, that durst endure the shocke of the affailants) disperfed the reft, and forced them to flight; and all the vantgard was wel-neere ouer-run. and trodden downe, beside the disorder of the rest: before Mustapha (albeit hee fought fearlesse in the van, & very chearfully encouraged his fouldiers) was able to retaine them that fledde, or to repayre the other in array. For in this fodaine and vnexpected chance, enery place was full Sodaine acti of the peoples confused hudlings together, flaughter, flight, and feare: and all along the river banke both aboue and below the newe made Bridge, were divers
the troops ful my : neither did he hold it good for him, companies of men discerned, looking ru- into disorder

fully behind them, and crying out to their | being fo let loofe at liberty, might be carifellowes for fuccour. Many also being enforced (by the vrging troope of the Encmy) to the very brinke of the banke, fell headlong downe into the river and many also perished at the end or heade of the bridge, by reason they could not passe ouer it, beeing hindred by them that were continually fent from the further fide; befide, many that would have ascended the bridge, being impeached by fear, & thrust backe by their owne fellowes, were drowned in the river.

Sclimmaketh a notable fup ply by the help of his Ianizaries fenz

The Tartares

The Bridge was [pacious and large for

The bridge was so broad, that 4 horse in rank might well passe ouer together, & agreat number fent ouer in an houres space. But because the Ordnance was to as plainly perceived that except they kept be drawne ouer, fewer horse were sent, and preferued the bridge, the fafety of thethen either the greatnesse of the danger, or fodainnesse of such a chance did vrgent ly require. Nor was there any helpe in the Ordnance, which could not speedily bee Harquebusiers, & troops of Greek horse, drawne ouer, or shot off from the hither banke to the other against the Enemie, which in fundry companies had paffed the without great danger to themselues, by bridge: that the enemies were repulfed & reason that their owne men stoode in the forced to retire a great way backe. Now way. In the meane time, Selym who ranne Tomumbeyo that he might give fome respit downe to the rivers fide, at the beginning to his Mamalukes to breathe themselves a of this hurly burly, filled finall boates with while, being not able to fight fiercely, be-Ianizaries Harquebusiers, & sent them ocause their horse were spent and tired, & uer to succour their distressed fellowes; commading the horse also to make what hast they could ouer the bridge, the nimble Marriners vsing their best pains, in often passing and returning with fresh supplies; fo that within a fhort space they had on their behalfe, that Selym (distrusting Alfo Canoglas, fon to a Tartar king, encouraging his troopes of Tartares to take the river with their horses; attained to the further bank of the riner, to the admiration of all men, and lofing but fewe of his men : for the Tartares having learned to fwim ouer the violent and mightie Riuer of Tanais and Volga with their horses, were the more apt for passage heere. At the fame instant also, Tomumbeyo fore-seeing, that the speedy victory consisted therein. endenoured with his thickest troopes, to win the head of the bridge, that pulling away the formost boats, and cutting in funder the cables, which fastened the rest together, & to the bankes : the whole bridge conveyed over many bands of Ianizaries,

whose comming confirmed the disordered Asians, and now boldly they endured

the enemies violence.

ed away with the streames violence, & all the Turkes that were vpon it. This caused a very dangerous conflict, for the chosen A worthy policy deuiled and best armed Mamalukes constraining by Tomumthe front, fought with fingular valor. And beyo, to cut on the other fidel, Mustapha perceiving away the bridg of boats the present perill, brought vp the colours, and all the valiantest of his soldiours, to make good that place : fo that both fides contended with fuch furpaffing manhood

as the weightinesse of the case required.

For the Mamalukes faw manifestly, that if they could winne that place, they should

(with very fhort worke) ouerthrow all the enemies former victories: and the Turks

felues, the whole estate of the army, yea &

the ruine of their Emperor, lay now at the Hereupon, Mustapha so prevailed by his stake, and all brought to vtter despaire.

The maine

that after a fresh repairing of their streath he might aduenture the extreme & latest Tomumbeyo fortune of the battell, encouraged the encourageth Moores and Arabians to maintaine the the Moores & fight, vntill the Mamalukes had breathed a maintaine the little. Which when they had valiantly fight. performed, and the Mamalukes (hauing to the contrary. His coming (which brought fresh hope into his Souldiers hearts, they coueting to win reward and praife, by doing some feruiceable action in their Emperours The Ianizafight) repressed all the enemies best en- ries put the denour, and were forced vnto flight, and win the onely through the valiancie of the Iani- honour of the zaries. Purfued were they ouer all the day. Fieldes, by those Horse which had beene at the fight, and likewife by the Tartares, who gaulled them very greenously

fomwhat comforted their own bodies &

tel was againe renewed with such rigour

the victory) doubted not to ascend the bridge, and runne to fuccour his men, although his friends earneftly, labored him

horses)making good their place, the bat-

Nnng

7. Booke

Of Rings and their first vse.

691

Tomumbey taken and brought to Selym.

How basely Selym vied Tomumbeyo,

All the Sultanes Empire yeelded to Selym.

Rings inuen-sed by the va

nity of man-

Hapha, Cayerbey, and Gazelles, were sent with a company of fresh and swift horse, to follow them that fled, and not to fuffer Tomumbeyo to escape: who the third day after, was found by certaine Peazants, standing in a Marish vppe to the waste in Water, among Bull-rushes and Reedes; and they (for feare of death) delinered him to the Captaines, who brought him to Selym, who would not vouchfafe to fee After he had caused him to bee a long time in vaine tormented, to disclose the treasures of Campson; at last he gaue command, that he should be carried about all the famous streets of the Citty, riding on a vile Camels backe, and in poore ragged Garments, with his hands bound behind him; and then to bee hanged vp with an halter, for the murthering (as hee pretended) of his Ambassadors, although the Noble Prince was altogether guiltlesse thereof. The like fate also befell to all the Mamalukes that were in prison, or could be taken. After the shamefull death of Tomumbeyo, who was executed the thirteenth day of Aprill, Anno 1517. all the whole Empire of the Soldan yeelded, and likewise all the Princes that had beene tributaries to the Soldan, even vnto the dominions of Prestre Iohn.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the first invention of wearing Ringes: to what and it was . And of many ancient and admirable things, tending vato the same purpose.

Mong all other Iewels and Ornaments, inuenced by the spirite and industry, or rather by the vanity of man, to cmbellish & beautify himfelfe withall: there is not any comparable to that of Rings bee it for riches, or curiofity in workemanship. For, ouer and beside that they are made in a round and circular figure, which is the most perfect of all other: they are befide fo fubicat with their Arrowes. But afterward, Mu-, and light, that they may be worne on the least finger of the hand. Neuertheleste, Ringes mide they are alwayes made of the very richest and richest mettall of all, and accompanyed with stones, the most precious and exquisite other. that are to be had, and valewed to bee the onely effectived things in the world. Behold then, what meanes the ambition of men found out, to weare a ring vpon one finger, valewing in price the worth of a Citty: for, it is not vnknowne, there are some such precious stones, that are esteemed as a world of Gold, and yet notwithstanding, they hinder not the hand from the vie of any exercise whatsoeuer. And The principal albeit that Rings have ferued, and yet do bring Rings to some other more necessary ends & ef- into vie. fects, then those before related: yet the very principall point which brought them into vie, was to glad and delight the eye, and to deliuer an outward testimonie of Rings were Nobility, and shew the persons estimation. But because they are now grown ve- Nobility. ry common, and yet much esteemed, I will fet downe certaine ancient Histories, incident to our present purpose, not greatly irkfome to reade or heare. In the first place, it is not resolutely determined, who was the prime inventer of Concerning Rings: and yet some do say, that the first the inuention Rings knowne to be worne, was in the re- of Rings. membrance of Prometheus, who (as the Poets faigned) beeing chained to a rocke by the appointment of Inpiter, was delinered by Hercules, with the permission of In- deliuered its piter; with this condition neuertheleffe, therocke by that in perpetual memory of his imprison ment, the faide Prometheus flood obliged, to weare incessantly a ring of gold enchafed with a stone of the rocke whereto hee was prisoner; and thereby some hold, that the vie of rings tooke thence the first beginning. Pliny and many other authors reputed this discourse for a fable, as al Chriftians ought to do: and because it is a leafing, and friuolously feigned, I meane to infift thereon no further.

Concerning mine owne opinion, I am of the mind, that the inuention of Ringes of one man came not by one man only, but from ma- onely. ny, and in divers times; confidering, it neuer was any note of great cunning to take the fingers bigneffe by a thred, and with that measure to make a Ring of Golde or Iron: fuch as aunciently were worne by the very cheefest Lordes of Lacedemon

Ring not in

Ring of Ho-

Chap.23.

Pin.inlib 7.

and Rome, before they gaue themselues ouer to the superfluities and dissolutions, which afterwardes reigned in all things. And vndoubtedly, the custome and ceremonie continued long time amongst the Romaines, that the Ring of Honour, which the husband fent to his spouse on the mararing the Ro riage day, was made of yron. Plinie difcourfing on the antiquitie of Rings, faith, That they were not in vie in the war time betweene the Greekes and Trojans : confidering that Homer (who wrote thereof very amply) maketh no mention at all of Rings, much leffe, that they fealed then with Rings. And yet notwithstanding he speaketh sufficiently of Chains and Bracelets, which were at that time worne, and of the manner of closing and sealing Letters : so that if Rings had then bin in vse,

Homer would never have let it sleepe in si-

But the good olde man Plinie, cannot ouer-reach vs with his idle arguments and coniectures; for we reade in Genefis, that Iofeph (who lived aboue five hundred and

lence.

fifty yeares before the warres of Troy) hauing expounded the dreame of Pharaoh, King of Aegypt, was by the fayde Prince made Superintendent ouer his kingdom, and for his fafer possession in that estate he tooke off his Ring from his hand, and put it vpon Iofephs hand. And furely, kings did not onely weare Rings in those times, because we reade that Thamar, defiring to have iffue by the race of Iudah her father in lawe (who was brother to Joseph) had his company, under colour of beeing a common whoore, and received as prefents from him, his Staffe and his Ring. In Mofes time, which was more then foure hundred yeares before Troy warres, wee find Rings to be then in vie; for we reade that they were comprehended in the ornaments, which Aaron the High-Priest mould weare, and they of hisposteritie afterward, as also it was anouched by Io-Cephus.

Whereby appearoth plainely, that the vie of Rings was much more ancient then Pliny reporteth them in his Conjectures: but as he was a Pagan, and ignorant in facred writings, fo it is no maruell, if thefe things went beyond his knowledge. According as himfelfe apparently manifesteth, speaking of them of his owne Counkrey: for hee fayth, the vie of Rings were

anciently fo rare in Rome, & specially such as were of gold; that there was no auncient Statue to be seen ringed, except those of the Kings, Numa, and Seruius Tullius, kings wearing for all other Statues were without Rings . | Rings w Hee fayth moreouer, that (ordinarily) no other Rings were worne in Rome, but of yron, and that the custome of the Romans was, to give Rings of gold (by way of prerogatine) to Ambassadours, which they fent to any King, or to some strange Nation. And yet notwithstanding, they that entred Rome triumphantly, wore no other Rings then of yron, although crownes of wore from gold were allowed for their heads, & long Rings, but time did this custome continue.

Afterward, when the Romaines became more braue and fumptuous, yet did they expresly prohibite in Rome, to all mechanicall persons, and men of meane conditi- No Mechaon, to weare Rings of golde: except they nick or mean were rancked with the Souldiers, or Romain Cauallerie, which was a third estate, betweene the Order of the Senators, and the common popularitie; as now-adayes is our Nobilitie. Whereuppon, Rings were so priviledged, that in giving licence to any one to weare a ring of gold, it was as much as to ennoble him, and to passehim for a Gentleman. For, as Pliny, Dion, and many other have left in their Dien intib 9. writings, the Roman Knights were known, Plin. inlib. vbi and those of the Military Order, amongst Supra. the common people, and diftinguished from them by Rings, which they wore on their fingers: euen as euidently as Senatours were knowne by their long Purple Roabes, embroidered with large headed nailes . For this cause , the Poet Horace Equester ordo. attributed Rings to the Cauallerie, bestowing on them the name of Knights, or Gentlemen.

This priviledge then of wearing Rings ofgolde, might not be graunted, but to fuch as had accomplished some high en- rings of gold. terprife, or that were men of power, and worthily deferred. And affuredly, this prerogative was fo affected generally that fulius Cafar, coueting to embolden his Souldiours by remunerations and promifes : after a long Oration made to them. hee would lift up his finger, in figne, that they should enjoy whatsoener he promifed. And all his Army conceiuing, that Cafara enby this figne, hee would permit them to couraging figne to his weare Rings of golde, which intimated Soldiors. asinuch, of gold in

Who onely

The famous

Rings giuen to fuch as dethe Emperors in the Commentaries or Chronicles of times.

a buffiells of rings found the battel of

On what finger our graue elders vied to weare their

ringa,& theyr

doing,

ouerthrow of the Romaines which happened at Cannas; for according as Pliny and Titus Linius doe report, three bushells of Ringd (belonging to the Romaines flaine in the battell of Cannas) were found among the flaughtered bodies. In like maner, as Cicero alleadged in his fift pleading against Verres, he vsed these very words; When a Generall of the Romaine Army obtained any victorie, hee ordinarily gaue a Ring to his Secretarie. as a reward for his faithfulnesse. Many other things were also in custome then, which wee will heereafter more at large discusse: after we have proued by Examples and Histories, to what end Rings were worne in elder times, and in what manner.

were the more forightly encouraged, and

serued him with most chearful dispositio.

Emperours, this preheminence was gi-

uen to many that deferued it not, as wee may fee in Iuuenall and Suetonius, as also

Iulius Casar, and of Vitellius. Neuer-

theleffe, the Edict, whereby it was inhibited to Mechanickes to weare Rings of golde, was not in force at the second warre against the Carthaginians, and the Very true it is, that in the time of the First then, our reuerend predecessours vsed to weare their Rings, on the next finger to the least vpon the left hand, according as it was observed by the Statues of Numa, and Servius Tullus, Romain kings; because that finger was called Digitus Annularis. The Ring finger . And certainely (as Plinie faith in his feauenth Booke and eighteenth chapter) the Ring worne vpon the left hand, was a mecre expression of modesty: the Romaines imagining, that it was a matter ouer-curious and superfluous, to weare any Rings at al: and therfore to make the leffer thew of them they did euer weare them on the left hand. Nor can we say (according to Plinie) that this was done to any other end, but because the left hand was more at liberty then the right in the mannaging of Armes, it feruing then, but as a defence to the bodie, in carrying onely Shields and Targets, as asmuch, as that they should all be knights; is the hand least employed; and that the Ring-finger was elected for the fame respect : For it is least fet to labour of all the fingers, as Macrobius faith . Pursuing the fame case, and alleging Pliny for the point, he addeth thefe words, There is a veine or A veine inthe nerue, comming from the heart, which taketh coming from his ending in the Ring-finger for which cause the heart, and reason, that finger deserueth to be crowned with golde . Aulus Gellius also is of the fame opinion. Others affirme, that Rings are worne vpon that finger, for phylicke, on Digital or ous stones enchased in them, doe peneor physically: and that the vertue of precious stones enchased in them, doe pene-trate to the heart, by meanes of the fore-veine leading named veine. Macrobius, grounding his to the heart conceit vpon the Pythagorian numbers, whereof the Egyptians made vie; alleageth many other reasons concerning Rings, which I passe the lightlier ouer as seeming to bee matters of fmall importance. We will refolue then on the last opinion, appearing to bee the most receivable: although we feerings to be worne indifferently, vpon all the fingers that are on the hand.

Neuerthelesse, some do say, that Rings. were worne on the left hand, for the more fafetie and affurance, confidering that it

> Macrobius doth anouch, that the most principall cause of inventing or finding rings, was to serue as Seales: for in former times, euerie man caused to be engrauen in Stones fo enchased in Rings, of Letterrat what did best please his owne minde and the first. affection, and wherewith to seale up his Letters.

This was then the reason of bringing Rings in vie, although now-adayes they are that way least imployed : and afforedly, men (in elder dayes) were fo curious for well keeping their Rings and Signets, that they would feale with them verie feldome. Which I thinke not to be so vsed amongst the Romaines, because they were fo neare-handed, as not onely they fealed their Letters with their Signets, but The gripple also sealed therewith their Chests, Cofnesses in the property of the sealed th fers, Ambries, Cub-boords and pursses, that kept the housholde keyes; yea, and things. fealed their Cellers, wherein were their stored wines for feare lest they should be stollen away from them; and Marcus Tullius Cicero himfelfe fayth, that his mother did the fame.

Now cocerning the vse of sealing with Rings, it is very ancient, according as we may reade in many Examples and Histories, especially in the facred Scriptures, to Achab King of Samaria, Sealed with the Kings Ring, the Commaund whereby the fent to have Naboth put to death ; and ver notwithstanding, this was fifteene hundred yeares before the foundation of the Cittic of Rome.

Moreouer, when the Prophet Daniel (by the Kings commaundement) was put into the Denne of Lions; the stone which closed the mouth of the favde denne, was fealed with the Kings Ring, and the rings of all the Princes in the kingdome:whereby appeareth, that Rings served them to feale withall; as now they are vsed in any Kingdome, when the King confirmeth any especiall privilege. And in these venerable elder times, Stones were enchased and fixed in Rings, a man to be so fortunate, but ere long he must fall into farre greater misfortune, c. uen to the pittying of his best friends. As vpon which stones were cut and engrauen diuers formes and figures, denised onelie to seale withall. Heereupon did the Poet to be hanged and strangled. This came

I knew the Letter, and the faithfull stone. Asmuch to say, as he knew the partie

thus to paffe, two hundred & thirty yeres from whence the Letter came, by the fibefore the foundation of the Cittie of gure engrauen vpon the stone in the ring, implying, that he knew the Seale. In regard wherof, when men made their rings, they studied to exceede one an other in ri-Herodotus affirmeth it to be an Emerauld; ches and costlinesse, especially Kings and but there appeareth some defect heerein, other great Lords; witnesse the so much because Pliny fayth , How was it possible in renowned Seale-ring of Polycrates a Tyrant in the Isle of Samos. And although many did suspect the narration of that Cumo de finit Seale, as a matter meerely fabulous : yet Minint 14.c.s notwithstanding, Cicero, Plinie, Strabo and Herodotus, doe holde it for a true historie, affirming it to be an Emerauld engrauen, wherewith this Prince vsed to seale his Missiues and Patents, as briefly wee will fav somewhat of the discourse. This Prince, hauing long time lived in finger, and fet it to Hephestions lippes, as great prosperitie, neuer finding Fortune Polygrates any way contrary to him, knowing also in others her instabilitie to be fuch, as it was impossible for a man to passe through the courses of this life, without experimenting her variable trauerfes; was willing to fal into a voluntary misfortune, as hoping (by that meanes) to fatisfie whatfocuer their Riddles . Whereupon the Romaines Fortune could inflict vpon him . Hereupon, taking the Ring which he fo highly eemblazoning the Seale of Octavius, vied ficemed, he threw it into the very deepest as a commo faying; that his Sphinz might place of the Seasto have the leffe hope for raife fome fuch doubtfull cause, as would euer finding it againe; which yet he did, be very difficult to resolue. And this made where it is faid, That Queene Iefabel, wife | as Herodotus maintaineth, by the aduice of Amasias King of Aegypt, and his confederate. It hapned, that within some few dayes after, a Fisher-man presented him with a fifth caught in the Sea, which was very great, and much remarkeable. As the Cooke belonging to Polycrates was in dents do not dreffing the fame fifth, he found in the bo- happen to wells thereof, the Ring which his Lord many men, let departed from the league of friendship

which hee had long continued with Poly-crates, sending him expresse word by his Ambassadours; that it was impossible for

ftion, his choice fauourite, with a fecret

which he had fet downe in a Letter, fhew-

ing it to him, he tooke the Ring from his

a figne of fealing them vp with filence.

had throwne into the Seajan accident very admirable, and fortunate to Polycrates. often. When King Amafias heard thereof, hee

it hapned to him in short time after : For, The forunat King Darius making war against him, was man is altaken in the faid war by Orandus, Ligute- waics waited nant generall to Darius, who caused him on by mistor-

Pliny fayth, that the Stone enchased in Plin in lib. vbi this costly Ring, was a Cornalline : yet Jupra.

those times, that an Emeraulde could bee engrauen? In briefe, it was an ordinarie matter among Princes , to feale Letters with Princes to their Rings. As we may observe by Alexander the Great, who (according as Quintus Curtius, and many more beside doe auouch) being willing to acquaint Hephe-

Suetonius fayth, that Octavius the Emperour vsed the forme of a * Sphinx in his to an Ape or Monky. * A beaft like the Sphinx was a monster like to a * Har- * The monpie, which demaunded many doubtfull from and ra questions of passengers, ouerthrowing Aello Ocypte

and also killing such, as could not resoluc and Celane.

The left hand more at eafe then the right

Souldiers vied then to doe, the right hand hauing no fuch cafe.

Doubtfall figures in Signet Rings

A fignet ring caused the long war be tweene Marius and Silla.

Grandfather to Cato.

Mens figures engrauen in Rings, as in the time of the Remane Emperers.

Rings onely brauery, and the eyes con tentment.

ludith 10,4.

Octavius to alter his Seale, engraving therein the Image of Alexander the great. Mecanas, a great fauourite of the fayde Octavius, had a Frogge engraven in his Seale; and although that creature is naturally very timorous: yet notwithstanding, the Romains greatly feared the Frog of Mecanas, because by vertue of the Mandations fent under that Scale, they payed great subsidies and tributes . Pom-per the Great had a Lion in his Signet.

In briefe, Signets were so much respe-Aed, as it is well remembred, that the Signet Ring of Silla, moued that most cruell warre, which happened betweene him and Marius. In that Ring was engrauen the Image of Bocchus, King of Carthay or Mauritania, whom Silla tooke with king Iugurthe; which was so highly displeafing to Marius, to whom Silla was Licutenant; as hee tooke occasion thereby, to enter open Armes against him. Plime alfo faith, that the Sociall warre, which the Romaines waged against their confederates, was moved by the meanes of a Signet, which procured the enmitte between * Drufus and Scipio.

But passing from these particular Signets of divers Princes, we are to observe, that the Romains caused their owne proper figures to be engrauen in their Rings. As is well deliuered by Plautus, who introduceth a Bawde in one of his Comedies, that by the impression of a Ring, knew the iests and countenance of a fouldier her friend . Neuerthelesse, when the Emperours reigned in Rome; such as then were pleasing to them, carried their Images engrauen in their Signets. It may then be helde for certaine, that (almost) from the beginning of the world (by that which hath already beene faid)Rings were in vie to bee worne, euen as now-adayes they are in many Countries, where Armes and other devices, are ordinarily carried in Rings.

Weemay conclude then, that Rings were made (at the first) for brauerie, and onely to give delight to the eie; as also for fome other reasons, whereof wee shall speake heereafter. And vindoubtedly, the custome of wearing Rings hath beene of long continuance; for, beside the Historeade of that couragious woman Iudith, who having fworne the death of Holophernes, thee put off her mourning garments, and to execute her intention, thee clothed herfelfe with goodly habites, enriching hir comely person with Bracelets, Rings and eare-rings. The Romains likewife wore lewelles, and Rings on all fin- All fingers gers of the hand, except on the middle ringd except finger, which is the greatest about all the finger, other, and which they holde to bee infamous; for a reason, whereof I purpose not now to speake.

Pliny faith, that after the victory which Pompey obtayned in Asia, the Romaines greatly inured themselues to weare rings; and brauery grew then into such request, Winter and that in Winter they yied to weare bigge for Summer. rings: but those appoynted for Summer, were much more light, fubtile and ingeniously made. Also, they named theyr Rings according to the fingers whereon they wore them, as is affirmed by Julius Pelagius. Plinie faith, that the second finger, or that whereon the Romaines beganne to weare their rings, next vnto the Ring-finger, was the first finger, which is nearest to the pulse; and then afterwards they wore them on the litle finger. Moreouer he faith, that many (in his time) wore three Rings on ech finger : neuerthelesse, fuch as were most dainty and curious, would weare but one Ring only vpon the whole hand.

From hence it enfued, that enery Nation beganne to feeke very diligently for Richiftons ftones that were of greatest price and value; onely to serue in Rings as Signets, make Signets and thereon to engrave their denices. Notwithstanding, among the stones of choicest esteeme, that of Pyrrhus (who waged warre against the Romaines) in auncient times was accounted to be most excellent. For, in that precious stone, (without any helpe , invention or arte of The rare pit man) was naturally differend, the figures cious flone of nine goddeffes, and a yong naked child belonging to standing by them: so that they were cenfured, by graue opinion, to bee the portraits of the nine Muses, and of Apollo. A matter very strange, and somewhat difficult to be credited : neuerthelesse, many Authors (worthy beliefe) doe anouch it for a true historic, especially Plinie. And Plinis libral questionles, according to the judgement fupra. ries and Examples before related, wee of Philosophers, this might happen thus naturally, by the great and immeasurable heate of matter confishing in the sayde

be and laiper

ftone;

stone; or elle by some correspondencie, | tally) turned the stone in the Ring toward or celestiall influence, with the Stars and Planets, cuen as a woman may produce a monster, wholly different from humane kind, and by the felfe fame influences.

Albertus Magnus faith, that he fawe at Collen, in the chappell of the three Kings,

a Stone, wherein was naturally figured and discerned two mens heads, placed vp-on a Serpent. Leonardus Camillus, in his Mirrour of precious Stones fayth, that this may be for naturally, affirming more-

ouer, to have feene feauen trees, all of one forme, naturally portrayted in a Stone.

And not to tie my felfe to other mens te-

flimonies, I have observed in Columnes

of Marble and Iasper, men naturally figured, and many other shapes beside, very remarkeable, both for the diversitie of colours, and fingularitie of shadowes naturally thereto belonging. And therefore,

feeing fo manie credible perfons haue

written, concerning the precious Ring-

stone of King Pyrrhus: it might very well

be, that the Nine Muses were therein na-

Now, for that which is reported, as turally figured, and appearing to the life.

touching the Ring of Giges, King of Lydia,

(which Plinie attributeth to King Midas)

it feemes a matter strange and incredible.

This Ring had fuch a property, that being on the finger, and turned to the in-fide of the hand, the wearer went invisible; but turning it to the out-fide, then he was vi-

fible againe, and to be seeue of all men as before; all which was made so publique-

ly knowne, that men tooke it offenfiuely,

ded downe into the gulfe, and found there

a great horse, which was of Brasse, and hollow; within which horffe was a dead

body; of a Giant-like and prodigious statue. He looking confideratly on the huge body, espied a Ring vpon his finger, which he tooke off, and having put it vppon his owne, found himselfe sodainely returned to his fellowes: where they (as then) were

It came to passe, that Gyges (accidenkeeping Cattell.

ROMB. courd.Camil. a Mir.Lap.

Abert. Magnu

islib de prop.

Chap. 24.

The wonder

when they were demaunded, if they had feene Gyges Ring, or no. Plato the divine Philosopher fayth in his Booke of Com-Concerning mon-wealth, that by reason of a certaine Gyes, and in tempest and carriques of the same manner ned, and a great deepe gulfe was publiketempest and earthquake, the ground opely differned. Gyges, being then a Sheepheard, but a man of bolde spirit, descen-

the palme of his hand, and then heard his found our the palme of his hand, and then heard his found our the companions talking of him; as a free was insignify of ablent from their company : wherenpon, the Rings beeing wife and ingenious, hee prefently conceined, that this proceeded from forme hidden vertue in the Ring. So, finding it to be true; and trufting to the feeret vertue thereof, he went to the Court of Candaules King of Lydia; where hee prepayled fo fortunately, that he obtained the loue of the Queene. Afterward, having flaine the King, by meanes of his wife, he posses - in what me fed himselfe of the kingdome, and so be- became king came King of Lydia. Cicerd taketh this of Lydia. narration of Plato; no otherwise then as a morali Fable, applyed by him to colour what he fayd. Philostratus, discourting of Philostratus Serpents and dragons in the Indiaes, faith, discouring of That in certaine Stones, the heads of Ser- flones in inpents and Dragons are to be feene, natu- diarally figured; and that this may be proued by the Ring of Grees. Seeing then, that fo many famous Writers make mention of Gyges Ring, we may well allow it to be a true Historie, and no Fable.

CHAP. XXIIII.

of the properties and vertues, secretly concealed in precious Stones: And whence the vertue proceedeth, which is fayd to be in Magicall Rines.

S touching the before remembred Ring of Gyes, albeit I will not refolutely affirme, that it had (indeede) refused to the refus any fuch propertie (as elfe- infine the where in other places, according as hath hidden vertue beene observed by experience, and as may of Gyges ring be gathered by the writings of divers credible authors, cocerning precious stones, having wonderfull and vnfpeakeable qualities and vertues;) yet notwithstanding, making no fuch strange reckoning of that ring, Magitians have promifed to execute far greater matters, then the ring of Gyges was able to do. Therefore, if that which is written of Giges be true, I am of the mind, that he did it by the Art of Magick, rather then any other vertue elfe: as all they doe,

1930

formation re

each feucrall

Planet, and

Magicall mat sers perfor-med by Aftro

that compasse all their intentions, by the power of Astrologie, obseruing times, as also the aspects and influences of Starres and Planets, whereunto they afcribe peculiar rule, whereof we purpose to speake fomeváát.

But returning to the vertues and properties of precious flones: It is very certayne, that our grave Ancients did place More vertil≥ reputed tobe fuch stones in their Rings, and wore them in precioss ftones, then vpon their fingers, onely to be fenfible the Andror of their properties. Neuerthelesse, although they should be indued with great vertues, yet I am perswaded, that theyr qualities are not so precious, as proclamation is made of them. Wherefore, not to stand on desciphering their virtues particularly, I will direct my Readers to fuch > of fome few, as they have beene (in fome measure) related to me.

> Bookes, where their natures are at large

described; contenting my selfe, to speake

Of the Diamond, and his properties

The Amethyft.

The Rubye.

The Carbun-

The Corall.

The Crystall.

The Iacindi.

charmes and enchauntments, naturally strengthening the heart by his vertues: but especially against illusions of phantasies and spirites, which terrifie by sodaine affrightings. Also I reade, that it is exceeding good for women with child, for the conferuation of their fruit. The Amethyst ferueth as a counter-poylon, and likewife is a defensatiue against drunkennesse. The Balais or Ruby, restraineth the inordinate appetites of the flesh, and is a fourraigne help to the health of any body. The Carbuncle is very preservative against pestior fight: and it also is a restriction and defence, from dreaming of offenflue matters. The Iacinth, is cordiall and comfortable to the heart, in like manner as the Corall is; and is also a soueraigne preferuative against the pestilence.

It is credibly reported and written, that wearing an Emeraulde on the finger, it

maketh the partie chaste and continent, as maketh the partie charge and continent; as hating and despising the lusts of the flesh. | called the And some holde it for certaine, that if it stone of Ch. be worne on the finger of a Maide, that fury. hath loft her virgin honour, it will break immediatly. It is also greatly availeable against cuill spirits, against tempests, and against the falling sickenes. The Cornal. line moderateth all wanton appetites, and The Comalglads the heart wonderfully : this stone is line or Cor. the best of all other to seale withall, because waxe will never cleave vnto it. The Topaze doth appeale the passions of the The Topak mind, affwageth the imperuous tempefts of choller and phrenfies, quite ouerthroweth the melancholy humour; and finally, it purifieth the blood. Behold what feuerall vertues remayne in the fore-remembred Stones.

Many other there are, of great and extraordinary vertue, which I let passe the lightlier, referring the Reader to Aristotle (although the banke of Stones, and bearof precious Stones. Plinie also hath written of them in many places; likewife Vincentius, and many other, whom I spare to

But I pray you, let vs bestow a little confideration, on the perspicacitie and ty of men, by ready apprehension of mans spirit, in fin-enchasing ding out the maner and meanes to fet and enchase precious Stones in Rings, there Rings, by to enloy their proprieties and vertues. Nay, there were some that conveighed poilon into their rings, to compaffe their owne speedy death, if any misfortune did throw them into any dangerous disafter: Ringsinelnotwithstanding it ensued from the instial der times. gation of the divell, inducing divers auncient Pagans to despaire, as may be obferued in fundry olde Histories. Especially renowned Hanniball, who viually ca- Thering of ried poylon in his Ring, whereofhe dyed Hanniball in Bythinia, because he would not fall into fon in it. the hands of Titus Flaminius (Ambassador from the Romaines) his capitall enemies

he having flaine (before) the father of Flan difeafes; asto conferne a man, even for the mimus in Italy: to whom Prusias King of Bythinia, would have delivered Hannibal, thereby to winne grace with the Remanes. Plinie fayth, that the great Athenian Oratour Demosthenes, imitated the very fame example. Heliogabalus, a very vile conditioned

Heliogabalus the Romane

Chap. 24.

prince, ordinarily carryed poyfon in his Ring, and to the fame end : albeit as Lampridius fayth, in reporting his life, he deferued not so honourable a death, as impoyfoning. Pliny speaks of this matter, and maner of carrying poyfons in rings, to bee an ordinary observation, and very common in his time.

Moreover, those ancient fore-goers did fingularly observe the aspects, & influen-

Aspects and influences of the flars enchased in rings, and greatly tru

rall Magicke

raner,being

pplyed for

the curing of fundry infir-

ces of Starres, as well by forging them into their rings, as also by engracing them in stones, when they were to be enchased, by those meanes to give them vertue : a most wicked, vile & vnworthy action, not meet to be remembred amog Christians. And affuredly there are many Authours. which discourse on those Images & Carracters, made by observation of Astronomicall Constellations, and which made promise of mountaines and meruailes by those meanes. Affirming, that ouer and beside the naturall vertue of the stone; it attained to a new firength and quality, by the Image engrauen thereon, as also by the alliance and propinquity, which it had with the mettall wherein it was placed. And they would maintayne, that those Planets and Starres gaue influence, and communicated their virtue to those rings, forged in that ceremonious manner; euen as to the things subjected to their influences; and so by this means, the naturall vertue of those stones, was fortified by the

In this manner, they baptized (by the name of naturall Magicke) this colligation or connexion, which they performed by hearbs, mettalls, perfumes and carracters, and which they vnited or combined together in one ring, faying : That rings composed in that maner, were soueraigne against the Apoplexie or dead palsie, and anguish in the sides. Some there were made proper to rejoyce the heart, to heale and mittigate the rage and fury of a madman; and also that they served as preserva-encreasing of his naturall strength. In briefe, they attributed many admirable proprieties to these Rings, wherein breuitie constraineth me to be filent. Norwithflanding, who focuer defireth to be heere- Helps for in further informd, may make his recourse further into the Mirrour of precious Stones, fet fuch as are downe by Leonardus Camillus, and to Cornelius Agrippa, in his Booke of Secret Philosophie; to Albertus Magnus; and Tal. theus, a Philosopher highly renowned, difcourfing on this Argument; as the like doth Instinatus, Softerinus and diverse o. ther. Neuerthelesse, I doe not great. ly rely on what they have fayd; because I neuer experimented the vertue of Magicall Rings.

Magicall vertue thus attained vnto.

True it is, that such as make profession heereof, do say and auouch, That by obferuing the Constellations, requisite as well for forging the mettall, as for engrauing the stone enchased in the Ring, and vnder the Planet named Mars; that ring west doth fortifie the heart, and hath the retentiue vertue, working many other great effects, almost incredible. Likewise, such Rings as are made under the influence of Mercurie, doe adorne the speaking of a man; and maketh him a fingular Orator, as also apt to deale in merchandise. And fo the like may bee fayde of fuch, as are made under the observation of other Pla-

Others engraue in their Rings, the carracters belonging to the fignes of the Zo. Carracters of diacke, and according to their triplicities, the Zodiack faying ; that they of the first triplicitie, as rings, & their namely, Aries, Leo and Sagittarius, doe vertue ferue for colde diseases, for Feauers occafioned by phlegme, and for dead Palfies. Also the caracters appertaining to the fecond and ayrie triplicitie, as Gemini, Libra and Aquarius; are fingular against corruption and putrifaction of the blood. And so doe they say of other triplicities of the fignes, according to their Elementarie qualitie. And indeed, this observation is very auncient, and was practifed a long time amongest the oldest Philosophers, as well Chaldeans, and Aegyptians, as the

Some also affirme, that the seauen fortunate Rings, which King Lurchas gaue to Appolonius Thyanaus (according as Philociues against poyson, and for many other fratus sayth) were of the same temper. 000

Of rings tearnate rings.

lentiall and infecting ayres, and affwaging luxurious or carnall defires, doth greatly comfort and delight the heart. The Corall contayneth in it divers especiall properties; for it stencheth or stayeth bleeding; it is a preferuarine against gastly vifions, and dreadfull dreames; it is likewife very chearefull to the heart and vitall spirits. As concerning the Crystall, it is foueraigne against fuch persons or things, as can enchaunt or charme by their looks

First then, it is saide of the Diamond, that it is very fingular against forcerie, ing his name, was none of his worke, by plaine appearance;) and to Albertus Magnus, in his Treatife of Minerall matters to the Poet Marbodeus, in his Booke of precious Stones; to Serapion, in his Booke of Simples, to Ifdorus, in his fixt Booke of Etymologies; to Bartholomeus the Englishman, in his Tract of the Properties of natural things; and (about all) to Leenardus Camillus, in his Mitrour or Glaffe

name for breuities fake.

Iarchas was cheefest of the Indian Philosopher

698

A man liued 130.yeares by vertue of a Ring.

Aristophanes in Pluto.

(elfe from his teeth, and from his barking. Erasmus, speaking of these Magicall Rings, hath these words : Some daily wfe to

Erafmus Rotrerodamus. concerning Magical rings

Clausenles de

Difeafes cuted by images pon ftones,

Farther affirming, that the fayd Prince | eafe; but let fuch as pleafe, make their own did daily weare a Ring, answerable to the Planet that day reigning : by the which meanes, he preserved himselfe for an hundred yeares, being alwayes as in the floure of his age. The grand-father to this King Jarchas, lived an hundred and thirty yeres, by vertue of the afore-fayd Rings, beeing continually in manly verdure. And herevpon, the Greekes made great vie of thefe Magicall and sophisticated Rings, as may be seene in the Comedies of Aristophanes, where hee bringeth in a man-Bawde, peremptorily contesting against Difem, who had threatened him, and these are his words: Icare not for all the threatnings that can be veed against me, having this Ring upon my finger, which his Mistresse solde for a Drachma. And thewing the Ring, he proceedeth thus : With this Ring I wil keep my weare Rings, wherein are certayne caracters engrauen, under observation of constellations and aspects of Starres, and firmely holde. that they lerue for diseases in the sides, and are proper (also) for diverse infirmities. Others, imagining this to be true, do counterfeit these Rings; but all is meerely abuse. For, to oine them fuch vertue; the course of the Starres must be diligently observed, and the constellations when they are made. Notwithstanding, many regardenot the influences of the Starres at all; but onely respect the nature of the stone enchased in the Ring, and the carracter there engrauen. This may bee feene in the Bookes of the wings of Rogerius, and in the writings of Leonardus Camillus, as also of Tetellus and Caclus, in those bookes which are attributed to Salomon for their credite, and which amply doe discourse thereon. For, according as Tetellus fayth, a Iaspar stone enchased in a Ring, having the Image of a Maiden engrauen thereon : preserueth the wearer from ill foirits, and from water. If a Lambe be engraven thereon, the Ring defendeth from the Apoplexie, and cureth also the feauer quartane. A Cornalline also, hauing the shape of a man figured thereon, holding in his hand fome goodly and respectable thing; doth stench the fluxe of blood. In briefe, they ipeake of so manie matters, pleafant to heare, and very hard to be credited: as I can fay nothing in the experience of them.

But returning againe to Rings & Signets, in Spaine they ferue in all contracts, What vie is instead of full determination : also in matter of marriage, the two parties give rings in Spaine, to ech other, as a fignall and confirmation of the mutuall promise, which they have made one to an other. In like manner, when religious women doe vndertake the veile; in figne of their profession, Rings are given them, as well from the religious house, as from their Parents, in testimony of this true and chafte marriage. There is yet an other poynt, concerning this case in question, and though of small importance, yet it doth divers needfull fervices. Many will change their Rings from one finger to another, for better remembring farily vied to fome occasion to be performed, which ootherwise might remayne forgotten. Wherefore, if we confider well the vie of speciedby rings, they are not fo much to be blamed, men of honor as Pliny and some others doe: For, (in all times) men of vertue and honour haue vfed them. Hereto we may adde, that God created golde and precious stones, for the feruice of man, and to maintaine him in health; enduing them with fuch fundrie proprieties, to the end they might be the more commodious for men. Finally Rings are particularly attributed vnto Bithops, in figne of dignitie.

CHAP. XXV.

Whenc eit came at the first, that the name of Gentleman was given, as wel to Knights, as to the fonnes of Presidents & Councellers. What Armes the ancient Romans carried: And whence came the invention of emblazoning Armes first in Escutchions.

HE custome ordinarily obferued in France, Italy and Cathonet for Spain, is to call him a Gentle-the filters man, that is a Knight extra-Gentlems. Acd of a noble house; especially fuch a one, as is a Gentleman by name and Arms. Alfo, when a Kiug fends a man of noble house in Embassie, he stileth him fo in his Patent, by these words: I fend you a Gentleman of my house. Kings and Princes, as well in these dayes, as in times past, vsed to haue (ordinarily) in theyr Courts, men of learning, and Knights,

thekings

Gentleman fignifieth No-

Chap.25.

Rings necef-

Bookes of Io-

Budeus his 2. degrees of Romane du-

Gentleman

who were named Gentlemen of the kings house, or Gentlemen servants. And these Gentlemen were discended of great houfes in the Kingdome, as well Schollers as Souldiers, and they remained continually in the Court, attending on the King in times of peace and warre. Wherefore, the name of Gentleman, fignifies afmuch as Noblemman, and extracted of a noble linage. Neuerthelesse, it appeareth not much differing from our purpose, to say fomewhat, concerning whence came the name of Gentleman, or of Gentillitic, together, with the custome of bearing Arms in Escutchions.

As touching the first point, the name of Gentile came from the Latines, who called fuch men Gentles or Gentiles, as Whence the name Gentle or Gentile come at the

were of one and the same race, and of one felfe same name; being at libertie, and of free condition from all Antiquitie: and those houses also were tearmed Auncient Gentiles, euen as now-adayes wee call them houses of Noble race, houses of Gentlemen. Which Cicero well wit-Ckero.in l.Top. neffeth, in his Topickes, speaking thus : IVe call them Gentiles, that are of one name, and who from all times have beene of free condition : fo that no part or parcell of their race. gicalliouenti was ever servant or save, and much leste, degraded from honour, and of the Romaine Burgelbip. And Bætius also savth in his Batius in Topic Topickes, We call ancient Gentiles, all such as are issued of one ancient house and race, franke and free : as were the Scipioes , the family of Brutus of other noble houses of Rome. Cicero likewise taketh this name of Gentile, Mad Alla ver For one that is of our race, and that beareth the same name and Armes as we doe. The learned Budens, speaking of de-uoires or duties of parentage, observed among the Romaines, fayth: They were three in number : Duetie of consanguinitie; Dutie of bloud and linage in direct line: And duety of Gentilitie, as much to fay, as when a man is discended of the same name & Armes. The title then of Gentle or Gentility, was and should be attributed onely to Noble houses. And therefore the name of Gentleman among the Romaines, valued as much as a Nobleman among the Castilians and French. And affuredly, the Romaine Gentlemen did (ordinarily) shew the Images and Deuices of their predeceffors, that had illustrated their memorie by their worthy deedes: and this reprefentation of Nobility, was highly effecmed among the Romaines, cuen as yet to Ancient arms this day, are ancient Armes, and Penons Standards and Standards, belonging to the prede-belonging to cessours of Gentlemen, who would not forget any thing of Antiquitie (concerning their linage) in furreral orations, made at the obsequies of their parents, thereby to have the man accounted to much the

In this respect Cicero reprooued Pife, in the change and pleading he made against him, faying; The honours and effates which thou halt obtayned, were given thee, onely for respect of the (moakie images of thy predeces-(ours, of whom thou car rieft the colour onely; (o that thou canst not be denied to be a Gentle- cicero in Orat. man. And in another place, speaking of lib.3. himselfe, he confesseth: To have no Images of his race; for by his excellent knowledge, admirable wifedome and highly esteemed eloquence, be so much ennobled himselfe; that he came to be Confull of Rome, enjoying other degrees and prerogatives, even as if hee had beene a Gentleman of race, and iffued from the house of a Senatour. Which himselfe alfo further confesseth in his last pleading against Verres, faying : Thou beeing great cicere in De-Surveyour of Rome, for some especiall serui- clanat cont. ces done by thee to the Common-wealth , hast Verres. a place appoynted for thine Image, and enioyest the priviledges of a Gentleman.

I reade, that the Romaines were verie Images made careful of those images, which were called of waxe, and Stemmates: for commonly they were made crowned with of waxe, and placed ouer the portalles of Flowers. their houses; or else prouidently kept in aptly contriued boxes, and so preserved in places appointed for theyr standing, as witnesseth Iunenal, Martial, Seneca, Plinie. and many more.

And when there was question of some publique ceremony or of funerall pompe, the people of the houses would make a goodly shew of the Images belonging to their Auncestours, with their names fixed vpon them, according as Plinie repor- Plininlib, e.s. teth. He also declareth in his ninth booke and fift chapter, that the Romaines would place before their houses, the Ensignes, Penons and other Coates of Armes and spoyles, which they had wonne from their enemies in war, and remained there to perpetuitie : fo that if the house were folde, it was not lawfull for the buyer to take them away, because they served for 000 2

Enfignes and Romans houThe original

of bearing

Armes in an

Eschutchian.

1 Macchab. 13

27,18.19.

Ar nes in vie

long before the Romaines

Or. t.Octa.Im-

The Troyans

Armesypon

new Padua.

Mc [als in lib.

vbi ∫ûpra.

time.

7. Booke

Of the Septuagint.

an honour and preheminence vnto their, who were of the third estate or degree a-

From hence came the custome of bearing Armes in a Escutchian, as now-adaies Gentlemen vie to do. Notwithstanding, received their originall from those devices, which were on the Banners and Enfignes, as well of the Romaines, as other strange Nations, and carried by them in warre. As at this very day, the Emperors beare an Eagle in their Armes; because Iulius Casar, the first Emperour of Rome, The Romane carried an Eagle in his Enfignes. As Engle borne by Emperors. much may be faid cocerning the Flowers de Luces, which the Kings of France carrie, and of diuers other.

Now, concerning mine owne opinion, I finde, that long time before the Romains were, the Armes of Gentlemen were in vie. For, it is faid, in the first Booke of the Macchabees, that Simon, Captaine generall of the Iews armie, made a very fumptuous sepulcher for his father, mother and brethren, which was enriched with Pyramids and Pillars, whereon was engrauen Ships, in maner of a Deuice; and thereon were fixed coats of Armes, wherewith he had vanquished his brethren . Messala Coruinus, in the Oration which he made. to honour the linage of the Emperour O-Etanius (although the Oration descrued not the title of Meffala, alleadging Virgil, vpon that he wrote; affirming Antenor the Troian, to be the founder of Padua) fayth; The Troians Armes were placed by Antener, on the Temple of new Padua; and that the emblazon of the Armes, was a Swine in a field golde. So that, if Messala do speake truely, the vse of Armes is very auncient. Heereupon I conceine, that the emblazons of Gentlemen, took name of Armes or Armories, because they were continually engrauen neare to their Armes. For, as Meffala faith; Our Auncients, after they had obtained any victorie, ordinarily placed in their Temples, the Armes and Ensignes, wherewith they wonne the victorie from the

Wherefore we may well fay, that the name of Gentleman, and the manner of bearing Armes in Escutchions, is no moderne matter, but very auncient; and that the name of Gentle or Gentile, came from those ordained and appoynted for very ancient horssemen in the Romaine Cauallerie:

mongst the common people. And they that wore the long robe or Gowne, were the Order of Senators, and their sonnes aunciently called Patricians; asmuch to it seemes that the emblazoning of Armes, fay, as iffued from fathers. For, in the time of Romulus, according as Titus Liuius aof Romutus, according as 1 um 1 um a- Senators Fa. uoucheth: The Senatours were called Father, & there, & there thers, and their sonnes Patricians, and this fonnes Padegree was the most noble and chiefest in tricians. Rome. Other Gentlemen, that were not of this rancke, were stilled Knights: from whence infued, that Gentlemen in Spaine are called Cheualiers. The like wee fay of the long gowned men, who commaund ouer the people, as Senatours; and yet notwithstanding, they come after the other. Briefly, the name of Knight is come to fuch credite, as the very greatest doe Knight holde themselues honoured to bee called Knights: albeit the name of Knight was but the proper title of a Souldier of the ordnances, or of the light horse.

CHAP. XXVI.

¶ Of the Septuagint , or Seauentie Translatours of the olde Testament, out of Hebrue into Greeke : At what time it was done, and for what occasion.

Veryman is very briefe, concerning the traduction of the Seauentie perfors, who translated the Olde Testament out of Hebrew into ment out of Hebrew into

Greek; but yet very few do know, whence Septuagint, it came, and wherefore that translation was so appointed: wherein affuredly, many Diuines, in their publique preaching, haue declared ouer-much floath & negligence. First then it is to be observed, that this Translation of the Seauentie men, hath beene only in the Church holily and religiously respected : but in the time of Pope Damasus, Saint Hierome converted The credite's it into Latine. And to speak seriously, the authority of traduction of the Septuagint hath beene sprua-offuch authoritie, that it is alleadged for tion. diuine; for so it appeareth by our blessed Saujour and his Apostles, in often alledging Scriptures, according to the faide Translation.

And because the historie of that Tran- | a great part of Europe and Affrica : he died flation is very worthy and famous, I will fer downe that which is fayd by Saint Augustine, in his Booke of the Citic of God, Is sephies the lew, Eusebius, Irenaus, Iustinus, Ruffinus, and many other.

Here is to be noted, that the five books of Moles, the Prophets, and other Histor ries of the holy Bible, were first of al written in the Hebrew tongue, which was the first vsuall tongue among men; before the confusion of Tongues, which happened at the building of the Tower of Babylon. In that tongue and language God spake first to his Prophets; as the like our bleffed Lord and Saujour did, when he was conuerfant among men. This language then being particular to the Iewes, and the mysteries and prophecies (as also the coming of Christ)being concealed therein: it was very requisite, that such mysteries should bee written in a tong more common then the Hebrue: as that was then among the Greekes, who were fole Governours of the wide Vniuerse, by the fresh and recent victories of Alexander the Great. So that by the frequentation and traffique of men, the Greeke tongue had courfe ge. nerally, and was esteemed the most common of all other Languages whatfor-

To the end then, that the mysteries of facred Scripture, might bee understood of enery one . before the comming of Ic. fus Christ; it was requisite of necessitie. that the Scriptures should be traduced into a common and vulgar tongue; for feare left the Iewes at the Messas his coming thould suppresse them or elfe fallifie them (for that race of people was of bolde and most wicked inclination) because it might not be fayd, that the Christians had added or diminished any thing from the Scriptures, according to their owne humour and phantalie. And therefore, about two hundred and feauentie yeares before the Incarnation of Jesus Christ, it pleased the goodnesse of Almightie God, to in-Spire Ptolomie Philadelphus King of Egypt, to procure the translation of the holie Bible.But feeing we are fallen into discourse of that Prince; we will reach into his Historie somewhat higher.

After that Alexander the great had fubdued Asia (which he performed in small compasse of time) and that he had ranged without any lawfull heire, that might fucceede him in such great Empires . He being dead, the Princes and Captains of his Court, who were all most valiant and famousmen: laboured by force of Armes to possesse themselves of what they posfibly could: So that the kingdomes appertaming to Alexander onely, became divided into many parts: for Antigonus possesfed himfelfe of Afia; Selenchus of Chaldea, Alexanders and of many other Prouinces. By the Kingdome di same meanes also Ptolomie, the sonne of Lagus made himfelfking of Egypt, of Phameia, of Cyprus, and diverse other Countries, among which Iudea then was one. Being Lord of Judea, he made there many great booties, leading away store of lewes captines into Egypt, where hee had ordained the chiefe feate of his Kingdome. So that he was the first King of Egypt, that The first Procalled himselfe Ptolomie : which name re- Egypt, after mayned hereditary to the fucceffours in the fayd Kingdome; for, before that Cambyfes, sonne to Cyrus, King of Persia, had conquered Egypt, all the Egyptian Kings called themselves Pharaohs. But returning againe to our Ptolomie, after he had reigned a long time, he dyed, and then succeeded him Ptolomie Philadelphus, who likewife reigned peaceably in Egypt.

This Prince gaue leave; and fer at libertie all the lewes , which his father led prisoners into Egypt. And then it came to passe, according to the pleasure of Al. mightie GOD, that this King credted a goodly Librarie, in Alexandria the gapitall Cittie of Egypt, by the meanes of Demetrius Phalareus the Athenian; a man much renowned for his knowledge ; and to whome hee gaue full power and com- Scholler to mission. So that, by the diligence of Phalarens, hee compassed the finishing of the fairest and most compleate Librarie, that euer was feene in the world, as well for number of Bookes, as the qualitie of Authours, and divertitie of disciplines.

This King, understanding that the Books of the Iewes, contained admirable and vnexpressable mysteries, resolued to haue them reduced into the Greeke language. And to effect this his purpose, he dispatched an Embassie to Eleazar, Prince Ambassage to of the Iewish Synagogue, with great pre- Eleazar the fents; intreating him, in memory of fauors \lew.

000 1 done by eg in Cinit.

Chap.26.

The hebrew tongue the

God spake to his Prophets in the hebrew

The Greeke med the mo

The necessity

The death o

Noble Philofopher and Oratour, lent verrues governed the Athenians ten yeares.

Gentleman,&

And

Chap.26.

692

by him to those of his Nation, and for the good neighbourhood betweene them, to fend him a Bible in Hebrue, as also such lerned and skilfull men, as could translate it into the Greeke tongue. Infephus and Eu-Cebius have fet downe the forme of the Letter, which was as followeth:

The Tenour of the Letter. fent by King Ptolomy Philadelphus, to Eleazar the High-Prieft.

Ptolomy a King, to the High-Priest Eleazar, health. JO man can be ignorant, that manie

Iewes have dwelt in this kingdome of Egypt, being brought thither prisoners by

The Icwes were divers times broght as cantilles in to Egypt, by conquefts ouer them.

King Ptolomy vied great kindnelle and humanity to the lewes.

He defireth

the full furn

fhing of his goodly Ly-

the Perfians, at fuch time as they fubiugated Iudea. And againe, when the late deceatled king my father brought divers hither alfo, to whom (neuertheleffe) my faid Lord & Father trufted fo much, that they did him feruice in his warres : yea, he planted them in strong forts, by way of Garrifons, to keep the Egiptians in awe & feare. As for my selfe, from such time as I came to the Crowne I have alwaies yied humanity towards your Nation, and have fent home more then 100000 that were detained here as flaues, paying their ranfome & charges to them that held them prisoners. Such as defird to follow the wars, to them I haue giuen wages, euery one answerable to his worth and merit. Many of them I have lodged in mine owne house ordinarily, as hoping by this means, to do fomewhat acceptable to God, who delivered this Kingdome into my hands.

And the better to declare the affection I beare in doing all pleafures that I can to you, and all the rest of your nation, aswell for the time present as to come: I have determined, to cause your Bookes in the Hebrew language, to be translated into the Greek tong, because I would not have my newly crected Library, to remaine vnfurnisht any way. And therefore you shall do me a great fauor, to chuse sixe auncient men out of each Tribe, that are expert in your Lawe, and well versed in the Greeke for this intended translation. Not doubting, but that it will redound to our great honour, and ample contentment of mind. For this purpose, I have sent vntoyou Andress and Aristess, who more at large will informe you of mine intention : to them great hoogy haue I delinerd large fummes of gold and worth filuer, to fulfill the Sacrifices as I have appoynted them, defiring you to fend mee by them, fuch as may further this negotiation. Affuring you, that you cannot doe me a greater pleasure, nor more, to maintaine the friendship begun betweeneys:

if (as I intreat you) this may be done with

Prolomie.

some expedition.

After that the High-Priest Eleazar had received the Kings Letters, and understood the further trust referred to the Am- Eleazar en bassadors; he entertained them very honorably, receiving (with chearefull looks) very bonce the golde and filuer fent by king Ptolomie, rably. which (according to Josephus) was a mightie quantitie. And having affembled the principall men of the twelve Tribes of I/rael, hee acquainted them with the Kings intention, and to what end he had fent the Ambassadors. Wherein, to fatisfie his defire, they elected out of each Tribe fixe aged men, well experimented in the Lawe, and expert in the Greek language. For the Iewes had a custome to send their people into Asia, to learne the Greek and Latine frequenting tongues, as also the Artes and Sciences Asia, learned comprised vnder those languages, euen and Latine as yet to this day they observe the same; Languages, fo that all the men made choice of, were seuenty two. After they were thus chofen, they were fent with the Ambassadors to King Ptolomie, and the Bookes of the Old Testament with them, written (as Jofephus fayth) in most places all in golden Letters, and wpon fuch parchment, the most ingeniously made that euer was feene. Moreouer, he fent divers great gifts to the faid Prince, returning him answere in maner following.

The Answere of the High-Priest Eleazar, to great king

> Eleazar, to his friend King Ptolomie health.

T Am very glad of your prefent welfare, Priefts vied and the health of Queene Arfinoe your to write very wife, with the young Lords your Sonnes, familish of gardinary or any thing you can with to your con-with thing the tentment: certifying you likewife of my they were inflant.

instant healthfull condition. By the Mif- they setled themselues to the Bibles transfine you fent voto mee, I voderstand the faire love and affection, which you beare to our Nation, and have caused your letters to bee publikely read before all the people, and to let them fully understand, what holy denotion you declare towards God; I have exposed to open view, the twenty Vossels of gold, and thirty of filuer, together with fifty Cups, and a Table of filuer for the facrifices, befide forty Talents of gold, and as many of filuer, fent by you to furnish the Ornaments of our Temple. All which I have received from the hands of the Noble Lords Andress and Aristeus, your faithfull Counfellors and Ambaffadors, who have amply enstructed vs in the cause by you re-

A confession of the Lewes mablenes to requite so

by them, to accomplish your good plea-And because the extraordinary great fauours which you have done to them of our Nation, are such, as it is impossible for vs to vie or return any condigne requital: wee must make our recourse to folemne prayers and facrifices, for the profperity of you, of your Queene, and of the Noble Lords your formes. In which holy action, all our people very voluntarily defire to imploy their vtmost paines, in craning of God, to further and finish your defires, as lation was perfected. Nay more, he affirmay best stand with the conservation of meth to have feene the ruines and olde your Estate, and maintainance of your Kingdome in glory and honour.

quired. And therefore we have fent them

backe againe vnto yee, offering our felues

Now concerning the Translation of the Bookes of our Law, by you fo greatly and earneftly defired; we have elected fix Auncients out of our feuerall Tribes, who we fend vnto you with the Bookes of our Bible. But when the Translation shall be perfected; according to the office of a just and louing king, wee defire that they may be fent back againe to their natiue Country.

Eleazar, and the people of the Iewes,

. 220 When King Ptolomy had receyued the Letters of Elazar, with the Books of the Bible, and fuch Presents as were sent by Eleazar; he most royally welcommed the feuenty two aged men, and (as Iofephus faith) loyed not a little for their arriwall. Their lodgings being prepared, & all things necessary for their imployment, lation: wherein happened an admirable and miraculous case; for the seuenty two men being placed feparately, according to the kings Commission, without any meanes or power of conferring one with another: after they had thus dividedly finished their Translation, they all appeared before the King with their feuerall labours, and were found therein all so coforme and agreeing, that one man had not a fillable more then another; which doubtleffe could not bee done, without the power and especiall grace of the holy Ghoft, according to the faying of S. A. gustine, Ireneus and Tertullian; who auou

Ang.in Civit. cheth in his time, to have seene at Alexirencus cont. andria in Egipt, the written Bookes of the Tertud.cont. feuenty two Translators, vnder their own hands, which were in Hebrew and in Grecke.

As much is faid and maintained by Infinus the Philosopher, in the book of Adtustin.in Aduer uertisements, which he wrote to the Gentiles and Pagans, where he speaketh thus. King Ptolomy caused to bee builded without the Citty of Alexandria, seventy two Halles, to lodge therein separately, the seventy two Translators, and there provided for them all things necessary, in most honourable manner. In which places the Translators remained without feeing one another; untill the trans-wals of those buildings, which were eftee med as reliques and facred things. And although S. Hierome and Ruffinus do difagree concerning the number of those The diffrence Halles or Chambers: yet notwithstanding, that is no matter of any moment, co- about the fidering (according to S. Argustine, and buildings. many other Authors) each Translatour wrote his bookes alone by himfelfe, not any way conferring one with another, and yet neuerthelesse, all the Translations were found conformable. And affuredly, when I confider aduifedly on this mystery, I hold it for a mighty miracle, that they should agree in such ble conformi a conformity of fille, order and method, reducing matter fo long and diuers, although they had beene admitted altogelog labour. ther, and had begun the worke with their owne agreement, because we see it a matter of no meane moment, to finde two me agreeing voon one and the fame point, amazed at the facred Scrip-

> ently seene, came from God; and no Lawyer ever durst be so bold, to meddle withit vnreverently, or mifufe any text therein contained. Theopompus was smitten with the hand of heaven with an extraordinary perturbation in his senses, and mighty paine at his hart: because he medled with the holy Histories of

to him againe.

answered.

of the Iewes ? Whereto Demetrius thus the Hebrues among his owne, beautifying the

with borrowed words, and rhetoricall phra-

fes. But upon bis true repentance and humi-

I remember also to have read, that Theo-

dorus a Tragicall Poet, lost his fight fodainly argument in his Tragedy : and yet upon his unfeigned repentance, his fight was restored

course of Demetrius, placed the translated

Bible in his Library, and having thanke-

fully respected the ancient Iews, he licen-

fed their departure, giving to each man

fumptuous gifts; thanking likewife (by his Letters) the Prince Eleazar, to whom he fent Kingly prefents. Thus you fee, how the translation of the Septuagint was performed, they being men (as S. Augustine and Saint Hierom (aide) that then had the fpirit of Prophesic: which appeared plainly, in that our bleffed Lord and his Euan-gelists, alledged Scriptures according to their translation. And if perhappes any thing is found in the Hebrew Bible, which

King Ptolomy wondering at this dif-

Sir, this Law, as your selfe have suffici-liation to God, committing him felfe wholly to his mercy, it was revealed to him in his fleep: Gods facted word hath no that this disaster happened to him, because he durst be fo bolde, to embellish and enrich the need of mens vaine adorfincerity of holy Scripsure, with surious and ning. adorning words : and thereby to impart them to Pagan and Infidell Nations.

prophaning

Scriptures.

for taking a place of Scripture to maintaine an gicall Post, when they are to intermeddle with one is not in the translatio of the Septuagint, argument together. But, after the translawee may well fay, that the holye Ghost tion was finished, the Icwes which dwelt would not reueale it by their means. And contrarywife, if something beein their in Egypt, and were very learnedly skilfull in their Law, commended these Sacred translation & is not in the Hebrue text: writings to the King, wherewith hee was we must verily beleeue, that the blessed Spirite reuealed the paffage by their most highly pleased. And according as 10meanes. For the felfesame Spirit that di- One and the (ephus and Eulebius do maintaine, King Ptolomy, beeing amazed at those Scriprected the Prophets, when they fet down tures, and the holy mysteries in them their Prophesies in writing, gouerned the Prophes the featienty two Translatours in tradu- and Septia. comprized, demanded of Demetrius Phalarem, who had the charge of his Library, cing the holy Bible; fo faith S. Augustine, how it hapned, that Lycurg w., Solon, and concerning the version of the Old Testaother Law-makers, were filent in this law ment.

This was the first, before the comming of Iclus Christ; for, after our Sauiours Passion, Aquila the Iew wrote another. Aquila the Two other translations were afterwardes fecond tranperformed, but by whom it was not kno- flation. wen : notwithstanding, they came to the hands of Saint Hierom, as Enfebius ma- Rulib in Hid. keth mention in the fixt booke of his Ec. Beclef lib. 6. clesiasticall history. By these translations the Bible was reduced out of Greeke into Latine : but Saint Hierom did his out of Hebrew into Latine, without staying on the Septuagints labour, nor the other Grecke translations . Beside Psalmes and other thinges are fung and fayde in the Church, whereof no disputation neede to be made, whether they were of S. Hieroms

CHAP. XXVII.

writing or no.

■ Of the admirable vertues and proprieties. which God and Nature hath given water the Ant, Emmet, or Piffe-mire: And what worthy examples have from it bin derined.

Chap.27.

Of the Ant or Pisse-mire.

few people; I purpose to say something of the Ant, Emmot, or Piffe-mire, albeit may thereby take occasion to condemne my discourse. Neuerthelesse, let their humors ferue them howfocuer, I cannot exclude this creature out of our rich & spacious Forrest: for there is not any garden how warily or closely soener it bee kept; but the Ant will make his entrance, euen in despight of the Master and Owner. And how little in our judgement and substace of the creature, it feemeth to vs; yet many renowned Authors haue written won-

Very true it is, that Pliny fayeth; This creature is unprofitable, and of no worth at all, but onely for it felie: when contrariwife,

the Bee, as little as is is , doeth (nevertheleffe)

giue a pleasing taste to our food, by the sweet

Tauour of his hony, whereas the Ant doeth

gnaw and eate them. But yet in another place, he speaketh wonders of the Ant,& extolleth it extraordinarily. For, concerning the blamefull imputation hee impo-

der things, in such kinde as duly apperrai-

neth to them, we should finde more profit from the Ant, then from the Bee. For the Ant ferueth vs as an example of indu-

ftry, prouidence and friendship, and of

der what paine and folicitude the taketh,

and to learne discipline and direction of derfull things thereof.

Planial S.c. 2. The Ant

The Ant will

haue roome

in all mens

feth on this little creature, it proceedeth from a certaine kinde of Couctoufneffe, whereunto man is so inclined for his own particular profit, that he would derive benefit from all creatures . how finall focuer neffe of men they be, being greatly offended, that our 10 gather benefite from all Ant should prouide it selfe of one poore graine of Corne. But if we would confi-

many other vertues beside, related at Prou. 6, 6, 7, 8. large by Salomon in his Prouerbes, who fendeth the fluggard to the Ant, to confi-> her. For, having neither guide or Captaine, or any to command and direct her : Thee prepareth her food in the Summer for Winter. From hence it enfued, that Saint Am-brofe (speaking of this filly little creature) vieth these words: The deffeignes and enterdotrof in Ho. prifes of the Ant, being justly confidered, do mil. timis feet. farre exceede her power and strength. And although she have none to incite her to labor: yet notwithstanding, by a vertaine kind of dominion or authority, she provideth for afterclaps and future necessities . Behold what coueting things curious, and knowne to | Saint Ambrose hath saide, who speaketh much more amply concerning the pro prieties of this little Ant; whereon Cicero in regard of the creatures smalnesse, some likewise discoursing, sayeth: That the Ants ciecro in Tus-Commonwealth is to be aduited to every City.

For not onely they have understanding like other Animalles : but also they have fense, reason, and memory.

Pliny, Aristotle, and Elianus, are veric Pliny, Aristotle, stayed in judgement, for their confideration of the Ant, and not without great reason: for in duly obseruing her forme, her dreadfull afpect, her hardnesse, her liuely colour, and her piercing fnowte; there is not any Lion fo fierce as this creature, were it but as great as it is little: it is fo strong, bold, and dreadfull. First, there is not any animall, that can carry the weight of himfelfe : but the Ant Nobeastable carrieth and draweth ten times a heavier tobeare to load then it felfe, fo that if this smal creatithen as the: ture were as great as a horse, it would ea- Antfily beare the burthen of foure Waggons. Other beafts can hardly defend thefelues against her affaults; for, although fliec is fo finall a worme, yet notwithitanding, her teeth are fo ftrong, as the very hardeft graine of Corne is not able to withstande them. Nay, the wil carry hard ftones in her teeth, and howfoeuer the fafteneth voon them, thee will fquash and bruife them, holding them fo forcibly: that no pincers her teeth, are able to open her mouth. And so opinitiue is the is of her power, as theewill rather fuffer her felfe to be rent in pecces, then to forfake whatfoeuer fhee holdeth: which strength would be farre greater, if her body were equivalent thereto. But leauing her strength (whereof fo small account is made, in regard of her litlenesse) let vs somewhat consider the naturall inftinct, together with the vertue & wisedome abiding in her. For nature (thoroughout the whole wide world) hath not are in the Aut produced any other creature, making by naturall infting, more demonstration of vertue, then the Ant: nor fuch profession of amity, induftry, prouidence, and divers other fingular vertues, as wee shall have occasion to speake of heereafter, in theyr apre pla-

In the prime place. Ants have the form of a Commonwealth among themselues, according as Pliny faith; for they have neither King, Lord, nor any Commander; as much is affirmed by Aristotle and Saloneuer any Warre or citill contention among them. Likewife they are neuer feen to fight or kill one another, 'as men doe: but, as hath bene observed, all labour for any thing for private vie, as other Creatures do, that fight for feeding of theyr their prouision generally for all together;

How they sup conducting home their store, and make ply one anoneffe in liking their prouifio.

Ante: haue

ner altoge-

his fellowe gives his supply, and in such naturall understanding, to dry and refresh heavy to bee carried away with their prouision, they take so much thereof asis needfull, and easie to bee trained along, going on together fo chearfull and dexterioufly, that they may well be faid, to bee creatures fit and apt for portage. Other creatures have their neftes and retreats a their dwelling part by themselues, so that (oftentimes) in frendly ma they necessarily war against them of their kinde, for their nests and lodgings: wherany divided chambers or Parlors for particular persons: by which meanes, they another, therein giuing vs a familiar ex-

> Moreover, the industry which they declare in their Cauc or roome, is a matter maruellous; because if it bee possible for them, they will alwayes make their dwelling nere to a riner, or fome little running brooke, and plant the earth which they bring to the mouth of their caue to ferue as a rampier against rough winter, as fearing least water should winne entrance: & within the entry, they winde and turned diners wayes, to the end, that their maine abiding should not easily be found, & the

> ample, to vie the like lociable vertue as

Beside, they have three roomes or sta-Creatures. In the third stage they make ding or diforder. their Garner, wherein they bestow theyr

mon: And yet their Commonwealth is so food and prouision, according as Aristowell policied and ordered, as they have the affirmeth. Vling their flore so measurrably, as they never have any want of victuals. And because the most part of their purueyance is Corn to preferue it in fuch fort, that moysture may not make it the Weale-publike, without laying afide | sprout; they bite and nibble the Graine within the midft, where the forouting vffueth foorth; a thing most admirable and miraculous in Nature, notwithstanding, Ants helpe and affift one another, in | Pliny, Alianu, and many other good au- A miraculoui thors, do anouch it to be certaine & true. | industry inthe If they finde their Corne to bee wette and feruing her and if any one be ouer-loaden or wearie, moissined with winter raines, they have a provision, decent manner, as one is no hinderance to it agains in the Sunne, to preferue it from another. And if there be any thing ouer | putrifying : so that the little poote Ant is neuer idle either day or night, for then the vieth the helpe of the Moone, when the Sunne-shine is denied her, which ensueth from incomparable prudence.

Such as have written on this argument, and daily experience confirmes the same, that the Ants are well inured to thefe la- endeuour fo bors; for they dayly rome abroade from feeth supply their Caues, to bring home fresh and new nourishment. And after that such nouell as the like filly Ants haue but one roome prouisions is brought in, whether theyr or receipt for them all in general, without | knowledge confifteth in the fmelling it, or by a naturall instinct given from God, enstructing how to order and vse it, all come maintaine loue and friendship one with forth together, to refresh both their olde and new prouision, and following theyr guides in great crowds, conney their store in all by one way, without the least injury one to another: because in doing a kinde of couttesie, they make way for each o- in the portige thers free paffage, and sometimes walk on of their proin couples together.

Now here is a further matter to be obferued, what order they keepe, when they come to the place, where they do charge themselves with their provision. For some get the Corne out of the straw; Others, carry it to the Caue, at the entrance wher- Themaner of of, there stand divers other readie to re- carrying their criue it, and so conuey it into the garner, the garner, & mouth or doore is very narrow, in regard of the spacious field within.

euery one doing his duty according vnto in what must his office and degree. And when they call a chelping are helping ry a Peafe, a Chiche, or some other grain, one to allo ges within their Caue; one whereof is for more weighty then a graine of Wheate; ther. the males, the second for the Females, three or soure undertake the burthen, or where they produce their yong ones, for fo many as the case requireth, pacing on there are male and female of these small very gently together, without any crow-

And if by chance they come vnto any

Arift in Lib. de

ties in the Ant are anouched

Thefe admi-

The Ant de-

wout and reli-

Many melefic

that maketh

prouision for

history recorded by Clean thes and Elia-

place, irkesome or offensine to their pasfage, the order is admirable which they obserue therein. For, some raise up the loade aloft, and others labour to thrust it forward, by stepping vnder to ease theyr fellowes: and if any meete them accidentally by the way, they all lay helpe to get home the burthen. And being come vnto the Caues entrance, if the graine be grearer then the mouth thereof will admitte: they cut it in quarters, and fo carry it into the Granary. In the while of this their bufie toile, others are not negligent, in bringing home purneyance beside: so that wee may fay (in conclusion of this point) all generally labour for the Weale publique.

Chap.27.

After their prouision is thus made, and their Garner well stored for the season, they fortifie and fast close vp the Caue, against the injurie of winters stormes and raine: norithing themselves all the while, with their plenty formerly brought in . W hich naturall instinct is denied vnto all other Animals, man onely excepted: and yet there are many men, scarfely prouided for a morrowes necessity. Moreouer, that the Ant maketh a double prouision for her age, is very confiderable; for, according as Virgil faith : She provideth for her agedyeeres, which ensueth to her by instinct of Nature, preparing still (euery yeare) for a following Winter, implying the Winter of

This creature, hath also a naturall inclination, quite contrary to all brutish behaujour. For the feemeth to have fome knowledge of God, and a kinde of religious vnderstanding. For as Pliny and Ælian do both affirme, they obserue Religiously certaine festinal daies, as all the newe Moones; a matter fomewhat hard to bee credited, and yet possible neuerthelesse. The same authors say also, that they have a naturall kind of charitie amongst them; The Ant chabecause they will bury their dead, euen in meere compassion.

> Cleanthes reporteth an admirable history, which by Aelian is maintained to bee true. Cleanthes beeing a learned Philosopher, and fitting one day by an Ant hillocke, to confider their naturall disposition : he espied two Ants bearing a thirde Antthat was dead, and comming neere to the Caues entrance, which belonged to the other dead; they fet downe theyr

load, and two other Ants came out of the Caue to them, feeming to confer & ralke together by outward action. The last two returned into the caue againe, & brought foorth a little Worme betweene them. which the other received of them, as in payment for their paines, and returned backe, leaving the dead Ants bodie, that they of the Caue might give it buriall the which they presently did, so soone as the pers, laborious, prouident, and charitable; aptly therein enstructing the spirit &

understanding of men; not reputing the Ant to bee so vnbeneficiall, as Plinie did.

thogh it produce no hony or other food.

Yet it is greatly availeable for the health

ofman, especially her Egges, which (as thes in the face : and Ants beeing eaten,

dooth cure all diseases incident vnto the Neuerthelesse, because this poore A-

nimall feeds on graine, herbes, and fruits

of trees, onely to conferue her felfe in her a little vnflaked Lime, killeth Ants. He fayth moreouer, that damming vppe the mouth of their Caue with Sea-mud and withstanding, there is not any thing more proper to kil Ants, then the Hearb called Heliotropium. And beside, Auicenne studied in a whole Chapter how to be thedeath

of this poore Creature, taking as much

paines therein, as if it had beene to expel

other were departed.

Vndoubtedly, it is a matter maruellous, What an exthat thefe creatures, being fo final, as fom ample the of them can scarfely be seene, should thus in many matferue as an example to me, to fludy peace ters. and concord, and to be good house-kee-

Pliny faith) being incorporated with the milke of a Bitch, healeth all paine and anguish in the ears. If they be beaten in pour helpefull for der, they make an Vnguent, which mixed paines in the with falt, taketh away all pimples and pu-being, and to perpetuate her generation. whereby some damage may redounde to the fields: reuengefull man, finding himfelfe offended at fo little harme, hath intiented a thousand wayes to worke her onely to dedeath. For (as Pliny fayth) the power of froy it. Origan, incorporated with fulphure, and Meanes wher-Ashes, they can neuer get forth. Not- by to kill beds of Ants.

the plague, or the featier quartane. I reade of certaine Ants in the Region of the Dardas, who doe inhabite the East Indiaes, toward the North seashores, Wolues, that which are as groffe and great as Wolues, caft vp Golde

Antsin India, as big as our

Their caue is nere to fome

they do.

Brook or Ri

The Tree of

dife, prefer-uing from

Life lasteth

longer or les

and the people fearé them as they do Lyons, according to the testimony of divers Authors. And some say, that in digging and turning up the earth, they throwe up great quantities of gold; which the country people go to gather, when these dreadfull Ants are retired; which they dare not do, if they but fent them in the fields. For fontetimes, these Antes having winded those seekers for Gold, rush foorth vpon them, and kill as many as they can meete withall.

Riding on light Camels, to escape fro

And they have no other means to feek for gold with fafety, but by comming thither mounted uppon light Camels, for their better expedition in flight. And if (by mischance) these Ants do winde those Gold-finders: they have some peece of flesh hanging about them, which sodainly they let fall, and so escape away. Finally, it feemeth a thing monstrous, that our Ants thould be charged with wings : Neuerthelesse, there is a common Prouerbe, saying: To the damme of the Ant, wings are proper. Whereby it appeareth, that some further meaning is hid therein: because fuch creatures as haue Wings, the winds will carrie them whether they pleafe.

CHAP. XXVIII.

From whence it proceedeth, that some men line long, and others farre leffer wohile. And what complexion is the best for liuing long. Also how we are to understand the place, where it is faid, that The dayes of a man are numbred.

HE Apostle S. Paul sayeth, That all men are subject once to dye, and therein all men are equall and alike. Notwithstanding, there is a difference in the tearmes of life; because som liue long, and other leffe space. Nevertheleffe (as Iob faith) The time of our life is compassed, and no man can passe the boundes which God hath limited and determined to our life. These things then standing thus (as in truth they do) it is not ill or amiffe, to understand that which causeth the life another swhat complexion is most proper for long life: and laftly, how it ought to be understood, when it is faid, that our dayes are counted and determined, being no way able to passe on further which are points sufficiently obscure, and comprehended by few people.

To vnderstand therefore the cause of The hermon long life, it behooueth vs to presuppose of the source in the first place, that the life of man, and qualities go maintenance of this his humane bodie, uernethebo confifteth in the concord and hermony of the foure Elementary qualities whereof it is composed, as namely heate, colde, movsture, and drinesse. But expressely in the proportionable hermony of heate and moisture, which Aristotle well declareth: who onely maketh mention of the conuenicncy of these two qualities, for the support and continuance of man. In like maner, we perceive by experience, that man hath little care of his owne failing, fo long as he keepeth his naturall heate: for that heate is the principall instrument, to conferue the vegetative foule.

Now, to speake vprightly, the life of man confisteth in nothing else, then in life of man maintaining the instruments and organes mainly confi of the foule; among which, naturall hear fteth natural (by right) holdeth the prime place: for the chiefe in this heate is fo necessary to support mans farument, body, as whenfoeuer it is failing, the foul is constrained to forfake the body, & giue a period to the life of man. And because this naturall heate holdeth of fire, which (of his owne nature) confumeth whatfoeuer it meeteth withall : it was truely conuenient, that another contrarie qualitie should be opposed against it, for conferuation of the inferiour bodies. Vppon Of the radiwhich occasion, God placed the radicall hamour. or naturall humor, with this natural heate, onely to nourish and maintaine it, euen as fire feedeth it felfe by Oyle. And, in regard that this radicall humour confumeth turall defect. But seeing that (according to Aristotle) which is cause the humor which is cause of digestion, is of digestion, neuer so perfect as the radicall and natu-tall, although it serveth much for mainteof man; wherefore one liueth longer then nance: of necessity the radical humor deand diminisheth it selfe daily; to supply &

defend it, it was necessary, that all Creatures should browse and feede, and that by meanes thereof, the humor (being the cause of digestion) should supply the na-

heate being

cayeth it felfe dayly (for the accidentall | faile, who hath as much of the moys? huhumour, cause of digestion, is neuersfo perfect as the radicall, which vanishesh away) and by this meanes of intirely vanithing, naturall heate loofeth it felfe, and the body takes ending. For, if the humour radicall, and cause of digestion, were so perfect as the naturall humor vanished away, a man should live infinitely, according as Diuines fay. Who maintain, that the propriety of the Tree of life, which life in the ter-God placed in the terrestrial Paradise, confisted in this principally: that eating the fruite thereof, it should re-establish the radicall humor, that elfe would vanish & be loft. From hence it enfued, that this tree was prohibited to Adam and Eue, aftenthey were excluded out of terrestriall Paradife. For if our first Parents had kept themselues in their originall righteousnes; they and their fucceffors, feeding on the fruite of that tree, had lived eternally in the flower of their time, without euer tafling corruption, or old age: vntill fuch time as God had glorified theyr bodyes, without enduring the passage of death . But seeing that humane Linage hath lost this prerogatiue by sinne, which brought death into the world; it is no wonder, if

Proceeding nowe to our former purpose, I say, that life endureth more or leffe, according as the radicall humour is concordant and proportionable: for they in whom these qualities are most temperate and best proportioned, live longest. and not fuch as abound in those qualities. From thence it cometh, that wee fee many finall animals, who have least heat and humidity, to liue (neuertheleffe) longer then they that are of bigger and greater bulke, and abound more in the faide qualities which likewise commeth so to passe in trees, as well as in men. So that we may fay, and fay truly, that long life confifteth in the temperature and just proportion of heate and moisture: which wanting their kind companion life, diffolueth it felf. For when heate ouer aboundeth humidity, it confumeth the body in little time, as may be discerned in chollericke men. Where contrariwife, by excessive humiditie, heat feeleth it felfe to be quenched, as in Flegmaticke persons it happeneth in the same maner. Neuerthelesse, we do not by these examples understand, that hee must also this defect sheweth it selfe in vs all.

mor as of heat, because it is necessary, that a proportion should be observed therein: midity protestate to fay, heate to exceed humiditie proportionably. For one thing beeing agent, hath no great vertue in working on the other, if it furmount not the part patient. And this did Aristotle couertly de- Arift in Airist clare, when he faid; Among those two qued- liv. s.cap.10. lities before remembred, there ought to bee a little coldnes mingled, to moderate the beat of the radicall fire, to the end it may not whollie consume the humour naturall. And drineffe alfo is as requisite, to dry up the radicall his mour, so that it may not extinguish the naturall fire. As we often fee to happe in youg dying by ouer children, that dy by ouermuch humidity; abounding notwithstanding, among these four qualities, heate and moisture are held for the principall, as being virall complexions & caufing life. As for the humors cold and dry, although they serue greatly to the conservation of life:yet nevertheles these two qualities are held for the doore & en- | Concerning trance to death. Because cold is enemy to the divertime heate, wherein principally confisteth the ties. point of life: and drinesse is opposite and contrary to moissure, which yet is the norisher of naturall heat. According as wee fee in aged people, who grow to be colde and dry, when they draw nere to death; as chiefly in dead bodies, which ordinarily are dry and cold. A man then (according to the good temperature of heaue) ought also to temper his complexaion by these man should go foure qualities, and that in such fort : as, to maintaine his heate in the first place, and in those foure humidity next after, caufing cold and dry to do feruice, according to their offices & quarters. By which meanes, they that finde not themselues thus proportiona-

thus then you fee the causes of long life. Now remaineth that fomewhat should be faide concerning the best complexion of all other, for the maintenance of long life. First of all then is to be noted, that of the foure complexions as Choler, flegme | Blood the best Blood, & Melancholy, blood is the best, complexions to help him in the length of life; for blood in man. is hot & moist, which qualities are the aptest to prolong life. But the humidity must not be watry, but airy, being hot & moift, and fo the fanguine complexion, participating of some temperate heat and moifture sufficiet to norish the hear, it is most bly temperated, are naturally of flort life:

Heate ought

uerne his own complexion qualities.

yet the number of their daves are not alike. lob.14,5.

Though all

men are lub-

i: A to death,

The Chollerick comple-

The Phlegma tick & wattic.

The Melancholy. Challer and Phiceme.

Blood and Melancholy.

Compounded Complexions

The life of man limited by power of h complexion.

Many men dy before nature through theyt owne extremity of exceffe.

proper of all the complexions to make waterly impossible for them to passe that long life. As for the Cholerike coplexion, it is of lesse continuance, because the viuacity and force of his fire, and also of the heate, cannot long endure with his drynesse. The Phlegmaticke & watric complexion, cannot bee digested by heate, in regard of his excessive humidity: & therefore falleth eafily into corruption, which (in the end)procureth death.

The melancholy complexion, beeing earthic, abridgeth life by his coldnesse & drought, which are qualities contrary to heate and moistures and therfore it is not to bee wondred at, though they shorten life, by ouer-abounding in some bodyes. Notwithstanding if Choller mingle it self with Phlegme, and that it furmounteth proportionably the Phlegme; that Complexion also is very apt to maintaine long life When likewise blood surpasseth Melancholy in a good proportion, that complexion is good: for the heate and humidity of the blood do beguile themselues, wish the cold and drineffe of melancholy. Whereby we may gather, that there are compounded Complexions, which are much better then the Sanguine simplie, to preserue and prosper the length of

By that which formerly hath bene faid, wee may perceine, that the life of man is limited by power and vertue of his Complexion, and by the proportion of Elementary qualities: fo that the diversitie of proportions doe cause the diversity of tearmes of life in man . And some hold, that a man may live fo long as naturall heate lasteth, and the radicall humor giueth maintenance. Also, whereas some fay, that the life of man hath his limit, beyond which, it is impossible for him to paffe; it is to be noted, that although the complexion and naturall vertue of man, may supply and maintaine vnto the latest point; yet notwithstanding, of a thousand men, hardly one attaineth to that point, because there are so many disasters which happen accidentally, or elfe by fome diforder that the most part die before nature failes in them, either by hunger, pestilence, poison, gourmandize, who redome, bad victuals, or by diseases, cansed thorow infinit excesses in me, by them daily committed, and so the true naturall tearme of mans life, is, when nature faileth, being the

Thus are we to viderstand that place in Job, where it is fayde : Lord, thou haft established the bounds of mans life, which is imnosible for him to go beyond. Whereby may clearely be differned, that a man may very eafily shorten his life, but not lengthen it. So that we see many of good complexion, and likely to linea. Worlde of yeares:who nevertheleffe are of ffort life, by some exteriour cause, which hastens on the expiration of their daies. Notwith@a. ding, that paffage in leb may bee otherwife vinderstood, in regard of Gods prescience or foreknowledge, who giveth to eucry one his terme of life; be it by his naturall complexion, or by fome other meanes, which he hath affigued to the life of man. And because ther is nothing hidden from the wisedome of God (for, hee knoweth all the causes and accidents that can happen to man) it is impossible for man, to have any power of lengthening his life beyond the ordination of God although there were contingent causes.

In this respect it may be faid, that there aretwo tearmes in the life of man, one whereof, dependeth upon the hermony & Two terms proportion of the Elementary qualities; in the lift of and the other is according to the preor-dination and prescience of God. Between rained was which tearmes, there is onely this difference, that a man may come or proceede fo farre as the first, and yet without passing it; but all men attaine to the second. And although that (by courfe of nature) fome one may passe on to his second terme yet notwithstanding there is not any that can go beyond it; as the like may bee fay de of other creatures and plants.

CHAP. XXIX.

How the life of man hath beene abridged and (hortned from the beginning of the World, de that in diners times. Of the diner fit y of termes allotted to men : With many historiestending to that purpose, especially of such as have lived longest.

Hauing the wne how to maintaine this life, & declared also the reasons, why fome live long, & others leffe time; it may appeare

Concerning be naturali hermonic of Elementatio qualities, fup porting mans first world.

Chap.29.

Gen, 6,3. Gods owne li-

> Genelis 25,7. Genefis 46,6

shorter they will be, God only knoweth.

he yeares of nen in thefe

peare good to understand, at what times the naturall hermonie of the Elementary qualities (which support the body of man) began to grow into decadence; which, from the beginning of the world, even to this instant day, hath kept alwayes in diminution, concerning the temperature of Complexions, with the quality of foode, which do conferue and establish life, and yet mans life daily waxing to be leffe and lesse in continuance.

In the first world, men lived eight hundred and nine hundred yeares, according as we have already declared in our former thers in the volume, and the eight Chapter; where is amply related the yeares of our auncient fore fathers, farre differing from ours. Our present intention and purpose, is to speake concerning the decadence of the age of man; a matter very remarkeable,& whereof the facred Scripture doth make mention. For it is written, that the first declining of mans yeares or age, was ruled and limited to an 120. yeares, immediatly after the flood, according as we read in Genesis, where the Lord God himselfe Said, The life of man shall be an hundred and twentie yeares. Not that hee faith, that a man cannot out-line fix fcore yeares; but as if that the rest or ouer-plus of his life, will be but wearifome and insupportable

Abraham, who was long time after the deluge, liued an hundred feuenty and fiue yeares. Iaacob was an hundred and thirty yeares olde, when he went down into Æ gypt, where hee yet liued ten yeares longer. And so of many other to bee alledged, that lived many happy yeares. Since then, the life of man became shortned againe, even in the time of Danid, who speaketh thus in one of his Psalmes. The dayes of our age is threescore yeares and ten. & thogh men be fo strong that they attain to foure (core yeares ; yet is their strength then. but labour and forrow, fo foone it paffeth amay, and we are gone. Now a dayes we fee. that fuch as are of feeble Complexion passe not about fine and fifty yeares, and (very strong men) but three score & fine (I meane in lufty disposition, for operatitak &fleong ons and actions to be in men) & therefore the life of man in thefe our daies, lasteth not the twentith part; of those men liuing in the worlds first Age, and howe much

The ancient Philosophers labored very ferioufly, in feeking a reason for this dif- The fearch of ference and decadence in mens yeares. Some attributed it to the celestiall influ- of mans frort ences. Others alledged farre contrarie life, as is to be reasons, as Plinie, and many more beside, feuerall writhat limit the life of man to fixe fcore tings, yeares. Berofus alloweth no more then an hundred and seaventeene; Petofiris, an hundred twenty fix : but Cenforinus (following the opinion of the Philosopher Effatius) affigneth a man to line but foure score yeares. Dioscorides, imitating the Egyptians, and speaking of the life of man, faith: It is long or fort, according white the poife or weight of his heart. Euen as wee have more at large delivered, in the precedent part to this Volume, where manie reasons are alledged, making to this purpose, without presuming into any secret, concerning the will and prouidence of God.

In the first place, God ordaind al creatures to cate and drinke, for maintenance of the naturall and radicall humor, graunting them means also, to perpetuate their feuerall kindes, by the acte of generation. But, as eating & drinking is not sufficient and naturall. enough, to re-establish the radical humor, which diminisheth and vanisheth away of it felfe daily, so that life may likewise be lost as soone as it; so is it not possible alfo, to yeeld a body by the act of generation, of such compleat perfection, as others were, that lived in the first age of the world. For the vertue and power of the radical complexion (which is called the principal complexion) is mightily decayed: & from hence it enfueth, that the life of the principall Complexion. man became abridged and shortned day-

ly more and more. Another reason, which neuertheles dependeth vpon the former, is this; that the A fecondreafood wherewith man fuftaineth himfelfe, fon concernhath loft, and commeth far short of such ing toode and fustentiation. vertue, as it had at the beginning of the world. So that it is vtterly impossible, to have mankinde in fuch bodily perfection, as the men of the first worlde had. And therfore the vertue of complexion failing in man, and the hermony of the Elementary qualities beeing adulterated and bastardized, and foode likewise decayed in goodnes; it is no maruel, if our prefent life be become fo much shortned. And thogh those times then observed, even as an Ppp 2

for maintaining the hu. mor rddicall

The radicall

Chap.29.

Valeria Ca-

priola a fa-mous Ladiu

Pin in l. 10-6-7

*A valiant

Scythian

nonia,&c.

He was alfo

King of Nu-

yet notwithstanding, divers personnes (among them) have bene noted to live longer then some other, by being of a strong and good complexion; and, in regard it pleafed God that it should be so, whose hand is never tied, much leffe subjected to any law or limit. Neuerthelesse, because we may not complaine, concerning our little time of life, and also to comfort vs in the breuity thereof: I will fet downe certaine examples of fome men, that have exceeded others in length of life, though not speaking of any in the first age, because such as I purpose to discourse on, liued long fince that large extent of life came to be shortned.

Arpach/bad, sonne of Sem, and Nephew to Noals, lived two hundred yeares after The life time of men after the flood; and yet notwithstanding, he atthe generall tained to foure hundred and thirty yeares before he dyed. Shelah also his sonne, li-Gen 11,12,13 uad foure hundred and three yeares. Heber, the fon of Shelab, (of whome the Hebrewes took their name) lived foure hundred fixty and feuen yeares. In his time happened the confusion of tongues: but When the confulion of he fafely preferued the Hebrue which was tongues was. the first language of the worlde) because he consented not to the proud building of Babels Tower.

Terah, the Father of Abraham, lived two hundred and five yeares, and Abraham lived an hundred, seaventie and fiue yeares; as also saacob an hundred feauenty fine yeares, after which time, the life time of men beganne greatly to diminish. Neuerthelesse, Moyles lived fix score yeares, and Aaron fixe score and three yeares: Sara, that ancient matrone (fo much renowned) lived fixe score and seuen yeares, and that valiant woman Iudith who imote off the head of Holofernes, lyued an hundred and five yeares', as wee may reade in the facred Scriptures, which render true testimony of all that hath hitherto bin faid.

Now, as concerning prophane Histories, many are recorded to line long time: as 2Vestor, who lined fo faire and large an extent of life, that our reverend predeceffors, when they defired the long life of any man; they wished, that hee might live Nestors yeares, hee being three hundred yeares old, when he went with the Greekes to Troy. For Homer fayeth: Prince Nestor

ordinarie limitation to the life of man: | being about three hundred yeares of age, went | Homers to succour the Greekes against the Troyans, words on N flors going with a potent army by fea.

The same is also anouched by Ouid, Innenall, and Tibullus, with many other Authours besides. Arganthonius King of Andalouzia (anciently called Turditania) lived an hundred and fiftie yeares, according as Strabe affirmeth, from the Poet Anachreon: Neuerthelesse Herodotus, and Arganihonius Silius Italicus, a Spanish Poet do auouch, kingos Turdithat this Prince lived the space of three tania. hundred yeares.

Valerius Maximus, and Pliny also say, that he reigned fourescore yeares, and lined fixe score yeares. Pliny likewise maketh a large Narration, of certaine Kings in Arabia, ard many other (as well men Kingsof A. as women) that lived multitudes of years: rabiathath but because matters fecht so farre off, may | ued long. raise doubt and suspition, I will insert other histories, which are maintained to be true and certaine.

Valerius Maximus Coruinus, did line an Thelifetime hundred yeares, at it is auouched by Vale- or Maicus Va rius Maximus, hauing beene fixe times lerius Cons-Confull of Rome : and further faieth, That | Confull of there were fixe and forty yeares betweene his first Consulship, and the last yeare of his honor in the fame dignity, and that he lived the rest of his age in abledisposition, so that hee could make good vie of all the dignities and Offices imposed vppon

Stephanus the Romane, beeing farre entred into yeares, ferued as dancer before the Emperour Octavius, in those Secular These were pastimes which he ordained in Rome: and sports vied feuenty three yeeres after, hee danced againe in the sports of the Emperor Clauther hundred diss, and yet lived long time afterwarde. Titus Fullonius, borne in Bologna, lined an hundred and fifty iyeeres, as appeared by the numbering and accounts, made from five yeares to five yeares in elder times, & wherein the Emperour Claudius tooke great paines to be informed in the trueth, for he was very curious in fuch matters.

And, not to estrange or barre women, The long from the benefite of our instant discourse, life of divers but to bleffe them also with hope of long life; it is observed that Terentia, the wife of Cicero, lived an hundred and feventeen yeares. Claudia, the Wife of Offellus, attained to an hundred and fifteene yeares of age, having had fifteen male children.

words of Nethe Troyan

" Now Gra-

A note well werthy obler-

A Cittle of Brica in liocrates.

Samura

Samura a Romane Lady, "was an hundred | ans, lived (in absolute and able dispositi-, Galen, Prince and ten yeares old when the dyed; who being aged an hundred and foure yeares, yet ferued as Lady dancer, in the fecular sports of the Emperor Ostanius; having formerly danced in other fecular pastimes, when the was fourescore and eleuen years

Pluny reporteth a matter very admirable, and yet true, that in the accounts and numberings made by Titus and Velbalian. then Cenfors, there lived three men at Parma, each of them being aged fix fcore yeares, and two that were fixe score and ten yeares old; beside a woman, that was aged fixe score and twelve years. He faith moreouer, that in Romania, there were foure and fifty men, each of them beeing an hundred yeares olde : fifty feauen men being aged an hundred and tenne yeares: foure men, aged an hundred and thirtie yeares: and other foure men, who were feuerally aged fixe fcore & fifteen yeares: belide foure men more, each of them being feauen fcore yeares old, a thing not ve fuall, and hardly to be seene in these daies of ours.

But leaving Italy, let vs looke vpon some *A Rhetoritifurther strangers, that lived long. Gorgias Leontinus, a Philosopher greatly renow-Empedocles. ned, who lived (in very healthfull disposiand Master to tion) more then an hundred yeares. Hee having attained to an hundred and feuen yeares, was demanded, why he tooke for great delight to abide in the world; wherto he thus replyed, I thanke God, I never did any thing, whereby I deferued to bee blamed in mine Age. An answer very excellent and fingular, for fuch as areable to make or speake it truly.

Seneca the Philosopher, borne at * Corduba, lived an hundred & fourteen yeeres. The famous Appollonius Thyaneus hadde passed an hundred yeares before he dyed. Democritus, by the testimony of Diogenes, lived an hundred and nine yeares; and dyed, having neuer felt Feauer, nor any other disease. Galen, the Prince of Physition) an hundred and forty yeares : and dyed by defect of Nature, without the fenfe of any fickneffe. * Attyla, King of the Gothes, who (in his time) was most cruell, and of great power lived an hundred and foure years, ferting fundated Parts as a fecurge to mankinde, and making lamentable waste and spoile by his warres, and infinite cruelties. Massinissa, King of Gninea, liued fourescore and seauchteene yeares, hauing reigned threescore. This Prince neuer had his head couered, nevther from the Sun, windes, or raines, or greatest Tempests, but continued so (bareheaded) to his very latest dayes:marching alwayes on foote in his Armour, and as lightly as the youngest fouldier in his Ar, mie. When hee was fourescore yeeres of age, he begate a Son, and left (after his death) foure and forty fonnes, by him be-

Anthony the Ægyptian Hermit , who li-

ued an hundred and fifty yeeres; and Gre-onius (his Companion) an hundred. Now

a dayes, wee finde few, or none at all, to line fo long, for (day by day) the life time

of man groweth shorter and shorters

whereby it appeareth, that the end of the world approacheth neere. Neuerthelesse

God hath declared his wonderful workes

in all times; for in the life of the Empe-

rour Conrade, which was in the yeare one

the old Prouerbe, when men commonly faide, John, John, truff then in God.

As for Hermites and ancient Fathers, many are recorded to line long, onely by their abstinence; as Saint Panle, the first boly Fathers. Hermit, who lived fixe score yeares, Saint thousand, one hundred, and forty, or nere thereabout, a man dyed, who had ferued the Emperour Charlemaione in his warres, fo large a time, that this man was founde to have lived three hundred and three- hadde lived score yeares, and was called John of Time. 360 yeares, Which name was given him(as I thinke) in regard of his great age; and I am halfe perswaded also, that of him was raised

CHAP

At what time mens hues began to shot

The liues of renowned women.

"Son to Nelcus & Chloris.

Chap.30.

The Frizelan

ers rebell a-

A dreadfult

814 .

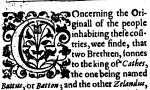

4.3

A people neere to the Seythians.

CHAP. XXX.

A briefe Chronologicall Suruey, concerning the Netherlands, divided into seventeene Provinces: with a breutate of the Earles and Princes there reigning, from Thierry (who was the first Earle of Holland and Zeland) to this instant time.

were the first Fathers of them, and that (from them) they derived their Names. For these two Princes, being too extream ly purfued by the hatred of a Stepmother. and no way pittled or supported by the King their fathet (escaping many traines and machinations, of poyloning, murthering, and divers other dangers by her daily deuised and put in practife against the) were forced to forfake their natiue abyding, & fly to an Island within the Rhine: where Battus determining to make his stay, called it Battauia, after his owne Name; and that is (in plainer vnderstanding) Holland.

Zelandus, not liking to live fo neere, or with his brother (least pursue should furprize them both, and reuenge there fasten which in more desperate place they had auoyded) he trauelled on to the vitermost confines of the Rhine, and liking there to fet downe his rest, imitated his Brothers example (in ftyling the country) and called it Zeland.

Concerning their building of Cities, Townes, Castles, and Forts, which afterward came to be ruined & defaced againe by warres with the Romans, Saxons, Gauls, Danes, &c. or to what order of life the people disposed themselves, and through how many and infinite encumbrances (from their originall) they passed, for no meane store of yeares together: these are matters meerely exempt from our intended breuity, and may more amply be feen

in the history at large, whereunto I refer any fuch defirous Reader, and borrowing fauour for fo large a leap, I instantly proceed to the yeare, 863 . when Holland first became to be an Earledome.

In the yeare before mentioned, Charles the Bald, King of France, at Bladell in the Prouince of Campaigne, having there (in his company). a generall affembly of his Princes and Barons, for confultation of many important matters; pleased to aduance the two fonnes of Count Haghen (who was Vnckle to the King) for theyr The two & great deseruings, and for the farther en- of Count couragement of the like vertuous minded Gentlemen. Walger, who was the cldest sonne, he made Earl of Teysterbands; and Thierry the vongest fon, or Theodor, as fome tearme him, beeing formerly called Thierry of Aquitaine, he made earle of Hol-

This gift of the kings, especially that to Thierry was much withflood by the Frize landers, as fcorning to be commanded by any new Lord or Ruler : wherefore they confulted with the Hollanders, and a plot was laid to expell this new Earle. But it proued to no effect for the king comming. thither (in person) with a powerful army, made such an example on the Ring-leaders in this rebellion, that the rest (in very great humility) submitted themselues,cafting their Weapons not onely at the Kings feete, but likewife at the Earles, and (vpon pardon) they vowed their continuall bounden duty to Thierry. His authority was then further strengthened, in the year eight hundred fixty eight, by the letters Patents of King Charles, as also by them of Lewes King of Germany, confir- zeland, and ming him to bee Earle of Holland, Zeland, Lord of First and Lord of Frizeland.

This Thierry married Genna, or Ienna, daughter to Pepin the Bald, king of Italy. fonne to the Emperor Charlemaigne. Hee worthily foyled the Danes, that then poffessed the Towne of Vericht, the Wiltes and the Slaves, disabling them from any further footing in Holland, which made them presume to meddle in Zeland, but thence they were repulfed likewife. By which meanes, he remained afterward in peace, beautifying his Countries both with faire buildings and good Lawes. He dyed very old having reigned 40. yeares, and after him fucceeded

2 Thierry

863.

Simple. The Frizelanders did twice reuolt from their obedience, and would not allow Earl Thierry to be their Lord, flaying. very many of them that obeyed the Earls walting, spoiling, and burning all the way as they went. But at length they were just, ly repayed for their infolencie, and fuch a flaughter was made of the Frisons (without any mercy) that few or nong of them returned home to their dwellings. Afterward, he forced them to make the doores of entrance into their houses, so lowe and narrow, that they must stoope verie lowe before they could get in ; and this he did, to make them the more humble and feruile, receiving a new Oath of allegeance of them. And having reigned about fiftie father in the Abbey of Egmont, yeares, being then aged 88. yeares old, he dyed, leaving two fonnes behind him, the eldest whereof (being named Egbert) became Archbyshop of Trengs, and Arnold his yongest fon succeeded him. 3 Arnold, or (as others will have it) Ar-nulph, yongest son to Earle Thierry, followed in rule as his fathers fucceffor: but he held the Earledomes of Holland, Zeland, and Lordship of Frizeland, no longer of the crown of France, but of Otho the third, Emperour; and so became in see to the Empire. A very fearefull Comet appeared in his time, with straunge Ecclipses both of the Sunne and Moone, beeing as red as blood, and terrible Earthquakes: a fire also fell from heaven, in similitude like an huge Tower, burning for a long time: after which enfued so violent a pestilence, that the living died burying the dead. The Frizons reuolting again from obedience, made all his reigne a continuall warfare, and the Armies (on either fide) meeting neere vnto Winckell, fo dreadfull a battaile was fought betweene them : that the Hollanders lustained the worst, Count Arnold being there flaine, and a great number of his cheefest Nobility. This battaile was fought the eighteenth of October, the morrow after S. Lamberts day, in the yeare 993. So this Earle Arnold, having reigned fine yeares, and being thus vnfortunately flaine, was buried by his Father and Grandfather, in the Abbey of Egmont.

2 Thierry his fon fecond of that name, 4 Thierry, third of that name, and fon Earle of Holland, Zeland, and Lord of to Count Arnold, succeeded as fourth Frizeland, who married with Hildegarde. Earle of Holland, Zeland, and Lorde of daughter vnto King Lewes of France, the Frizeland. Being desirous to reuenge his Stammerer, and Sifter to King Charls the Fathers death ypon the Frizons : hee was Adelbold bymuch impeached therein by Adelbold, By- trecht, thop of Virecht, against whom (neuertheleffe) hee prenailed in two foughten bartailes, in the yeare 1018, and (with great flaughter of the Frizens) brought them under obedience to his youngest son Floru, whom he made Lord of them. This Earle Thierry , living afterward in veric peacefull dayes, undertooke a Pilgrimage to lerufalem, with the Lord of Arckell, his loyall fubica , who died at Hierufalem & was there very honourably buried by Thierry. After whose return home, and some yeares passed in peace with his Wife and Children, having reigned 46 ; yeares, hee died in Anno 1039, and was buried by his

> 5 Thierry, fourth of that Name, was the fift Earle of Holland, Zeland, & Lord of Frizeland, after the decease of Thierry his Father. In a Tourney of Princes and Lords, performed (for pleasure) in the Citie of Liege, it was this Earles hard happe, to kill a Brother of the Byshops of Cullen and Liege: whereby enfued fuch discorde and mollestation, that, after many aduent of Cullen and tures of reuenge, vndertaken by the Germaine Gentlemen, albeit therein they fustained much losse of men, the Earle was fhot into the thigh with a poisoned dart. of which wound hee dyed the fifteenth of May, one thousand soure hundred and eight, after he had gouerned nine yeares, and was buried by his father, in the Abbey of Egmont. He was neuer maried, and therefore left not any childe to succeede

6 Floris, who (as you have heard before) was Earle of Frizeland, now after his brothers death, became the fixt Earle of Hol. land and Zeland. The former mithappe at Liege, could not as yet be forgotten by the Bythops of Cullen and Liege; but they wold needs profecute fresh reuenge on Count Floris, who being a man of vndáted spirit, descated his enemies in two attemptes. Once by a cunning stratagem, causing ditches and pitfals to be made in fouth Holland, couering them with straw and grasse, fo that they could not be eafily discerned. At this time a bloody batell being fought 1300.

Zelád, named by Zelandus

Battauia is Holland.

Chap.30.

1063.

1077.

The crooke-

backt Duke

of Lorraine

Robert the Frizon.

betweene them, there was forty thousand I strument (in regard of the former quarre) of the Earles enemies flaine, beside twenty fixe thousand more, who were drowned and smothered in those ditches. Anno Domini 1058. The second foyle of his aduerfaries, happened foure yeres after this, when the Hollanders (putting the Germans to flight) returned with rich spoiles, and great store of prisoners; this was in the veare of our Lord 1062. Yet was it this Earles ill fortune, to be afterward slayne vnarmed, as he fate under an Elme, taking the ayre, his enemies preuayling by this advantage. He had ruled in Holland fourereene yeares, and in Frizeland 21. yeares, and lyeth buryed at Egmont.

7. 8. Gertrade, widow to Earle Floris, in regarde that Thierrieher fonne was in his nonage, gouerned those Countries in his right. And in the yeare of our Lord, 1063. The re-married with Robert the Frizon (fonne to Baldwine of Lifle de Bucke, Earle of Flaunders) with the good liking of all the States and Nobilitie. Hee also was made Guardian of young Earle Thierrie, and (had by this Gertrude) three formes, Robert, furnamed the Yong (who went with Godfrey of Bullen to the holie Land, and was (after his fathers decease) Earle of Flaunders;) Philip, father to william of Ixt, and Baldwin Bishop of Teroanne; beside three daughters alfo, which he had by the faid Gertrude . This Robert was called the Frizon, notin regarde of his birth, but of his bigge stature, firength and courage. For, having prevailed against the Frizons, and hearing of his Brothers death, Baldwine de Mons, Earle of Flaunders; hee layd clayme to the fayde Earledome, and (notwithstanding the opposition of Richild, widow to Earle Baldwine: by meanes of the Flemings, he overthrew the King of France in battell, and the with her sonne Baldwine, remayning satisfied with the Countie of Henault, Robert be-Robert Earle came quietly Earle of Flanders. For eight yeares space, hee carried himselfe with great wisedome and valour, and dying in the yeare of our Lord 1077. was buried in the Cannons Church, founded by himselfe at Cassell . Gertrudes time of rule by her felfe, and Roberts after, are reckoned as two feuerall gouernements.

9. Godfrey, furnamed the crooke-backed Duke of Lorraine, in this time of yong Earle Thierries minoritie, was made an inof Count Floris, and the Bishops of Cullen and Liege, as yet not revenged to their mindes) to fuggest a falle information to Henry the fourth, Emperour, whereby the fayde Godfrey became an viurper of the young Earles right, for the space of source years. But as he was litting on the draught to eafe his body, a fertiant of young Count Thierries, did thruft a laucline vp into his fundament, whereof he died (not long after) at Maestrecht.

10. Thierrie, the fift of that name, who (by crook-backt Godfrey, and other ftrange oppositions) had long time beene debarred from quiet possession of his right; at length, by an absolute conquest of the Frizons, in two feuerall great battells, recovered all, and returned home as a Conqueror. Afterward, he married Whithilde, Iwobanth. daughter to Fredericke, Duke of Saxonie, by whom he had a fonne and daughter: Floris that succeeded him, and Mathilde, married to the Duke of Orleance. Earle Therrie having governed fifteene yeares, dyed, and was buryed in the Abbey of 11 Floris, the second of that name, & furnamed the Fat or Groffe, fucceeded 1119. next after his father Thierry: he greatly fauoured Church-men, whereby the Abbey of Egmonts revenews were largely encreafed. He being a man of very peacefull inclination, little or no disturbances happened in his time : but onely by the Frizons, who, for their rebelling, were feuerely punished, and forced to submit themfelues to his mercy. This Floris married Petronilla, or Parnell, daughter to Didier, Duke of Saxonie, and fifter to Lotharius of Saxony. the Emperour: By her he had three fons, Thierrie, Floris, called the Blacke Prince of Kenemerlandt; and Symon, also one daughter named Hadewicke, who was Countesse of Gueldres. Hauing gouerned his Countries very honourably, for the space of one and thirty yeares; he dyed in the yeare of our Lord, one thousand one hundred thirty and three, and lyeth buried in the Abbey of Egmont,

12. Thierrie, fixt of that name, fucceeded his father Floris, and was much mole. sted by the Frizons, in regard that his brother Floris the Blacke Prince, enuying the happines and quiet of Thierrie, went and tooke part with them against him; vntill

Of the Seuenteene Prouinces. fuch time as the Emperour Lotharim (be- | there many honourable feruices) thorow ing theyr vnckle) had reconciled them. and made them friends. Conrade beeing ioyned as competitor in the Empire with Lotharius, caused a fresh quarrell between Thierrie and the Bishop of Vereche, he ra-Lotharius & tifying the former graunt of H.mry, which Conrade Em caused very long contention, and much bloud to be shed on either side. Thierrie having governed his Countries of Holland, Zeland, and Frizeland fortic yeares, died in the yeare 1163, and lieth buried in

The Frizons

of Oftergo'& Westergo.

116.3

1168.

The Dam or Sluce, called

Didier Dde

1133.

1208.

the Abbey of Egmont. 13 Floris the third, eldeft fonne of Thierry, as heyre to his father, inherited his right in Holland, Zeland, and Frizeland. The Frizons (preteding their former freedomes and imperiall liberties) made still their renoltes from time to time, imboldned thereto by the often fuggestions of Godfrey of Rhemen, Bishop of Verecht, who (as his predeceffors had done before him) still questioned the Earledomes of Oftergo and Westergoe in Frizeland : but the Emperour Fredericke , went himselfe in person, and made an agreement between them. All which notwithstanding, much hurt was done on eyther fide, as time and treachery fitted them with apt opportunity. A great controuerfie happened betweene the Earles of Holland and Flaunders, for the Isle of Walchren, and Count Floris (in triall of fight) became prisoner to the Earle of Flaunders: who nevertheleffe vied him princely, and they beeing accorded by the Archbishop of Cullen, and the Bishoppe of Liege; the great hole neare to the damme or fluce; was reco. uered with much adoe, by caffing a dogfifh thereinto, and speedy filling it vp with earth, whereon they named it Hondidam, that is, Dogs-fluce. This Earle Floris, affifting the Emperour Fredericke , Phillip King of France , Richard King of England, with many other Dukes, Christian Princes and Earles, at the fiege of Damieta in Soria : fell there ficke in the Army, and died 1208. having gouerned his provinces twenty feuen yeares.

14 Thierrie the feuenth, hearing of his fathers death in Palestine; succeeded as his heire in all his Earledoms . The whole time of his regiment, was in war and continuall combuttions. First by his brother Lord William of Holland (who was with his father Floris in Palestine, and performd divers disagreements that happened betweene them; notwithstanding, as many laboured reconcilings, and pacifications. Next, Baldwine Earle of Flaunders, he was as molestuous to him likewise, for the Isle of Walchren: besides the Frizons rebellions, and his trouble with the Bishops of Cologne and Liege, as also his imprisonment to the Duke of Brabant, and then the intrusion of the Bishop of Verecht, after which, enfued a peace and united amity on all fides. This Count Thierrie had no heires male, but two beautifull daughters; Adella, marryed to Henry of Gueldres, who dyed without anie Children, and Ada, meanly marryed by her mother (after her fathers death) to Count Lewes of Loos, that fo the gouetnement might be disposed at her pleasure. In the yeare of our Lord, 1203. Earle Thierry dyed , hauing gouerned his Countries thirtcene yeares, and and lyeth buryed in the Abbey of Egmont. 15 Ala, daughter to Earle Thierrie, was Countesse of Holland and Zeland, af- The gouernter her fathers death; which mooned a mentofawogreat heart-burning in the Lordes and Gentlemen, that they should line vnder a Woman, and a poore Earles command. Therefore, they fent into Frizeland for Count William, protesting to affilt him in attayning the gouernement of Holland. The young Countesse Ada was surprized in their first attempt, and her husband the Earle of Loos driven to flight; who yet wunne the Bishop of Verecht (by money and other promises) to ayde him, and by this means he had some small successe for a while. But the Counteffe Ada dying without any children, Earle William was then the true and onely heyre to Holland and Zeland. In which right of his, hee went with his power against the Earle of Loos, and such was his successe, that the Women did beate his enemies with Di-Staues and Stones, they beeing glad to flaues and Men with Dicast away their Armour for lightnesse, to Stones. faue themselues by flight; yet many were drowned in the Ditches, and a great number taken prisoners, with all the Earle of Loos Tents, Pauillions, Plate, Iewelles, and Munition, which Count William roy-

16 William, first of that name, succee-

land, and Frizeland.

1198,

ally divided amongst his H. llanders, remayning absolute Prince of Holland, Ze-

Edmond of England.

Lancaster, for

King William quelly flaine.

ded rightfully in all his Earledoms, by the | & (for her deliuerance) went into Holland, death of his Neecethe yong Counteffe Ada. He had some strife with Didier Bishop of Vtrecht, and Gerard V ander Are his brother: but (vpon certayne Articles) all difpleasures were qualified. By his first wife Alix, daughter to the Earle of Gueldres, he had Floris, that next succeeded him, Otho Bishop of Verecht, william Lieutenant of Holland, and two daughters, the one was Abbelle at Rhynsbourg, and the other at Delfte. His second wife was named Mary, daughter to Edmund of Lancaster, fon to Henry the third, King of England, by whom he had no iffue. He gouerned 19 to the King of years; and dying, lies buried at Rhynsbourg.

17 Floris the fourth, succeeded his father Count william in his Earledomes. He took great delight in Iusts & Turnaments, and the Earle of Clermont proclayming a publike Triumph for all commers, at the Countelle his wifes request (who greatly defired to fee this Floris, of whom the had heard much commendation:)this honorable Erle of Holland, Zeland, &c. was there tteacherously flaine, onely through iealous suspition of the old Erle of Clermont, who was there likewise presently slaine himselfe, and the Countesse (grieuing for this great mishap) died soone after. This Count Floris had a daughter named Ma-The wonder thilde, or Margaret, as some call her, who was married to Count Herman of Henne-365.Children berg. She despising a poore widdow, that desired her almes vpon vrgent necessitie, holding in either arme a fweet yong child, both which, God had fent hirat one birth; gaue hir very reprochful words beside, as, that the could not be honest of her bodie; and (by her husband) haue two children lawfully begotten. The poore woman, grieuing to be rejected in such extreame want and need, but much more, to heare her reputation to nearely touched, knowing her foule cleare from al dishonest detection : made no further fuite to the Lady, but (falling vpon her knees) appealed to God for defence of her Innocencie, and earneftly defired, that as the had coccined and borne those two infants lawfully by as many children at one birth, as there are daies in the yeare. Not long after, the Lady conceiued with childe by her husband, to visite the Earle her brother, taking vp lodging in the Abbey of religious women at Lofdunen, and grew to exceeding great, as the like had neuer before beene feene. When her time came, on the Friday before Palme-funday, in the yeare of our Lord God 1276. Thee was delivered of 365, children, the one halfe being fonnes, and the other daughters; but the odde childe was an Hermaphrodite, and they were all well shaped and proportioned in their little members. These children were layd in two basins, and were all baptized by Guydon, Suffragan to the Bishop of Vtrecht, who named all the fonnes lohn, and the daughters Ellzabeth, but what name hee gaue the Hermaphrodite, it is not recorded. They were no sooner baptized, but they all died, and the mother alfo. The two Basins are yet to bee seene in the fayde Church of Lofdunen, and a memorie of them, both in Latine and Dutch. The Latine beginning thus : Margareta, Comitis Hennebergia vxor, & Florentij Hollandia & Zelandia filia, &c. Vnderneath are these verses:

En tibi monstrofum & memorabile fastum, Quale nec à mundi conditione datum.

This Count Floris, being fo treacheroufly flaine, as yee haue heard before, had his body brought backe into Holland, by the Earle of Cleues, and other noble Lords, who buried it in the Abby of Rhynsbourg; he having honourably and vertuoufly gouerned his Countries twelue yeares. He left but one fon named william, fix yeares old, who was in the tutelage of his vnckle Othe, Bishop of Vtrecht, during his mino-

18 William, second of that name, succeeded his father Floris in all his dominions, being all the time of his vnder yeares, in the government of Otho Bishop of Vtrecht his vnckle, who was a very worthy & carefull Guardian to him. The Pope hauing deposed Fredericke the second, and Conrade his sonne from the Empire : the Princes Electors (in despight of the Pope) made this Earle William King of the Romans, and crowned him at Aix le Chapelle, Earle Willia he having then attained to the age of 20. am Kingof yearcs. A long & tedious trouble hapned, betweene him, & Margaret Counteffe of Flanders, a very high-minded and proude woman, for the country of walchren, wherin, after a great foile and flaughter of the Flemings, (taking part with her) and imprisonment of her two sonnes (Guy and Iohn) the implored the aid of Charles duke of Aniou, again & king William, & sped ther. by no better then the had done before, but was glad in the end to feek reconcilement. This King William built the Pallace of the Earles of Holland, in the vilage of La Hage, or the Hague, where it is at this day, and a goodly Cloister at Harlem. At his warres in west Frizeland, where he prevailed very successefully, he would needs (without any other affiltance then himfelfe) follow the rebells ouer the Ice, where his horffe flipping in, himfelfe almost drowned, and none neare to helpe him (but enemies of the Frizons, that lay fecretly in ambushi) they beate him downe with clubbes and stanes, not knowing that it was the King, and fo they flew him. But when afterward they tooke better notice of him, by his Target and Armes thereon emblazoned: in very hearty forrow for their foule deed, they buried him fecretly, in a poore house in the village of Hooktwond, thinking fo to wipe out all remembrance of him. But his body was after found, and buried in the Abbeyof Middlebourg, in the Isle of Wal-

19 Floris the fift, fon to King William, who was flaine so inhumanely; albeit hee was but fixe months old, yet he fucceeded his father, his vnckle Floris being his Gouernor and Tutor. At 17. yeares of age, he went with an army against the euer-reuolting Frizons, and ouercame them at a village called Schellinckhout, very feuerely reuenging his fathers death on them, and (by building foure Castles in Frizeland) brought them wholly under his obediece. Afterward, Count Floris made a voyage into England, where a marriage was contracted betweene Iohn, eldeft fon to Earle Floris, and Elizabeth, daughter to king Edward the first : Iohn being (not long after) fent into England, to accomplish the sayd mariage, where he remained in the Court of England, vntill his fathers vnfortunate death, which briefly was thus:

A knight lived in the Earles Court, named Gerard wan Velson, who had beene a whole yeares space detayned in prison, & his brother beheaded, through certaine falle suggestions whispered to the Earle, which(afterward)appearing to be a meere iniury: the Earle fought to repayre this wrong, with very especiali fauors done to the knight, great aduancements, & would haue bestowed also his concubine in marriage on him Which Gerard difdaining & replying, that he would not weare his cast shooes: the Barle rathly answerd, that he should take his leavings, in despite of his hart. To preuent mariage with the Earles minion, the knight bestowedhis affe aions elfe-where, and wedded a Ladie of great honour and beauty. Which when the Earle understood, he pursued his former rash folly, to the price of his own life: Sending Genard on an employment of much credit & respect, and wherewith he was not a little pleased, not doubting anie fuch wicked intention. The Earle came to Gerards house, vnder color of hospitality, and there (winning her to primate conference in her bed chamber)forcibly defloured her, to performe his rath promife to her husband. At Gerards returne, and this foule wrong discouered, it was pursued with very bloudy reuenge, by a resolued conspiracy sworne against his life: which albeit he had some warning of (by a paper rdelinerd him by a poore woman;) yet his difaster being menitable, a traine was laid for him as he rode a hawking, and twentie one wounds he received on his body, by the hand of the fayd Gerard. But hee and the rest of the conspiratorsescaped not vnpunished, for they had their heads smitten off, and were then laid vpon wheeles; but Gerard was put (stark naked) into a Pipe stucke full of tharp nailes, and was fo rowled vp and downe through all the streetes of Leyden. Then was he beheaded, & layd on a wheele, and al his kinred (to the ninth degree)put to death, and laid on wheeles. 20 After the wicked murder of Earle Floris the fift, committed by the Fryzons, as hath beene declared: John his only fon (being then in England with King Edward his father in law) was next to succeed him as his rightfull heire. But before he could leave England, fome partialities and factions happened in Holland for the gouernement, which foone were qualified at Earle Iohns being there present, notwithstäding the subtile policie of Wolfart of Borffele, Wolfart of feizing the person of Earle lohn, and Lady Borifele, his Elezabeth his wife, thinking to have the go- fecret intenuernement of the fayd Earle, because, as tion.

A feuere re-

This History is aunuched for a truth by diuers good Authors.

full birth of her husband; euen so, if euer that Ladie should be subject to the custome of Women, that it would please him, to send her Vtrecht.

720

1300.

The end of the race of the Dukes of Aquitaine,& fuccelsion of the Earles of Henault.

yet, he was but young. Earle Iohn preuailed against the Frizons, and the Bishop of Vereche, and having governed his Countries about foure yeares, hee fell ficke at Harlem, and there dyed. He was the first of al the Earles of Holland, that died without children: wherefore in him failed the line masculine of the Earls from the dukes of Aquitaine, which Thierry, or Theodor, the first Earle of Holland, had continued 4)7. yeares. He was buried in the Abbey of Rhinsbourg, his widdow Lady Elizabeth being caried back into England, where the was afterward maried to the Earle of Oxford: So that by the death of Earle Iohn in this manner, those Countries were devolued to the Earles of Henault, issuing by the mothers fide fro the earles of Holland.

21 Iohn, the second of that name, called John of Henault (claiming his right from Alix, Sifter to William king of the Romans) succeeded after John, as Earle of Holland, Zeland, and Frizeland, &c. He had a long and tedious trouble with John de Reueffe, who perswaded the Emperour, that Iohn Earle of Holland dying without iffue, his Earledomes ought (in right) to returne to the Empire; according as Charls the bald, Emperor of the Romans, had at first ginen them in fee and homage to Therry of Aquitaine. This suggestion raised the Emperour Albert in Armes against Iohn of Henault, but the Bishop of Cullen compounded the matter betweene them; and John de Reueffe was afterward drowned, by which means, John of Henault, having gouerned Henault thirty yeres, and his countries of Holland, Zeland, and Frizeland fine yeares, died, & was buried at Valenciennes. 22 William the third, fonne and heire to count John of Henault, succeeded his fathers Earledomes: he was commonly called. The good Earle William, for his vertues, iuffice, good life, and honourable actions. In his time hapned fo great a dearth and famine in Holland, that poore people dyed with hunger, even in the streets as they went: feeking also for hearbs and rootes in the fields and woods, there they were likewise found dead, and in the common high wayes: little children dyed fucking at their mothers breafts, and some were enforced to feede on their dead children. In this time of famine, a poore woman in the Towne of Leyden, being extreamely ouercharged with hunger, entreated her owne fifter, (being a woman of better abilitie) to lend her some bread, which she would thankefully repay againe, when God should enable her. She very vnkindly, and without any pirty of her extreamity, denyed her oftentimes, notwithftanding the others often vrgings; that shee was affured, that fhee could not be without bread. Heereupon the vimercifull sifter (lying, both to God and to her owne poore filter) fayde : If I haue any bread, I with that it may instantly be turned into a stone: wherewith the heavy displeasure of almighty God laid hold vpon her words, and going afterward to hir Cupboord(to relieue her felfe) the found all her loanes of bread converted into apparant stones, and died herfelfe with extreamity of hunger. It is credibly faid, that one or two of those stones, are yet to be seene in Saint Peters Church at Leyden, as a memorie of this iust judgement of God.

There is also recorded another memo-There is also recorded another metric.

A worthyse rable Historie, of vpright Iustice done by toon of infinite. this good Earle William, to a poore coun- done by this try-man, against a Bayliffe of South Hol- william land, who had taken a goodly faire Cowe from him, that was the reliefe of himfelfe, his poore wife and children; as there are fome Kine in that Countrey, which doe give twenty pottles of milke and more, in aday. The Bayliffe at the poore mans complaint to this good earle william, who lay then sicke in his Bed at Valenciennes (yet neuer debarred any fuiters from audience, were he ficke or well) was adjudged to give the poore man an hundred crownes of good gold, for the wrong he had done to him, which was accordingly performed. But for his iniurie to publike Iustice (being himselse an Officer) and abusing the authority committed in trust to him; the Earle lent for an Executioner, and caused his head to be smitten off by his beds fide. This good Count William, beeing a vertuous Prince, victorious in warre, a man learned, wife, wel spoken, and iudicious, a great friend to peace, gracious to all men, and beloued in all courts, having governed his Provinces 32. years, dyed the ninth day of June 1337, and was buried with great pomp at Valenciennes.

23 william the fourth, fon to the good Earle William, came to his fathers Earle Harle William a worthy sa doms by lawfull fuccession. He was a man of high merit, & a most famous Souldier, wherof he made good proofe; first against \ the Sarazins and Moores, in the kingdome of Granada : Next, with the Emperor Lewes, and many noble Earles, ayding his brother in lawe Edward the third King of England, against the king of France; thirdly, in ouer-running Lithuania, Liuenia, and warring against the Russian Infidels 1 lading home his men with victory & wealthy spoiles: And lastly, in preuayling against the Frizons, and Robert of Archell Robert of Arckell Go-sernour of gouernour of Virecht: Yet it was his hard hap to be flaine vnknowne (amongest the Frizons) before any could have power to 1346. helpe him : fo that he left no lawfull child to succeede him, and therefore his fifter, (beeing Empresse) remayned his onelie

24 Margaret, wife to Lewes of Bauaria, Mergaret the (then Emperour) and the eldest fifter to Earle William, flayne (as you have heard) by the Frizans, by the Emperors interpofition of his authority, and her ownenatiue right, went downe by the Rhine into Holland, accompanied with a most princely and well-befeeming traine, and was acknowledged to be Ladie and Princesse of Holland, Zeland, and Frizeland. But before her returne back to the Emperor againe, thee constituted both his and her eldest fonne (named William of Bauaria) to bee her Regent there in those Countries, for a fumme of money yearely payed to hen: but remayning vnpayd, the might refume all herrights to herfelfe againe. The Emperor decealing, the Empresse Margaret came thither againe, and had refignation (from her fonne william) of all the aforefaide Countries, retyring himfelfe into Henault, as being well contented there to line : vntill by intestine discord, and dangerous practifes of two intruded factions, called Cabillaux and Hoecks (wherin both nobles and gentlemen did too far enter) the mothers government did grow vnfufferable, and Duke William was recoucred from Henault, to vnder-goe the fole authority. Two very bloody battels were fought betweene the Empresse and her sonne; and in the first, Earle William escaped with great difficultie, and fledde into Holland, for this battell was fought at La Verein Zeland. But in the second, there was fo much bloud spile, that (for three dayes after) the old River of Menfe (at full Sea) was (all ouer) red in that place. The

Empresse (by helpe of a finall Barke) escaped into England; and vpon an agreement afterwards made betweene them: Duke William had the quiet possession of Holland, Zeland, and Frineland affigued him. and the Empresse Margaret had the countie of Henault, where (five yeares after) she ended her dayes, and lyeth buried at Fa-

25 Duke William being peaceably poffeffed of his Seigneuries, according to the former composition, being also Duke of Banaria, Ralatine of Rhine, and Earloof Henault by his mothers death, tooke to wife the Lady Matilda, daughter to Henry duke Matilda, of Lancaster in England, by whom hee had daughter to no children. Much strife, warre, and blody bickering, hapned betweene him and the Bishop of Vtrecht, with shrewd disaduantages on eyther fide; till, by the meanes of fome Noblemen, they were reduced to amitic.

This Duke william (vpon what occasion it could never be knowne) fell diftracted of his fenfes, and flew a Knight with a blow of his fift: fo that hee was thut vp (vnder good Guarde) for ninetcene years ipace, even till he dyed. Having governed his provinces of Holland, Zeland and Frizland (before his madnesse) scauen yeares. and Henault two.

26 Albert of Banaria, brother to Duke William, in the time of his distraction, was tent for from Banaria, and made Gouernor of his brothers Countries, in hope of his recouery, which by no meanes could be compassed. Hee vanquished the Frizons in many rebellions, tooke the towne. The Baron of of Delft, and beheaded the Baron of Eug- headed. hien, vpon smister reformations, which caused great trouble betweene him, and fixe brethren of the faid Baron : but, vpon their reconcilement . Count Albert builded the Chanonry of the Chappell, at the Court of the Hugue.

In his time, a Sea-woman (by reason of great tempests at Sea, and extraordinarie high Tides) was feene fwimming in A Sca-Wothe Zuydenzee; betweene the Townes of man feene in Campen and Edam; which being brought the Zuyderto Edam, and cleanfed from the Sea- zee. moffe growne about her, by her long abiding there: the was like to mother woma, endured to be apparelled, and would food on meats as others did , yet fought the all meanes to escape, and get into the water

Qqq

1441

1301.

Iohn de Reueffe drownd

1301.

The good Easle William

1716. A wonderful dearth.

A Grange ex ample of an vnmercifull fifter.

Agreat effuli-on of blood.

135t. .

The factions

stantly affirme.

1 /04

Philip the

of Burgund

rended. Shee did learne to spinne, and exercise other womanly qualities, beeing daily seene of infinite persons, who have made perfect testimonial of this rare accident, and fignified it for an undoubted truth, auouching, that the lived fifteene yeares, and lyeth there buryed in the Church yard. In the yeare of our Lord, one thousand soure hundred and soure, this famous Prince Albert dyed, after hee had governed his Countries fixe and fortie yeares: nineteene as he was Tutour to his diffracted brother, and twenty seauen as Prince, heire and Lord of those Countries, beeing buryed at the Hague in Hol

Of the Seventeene Provinces.

27 William, fixt of that name, after the death of Duke Abert of Bauaria his father, fucceeded as his immediate heyre. His first wife was daughter to Charles the fift, King of Fraunce, and the dyed yong, without any iffue. He secondly marryed the daughter of John, sonne to Phillip the bold Duke of Burgundy, by whom he had one onely daughter, named Inqueline or lacoba, as the Dutch vieto call her. This Count William wasted Frizeland, spoyled Liege, and prenayled against the Gueldres, and also the Lordes (father and sonne) of Arckell at Gorrichom, and reconciled the Duke of Burgandy to the French King. The Dolphine of Praunce, sonne to King Charles the fixt , marryed Inquiline, Count Williams daughter; but hee being poyfoned, by putting on a shirt of maile, dyed without iffue. As Earle William himfelfe did not long after, being bitten in the leg by a mad Dogge, which huttoould never be cared. So that the Lady laqueline (his daughter, and widow to the Dolphine of Fraunce) was his true heire in all his Seigneuries : Hee gouerned thirteene yeares, and firth buried at Valenciennes in Henault.

28 Jaqueline, or Jacoba; daughter and fole heire to William of Banaria, succeeded her father in all his Barledomes and Seigneuries, beeing then widdow to the Dolphine of France, and yet but nineteene yeares of age. In regard of her youth and widowhood, flie endured much moleftation in her gouernement, chiefly in Holland : for the two factions tooke head againe, and bandled their boldnes on both fides, the Hoeckins fauouring the Counteffes faction, and the Capillantines her e-agayne, had the not very carefully beene i nemies, by which meanes her rule was greatly disturbed. For John of Banaria (forfaking his Bishoppricke of Liege) fought Iohn of Baus to make himselfe an Earle, and marrie his Liege. Niece Jaqueline (vtterly against her will) and yet to dispossesse her of her rightfull inheritance for which purpose he leagued himselfe with the Cabillantines, and other powerfull friends, who neuertheleffe were flaine in their bolde adventure at Gorrichome. And, to frustrate the Bishops vaine hope, the Pope dispensed her marriage with John Duke of Brabant, albeit he was her neare kinfman, whereby their patrimoniall inheritaces were the more strengthened, and hee acknowledged as their Prince, in Henault, Holland, Zeland, Frizeland, &c. It were needeleffe heere, to relate the following molestations of Iohn of lon of Bauria the Bishop, to his Niece Iaqueline, reckoned the taking on himselfe the title of Earle, and 29. Earle of therefore, (by fome) rancked among the Holland Earles of Holland, or the after-marriages of Lady Inqueline; to the Duke of Glowcester, vnckle to Henry the fixt, King of England: the fourth and last time (in great privacy) to Franke of Borffelle, Lieutevant of Zeland, or her (no meane troubles) by the Duke of Burgundy, to whom shee refigned vp all her Countries. Let it fuf fife, that thee lived in continuall vexationsh increene yeares, and dying at the Hague, was buryed in the Chappell of the Court of Holland.

30 Philip Duke of Burgundie, beeing (both by father & mother) rightfull heire and fuedeflour to the aforenamed Counseffe Liqueline: was thus entitled : Phillip Duke of Bourgogne, Brabam; and Lembourg; The Title of Earle of Flaunders, Artoli, Burgogne, Henault, Holland, Zeland, and Namure: Marqueffe of the holie Empire ; and Lord of Frizeland, Salins and Macklyn. Hee had three wines; by the two first hee had no children; but by the last, named Ifabell (daughter to John King of Portugall) hee had three formes; Anthony and loffe; who dyed yong, and Charles Martin, Earle of The order of Charolois, and successions vinto his father, the golden Flice infli-This Phillip of Bourgogne instituted the order of Knighthood of the golden Fleete, and had much discontent with his sonne Charles, whom (at length) he marryed to the Lady Margaret, fifter to Edward the fourth, King of England. The rebells of Gauns and Bruges dearely felt the Valour

The Earle of

Of the Seuenteene Prouinces.

of this Phillip; hee besieged Callis, surprized Luxembourg, subdued Liege; and ouercame the Hamecons. Hee exceeded all his predecessors (dukes of Burgogn) in riches, Seigneuries, height of Pompe and State. He dyed the fift day of June 1467. hauing gouerned about fortie yeares. In his time was the famous Arte of Printing first inuented; the men of Harlem in Holland do challenge the first honour thereof, but it was reduced to perfection at Mentz, by one Iohn Faustus, who had beene feruant to Laurence Ianson of Harlem, as they con-

he Att of

Printing firft

31 Charles, furnamed the Warlike Duke of Bourgogne, fucceeded in all his fathers Titles and Dignities. The Inhabitants of Gaunt relifting him, he brought them vnder obeisance, and descated the Liegeois in battell, which enforced Liege to yeelde to him. He made peace with the French king, who doubted to be detained at Peronne by Duke Charles. Vpon a fresh rebellion of the Liegeois, the duke forced King Lewes to go with him to the fiege of their town; which he ruined, and practifed the like to the house of Brederode. He warred against the Frizons; and carried many Princes in hope of his daughters marriage. The French King, and the Duke, fought to deceine each other, and the Constable of Saint Paul (waxing hatefull to them both) they resolued his ruine, and (on a Truce taken for nine yeares, betweene the King and Duke)the Constable was belieaded at Paris. The Duke warred against the Swiffes, and was defeated by them, both at Granson and Morat, wherewith the Swifles were enriched. The Dake besieged Nancie, and was there flaine in battell, by the treason of the Earle of Campobachio, an Italian; where beging engirt with a great troupe of Lanciers, he received wounds, one in the head, the second in the thigh, and the third in the fundament . Hee left one only daughter and heire.

32 Mary, daughter and heire to Duke Charles, the warrelike Duke of Bourgogne, fucceeded her father in all his Countries: being but eighteene yeares old when hee was flaine before Nancy, wherefore the remained under the charge of the Duke of Cleues, and his brother the Lord of Raue-Steine. The French King Sezied Piccardie & Arthois: and the happing into the Ganthois power, endured much trouble, by putting her chiefest servants and councellers to death. The Flemings were defea ted, and the yong Duke of Gueldres flaine. Afterward, a marriage was concluded betweene Maximilian Arch-duke of Austria, fonne to the Emperor Fredericke, and the Lady Mary of Bourgogne, albeit the would more gladly have matched with the house of Fraunce.

33 Maximilian, Arch-duke of Austria. and sonne to the Emperout Fredericke, marying the Princesse Mary of Bourgogne; was thereby wedded to much warre and trouble. For, first the Guldres revolted from the house of Bourgogne. Next hap. ned the battell of Guinegate, wherein the Arch-duke was Conqueror: Then, Turnay yeelded to him a truce was taken betweene him and the French King, and the new tumults of the Cabillaux and Hoecks, were also by him pacified. Dordrecht was furprised by the yong lord of Egmont; also, of the Cabillaux and Ho many Townes in Gueldres yeelded to the ecks. Arch-duke: and (not long after) followed the death of the Arch-dutchesse Mary; who had (the first yeare of her matriage, a fonne named Phillip, father to Charles the fift) the fecond yeare a daughter, called Margaret, betroathed in her infancie, to Charles the Dolphine of Fraunce, sonne to Lewes 11. and the third yeare, a sonne named Frances, according to the name of Fraunces Duke of Brittaine his godfather. Maximilian being chosen King of the Romans, he made Engelbert Earle of Nassau, Earle of Nassault Gouernour of the Netherlands in his abfence: and afterward, vpon the hold infolency of the Ganthois and Brugois (keeping the K.of Romans prisoner) Albert duke of Saxony, was made fecond governor of the Netherlands,& General for the Emperor Fredericke against the Flemings. But Frederick dying, his fon Maximilia succeeded him in the Empire, by which means Philip of Austria, sonne to Maximilian, inherited his right in Holland, Zeland, Frizeland, &c.

34 Phillip, second of that name, being

16. yeares olde, and succeeding his father

Maximilian, Emperor in the Netherlands,

Qqq2

had these Titles : Philippe Arch-duke of Austria , Duke of Bourgogne, Lothier, Bra- The Titles of bant, Styria, Carinthia, Lembourg, Lux- Philip, Arch-Duke of Auembourg, and Gueldres; Earle of Haf- Rria. pourg, Flaunders, Arthois, Bourgogne, Ferrette and Kiburch; Palatine of Henault, Holland, Zeland, Namure and Zuiphen:

Marquesse

1479.

1482.

1194.

1497.

1515.

1419.

Of the seventeene Provinces.

7 Booke Marquesse of the holy Empyre, and of bloody edict from the Emperor, against Bourgogn; Landtgraue of Elfaten, Lord of the Netherland protestants, and then was Windifmarke, Portnean, Salynes, & Mack-

lyn. Vppon his full polletion of the Netherlands, peace was made between him, and Charles the eight. King of France; war happing betwixt the Arch-duke and the Duke of Guelders, great inconveniences followed thereon : but Duke Albert being 1503. flaine before Groningen, the Arch-Duke inherited the Realme of Spain by his wife, being made King of Castile, & George duke of Sazony (being then made Gouernor of the Netherlands, for the Arch-duke Phillip) continued the Warres in Frizeland. For, youn the death of Ifabell, Queene of I ine daughte Castile, Iane her daughter being the onely to Habel mar ried voto the heyre, and married to the Arch duke Phil-

Arch duke Philip. lip; the hereby inuested him in the realms of Spaine, Leon, Granada, &c. as absolute 1505. King. But he enjoyed that Dignitie not 1506. long: for in the yeare 1506, the 27.day of September, he dyed (fodainly) in the Citty of Bourgos, suspected to bee poyfoned. After the death of Phillip King of Castile, the Emperor Maximillian took vpon him the government of the Netherlandes, as Guardian vnto Charles and Ferdinand, his Grand children, being the fons of Phillip and Jane, King and Queene of Castile. 35 Charles of Austria, second of that name, fucceeded rightfully in al his fathers 1508. Lands and Seigneuries, and by the Emperors appointment, his daughter the Lady Margaret (Dowager of Sauoy, and Aunt to the Princes Charles and Ferdinand) was Regent of the Low countries. Afterward, Prince Charles took possession of the Netherlands, and being crowned K. of Spaine and Arragon, soone after followed the marriages, and the relecte of Widdowes death of the Emperor Maximillian, and in an affembly at Francfort, for choyle of a new Emperor, Charles king of Spaine had free election by the name of Charles thes. Then was Lady Morgaret (widdow both of Castile and Sauoy, and Aunt to the Em-Lady Marga peror Charles) accepted as fole governesse ret fole gouer of the Netherlands, in her Nephewes abfence. Troubles hapned in Spaine, by reafon of the Kings departure thence, & not onely warre in Frizeland, but likewife betweene the French and Bourguignons.as also the warres of Boores or Peazants in Germany; and the Groningeois rejecting 1526. the Duke of Gueldres, did yeild themselues to the Emperor: then hapned the second the imperial diet at Ausbourg, where the protestant Princespresented the confession of their faith. After followed the denouring inundation in the Netherlandes. and the death of the Lady dowager Margaret, whereby Mary of Austria, second daughter to King Phillip, and Queen Iane of Caftile, succeeded in the government of the Netherlands. War hapned betweene Mary of Ap the Emperor and the French king, but vp- this. on the coming of queene Elenor of France 1544. to the Emperour her brother, peace was concluded betwixt them. 36 While Mary of Austria governd the Netherlands, for the Emperor Charls her brother, great troubles hapned vnto the Protestants by opposition of the Pope & Emperor against them. The Emperor af-1549. tected the Empire for Prince Phillip his fonne, which bred a quarrell betwixt the Emperor, and his brother Ferdinand king of Hungary, to whom the Princes of the Empire were more enclined, then to Phillip; and then the Protestants denied their comming to the Councel of Trent. Philip King of Spaine married Mary queene of England: And not long after, the Emperor refigned the Netherlands to his fonne King Phillip (whereby he was reckned the 36. Earle of Holland, Zeland, &c.) and the Empire to his brother Ferdinand, King of the Romans and Hungary, departing out of the Netherlands, to end his dayes quietly in a Monastery, not far from Placentia. Referring an hundred thousand crowns yeerely to himfelfe, employing four thoufand for his dyet and maintenance, appointing the rest vnto young Maydens 15561

and Orphanes, hee not living about two yeares after. When not onely happened his death, but likewise the deathes of the Queenes Dowagers of France and

Hungary, as also of Mary Queen of Eng-

bert, Duke of Sanoy, and Prince of Pie-

mont, was Gouernour, and Lieutenant

Generall of the Netherlandes, for King

Phillip: till the King of Spaines marriage

(beeing turned into teares, by the most vntimely death of the French King) caufed Margaret of Austria, Bastarde to the Emperor Charles the fift, and Dutchesse land; after whome, succeeded her Sister Elizabeth Q. Elizabeth. In which time, Emanuell Phile- of England

flard fonne to the Emperour Charles the fift) as gouernor for K. Philip in the Netherlands, all the Provinces whereof were vnited at the pacification of Gand; whereup-

Iohn Luwregui, a bakerupt-merchants feruant, who was inffatly flain, but the prince Orange that escaped that attempt with life. Afterward he was traiteroufly murdred by Balthagar

Chap. 30.

1199.

Gerard a (high Bourguignion) at Delft in Hilland : whereon, Prince Maurice(be-The Prince or ing his Sonne) fucceeded his father in the Orange murgovernment. Then followed the fiege of Antuerpe, in which time, the States once more, re commended their cause to the Queene of England: eyther to give her the full Soueraigntie of the Netherlands, or else to succour and releeve them with her forces, vpon good conditions offered. Her Maiesty graunted to send them assistance, but no loueraignty or protection of them, would the take vpon her: whereupon, certaine cautionarie Townes and Skonces were deliuered up to her, for repayment of fuch fummes of mony, as should be difburled by hir, and Articles of couenant let downe betweene them. Alfo, Robers Lord Dudley, Baron of Denbigh, and Earle of Leicester, was appointed by the Q.of England, to be her Gouernour generall, ouer the English powers in the Netherlands.

In the time of the earle of Leicesters gouernement for the Queene, were fundrie worthy feruices performd by the Earle of Effex, fit Iohn Norris, the Lord Willoughby, fir Phillip Sidney, fir William Ruffell, dec. besides the subtile pretences of sir Welliam Stanley, Rowland Yorke, Patton, and others, who held faire weather with the Earle of Leicester, and had the government of Zutphen skonce, and the itrong towne of Dewenter (to the great diflike of the States) yet performed no such matter, as the Earles hope was perswaded of them: for, after the death of that matchles noble Gentleman fir Philip Sidney, he being that before Zutphen, & therof dying the Earle of Leicester (being gone for England) both Deuenter & Zusphen Skonce were delinered up to the Spaniards, by base corruption of money. And (not long after) the Prince of Parma beleagring Schuice; by composition it was also yielded up, after it had endured 17000 cannon shot & more. Beside, vpon some discontentment, betweene the Earle of Leicester, and the States; the Queene called home the favd Earle into England. and the Lord willoughby remained there Generall of the English forces. The sundry worthy feruices, both by him, and the English performed, with the Spanish vndoubted hopes of Englands Conquest, in the dreadefull yeare, one thousand fine hundred eightie and eight, Prince Manrice his entrance into the Netherlands regiment, and the Dukes of Parmaes warres in Fraunce; all these do I passe ouer . referring such as desire farther satisfaction therein, to the large Historie of the Netherlands.

The Prince of Parma dying at Arras (after his retreate from Rouen) the second of September, one thousand fine hundred ninety and two: Maurice of Nassau,borne Prince of Orange, Marquesse of La Vere, and of Flushing, &c. was made great Captaine and Admirall generall of the vnited Provinces in the Low-countries, by the Estates : and Ernestus, Archduke of Auftria, was also made Lieutenant Gouernour, and Captaine generall for Phillip of

Prince Maurice prouing very successéfull in his warrelike attempts, a Renegate or Apostate Priest (in the habite of Souldiet) was corrupted (by the Arch-duke Ernestus) to murther the Prince Maurice at Breda; and vpon his owne confession Prince Misthereof, he was executed at the Hage. Afterward, vpon Prince Maurice his valiant twice, furprizall of Gronning, Ernest us had dealt in like maner with a Souldier, named Peter de Four (who had sometime served in the companie of the Guarde to Prince Maurice) to vndertake the murthering of him at Lillo: the which treason being confessed by the man himselfe, he was executed in the towne of Berghenup-zoom. Here might be much faid of the honorable fernices of fir Frances Vere, and others, but Sir Frances our purposed breuitie is the onely imbar- vere. ment; and the Netherlands Historie (at large) may thereof discharge me. The Arch-duke Erneftus dyed the twenty one day of February, one thousand five hundred ninety and fine; Mondragons forces defeated by Prince Maurice, and La Motte flaine before Dourlaus : the Estates (vnder the king of Spaine) gladly fought peace with the vnited Provinces, and fent Articles in writing to Prince Maurice, for confideration of their motion. This was not done, but youn good aduice in the King of Spaine, perceiuing the Netherlands. and Prince Maurice his great fortunes against him, adding every day, (more and more) to his vtter abolition thence. Hereupon, Albertus the Cardinall, brother to Albertus deceased Ernestus, and Arch duke of An- Arch Duke of Auftin. firia, was fent (by the King) to gouerne there for him; many Easterlings and Netherland (hippes, which had beene stayed) in Spaine to meete the Indian fleete, were fodainely released; and Phillip of Nassau (who is now Prince of Orange and Earle of Buren, that had long time beene restrained of his liberty in Spaine) for the better countenancing of th'intended busines, he likewise was sent along with the Cardinall

The Cardinall being made Governour for the King of Spaine, tooke Callice from the French King, as his first peece of feruice: but for loffe thereof, he recovered La-fere from the Spaniards. Whereupon, the Cardinall besieged Hulff in Flanders, Hulft befiedgwhich yeelded in the end : but it was a deare purchase to the Cardinall, for this fiege, (continuing fome two moneths) cost him the lines of about three-score valiant Captaines, besides other Commanders, Collonels, and men of marke, and aboue five thousand well appropried soul-

Then did the King of Spaine dispense with himselfe for payment of his debts, which made many Merchants in Spaine, Ibourg, to become Bankerouts. A league was made betweene the French King, the Queene of England and the States, against the Spaniards; and then did Prince Maurice go to Tournhoult, where the Earle of Varax was flaine . Amiens also was furprized by the Spaniards; but soone besieged and recourred by the French King. albeit the Cardinall did offer succour, which proued in vain. Prince Maurice befieged, and tooke the Townes of Alpen, Meurs, Rhinberg, Groll, Brefort, Enfcheyde, Oldenzeel, Otmar fom, Goot, and Lingen; all which services he performed in three moneths. Then happened another treacherous plot, against the life of Prince Man. rice, by perswassion of the Iesuites of Damay, and undertaken by Peter Panne, a Cowper by trade; but being then a Broker or Bankerout Merchant, who having received the Sacrament to performe the deede, eyther with knife, ponyard, or pifoll: the Prouinciall of the Ichites made a long Sermon, to encourage him in the action, and affuring him of Paradice, if he performed it, vied theie words to him befices; Goe in peace, for thou shalt goe like an Angell, in the guarde of God . But the man (being terrified in conscience) discouerd

the whole treason, without any compulfion, and was therefore executed at Leyden in Holland. The King of Spaine growing weake and fickely, gaue his Daughter the Infanta, named Ifabella Clara Engenia, in marriage to the Arch duke and Cardinall Albertus, with transaction of the Netherlands and Bourgogne : whereupon he left his Cardinalles habite, and went to fetch the Infanta. Soone after dyed the King of Spaine, on the thirteenth day of king Philip. September, in the yeare of our Lord God 1598. beeing seauentie one yeares olde, and foure moneths. The Arch-duke and the Infanta being come into the Netherlands, had their in-Stallment at Bruffells, Louaine, Antwerpe, &c. The Emperour fent to the States, concerning a peace, but their resolution helde to make warre in Flaunders . Then happened the fiege and memorable battaile of Nieuport, where Prince Maurice The bastale tooke diuers Fortes from the Spaniards, and ouerthrew the Arch-dukes Armie, he beeing there in person : but gladly fled away, leaving his Armes, Horsie of Comtaly, Antwerpe, Amsterdam, and Middle. bate, all his Houthold, Artillery, and baggage behinde him, and loft fixe thousand men, besides eight hundred taken prisoners, among whom was Don Francesco de Mendoza, Admirall of Arragon, Marqueffe of Guadaleste, and Lieutenant generall of the Arch-dukes Army, who was ledde to Oostend : Don Baptista de Villa noua , led to Horne in Holland ; Don Alonzo Ricquell, to Delft Don Gonzalo Hernandes de Spinola, to Vtrecht: Don Pedro de Montenegro, to the Haque ; Don Pedro de Valafco , to Berghen, with Don Francisco de Tarres, and Don Antonio de Mendoza, and Don Pedro de Leusina, to Enchuisen : besides the Archdukes three Pages, Count Carlo Rezi, Don Diego de Guzman, and Mortier : Don Fedro de Monte-maior, his chiefe Tafter; alfo his Phisition, Barber, Harbinger, Rider, Cook, Porter, Grooms of his Chamber, most of the Archers, Halberdiers of his Guarde, and (in a maner) all his houthold; with three Priests or Monkes; forty Auncients, and thirty feauen Pentioners, tearmed (by them) Ancients and Sergeants reformed. Hee loft also fixe peeces of Ordinance, one hundred thirty and fixe Enfignes of foote taken, and fine Corners of horfe, comprehending the Mutiners Standard, and the recoverd loft Colours.

Moreo-

1585.

The Earle of Leicester.

Siz Philip Sid stey (laine, 1587.

Schuice.

The Lord
Willoughby.

1488.

ince Mau

therland

Moreouer, on the Archdukes fide were flaine, the Earle of Saume, the Earle of La Fere, the Seneshall of Montelimar, the Baron of Pimereull, Chaffy Ottingny, fon to the President Richadot; Don Galbar de Sapens, Colonell, who dieds at Oastend, Don Diego de Torres, Don Gaspar de Loyaze, Don Gonzalo d'Espinola, Don Ioan de Parde, Don Garcia de Toledo, Don Lopode Capeta, Don Alonzo Carcamo, Don Louis Faccardo Sebastian Velasco, Sebastian Doteloa, Christianall Verduques, Mattheo d'Otteuille, Ioannettin de casa nueua, the Paymafter Alines, and many other neuer kno-

Prince Maurice and the States loffe.

728

Prince Maurice and the States', at the first encounter in the morning, and lastly in the battel, loft about 2000. men, among whom were Bernard, Couteler, & Hamelton, Captaines of horse, and some twentie Captaines offoot, but no man of marke or special note. In this brane exployte at Nieuport, the vertue and valor of Sir Frances Vere Generall, and Sir Horatio Vere his Brother, Colonell, will for cuer bee remembred.

The occurrences in the following years as the beliedging of Oastend, the enterprize on Flesigne, the practise to sacke Antwerpe againe, Grane yeelded vp vnto Prince Maurice; also his honorable offers to the towne of Sluice, and it being veel. ded to him vpon composition, even in the view of the Archdukes army: they require a larger field of discourse, whe by this breuity can be admitted. Proceed we then to speake of the long continued stedge at Oastend, which lasting three whol years and eleuen weekes, was at last compounded withall, and on the twentie two day of September, 1604. yeelded to the Archduke. What numbers were flain in this long continued fiege of Oast-end, can hardly be gathered, albeit, a note was found in a Commissaries Pocket (who had bin slain the scuenth of August, 1604. before Ouftend) wherein were divers good obseruations stefpecially concerning the Arch-Dukes Campe, and also what number (of each degree) dyed and were flaine therein, during this fiedge, vntill the yeilding vp thereof, viz) Masters of the camp scuen; Colonels fifteene; Sergeant Ma- The Arch. iors twenty nine, Captaines 565. Licute- Oallend nants 1116. Enfigns 322. Sergeants 1911. Corporals 1166. Lansprizadocs 600. Soldiers,54663. Mariners 611. women and Children, 119. all amounting to 72124. persons.

To continue the memory of this long fiedge, as also the winning of Sluice; counters (of Siluer and Copper) were made in the vnited Prouinces, bearing (on the one fide) the figure of Oastend, and on the other, the Towns of Rhinberke, Grane, Sluice Ardenbourg, with the Forts of I fendyke & Cadfant, with this inscription round about ; Plus triennio obsessa, hosti rudera, Patria quatuor ex me vrbes dedi. Oastend being more then three years befiedged, gaue the enemy an heape of stones, and so her Natine Countrey foure Townes. Another Counter. concerning Sluice, had these wordes on the one fide, Traxit, duxit, dedit, Anno 1604. And with the Armes of Zeland on the other fide, were these words : Beatus populus cuius adiutor Deus. For the following yeares, from 1604. to 1608. I find no especiall or memorable accidents; but an enterprize by Prince Maurice, on the river of scheld and Antwerp, with the taking of the Castle of Woune, neere vnto Berghen Vp zeome; Spinolas taking of Linghen, with an attempt on Berghen & Groll, taken by composition,&c. For a treaty of peace happening betweene England and Spaine, the like also chanced to be talked on concerning the Netherlands, and many other meetings were made to bring it to effect. At length it was brought to paffe, by the labour and endeuor of a Friar (as it was reported) who made manie errands between Spaine and the Netherlands, vntill it was accomplished. Since when, nothing hath hapned of any confequence, but the taking of the Towns of Guliohe in Germany, where the Prince Maurice did behaue himselfe very hono.

cople of Pa

THE

1009. 160

The Eight Booke.

CHAP.I.

Containing, a breefe discourse of the Orioinall of the Venetians; the foundation of Venice, and how is bath beene gouerned from the yeare of our Lord, 421. to this

🔂 🚳 Istoriographers who

haue written of the Venetians, doe not agree together in their true Originall. For some doe write, that they are descended of the Venetian Gaules, inhabiting a-Jong the Ocean fea in little Britaigne, cal led Armorica, whereof one of the principall Citties (beeing a Byshops See) was called Vennes. Others, and (among them) Titus Liuius, born in Padua, affures vs, that they came forth of Paphlagonia, and that Philemon their Captaine (being flayne at Troy the great) they went with Antenor into Italy. Others write, that this Nation, having beene neighbours to the Cappado cians, and venturing fight with the Cimmerians, they hazarded farre further vppon the Adriaticke Sea in their Fortune . The most common opinion, is of them, who changing of a Letter) were called Venitians, or Venetes. First of all, they expelled the Enganeans fay, that the Hinitians or Henetes came with Antenor; and, in fometime after (by

who inhabited this country, between the People by the Adriaticke sea and the Alpes, and builded the Citty of Padua. Afterward, by fuccesse | fea, rowardes of time, they increased in such fort, as they the Alpes. would not be fatisfied to be Masters (onely) of that which had appertained to the Enganeans (confisting of thirty foure fayre Citties and Townes;) but intruded farther, to leize on Breffano and Forli. Some report this Countrey to be bounded with the Rivers of Pau, and that of Adde, as alfo the Lake of Guard, anciently called the Benacke, the Alpes, and the Adriaticke fea.

And so the ancient Venitians in this maner, extended their Dominion, both in longitude and latitude, in the most pleafant Countrey of Italy: but the feating of the places did daily beget the elder estate of the Venitians hatred. For on the one fide, the ordinary robberies of the Libermians, and on the other fide, the frequent and frightfull courses of the Barbarians, land D.I natia, did hinder them from any long time of continuing in quiet. For, without these impeachments, this Nation had bin most fortunate, in conquering (by the right of Warre)one of the most goodly & beautifull regions in all Italy.

Now ouer & beside, that on the fouthfide, it is enuironed with a most calme of Venice, & circuire of the fea. and in regard thereof, capacity there is the most capable of receining al strange Merchandizes : fo it is likewise Watered with very delectable rivers, wherby whatsoeuer commeth from the Sca, is easilie transported to the very Nauel of the Prouince. It aboundeth in Pooles, Ponds, Forrests, and vnder-woods, & the whole Land is choifely fertile in Corne, Wine,

Liburnia, the countrey of Croatia, betweene litria,

fiege at Oaft

zfot.

602. 1604

Chap.i.

The first Church built

men the firft

Founders of Venice.

Oyle, and all kindes of fruites. It is also | themselves to the Marshes or Fennes of plentifully stored with Countrey houses, Townes, Citties, and Villages, Castles, Fortes, and fuch like, verie commendable for the scituation & enclosure of their Walles.

These new inhabitants', when their weake estate beganne to grow in fayrer forme: they were fildom exempted from the Warres and incursions of strangers. For, after many bolde infolencies of the Barbarians, with continued Warres a gainst each other, even from their verie beginning, vntill the time of Attila: they were yet much more dreadfully encumbred, with the furious affault of the Goths, a Tempest farre exceeding in turbulency, all other former difasters happening vnto them whatfocuer. For first, the Hunnes (a people of Scythia, dwelling neere to the Riphean Mountaines) conducted by Attila, the Sonne of Mandlucke, dispersed themselues ouer Italy, and making horrible spoile wheresoeuer they went, fell into the Province belonging to the Venitians. After a long fiedge, they tooke the Citty of Aquilea, and spoyled and burnt it wholly. In like manner did they alfo ruinate the two Citties of Concordia and Altina, and almost all the Venitian re-

At the fearefull newes of this Warre. the Venitians were more amazed then any other, and so much the rather, because they had beene formerly inured, to fustaine their cheefest mishappes amongest the Barbarians. Whereupon it is faid, that (euen then) a great number of perfons withdrew themselves from the firme Land, to the Isles where Venice at this instant is builded : hasting thither from all other parts, especially vppon the arrivall of this cruell enemy Attila.

Some (of the better fort of Padua) first beganne the retreate, and being come to the entrance or iffue of the River, which was then very deepe (whence the name of Kialto hath remaind to the fame place, as deriued of the word Rinealto) they there laide the first foundation of the Cittie of

The meaner people of Padua, enforced by the felfe-fame feare; fled thence, and beganne to people themselves in Chieggia, Malamocco, and Albiola. Som of them of Aquileia (at the fame time) betooke Grada; and, vpon the fresh returne of Attila, the people ran (in mighty affluence) along the Coastes to the Neighbouring Isles. They of Aquileia bestowed themsclues in Grada, a place necrest vnto firme land, yet engirt with Waters. They that fledde from Concordia, made vse of Coarli and the Attinois, fixe little Islands neere to one another, which they gave names vnto, acording to the names of the gates of their former lost and ruined Citties: to wit, Torcello, Maiorbo, Buriano, Muriano, Amiana, and Gonstantiace.

Thefe fenerall places, where at this prefent the Citty of Venice is feated, were (in flate of the elder times) very straight or narrowe Iflands, and neere vnto each othersfauing randeth. onely that they were separated by the pleasing course of Rivers, which ranne into, and returned againe from the Sca. according to the changes of his fluxe and refluxe. Nor in these straights were then any dwellings to bee differred, but onely of Sea-Fowles, that flew thither from the Seas, to disport themselves vppon the Sunny bankes; and Fisher-men likewife, would fometimes there put in for harbour.

The Paduans, that tooke vp the Rialto, were the first that beganne to builde, and The first bulk it was in the very fame place, where the nice, and at first foundation of the Citty was layde . what time. Namely, the fine and twentieth day of March, in the yeare of our Lord, 42 1, and second yeare of the reigne of Pharamond. first King of the Gaules or French-mengin the time also of Pope Boniface the first. and of the Emperour Honorius, Whereby it plainly appeareth, that at one and the felfe-fame time, began both the kingdome of France and the Commonwealth of Venice. And that both the one and the other have continued to this prefent, for twelue hundred yeares, very little, either more or leffe.

This Citty fo newly begun, encreased dayly both in people and buildings. But fee what happened uppon a fodaine, a Greeke Carpenters house (or rather hee stroyed by fire was one of the Shipwrights, named Entinopus) falling on fire, confumed in a moment (with a violent & continuall embracing)24 faire new built houses. Which when these new come inhabitants perceiued,& fearing that heaven was offended getting God, and feruing their owne appetites. They fell all to prayer, and made a solemne vow, to build a Church in the honour of God, and in memory of the Apostie Saint James; at which verie instant time, a mighty tempest of rain (as sodainly fell) whereby the rest of the new begun City was happily preserued.

That Church is yet at this day plainely to be difcerned, with the markes and appearances of great antiquity, euen in the very midft of the Rialto: And it was then confecrated by foure Bylhops, to with Seuerianus by thop of Padua; Ambrose, Byshop of Altina Jocundus, by shop of Treuifa and Epodius, by thop of Pderzo, and a Priest was there appointed, to performe divine Scruice.

The first foundations of this Famous Citty, were men of honest repute, Noble, and rich. For the ancient Venitians, at the chaunge of their abiding, brought with them thither their wives and childre, with the very wealthiest moneables which they had, and so (at leysure) withdrew themfelues, to places of a more secure dwelling. But being impeached (by incursions of the Hunnes) to Till the groundes vpon the fea Coasts; such as had any meanes or apt commodity : gaue themselues to fighting, and to make falt, or to transport the goods of their neighbors a effecting the benefit thereby gotten, to be no more dif-

honest or unbefitting, then to plough and husband the grounds of others. As for the wealthier for they addicted themselucted traffick Merchandizes with Awangers, and by their frequent advencyring into diders Countries, some of them being very skilfull Minersyand well experienced in the trial of feverall Oares or Mettals hidden in theiground, which by industry and endeuour they found in the earth, became Finers on Tryers of those Mettals, and extracted (from the groffer Substances) the purer perfections of Gold and Silver, whereby, in theyr owne Languare, they well etermed Orifici, derived of the Latine world aurifest, Gold-linithes, or Hammer men, that (of those refined Mertals) could frame Cups, Pors, Rings, Basons, Ewres, or any other needful matter whatfocuer, both for the fernice of God in Churches and Temples, and for the royalty of Emperors, Kings, & Prin-

with this their manner of beginning, for- ces. So that, by the confent of divers good Authors, as Linie, Florus, Casidorus, Trogus Pompeius, and others, the first Gold- in Europ, wer fmiths, workers in Gold and Silver, and in Venice. framers of those excellent mettalles into fuch orderly meanes for vie (within the parts of Europe) lined in Venice, whereas yet (to this day) do remaine the very best ingenious, and perfect workmen for fuch matters (according to the judgement of many) that are to be found in any part of the world: Concerning fuch as remained more ordinarily at home, for care & fafety of the Citty; they applyed their spirits, to denife good lawes and customs for generall benefit. During which time, fuch was their due respect of justice, & so pre- Care of justice cife care of equity and right to all men; as good. among fo great a number of people, there could not bee any diforderly differences

> Catholike religion they fo fingularly commended, and the dayly presence of onin especial fome reverend Prelates, who had faued respect. themselues with their Compatriots; that it augmented (among them) a common affection to picty. And their affiftance appeared veric requifite, not onely for the ministry of holye Offices; but also for retention of the inhabitants of this new City, in ancient picty and religion. Fearing least they might be infected with the polfon of Arrian herefic, because nothing els made more spoile and hauock through all the Province, except the weapons of the Gothes and Hunnes. Such was the beginning of the City of Venice, and in fuch manner of living, and in fuch exercises the effect her first infancy; till(by her vertues) thee attained vnto greater groweth, and grounded her felfe in her inflant flate and condition. It hath constantly bene held, that this Commonwealth (chermore) retified that forme of gouernmeth which is termed aristorasignification the thoft hoble and worthiell Civitens frould guide and gonern. putat. For, although it be faite; that it hath beite gouerned first by Confills, then by Tribunes, and laftly by Dakes, and Muifters of warlike power; yer horwithflanding, all thefe dignities, being but lective. and not hereditary; the election should (in right) appertain to the most Noble Islan. ders, and Gentlemen of name, by Whose advice the Common wealth ought to be

Mountains in the north pa. & of Scythia, where inow lieth continu

An ancient Citty in that part of Italy, called I orum

The firft foun dation of Venice.

in the fea, and neere adsoy-

Loue of religi

Arifloceatia op

were the firft

in Venice.

The creation of Fribunes,

andwhat they

tinueth to this day. Confuls, to the number of three, were The gouerne chosen for two yeares, and albeit that this ment of Confuls, and who kinde of Gouernment lasted for about the space of threescore yeares, yet wee finde onely but three confecutive or fucceeding elections of them. The first Consuls, were Albertus Phalarius, Thomas Candianu, and Zeno Daulo. These men first gouerned the Citty in her Nonage, & some are of the minde, that they were the first Authors of the Paduans flight, and their retirement to the Lakish or Marish Isles, as also of their first building there. The second Consuls, were Lucianus Graulus, Maximus, of Marinus Lucius, and Hugo Fuscus. The third, were Marcus Aurelius, Andreas Claudim, and Albinus Maurus. The names of fuch as were elected after thefe, are not to bee found in anie Histo-

After, that the Isles (about the Rialto were filled with inhabitants: in stedde of Confuls, Tribunes were created, and for their creation, the matter was first debared privately by few people, afterward, it was ordained and refolued in open afsembly of the Islanders: that in each Isle there should be a Tribune, and hee should bee a yearly Magistrate, to render Iustice to the Cittizens, and with leuerity, to punish their offences! But the remaynder which concerned the generalitie of the Common-weale; was referred to the generall affembly of the Islanders, to bee by them determined. Afterward, there was but one Tribune created for government of the Isles, which continued for some yeares. Finally, they concluded to creare ten, wherunto were added two more, who should dwell in Heracles, &cthis Tribunacy dignity held place for more then two hundred yeares. Heere is to bee noted, that the Tribunes of the Illos, abusing their authorities, did fo trouble the State with civill diffentions, as it plainly appeared; that the maine body of the Cittie would be diffoliod, without fome good and immediate remedy. Which gaue occalinn, that (to beare the complaints of chery one) a general affembly of the Illes was published and their meeting to be in

In this affembly, Christophere by thop of Grada was Prefident, accompanyed

managed, even as it hath bin, and stil con- | with a great number of the Cleargie, and after divine service was performed, the first proposition which he made, was, that (for good of the Common-wealth, each man might complaine of the future Tribune, which being done, and the offences no longer to be endured, for publike benefit of the state in generall, resolution was set downe, to make election of a Duke, who should represent all honor and Maiefly in the State or Seigneury, & he shold haue power to affemble the general coun fell, when questions were to be made, of any important matter concerning the Commonwealth. He thould have power alfo, to clect yearely Tribunes or Magistrates in every Isle, and their appellations to bee brought before him. Moreouer, if any should obtaine any dignity, Prelacie, or Benefice, by fuffrages of the Clergy or people: that he should not enjoy it, or be possessed therof, without the good liking and confent of the Duke, whole power al-So ended with his life.

> This being thus concluded, in the year | Who was the 697. Paullucio was created the first Duke: first Duke of and so hath that Ducall dignity continued euer fince. Saue onely that in the yeare 737. after the death of the third Duke Or-(o, it was determined, that no duke shold be clected, for fix yeares, but that a Mafler of the armed troopes or Souldiours should be established, and his Authoritie to be annuall; which lafted no longer then fine yeares. For in the year, 742 they proceeded agains to a Dukes election; and fince that time, the Common-wealth of Venice hath enermote had Dukes & Princes of the Seigneury ; by whole wiledoms (and his counsell affiling it hath bin proferued in an euer flourishing estate, euen to this inflant years, 1619.....

> > CHAP. II.

nder volt aufan die dienskhild. I

A (bors Summary, of the lines of the Dukes and Princes of Venice: And a breusase al-so of she most remarkeable actions, in the times of their Covernment.

DAuluccio Anpapetto, was first Duke of the people, cholen in Heracles. He took Chap. 2. The Dukes of Venice.

> his Oath before Christophero, Patriarke of flayne his chiefe Maister Theodato: the Grada, to governe according to the lawes, & to regard nothing more then the weale publike. He pacified the difference which Luitprand, king of the Lombards had with K. Aribers, and made friendship with them both: as well by his authority, as by arms. He brought the rebellious Aquileians vn. der obedience, encreased the Citties customes and revenews, and dyed, having beene Duke twenty yeares, fixe moneths, and eight dayes. 2 Marcello Tegaliano, of the fame place of Heracles, was elected his successour, by common voyce of the people. He was deuoute, modest and affable; but much lesse diligent in gouerning, then his predeceffour. The Patriarchat of Grada was tranfferred into Aquileia in his time, by Luitprand, and there hee had great warres, about the diffentions of the Bithops, wherinto he would not interpose himselfe, but dyed, having beene Duke nine yeares, and twenty one dayes. 3 Orfo Hipato, anobleman of Heraclea, wonne himselse great reputation by his famous deedes. Paulo the Exarcho had recourse to him, the Gracian Armie beeing broken, and fiege layd to Rauenna by Luitprand. He re-gained Rauenna, made the Kings nephew his prisoner, slew the duke of Vicenza, and reseated the Exarcho in his due rights. Hee brideled the Aquileians, who troubled the publike peace, and put corage into the foules of the yonger fort. He was flaine, by reason of the dissentions of Iefolo, the cleauenth years, and fift monoth of his Principality.

4 Theodato Hipato, forme of Orfo, was proclaimed Duke 5. yeares after the death of his father: during which time, the people were gouerned by a Marshall or Maifter of the Souldiers: and for faking Heraclea, he brought the State to Malamocco. There he was the first created, and limited his Confines with Aftolpho King of the Lombards. He was also flayne by Galla a Cittizen of Malamocco, in the thirteenth yeare of his Principalitie.

5 Galla de Malamocco, a wicked and feditious man, yet thewing himfelfe as Protector of publique peace, was established in the place of Theodate. But his wickednesse being knowne, and that (being but a fubicat) he would needs make himfelfe absolute Lord, having before people plucked out his eyes, and tooke from him the Dignitie, which hee had a yeare vsurped.

6 Dominico Monegario, of Malamocco, was feated in the steade of Galla . Somewhat to bridle this Dukes authoritie, the people ioyned two yearely Tribunes with him. But he, being a man audacious and arrogant, fought to tyrannize ouer the people : whereat they growing into furle. pluckt out his eyes, the eight yeare of his Principalitie.

7 Mauritio Galbaio, a noble Heraclean, for his justice, wiscdome, and wealth, was chosen to this dignity. He made his sonne Duke with him, and they gouerned together . In his time, the Church of Grada being molested, he sent an Ambassadour to Pope Stephen, to accord the difference. The Bishopricke of Saint Peter de Castello Olivolo, was then erecled. And he died, having governed twenty three yeares.

8 Gionanni Galbaio, hauing bene Duke nine yeares with his father, gouerned the Commonwealth yet nine yeres more, and after the fayd time, hee made Mauritio his fonne, companion with him in the Principality. But they being both of vnfufferable and wicked life, having murthered Iohn Patriarchat of Grada, throwing him downe headling from an high tower: Fortunatus, succession in the Patriarchate, made a conspiracie against them, and another was cleded Duke. Whereat, being not a little confounded, the father fled into Fraunce, and the fonne to Manena, the fixteenth yeate of their rule.

9 Obelerio, being elected Prince by them that had intelligence with Fortuna. tm, tooke his brother Beato as his affociate, and Valentine beside (being their third brother) was admitted with them in the fame dignitic. And it is worth the noting, that of these three brethren, Beato is onelie placed in the ranke of Dukes in the Counfell chamber of Fenice; whereas Obeleria incited Pepin King of Italy, to make warre on the Venetians : and Besto maintaind the Common-wealth, raigning five yeares.

10 Angelo Participatio, after he had wel bornehimfelfe in the warre against Pepin, was elected Duke, the people being fummond to the Ridto. He founded the Dukes palace, in the fame place where that now built, standeth. The division of the Empire was made in his time, and the Venetians | chio, wasted the County of Rauenna, to releft in their owne liberty. The Citie was divided into wards, streets, and precincts. The Pregadi, and the Quaranta, who (for eriminal offences) was then instituted among them. He gouerned 18. years.

II Giustiniano Participatio, hauing beene an affociate in the dignity with his father, was(after his death)confirmed by the people. Hee repealed home his brother Iohn, who was then at Constantinople, & accepted him as his fellow ruler: hee made the peoples authority greater then before, & gaue ayde to Michael the Emperor against the Sarazins. The body of Saint Marke was in his time brought from Alexandria, accepting it into his protection, and the Church remaining at this day, was confecrated in his memory. He died the fecond yeare of his dignity.

I & Gionanni Participatio, remained in the royalty, and enlarged the Church of S. Marke, placing therein a great number of Priests and Canons, & appointing a Primicerio to gouerne them. Hee caused the head of Obelerio to be cut off, whome hee had befiedged in the lile of Curtia. He made war vpon the Nauratines, and ouercame them. In the end, a conspiracy was | gia. deuised against him, and beeing confined to Grada, in the eight yeare of his Principality; he shaued his head and beard, and made himselfe a Monke, in which estate he dyed.

12 Pietro Tradonico of Pola, hauing carried himselfe to the peoples contentment in the warres against Pepin, was elected Duke. He joyned John his son in rule with him, and gaue fuccour to the Emperor of Constantinople, who made request thereof veares. by Theodofius Patricius. He was made Protoppotary of the Empire: in help whereof. he fent 60. Gallies. Lewes 2. granted him many priviledges, and in the end, hee was | Constantinople, and hee was made Protoflaine by a fedition, in his 27. yearc.

14 Orfo Participatio having appealed the fedition, was made Du. The Turks having fooiled Dalmatia, even fo far as Grada, wer vanquished by him and Gionanni Participationis fon, whom he made affociat with him in his gouernment. Basilim the Emperor, highly honoured him for that good feruice, and made him Protofbatary of the Empire. He gouerned 17. yeares.

15 Giouanni Participatio, being confirmed in his dignity, tooke and burned Comauenge himself on the Count of Comachio, who had imprisoned and wounded vnto death his Brother Bradoario. He growing much ouercome with sicknesse, caused the Church of Saint Cornelius, and S. Cyprian to be built at Malomocco; and having gouerned five yeares, and fixe moneths, renounced the Dignity.

1 6 Pietro Candiano, was elected after the voluntary dismission of his Predecessour. He was a valiant man, and verie expert in Armes; and yet notwithstanding, greatly addicted to denotion. He went (in perfon) with ten Gallies against the Nanratines, who (as Theeues) robbed and purloyned from the Venitians. Fighting valiantly against them, hee dyed at the second time, with the Weapons in his handes. He gouerned no longer then fine

Dominico Tribuno, is set (by some) in ranke with the Dukes : but others, leffe curious in fearch of the History, have omitted him; because he was duke but three moneths, and thirteene dayes, and nothing is remarkeable in his time, but a certaine priviledge, granted by him to Chiog-

17 Pietro Tribuno, fonne of Dominico, was elected Duke. He obtained of Guydo, Emperour and King of Italy, a confirmation of all ancient Priviledges. The Barbarian Hunnes came againe into Italy, and burned Heraclea, Capo de Argier, and Chioggia. This Prince ouercame them, with very much honour : and this was the third time, that those Strangers sought to vsurp on that State. He gouerned twenty foure

18 Orfo Badoaro, called himfelfe Parvicipatio, and was the first that chaunged his name. He fent for his sonne Pietro to spatarie. In the yeare nine hundred and twentie, hee obtained of Rodulphus, Emperour and King of Italy, the confirmation of the Venitians ancient authoritie, to stampe Moneyes. Hee addicted himselfe wholly to piety, and in his 20. yeare, he renounced the Dignitie, to make himfelfe a Monke, and line prinately.

19 Pietro Candiano the fecond, was a worthy man, and made Warre on Lauterio, Marquesse of Istria, who hindred the Trafficke of the Venitians. He opercame him, and re-conquered the people of Capo d' Litria. He vanquished Albertus, sonne to the Emperor Berengarius, who impatronizing himfelfe of Rauenna, impeached the passage of the Venitians shippes. In his time, Maidens were stollen by the Testaines, to ioyn in marriage with them; but they were soone recovered. He gouerned feuen yeares.

20 Pietro Badoaro, the sonne of Orso, was redeemed by him from the Sclauonians. He gouerned but two yeares and feuen moneths, alwayes in peace, which he much affected. Berengarius the Emperor did him many fauours, for his great de-

TI Pietro Candiano the third, fonne to the fecond Candiano, affociated himfelfe in his dignity with his fonne Pietro: and at two feuerall times armed three & thirty Shippes against the Warentines; but at the second time, he made peace with the. His sonne being reproued by him for his bad behaulour; revolted from him, and against the Common-wealth. The people would have flaine him, but hee was fent thece into exile: wher joyning with Guydo, sonne of Berengarius, hee endangered the Commonwealth: whereat his Father greeuing, died in his fifteenth yeare of gouernment.

22 Pietro Candiano the fourth, being repealed from exile (albeit the people had (worne neuer to receive him) was made Prince with very great applause. He dealt in such fort with Pope John the twelfth. that the Churche of Grada was made Patriarchall, and Metropolitane of all the Venitians State, and of Istria. Otho the Emperor, granted him many honourable priviledges. He mined Vderzo, and was flaine with his Sonne in a fedition of the people, having governed about twentie yeares.

23 Pietro Orfoolo, was a man altogither deuout, and was elected by the people against his will. He would very often walk in an voknownehabit, to visit the houses of poore people and Hospitals. Hee appeafed the diffentions between the Venitians, and them of Cape d'Istria, who yeilding themselues tributary; hee went with Beate Romnaldo of Rauenna, to line Religioufly. He gouerned two years and two months, doing many worthy and charitable decds.

24 Vitale Candiano, Sonne of Pietro the third, made the confederacy with the Em perour Otho. He fell ficke fo foone as hee entred vppon his charge: wherefore hee became a Monke, having governed about 25 Tribuno Memo, was very rich, but no man of State. In his time happened great diffentions, betweene the families of Morefina and Calleprina; by reason whereof, many notorious murthers were committed. He tooke part with the Merifini, which caused the faction to withdraw themselves to Verena, to the Emperor Othe. He gaue the Isle of S. Giorgio Maggiore to the Abbot of Moresini: and renounced the Principality in his twelfth yeare, entering into Religion.

26 Pietro Or seolo the second, beeing 2 very discreete man, ordered the matter fol well with the Emperours Bafiling and lexius: that the Venitians were exempted from Tolles and Taxations. Othe the Emperour lying at Perona, did highly fauour him; and, among other graces, to holde one of his fonnes at Baptisme. Hee was the first that extended their Confines on the Sea, winning many places in Istria and Dalmatia. Having caused the Church and Pallace to be finished in his time, hee dyed in the eighteenth yeare of his Principality.

27 Ottone Orfeelo, hauing Gouerned fome space with his father Pietro, was confirmed in the dignity, at the age of eighteene yeares. He winne fuch reputation. that Geta King of Hungaria, gaue him one of his Sifters in marriage. In person he conquered them of Istria, who were become Rebelles ; and went into Dalmatia, in the enterprize agaynst Cresmura. At length, the malicious enuiers of his glories, deuised a Conspiracie agaynst him, vppon the which, he was confined into Greece, in the feuenteenth yeare of his rule.

28 Pietro Centranico, or Barlolano, fucceeded next to Other. But having not well qualified all diffentions, as well concerning the Cittizens remooning, as the other Neighbours : he was compelled to forfake the dignity, and make himfelfe a Monke. Orfo, Brother of Ocho, returned from Constantinople, beeing Patriarche of Grada, and he was confituted in expectation of Oslos coming. He continued

Rrra

about

about a yeare in the Palace, and forfooke the Principality, newes being brought of Othos death. Dominico Orfeolo would then perforce vsurp, the dignity; but he was expelled by the people the next morning.& died at Rauenna.

736

29 Dominico Flabanico, was elected during his exile, by the faction of them that had excluded Dominico Or/eolo. In his time and in the year 1040. the national Councell was held, for government of the Ecclefiaftickes. He made the family of Orfeolo suspitious to the State, by his owne meanes, and laboured for their vtter supplantation. He gouerned ten yeares, foure months, and twelve dayes.

30 Dominico Contarini was verie pleafing to the people. He brought Dalmatia to peace, beeing heavily burthened with the rebellion of Zara. Hee fauoured the Normans against Robert King of Apulia. And the discord which hapned betweene the Common-wealth, and Papa, Patriarch of Aquileia, was by him qualifyed. Hee builded the Monasterie on the Lido, and dyed in the eight and twenty yeare of his Principality.

21 Dominico Silino, won himselfe such reputation, that Nicephorus, Emperour of Constantinople, gaue him his fifter in marriage; by whose perswasion, he made war vpon the forenamed King Robert of Apulia, and (at the first attempt) returned with a very honourable victory, possesfing himselfe of Duras. But at his second aduenture, hee fought with finall aduantage; whereby enfued the diminution of his credit. He pergetted the Church of Saint Marke with Marble, first and before any other, causing it also to be beautified with an artificiall Checker.worke. He died in the thirteenth yeare of his gouerne-

32 Vitale Faliero being made Duke, he immediately obtained of Alexius, then Emperour, to have the fourraigntie of Dalmatia and Croatia. Henry, successor in the Empire, did him many great fauors : and comming in denotion to Venice, hee helde one of his daughters at Baptisme. The Office of proprieties was constituted in his time, and the workemanship of S. Markes Church continued. He died in his fixteenth yeare.

33 Vitale Michele, by his worthy aduenturing on the fea, did very farre extend the Commonwealths limites. Hee made. the Easterne warre (by the perswasion of Pope Vrbanthe second) for Conquest of the Holy Land, with the Princes of Christendome. The Isle of Smyrna, Suria, and derusalem were then recoursed from the Infidels. He died in his fixt yeare.

34 Ordelafo Faliero, Sonne of Vitale, affifted King Baldwine against the Infidels in conquest of the holy Land: and made fuch progression, as they deuided the Empire betweene them, thoroughout all the kingdome of Indea. In the 8. yeare of his Principality, Malomocco was almost albur ned and submerged; by reason whereof, the Episcopal See was transferred to Chioggia. He went in person to the Warre against Zara, which was becom rebellious, and winning the victory : he would needs returne thither againe a second time, and on the like occasion; where hee died in Armes, in the fifteenth yeere of his Prin-

35 Dominico Michele, being made Duke for his high repute and merite, went to giue aide to the Christians in the Holie Land. With 200. well appointed thippes and Gallies, he made the Infidels to raife their fiedge from before Joppa. Hee tooke Tyre, which he gaue to Vaumoud Patriarch of lerufalem. Emanuel the Emperor made war against him, fro whom he won Chie, Rhodes, Samos, Mitylline, and Ifter. He renounced his principality, in the 13. yeare

36 Pietro Polani, kiniman to Michele, was a very wife man, infomuch as he was made Arbitrator of the diffrence, between Conrade and Emenuel the Emperour. Hee made war against them of Pifa & Padua, whom he conquered. He armed himselfe against the Duke of Apulia, in behalfe of the same Emanuell, to whose Empire hee added many worthy possessions!. Some fay it was his fonne that won all the bat tailes, and that himfelfe being falne ficke, returned thence, and dyed in his 18. yeare

37 Dominico Moresini, hee swept the Gulfe of certaine Pyrats of Ancona, the cheefe whereof beeing called Guiscardo, was taken and hanged. Hee layed fiedge vnto Pola, which he tooke, with Parenzo; which Citties were become rebellious in Iliria. Heheld confederacy with Williamking of Sicily, of whom hee obtayned many exemptions for the Trafficke of his | many Venitian Marchants. Hee renoun-Merchants. Zara made the Metropolitane Cittle (at his instance) and hee so prevayled, that Dominico his Sonne was made an Earle. Hee beautified the Buildinges of the Cittie of Venice, and began the Tower of Saint Marke. He dyed feauen moneths after the eight year of his 38 Vitale Michele the second, subdued the Tarentines, which now liad robelled the third time! He imprisoned Verich, Patriarch of Aquileia, and twelve Chapons. In an hundred dayes, he put forth an hundred Gallies, and twentie Shippes on the Sea, against the Emperor Emanuell. The great Family of the Instiniani, were, in his time brought to one onely man, and hee was become Religious; whom hee tooke foorth of his Monastery (by the Popes confent) and gaue him his owne daughter in marriage, because hee woulde not haue fo worthy a house to be extinct. Ther hapned a great Pestilence in his time, the occasion whereof, the people (in theyr weake judgment) laid vpon him. He was wounded, and dyed, having governed fenenteene yeares, and xxvii. daies.

39 Sebastiano Ziani, was the firft that ener was clotted by the eleanen Electors. In his time there was a great Schilme in the Church, by meanes of the Emperour Fredericke Barbarolla, who caused Alexander the third to forfake the See, Octanian having bene made Anti-pope, Alexander made his retirement to Venice, where having a long time ferued in the Monastery of La Charitaghe was in the end knowen, and taken thence by the Prince and Scigneury. Heereupon, Barbaraffa made warre against the Venetians: but his sonne Ostanian being taken, he mediated reconciliation betweene them. He died in the fift yeare of his government.

40 Orio Malipiero, or Mastropetro, was the first Duke elected by the foreyand for that purpose was created by the death of Ziami. Hee had fixe Councellors allowed him to authorize his deliberations. He reconquered Zara, that had now the fourth time rebelled. Hee fent fupply varo the Christians against the Moores, who began to viurpe in the holy Land 88. yeares after that Baldwine had delinered it. Ptolomais was recovered, and Andronicus, fuccessor to Emanuel the Emperors deliverd ced the Principality in his 14. yeare and entred into Religion.

41 Henrico Dandolo was likewise elected by the forty. They of Zara were once againe vanquished, and Pola conquered In his time was the furprizall of Constantinople, & the acquisition of the East Empire, wherein hee affifted the Princes and French Barons. He died in his thirteenth yeare, being Generall of all the Christian pertinger to according to 42 Pietre Ziant Conne of Sebustian was made Duke within a while after the death of Dandole; the Correctors beging then first instituted. In his time came Ambasfadors from Mithews and Achain to fubmit themselues in obedience to the Common wealth. Candio was then peoplet with a Colony of noble Ventians. He manyed Constance daughter to Tangred R. of Sicily. In thound, he renounced the Principaliry, hading gouerned 24 yeares.

43 Giacomo Tiepolo; was made Dake by chance, in concurrency of Reniery Candelo, who had as many voices as he . Candie rebelled, and the feditious were fenerely chafufed. Zara, that had long borne the yoke, was now reduced under obedience. He had Warre against them of Forrara, and against Exzeline, who would trave innefted himfelfe with Pades. In conclusion, he gaue ouer the Principaly in his 20. yeare, and died soone after. 3.75 da.

44 Marino Morefini, was made Duke by the one and fortith, by reason of the precedent concurrence. In his time was another Courtly Noble man fint into Candie, who builded the Canes. He made Warre against Exzeline, who besiedged Manna, and who (in a furious rage) caufed 1200. Paduans to be hewne in peeces, which he had with him then in his armie. He died in the 4. year of his Principality.

45 Reineri Zeno Podesta at Bermeer, was elected Duke, and fent to be fetcht thence with foure Gallies. Vnder him, the Commonwealth wonne a famous victorie, against them of Genes: but the contentment therewith was very breefe, because Michaell Paleologus, expelled both the French-men and Venitians out of Con-Stantinople, being ayded by the Geneway forces, which was eight and fifty yeares after the furprizing of the fayde Cittle : yet once more (after that) the felfefame people

Chap.2.

people were againe reconquered: and ha- | yeare, having governed ten months, and uing gouerned this dignity 16, yeares, he

46 Lorenzo Tiepolo was made Duke, in memory of the victory hee had against them of Genes at Tyre. Hee allyed two of his fonnes(verie Nobly) with two strange Ladies: by reason whereof, a Lawe was then made, that the like might not be afterward done. He brought Serais in obedience to the Common-wealth, and the Bolognians were vanquished by him : hee governed feuen years, and fine and twen-

47 Giouanni Contarini, being aged eightie yeares, and Atturney of S. Mark, was made Duke. The law against illegittimates was then enacted, and they excluded from all publike Offices. There were fome rebellions moved in Istria, and by them of Genes, but they were quickely appeafed. At length, thorough vnwelidineffe of age, and by aduice of the Senat, hee gane ouer the dignity, having governed in this authority, fourc yeares, and fix moneths.

48 Gionanni Dandolo was clected, being then absent. The Citty was (in his time) much afflicted by water, & an earthquake. He made warre in Istria, agaynst the Patriarch of Aquileia, and the Count of Goritia. At the instance of Pope Nicholas he affilted the Archbyshop of Tripoli with 25. Gallies. He died seuen monthes after his eight yeare of rule.

49 Pietro Gradanigo, a man of great corage, delivered the Common-welch from two important dangers. One, was a high difgrace, which happened in a battell against them of Genes. The other was the conspiracie of Balamonte, which was bold ly checked with weapon in hand, uppon the place of S. Marke. It was then ordayned, that Noblemen onely should gouerne, and the counfel of ten was then in-Assured. Having ruled 22. years, and nine months, he dyed.

50 Marino Giorgio, was a man of fuch life, that they termed him a Saint. Fenice was continually excommunicated in his time, by reason of the taking of Ferrara. Zara rebelled again the fixt time, & much labour it cost, to reduce it vnder obedience againe. After he builded the Mona-Story of Saint Dominicke, and died (at the lage of eighty and one yeares) in his first ten daves.

52 Gionanni Seranze, had the honor of recovering Zara, and many other places; which had revolted in his predeceffours time. Negropout, was re-obtained, & war afresh commenced against them of Genes, The excommunication was quitted from Venice, by the interpolition of Francisco Dandolo, kneeling before the Pope, with a Chaine of iron about his necke. The number of Atturneyes of S. Marke, was increased to fixe. Hee governed fixteene yeares, and fix months.

52 Francisco Dandole, who had fo lowly humbled himfelfe for his Countreyes good, was therefore exalted to her highest dignity. They of Pola, and of Valefia; fubmitted themselves to the Commonwealth, which gaue way vnto the warre against the Patriarch of Aquilea. Padua was taken on Albert Scaliger, and Trenifa. and the County remained to the Common-wealth. This man was of the league with the Christian Princes, against the Turke, and in his time were fixtie feuerall Ambaffadors at Venice. He gouerned ten yeares, and ten months.

55 Bartolomeo Gradenige, Atturney of S. Markey was made Duke at feuenty fix yeares of age, by the intercession of Atdrea Dandolo, and his cellation. In his time was Venice myraculously deliuered from a mighty imminent inundation's Candie rebelled, and the rebelles were feuerely punished. Therehapned a great dearth mithe Citry, which drove the people to discontentment: he dyed in his fourth yeare.

34 Andrea Dandolo, who had before religned his place vnto Bartolomeo Graningo, caused the dearth for to cease; by fending for great store of Corne out of Sicily. Hee obtained of the King of Babylon, free Nauigation into Egypt. Zara rebelled the seauenth time, and was reprized.

The Warre betweene them of Genes and the Citty, was troubled by two great accidents: happening; the one, was an Earth-quake very dreadfull; and the other was a greeuous Pestilence. Hee gouerned twelue yeares, wanting fome fewe

$5 Marino Paliero, was elected Duke, being then Ambassador at Rome. Having received an injurie by some particulars, I and twentie dayes: which was not reuenged according vnto his owne desire : hee determined in the eighty yeare of his age, to make himfelfe absolutely Lord, without any controule. The conspiracy being discouerd by Niebelao Lion; he had his head finitten off within the Pallace. And it was ordayned, that his Picture should not be placed amongs the other dukes, but the place being left voyde, had only this Writing: This is the place of Marino Faliero, who, for his grienous affence, had his head out off : hee was duke but ten moneths.

56. Giouanni Gradenigo had an excellent spirit, but a much mis-shapen countenance. The warre was renewed against the Genes, which teatmined with a mutuall peace. He had warre against the King of Hungarie for Dalmatia. Treuisa was befieged in his time, and thither he went in person. Hee governed one yeare, three moneths and foureteene dayes.

56 Gionanni Delfino, was elected Duke when hee was in Trenifa, defending it against the King of Hungary. The Senate fent to demaind free passage for him; which being denyed, he came forth with two hundred horste to beard the enemie, and so attained to Margliera, where the Senate in person received him. In short time he gave end to this warre, and reconered Conciliano, Serualla, and Afola. He made peace for the fourraignty of Dalmatia; and dyed aged forty and five yeares, having governed foure yeares, two moneths, and cleuen dayes.

58 Lorenzo Celfa, vpon a falle bruite, of a victorie against them of revoked Genes; was made Duke in concurrence of Pietro Gradenigo, Leonardo Dandolo, and Marco Cornaro. Candie rebelled againe, and it was regained with a very great difficulty. On this occasion, a lust and feast was publiquely made in the place of Saint Marke: he dyed two daies after the fourth yeare of his Principalitie.

59 Marco Cornaro, a man very wife and learned, was fent into Candie, which was rebellions, and there he made a cruel blody warre: the Pope graunting plenary Indulgence to all fuch as went thither . The Rebels being scuerely punished, the common-wealth fent to Pope Frbane the fift, a certaine number of their Gallies. He gouerned two yeares, fine months, and foure

60 Andrea Contarini, fled to the Paduans fearing to be elected Duke, and as presaging the ruine which (in his time) would betide the Common-wealth. First of all, he made warre with them of Triefle, then foone after, with Carrara for the confines of Padna : and fisch was the fortune, that Chioggas being taken, the Citty of Venice found it selfe to bee in extreame danger. But in the end, he went and opposed himselfe (in person) against the enemies, vanquished them, and regained Chi oggia: he dyed having governed fifreene yeares, foure moneths, and fifteene daies.

61 Michele Morifim, was a man well furnished with Learning and Wisconne. Some fay, that in his time the Isle of Thenedes was taken, and not in the time of his predecessour Consarini. There were diuers Lawes then made (and amongelt others) it was ordayned, that Homicides, who had formerly beene hanged, fhould afterwards have their heads imitten off. He lived but foure months, and five daies in his dignitie, and dyed in the threefcore and foureteene yeare of his age.

62 Antonio Veniero, was a rigorous obferuer of Inflice. He confined one of his owne Sonnes in exile, because he had (ouer-lightly) offended the familie of a noble Venitian. Hee made league with Galeand the Vicount, against Carrara, wherevpon he tooke Padua. He affisted the Emperour Emmanuell against the Turke; and gaue aid also vnto Sigismond, King of Hungaria; who afterwardes came to the Empire. The place of Saint Marke, and that of the Rialto, were greatly beautified in his time. Hee dyed two moneths, and three dayes, after the eighteenth yeare of his

63 Michele Stene, had the dignitic of Attourney of Saint Marke, with that of Duke. Hee wonne an important battell against the Genewaics. Carrara was now the last time vanquished, and Padwa and Verona surprized. They of Vicenca, to free themselves from his tyrannie, yeelded themselves to the Common-wealth . Ladillam King of Hungaria, did likewise forgoe Zara : Hee dyed , having governed thirteene yeares, and three dayes.

64 Thomaso Mocenigo , was first Gencrall of the Goulfe. He embraced peace, to the end, that the Cittizens might traffike.

Vdina became obedient to the Commonwealth, with the Countrey of Frinolis by meanes of the Lords of Sanorgnami, who were made noble-men of Venice. The Florentines were also succoured against the

740

Duke of Milaine. In his tenth were he died. 65 Francesco Foscari stoutly repressed the Dake of Milaine, who proceeded too farre on the liberties of Italy. Brefcia, Bergame, and other Citties of Lombardy were then, wonne : amongst which were Loda and Parma, and Rauenna in Romania, Hec made also a large progresse on the Seas, sugn into Morea. The Senate affifted Paleglegus the Emperour, against the Turks, who viurped Copstantinople, in the yeare $453. Hee was made Arbitratour by the Duke of Milaine, incertaine differences of neighbour-hood. The King of Dacia was made a noble Venitian : And afterward, the Duke (in regarde of his age and infirmities) was dismissed, having governed thirty foure yeares, and fixe moneths.

66 Paschale Malapiero, was appoynted in the place of Foscari, being Atturney of Saint Marke, who dyed two dayes after his dismission. He made a Lawe, That in following times, the Duke should not be deposed. In his dayes, the samous Arte of Printing was brought into Venice. The Arfenall was greatly encreased: And bee maintayned the people in peace, during foure yeares, fixe moneths, and five daies that he gouerned.

67 Christophoro More, a Procuratour of Saint Marke, was made Duke . Heliued for some time in peace, till the second yeare of his gouernement; and then the Turke (proud of his furprizall of Constantinople) declared warre against the Venitians, He made peace with Pope Pius the fift, and the Duke of Burgundy: But the Pope dying, they remayned alone, and maintayned warre which lafted twentie yeares. And yet he dyed, having reigned nine yeares, and fixe moneths.

68 Nicholo Trono had fuch good hap, that (in his time) the Common wealths affaires went well against the Turke. Pietro Mocenige, General in the Archipelagus, vnited his power with the Popes. The king of Pope Sixtus the fourth, which occasioof Naples, and they of Rhodes font eightic fiue gallies together, and tooke Satalia, a Citty of Pamphilia. He made league likewise with the King of Persia, against the The Cittle became much disgraced by

Venice, espoused Catharina Cornara, adoptiue daughter of Saint Marke. He gouerned one yeare, eight moneths, and fine

69 Nicholo Marcello, Atturny of Saint Marke, after some laws made by the Correctors; was elected Duke. In his time there was a conspiracie in Cyprus, to have the Kingdome fall into the power of Ferdinand King of Naples . Pietro Morcenico went thirder with a great Armie, where he appealed all troubles, and feuerely chaftifed the Rebells . Scutari , 2 Cittie in Liburnia, was belieged by the Turke, and valiantly defended by Antonio Loredano. This duke gouerned one years foure moneths, and scuenteene dayes. I water

70 Pietro Motenigo was elected Duke. in desert of all his worthy deedes . Lepan. towas befieged in his time by the Turke, and vertuously maintayned by Antonio Lotedano. They brought their power likewife before the lile of Stalimena, but the fame Loredamo (by his valour) defended it. The daughter to King Ferdinand came to Venice, with the Cardinall her brother, where they were rotally entertained. This Prince caused a Money to beestamped, which hee furnamed by his owne name: And governed but two yeares, and nine moneths.

ು 7 ರ Andrea Fendramino had fuch ill hap in his gonernement, that the Venitian Army was two feuerall times put to flight by the Turkes : Once neare to Crove in Albania, and the other in the country of Friuli. He was a goodly man of person, and had a most beautifull Lady to his wife, by whom he had as goodly children, whom he allied in marriage with the chiefest Families: he gouerned one yeare, and eight moneths.

72 Giouanni Mocenigo, brother to Pietro Mecenigo, having continued the warre against the Turke; in the end made peace with him : ordering the matter fo, that he left Scutari and Stipula in liberty of Commerce, and power to keepe a Deputie at Constantinople. Hee made warre against Ferdinand King of Naples, at the instance ned the long warre called Sociale. In the end, peace was made, the Commonwealth having gotten Rouigo & Polefano. Turke. lames King of Cyprus comming to fire, and a pestilent sickenesse: The prince dyed, having raigned feauen yeares, and fixe moneths.

73 Marco Barbarigo, the plague being ceased, caused all to be new builded, which the fire had defaced in the Pallace. Hee was greatly differing from all other Princes, to wit, in pardoning, and forgetting particular injuries doone vnto him: but fuch as were comitted against the State, he would have revenged with strictest feueritie. The grand Signeur or Turke fent a particular Ambassadour vnto him, to congratulate his election. He gouerned but nine moneths.

74 Agostino Barbarigo, withstood the progresse of Charles the eighth King of Fraunce, when hee made warre against them of Arragon, for the Kingdome of Naples, which he conquered. The Turke viurped on the Common-weales of Lepanto, Modona, and Corona. The Kingdome of Cyprus was brought under the tutelage of the Senate, and Qu. Catharina brought thence to Venice. The office de la Sante was created, by occasion of the pestilece: This Duke governed fifteene yeares, and twenty one dayes.

75 Leonardo Lauredano fustained a very rigorous war, againft the chiefest Princes of the world : there beeing a League made betweene the Emperour Maximilian : the King of France; them of Naples; and the Dukes of Sauoy, Ferrara, and Manina, incited thereto by Pope Iulius the second. All the whole estate of sirme land was furprized, except Trevi(a; but in the end it was recovered. He lived in the Principality nincteene yeares, eight moneths, and twenty dayes.

76 Antonio Grimani, being Generall, had a most infamous dis-rout or foile, by which occasion, hee was dismissed of the charge of Procurator of Saint Marke, and confined to Cher lo . He brake his limitation, and withdrew himfelfe to Rome to the Cardinall his fonne: where he had fo many worthy Offices imposed vpon him, as, not onely he was re-established in his Atturneys place againe; but he was likewife made Duke, at the age of foure fcore and two yeares, and gouerned but one yeare, ten moneths, and two dayes.

77 Andrea Gruti, gaining the best part of the glorie, for the reprizall of Padua, was in very great effective. Hee dealt fo with the King of Fraunce, (to whome he was prisoner) that his Maiestie allied himfelfe with the Common-wealth, and Brefcia and Verona were reconquerd. He knew very well, how to make his carriage pleafing to the Senate, during the warres betweene Charles the fifth, Emperour, and King Fraunces the first, as also against Solyman. He gouerned fifteene yeares, feauen moneths, and eight dayes.

78 Pietro Lando continued the defence of the Commonwealth against the Turke: with whom(at last) he made a peace, know ing how to make vse thereof, and maintaine his owne charge, whileft the warre continued betweene Charles the fift, and King Frances the first. Hee governed fixe yeares, and eight moneths.

79 Francesco Donato, making benefite also of this peace, beautified the Cittie with many goodly buildings, besides that of the Pallace. He fent fuccor to the Emperour, against certaine Rebells in Germame. The Princes of Guife, coming to Penice in his time, were entertained as fitted their degree. He gouerned seauen yeares, and fixe moneths.

80 Marco Antonio Treuifano, a man altogether denout, laboured that the Common-wealth might abound in goodnesse and civill manners; preventing (by his owne worthy example) that vices should not be wincked at, as, in too many countries they are. He gouerned a yeare, wanting three dayes.

81 Francesco Veniero, could so well skill of gouerning the Common-wealth. that albeit the Turke (in his time) made warre in Apulia, and the King of Fraunce in Tuscanie: yet all was well at Venice, and the Queene of Poland roially welcommed thither. He gouernd two yeares, one moneth and twenty dayes.

82 Lorenzo Printi, was folligited (by the Pope) to make warre against the Emperor. But, he being a friend to the Common-wealth; by no meanes would offend him, but mediated a pacification of those affaires. In his time peace was made betweene Fraunce and Spaine, and Charles the fift dyed. This Prince governed three yeares, cleauen moneths, and eight dayes.

83 Girolamo Printi, brother to the precedet prince enjoyed those great honors, which Pope Pine the fourth gaue vnto the common-wealth: And all his delight was to heare ambaffadors in the hall of Kings. In his time the Councel of Trent was concluded, whither he fent (as Ambaffadors) Nicholo de Ponte, and Matheo Dandolo.

The Common-wealth helde (at Baptiline) the fontie to the Duke of Sauoy, by a Deputie botne of Margueret of Fraunce. He dyed, having governed eight yeares, two moneths, and foure dayes.

84 Pietro Loredano, by the concurrence of two others, was elected Duke, contraric to the hope of all, or his owne expectation. The Arfenall was burned in his time, and there then also happened a very great dearth of all things. Selim, successour of Solyman, tooke occasion to breake peace with the Common-wealth, demaunding of them the kingdome of Cyprus, and moued warre vpon this Subject. He gouerned foure yeares, fine moneths, and eight

85 Luigi Mocenigo, warre being kindled against the Turke, lost the kingdome of Cyprus, Nicofia being taken, and Famagosta furrendered. The Common-wealth made league with Pope Pius the fifth, and Phillip King of Spaine, so that their armies (being joyned togither in the yeare of our Lord, one thousand five hundred scuenty one) they obtayned a worthy victorie against the Turkes . Soone after, Henry the third, king of France, came to Venice, where he was magnificently entertayned. This Prince dyed in his scauenth yeare.

86 Sebastiano Veniero, was elected by common voyce, and with fuch applause, that divers Turkes ranne to him and kiffed his feete. He created five Correctours of the Lawes, for ruling the affaires of the Pallace. The Citty was delinered of a dangerous plague, and the Pallace was againe very greatly defaced by fire. This prince gouernd not aboue a whole yeare.

87 Nicholo de Ponte, was created Duke, a man very learned in all the Sciences, and whereof hee had made publike profession in Venice. He passed thorow all the honors of the Common-wealth, wherewith the Citizens could possibly gratifie him. The Seminary of Saint Marke was instituted by him . Certaine princes of Iapponia arriving then at Venice, were by him most honourably entertained. He builded the bridge of Canareggio: and governed feven yeares, nine moneths, and thirteen dayes.

88 Paschale Cicogna, Procuratour of S. Marke, was elected when he was at divine Service in the Church. In his time there was great warres, betweene Fraunce and Spayne about Piedmont, and betweene the Emperour and the Turke, for some parts in Hungaria. He caused the towne of Palma to bee builded, in the confines of the Countrey of Friuli, and a new castle or fortresse, in the Isle of Cephalonia. He had the honor of the wonderfull bridge of the Rialto, which he builded : And gouerned ten yeares, or thereabout.

89 Marino Grimini, Procuratour of Saint Marke, was fo highly in grace and fauour of the people, that on the day of his Election: they declared extraordinarie fignes of ioy, and continued them for many following dayes. The fecond yeare of his Principality, he caused the dutchesse his wife to be crowned in great triumph. At which time, Pope Clement the eight fent her the Rose of gold. In his time was much joy and triumph made for the peace concluded betweene the Kings of Fraunce and Spayne. Vpon occasion of the Popes comming to Ferrara, obtained by the Ecclefiasticall Estate, the Cardinall Aldobrandino passed thence to Venice, where he was most honourably wel-comed, with divers other Cardinalls. There was fuch an extraordinary ouer-flow of waters, in the fift yeare of his Principality, that the Barkes, Boates, and Gundoloes floated on the place of Saint Mark, euen as if they had beene in a full maine river . He dyed, and was much bemoaned of the people, having governd ten yeares, and eight mo-

90 Leonardo Dandole, hauing by his worthy deferuings, finguler wifedome and dexterity, mannaged passed affaires, and gone thorow all honors of the Commonwealth, giving evident testimonie of his care and faithfulneffe; was aduaunced in the place of Grimani, the tenth day of Ianuary, 1606. He had beene sent Ambas-Sadour to Constantinople to Mahomet (hee being newly come to the Empire of the East) in the Common-wealths name, to falute him with accustomed complemets. He hath fuch a practick braine, & fo happie a memory, feated in a foule fo religioully zealous for common benefite; that the Senate hath referred more vnto him, then to any other of his Predecessours.

The Cttie hath (in his time) beene excommunicated, by Paulus Quintus, now

Pope, about some pretentions appertain- | hands: of whom, the most part went to ing to his See : But it may well be fayd of this Prince, that, against such Thunderclappes and Lightning flashes, hee hath fhewne himfelte an immoueable rocke, in defence of that effate in generall. In like maner, two principall Pillers of Christendome, threatned great disaster and ruine: but that most Christian Henry the fourth, King of Fraunce, embracing those two Collomnes, vpheld both the one and other, and redreffed all discontentment, by the entermife of his Ambassadours, and hath erected a triumphall Arche, to the immortalitie of his glorie. This Prince now living happily in peace, doth daily acknowledge to Fraunce, his particular affection for fuch fauour, & may (in time) much better declare it. God long preserue him, and all other good Princes.

CHAP. III.

■ Of Wounds made by Gun-shot, and other fierie Engines.

N the yeare of our Lotd, N the yeare of our Lord, 1536, the victorious king Frannces fent a great Armie vnto Piedmont, to vitaile Thurin, and to recoter those townes and ca-files, which had beene taken by the Marquesse Du Guasto, Lieutenant generall of the Emperour, where Monfieur the Constable, then great Master, was Lieutenant generall of the Army, and Mounfieur de Monte-jan Captaine generall of the Footmen (of whom I was then Chirurgian.) A great part of the Armie arrived at the Pas of Suze, where we found the enemic keeping the paffage, and had made vnto themfelues certayne forts and trenches, in fuch fort, that before they could be raifed from thence, wee entered into battell: in which constict there was many hurt and slaine, as well on the one fide as on the other. But they were inforced to quit that passage, and to recouer the castle, which they held not long, but were compelld to give it vp; marching away in their fhirts onely, hauing each of them a white W and in their

the Castle de Villane, where there was about some two hundred Spaniards. To this castle my Lord the Constable drew his The Castle de forces, because hee would make his way Villane becleare before him . It is fituate vpon a lit- fiedged and tle Mountaine, which giueth great affurance to those within, that there can bee no Ordinance planted against it, to batter it downe. They were fummoned to reftore it vp, or elfe were threamed to haue it battered in peeces, which they flatly refused: answoring withall, that they were as good and faithfull feruants to the Emperour, as Mounfieur the Constable was to the King his maifter. Their answer being vnderstoode, the same night there was mounted two great Canons, by the force of armes with ropes and cordes, by the Switzers, where, (as mif-fortune would) those cannons being planted, a Gunner by indifcretion fired a barrel of Gun-pouder wherewith he himfelte was extreamely burned, together with tenne or twelue foldiers. Moreouer, the flame of the pouder was the cause of the discouerie of the Ordinance, whereby those of the Castle, the night following, discharged their Ordinance at that place where they disconered our Cannons; infomuch, that we had many of our men hurt and flaine.

The morrow after , very early wee beganne the battery, and in few houres after the breach was made; which those of the Castle perceining, defired a parley, but it was too late; for in the meane time fome of our foot-men, perceining them to be astonished, mounted the breach, and entred the Castle, putting cuery man to the fword, except onely a certaine beautifull Piedmontese, which a great Lord entertained into his fernice. The Captaine and Ancient were taken aline, but were prefently after hanged vpon the Gate of the Towne, to terrific the rest of the Emperours fouldiers, not to be fo foole-hardie, to hold fuch places against so great an armie. Now, the fouldiers of the Cattle feeing our men rufhing in vpon them in fuch great furie, made all the relittance they could to defend themselnes, in killing and wounding a great number of our Souldiers with their pikes and muskets; where the Chirurgianshad a great deale of work cut out to their hands.

I was (at that time) but a yong Chirur-

Pas of Suze

Chap.3.

744 The Author entreth into the matter,

A remedy

found by ac-

gian, and but little experienced in the to give me the receit of his Balme, which Art, because I neuer (as yet) had seene the curation of anie Wounds made by Gun-shot. True it is, that I had read John de Vigo, his first booke of Wounds in generall, chap. 8. where he faith, That those wounds made by fiery Engines, do participate of venenofity, because of the Powder; and for their curation, he commands to cauterize them with the Oile of Elders mixed with a litle Treacle: yet neuertheleffe because I would not be deceined, before I would make vie of the faid boyling oile, knowing that it brought with it extreme paine to the Patient, I observed the methode of other Chirurgians in the first dreffing of fuch wounds; which was by the application & infusion of the foresaid Oile, as hot as possibly they could suffer it, with Tents and Setons: wherefore I became emboldned to do as they did. But in the end my oile failed mee , fo that I was constrained to vse in stead thereof, a digestiue made of the yolke of an egge, Oile of Rofes and Terebinth. The night following, I could hardly fleep at mine cafe, fearing left that for wat of cauterizing, I shold find my Patients, on whom I had not vsed of the aforefaid Oyle, dead and empoyloned; which made mee to rife earely in the morning to visit them: where beyond my expectation, I found those on whom I had vied the digestive medicine, to feele but little paine, and their wounds without inflammation or tumor, having rested well all that night. The rest, on whom the aforesaide Oile was applyed, I found them inclining to Feauers, with great paine, tumor, and inflammation about their Wounds: then I refolued with my felfe. neuer to burne to cruelly the wounded Patients by Gun-shot any more.

When we entred Thurin, I was tolde of a Chirurgian, who was exceeding famous, especially for his curing wounds made by Gun-shot, with whom I found the means to acquaint my felfe : yet it was neare two yeares and a halfe, before hee would acquaint mee with his Medicine which hee called his Balme. In the meane time, Mounfieur the Marshall of Montejan, who was Lieutenant generall of the King in Piedmont, dyed : then I tolde this Chirurgian, that I had a defire to returne to Paris, withall, requesting him, that he would performe his promise, which was, he willingly did, feeing that I was to leave that country. He fent me to fetch him two yong whelps, one pound of earth-worms, two pounds of the oyle of Lillies, fix ounces of the Terebinth of Venice, and one ounce of Aqua-vita: and in my presence, he boiled the whelps aliue in the faid oile, vntill the flesh departed from the bones. Afterward, he tooke the wormes (hauing before killed and purified them in white Wine, to purge themselves of the earth which they have alwayes in their bodies:) being so prepared, he boyled them also in the faid oile, till they became dry; this he strained thorow a napkin, without anie great expression; that doone, hee added thereto the Terebinth : and laftly, the Aqua-vita, and called God to witnesse, that this was his Balme which hee vsed in all wounds made by Gun-shot, and in others which required suppuration; withal, praying me not to divulge his fecret

From thence I returned to Paris, where fhortly after, Mounfieur Siluius, Lecturer of the King in Phylicke, a man greatly efleemd among learned men, requested me one day to dine with him, which I did willingly; where hee asked me many Questions, and among the rest, of the essence of wounds made by Gunne-shot, and of the combustions made by Gunne-pouder. Whereupon, I presently producd vnto him, that the pouder was not any thing Gunpowder venomous at all; because that no Simple that enters therein is any way venomous, much lesse the composition. Also, I have feene by experience, that fome Souldiers being hurt, will take of the faid powder in wine, saying; That pouder so taken, doth preserve the body from the ensuing accidents, the which I approue not. Alfo, others having vicers on their bodies, doe commonly vie of the faid pouder drie, and heale them without any daunger at all. And as for the Bullets, they can not containe any such heat, that they should have the facultie of burning : for a bullet being fhot against a stone-wall, it may presently be helde in the naked hand, although the collission made against the Stones, wounds made should (in reason) heate it the more: And by gunfhot, as for combustions or burnings made by are without Gun-pouder, I neuer found any particular accident in it, whereby the cure ought to be diversified from the cure of other com-

bustions. Whereupon, I related this Hiftory . A certaine boy of the Kitchin , of Mounfieur the Marshall de Monte-jan, fell into a Caldron full of oyle, almost boyling hote; to dreffe whom being fent for. I went presently to an Aporhecarie; demanding of him fuch cooling medicines; which are commonly applyed vnto burnings. An auncient Countrey-woman being by , hearing mee speake of this burn-ing , counselled me to apply for the first dreffing (to present the rifing of pultules or bladders) of rawe onions, bruifed with a little falt. I demaunded of this woman, Whether the had ever made experience of that Medicine before: Shee prefently Sware vnto me in her language, Si mese, à la fe de de; which did incite me to make experience heereof, on this scullion of the Kitchin, where truely I found the morrow after, that in those parts, where the Onions had touched, to bee altogether free from veffickes or blifters, and the other parts, where the Onions were not applyed, to be much bliftered.

Not long after, a certaine Dutch-man, one of the guard of the faid Lord de Monte-jan, having drunke hard, by indifcretion; fet his Flask afire, which caused a great difaster, both to his hands and face; and being called to dreffe him, I applyed of the faide Onions on the one halfe of his face; and on the other fide, of other common remedies. At the second dressing, I found that part where I had applied the Onions, to be altogether without blifters. or any excoriation, and the other altogether bliftred: then I first purposed to write of the effect of the faid Onions.

Moreover, I tolde vnto the fayd Syluiso, that for the better extraction of hullets which are hidden in any part of the body, it is requifit, the Patient should be placed in the fame fituation, that he was in at that time when he was wounded. Many other. things I discourred vnto him, which are contayned in this Booke following. My Discourse ended, he prayed me very earneftly, that I would publish it by writing; to the end, that that falle opinion of Vies might be altogether abolifhed; the which I willingly confented vnto, and caused many instruments to be cut, such as had not beene divulged, for the extraction of Bullets, and other vanaturall things out of the body.

And it was first Imprinted in the yeare, 1545. and well received, which caused me to renew it agayne, and publish it the fecond time, in the yeare 1550, and laftly in the yeare, 1564, where I have enriched it with many other things, because I have fince followed the warres, haue beene in many battells, and befieged Townes, as in Mes and Hedin. Alfo I have beene enterrayned into the fernice of fine Kings; where I have alwayes discoursed with the most excellent Physitians and Chirurgians of those times, to learne and discouer, if these were any other methode or way, to cure those wounds made by gun-shot a whereof the most part (specially those that haue followed the warres, and are guided by reason and experience) are of my opinion, which is, to vie Suppuratives in the beginning, and not boyling oyles. And I did protest moreoner to the fayd Sylving, that I have found those wounds as easie to cure (being in fleshy partes) as all other great contused wounds are . But, where The cause the Bullet meeterh with the bones and that maketh neruous parts, it teareth, dilacerateth, wounds by breaketh, and shinereth in peeces, not tobecured onely where it toucheth, but also the circumiacent parts, without any mercy; caufing great accidents which happen specially in the jounctures or joynts, and in bodies of cuill constitution, and in time subiect to corruption , that is to fay , where the Ayre is hote and moyft, then is the cure most difficult, and oftentimes imposfible; not onely of wounds made by gunthat, but also of those which are made by other instruments; yea, though they were but in fleshie parts.

Therefore, the aforefaid accidents do not proceede from the venenofity which is in the powder, or by the combustion or burning of the Bullet . For proofe of History. which, I will alleadge this observation, which I have experimented (not long fince) on the person of the Earle of Gourdon, Lord of Achindon, a Scottish-man, whom I cured by the commaundement of the Queene-mother, who was hure with the fhot of a Piffoll cleanethrough both the thighs, without fracture of the bones; he standing so neare the mouth of the Pistoll, that the fire tooke holde of his breeches; neuerthelesse, hee was persectly cured in two and thirtie dayes, without a Feauer or anie other cuill accident. I drest him at S. Iohn de Latran, in the house of the Archithoppe of Glasco, then Ambaffadour for Scotland, who came euery day to see him drest. Moreouer, for testimony, I could produce Mounsieur Brigard, Doctor Regent in the facultie of Philicke, who was an affiltant with me; together with Iames Guillemeau, Chirurgian to the King, and fworne at Paris, who was with me vntill his perfect curation. The same likewise Mounsieur Hautin, Doctour Regent in the faculty of Phylicke can testifie, who sometimes came to see him. Also Giles Buzet, Scotchman and Chirurgian, every of them marvailing how hee became to foone cured, without the application of hot and sharp medcines. Now, the reason wherefore I have made this litle Discourse, is to demonstrate, that it is aboue 20. yeares agoe, fince I first found out this maner of curing wounds made by gunshot, without the vie of boiling oiles, or any other tharp or burning medicines, valeffe I was constrained to vie them, for fuch accidents which hapned in Cacochymed bodies, or through the cuil dispositi tion and malignancy of the ayre, as I will thew more amply in this Discourse following, which I made vnto the deceaffed King, after the taking of Roan.

746

CHAP. IIII.

■ A Answer wato a certayne demaund, propounded by the vistorious Prince Charles the ninth, as touching the qualitie and Effence of wounds made by Gunne-shotte, at his Maiesties returne from the fiege, and taking of the Towne of Roan.

Occasion of this discourse

T one day pleased your Maiestie, rogether with the Queene-Mother, my L. the prince of La Roche-lary and many other to demad of me how it came to passe, that in these last warres, the most part of such Gentlemen & Soldiers, who were wounded by Gun-shot, & other instruments of war, died, or were very hardly recouered from their diseases, although the wounds they received were but of small apparace, and the Chirurgians which were employed for their cures, did performe their duties according to Art: I have bin the bolder to publish this discourse, to satisfie (in some measure) the duty of my Art, & that my Profession might not be spotted with the least dishonor; and that your Maiestie might vnderstäd the reasons, which might haue bin the cause of the death of so many valiant me; the most part of whom I have feene (to my great griefe) to finish theyr dayes pittifully, without any possibilitie in mee, or anie other more experienced then my felfe to give them remedy.

I know that this following Discourse will aftonish some, who reposing themfelues vppon their owne particular opinions, and not examining the matter deep-ly, will finde the first front of my disputation very strange; because that the contrary hath beene so long imprinted in their fantalies. For I doe hold, that the cause of the malignancy of wounds by Gun-shot, not to proceed from any poylon or venomous quality in the pouder (as they imagine) or from the Bullet it felfe, being rubbed or infused in any venomous mixture. Neuerthelesse, if their meekenesse and patience will extend fo farre, as first to weigh the motiues, which first moued me to vndertake this fubicet, which was a zeale of the publique good; towards the which the Lawe of Nature bindeth me, to shew the vttermost of my power in fuch things which the fingular providence of Almighty God hath reuealed vnto me. And secondly, that they will examine with judgement, the reasons which I shall vse in this present Treatife: then I shall bee certayne, they will both accept my labour thankefully, and free it from all future calumnie. Otherwise they will thew themselves to be so ill affectioned toward me, as if I should present my selfe before them, enriched with all the treafures of the auncient Philosophers, and they should place mee in the number of the poorest and ignorantest men in the world. To preuent therefore all the Arguments of venome and poisoning, which the Adversaries heere about mentioned may alleadge, I will make it plaine vnto your Maieltie, that fuch as are wounded by gunne-thot; I fay the malignancie of poyfon of the fuch wounds, not to proceed from the venome of the Powder, beeing of it felfe Bullet. fimply confidered : and much leffe from the cobustion or cauterization which the

of: although neuertheleffe fome do striue to maintayne; alledging for all, reasons, That a certayne Tower full of powder hath heeretofore beene seene ruinated in an instant, onely by the meanes of a Cannon shot. Also of a thatched house set on fire with a Musket shotte. Moreover, because that such wounds which are made by Gunne-shotte, we commonly behold their Orifices and other circum-incent parts fo blacke, as if an actuall Cauter had passed thereon. As also the fall of a certayne escarre, as they fay . All which Atguments are so ill framed, that they deferue no authoritie, beeing builded on fo flender a foundation : much leffe, that the resolution of your demaund should be taken from them, as I trust to give you plainely to understand in the Disputation following. Which (after I had feene a great number of those wounds, and diligently observed them, handling them according to the methode) I have collected from the auncient Philosophers, Physitians, and Chirurgians to prefent vnto your Maiesty, and to withdrawe your minde from the admiration of the lamentable death of so many braue Gentlemen and can make in those parts, which it rendeth

& dilacerateth thorow the violence there-

Now, to enter into the matter propofed, and to answer the Arguments before alledged, we are first to examine, whether there be any poylon inclosed in the powder, or no i And if there bee, whether it may infect by meanes of the pretended poylon thereof. Which, that it may appeare plainely, wee must fearth into the composition of the sayd powder considering that it is not of substance simple, but compound: and to by examining the nature of fuch Simples, which enter into the composition thereof : I meane their qualities, effects, and operations, we shall the fooner attaine to the scope and intention pretended.

Souldiers.

As for the Simples it is a most assured thing, that there are but three in all which make the composition thereof, that is to (ay, coales of willow or birch) fulphure. and falt-peter, and fometimes Aqua-vitar which ingredients fenerally confidered are altogether exempt and free from povfon, or any venomous quality. And first

Bullet fo heated by the fire of the powder for the coales, there is not any thing confiderable in them, vnleffe it bee a drying quality, of subtile substance, by meanes whereof it is apt to take fire, euen as a linnen cloth burned into Tinder doth the sparkes that fall from a Flint stone. Sulphure is hote and drie, neuerthelesse, not excessive, and of a more oilie and viscuous fubstance, yet not so easie to inflame as coales, although it doth retaine the fire more forcibly when it is once inflamed, and is very hardly extinguished. As for the falt-peter, it is fuch , that many make | Salt-peteris vie thereofinstead offalt. Now let vs examine, whether there be any venenofity in the nature of these simples namely in that of fulphure, which is the most suspected. Dioscorides in his fift booke, chap. 37. prescribeth it to be taken in an Egge, in the astmaticke passion, coughes, and to such which spit matter, and those that have the Taundife. And Galen in his ninth booke of his Simples, cha. 36. ordaineth it as a topicall remedy, vnto fuch who are bitten by venomous beafts; and in all malignant practifes or itchings; as for the Aqua vita, it is a thing fubtile, that it will cusporate ifit be fet in the ayre; besides, it is vsed by most Chirurgians inwardly in drinkes, and outwardly in embrocations as a most fingular medicine. These things confidered, make mee to affirme, that the whole composition of powder is altogether free from venome or poylon, feeling that the ingredients are altogether cleare from the least touch in that kind.

Moreover, I have observed it to bee the practife of the Hollanders, beeing wounded by Gunne shorte, to diffolue two charges of powder in Wine, and to drinke it off, hoping, by that meanes to be freed from all future accidents which might happen to their wounds (although I doe not approduc thereof, because it is a most insufficient remedy.) Alfo, fifth vicers which are made through the cum bustion of powder, are of no other nature then those that are made by fite , or scald! ing water. Bur, wherefore mould I alledge any forraine example? Do we not fee amongst our owne fouldiers, I do not know on what occasion, but only to thew theinfelues braue fellowes; to emptie their charges of pouder into their cuppes. and drinke it without anie inconvenience atall, and others in like manner, beeing

The e-mpofi-uon of the powder,

Refutation of those that affirme the Bullet to be impoyloned.

hurt on any part of their bodies, will apply of the same vpon their vicers to drie them, and finde much profit by it. As for those which do affirme that it is not in the powder, but the Bullet, which being fubtilly pierced in many places, or filled vp with venome, or flicped, rubbed, or mixed with any poylon, caufeth the aforefayd daungerous accidents: To fuch do Lanswer without further trouble, that the fire fet to the powder, is sufficient to putifie the poylon of the Bullet, if any there were: the which can not be done by impoyloned Swords; Pikes, Arrowes, and fuch like, because they passe not thorow the action of the fire. Briefly, to confirme my opinion to be true, there is not anie one of those that were in your Maiesties Campe at Roan, that doth not affuredly know, that those Bullets which were thorte against those of the Towne, to be altogether free from poylon. Neuertheleffe, the belieged Townef-men affirmed, that all those Bullets were poyloned . Alfo, the Souldiers of your Maiesties Camp had the same opinion, of such Bullets which were shot at them out of the town, that they were all impoyloged, by them; rather belowing and judging of the qualitie of the wounds by their euill successe, then by the Causes whereby they were

True it is, that as in Phylicke, according to the Septence of Hyppacrates in the Epidemies, as Galen noteth on the twenty fentence, and the twenty one of the third Section of the third booke, all diseases are called Pestilentiall and venomous, being from common and general saules of what kinde focuershey be, and fuch kill many perions : fo in the like maner, we may call fuch wounds as are made by Gunne-shot venomous , which are more difficult to heale then others; not because they doe participate of any venonofity, but from fome generall capie depending, either fro the Cacachimie of the body putrifaction of the aire, or the corruption of the vicus alls, whereby those vicers, are brought to be more malignant Cacoethes, and rebellious to all medicines.

To affirme, that it is onely the combu-fion of the buller, which cause the afore faid danger , I cannot conceive their reafons, feeing that the Bullet is for the most part) made but of lead, and therefore vng.

ble to indure any great heate, without being altogether diffolued, which we neuertheleffe do fee to paffe thorow a coat Armour, and to penetrate the body through and through, and yet to remaine whole.

Moreouer, we do observe, that if a Bullet be shot against a stone, or against anie folid matter, it may in the fame instant be handled of vs in our hands, without feeling any notable heate, although the violent striking and collission made against the stone, should in reason encrease the heate, if anie there were. And which is more, if a Bullet bee shot against a bagge full of powder, the fire will not endanger it. This I dare be bolde to fay and affirme moreouer, That if a quantitie of powder should take fire, being kept in a Tower, or any other place, by the meanes of a Bullet shot; it was not the heate of the Bullet, but rather the violent striking of the Bullet against the stones of the said Tower, which might cause sparkes of fire to fall amonest the powder; even as the smiting of a steele against a flint stone. The like wee may judge of fuch thatched houses, which have bene fet on fire by a musket shot, to haue rather proceeded from some wad, either of Towe or Paper, rammed in with the powder; and so fired with it . But that which doth most confirme mee in the afford a ball furance of mine opinion, is, that if a ball waxe. of Waxe be that out of a Musket, it feeleth no force of fire at all for then would ir melt; neuerthelesse, it will pierce an inch boord. An argument of sufficient weight to prooue, that the Bullets cannot be for extreamely heated by the force of the powder, that they should cauterize and burne, as many have effected.

And as for that blackeneffe, which is ordinarily found to be about the Orifices of such wounds, and other adjacent parts: Laffirme, that this accident doth not procoed from any qualitie of fire accompanying the Bullet, but because of the great convultion that it maketha For it cannot Whenceit enter into the body otherwise then by an prodecedent carried in that wounds. of a round figure. Share the state of the country blitter of the cou is of a round figure.

sons themselves be demaunded; I beleeve they will testifie the trueth of my faying, because they are no sooner strooke with the Bullet, but they doe feele in the fame instant, as if a club or some other heavie burthen burthen were falne on the offended parts in the which they feele a heavy paine with a benummed supifaction of the part; which diffipateth and fometimes extinguisheth the naturall heate, together with the spirites contayned therein; from whence there followeth oftentimes a gangrene and mortification of the part, year fometimes of the whole body. And as for the Escarre which they affirme there to be, and fall away as they fay, they doe abuse themselves: for it is onely some certaine portion of the membranes and contused stesh, dilacerated by the Bullet which becometh corrupted, and fo feperateth it felfe from the found parts which are greatly contufed.

Chap.4.

Although that thefe reasons doe make it manifest enough, that there is no venomous qualitie in the powder, nor action of fire carryed with the Bullet; neuertheleffe, many, building their opinions vpon naturall Philosophie, doe maintayne the contrarie, affirming that Cannon fhot is like vnto the clappes of Thunder, which burst foorth of the Clouds in the middle Region of the avre, and so fall violently on the earth. From the which similitude they would inferre and conclude, that there is both fire, and a venomous qualitie in the Bullet as it proceedeth out of the mouth of the Cannon . I know (Ithanke God) that Thunder beeing ingendered from a groffe and viscuous exhalation, by means of vapour coniovned with it, doth neuer breake foorth of the Clouds to penetrate heere below: but it draweth and bringeth immediately with it a certaine fire, sometimes more subtle, sometimes more grosse, according to the divertitie of the matter, whereof the exhalation is composed. For Sene-64 writeth in the fecond Booke of his Naturall Questions, chapter 49, that there are three kindes of Thunders, all diffring the one from the other, according to the quantitie and manner of their inflammation. The first, by reason of the matter thereof, it being most thin and subtle, it doth pierce & penetrate fuddenly the obiects which it toucheth. The fecond kind. by reason of the violence thereof, breaketh and diffipateth the fame things, because the matter thereof is more violent, and compact as a tempest. The third fort being composed of a more earthic matter, being burnd leaueth behind it fuch a ftinking fauor, that all animals do fo much a: uoid it, that if it do happen to fal into their dennes, other places of haunt, they will veterly abandon and forfake fuch places; fo much do they hate the infectious stinke of that poison. The same is noted by Olaus Magnus, in his Septentrionall Historie, that in certayne places where Thunder hath faine, presently after the fall thereof. the fields have beene found afterwards to be courred & strewed over with sulphure, neuertheleffe vnprofitable, and almost extinguished. For all these reasons, I must not confesse, that the blows of Gun-shot the contrary are accompanyed with poylon and fire, as Reasons, the clappes of Thunder are. For although they doe agree the one with the other, in fome similitude, it is not therefore in their substance and matter, but rather in the manner which they have to batter, teare, and diffipate the objects which they doe meete with, that is to fay, the clappes of Thunder through the force of fire; and of the bolte or stone sometimes engendered therein : and the blowes of Gunne-shot by the meanes of the Ayre forced away by impetuolitie, and fo conducting the Bullet, caufeth the like difaster. What if I should be convicted by stronger Arguments, so that I were enforced to auouch, that Thunder and the Cannon to be of the like substance; yet I should never bee forced to say, that the shorte of the Cannons and Muskets doe participate of a fierie qualitie. Plinie faith in the second Booke of his Historie, and the 51.chapter, that among Thunder, one kinde is composed of a maruellous drie matter, diffipating all fuch things it meeteth withall; neuerthelesse, without anie figne of burning: others, of a more humid nature, which in like manner burneth not, but blacketh and discoloreth much, more then the first. Others are composed of a very cleare and fubtile matter : the nature

whereof is most maruellous, forfomuch

divine vertue : and it is in melting Golde

or Siluer in a mans purfe, the purfe it felfe

not beeing fo much as touched therewith.

SII 3

burneth with manifest tokens of the heate thereof. I also know, that the Thunder is of nature pestilentiall and sætide, because of the grofe & flimy matter thereof which

that it is not to be doubted (as Seneca hath A maruailous well faid) that there is therein a certayne ders.

Refutation of those that affirme that the Bullet caufeth

Chap.4.

Also in melting a sword, the scabberd thereof remayning whole. Also, in disfoluing into droppes the yron head of a Pike, without burning, or so much as heating the wood. In shedding the wine out of a vessell, without burning or breaking of the caske. According to the aforefavd testimony I can assure you, and that without any prejudice, that those Thunders, which onelie breake and diffipate without any burning; and fuch which do leaue effects full of great admiration, not to be much valike in substance to the Canon shott, and not those which carrie immediately with them the action of fire.

To prooue my faying true, this one example shall suffice. A certaine Souldier receyued a wound in his Thigh with a Musket shot, from whence I extracted abullet; the which beeing wrapped in the Taffatie of his breeches, made a very deepe wound . Neuertheleffe, I drew it forth of the wound with the same Taffarie, it being without any figne of burn-

And which is more, I have seene manymen, who not beeing shot, nor anie thing touched therewith, valeffe it were in their apparrell only; have received fuch an aftonishment by a Cannon shot, that onely passed nere them: that their members thereby have become blacke and liuid; and shortly after, have fallen into a gangrene and mortification, whereof in the end they have dyed.

These effects are like vnto those of the thunder before spoken of. Neuerthelesse, there is not in them any fire or poylon: which maketh mee conclude, that there is no poyfon in the common and ordinarie powder. Seeing therefore, that this disaster was common to all those which were hurt in these last warres, and yet neither by fire or poylon that lo many valiant men dyed. To what cause may wee impute this cuill? I am so confident of the true cause(my Liege) that I hope presently to make your Maiestie vnderstand the fame, to the end that your demaund may be fully fatisfied.

Those which have confumed their age and study in the secrets of natural Philofophie, haue left vs this amongest other things, for authenticke and appooued of all times. Which is, that the Elements doe symbolize in such fort the one with the other, that they doe sometimes transforme and change themselves, the one into the other, in such fort, that not onelie their first qualities, which are heare, coldnes, drinesse and moysture: but also their Substances are changed, by rarification or condensation of themselves; so the fire doth convert it selfe ordinarily into ayre, the aire into water, the water into earth; and contrariwife the earth into water, the water into ayre, and the ayre into fire. The which wee may dayly behold, and prooue it by those bellowes of Copper which the Dutchman brings vs, being composed in the forme of a Boll, which beeing filled with water, and having but one hole in the middeft of the Sphericall forme thereof: receiveth the transmutation of the water within it into ayre, thorow the action of the fire, neare vnto the which the Boll must bee placed; and so thrusteth the aire forth of it with violence. making a continual noyfe or found, vntil all the avre be gone foorth of it. The like may be knowne by Egges or Chessenuts; for eyther of them being put into the fire before they are crackt, or the Rhinds broken, presently the watery humidity contained in them, doth convert it selfe into ayre, through the action of the fire : and the ayre in making his passage, bursteth the shell, because it occupieth more place being in the forme of ayre, into the which it was chaunged by rarification caused by the fire, then it did vnder the forme of water; and not finding pallage, is confirained to make one by violence, according vnto the proposition helde for most certayne and true amongost all Physitians; that is to fay, of that one part of earth is made tenne of water : and of one part of water is made tenne of ayre, as of one part of aire ten of fire. I do say and affirme fo much of the matters contayned in the faid Gun-pouder, which by meanes of the fire is converted into a great quantity of ayre; the which because it cannot be contained in the place, where the matter was before the transmutation thereof, is compelled to issue foorth with an incredible violence: by meanes whereof, the bullet breaketh, shiuereth and rendeth all that euer it meets with, yet doth not the fire accompany it. Euen as we see a Bow, or a Sling (hoote foorth an Arrow or Stone, without any aire at all.

But the bullet drineth before it fuch a conduits and passages, through the which fometimes the very winde it felfe, without the action of the Bullet, caufeth strage and wonderfull effects. For fometimes, I haueknowne it make a fracture in the bones, without any division of the flesh . And heerein it may be compared (as wee faid before) vnto the effect of Thunder: euen so we see, that if the saide powder bee inclosed in Mines and Vaults of the earth, and being converted into aire thorough the action of the fire fer wnto it, howe it doeth ruinate and reuerfe huge maffes of earth almost as bigge as Mountaines. Also in this yeare, in your Maiesties Towne of Paris, a certaine quantity of powder, but newly made in the Arcenall, by taking fire, caused such a great tempest, that the whole Towne shooke at it : for with an horrible fury, it levelled with the Earth all the houses neere vnto that place, and difcourred and battered down the windowes of all those that stood within the fury of its And to be briefe (euen as a clap of thunder) it did reuerse heere and there many men halfe flaine; taking away from fome their eyes, from others their hearing, and left others no leffe torne and mangled in their members, then if foure horses had drawne them in pieces ; and all this by the onely agitation of the ayre, into which substance, the powder was conucred. The which, according to the quantity and quality of the matter thereof, and according to his motion, either more or lesse violent, hath caused so many wonderfull accidents in our Provinces; altogether like vnto those which are caused through the inclosing of windes in the bowels and cauities of the earth, not being perspirable. The which striuing to have vent, bloeth with fuch a strong and violent agitation, that they make the earth to tremble & quake thereat: thereby debolishing Citties, and ruinating buildings, and transporting them from one place to another. As the Townes of Megara and Egina, anciently much celebrated in the Country of Greece, perishing by Earth-quakes can witnesse vnto vs. I omit to discouer (as but little ferning to our purpose) how the winde enclosed in the Entrailes of the earth, maketh a novie of divers founds, and very strange,

subtle winde, and so swiftly agitated, that it issueth by, euen after the manner of muficall Instruments; the which being large, do giue a great and base sound, & being narrow, do make high and sharpe notes, and being crooked or replied, make divers founds; as wee fee by experience in the Huntsmans horne, and in Trumpers, the which also, being moistned with water, do make a hollow gufguling found.

In like manner, these noises, murmurings, and clamors, are fundry wayes diuersified, according to the places whence they proceed; in such fort, that somtimes hath beneheard a clamorous cry, reprefenting (asit feemed) the affault of a Citty, the cryes and lowings of Buls, or the neighing of Horses, roaring of Lyons, found of Trumpets, reports of Artillery, and many other dreadfull thinges; yea fometimes humane voyces. As it is reported by one, who had heard a voyce (as Diuers founds it were) of a woman beating; which made iffulng out of (as he imagined) fuch a wofull and gree- the veines of uous lamentation; where-with he became fo greatly affrighted, that he had fcarfely breath sufficient to make this report. But when he had well understood the cause of this plaintine voyce, he was presently deliuered from that feare, which otherwife might haue killed him. But some perhaps will say, that these things have alwayes bene, and no leffe ordinary in the times past, then they are at this present : and therefore it is a great folly in me to alledge them, for efficient causes of the death of so many men. The which imputation, I should freely confesse, if I should present them for such: but seeing that by them I would onely paralel and compare the impetuofity of Artillery, with that of thunder, and the motions of the earth; which being fo, it will appeare, that it maketh nothing against my first intention, as I hope to demonstrate cleerely, that I am slandered without a cause, if you please to give eare to the deduction following. In the which, I will plainly and briefely describe the true caules of the late mortality, which hapned among your Highneffe Solfiers.

Amongst the things necessary for our lines, there is nothing that can more alter The true exour bodyes, then the ayre; the which continually (willing or vnwilling) we inspire according to the divers formes of the by those conduites which Nature hath ap-

Example.

Hyp.in the Preface of his Prognoft.

Hyp in the be ginning of his book de Aere locis & aquis.

752

ed, whether wee cate, drinke, watch, or fleepe, or doe any other action, whether Natural, Vitall, or Animall. From thence it commeth, that the aire inspired into the Lungs, the Heart, and the Braine, and vniverfally in all the parts of the bodie, to refresh, and in some measure to nourish the fame, is the cause that a man cannot line one minute without inspiration ; according to the which wonderfull benefit, the excellent Physitian Hippocrates hath pronounced, and that truly, that the aire hath a kinde of Diuinity in it; because, that in breathing and blowing ouer all parts of the world vniuerfally, it doth circumuolue all things therein contayned: nourithing them miraculously, ftrengthning them firmly, and maintaining them in an amiable Vnion; altogether lymbolizing with the Starres and Planets, into the which the divine providence is infufed, which changeth the aire at his pleafure, and giveth it power not only over the mutation of times and scasons, but alfo of the alteration of naturall bodyes. And therefore the Philosophers and Phyfitians have expressely commanded, that we should have a principall regarde vnto the fituation and motions of the heavenly bodies, and constitutions of the Ayre, when the preferuation of health, or the curation of diseases are in question : but especially the course and mutation of the aire is of great power, as weemay easily judge by the foure seasons of the yeare. For the Aire being hot and dry in Sommer, our bodies in like manner doth therby become heated and dried : and in winter the humidity and coldnesse of the avre doth likewise fill our bodies with the very fame qualities; in fuch order neuertheles, and in fo good a disposition of nature, that although our temperatures feeme to bee changed, according to the foure feafons of the veere : we neuertheleffe receiue no harme thereby, if those times dockeepe their seasons and qualities free from exceffe. Bato the contrary, if the feafons be fo peruerted, that the Somer is colde, and the Winter hotte, and the other feafons in the like distemperature, this discord bringeth with it a great perturbation, both in our bodyes and in our spirits,

nose, and generally through all the porcs

of the skinne and Arteries therein infix-

pointed for that end; as the mouth, the | constrained neuerthelesse to receive the danger, by reason that the causes are extreame, and on every fide encompasse vs; fo that we are constrained to lodge it in style the following the style of the styl to expell the superfluous excrements of our nourishment, and partly to receyue the faid externall causes, which is the ayre or winde, producing in vs diners effects, according to those parts of the world fro whence they do proceed.

For, it beeing fo, that the Southerly Windes are hot and moyft, that of the North cold and dry; the Easterly Winds for the most part are cleare and pure, and the Westerly cloudy and subject to rain ; yet it is a most assured thing, that the aire which we do inspire continually holdeth in all, and through all, the qualitie that is most predominant. And therefore, wee should of necessity consider in all diseafes, and the inconveniences which happe therein, the quality of the winds, and the power which they have ouer the bodies; as Hippocrates hath lernedly left vs by writing in the third Booke of his Aphorisms. Chap. s. and 17. faying, That our bodies do receive a great alteration through the viciffitude of the times and feafons of the yeare. As by the South-winde our bodyes are subject to all diseases, because that movsture is their primitive cause: it also weakneth our naturall heate, the which in the opposite case is much fortified thorough a cold and dry winde, which also maketh our spirits more quick and subtle. The verity of which sentence, the inhabitants of the Territory of Narbonne doe too much experiment to their dammage. For being themselues betweene the lustiest and healthfullest people of all France; verneuerthelesse they themselves are very fickly for the most part, their bodyes leane, their countenances fad and heavy: their faces tawny, or of an Olive colour, do manifestly shew the same. Also among other diseases, they are almost all subject to the white Leprofie; and the last Vicers which they have, which we make no account of at Poictiers or Paris, do ordinarily continue with them a whole yeare together. Not for any other cause, as they themselues confesse, and as all straungers know that have lived in their country, but onely because they are for the most part, blasted and breathed vpon with a South- So many kindes of venomous Beastes, as erly Winde, which in their language they call Altan, & maketh the aire to be groffe and clowdy scanfing in their bodies al the effects which are attributed by Hippocrates to the Southerly winds, in his third booke and fift Aphorisme, that is to say, when it reigneth, it dulleth the hearing, dimmeth the fight, swelleth and aggravateth the head, weakneth and abateth all the forces of the body.

Alfo, when Hippocrates compareth the temperatures of the one qualitie with the other, he resolueth voon this point, That the dry seasons are farre more healthfull then the humid, that have continued for a long succession of time, because excesfine humidity is the true matter of putrifaction, as experience telleth vs. For wee fee, that in those places where the Marine or Sea-winds have long blowne, all kindes of flesh (shough neuer so new and fresh) will corrupt in leffe then an houre. Thefe things beeing confidered, that it is most necessary for the conservation of our bor dies in health, that the feafons fhould follow their naturall temperatures, without any excesse or contrariety, there is no doubt to be made, but that our bodies wil fall into many ynnaturall difeafes, when the naturall qualities of the feafons are pernerted thorough the cuil disposition of the aire and winde, that predominateth therein. It being fo, that for these 3. yeares space heere in France, the seasons of euery yeare have not kept their ordinary qualities. In the Sommer wee have but little heare, in the Winter a little or no sold at all. Allo the other have bene continually diffempered with raine and moyflure, together with much foutherly winds whose nature we have declared before, & this throughout all France.

I know no man fo little feene in natural Philosophy, or in Astrologie, which will not finde the aire to be the efficient cause of fo many enils, which for these 3. yeares ipace have happened in the Kingdome of France. Forfeom whence thould proceed those contagious Pestilences, which hap-pened indifferently to old and young, to rich and poore, and in fo many places, but from the corruption of the Ayre? From whence thould proceeds to many kinds of Feauers, Pleurifics, Apostumes, Carara, defluctions of fmall Poxe and Meazels?

Frogges, Toads, Grashoppers, Caterpillers, Spiders, Flies, Waspes, Snailes, Serpents, Vipers, Snakes, Lizards, Scorpions, and Aspickes, but onely from a putrifaction resulting from the humiditie of the aire, accompanied with a languishingheate. This is it (I fay) that hath engendered in vs, and in all the Country of France, fo many strange and vnknowne accidents. Behold therefore how our naturall heate hath bene weakned, how our blood and humors have beene corrupted through the malignity of the ayre, which these Southerly winds have caused, thorough the hote and moyft quality there-

Thus much I have observed that wher there hath bene need of Phlebotomizing, there hath beene but little bloud drawne from any, whether they wer yong ot old, wounded, or not of fo good or cuill temperature, but it hath bene corrupted, and appeared of white or greenish Colours. This I have alwayes observed in these last Warres, and in other places where I have bene called to cure the wounded: fuch as haue bene phlebotomized by the preferip tion of the Physitian . either for the preuention of accidents, or the furtherance of the cure. In all which, I fay indifferent ly, I have found the bloode putrified and corrupted.

This being fo, it must needes follows that the flothy parts of our bodies cannot be otherwise then cuilly disposed : and all our bodies Cacochymate; feeing that their nourithment which is the blood ide putrified, and the ayre altogether corrup ted. From whence it followeth that those bodies which were wounded in the fleshy parts, were difficult to cure, confidering that there was in them a perdition of fubstance; the which having neede of the regeneration of the flesh, could not bee accomplished, neither by Medicines, nor any Art of the Chirurgian; fuch & fo great was the Cacochimy or cuill conflicution of their bodies . Euen as in an Hydropticke person, there can no flesh be regenerated, because the blood is too colde and A similande. watery; and in the Elephantick or leprous disease, the flesh and other parts do abide in putrifaction, because of the corrupted blood whereby they are nourified. In like manner, in wounds of Cacochymed bo-of any good substance, because that to re-Store a lawdable flesh in the wounded part it is required, that the blood should not offend neither in quantity nor quality, & that the offended part bee in it naturall temperature. All these things were wanting in the times of these last Warres: and therefore it is not to be wondred at, if the woundes which were then received (although they were but small and of little cosequence in the noble or ignoble parts) haue brought with them fo many tedious accidents, and in the end death; because that the aire which doeth encompasse vs, maketh the wounds to be corrupt and putrified, by reason of the inspiration and transpiration thereof, especially when it felfe is corrupt and putrified, by altering & corrupting the humors.

Of this point I have had the experience

fomuch, that the affistants could hardlie

endure to be present at their dressings. It need not to be here alledged, that this was

for want of being cleanely kept, or often

dreffing or for not administering to them

things necessary: for this corruption was

as common to Princes and great Lords,

as vnto poore foldiers; whole wounds (if

by chance one day escaped wherein they were not dreft, fo great was the number of the hurt foldiers) you should finde in them the morrow after, a gloss quantitie

of wormes, with a maruellous flinking fa-

nour. And moreouer, there hapned vnto them many Apollumes in divers parts of their bodies opposite to their hurts. For

if they were shotte in the right shoulder,

they shold have an Apostume on the left

buce; and if the wound were in the right

logathe Apostume would arise in the lefte

arme. As it hapned to the late K. of 2/4-

war, to Mounfieur de Neuers, and to Mon-

freue de Rendan, and almost to all others

So it feemeth, that Nature being fo much oppressed with corrupted humors, could

nor be fufficiently purged and discharged

of them by wounds onely, but fent fome

part of the corruption to forme other part either hidden or apparent. For, if the A-postumes appeared not outwardly, they should be found in the inward part; as in Intollerable flinke procee in many Wounds, which I have bin calding from the wounded led to dreffe, that have rendred a most inparts of men. supportable stinking sauour, as a certaine witnesse of corruption and infection, in-

Venoniou wounds.

consequently death.

made vs apt to receyue the aforefaide inconveniences which we have incurred by our iniquities. CHAP.

dies, there can be no regeneration made, the Liver, Lungs, or Spleen, Fro those putrifactions were ftirred vp certain vapors, which through their combination with the heart, caufeth continual Featiers, with the Liuer, a let and hinderance of the generation of good blood; & with the brain fwoonings, faintings, convultions, and

Now because of those aforesayde accidents, it is vnpossible for any Chirurgian (were he neuer so expert) to correct the malignity of the aforefaid wounds:neuertheleffe those that are employed therein, ought not to be reprehended; because it is impossible for them to warre against God, nor against the aire, wherein oftentimes are hidden the rods of his divine iuflice. If therefore, according to the fentence of ancient Hippocrates, who faieth; That all contused woundes ought to bee brought to suppuration, thereby to bee perfectly cured; which method wee are fomtimes constrained to change, because of the puttifactious Gangrenas and mortifications which doe accompanie fuch wounds, thorough the corruption of the aire; and can any blame or accuse vs,because we are constrained through necessity to change and alter that manner of curation, and insted of suppurative medicins to vie other remedies, to relit fuch accidents which not onely happen in wounds made by Gun-fhot, but also by fwords or flanes: which remedies shall be described in this present Discourse. Besides humane causes, that man is ill instructed in the knowledge of Celestial things, which doth not beleene for certaine, that the wrath of God hangeth ouer vs, to punnish the faults which ordinarily we comit against his Maiesty. His scourges are prepared ready, his rods and weapons have they ministers alwajes at hand, to execute the commandement of his dilline luftice, into whole fecrets I dare enter no further, but will conclude with the opinion of the bell aduited Practitioners, that the principall occasion of the aforesaide mortalitie, did proceede from the pure and determinate will of God, who by the temperature that he hath given to the agree and windes (as the Heraldes of his divine Tuffice) hath

CHAP. V.

¶ Gf the Excellencie of the Arte of Phisicke going farre beyond all other humane Arts and Sciences what soeuer.

What human Ans are trulic

the of man.

Chap.5.

E vnderstand humane Artes (as well Liberallias Mechanicall) to bee all those, that Man (inspired by God) hath inuented for his necessitie, commoditie, or recreation. Amongest which also is Phisicke, the practise of naturall Philosophie vppon the bodies of men, for whom all mechanicall Arts were deuised; as Arres liberall for exercise of the minde. We except onely from all ordinary professions of Man, the sacred Science of Divinity; which we understand, not to come within compasse of this coparison, when we extoll Physicke to be aboue all humane Arts: because it is nevther Art or humane Science; but a matter meerely and purely divine, not invented by men, but infuled by God; concerning foules, and not bodies; eternall, infallible, immutable, having (for object) God Almighty, Creator of the World, who made it of nothing, and for the feruice of man. In whom we are to confider a reasonable soule, the body, and benefits which are given vnto him for the fup: port and maintaining of his life.

Dininity hath her especiall care of the foule, and next to her, Moral Philosophy. Skill and knowledge, restrained vntoshumane Lawes, do discourse on goods and proprieties appertaining to men, rendering to euery one that which is his owne. Betweene them both is Phylicke, conferuing the body in health, expelling Difeafes, and fauing from death, fo farre as it pleaseth God to permit. If then the excellency of professions, is to be esteemed in and by their fubicets, according as they ought to bee : Physicke will then assume the second place, For, the soule is more then the body, and the bodie more then garments.

I will not heere contest with my Grand Masters the Magistrates, who have power ouer mens bodies, as well in case of life, as death: for their authority is nolife, as death: for their authority is no-thing elfe but a meere declaration; either Magistrates in of pardoning, or punithing with death, cates of life or according to the quality of desert. As for their authorithe power of absolution or pardon, if it ty from God bein grace, as the fole Prince or Soueraigne Magistrate may do it: it proceedeth from the priviledge given him by God, and not from any knowledge of the Lawes. Like to the other, that declareth the innocence and preuention of the accufed: the which is properly to faue, or giuellife, because the party standing so accused, hath not therefore descrued death,

And as for power of putting to death, therein is no praise; at least, it ought not to be compared with the power of fauing What diversilife. For, fo much doth the Phylition (the fity there is grace of God affilting) to man, beeing attainted with deadly difeases, and doubtles of saining life, should dye, except they were succoured and putting in such manner. Now, whether it is effectable, or no, and that (by the Art of Phyficke) life may be prolonged: that we shall more amply relate in the following chapter. Onely our intent heere, is, to showe the excellencie of man; to confirme the excellency of that Art, which is dedicated onely to his confernation. The principall dignity of Man, is in wherein the this, that God hath vouchfafed to beftow on him his owne Image and refemblance, doubt confift. giuing him an immortall foule, capable of the Divinity: in regard that all thinges were submitted to him, for his necessitie. commodity, and recreation; having made (for his feruice) Heaven, Earth, the Sea, and all that is in them. For God hath no neede of any thing, made by himfelfe: All is for our vie, and therefore it is easie to vnderstand and know, that Man is more worthy and excellent then all the worlde. So, to speake truly, Heauen and Earth, which haue had a beginning; were ordainedfor an ending, and to wexe olde like a Garment. Onely Man shall never end, but change his condition, and of beeing mortall, he shall become immortall; in a Man was cre fhort while after the foule shal receive her have ending, diuorce from the body, taking it vp again, in much more glorious manner then before, and in such a perfect temper, as ne-

Seeing then, that Man is the worthieft thing in all the world, befide al other what | Man the only focuer: the Science ordained for his per-

uer can be subject to corruption.

worthy thing in althe world

fon, must needs bee the most excellent aboue all other, next vnto that which properly concerneth his Creator. For, Man is the most worthy creature of all, and (by consequence) the Art or Science which maintaineth him in life and health, is the onely excellent of all humane Arts. This is a strong argument, for the preheminece and dignity of Phylicke, according to the fingularity of the subject whereon it discourfeth.

I could give a glance at some other mat-The Antiquiters, which make (in like manner) for his ty,inecelsitie and vulitie o commendation: As his Antiquity, Neceffity, and Vtility, together with the Authority of them, that have the more reuerenced and effeemed him, for the same reasons. As concerning his Antiquitie, no man doubteth, but it is as olde as the Adam was transgression of Adam, and that so soone Physicion to as he had finned, he (thereby)becam fubiect to sicknesse. He must needs be Physition to himselfe, to whom God had given knowledge, concerning the vertue of all thinges whatfocuer, and causing him to > Prophane Histories, doe attribute the inuention of Phylick to god Apollo, which is the Sunne : fignifying therby, that from the Sun proceedeth the vertue of Plants, and other medicaments, which the earth produceth. Hereupon they conclude that Æsculapius (the first that made profession of this Art) was his sonne; and he the Father of Machaon & Podalirius, vulnerarie Physitions (otherwised called Chirurgeons) who were in the warre of Troy, the History whereof, is the very ancientest in

> giue them seuerall names, answereable

and according to their fenerall proprie-

Now, concerning Antiquity, it is one of those conditions, that commendeth fomething; prouided, that it hath beene continued. For, if it be neither vie-able, nor beneficiall, it will foon have ending. But we see (euen to this instant) that Phyficke hath beene well maintained, euermore in augmentation, beauty, and liberall bounty. And that, by industrie of the cheefest persons that have bin, not onely Philosophers by profession, but likewise by Kings, Princes, and other men of greatest esteeme, it hath beene highly honoured, according as ancients Histories, and their learned labors left to vs of Phylicke, our graue father Hippocrates. Nor is he to do plainly testifie.

True it is, that the Romaines did let it Plininlines passe by them, for about fixe hundred yeares, as holding it in detestation; for the Phylichene yeares, as holding it in detertations to the leded in Rome for Rome for forth of Greece, a Nation to them very ful- fometime. pitious. But fince those times, Physitions were honoured, much respected, & maintained in Rome; holding ranke with the cheefest Noblemen and Knights.

Now, touching the Necessity thereof, Of the neces it is fo manifest, as nothing more. But it fity of Phy. feemeth, that this may diminish the ex- ficke. cellency of the Art; because it is not expetible or desireable of it selfe, but onely for neede. Like as in Moral Philosophy, that is most esteemed, which is desirable of it selfe (Asto have children, then affectable, for some other respect, as to have goods for those children;) Euen fo, Phy- Physickense ficke, being not defirable of it felfe (like to defireables Musicke) but for necessity; it appeareth to be the leffe commendable, even as Mechanicall Arts, which cannot passe without vie. Yet notwithstanding, this is contrary; for, the more necessary Physick is, Arts cannot fo much the more it is to bee defired : and ve. the excellency of her effects, maketh her to be the more excellent.

And heere, Vtility or commodity ioyneth with it, commending it in the high- Of the ville est degree. For, as there is nothing in the world more welcome then Health, nor more defireable then long life: Phylicke, providing both for the one and other, is the more beneficiall to the contentment ofmen, then any other humane Science can be. For (by the contrary) as whofoeuer that hath not health, is vnprofitable Sicke men ste to the world: euen fo he whath lyued but to the world. a litle while, brought therto the leffer benefit with him. For, as the Father of Eloquence fayd. We are not borne for our felues onely, but our Parents, Kindred. & Friends, de Senellato our Countrey, yea the whole world; all thefe do vrge from vs (ome emolument, and commodity.

It remaineth now, to confirme al thefe reasons by great and good Authoritie, of Authoritie further as have much effected and extolled Physicke, and the professors therof, commending it infinitely by their Writinges . In the performance whereof, I shall content my felfe, with the exhortation made in Ecclesiatticus, and the remonstrance of Hippocrates felt fenered Philicke from Philosophie.

Chap.s.

Galen difallo

Ezod.15,29.

be suspected in the matter, because he was a Physition : for, he was neuer mercenary, nor at the feruice of any man; but free and most liberall of his profession. And he it was, that first divided Physicke from Philosophie. Because (in elder daies) Phyfitions were not distinguished by themselues, but Philosophers did contemplate vpon diseases, and their remedies among naturall thinges: for their vie principally (as Celfus witneffeth) who had most need aboute other, in regarde of their bodyes weaknesse, being ouercome with continuall depressions of Age.

Hippocrates then was the first, that deuided this Art from Philosophy, and made profession therof publikely; as (afterward) did Diocles, Praxagoras, Chrysippus, Herophilus, and Erafistratus, all his successours. And they (at length) divided Phylicke into three parts, for better accommodation thereof to ficke persons: referring mechanicall people to manuall operation, called Chirurgery, and the preparation of Medicines, which are tearmed Pharmacie or Apothecaries skill, according as(in thefe our dayes) it is exercised among vs. But it is by mercenary people (for the most part) whose testimonie in the Art of phifick, can carry here no credit; no not that of Galen himselfe, although he was one of the first subjected fernants thereto.

Wherfore that shall satisfie me, which is recorded by fo great a Father, after I have made recitall of the words of Ecclesiasticus, the wiledome of tefus the fonne of Sirach, writing thus in his 38. Chapter, verse 1. Honor the Physicion with that honor which is due vinto him, because of the necessity thou hast of him: for the Lord hath created him. 2. Healing commeth of the most High, and the Physition shall bee honoured even of Kinges. 3. The knowledge of the Physition exalteth his head, and in the fight of Princes he shall be had in admiration . 4. The Lorde hath created Medicines of the Earth, and he that is wise will not abhorre them. 5. Was not the water made sweete with woode, that men should know the vertue thereof? 6. So he hath given knowledge unto men, that hee might be glorified in his mernailous workes, 7. With Such doth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8. The Apothecarie maketh his commixtions, and yet hee cannot finish his owne work: for, it is from God, that health commeth over all the earth.

wickednesse.

9. My sonne, faile not in thy ficknesse, but pray unto God and he will make thee whole. 10. Leave off from sinne, and order thine hands aright, and clenfe thine heart from all

11. Offer sweete Incense, and fine Floure for a remembrance , make the Offering fatte. for thou art not the first giver.

12. Then give place to the Phisition: for the Lord hath created him, let him not goe from thee, for than hast need of him.

13. The houre may come, that their enterprizes may have good successe.

14. For they shall also pray wate the Lord, that hee would profper that which is given for ease, and their Physicke for prolonging

These divine words do conclude (& verie sufficiently) our purpose, for the Sufficient dignity, excellency, necessify, vitility, and preore for the prerogative of Physitions: condemning Physicke. all fuch, as hold them in vile eft: eme, and (in them) do despise the great goodnesse of Almighty God, who hath bestowed vpon men such meanes of healing. Let vs now heare what was spoken by the learned Happocrates. The good olde man, in the Booke of the Lawe, complayined for long fince, that (even in his time) Physick was but flenderly effeemed, in regarde of abule; much more then must it needes be now at this day.

The Art of Phylicke (faith hoe) & the most apparant of all other .: but by the it at legeap. 14. merance of some that we it, and fach as indge of the Profesours; it is too farre onergone by all other Artes. The faulte (meethinkes) proceedesh principally from this; That in Citties, there is no punishment oppointed to the Art of Phylicke, as to other, Except dishonours done it, which are ver in flictions sufficient for such as fayle shere.

They may wellbee compared unto the A-Ctorsina Tragedie, who base the habite, wilage, and outward behaviour, of those per-Connes, which they represent and counterfeit - lersoffo fin-In like manner , there are many Rhylitions Bular a Sciin name and repute; but verie few that are the men indeede. For in him that would truely have the knowledge of Physicke, sixe Severall qualities or conditions, are necessarily required, which followe thus. I. The Nature. 2. Discipline. 3. Good Manners. 4. Learning from his Childe-hoode.

A familiar co

Philosophers Kings, and Princes, haue bin Physicions

What attribu

tion is made w

to Physick by profane hifto

Chirurgions

rary Physicios

Of prolonging life by Physicke. 8. Booke

Six things re quired in a and (without which) he is no body.

Pliny his re-

prehension of

onely in name, but in deed alfo. But Ignorance is a wicked creasure of a lewell of vile price, to fuch as have it, and live but as in a dreame or opinion.

Plinte pursuing this matter, and to the Pli.inl.194.26 fame purpose, taxing the vulgare, that know not how to distinguish betweene the good and badde Physition, listening onely to fuch as are full of talke, making great vaunts and bragges of themselues, hath these wordes: They get (saith hee) a little taste of the Arte onely, and their rash prating Physijudgement fodainly conceiveth, that prefently they are skilfull Physicions; albeit (in anie kinde of lying) there is no greater daunger, yet it is not easily discovered, so pleasing is the sweetnesse to a man, in perswasson, and commending him felfe.

5. Loue to the toyle and labour; 6. And ob-fernation of apt times and feafons. With and by thefe he shall become a good Physition, not

Moreover, there is not any Lawe, for the No punishpunishing of capitallignorance, where it imment for caportesh the lines of men, neither is there anie pital ignor ace example of vengeance: for, they undertake matters of difficulty and danger, and make their proofes by killing men, and yet paffe onpunified for thus murdering men. Nay, and Ignorant Phi fitions are shar which is farre worle, when them (elues pad tuffly deferme the reproch: they excufeit, > pudently doe lay their owne sinne uppon the dead.

rers of men.

-ratellar-

distant.

hi I thought it expedient to fet downe Hipsoniuli. diefe words, to the end it may be known, 41 QUIST 1 chartenen in thefe dayes of ours) there are many that wearing the maske and apparance of Phylicions, cause Phylicke (tho-The reason roublisheir abules) to bee greatly defoiwhy Physicke Red la Buen us many other thinks (good of is contempo chemielues, or newtrall) aremade worffe by many.

dienaher be indecide, in regard that they are very cafily abused. But because I have formerly promised, to declare in another Chapter, whether life may be prolonged by Phylicke, or no, which is an action fingular and excellent: I will nextefet downe in amplemanner, what mine opi-

by the ficke patients intemperancie, and im-ansme and resules but were few that ore wen indeed for it beginst woods t new hane the entry to of Phylicke, fixe nesell qualities in con steel, it is meelfa represented, and 1 one 1. The mion is concerning that point the Mente 2 Decolor ; of den mere of Learning from his or we have be CHAP. VI.

Whether it bee posible, or no, to prolong the life of man, or woman, by Physicke.

His Question hath alwayes appeared to bee verie difficult, and hath much affliction on mendific de the verie greatest spirits; culty-to-te-called and concealed and concealed the veries of National Georges o

in the darkest and deepest secrecie of Nature; and therefore it hath bene the more painfull, to fuch as have curioufly fought after it. The reasons of them that have debated it, are so strong and powerfull on either fide; that hardly can any refolution bee yeelded, or what best may be saide in the case. For there are very many Arguments, absolutely concluding; that the life of man cannot be prolonged, by any remedies or meanes of Phylicke. On the contrary, Physitions have and doe main- on either fide taine, that it is possible. Therefore, for very contrathe better disciding of this doubt, I will differy to ch first of all defend each of the seuerall fides, and in the end (like to an honest and indifferent Arbitratour) deliver therein, mine owne opinion and judge-

That there is a rearme or limitation. appointed vito the life of man, and that het cannot goe beyond it by any meanes of time preli whatfoetter; wee haue (in the first place) of the life of Man. that which the patient man Job faid, chapt. 14. vetles 1. 5. inspired by the Spirite of God. The dayes of Man are Short, the number of his Moneths are with the Lord ; He hath ordained the boundes and limits of his life which he cannot paffe.

Artistica affirment the lame, in his lecond book of generation and corruption;
The time and life (laith he) of every shing, hath his infinite count and determination; For in all things there is an order, and at things there is an order, and at the ined wed wed by aperiod. Also, to Gandal in his south booke of the Generation of mandal con-Creatures hee layeth ; It is but reasonable, that there should be periods and seasons, is well for Georgeth, as for Generation and Life : which are accounted by dayes, monethes, yeares, or other times that are on a certaint

Of prolonging life by Physicke. decreed for them heere. And Auerroes ex- | fickly, have held out for long time; wher-

plicating the same faith; All things that are, have (necessarily) life determined unto

Seeing then, that all the works of Nature do (necessarily) consiston a certainty of order, fo that they neither can bee otherwife, or anoide it : And feeing alfo. that Art is heerein much inferiour to Nahare: it may eafily bee concluded (as Gales disputeth in the Booke called Marufmm) that life is no way to bee prolonged by any cunning. Whereunto Mulcen confehteth, where hee makethan expresse fearth, for the causes of our ineutrable death, faying This naturall death is winde uidable to every man, differing one from anasber, according to their prime complexion; rontill the time cher hane in shelr power . | for conferuing their haturallhumidity. For ewery one hash his tearme prefixed, which is divers in their indivision by diverfit of their temper : mbo have naturalleeumes, which in other are shoremed, and yes all according so the will of God yes . Ilonno I wonth If then the tearmes of life are prefix

ed and assigned to enery person 3 by the will of God, and his ordinance (Name being but a fernant to God, to wir, effablishing things (by order in this World) from their beginning) it is not to bet exeeded or out flept why any meanes in Man, but onely by the grade & goodnesse of Almighty God. As to King Exething to whom the Prophet If airly had fignified his death. Net vpon his Repentance, life was prolonged to him for fifteene yeares! onely by the mercy of God a Who alfo promifeth in his facred Law long life vnto children, That Honor their Father and Mother, and are no way ingratefull to them.

Thus we fee, if (contrary to thefe allegations to certaine) wee can extend and prolong the naturall termes of life, by any ordinances or remedies in our Arte. Because there are some store of reasons, which perswade, that not onely the order of Nature, but also our industry, doth promisc long life. First of all, Astrologers do maintaine it, where they discourse on elections, figures, and Images. And this hath bene confirmed by experience, in the care and diligence of Physitions to manie persons, who being assisted by remedies and good gouernment: haue maintained themselues in health. And being crazy & as otherwife, they had dyed yong, and neuer feene fo many yeares.

Plato & Aristotle (great and graue Authors) without all exception; doe teffifive (to this purpose) that a learned man, named Herbdicus, the most fubice to ficke- Sickly Heroneffe of any in his time? did yer heuertheleffe line an hundred yeares, by great skil, dred yeares and exquisite manner of Gouernment. Galeh allo (in diuers places) confesseth his owne natural infiction but he faith withall; that he had so weter brite Cool is a hard! Calena, experience appropriate the cool in the cool of fick. Except, when he was ones or wife affected with the Ephemerie (which is of a daies continuance) onely being painfull to him, in travailing to visit his Friends. And, if wee may credite fome that have written, he liued about feuenscore years. which may be counted a goodly time.

We shall not need to cite the authority of Platarte, who speakerh of manie Verie Intemperate Weak (yet delicate) bodies, that lived long time by the meanes of this Art: because we see the same now daily experienced helpe of Phyon as many. Nor shall we likewise neede to oppose against them, divers intemperate and diffolute peffons, that daily have despited all good gonernment; and yet notwithstanding, have attained to great yeares, yea, to decrepite age. For it is verie certaine that if fuch persons as are wel borne, and of good temper, woulde line and be affilted by Physicall means in their necessities; they should be flower to Age, Of personnes and have the benefit (doubtleffe) of long welborn, and life. Which is eafie to proue, because wee per. oftentimes fee, that fome, who are whelth full by nature, or elfe by accident : do yet line longer time, the others that are more firong and luftie. Because strong bodies. trusting onlie in their strength: do line diforderly, without any lawe or gouernment at all. Others, being fober and continent, abstaining from hurtfull things, and obferuing a certaine manner of living, by direction of a skilfull Physition indeede; haue hadde their life time longer, and much more healthfull. Whereuppon grew the old Prouerbe, A crackt Pitcher (sometime) lasteth longer, then one that is

Heereupon Galen saide well : It is verie credible, that such men live lessetime, then dicus that li

enine a t ermes of life

ficke.

For fuch as defoile the art of Phyficke.

The radical naturall heat

good gouers ment may prolong it.

The reason of the fodaine stealing of aga vpon vs.

Life kept and retayned in great extresmity by drin-kes and Cor-

*A Philofopher that laughed at the worlde. ding for the health and life of Man, hath fuch vertue; as if any one shal rashly contemne the ordinances thereof he not only liueth in mifery, and all irkefomnesse of diseases, but also cutteth off his length of life, and abridgeth the tearme which Nature had prefixed for him, anticipating his death, and (as we may well fay) thereby cutteth his owne throate. As much to fav, when (by vfing cuill gouernment) he is ordained them by Nature: who (being ignorant) do despise the healthfull maner of li-

uing. For, the Science of Phylicke, prouiconfumeth his radicall humour, sooner then it was ordained for him, or suffocateth or quencheth his naturall heate: on both which, do confift the continuance of Now, if such be the law and nature of contraries, that they are faid to be in one and the same subject; as, if the one hold, the other also must do the like : it followeth then necessarily that if the one can Thorsen life, the other like wife can pro-long it. And feeing it is most euident, that if the life of Man may be abridged, by diuers faultes and blemishes of excesse: it may also as sufficiently be concluded, that life may bee prolonged by good governement and discreete order. For, although the discommodities, which depend vpon the principles of our generation, are not (by any means) to be anoyded or prenented (as the effluxion and continual diffi-pation of our whole substance, which is done by naturall heate, beeing the reason of Ages fooner enfuing, in regard of ex-ceffine and ineuitable exficeation:) yet

notwithstanding, it may bee tardyed by

Physicke, and so hindered, that the last day shall not come so soone, nor so ha-

Hath it not beene (almost) in generall observation, that divers have lien gasping yea, even ready to give vp the ghoft; who (neuerthelesse) haue bin continued in life for longer time, by taking a small quantity of Malmefie, Aqua vita, Aqua Imperialis, the Confection of Akermes, or fome other cordiall thing? The period and laft limit of life beeing then fo neere; hath it not bene deferred (by those means) untill another houre ? It is reported of laughing " Democritus, that being entrea-

red by his Houshold servants (seeing his

all greefe and forrow from his boufe, during the The mophorian Feasts, which were then neere at hand, by prolonging his life till then : that he did it by the finel of Hony, though some others say, that it was by the favour of hot bread Thus you fee what our Phylitions haud delinerd, wherin there is a verie great apparance of trurecord at 117, and a Wee have heard the two parties plead The feurni and debate, by contrarietie of fentences and reasons on either side sit behooveth by themselve now, to qualificathe contention, and to resolue on that which hath the best hold And to the end, that it may beer done with the greater cunning ; ipis necessarie alfo, to distinguish the tearmes of life; that some are super-naturall, others naturall, and othersaccidentarie, which wee call (hortned or shridged.

We call those super-naturall, which Of superns. GOD Almighty ordained and prefix- tural life a ed to fome, out of his owne meere will, beforethe fuch as are noted bee inflitured by anie Arre or Councell. As the date of verie long life, which God appointed in the first Age of the Worlde, and before the Flood for the multiplication of mankind: and especially to Weah, for the restauration the realist minef soud asserts

Those which we tearme Manurall, are they that be bestowed voon every man, Natural life secording both to the diversity of temper and building as they are in the principles and foundations, eyther ftrong or weake .. In regard whereof, fome may live long, others leffer while waccording vnto the order of Nature ... And they that doe attaine unto thefe tearings (the grace of God affifting) except they falling to diforder or fome inconnenience hap- Accidental peneth to them; which are (already to bee life happing called) the limits or termes of the thirde whatfourt kind, and which we have named accidentary, or accidentall, that may happen in. or to any age, by cafuall and inopinate cafes; as Wounds, Poylans, Burnings, fals, ruines, fhipwrackes, plagues, and other populare harmes. Such inconvenient ces no way M ces are (most often) ineuitable, and it ly- be auoyate eth not in the Science of Physicke, to vie any precaution against them; but onely to heale the harme already happened, if it be possible, So leaving these tearmes of life to the arbitration of fortune (which is health very crazie) that hee would banish nothing elfe, to speake more piously) then

Chap.6.

then the pure will of God, without order folong time as it is due, according to the of Nature, as elsewhere we have enstruder of the first acd: let vs speake onely concerning the tearme of naturall life, and explicate the manner thereof more amply.

All the Philosophers and Physitions do agree together, that we ought to meafure and bound the continuance or duration of our life, on that which may lengthen naturall heate, and the radicall hu-Naturall heat mor. Now, to the end that these things all humor do may last the longer in vs, our good Mother Nature (as Galen Speaketh) hath plaprolong life. ced in vs a meruailous power, which by continuall application of Nourishment, defendeth the ordinary diffipation of our fubstance and Radicall humour, maintay-

ning our naturall heate, as well by this

meanes, as by respiration, and the pulse

Nutritine, being limited, and not infinit;

cannot alwayes defend and conferne the

fayde humour in fuggesting another.

But fuch a kinde of power as we terme

of Arteries.

An admirable

Whereby it commeth to to passe, that the body wexing dry, by little and little: procureth thence, that that power (afterward) is not well exercised in it selfe: but weakneth dayly more and more, fo that in the end, the bodies power ceaseth, from an especiall care of their health. This is being nourithed fufficiently. In this mannot the matter, of attaining voto the and ner, those parts becomming saplesse and and tearme ordained by Nature, withour foon com withered, the body wexeth meager & diout abridging or fhortning it, although ming to wrine minishing; and so passing on further thus, this is a case verie rare. But I demaund it dryeth; and then this condition is calprincipally, whether the end and natuled wrinkled Age. This is the principall rall period of life, may be advanced and natural necessity of corruption and death, prolonged by the Arte of Phylicke, or to all bodyes begotten : for death enfueth no? The Answere heereto, is, That life then, when the humor primitive, fuffavuing or radicall, fayleth, and natural heat becommeth quenched; and this is the end of life, which we terme naturall ending.

Asconcerning the Art of Phylicke: It is an Art (faith Auicenne) that exempteth ducted causes whereof, may be continuwords concer not from death, nor can conduct every one, so ed and extended, yea, & (especially) made ingthe Arte farre as to the latest tearme of humaine life. the stronger. Nowe, the principles of athylick, al. But it affureth and exempteth from two life (that is, naturall heate, and the primimics helpfull thinges; the one is from putrifaction, that it tiue humor) if they cannot bee re-integracan no way feize uppon the body, except it ted, yet (at least) they may be repaired, & bee by some externall occasion, as the Pestimade more vigorous by this Ast, Accorlence, or poy fon; the other is in defending the ding as the curing of Heaticke of consinaturall humiditie, to the end, that it may nual Feauers doth flew vs, and the recolast the longer, and bee the flower in confuuering or amending of energeomplexions whereby the naturall heate is ordered and

These two things are in the power of Physicke, whereby it may prolong life, for temper of every man, and that by three meanes. The first whereof, is, to preoccupate straunge heats to hinder opilati- Three feueral ons; and to eiect the excrements, from prolonging of whence enfueth the generation of putri- life. fying ; or when they are engendered, to qualific and quench them. The second is,

the due administration of drinking & eating; in substance, quality, quantity, time, and order. The third is, to abstaine from things, which, in confuming and exhau-

fting the Radicall humoursin a very fhort

the minde. But aboue all other, immoderate carnall Copulation, and at incom-modious houres; with some other such like things, which a man may, and ought to shunne, by following the good and wholesome ordinances and rules of Phy-

But (fay you) no man neede doubt of

while doeth resolue, or dissipate together the natural heate; as excessive travaile or cularthings labour; vie of tharpe or piercing things, hurtfull vato

watchings, cares, and divers passions of health.

these things, for energy one will gladly a-gree, to moone the foresaide Reasons that such cannot but line long, as keepe with with a further in the compasse of temperance, and haue objection.

is not onely conferred by Physicket but An Answerto likewise prolonged . For, it fandeth the principall with good, reason, that the thing must point in que . needs be the more confirmed and suan-ning the powced, the principles, foundation, and pro- er of Phylick

Ifthen, by way oflining humectinely,

tempered.

8. Booke

Of Physitions prolonging diseases.

763

The way and meanes for preferring the radical humor and naturall

A further en forcing, for better information in the maine Argument.

Concerning

moistening of

the folide and

fpermaticke

parts.

How Phyfick enstructeth to or moiftly, as by Bathes of pure fresh waters, and other fuch like remedies, the radicall humour may be the longer conferued, which otherwise would be ouer soon confumed; and naturall heat kept temperate; so that it may consume her feeding the more sparingly, by defect whereof, death naturally enflicth:) wher is the man who wil not confesse, that life may be pro longed by Phylicke, which elfe wold haue bin much shorter, and according to Nature? I know well, and I confesse it, that the folid and spermaticke parts, cannot be moistned substantially, & of themselves neuertheles, you will grant, that they may be moistned through the voide spaces and pores, by which the feeding humour infinuateth it felfe, and whereby also the wasting of the radicall humour is the more tardied. And it is almost in the same maner, as when we put water with oyle into a Lampe; to the end, that the Oyle may the more strongly resist the slames denou-

But yet (fay you) although the termes of life may bee lengthened, yet it is not ftrongly enough proued by this argumer. Let me then reply, that of the Complexions or tempers of the body, that of the most and cheefest life, is moisture, or that which is in like manner (or together with it) hot and moyft, which vulgarly wee vie to terme Sanguine: the contrary, which weeall Melancholy, is of far horter life. So that, whenfoeuer both of them shall vse one gouernement together, and like maintaining; yet notwithstanding, the first will be of longest lasting, because it hatly the terme of it owne life furtheft off, from the principles of it own generation. Now, the Art of Phylicke enstructeth, & the vertue thereof is fo great; that it can chaunge (by little and little) the naturall temperature of cold and dry, into theyr contrary : as Galen teacheth how to do it, in his two last bookes of the preservation of health. Doth it not follow then hereby immediately, that the tearme of life may likewise be prolonged by the Art of Phyficke Yea, and that fome one, vnfortunately borne, and (even bound as it were) to mortneffe of life; hath yet chaunged the condition, and become thereby farre more lively and chearful. Onely by this meanes(in mine opinion) that eueric one eafily vinderstandeth, how to learn of another; which is nothing elfe, but how to lengthen the limits of all Ages, whereby lengthen the limits of all Ages, whereby countouring enfueth, that the course of enery life may defire how to handle be prolonged.

And first of all that the vigor and flour grees. of youth, may long time be preferred by the Art of Phylicke: Galen declareth it in this manner: There are two principall ends in the conservation of health, wwhich are in de Reyms and our power : namely, to restore the substance capo. dissipated by meats and drinks convenient, & to reiect the excrements proceeding from them. If no defailance bee made in any of these: the body (so long) shal inioy helth, and will beevery long time conferred in the strength of his owne vigour. In like manner, and by the selfcsame reason, Age on of Age of the stating on of Age of the selfcs of such as ought be holpen by to dye by naturall death) is to bee prolon- Phylicke. ged by the helpe of Physicke: so that Iwoonings, trances, and the pale ashie countenances of extreme olde Age, shall come very flowly.

Heereby finally we may conclude that as in all ages (for we may in like manner, and much more easily, vnderstande the tearmes of childhood, infancy, & youth) and euery estate of life: the tearmes may longed yet be prolonged by Physick, for further time licke. then they are ordained by Nature. And these are the limits, which God the principall Authour of Phylicke) would have fubicated to this Art): which are in our power, so long as God permitteth, and cutteth not our thred of life, vntill it pleafeth him. Euen as in like manner heeretofore, and beyond all the order of Nature by him appointed: he fustained and prolonged life myraculously, without anie Physicall helpe, yea, euen without eating and drinking.

CHAP. VII.

Against fuch as hold opinion, that Physitions do delay, and prolong hurts & difeafes, and are meere abufers of the world.

Here is not any other Art, folmuch fubiect to flander and calumnic, as the Art Military and that of Phylicke:

Eucry one is lengthenout life in all deChap. 7.

which agree likewise (very wonderfully) together in many other things, as may more at large be discerne d, by divers discourses following. For, to explicate (familiarly) the deeds of Phylicke, I shall often borrowe fimilitudes from warre-like actions, and namely at this instant (meethinkes) I may ferue my turne with one, which aptly offers it felfe for my purpofe, thus. If a Generall besiedge a Towne,& take it not within some promised time, or a town or Citelfe fo foon as they hope, who are far off, ty, and what rash imputatiwithout knowing how it might be taken; although the Captaine performed his vtons (vndeferuedly)may be most diligence : he shall be suspected and laid ypon him accused in divers kindes, as of negligence, flothfulnesse, intelligence, corruption. treason, ignorance, precipitation, or tardinesse in his enterprizes, badde conduction, pufillanimity, or fome other defect in his charge, & yet all these veterly false. They that fee But they which judged thus peremptorily, knew not what resistance the besied-hamblinding, ged made, what good provision they had ged made, what good prouision they had, what strength of men, and all thinges requifite to defend themselves, beyond the expectation of the befiedged; who might be abused by his scowtes and spies, and diuers, making report of the estate of the place, and of some other exteriour semblances, whence might be imagined, what was within the Towne. So fareth it with the Physition, who befiedgeth any difeafe, treacheroufly entred into the bodye of Man, to enforce him bused by exteriour fignes, and very good-definions la for fake the place. Oftentimes, hee is aly outward refemblances : whereby, thinking that he is at the end of the Cure, he is compelled to beginne againe. For hee meeteth with more corruption and ill humours, then hee knew how to fore fee, The best Art the Disease making farre greater resistman may bee ance, then the Physition thought on : rehowneskill enforcing, and repayring it felfe dayly more and more, against the best succour and remedies applyed. So that the fickenesse will last longer, then himselfe that hath it expected, and cannot be cured fo foone, as (perhappes) the Physition promifed, or others immagined, that had intelligence thereof. Whereuppon, hee groweth suspected presently, eyther of ignorance, or of negligence, of couctoufneffe, malice, or fome other vice, which induceth him to lengthen out the difeafe, longer then it ought to be.

As touching ignorance, I suppose it Concerning could not bee fo, but that the Physition the Physicion. was held to bee skilfull, expert, and an honest man. If he prooue not such a one, it was ill done to call him, and to commit the patients life into his handes : fo that the Patient may well fay, as Iesus Christ replyed vnto Pilate, Iohn 19, verse 11. He that delinered mee to thee hath the greater lohn 19,11.

As for negligence, I grant that there are Physitions learned, expert, and men For Negliof good esteeme, who may passe (some- gence in their what ouer-lightly) their vifitation and cu- attendance on ring of sicke personnes : but I can neuer patients. thinke, that it should bee to any such end. as to prolong the paine; but rather that it is a negligence of inaduertence, as may happen in divers of their other affayres. For which, there is very good remedy, by ernest solicitations, inciting them (as they ought) to doe their dutie, and wishing them to be more frequent in attendance : or elfe, by giving them a coadiutor or affistant, to make them the more diligent in their care.

The most that is to bee doubted (in mine opinion) is greedie Auarice: For the vulgar fort thinke, that Physitions to prolongthe (commonly) lengthen out Difeafes, and Patient in draw the into some time of continuance, to derive the greater profite from them. Wherefore, I would gladly stand somewhat the longer vpon this point, to refute this falle opinion, which is the most erroncous of all.

First, I am of the minde, that the the Physition should bee an honest man, answere conin regarde, that hee ought to loue his cerningthis owne Honour and Reputation. I de- couetous fire also, that hee should profite in his halfe of good profession; as enerie one should gette and honest Goodes honeftly by his Vocation. If Physicions. hee bee an honest and Worthie man: hee hath bowelles of Christian Compaffion, and neuer will fuffer any man, (by or with his will) to languish out in sickenesse or disease: but if hee bee no fuch man, hee ought not to bee employed, as I have formerly faide. But if hee be badly enclined; he may make his aime and intent, to grafpe vp Wealth, getting a name for no other end, but to become rich. Yet let me tell yee, if hee prolong Diseases, which he may and can shorten:

Of Physicions prolonging diseases. fon should loue his Physitian, and he him

It is a matter of no great confequence to be famous and to haue great ref #t of Patients.

Physicions are not able to cure or recouer at their own pleafure.

Phylitions fhould take fmall delight in lingring

he is no able man, but goeth quite con | ledge; in regard of instaffection to their trary to his intention. For, if he can cure in leffer time then other men do ; he shall be in the greater request: hee shall have fuch crowdes of patients refort vnto him; as hee can hardly come neare them himfelfe, and rather they wil give him a french Crowne, then a Tester to any other. For, what is hee, that would not rather pay double, treble, yea foure-fold more then ordinarie, to be so soone recourred? If, to some other Physician, who commeth ouer-late to the cure, ten Crownes bee giuen: there needeth no complaint, if fiftie Crownes be distributed to him, that shall abridge the time of a mans agony, in halfe the third or fourth part of fuffe-

But, to speake vprightly, it is not in the Physitians power, to doe any such acte at his owne pleafure. He would gladly with it fo, that he had fuch a vertue, as to heale by touching, feeing, or the very first receipt giuen, or onely by good gouernement, or any other such light direction. He should have the leffer paines, be tenne times the more effeemed; and gaine infinitely to his owne aduantage. Oh good God! how foone might hee be rich, that could be so prosperous and successefull. It is not then to be imagined, that Physitians (prouoked by couetoufneffe) should delight in prolonging difeases : seeing they may gaine fo much with good-will, reputation, yea, and extraordinarie recompence, if they had power to cure with fuch expedition. But I pray you tell me one thing, Is there a Physitian, that having parents, kinred & familiar friends, of who he wil take nothing for his paines? Can hee cure them (for his credite fake) in leffer time : the difease being alike, and the subject answerable? Hee winneth nothing by the length of fuch fickeneffes; it is enough if he loofe not the good opinion conceived of him, and divers kind offices done vnto him. Let mee fav moreouer, when himfelfe, his wife, or children lie ficke; they depend upon his owne expence, and neede not to have any delay in their recouerie: but can he fooner cure them, then any other beeing in the fame distresse? Questionlesse, it is a great follie, to thinke, that Physitions should be so forgetfull of themselues, as, to prolong discases willingly, and with their knowowne honour and profite.

It may fall out with them, as it often doeth to hardie Souldiours, in besieging Another/s. fome appoynted or determined place, miliar allufiwho thinke to effect the bufineffe in three discipline,to dayes compasse, and yet continue there a Physicke. moneth before it, without diffembling or sparing any paines. They were perswaded. that a wall could not refift tenne shotte of the Cannon; and yet it out-stoode more then an hundred. They held opinion that the belieged were not stored with victualls and munition, for aboue eight dayes: and finde them furnished for more then two months. Whatfocuer is thought or conceined in this kinde, be they never fo many, they are but conjectures, idiomes of fome refemblance, examples and obferuations, which faile as often as they speed. And yet (for all this) the valiant Captaine affaylant, ought not to bee accused, for ill doing his duety, when hee perfourmed all that Arte and Industrie could require.

In all respects, this is the Phisitians case, who is most excusable altogether, when hee fayleth in the quantity and efficacie of his remedies. For this is the principall matter (as Galen auoucheth in many places) that makes the Arte of Phylicke conic Curall, Defining conie Aure to be a meanes or condition, between perfect knowledge, and pure ignorance. Therefore it ought to bee interpreted to the best, and taken in good part, what successe the remedies fort ynto, which a learned, expert, diligent and honest Physicion applyeth fittest for the purpose, and the most justly as is possible for him; euermore referring the euent and iffue to Almighty God, who giveth and taketh, augmenteth and diminisheth the power of those remedies, according as it bost pleaseth him, whether the disease shall be soone or slowely ended; one while indifferently amending, an other while agayne as doubtfully depen-

Mallice or folcene now remayneth; which may be suspected in the Physitian. Of malliceof If there be the very least occasion of ran cour, hatred and ill will between the Phi fitian and his patient: there was no good lient. aduice or discretion, in calling such a man to the businesse. For (on the contrary) it is very expedient, that the ficke per-

Howmallice in the Physiti on is under-flood by the hee ought rather to be rancked with impayloners, and not any way to bee im-But, I vinderstand by the vulgare fort, that they take this word Mallice in another kinde of fence, to wit, that Physitians with their intent and knowledge) doe cast downe their patients bodies ouerlowe, by abstinence and enacuations, euen endangering the very latest passage. And that this is done, but in oftentation of their Arte , and to winne the worthier reputation, when they can come off with any credit: or elfe they falue and shield it, with some prognosticke opinion, conceyued at the beginning and vndertaking the bufineffe, that the patient was (even then) in daunger of death; but this doth proceede from such, as have formerly fallen into the fame perill. Thus doe I comprehend the doubtful conjecture of the com-

agayne in like manner, although they

haue no knowledge of each other, eyther

by name or action. In this cafe, a firich concordance of amity, ought to be contracted betweene their hearts: For other-

wife, the patient will neuer kindely receiue his Physitions best succour, nor the other care for administring, where hee findeth his paynes not to bee affected. As for deliberate and purposed mallice, with an intent to doe hurt fecretly; if there be any Physician to be taxed with such a fin:

mon people, and (many times) they spare not to speake it.

In very truth, it were most maliciously. traiteroufly and wickedly doone, if anie Physician should play such prankes with a poore ficke bodie: yez, as vilely done, as if a man should throw such a one into a riuer, as knew not how to fwimme, hoping quickely to cast a cord after him , thereby to get him on shoare agayne. For, it may fo fall out, that the party thus fowled and submerged in the water, knowes not how to catch the cord, or canot hold it strongly enough, or hath not power sufficient to be drawne foorth, and so is drowned in this distresse. But surely, it is not credible or likely, that any Physicians should be so bad minded, as to bring ficke bodies for How fick neffe lowe by their applications : which (if they the strength are not) ought to bee well immunes, a strength of accordingly as best appertaynesh to the strength of the strengt tinually vndermineth the forces of nature, encreasing still his owne power to a certayne poynt, which is the vigour and soueraigne condition of the fickenesse. After which, if the disease be curable, enfueth the declination, and diminution of the maladie; and thorow all thefe accidents, the patient proceedeth on to health, as wee shall have fitter occasion to speake of heereafter.

There are people somewhat more modest, who say not, that Physitians do take downe their patients bodies fo lowe, and bring them into daunger : but that they firetch foorth the fickeneffe in length, ey- plaining on Physicions, for ther by their indulgence (that is, by ouer-much pleafing the ficke persons, humour)

Phytupus, 10 lengthning their difeases. or to binde him in the larger advantage to them, by recovering him out of a long lingering maladie. As touching indulgence, or tender-heartednesse, it is verie true, that many ficke men affect rather, to be flowe in recouering, then speedily, only by being the gentlier handled: which is an excule sufficient for the Physician, prouided, that hee makes protestation thereof, for fafetie of his owne honour and reputation.

As for fuch as prolong ficknesse, thereby to deriue the greater benefite; that were a smoothe-faced kind of treason, and inglicknesse (indeede) meere villany. And furely, it for the larger cannot be credible (if the Phylitian do yn- benefit. derstand himselse well) that he should (at any time) offer to delay a difease. For he is not able to measure, or comprehend the times length; and, by giving way to fuch protraction, the interiour cuill may grow the worse; wherein is greater perill, then delaying simply, or the cure wexing long. It is another maner of thing, then vicers dealt withall by the Chirurgi- Vicers and an : for they may well bee maintayned, licknesse of without any prejudice to the person, because the inner parts of the body may be curing. fafe enough, purging themselves by the vicer, and that there be no other harme, then the vicerated parts.

For proofe whereof, wee oftentimes appoynt, that Fistulaes should be entertayned with delay, and make iffues and fontanelles in many places of the body, which wee must have kept open for verie long time. But inward maladies are of an Inward fickother confideration, and neuer ought to freedily cured cafe. It is the difeafe it felfe, which con- be dallyed withall : but if they can be cu- and no way

Of fuch as are more modeft in com.

not equall in delayed.

red.

Chap.9.

Of Ingratitude to Physicions.

world by their confuled fitians doe abuse the world, that men may well be cured without them; nay, much better and fooner: and they doe nothing else but deale confusedly. Wee haue already sufficiently confuted this follie, by the facred authority of Ecclefiasticus. Notwithstanding, I will borrow one similitude more from that famous (and as much wronged) Militarie profession, our Arte holding therein equall comparison. Some places doe gladly yeeld themselues to the belieger, in regarde hee hath cutte off all their victualls and prouision. Others, at the very first view of the Cannon: Other at the first assault: And contrariwise, some there are that remain impregnable. Now, if we should argument in this manner lwe daily see places, that yeelde themselves without enforcing : what neede is there then of besieging, affaulting, fighting, ruinating the walles or any other hostile acte? What neede we to make warr e on Towne or Cittie; when (many times) wee see them voluntarily submitte themfelues? It is then but an abuse, and a foolifh idle expence to the country (how feditious foeuer it be) to haue Souldiers, Artillerie, and any other furniture for warre: where kich employment is counted a meere invention, and cheating of the people, who live free from such molestation, and all goes well with them. To our purpose then. If all places be

red, to procure it with all possible speede,

Another point of calumny, is that Phy-

or so soone as may be.

feeble, and no relistance is made, by men well munited, and prouided with courage, and other things requifite for their defence; those places may easily yeelde themselues. As the like doe light diseales, against which needeth no force of no table remedies: but many times do weare away of themselues : yea, and sometimes the very strongest, as burning seauers, when there is no great munition within the body to entertaine them, but that the naturall forces make worthy relistance, against the insolencie of the cuill. Otherwife, there is neede of fuccour, to employ batterie, and all kindes of the best remedies : albeit often it commeth fo to paffe, that all these doe advantage nothing, the difeafe remayning still incurable.

What benefite is it to forrow then, or fay, that the partie might have beene better holpen without all this, or that the patient is meerly abused? Rather account parient is meerly abuted. Nature activities that truely for an abufe, if a man promifie refuted, ocure of a difease, which is held to be it the cure of a difease, which is held to be it the cure by curable: hee not knowing any remedie, that hath power fufficient to ouercome it: Euen as he shall be abused, that attempt eth to compell a Towne to yeelde, by blowes of his fifts, or to beate downe the walles with a harquebuze fhot: where the Cannon is rather too little, and no anfwerable engin or inftrument is to be had. Such are the notable abuses, & true cheateries, which Mounte-banke Emperickes deren about impose upon the people, promising the the country curing of all diseases, and more then all many times. Wel may it be faid, that they abuse the world, and not naturall Physicians, being learned, expert, and approued honest men. ng piuda n

CHAP. VIII.

MThat it is neither sinne, or any acte ill done. to call for the Physition, and to vse his re-medies, when men are diseased.

Here is an other kinde of er-ror grounded on the foolish superfittion of some Ideats, who thinke it an offence to God; if they call for the Phyfitian, to cure their harms & ficknes ; faying, It is to contradict, and oppose our felues Curion Con against the will of God, who hash wifted combestuse them with such an affliction, and onely for find not their good : because , by chastifing the bodie, the foule is purged from finne. Adding further, as maister Guydo Chauliac declareth in his fingular chapter. God hath fent it me, their nice a as he pleased, and he will take it from mee. when he pleaseth, the name of God be bleffed, Amen. Referring their health and recouerie(wholy) to the intercession of he Saints and the Saints of Paradife, making Vows, Almes, Prayers, and Pilgrimages, &c.

This opinion most erroneous, is easily refuted, by that which wee haue alreadie alleadged, out of the Booke of Ecclesiasticus, where he piously exhorteth the sicke (and with great wisedome) To retoncile The saided himselfe first to God, whome bee hath offen. ded : and after, to give way to the Phylition, to every lid whom God bash created, & given bim know-

Wherethe

It is most true, that God sendeth afflichions for our chasticement, and hath made vs fubicct vnto them, because wee should acknowledge our owne infirmities. From membriner of high by fuch him also proceedes health and reconstrict by those means which he hath ordered in nature: giving vertue to plants and other creatures, to ouercome and expell difeafes: ordaining the Science of Physicke,& the Apothecaries skill to that effect, even as well as Tillage and husbandrie, ordayned for the fustentation of men, and support of this fraile and mortall life.

> Well may wee fay then, that thefe are the meanes which ought not to be defoifed; for, a wifeman will no way difdayne them. Otherwise it is to tempt God, as if (vainely) wee would have him to worke myracles, according to our appetite. For, he that faith , If God will that I (ball be healed of this sickenes. I shall be healed, without ving the Physicion: And if I must die, the Physition can not (ane mee . This is cuen as if hee should say; If I must yet line a yeare longer, and that it be fo appointed by God : I shall (afely line without eating or drinking, and then fuch expences may well bee pared. For if I must live (o long, it is impossible that I (bould die before although I neither eate nor . An extraordinarie follie and rafhness. for a man to promife to himfelf, that God will worke a miracle vppon him; euen to tempt him by fuch an effay having foode fit for him, and appointed by God for the nourishment of his body. Is not this meetly tempting of God, to trie whether hee will worke against the order of nature, or no.? He may fuffer him to die in this follie by meere extreamitie of hunger , and the poore Idiot (hall then finde by effect, that he vainely collected this fantafficke brutalitie in his minde, that God should maintaine him in life, without receiving fuftenvation. If God will he can doo for but we know the ordination of his owne will, for will not do all men to make vid of his bleffings in their foode; whereto we are to keep vs, and not muthereby, to feeke after other extraordinarie means, which are voknowne to vs. and not to bee imployed, according to our prefuming appetites.

So flandeth the cafe of Phylicke . appointed by God for the health of the fick. and confernation of them in found condi-

ledge, to be glorified in his wonderfull works | tion. For, who foeuer will be cured other wife, and hath gotten an opinion, that if he must have health, he may have it with God, for Beneout helpe of the Physition, who hard the fit of the fitted only meanes to doe it : he tempteth God; and that no and expects, that hee fibuild perfourthe a man flould miracle, foolifuly contemning the hattirall course, which God ordained against difeafes . Euch as if his house were on fire and hee will fuffer none to quenchit with water, faying : If God will that it (balbe far med, the fire will be quenched by other means.

and healthful

CHAP. IX.

Concerning the ingratitude and onkindnes in sicke and diseased persons, towardes

Ngratitude is most odi-ous both to God & meti, and hath insily bin repu-puted for so notorious a vice: as he that speaketh of Ingratitude, speakes of all the euills in the world . And this fin is fo common amongst men & especially in the cafe of Physicions; as I am amazed many times, that any generous heart will be a Physition : his profession beeing euerle where fubicate calumny and colline germaine to Ingratitude.

But there are fome friends, men of reafon, honest and acknowledging, who can Outward pro-yet cleanely couler this offence: feeming festors of lone willing in any goodnes towards the profoffion and not altogither fo withankered as others are. For there are fome fo com- in acte. please in comtelle, as they have protefled publikely, & very often : that (next vnder God) they hold their lines of fuch & fuch Physicions: And, haning acknowledged (according to their faculty) the labor and industry of the Physition will also confesse freely, that they are vitable to recompende him with all their goodes! as therein they freak no more then truth. For if they owe sheir lines to the Phylidions Riccour, and life is of greatest valew about all their worth then all goodsin is not in their powerto discharge the world. that debr, though they gave him all their RibRance Later .

But the whitefelt poynt of recompence. kn their thankful processitions to the Phyl fleidn; faying they flahid obliged to him.

all in ceremo nv.but little

That physiti ons doe nothing elfe but abule the dealing.

The Countr that is free

from warre,

hath no need

of weapons.

Another allu

fion to Milita ry feruice.

Sickneffes in cident to the body with their apt coparatiues.

Wherein the cheefelt point of recompece gratifying Phylitions.

The commo words of mamy ingratefull men in thefe wretched is even as much, as if a man should fnatch a fword out of anothers hand, that stoode ready to kil him therewith; or a strangling cord, by which he meant to end his daies, Were it your cases stood you not beholding to that man for your life? And could (all you had) make him sufficient recompence? Some will fay, I have well payed my Physition, yea, ouer-payed him: I haue giuen him fo much euery day, I owe him nothing. If he have made me well, I have as wel requited him. Alas poore man, that which is given to the Physition, is a small acknowledgement, for so great a good as thou hast received: for thou payest or recompencest him with the fruit of his own labour: If hee preserved thee from death, (as happily he did, the grace of God affifting)there is no equal recompence in thy power, except thou expose thy life for him, as he made no spare of his for thee. In this maner thou remainest (for ever) indebted

How the words of fauing life,and preteruing from death, arc harfn to many nice hearers.

Cures perio med by phy-ficke in extr mity of dan-

The words of

and thus thou confesses truely thy obligation, when (with an intire and vpright heart) thou makest such an acknowledgement to him. I know there are some, who wil thinke these words to be hard, and harsh; when I fay, he faued thy life, and preferued thee from death; notwithstanding, it is discerned cuidently. Put the cale, that a man being wounded, lofeth his bloud in extreme abundance, and doubtleffe dyeth instantly sexcept the bloud be stated he that puts his finger into the wound, & thereby ceaffeth bleeding; is not he worthily faid, that hee faucth life? As much, and farre more doth he, that restraynes it by medcins, and fo confolidates the wound, as (otherwife) it could not be healed. As much also doth he that restrayneth a fluxe in the belly; an extreame vomiting, or fome other pernicious and deadly vacuitie: Or (conueniently) healeth a Pleurifie: Or him, whom the Squinzie hath fluffed and balfe strangled. As much alfo (questionlesse) doth he, that catcheth a child out of the fire, where present succour. No lesse account ought to be made of Physitions, who make prouision against inward enilles, and fuccour nature fecretly by diners means, the power whereof ap. peareth by worthy effects; because they are (as Herophilas faith) The hands of God.

he had beene burnt to death, but for fuch

and are indebted to him for their life. This | For he telecueth and draweth from deadly dangers, by the means of aptremedies. which the Physition vseth in needefull time. Is it not then a worke more dinine then humane, and can no way be fufficiently recompenced? whereof Ecclefiasticus ipake very well. The Science of Physicke, and knowledge in the Physition Shall exalt his head, and make him admirable among Princes : the Physition (ball be honoured of Kings. These are the principall acknowledgements due vnto him , honour and gratitude, as a certaine obligation : and not perswasion, that money can returne him fufficient, or equall recompence.

But there are some, that doe deale farre worfe, who, after they have beene healed, Ingratinales by the means of good and loyall fuccour:
can not endure to betolde, that they are hatching by the means of good and loyall fuccour: beholding to the Physition, but growe presetued hatefull against him, that saued their lives. Oh extreame ingratitude ! but yet not only in these our dayes : For Hyppocrates, in his Epistle to Damagetes, maketh Democritus to speake in this manner. I thinke (faith he) O Hippocrates, that in our Science, many things are subject to obloquie and ingratitude. For, ficke persons (if they escape) referre their recoverie to the Gods, or elle to Fortune, or elfe to their owne good complexion , robbing the Physicion of all honour: Whome (oftentimes) they have afterwards. beeing angrie and offended, that anie should thinke them beholding, or indebted to him.

Moreover, they will not attest or confesse their obligation: but rather are well pleased; that ignorants in the Arte (who neverthelesse live by the Profession) should be of the same semper, kicking envioully against him, &c.

This suiteth (best of all other) with these our dayes. For, the most part of learndings ficke people now referre theyr recouerie time of the wholly, to some he-Saint or the-Saint of not aloted paradife, to whome they vowe and deuote themselues.

And although (many times) they do not perfourme their vowes; yet can they follow that which the Italian fayd: Paffato lo malo gabate lo Santo : The discase being past, the Saint is cheated. Even (for all the world) as men make great promifes to the Physition; so long as the extreamitie of anguish lasteth, protesting to giue him mountaines and maruailes, yea, to pay all in Golde and precious Stones, or elfe, a good pension all his life time.

Chap. 6.8

All means de nicd, to rob the Physicion

ded to be doone him; but when the patienrommeth to health, then hee is of a quite contrary minde : Eyther, that the Physition perfourmed not the care, but that it might have beene doone without him. Or elfe, from the follemne vowe he made, came the cause of his recouerie. with the good attendance of his Keepers, and divers comfortable broaths. Or elfer from the Apothecarie, to whome hee rather will attribute all the fuccesse rather theu to the Physition; although thelother did nothing but by his direction Elfe, hee will attribute it voto the goodneffe of his owne complexion tor to fome cafuall channog by fome diforder in him committed and doone : fome of their must have the reference of his healing: So that the Physicion shall furely hand the smallest part and rather none at all of the honour, gratitude, kindnesse and recompence. And as concerning promises, the man

many fuch in eeing with

In briefe, much goodnesse is pretenbeeing recourred, then he confidereth, what charges the fickeneffe hath coft him; how long hee hath depended uppon the cure, and what an hinderance it hath bin vnto him. Thus his debt to the Physition is forgotten, and to him hee impureth a part of his expences, reputing all fuperfluous, and keeping his bedde ouer deale leffer charges . So that (in his account) the Phylition (hould be indebted to him: and if hee could finde Judges anfwerable to his minde, having judiciall authoritie; he would have him condemned in the greatest part of his expences. Heere is good acknowledgement of a benefice received; was there ever the like in-long, hoping hee should have beene restored much sooner, and with a great gratitude ?

Surely, I can compare it with none other, then as if a man should strangle himfelfe by despayre; or otherwise, and some one comming to fuccour him, did cut the cord : when the other (maliciously) afterwards, should make him pay for cutting the halter. Or an other man, ready to be drowned in the water; any man endenoring to face him, put his own life in perill(by chance)teare a lapper of his garment; and the drowned man (after) to enforce repayment for his torne garment. So, they which should be payers, doe become demaunders i confessing nevther gree nor grace, for all the good fer? uice perfourmed, vnto thom : but rather affect, that an ignorant variet; or fome charre-chamber woman; procured their healthfull recovery, then the cure and industrie of the painefull Physicion. And I gueffe this to enfue from one of thefotwo ned realons reasons, eyther that they are so dull and of this base fortish, as they have not the capacitie of well deservers comprehension. Or elfe, knowing it well enough; they are ashamed and confount ded, for not having the will to acknowle ledge and confesse it . Well may I then conclude, as I beganne this Chapter : Ingratitude is most contemptible to God and mensors as

Two imagi-

CHAP. VI.

Oth South in C

That the wulgare fort doe account it nothing, if they be not cured or healed contrary to their owne opinion . That the latest applyed remedies have all the henour: And happy is the Physition that commethed the declination of the difease.

Vr next enluing errour, is the former, and (often-times) is the caufe of the sayde Ingratitude. For, if a sicke person bee not healed against his owne opinion, or of fuch as come to visite him; there is nothing at all doone, and therefore they know not how to conceine of the Physition.

Now, to heale or reconer a man a- Recourty cogainst opinion, consistesth of two partes: trary to opinion, is distinguished two were) at vnawares. As, if the difease last wayes. commonly with fo much accesse, or so many dayes; to cure it in much leffer then the difspace. For otherwise, say they : Well fir, the malady hath made his full course, and yet the Physition hath doone little or no feruice at all as well might it have beene done within the same time. Poore judgements, doe yee not beholde, that in one and the same kinde of infirmitie, some are fhort, and others long? There are tertish Feauers or Agues, and of conti-

770 Of tertian

Feuers, and

unuance.

them of con-

The fick man

be well done,

iwerable to

to cure ficke

men,except

they be repu-

or very neere

his owne opi-

accounteth

nething to

nuance also, which last and hold for a moneth or two,, you imagine, that the Tertian should not exceed (at the most) a seuenth accesse, which are fourteene daies, and the continuer to confift of feauen, eleauen, or foureteene, as you have heard Physitions speake, which is the tearme of exquilite feauers. But you know not that of a thousand, we shall hardly meete with two fuch , because the most part are confused and mingled, whereby their tearme is much more lengthened, as in all difeafes engendred of diners humours.

You imagine (and it is true) that if the tettian Ague doe end within three weeks, or a moneth, beeing well beaten by our remedies: that (but for fuch encountring) would have endured two or three moneths, as hath bin seene in many others. Was it not well rebated, and cunningly out-stept for the patient? Yet nothing at all is doue (faith he) if much more be not performed, then he pretended. For he is of the mind, that a Physition may handle fickenesse, as men doe Stirrop-leathers, in lengthening or shortening them as they lift. The acte is not sufficient to abate or extenuate a quarter, a third part, or the moitie of the paine, and to hinder or appeafe those divers accidents, which comif it be not anmonly happen in all kindes of difeafes delinering found and probable reasons, for the best account that can be possible, and the charges equall to his owne defire.

Yet this is falling into an other part of vulgar opinion, as namely, that all is no-2. It is nothing thing worth Sir, except ve can heale fuch as are held for dead. For, admit the ficknes to be deadly, as all difeafes are which we call eager (that is to fay, cutting, goes on fwiftly, and is not without terrible accidents) if the patient or his visitants hold opinion, that this great danger may be recured, and it producto be for yet still nothing is done. Contrariwife, if the ficke man chaunce to die, then the Phylitian is in all the fault. For the affiftants were perfwaded (though the Physition found the contrarie in his prognosticke rule) that he might be recoucred. But if they imagine that a man will dye, or hold him alreadie for dead, then the Physition beholdeth great wisedome. For, though he doe nothing elfe, but appoynt Broaths for him, with some drogueries or confectious, e(albeit they are not to any purpole;) yet hath he performed a chiefe piece of work. Heere is a rare cure; hee hath recoucred fuch a man, given over for dead : he hath rayled him agayne: Oh, he is a great and worthy man, & pitty it is he should want.

The same Doctour, at the very same time, hath another patient, whose fickenes is not reputed deadly , because the ewill lies mote closely concealed. He takes verwereat payers to reftore his health, and ent, is not a to compasse his intent, imployeth all his warrant for skill and industry for the patients safety: all other in the like tile. whom he knoweth to be in greater daunger, then all the friends (flanding by) doe or can imagine. At the laft, he dyeth, quite contrary to their common opinion. Look then vpon Maister Physicion, his reputation is fodainely loft, and then they tell him: That hee meddleth with too many matters at once : The other man was much better gouerned. Thus, neuer is any thing doone of value, if it be not performed, against the hope and expectation of the vulgare.

An other errour propounded in this Chapter is the attribution of the fucceffe proposition in the cure, to the latest administred remedies: euen as they referre the occasion of ficknes, to the last hurtfull acte that the party committed. As if a man had fed on fome fruit, salad, or other thing leffe ordinary, & (soon after) the party falls ficke, of fome disease more then of a months continuance) yet that must be the only cause: longer cont neuer remembring other precedent diforders, which procured the greater part in preparation. For, euill humors will have a meeting together by little and little, till they come to a certayne quantity, against which nature hath power to refift no longer. Buen as wee fee a Glasse (set in the raine) to fill it felfe by many drops of water, folong as till they come to the brim: but being full, the least drop then following, makes an ouer-flow. Even fo, the least addition, to that which nature hath alrea- fufficient of a dy supported, makes hir to finke vnder the felfe, that ouer-plus: as a yong Mule, vied to a common charge: how little focuer is added to deinburdif her vsuall burden, the is (by no meanes) eales. able to beare.

It was not then the last morfell, meate, or disorder, that did the harme, the precedent riots had perfourmed their parts bespecially restaurative and cordiall things fore. Even as in the felling of a tree, 100. Sickneffes they have

Chap. 7.

fris not the laft applicati on in physick that is the

jeuts(giuen with an Axe) appeare to be in / certaine remedies, are robbed of their due vaine, and ftil it ftands; for tis the ffundred and eleauenth stroake that overthrows it. Now, if a man that fay, the last odde blow did the deed should he not do great wrog to all the rest? As also, when a strong Tower hath endured 1000. discharges of the canon, and at the last shot of all, it falleth: Did the last do any more then the first It is all one in judging of remedies, which abate the harme, and expell fickeneffe out of the body. The last application (what socuer it was)may have the honor by vulgar censure, speaking according to their capacity: but what was the labour and paines perfourmed before, of purging, glyfters, drugges of divers kinds, administred both within and without, did all thefe nothing In the end, forme one thing is added, and then the man is made well . Poore idle opinion, if this last admired acte had beene done at the first , it had ferued to no yfe at all: but after the hot feruice of fo many other remedies, which controuled and difheartned the enill, thaking, and renting it from the root; the least thing in the world

Like to poore belieged people, no longer able to hold out; let but a man be flain among them, and they yeeld chemfelues immediately. Shall it therefore be favd. that all the battery, all the affaults, cutting them off from virtailes, and other good means for conquering; thele ferued to no purpose at all? But only he did the deed, that discharged the last Musker; and yet (notwithstanding) he killed but one man: If he had flaine a chiefe Commaunder, it had bin a matter of much more moments Euen fo, abriefe or ticket, hung about the necke; or drugges tied about the wrift of aman; shall have the honour of healing Agues, affirming, that they could not bee cured by any other applyed good orders, directions, remedies, and great medcines. This is all one, as if the difeate hung but by a twine threed, which may eafily bee broken by perswafion and opinion, and thereupon the ficke man reflored : but if this had beene applyed in the beginning; the patient could not have beene cured, by an hundred times as many perfwafeons, or the very strongest imaginations. tite, but not Perswasion & imagination may do somwhat in healing, but not all, nor alone of themselves. Thus you see how true and could then quite displace it.

honour, by judging ill of the fuccesse, be-cause men would be cured sudenly, before any thing at all is done to effect it : otherwife, all indeuor else is but in vaine, & ferueth to no purpose. He only is the author of the happines, after whom (immediatly) a man findes himselfe to be recovered.

And bicause it is commonly said (which is the fourth poynt of this Chapter) Happy is the Physitton, that comes to the detlination med a happy of the difeafes we must imagine, that what man, that focuer was done before , health flood at ending of an the doore; tarrying but for his entrances infirmity. healths introduction is attributed to him. And although that Physitian shall do nothing at all nor appoint or give direction; yet (fay the people) he in the cause of the happines: and if he had bin font for at the beginning, the licke man had fooner bin fet on foot. But if the Physicion be wife & honest, he will not be bonneted with this No honest mi honor, confenting to thiculth larceny and base preferrer detraction, against them that well entrea of another ted the patient, & (vnder God) were truly the Authors of his testoring : Rather he putation. will reforme those poore opinionists, by thewing them that the pecidents formerlypalt, were of the nature of the fickenes, which hath had fuch a courfe; and that thy good directions already administred) all fucceeded wall, and to the advantage of the patient of the region of the land

. If he doe otherwife, and attribute that honor to himfelfe, or accept it from their vulgar ignorance the commits a fhamefull wrong, and she like lewell may afterwards man wrong, hang at his owne care. For, of what fuf may meete ficiency or reputation fobuer hebeit may himfele. fo come to passe, that another Physicion shall be called, uppon the ending of some cure by him taken in hand at the first; and he may require him inche same kinde. Euery man thereforeigught to be wellad. A duty necefuifed, and honeftly content himfelfe with red among fuch honor as is due unen him ; bantob learned and bing his colleague ar fellow-labourds in fitions, painefull endeauours ly relding good and faithfull restimony of ech others laudable performed actions, Accounting bimfelfe happy (neuertheleffs), that he came to the declination of the difeate; where, taking no more pains, yether hared a pardinalie gratefull acceptation, due vnto them that were employed from the fiff beginning.

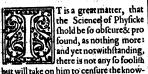

D. Jobid, a Habinoo soaq begoilad Vvv 2 CHAP.

Men repute themiclues in dicious and wife in their owne conscit.

CHAP. XI.

Against such as censure and indge of Physitions (ufficiencie, by their successe: which oftentimes is more due to a happy chance. then skill or knowledge.

Badly can a blinde man judge of colours, no more can a foole of Physicke, ledge of a Phylition. To iudge foundly & juffly, concerning the fufficiencie of anie man: it behooneth him (at the leaft) to be of the same profession, and to know somthing therein too. It must needs then be great rathnesse, for men that vnderstand nothing in Physicke, to enterprize to ludge, who are the best and most skillfull Phylitions. Their eye and confure waites on the fuccesse of their practise; & if som one heale (by chance, or fodamely, as we faid before:) he is censured for a fingular Physition, although he did not any thing deseruing speech -- On the contrarie, the Phylition little knowes, whether the patient shall die, of linger long it the agonie, which the vulgar effeeme lighteft of all. Modelty will neagr fay, fuch a mais more or leffe skilfulf if he be repured learned among men of knowledge : but will rather fay he is not happy among fickemen, and confeduently, no great Physicion; cuer-more censuring by the successor.

there is a happinede and unhappinede, & (25 the Italian faireds) Labasna è la male for to Good for inni mid bad. And the bell happinelle for the Phylition is not to be miled or employed for fuch as are certain guently vpon abdic For there is no reputation to bee had no, not in respect or friendship ; nepercheleffe he fast be fure notto efcape blame although he hath done his very vtremoli endenous? And ought to bee no leffe effectmed then if the patient had efcapied Buen as we thay fay of a Captain. that thall defend a Town to the very latest Effore and labour having eaten up all the

horfes, Affes, Dogs, Cats, Rats, which the befieged place could afford, hides, parch-

. It is vindoubtedly true, that in al things

ments, and other vile foode (as is fayde of them of Sanferre, in the yeare 1573, who fed upon the very tiles and flates, making bread of them, as I know not how.) Hauing loft the most part of his men, the wal all battered, and no meanes wherby to refift any longer; conftrainedly (in the end) renders up the Towne. Shall hee deserve a Generaling leffe commendation (nay rather not farre faue a Town more) then he that faued his own towne, ble to with being well munitioned and provided of al | fland all res things needfull which he preferued with- flance. out any paine, & very eafily might do fo?

If this case should bee controuersed, it were easie to be discided; prouided, that the censurer be a man of judgement, and not transported with affection; as the most part of men are, in being wilfully blinded. Whereuppon ensueth, that they will not such said bee perswaded, but that there must bee a definite their owner. fault in the Physicion, if the patient (of personale, whom he is most carefull and diligent) a- wilfully bismend not as they defire and hope. Nor ded. doth this case differ from the Captaines. that was the Gouernor of the loft Town, against whom remaineth continuall rancour and discontentment: because he did not fufficiently forefee the fleges affaires: but thus is all his paines baffulde in particularities of obinions, even to the valewe of a straw. Whereas contrarywise, he shall be accounted for a valiant man (although hee bee the bafest villaine in the world) if hee have but good fuccoffe in his enterprizes.

Affuredly, it is no meane matter, for a man to bee happie in his attemptes ; but this happine fe dependeth not uppon his laisagear matteriors knowledge or infificiency, because it is an man to be especiall gift of God; withour which, he happy a far may be called to succour slich as shall es- effection cape, continuing and effectuating the vertues given to remedies; as allo, in not being called to fuch as shall dye, to whome the greatest paines and skill profiteth nothing. It is then verie ill done, to censure the fufficiency of a Physition by successe, which is more due to happinelle, and to the grace of God, then to all the knowledge that can be in man.

And yet wee may not from hence inferre, or conclude, that it is all one, whatfoeuer Phylition is called, to fay; If God will that the ficke man shall recouer, hee will bestow his bleffing on the remedies, if they bee ministred by the most ignorant

y best Phy G

Accufations

For fuch as delpife all good meanes ordayned, for deir health.

inpuration aid ypon di ers other a denta by ig norance of fuch as are man in the world, and they shall prooue happy. It is very true, but yet it is to tempt God, as we have formerly alleadged. As if we would have him, that of frones, he should make bread; and of a remedie to no purpose, make it profitable. It is a common faying: Helpe thou, and God will afift thee. Let all the best meanes bee sought that may be vied, and referre the iffue to God, in whose hands are all things.

CHAP. VIII.

Against fuch men, to whom all things are filfeeted, and Physitions Saundered, in the most part of those accidents, which happen

Ne of the very great paines, which a Phylition (beeing the most generous, and of best spirit) hath, is, to sup-Ne of the very great paines, which a Phylition (beeing port the reproaches, and false accusations of the sieke person, or of his affiftant friends, who are fo voreasonable; that all the accidents which do happen in fickeneffe, they attribute them to the remedies; and those of good succeffe, they doubt whether they are due to the Physition, or no.

For first of all, when they see the person very weak, they accuse the abstinence and paucitie of food, appointed to him by the Physition: or else letting himbloud, or the purgation, and that they are the caufes of the weakenes; imputing no vertue to the remedies, which (in diminishing the euill and bad humours) fuftained the ficke body in farre greater strength; for, but by the vic of them, his estate would be a great deale weaker. That this must needs be so. do we not fee fome, who, condemning abstinence, bloudletting and purgatives, become in farre more feeble condition? If they that make no vse of such remedies. maintaine themselves in greater strength then other; one then might better fay, that the remedies are the occasion of weakenes but on the contrary, we behold those despisers to be more feeble, and (in the end) to die fooner then the other.

So is it of the other accidents, imputed vniuftly to the remedies; as vomiting, flux of the belly, distaste of meates, alteration, paine, want of fleepe or watching, raning and fuch like, happening by reason of the disease properly, & from the nature thereof: but not from applyed remedies as ig-norant people suppose. For, if after the patient hath taken fomething, by ordination of the Phylition, or onely lome marter is applyed vnto him and then (quickely after) he hath a casting , or fluxe in the belly: this was the cause, by reason he did it not before. After fuch a medicine receiued, this Syrrope, that Restaurative, this Cordial potion is fo diffastefull. as nothing can be more, alteration hath made the impressure far greater then be-

It is true, that thefe occurrences happen after, but not thereby caused. And is it not as ill argued, if a man should say: Since it fnowed, my cloake grew more torne then without any it was before; therefore the fnow was the reason. cause thereof. Or otherwise; Since I fed on that Capon, I have had the head-ach. the Collicke, or fluxe in the belly, therefore the Capon caused al these accidents. Sillie capacities, what focuer commethafter, proceeds not from all that which harh preceeded. The fluxe in the belly, the cafting, distasting, alteration, lacke of fleepe, rating, and the like other causes (to you vnknowne) which produce fuch effects in their due time! was, as the learned Physition knew how to direct the medicine, by breaking the course of the disease, foreseeing the dangerous accidents, and diminithing them. All which not with standing, in despight of what hee hath doone; the fickeneffe will make his part good against him, and encrease it selte to a certain point commonly called, the estate of the disease: but that may grow on more gently, then is to be permitted.

And if alteration, distaste, and other accidents doe encrease, after the vse of some medicaments well appointed : beleeue affuredly, that they are from the difeafes further progression, notwithstanding all the re-trenchings and reliftances formerly made. Credite also, that the sickenesse would have beene more furious, and the aforenamed aecidents leffe supportable, if no meanes had beene made against them : as wee fee by good experience, in fuch as mif-prife those remedies . For if killeth many, it be true, that many do die through want and divers of helpe (which is a Maxime receyued of helpe. generally) it must needes fall out then;

true fence or

Of idle Aru-

When the fickneffe is

Vvv 3

Successe of

practile is the

vulgars direction in célure

on the paine of any Physi-

Good and ill hap awaiteth vpenthe acti-

Chap. 12.

The policy of Genello, to make good what hee pro

that they have had more accidets, & more tediousnes, then such as escape in the like perils. There is no need then of suspecting, or calumniating the remedies, which have bin followed by some accidents, olde or new, and then to fay; This frontall (after the vie of it) he hath flept leffe, or raued

774

Faults are ca fily found, bu

few good rea-

fone can be thewne for them.

Of divers er

counters, no

forefeene or

preuented.

Nature will

haue her fre

passage in the body of man, beside all application of physicke.

way to be

more: for the frontall was no cause thereof, but the fickenes it felfe, that could not by the best meanes then be tamed.

Next, after the Cordiall potion, he had the hiccoke, the diffenterie, or the cramp. It is very true but this taile belongs not to this Calfe, as we fay in the common Prouerb, this is another maner of ftraine. I deny not, but remedies may be threwd occafions fometimes, for they may be ill ordered; and but badly to the purpose. But Leuer prefume, that the Physicion should be learned, diligent and affectionate : of all which he should continually relish, for the better interpretation of his ordinaces, and receuing them in the more respect; attributing rather to the difease, or the expresse will of God, those accidents which happen (be they new or olde) then to the remedies. For there are diners sodaine incounters, and which cannot any way bee foreseene, to make a guarde or preuenti-

on of them : as sometimes of a very light

medicine, we shal proceed so far as bloud,

because the patient was then vppon the poynt, of having the fluxe in his belly. The Phylition, who can not divine, especially on a neutrall body, neither sicke nor found, that keeps not in bed, because he would be no ficker then he lifted : if nature make some cuacuation of it selfe; hee (knowing it needfull) makes his medicine light enough. It hapneth hereupon, that after the operation, nature paffeth on further, and makes a flux in the belly, which continueth inordinately: because the expultrix vertue, being pricked bythe eagre and mordicant excrements, cannot of her selfe restraine them. And the matter being corrofine, cuts out the way as it paffes along, that bloud enfueth of it. The medicine must endure the accusation of al this, which (notwithstanding) gaue but two or three small sieges : all the rest was but a furrounding, & as a meere torrent of humours, gathered together of longer time. As somtime it comes to passe, that a man pulling but one stone out of a wall; a fa-dome or two follows after, because it was fo old and ruinous. Against a strong wall. there needs a Cannon or double cannons but for a weake and feeble wall, a fieldepeece there will make a great breach.

And also, to judge well of the effects of medicins; their true condition & estate must first be knowne, which none can so well do as the Physition, and not to judge only by the effects. For it during the operation or foone after we fee that happen. which is not of that nature, caried or forced from the medicine; it is not to be attributed thereunto. No more then as if a child, should give a blow with his fift to a drunken reeling man, and hee should sodainely fall to the ground. It was not the stroke of the hand, that had such strengthi but the wine or strong drinke which had ouercome him, whereby the fal happened Neuerthelesse, some one may reply by the felfefame comparison, that in like maner, to a ficke man (very weake) a light menet, to a licke main (very woman, and the power to obtain given it hath the power to ouerthrow him to the ground. Then may of physics we well couple therewith this other comparison; If a man should give a fillop on the arme, to a woman beeing great with child, immediatly after the should miscarry. Hapned this by the fillop? The arme is far enough from the belly, & the fillop too light to enforce it: It is to be understoode then, that from some other inward occasion, this fo fodaine mif-hap received fuch vigour. Euen fo, many other things doe meet together of themselves, not any way depending one vpon another; but cafually & accidentally, & the causes (commonly) neuer preteded or by any means differend.

CHAP. IX.

That there are more store and plentie of Physitions, then of anie other fort of peo

Finderecorded, that Alphonfo de EHe, Duke of Ferrara, being on a time in familiar coference, on a time in familiar coference, floor mosel demanunded; of what trade or by the Nation Profession there was not to the profession to the profession there was not to the profession there are not to the profession that the profession the profession that the profession th profession there was most people. One Dukeof For answered, of Cordwainers or Shoomakers; another faide, of Tailers; another, of Carpenters; another, of Mariners; and another, of Lawyers. Gonelle, a famous

must be knose rather then sheir effects

Many are mediers in gi-ung councell but fewe or none can give right directi-fireet, going a foft and gentle pace, euerie man he met withall, stil gaue him counsel for feuerall receipts, and no one agreeing with another ; yet fill each friend affured him, that (what he spake off) had bin approoued certains and infallible; and fill he wrote downe every mans name. Being come to the low Bulwarke of the Pallace; hee was round engirt with many people there attending a because he was most familiarly knowne to them all: and everie man pittying to see him thus distressed, (vnderstanding the reason of his pain) aduised him to many receiptes, which each man auouched to be the verie best in the World: he writing downe their Names, gaue them infinite thankes at his depar-

Being entred into the Dukes chamber. his Excellencie no fooner fawe him, but running to him, faide: How now Gonello, what aylest thou? In pittifull manner hee replyed (cuen as if he had bene scarse able to speak :) Ah my Lord, I haue the toothake, in the most cruell manner that cuer man had. Whereuppon, his Excellencie

Buffone or lefter, replied, that there were staids vnto him; Alas poore Gonello, I know ther kinde of people : and waged agayoft the Duke his mafter (who was far off from any fuch conceite) that he wold approug his wordes, within the compasse of foure and twenty houres. On the morrow morning, Gonello went from his lodging, with a great Night-cap on his head, and a Kerchiefe binding vp his chin, and then a huge hatte courring them all, beside a warme cloake about his body. In this furnishment, hee tooke the way towards the Pallace of his Excellencie, along the streete called Larne des Anges. The first man he met withall, demanded of him, what he ayled ? Whereto hee answered, that he had an outragious pain in his teeth. Omy good friend (fayde the other) I know the best receit in the world for it telling him the matter & the means. Gonello wrote downe his name in his Tables, making thew, as if he had fet downe the receipt. Not two paces further had he gone, but hee found two or three talking together: who demaunding of him the fame question; each man declared to him a seuerall remedy; he writing downe their names, as he did the first.

As he held on his way along the fame

more store of Physicions, then of any o- a thing that will helpe thy paine presently, yea, if thy teeth were spoiled and rottens Meffer Antonio Muffa Braffonolo, my Phyfition, neuer found a better in all his pra-Cife; take it, and it will immediatly helpe thee. Sodainely, Gonello threw off all his fickely outfide, faying out slowde : How now my Lord, what are you become a Physition too? See heere my roll of Phyfitions, how many I have met withall, betweene mine owne Lodging, and your Court : they are in number almost two hundred, and yet I have past through but one streete only. I will gage as much more to my wager, to finde aboue ten thousand in this Cittie, if I should but go thorow it, as I have done this one streete: finde you out as many more my Lord, of some other profession.

A history well met withall to our purpose, and verie true; for, euery man will be a Physition for one thing or other, and there are very fewpcople, but they pretend to knowe enough, nay more then some Physitions do. I set aside some Chirurgeons, Barbers, Apothecaries, Nursses, or attendants vppon ficke persons, wife women, Mountebankes, and other Emperickes, euen to very Merchants, who, to make some profession of a part of Physick become meere Polypragmons; pretending to vndersland more then Maister * Mouche, making great outward shewes, lugler, a and medling with many difeafes, accompanied with shamelesse assurances, and no meane promises. I would leave them, but that they are fuch a goodly number, and daily they encrease by multitudes, out of the basest mechanical trades; as it is most lamentable to behold, and many lines perish by their meanes. There are divers of them, that will Among verie controule the directions of a Physition, base mechanipresuming to handle the pacients pulse, there are pler and observe his Vrine. Delivering theyr in there are printed by of these own aduices, quite contraty to that which Phylicke prothe Physition appointed. If there be any, fessions, leawho are better aduised heerein; I thinke owne, because the number of them to be fo fmall, as a they cannot man had much rather write of those prefumptuous companions, making vp a role of fo manie vndertakers, as (indeede) they would appeare to be infinite. Some of the are fo bold and impudent, as before the learned Physition (yea, euen in his pre-

Eucry man periwadeth ledge, then di-

in France.

The fool cam

taken, and no more: That it is not good to purge, the feafon is not proper, but fitter for nourishing; when to minister restoratives, diets, coullifes, preffis, Orges mondes, &c. which must be given by their order, or elfo the patients friends will nes uer be quiet. In briefe, the great controller, euen the

the patient should be let blood, or no and when he bleedeth, that fo much may bee

prime and cheefest ludge of all, is, the ig-The verie norant vulgar, most vniust and vnindiffechiefe contro rent, who (as Terence faide) Thinke nothing ler of all Arte and knoledge so be well done, but what they do themselves. And if their aduice be not followed, it is attributed to the Patients death, or to the prolonging of his ficknesse, if that some other courle is nottaken. Let the but imagine, and the Patient bee perswaded (by them) that it must be so; all other proceeding is absolutely erroneous, and thinges elfe is blamed, be they applied to the true purpose indeede. Is not this a miserable case? In other Arts, which are lesse obfeure and difficult, and all thinges (wellneere) apparant to enery eye; the Artezan is permitted to follow his owne mind. In Physicke, the most secret and hidden of all, and wherein the people cannot difcerne a ior; euery man will dominere,like Rats in straw. Nor shall wee cuer see better successe by the order of Nature, for the most part of diseases, in persons of degree, that have great visitation of followers : but alwayes they have health foonest of whom the least account is made.

CHAP. XIIII.

That it is not for the ficke Patients profite. to have many Physitions, as in ordinarie: but one Physition sufficeth, being asiduate and skilfull.

The Authour writeth heere to fuch as are Phyfitions in decde.

All Arts elfe

but Physicke,

ica to fomuch

controule &

obloquy.

His proposition may be vnderstood, by what we have lately faide, touching vulgar estimation of Physicions: but I would not be mifence) they will define opinion, whether skill, knowledge, and profession. It is velice patient should be let blood, or no and recessionable and necessary, that the adpice of many should bee had, in difficulties, and matters doubtfull concerning a fickeneffe. For /as the common faying is) Pource ves may fee more then two that is, Physician to fuppoling them all to fee clearly ; for, one another, can inay aduite one thing, and a contrary party another; whereby, their meeting and tient. agreement, isto the profit of the patient. But to have many Physitions, in ordinary (as it were) and all to have equall care of the ficke person; can no way bee for his good and profit. For, in eneric purpole, they may contradict one another in fome thing, or elfe about a matter indifferent, one in enuv of another, and more for ostentation then necessity.

Pliny did very well observe and note this writing thus. It neede not to be doubted, that Physicions (coucting reputation by some nouelty) make a (odaine Traffick of our fouls. Hence ensueth those miserable contestations, about sicke bodies; none of them beeing of one and the same opinion, because no repetition must be made. Thence came that superscription on the unhappy Tombe : I was spoilde by haning too many Physitions. Meaning thereby the Emperor Adrian, who (in dying) Adrian old cryed out: That the multitude of Physitions death be had kild him.

The reason of this mischeese is divers waies understood. As first, the enuy or ieloufie, which (commonly) one man beareth to another; especially such, as are the worst created, ambitious, and couetous, beyond the ordinary course of other is wo, ander Artesmen. For, it is viually seene . That by the door one Potter is enuious at another, according | doth go. to the ancient Adage. But much more (without comparison) the Physition, because he desireth, that the whole honour should be referred to him, of well predicting, well ordering, and well finishing the difeafe. Wherefore, hee cannot willingly endure, that any other should share of courtous a part with them. I fpeak of the conetous quarrellost ambirious man : who is likewife (comon- Physitions ly) quarrellous, a detractor, and insupportable.

You have fome men very modest, but yet icalous of the honor, which they conceine is due to them; chiefely, in fuch occasions, which they thinke may bee done Maken, because my meaning here proper- by themselves, as being cases light, comly is 3 of fuch as are truely Physitions, in mon, and ordinarie. They can bee well contented, not to be contradicted; & yet | notwithstanding, they will give confent, and yeelde to the defire or pleafure of the Patient, or those friends that are about him. But this is not for the ficke parties profit, as I have undertaken to prove. For although there be three or foure Phylirions; one affilting to another for cure of the man, being all modest, peacefull, and skilfull: yet notwithstanding, weeknowe not how to preuent and avoide, the most part of fuch inconveniences as I will fette downe, and are (oftentimes) ordinary. For I leaue to them, who have observed it by others, to judge how much this maner of proceeding is incommodious, and hurtfull to poore patients.

First, if there be but one or two Physi-

Of the first in convenience

by wultiplici-ty of Phyliti-

Chap. 14.

tions ordinarily employed: they will (no doubt) be most carefull, most diligent, most affectionate, to come off with theyr credit and honour. And yet one man alone, who shall have the charge layde on his shoulders, may be there much more attentiue, because the trust is wholly reposed in him, and all the worth must redound to him. If that man have a good heart, he will studie and labor, to do much better, then if he were conforted with another; confidering euermore(as he ought to do) that in all difficulties he may quickly haue counfell:

Another discommodity is, that manie Ofthe fecond Physicions can hardly meete together, to visit the sicke patient, and all ar one hout. For each of them have other cures of visitation, befide fome hapning in the meane while, and other affaires of importance: whereby, men are ofteimes compelled to faile of the appointed time; that all cannot be present with the ficke person. In this case, the Physicion most vsed, or such as meete there, are greatly hindered in giuing their aduice, or for ordering against some occasion which may happen; fearing leaft the absent parties or partie, shall not allow their judgement, whereupon, Many Physian canhard it may breede an error in the patient or meete al ac his affifting friends, who will after knowe his opinion, and demand it alone by himselfe. Sometime, this may chance but about a Cherry, or a difference of as small moment, deferving (of it felfe) not to bee fpoken of , buryet al must agree togither. and give confent in the cafe. This keeps the attending Physitions in no meane affliction, and many times the patient in much more.

In like manner (comming now vnto a third point) they may endure many small The 3, inconthings, which the ordinary and prefent Phylition would order otherwife following fuch occasions as present themselties at eueric moment. I do call them small of themselnes, yet often inight bee brought to the patients great benefit; but hee dare not apply them, dreading discontentment in them which are absent. Herebythe patient may paffe thorow divers afflictions Many affiled (from which hee might have bene fleed) as, during too much drought, or beeing to a manin kept ouer hot, or too much prefled with ficknesse, yet cafily holpen. foode and Medicines, "or prohibited of fome pleasure and recreation, no way preiudiciall to his healing, and fuch like. I hold my felfe fatisfied, in fetting downe these three inconveniences, which are brdinary in the plurality of Phylitions, to thew and approue, that it is much better (withour comparison) to haire but one Phylition; prouided, that he be affiduate and carefull.

It is the greatest happinesse for the fick Great happithall attend him diligetly.

man (that can be)to have but one Physition, that goeth not away from him, For, by vifiting him once or twice in a day, the Phylition, that patient cannot bee well cured : this may be called healing in groffe, and not exact ly. For the present Physition, observeth many particularities, which caufeth him to change opinion enery hours; as wel of his nourishment, as in other Remedies Wherefore Celfus faide very well, where he sheweth, what diligence a Phylicion ought to vie, in well directing the patients foode, for due houres, and measure of them, because it is one of the cheefest points in the whole cure. For (as hee writeth) Foode fitted to purpofe, is a most finpular Medicine and remedy. It ought alwaies so be observed, and generally, that the atten- The words of ding Physition do continually respect the Pa-tients strength: When it shall be good or able, fiction. to use abstinence; and when hee beginneth to doubt his weakeneffe, then to make supply of food. For it is his duty, that he furcharge not the ficke body with superfluous matter; hey. ther to betray it to feebleneffe, by famine, or farming, oc. Heereby may eafily bee winderflood, that many (together) cannot bee cured by one Physition: by that helif he understand truely his Art) is most proper, that never par.

Kerry at

teth from the ficke per (on . But fuch as are addited to gaine , beesause much is to bee had by a multitude of people : they willingly embrace those Rules, which require no such great cursosity, as in this case. For it is verie easie, so account daies, and houres, and other times of accesse: especially in such, as we not often to fee their patients. But it behooveth him to be attendant, that must have a care of all needfull things, and when the patient shall bee once feeble, to fee that hee have good nourishment.

Heereby you may perceive, how im-

The great im portance of the fick mans feruice.

One honest

painfull Phy

fition is bette

then twenty,

268121

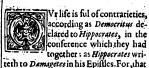

glas, bure

portant the ficke mans feruice is, that he must alwayes be affisted by a good Physition, both for his gouernement, and also for the vie of remedies . For, by being present, hee may advance or tardie, encrease or diminish, and doe many things in other manner, then when the fick-man is scene but by starts and leysures, as is too much practifed upon the people. Wherefore, it is best to hauebut one Physition, though he be of the leffe fufficiency or reputation (and confequently of leffe preffure; fo that he be honest, most frequent, and diligent. For diligence, vigilancy, & careful observation in the ordinary Phyfition; may counterpoize one of greater knowledge, that is not halfe fo much imployed.

CHAP. XV.

Against such as complaine on the over-short visitation of some Physitions.

Hip.in Epist. ad Demag.

which pleafeth vs now, will discontent vs within an houre. The labourer would bee fouldier, and (in fhort time) fall to his are ful of conformer condition againe. The Merchant would be made a Gentleman, and (foone after) returne to his Merchandize againe. But contradiction is yet more palpably

discouered, when wee see contradictorie quality in one and the same thing. As, to be a foldier, and yet not engaged to follow war to be a great landed man, and yet Contradict not subject to suites in law; to haue Varlets and Drabs in the house, and yet to be free from robbing; to live diffolutely, and neuer to be ficke. So is it in many, who would have Physitions of greatest following, and most reported of for practife, (of whome the vulgar give great judge-men, that they are men of fingular knowledge, as oftentimes it fo fals out, though not alwaies.) And fodainely they make made of Phy complaint, of their too short or seldome tings. visitation, and that they come not (so often as they ought) to fee them.

This is a complaint commonly made of our Parifian Physitions, being the most The Physics famous, who in fo great a Citie, haue ordinarily such plentie of patients, as it is vtterly impossible, that they shold stay long with any one of them. For, if a Physition haue twentie patients to visite in a day, is is not much, if hee abide with each one a quarter of an houre at a time? For, in the longest day, which may consist of xvi. houres, I would have him begin to visite at fine of the clock in the morning, and fo continue vntill ten then begin againe at noon, and hold on till five in the evening, times; for vil heere are ten houres imployed in visitation. It is verie necessary, that hee should haue some time of rest, as from tenne to twelve for his dinner, & refreshing from fine to featen in the fame evening, and then to fleepe in quiet : for if he ceafe not day nor night, it is not possible for him to haue long continuance.

I will yet allow fix houres for the morning, and fix more after dinner. For to go from one house to another to mount and descend againe all the staires; importeth afternoon to wel the space of two houres, in visiting of twentie seuerall persons. For no man whatfoeuer, can ride in poste quite thorough a Cittle; and then in the Sommer, when the dayes bee long, the fwiftnesse of motion is very dangerous, by ouer-heating, sweating, alteration of body, and other fuch like accidents. There remaineth then ten houres wholly cleere, that the Physicion may bee by each sicke A very short mans bedde, and that is the most for fuch fitting twenter imployment: And howe much time is patients. heere allowed then to each of the twenty? If I could account well, there were (for euericone) a quarter of an houre in the time for vili

morning, and as much againe after din-

But very certaine it is, that the most famous Phylitions, have to visite (som such dayes) about thirty patients; and befides that, to vie confultations, where a man is constrained to stay longer then a simple visiting. Whence ensueth necessarilie, yea, and ineuitably, that each of the other visitations, cannot bee halfe a quarter of an houre. For, hee must conrent enerie man, and he that imparts himselfe among fo many, must needes allow every one a little. Thus the Physition doth but enter and depart, and (curforily) informeth himselfe of the patients estate; feeles his pulse, obserues his vrine, speaketh a word of that which is to be done, and then away to another.

He is not justly to bee blamed, for his celerity and fummarie visitation, seeing it is not possible for him to doe otherwise: and they that call such men to their cure. are not well informed. Nay more, if the Physition answer sometime, that hee can haue no leyfure, confidering the great number of patients he is to attend: fome one or other will reply, O good Sir, if you do but booke in a doores, and then depart; the sicke man will thinke, that he shall bee healed by your verie fight onely : if you woulde but once in a day fee him, as you passe along, hee were well fatisfied. As much faith another. yea, three or foure: What shall we fay to fuch a man?

But some one will answere mee: He ought to haue regard of the persons quality, and make longer stay with a great Lord, Byshoppe, Abbor, Earle, Baron, President, Councellor, Treasurer, Generall of the Finances, and other men of Honour, who have where withall to acknowledge and recompence him better, then ordinarily other men doe or can. heare one make reply, that he ought to do his duty towards all men, and to acquitte himselfe faithfully of his Charge. Beside, that (by fome) he is to be much more comanded; as his parents, neerest Kindred Friends, Familiars, and some to whom he standeth in high degree obliged. Such persons indeed (according vnto humane fense and judgement) ought to be preferred before the other, what ranke or degree focuer they hold. And fuch, of whom lip-labour. no money is to be taken, in segarde of the fore-named obligation; do infly require of the Physicion, much more care and diligence, then they from whom hee may expect recompence. And therefore, it is no small matter, to have a learned & wife Physicion obliged and affected vnto anie one, who will alwayes make more regard of friendship, then of greatnesse.

Of Short Visitation.

And although the most part of our greatest personnes, haue no other know- greatmen ledge of the Physition, but by his Fame the tame of onely, and are much leffe knowne to the Phyfitions. Physicion; yet such knowledge being not reciprocall, and having no familiaritie, friendthip, nor mutuall Obligation; the Philition is no more proper to them, then any other beside of thesame profession, who having fewer crowds following the. may (happily) as foone minister succour, and giue more respect. But passion is so prevalent in these our dayes, as none must bee had, but hee that is in most request; and every man would very willingly have him, which properly is no way possible, and yet they complaine of his flack atten-

If a man fay, I am none of the meannest persons, and I have wherewithall to have one man pay him, as wel as another: you shall have onely, what on hundred to speake the same Wordes. We is like to be made of What shall the Physition then doe? But the rest? divide his visitations into so many pieces, as enery one may have a little. But ever more let him reserve the longest, for such to whom hee is most obliged, and standeth engaged; as reason and humanitie commandeth him.

Wherefore, it were much better (in my minde) that men heerein would take more aduisement, and to defire y which Men of leffe they may haue: that is, a Physition easyer to bee had, among them that are accountaged experience as ted learned and expert, and yet have not greater boafuch busie imployment; because their seasters, & what speciong, beeing post-posed performe in to others, that have more name, and lon- leffer time. ger time. And if there bee any difficultie in the disease, it may as judiciously bee consulted on, as they that bragge most, and performe least. Beleeue it vndoubtedly, that if the Philytion be an able ma, he can soone understand, and hath sewest words; which he had rather shold appeare by proofe, then waste the time in vaine

This is the best advice that a sicke patrarieties.

tient can take, of what quality focuer hee be, for his foonest helpe and succor. And if his meanes be fuch, as to have the Phyfition full with him, or that hee goe but little from him: it wil be much the better for him, imitating what hath bin discourfed in the precedent Chapter."

CHAP. XVI.

How much it importeth, that the ficke patient [bould repose confidence in his Physition.

The Authors clearing himning the for-

He taxeth nothing but val-

gar coplaints

Ome may mif-vnderstand, what which I haue serdown in the neighboring Chapter; as if I reprehended the affection which many haue to be visited by the most famous Physitical ways and the serious affection.

ons, and who (for their great reputation) have most accesse in the best Cities. God forbid, I should therein do wrong to very venerable and rare persons, who (by their merit) have acquired fuch tenowne And I should also offer injurie to the sick if I perswaded them from affection, and recourse to the healers of theyr harmes . For, on the contrary, if men may joy plainely, and so much as neede requiretly, none in the Worlde may better doe it then they.

I taxe onely vulgar complaint, and in fuch as (to their owne shame) are discontented, because they cannot enjoy/what they would haue. I alwaies maintain, that they are onely the meetest men, in regard of themsclues, and for their respect. Onely this is my defyre, that men of fuch fame and reputation, remaining alwaies in fo great request: should also be most skilfull and expert, happy in their practifes, and conformable to their patients. For otherwife, their high failes will strike, and their reputation (badly grounded) will flic vp in finoake.

But for the choife men themselues, they are verie meete, apt, and correspondent, to cure the greatest diseases, and in the worthielt personages: in which respect, ranke among Physitions, onely for happinesse in their cures. Because opinion conceiued of them, giues certaine confidence to the ficke man, to bee recovered better, and more securely by their means, then any other whatfocuer. Whereupon, we commonly fay in out schooles, He healeth most difeafes, in whom most confidence is reposed. And this proceedeth from strong imagination, which hath mightie Confidences power, to make impression in vs; as I fulficiently have shewne, in the Preface to the Phinon my 2.booke of Laughter.

It is a power of the foule, which strongly mooueth the blood and spirits, in such a strange manner; that if she walke along (hand in hand) with firme opinion and confidence, the very powers of Nature affemble, to fight against the sicknes. And thereupon, great changes are noted in the Patient, onely at the very presence of a Physition denoutly attending. For, desire and hope being satisfied, the soule relecueth it felfe, and re-enforceth against the fickenesse. So that (verie often) Nature maketh some braue fally and effort; chafing the matter of offence impetuouslie, by a Crisis as we vie to call it, which is the conflict of Nature and Sicknesse. Contrariwife, if the Physition be not verie answerable in liking to the patient, perceiuing him not so succourable, as hee desireth or would haue: fuch a Physition shal neuer proceed fucceffefully, and the sicke Anynekin man (contrifting and discouraging) will Philipping become much more feeble then euer hee do no godo on his heart. There is another benefite, which returneth to the patient, by having a Physition at his owne deuotion, and according to his wish and liking; because from him hee hopeth to have great comfort. For, hee willingly apteth and accommodateth him felfe, to whatfoeuer he ordaineth for him: with a chearefull confidence, that all this will furely helpe and heale him. As on the contrarie, what hee receiveth (from ano- Nothing the ther Physition) all is in missive & disdain, the patient, whereby, nothing can be profitable vnto hebeout him. For, although it were the best, and love within physicia. most delicate thing in the world, if hee haue not a good opinion of itsthe stomack they holde reputation, and the cheefest | fals to a loathing, and neuer can it come fo gladfome to his heart, as when he takes it with a chearefull disposition. Wine, the brothe of a Capon, and the Brawne of a

was. For his spirites being danted, they

haue no vigour at all; onely by the feare

and diffrust which hath before seized vp-

Many afflictions happens to the patient i he bee not confident in his Phylition

Mariage vied

fon with the

will endure many annoyances, wherein he shall be greatly impatient to his owne preiudice: if he haue not a good opinion of his Physition, and be consident in him. For, hee may approoue him to bee fuch a man, as the credite of any other could neuer perswade him. Therefore, it is not in vaine, that poore ficke men should defire fuch as holde great reputation, and of whom (commonly) paffeth good opinion ; for fuch haue the best efficacy in their proceedings and directions. But yet they are not fo much to bee affected, as no respect at all should be vsed of other: wherof choyfe also may bee made at a second or third time of occasion, and they then must needs bee vied, for want of the former. When any fuch man happens to be called: the patient must likewise repose his trust, confidence, and affection in him,

Partridge, are most excellent nourish-

ments, delicate, and dainty : but if a man take them frowningly, with an ill opinion of the Butlers bringing them, or that the Cookes dreffing them is not agreeable; all will doe no good, the stomack being directly opposite vnto them. What will he thinke then of things, which (are of themselues) very vnpleasing, and sick-

neffeabhorreth naturally, as medicines &

It followeth moreouer, that the patient

other druggeries ?

dies, at his owne good will and pleasure. For, in mariage, Maids couet to match in great houses; but if it will not come so to passe, they must content themselues with meaner place, giuing all their loue and affection, to the husbands chosen by themselues. And God may give them as much (or more) happinesse and contentment with their meane match, then if they had the richest husbands in the Worlde. This may redound to an honest houshold life, whereas the other might haue prooued iust nothing like the Physition, stand-ing out of his patients affection, beeing daily defirous of another.

without defiring any other; relying onely

vpon God, who giueth vertue to reme-

CHAP. XVII.

Of such as well have Physitions, and yet deny to do as they appoint and direct them.

Ot long fince, I met at Nar-bona with a Gentleman of the Nega-tive of Physics of Physi king purposely concerning their affirmations, pleasantly said: That he wold beleeue them well in their Negatiues, but not in their affirmatines. This was a good old man, gallant and pleasantly disposed, who came from Spaine, having accomplifhed the tearme of his legation with King Phillip. Hee thus interpreted Negatives prohibited by Physitions: As not to drink Wine, nor eate fruite, nor to feede on windie meates, and fuch like. And their affirmatives were, to take medicines, glifers, Inleppes, and other things by them appointed. Was not this agoodly propolition, which many put in practife, to their extreame harme. For, they are will his countell his countell his countell. ling to have Physitions: but go looke for speaked. fuch as shal do as they direct them. Hardly will they keepe within the boundes of this Venitian, who (at least) would abstaine from what he was forbidden:but the most part of patients now a dayes, do quite con trary. What availeth it to have a Physition, if a man bee resolued, not to execute and accomplish his counfell, for the defence of his owne life?

Some will answer, that the presence of Friuolous anthe Physicion comforteth, delighteth, and ing the Physician the Physicia encreaseth courage; whereby they feele tions counsell the infirmity to diminish, & their strength to augment. Another saieth, I will doe fomething that the Physition doth aduise mee, at least of foode and gouernement; but of his Drugges I will not heare him

Well may wee compare this case, vnto people besiedged in a Towne or Cittie; calling some good and expert Captaine or Commander, for their succour and defence. Hee being come to them, they wil not obey him, nor accoplish any of his

In commendation of the renowned ge nerally by the world,

Excellent ad-

ordinances, but fay: That they are vvell pleased with his presence, and they are sufficiently fortified; it is enough for them, if he but take order for victuals, & be prouident in policie. As for fight, mounting the Artillery, and other needfull preparations, they will not heare a word of thate. Is this any thing elfe, but meerly to mock a braue foldier for his paines, & fend him away with loffe of credit?

I durst not tearme this folly, if Ecclefia-

Sticus had not taught me, faying; Hee that is wife, will not abhorre the Physition. Oh,

Ecclef. 38,4.

By tasting sick nes, we know the better how precious a thing health but Phylicke (fav fome) is very irkefome to take. It is true, and God hath so ordained it, that it may the better fight against the cuill. For, as health is pleasing and acceptable fo is it entertained with as accep table things: and as ficknes is vnpleafing, so must distastful things helpe to conquer it. It is not wisedome, if we apply not our willes, to whatfocuer the Physition appointeth, without contemning any thing. For oftentimes, thorough defect of one observation, which may seeme but small': the disease impaireth, euen to death. Like as a Towne may (fometime) bee loft, by lacke of a Sentinell; or by the meanes of a little hole or passage, which appeared to be of no importance. Sometime, a sparke offire enflames a whole heape of Straw, and thereby a house, and of one house, a whole Burrough or Towne. If a small fault grow into excelle, or faileth of help

in due time, no meane disorder ensueth

Contempers of Physicke feek for helpe thereby, when it is too late.

Small errours

may grow o

uer great to be easily ap-peased.

What then shall become of such as defpife the Physition, when he (many times) hath worke enough to doe, to faue them, that are willing to doe whatfocuer hee would have them? Commonly, it falleth out with them who are fo difficult, that (in the end) they would yeeld to all, & more, euen then when there is neither meanes, nor time, and can no way bee preferued from death, as they might have bene before, by Gods gracious affiftance. Euen like to befiedged people, that began but coldly in their owne defence, not imploy. ing all their means; but sparing theyr bedtickes, balles of Wooll, Cheffs, Cuppeboords, and other mooueables, for re-impairing their victualles and money, that their Soldiers, Armes, and persons might be the better fecured, and to fight valiantly. But at length, beholding themselues constrained; then they can offer bags of Gold, Plate, Iewels, yea, all to their verie bowels, onely for fafety; when there is no remedy at all to fled them, but become wife too late, with the Phrygians, according to the Prouerbe . Wherefore, let e- rous, & hardy uery man determine with himselfe (euen recourted in the very beginning) to doe willingly what the Physition shall counsell and ordaine for him, without restriction, or distinguishing Negatiues and affirmatiues, that God may the better give his bleffing, to concurre with the Physitions true en-

CHAP. XVIII.

Of such as in their sicknesse, will admitte no medicine or remedy; but only for the prefent paine and anguish.

Observed this opinion, in a Gentleman of Viuares, affect ed greatly to his pleafures. He made no particulare account buttothe of infirmities, which were without greeuance, thinking remedies to ferue little or nothing at all for them; even as if it yvere necessary, that the disease shold have his courfe. And whatfoeuer was done, the infirmity would passe his foure times, if it were recouerable: but if it were deadly, then there was no remedy that could bee proper for it; which were erroneous specches, grounded on those folies heretofore refuted. In breefe, he would not allow of any Physition, nor any medicine; but to take away instant anguishes. But, if he wer falne into a palfie, which is a difeafe without paine, I beleeve he could gladly have defired, that it might be cured by medicin, or any other helpe elfe whatfocuer.

Now, concerning dolorous and painefull difeafes, it is to bee vinderftoode, that Concerning greefe there is not the principal(although dolorous an of very great importance) and that the e- les, wherein uill must and ought to be taken away, fro anguish is not which the anguish proceedeth, if men do deale inftly in their cures. For if one stand trifling fimply vpon the paine, & the cause is mistaken (which is the fourfe, root, and mother of cuill:) there are then but two meanes; the one is by Anodyne medicines, which diminish the pain in some measure. and causeth the party to endure the rest more patiently.

Chap. 19. Subject to sicknes, subject to Physick.

The other is by Arcotick medicins, that is to fay stupifying, making the member sleepy, in astonning the Natural heate. Which is not to be vsed, but in extreme necessitie, and very wifely, but, as wel the one, as the other, do not let passe or lesfen the greefe, but onely for a time.

The ground& are to bee caken away, or

Euermore, wee should come to Cure the principall, otherwise it is still to begin againe. And if our remedies serue not to take away the euill, which is without paine, or which causeth paine: that were the greatest falshoode in the worlde, as I haue apparantly proued before, where I ouerthrew the idle imagination, that Phisitions serued to no purpose, but abused the world. If any yet shall reply vnto me, that many are well re-cured, both without Phylitions and Medicines: I answere also in the same manner, that as many lose their greeuances, without Phylicke, or any other applyed remedies, whereby that proposition is meerely confounded of it felfe.

CHAP. XIX.

That such as are subject to diseases, are in like manner subject to Physicke: and o-

Lub.9, 12

ANY throw aspersions of blame and reproofe, on fuch as observe some orderly rule and government, subjecting themselues to certaine remedies to maintaine their healthfull condition, and prevent some knowne cuilles, whereto they are subject. They that condemne those meanes, are (doubtles) verie healthfull, and of good Complexion: in which respect, the position is verie true, according to that which is faide in Sacred Scripture, The law was not given to the suft. But more expressely, where it is saide, The whole need not the Physition, but they that are ficke. These words likewise do confirm the contrary, to wit; That fuch as are fick, haue need of the Physition; & such as are subject to any sicknesse, are also subject to fome rule. Euen according as we are fubiect to fin, so are we subject to the Law.

I shall alwaies give confent with most Celinib. s.c. cloquent Celfus : That the healthfull Man, while he carieth himselfe well, and is truely himselfc: needeth not to be tyed to any Law or Gouernment, nor to imploy the Physition. It wice given by is very expedient, that he fould have diners lerned Cellus manners of life; one while in the field, then a- to a healthfull gaine in the City, but more often in the field: To Nauigate, hunt, to be at rest and ease formtimes, but yet to exercise himselfe more ofte. For, floath and idleneffe, maketh the bodye drowfie and dull , but travell confirmeth it : The one is the haltner of Age, the other is the continuer of iolly wouth.

It is good also sometimes to bath, and sometimes to vecolde waters ; one while to annoint, then againe to for beare. Feare no kind of meats, that are wied among civill people; to be sometimes present at Feasts, another while to refraine them. One while feede some what immeasurably, and afterward soberly. Make two meales a day more oftner then one, and alwayes eate well, folong as it may have digestion, &c. As concerning carnall Copulation, it may not bee defired too much, nor too much feared neither : That which is rare and fildome, exciteth the body that more frequent diffolueth it, & c.

These rules are to be observed by such, Hethatis well that haue their health firme, and can fo &cannot keep keepe themselues; that remedies ordayned for cuil carriage be not employed & owne. confumed in vaine. In this maner are men of found health indifferent to all, and fubied to nothing, while they beare themfelues well, and are fo firmely in health, as Celfus hath limited. It were very great shame for a man, to make himselse delicate, foft, and tender, foupling and eneruing his good and strong Complexion; which would extend it felfe a great deale more, by bolde, valiant, and manly exercifes. But for valetudinarie perfonnes, Many dileales vnhealthfull, subject vnto manie Diseafer, as Epilepfies (commonly called, Mal laidtobechede S. Jean) Megrimes, Rheumes, Catarhs, reditarie to shortmesse of breath, Ache in the bones, Oppilations in the Liver or Spleene, the Winde Collicke, or Stone, Gowts, and the like infirmities (whereof the most part are Hereditarie, yea, and the Leaprofictoo), who makes any doubt or queftion, but that fuch men ought to live

The left skill

ouer prefu-

For Nurfics,

keepers, and

attenders about patients.

pretending to

baue no mican

knowledge.

Concerning Students and men in pub-like offices,

to vnderstand

our being fub-

784

Such also as addict themselves to studie, or vnto publike charges in the Common-wealth, because they are subject to many necessities, ought to be gouerned; otherwise, they often fall into divers infirmities. For they tie & constraine themselues to store of things, which are verie hurtful for them. And Celfus in the words before alledged, presupposeth, that the healthfull man, must also be wholly himfelfe in all respects. Now, in the polition formerly allead-

enuious of, and desire to see manie ged, faying, Subiect to difeafes; we underand a particular subjection & aptitude. For all men in the world are fubicat to all kinds of fickneffe, euen as we are all fubiect to death. But we fay, fome are fubiect thereto particularly, that have an inclination and disposition to some cuil, the rudiment wherof is in them: not that they are already ficke, but because a small matter will throw them into ficknesse; and therefore, they ought the more respectively, to carry themselves. By example of him formerly spoken of, who being the only fick man in his time : made shift yet to liue an

CHAP. XX.

quifite manner of lite.

hundred yeares, by great cunning, and ex-

That such as know some little matter in Physicke, are more dangerous to be neere sicke personnes, then they that know nothing at

In the 13.

Must confesse, that this error ought to haue followed a former Chapter, where we declared, that there were more Physics ons, then of anic other protession. But fearing to offend any succorable people, I had a long conflict with mine owne cogitations, whether I should taxe and reprodue them in fuch publique manner. At length, I concluded to holde on my courfe; knowing, that ther is more danger (then we wold eafily think) in fuch within rule, if their owne ease they be not | as know something, and imagine to know all things . For out of this ouer-weening, either they prefume, and vndertake the very greatest cures; or withstand and hinder Physicions, from beeing imployed in fentyinging principall remedies, necessarily requiring to prefump quick and fure healing. But these infolent tion . controllers, keep them fo engaged to fear; that they neither dare, nor will aduen-

There are some persons, who know not any thing in Phisick, in regard of discourse and reason; as ignorant women, who can tions, that the neither write nor reade; but onelie haue certaine observations and rules, knowing have known how to make a good Broth, a Cullife, a Restorative, to make a bed well, and knit a kerchiefe about the fick mans head. Befide, they know fome infant remedies, against itch, scabs, burnings, falling of the Fuula, wormes, the Mother, &c. Hereupon, they imagine themselues compleat in knowledge, and make many things out of their owne braine and fantafies and if their experiment succeede ill, they spare not to yaunt, that the Physitions great Gowne shall couer all this.

It were very good and expedient, that affiftants about ficke patients, did knowe nothing elfe, but to obey the Physicions directions. It were a knowledge very beside perior, when they we neficiall to the patient; for, such as do not young the presume of theselues, will neuer attempt sie beine to execute any thing, but what is preferibed, ordained, and commanded. Others, that dreame they have knowledge; they will adde, diminish, alter, or else do infi nothing at all. Like to lewd Apothecarles, who execute the Physitions directions at their owne pleasure, as presuming to know the curing of the disease, and the nature better in course, then he doth : being drunke with some opinion concerning the like; as having observed divers the like ficknesses, attended many Physitions, and feene the fuccesse of the like re-

O dangerous ouer-weening! fee here Betterto ka the verie ruine of most ficke personnes. It then to have were much better (before God I speak it) knowledge it not to know any thing, then to know shus in this Empericke manner. What more vnhappinesse for the patients life, and honour to the Physicion, then to haue an Apothecarie fo ouerweening, temerarious, and prefumptuous? In Italy, and in Spain,

Opportunity is the greatest ging to the

the ficke are in much better manner ferued. For, the Apothecary goeth not to fee the ficke man, except it be in courtefie and friendship; and yet not as an Apothecary neither: nor do the Phylitions under write their bils of receipts, by or for who the remedies were compounded. Whereby, the Apothecarie knowes as litle of the Physitions intent, euen as if hee were acquainted with nothing. By this meanes, hee cannot abuse the Physitions directions; or, much lesse then our Apothecaries, to whom all is imparted ouer familiming Apothe-

> Next to Apothecaries. I speak of those vile and bad (not good, provident, modeft, and honest people, that meddle not. but what they have to doe withall) yea, most dangerous keepers or servants, attending about poore weak patients, who thinke they have more knowledge then the Physicion (especially, if they be anciently traded in the bulinesse) touching nourishing principally; beecause it ought to be of inestimable importance, qualitie, fit houres, and measure. True it is of the quality they credite enough by the Physitions order; but for the houre and meafure, they do all at their owne liking. I spare the drugeries they couertly vie, and the omissions of Ordinances appointed to them, when they meete with patients fitte for their purpose. Such people are most daungerous, and much better to have them that know no fuch cunning, neither haue learned any other lesson; but to doe what they are apointed, which is the main article of their duty.

> > CHAP. XXI.

The manner of knowing Opportunity truely, for understanding or performing such actions, as we would have to be well done: And how our grave Elders weed to depict or figure Occasion.

Here confisteth no meane wit and indgement, in knowing howe to make vse of Opportunity;& to perform our actions in due time:because great care is to be had, either for doing, or not doing a thing at a time; in regarde there is no alteration or returning backe, when defect falleth uppon the aduenture. Heereupon, the Grecian Philophers lefte vs many notable fentences in writing, making to that purpose : in regard that they truely understoode, what wisedome depended uppon knowledge, for doing a bufineffe in apt opportunitie, and taking occasion when it is fairely offered.

Salomon faith in his Eccleftastes: To all Ecc. 3,1,2,3.4 things there is an appointed time . There is a A discours time to be borne, and a time to dye: A time to plant, and a time to plucke up that which is planted: A time to kill, and a time to heale: A time to builde, and a time to ruinate: A time for warre, and a time for peace. In breefe, many examples might bee alledged, whereby to demonstrate, what loffe relyeth on dooing any thing out of due time; and what benefite redoundeth voto men, when things are accomplished aptly to time and place.

Menander, a Greeke Poet faid; That all things done to purpose, & in time have great grace, for Opportunity hath more power then

Law. So that a little attendance given on time, is esteemed highly worth. Hestodus, a Grecke Authour also, appointed vs te keepe meanes and observation of times: For, the importance of all affayres (faith he) confistethin attending on time and opportunity. Pindarus faid; Time hath great power in all things. Also (according to Horace,) Horace, A man should alwaies fet forward his affairs, when he feeth due time. Socrates, writing to Democritus, Said; Allthings are naught, being done out of due feafon. In breefe, there is no man of judgement or experience, but will purfue his bufines in fitteft times.

All which notwithstanding, it is to be Opportunitie noted, that as it is good to waite on Op- mult by no portunity, and apteft times to perfourme anything : fo likewife, the point or instant while it may is not to bee flipt, for exact executing be. any matter when it commeth. This is that which hath commonly beene fayde, Occasion is neuer to be misprized. For all things y are done out of their confiellation, & confent of the stars (although occafion commeth otherwife) can neuer grow to good perfection.

And to speake seriously, occasion and opportunity for our actions, was in firch Xxxx

ing of Menan

Pindarus,

Socrates.

Democritus,

flip,but taken

ding one foot vpon a turning wheele, and all before the face couered with Hayre, dangling downe in long treffes; but althe head behind was bald and thanen. This Occasion or shape was given to occasion or Opportu-Opportunity, moralized in nity, by Polidsus, or Polidippus as some cal-

Occasion familiarly defcribed by Sys Thom. More, Englishman.

Figure.

led him, a Greek Poet, translated into Latine by the learned Erasmus, and Ausonius the Lombards Poet. Whom Sir Tho: More of England, aman much renowned for wifdome and learning, traduced into the Ca-Stillian tongue, in forme of a dialogue. For More faid, that Occasion, standing so vpon a wheele, declared thereby her instability; and having wings both at her handes and feet, shewed, how lightly shee past away, without tarrying. Moreouer, said he, her forhead and face being couerd with hairy long locks, expressed; that she might easily be held, by fuch to whom the prefented her felfe; but being vnwilling to be known to others, thee kept her face fo couered, because she would escape away vnknown: being also bald and shauen behinde, for feare the should be stayed, after shee was once past. Whereby may be comprehended, that Opportunity once loft, is not to bee recovered, by all our paines applyed afterward.

Aulonius making a further addition to vse of this example. For, some are so so-daine in their affaires, that they can neuer

bring them about, by not tarrying for op-

pen; that in the time of this lingering negotiating, Occasion hath past by the Both which extremities are to bee anoyded by men of good judgement, who, in waiting

the time for best performing their busines

fuffer no occasions (in the meane while) offaire offer to ouer-flip them. For other

her portraiture, like as a Mirrour before their cies. The Latines figured Occasion

in the form of a woman; but the Grecians

figured her in the shape of an infant, hol-

this picture, placed the figure of Repen-Repensance figured fitting tance, litting vpon the moulders of Occaon the floulders of Occafion : declaring thereby, that whatfocuer happeneth by the loffe of Occasion, may well be repented. And truly there are two kinds of people, who might make good portune time. And others(on the contra-A worthy prery) are fo long and tedious in concluding fident for two forts of pcotheir bufinesse, beeing troubled with so many inconveniences, which may hap-

high esteeme with our Ancients, as well wise, they may fall into a tardy repentace. Greeks as Latines; that they had alwaies | which will be little to their credite and be-

CHAP. XXII.

Of Fanour, Grace, or Good opinion: Howit hath bene described by picture, and also concerning the Morall fignification.

He precedent discourse, co-cerning the portraiture of Opportunity, or Occasion, hath brought that to my re-membrance, which the ancient Romanes gaue and granted to Fauor, Grace, or good Opinion : as well for the great coueniency which thefe two things hold together, as also because the tru time and very occasion of wel-doing any thing is, when Fauour standeth fairest for him; as much to fay, as when the Prince lendeth an attentiue care, and vouchsafeth (withall)a gracious countenance: For, a man that is in credite with a Prince, is very much made of by all men, euerie one Princes ateno thinkes well of what he doth, or faith; be- meant blifcause all things succeede to his good and at heue then honor : for all are full of fauour towardes him, either with an honest heart, or else in outward ceremony.

Little need is there to produce Histoties or examples to this effect, confidering that (at all times) it hath bin in practife, & cuery yeare is a breuiate therof; wherfore it shal suffice me only to represent the true figure of Fauor, according to the draught of our grave Elders, which may fom way conforme it selfe with that of Occasion. For in their truest picturing Fauour, they figured a yong infant blind, being alone, & without any company. Bartholomeus Dardanus, moralizing vpon this picture intro-duceth himselfe) speaking to the Painter according to Apelles, by way of dialogue, in this maner. by Apelles.

O Apelles! Perceyuing the great paines that thou hast taken, to portraite truely the Image of Fanour : I pray thee tell mee, of what race shee is descended? Whereunto Apelles fodainly replying, fayde; Her The impar-Race is knowne, but to verie few people. And lace between indeede, the Originall of Fauour is hardly to be found. For some say, that fauour commeth by corporall beauty: Others hold, that the commeth by adventure, or good hap. Tet Some will have her to be the daughter of Fortune, or of accident. And yet neverthelesse, many are of the minde; that (beey (lueth from true Noblenesse of the minde. As is cafilic discerned, by this short Dialogue following, where a Poet, speaking to Apelles, beginneth thus.

Chap.23. Of Fauour, Grace, or good Opinion.

A discoursiue Dialogue(actording to Morall (ence) betweene a Poet and Apelles, concerning the true Image of Fauour.

Poet. IT PHat is that Woman, standing on yonder side, who is never forfaken, but still hath store of company?

Apelles. Her name is Flattery.

Poet. And what is shee that attendeth. or followeth after her ?

Apelles. Her Name is commonly called Enuie.

Poet. What people are they that fo round engirt her?

Apelles. They are fuch as continually keep company with Fauour, and are especially obedient to her: As namely, Riches and Pleafures, the four se and originall of all vices.

Poet. Why hast thou (in figure) given wings to Fanour?

Apelles. Because she cannot step a foote abroad, but she mounts aloft, when the wind of good Fortune raifeth her.

Poet. And wherefore hast thou painted her blinde?

Apelles. Because such as are incredite, will no more take knowledge of their ancient Friends.

Poet. And why hast thou placed hir feet vpon a wheele?

Apelles. Because she followeth the steppes of Fortune, being evermore as inconstant as Poet. But why dost thou make her puffe and fwell to proudly?

Apelles. Because prosperity blindeth the understanding of all men.

This Dialogue, reported in the Lan guage belonging to it, would have much more grace, then any tongue elfe can be-flow vpon it. Neuertheleffe, the most gracious Fauourites may heereby take aduice, to know, what companions attend vpon Fanour, and the instabilitie both of them and her. To the end, they may the The greatest better gouerne themselves with modestie Fauourites of in their credit, without puffing or fivel Princes, have ling vp into pride. For, ouer and belide, to many misthat God is greatly there-with offended, fortunes. there are many other dangers elfe, by the observation of passed times : as true testimonie hath beene made, by the voltage py and lamentable endof many Princes Fauourites, that knew not howe to vie their credit fo wifely, as they should have

CHAP. XXIII.

Of those seven Wife men of Greece commonly called the fenen Sages: With many notable Sentences which they left behinde them in writing.

Mong the ancient Gracians, crates, accounting the article of Sages or wife to be ouer-arrogant (because it was onely or, Wife, to proper and peculiar to God, to bee abio. b: ouer arrolutely called Sage or Wife) invented the gant. name of Philosopher, as much to fay, as a louer of wisedome; and being somewhat better qualified, and more moderate then the name of Sage or Wife; fo that al wife men, which were fince the time of Socrates, were well contented with the Title of Philosophers. Notwithstanding, there were seuen seuerall men, vnto whom the name of Sages or Wife-men, were attributed, by common confent of all Greece, in regarde of their Knowledge and Vertuc.

And indeede, many Authors (as well Ancient as Moderne) do make mention The Authors of them, and of notable fentences lefte by intention, them for memory : whereof(I purpose) to this Chapter. fet downe heere a breefe summarie, that understanding Readers (yet ignorant in the originali Language) may the better be acquainted with their wittie fayings.

Setting aside then that vaine and foo. lish Booke of the Seauen Sages, which hath runne thorow too many Countries, with many opinions divulged, concerning their lines (which yet were discredited, and rent in peeces by Diogenes Laertius) I will thape my courfe, according vnto that which hath beene auouched by Saint Augustine, Erasmus, Phillip Melan-Ethon, Beroaldus, Raphaell Volateranus, and many other Authors of great fame. The names of those seauenmen, were Solon, ges of Greece Chile, Cleobulus, Thales, Bias, Pittacus, and Periander, and they are all living together at one time : although some of them were more aged then the other, and (happily) lived longer then the reft did. For, all of them were in perfect beeing, the leven Sa- during the reigne of Cyrus King of Perfia, at fuch time as the Iewes remayned captines in Babylon: which was about the space of fine hundred and fiftie yeares, before the comming of our Lord and Sauiour Ielus Chrift, as Eufebius faith.

We purpole to speake of them particularly, and likewife of fome of their principall Sentences, which they left respectiuely for vs: albeit memory harb embrared infinite common fayings of theirs, as ordinarily all Authors have concluded in their writings. Aufonias, a famous Poet of Lombardie, veric elegantly reduced into verse, many notable Sentences of those Sages, whereof he maketh very ample relation, in three feuerall Bookes published

Flest then, we will begin with wife Bias, who was borne in Priene, a Sea-coaft towne of Ionia, a Region in Greece, having where he was a very poore man to his father, named Totamus, This Bias was a great Oratour, a good Aduocate, and well feene in all the Sciences; beeing otherwise endued with many vertues. Among which, he held in highest estimation, to contemn the riches and honors of the world. Cicero, speaking of him, faith, that when the enimy deftroid the towne where he dwelt, and enery man labored to fane and carry away the best of his goods: Biss would not fare any thing belonging to him. And being domanded, why he was to respect lefte of his goodes: he answered; All my goods I carry with mee: meaning his wifedome, which (indeed) is the greatest wealth of all.

Aboue all things, this man fought still to maintaine loue and amity, & therefore he was held the chiefest in the Commonwealth: hewould fay, he had much rather be a judge between two of his frinds, then between two of his enemies: for in condening a friend, he should loofe his frendhip;but in judging betwirt two enemies, hee for whome the sentence was given, would become a friend.

Of Friends

A lewd man once demanded of him. what was to be pittled in religion?wherto Bias answered not a word: the man growgaine; and Biss replyed; Why doit thou aske fooles floor a ing angry, mooned the same question a-

He vied oft-times to fay, that the greater part of men, were the worst men; and Ausonius took great paines in confirming Ausonius in the this faying. But it is fo manifest and true, that it needs no other confirmation, then what is auouched in the Gefpell, where it is faid : Many are called, but few are cholen. Cicero alfo maintaines it to be true, affir- eucrointa. ming the race of the wicked to be great. eulesp.3. Plato also saide to the same purpose, That good men were gone, and growne to no Platein Tries, thing : but contrariwise, the vices of the wicked encreased daily, euen as if they were watered hearbs.

There are some Authors, who alledge many other fentences of Bias, very fingu- layings autilar, and necessary; as, Attribute to God all the good thou doest: Neuer be envious at the rich. Hee may well be called a good man, that hath no remorfe of conscience, The greatest danger that happens to a man, commeth from man: The very richest gift in a woman, is to be vertuous and honest.

Aristotle attributeth this to Bias . Degrees of honor and offices, do most manifest what a man is: for, many appeare to be honest men (as indeede their actions show no lesse) beeing private persons: but hauing power to command, doe manifeftly declare the malignitie of their hearts: He addeth alfo. That a man should so carry himselfe to his friend, as if (another day) he should become his enemy : and so to deale with an enemy, as hoping(one day) he may be his friend. Yet Aristotle him-Arift in Rheia. felfe reproued this faying, in his Rhetho- Lb.3. (49.4, 1) ricke. Notwithstanding in duc consideration of managing friendshippe in these dayes, wee shall finde this Sentence to be most true.

There

8. Booke Chap.21. There are many other fayings, well de- , Subject to a tyrant. feruing memorie, which are attributed to this Philosopher, & would aske too much time heere to infert: and therefore I will leave them, having first informed theReader, that after the death of Bias, his funerall was follownely performed, at the coft and charge of the Common-wealth, in figne of his perpetuall honour.

> T'He second Sage or wiseman of Greese Solon, the fe-cond Sage or wie Man of was Solon, although some ranke him in the prime place. Plutarke, and many other haue written at large of his life, faying; That hee was borne in Salamina, an Iland in Subjection to the Athenians, iffued of an auncient and most Noble house; his fathers name being called Accresides. The Ashenians made fuch pretious effects of Solon, aswell in regarde of his wisedom, and the victories which he had obtayned against them of Mytilene, with fundry other enterprises, which hee had finished very dexteriously; that they limited themseluesto his ordinances, which were great (as Plutarke affirmeth) recording many of Pha in via Selõ them by particular mention.

Especially he moderated the Lawes of Draco, which were very rigorous, fo that for the very least facte committed in Athens, life depended thereupon. For, Demas the Oratour fayd, That the Lawes appaynted by Draco, were written downe with the bloud of men. Solon therefore corre-Acd them, and confirmed in Athens, the Councell of the Areopagites, according as Aristotle and Plutarke do plainly main-

Hee had a concurrent or corriuall in Athens, a kinfeman of his owne, named Fifthratus , to that, the more Solon labored the libertie of his Countrey, so much the more did hee study and endeauour to oppresse it. Neuerthelesse, in conclusion, the eloquence of Pifistratus had more power, then all the approoned goodnesse in Solon, whereby hee poffeffed himfelfe of the Seigneury and Rule of Athens; which Solon might have done (much more eafily then hee) if he would have vied but his owne meanes. For, when the men of A-Solom refusal shens offered him the soueraigntie of their of governing Citty, hee made them answer thus : The wife reason. house of tyrannic is very pleasing, but it must have a winding stayres to mount it: And therefore, I will neyther be a tyrant, nor

Piddratus, an Opposite a-gainst Soloss

Heereuppon, after that PifiHratus had gotten full possession of Athens, Solon departed thence, and trauelled Countries uailed Coun for the space of tenne yeares, as well in E- tries, gypt as in other places. Till at the length, he came to the Court of Crafus, the rich and powerfull King of Lydia, who having His comming frewed him his aboundant treasures, de- torith Crass maunded of him, if ever hee had feene fus, King of more Royall possessions? Whereto Solon (like a Philosopher and Free-man)re- with him,aplyed: That he had feene the possessions bout his riof diuers Fowles, Cockes, Capons, and pineffe. fuch like, which feemed goodlier to him, because they were naturall to them . Againe hee demaunded of him; If ever hee had seene any man more rich, or so happic as hee was? Solon answered him (without flattery) that hee had seene a man in his owne Countrey, named Tellus, who (in his opinion) was more happie then Crafus, for hee was an honest and vertuous man, and had seene his children. and the children of his children fo well aduaunced, that hee receyued feruice from them in his age. Nay more, being growne into the extreamitie of yeares; he dyed in the defence of his Countrey, and repelling the enemy.

The King being much displeased at the answer of Solom, sayd vnto him : Why dost have some denot thou attribute to me some degree of gree of haphappinesse? Whereunto Solon replying, shewed him the great trauerses and mutations, which may enfue vnto fuch as are constituted in great Estates: and they being subject to such alterations, he could not tearme them truely happie, alledging a common Prouerbe, vied among the Athenians: That the end of life must first bee feene, before any sudgement of happines paffe thereon.

O most notable saying, though to A ristotle, it seemed not receivable : for, while a man continueth in life, hee is alwayes vncertayne of his estate and condition, as also of his fame and reputation : as it was well approuedby the Wife man, who faid Commend no man before his death. Ecclef. 12,14 And our bleffed Lord alfo, would have Matha 8,19. his Apostles and Disciples to make stay in no place, or to falute any bodie by the way : which fome expounded according to the faying of Solon, who affirmed, that man(in his life time) could not affure him felfe

ches and hap-

A witty Athe-

No man can be happy be-

Authors of great & good fufficiency. The names of the feuen Sages liued.

Enfeb.in Hift." Eccleflev.q.c.7

Anfonius the Lombard Poct.

Bias one of the Sages, and Cicero in Orat. ero Cluent.

Omnia mea mecuni porto.

The faying of Selon appro ued by many good authors. Plin,in lib. 14 cap.10. Oud, in Meta marp.ib.z.

ted from king

man vnregar.

Crefus found

Solons words

true, to the no

mean hazard

of his life.

Cyrus giuet

and made hin

Competitor in his King-

Arist.in polit.

lib 3.cap.13. The death o

domes.

Crefus, as a

79°

felfe from falling into many ineuitable inconveniences. Pliny also conforming him selfe to Solon, sayd; One day indgeth another, and the last day indeeth all . Ould maketh the like affirmation, faying: who foeuer considereth the last day of man, which is uncertaine; it is not possible for him to fay, that he can be any way truly happy.

But returne we againe to King Crafus, who, notwithstanding the wife answere Solon had made him, he regarded him not, neither what great benefit might after befall him, by enioying the companie of a man fo worthy, as neuer respecting future occasions to follow. Whereuppon Solon departed from his Court, with very vnkinde entertainement : but afterward, fuch an aduenture hapned, as made him dearely acknowledge his errour, and well to remember the words of Solon . Por, Great King Cyrus waging new warre against him; and having vanquished and taken him prisoner, gaue Sentence, that hee thould be burned aline. Hee being vpon the pile of wood, and fire making readie to confume him : cryed fodainely out aloude , O Solon, Solon, Solon, remembring now in this extreamitie, that his faying was true, and that no man could be happy while he lived! Crafes commanding the Officers to flay, and to keepe the fire from the pile: would needes understand of him, wherefore he vled that inuocation yppon Solon, or expected thereby for deliuerance from death? Crafus reported the whole History to him, what Solon had fayd, concerning his imaginarie happinesse; the trueth whereof he had now too apparantly prooued. Cyrus being much amazed thereat, and entring into mature confideration, of the strange and vnauoidable mutabilities of Fortune; deliuered King Crafus from death & captivity, doing him to great honor, that he made him his affociate in his kingdomes. Whereby we may perceive, that this wile and worthy faying of Solon, was the meanes of freeing one mighty King from death, and made an other also much wifer then hee was before. Solon, having attained vnto the age of fourescore yeares, dyed at Rhodes, ordayning by his testament (as Aristotle layth) that his body should bee burned, and his ashes scattered in the Isle of Salamina: because they should not be carried to Athens, for constrayning them (by that meanes) to keepe his ordinances. Because, before he departed from Athens, he made the Athenians to take an oathe, that they should keepe his Lawes inuiolably, vntill he was returned from his voyage. And indeede, according vnto Aristotle, the Commonwealth of the Athenians maintained them felues very profperoufly, fo long as they kept the Lawes of Solon.

Now, as concerning the fentences and fayings of Solon; for the most part, they were conformable to Christian Religion, and all Civilitic. As, Honour God: Be help-full to thy neighbour: Maintaine the vertue conformale of thy friend: Obey the Lawes: Bridle thine Religion and anger: Honor thy father and mother: Sweare Civilly, not : Keepe thy felfe from Enuy : Be not too light in confirming a friend, but learne to keep him when thou hast him . Marrie with thine equall: Reproone thy friend in Secret, but publikely thou mayest commend him: Shunne the company of wicked people: Praise and follow vertue. Hee favd moreouer, That Lawes were like to Spyders webs, wherein poore litle Flies were soone entangled, but such as were great and strong, could easily breake thorow. Such, and the like notable Sentences, are found among his Lawes and Ordinances: And fo much for Solom.

Hilo, fon of Amaratus, was also numbered amongest the seauen Sages of white Sugar Greece. He was of Lacedemon, a citty highly renowned in Greece, where he was ele-Acd in the Councell of the Ephori, in regard of his great wifedome & knowledge: this was an Estate among the Lacedemonia ans, as the Confernatours and Tribunes were among the Romains. Chilo was very lummary and fuecinct in his Discourse, as (ordinarily) all the Lacedemonians were : and hee was likewife called Arifta. Chile alle geras, in regard of that qualitie. When any one compiled an Oration, in few and sind differ witty words, they vsed to say i That he had sing. written a Chilonical Oration . He lived fo long (as Pliny and some others fay) even Plininks (4) till nature fayled in him . Neuerthelesse, he dyed with a conceit of ioy, feeing one of his fonnes, to winne the prizes of Honourin the Olympian games, and after his death; the Lacedemonians performed his funerall with great folemnitie. The fingular wisedome of this man, appeared sufficiently, by the notable Sentences which he had written; but especially in this, that he exhorted every man to know himfelfe. Which being heedfully obserued, men would not bee so vaine, nor so proude and inordinate, as vsually they are: because all vices and disorders do proceed from felfe-conceite, and no man truely knowing himfelfe. Heereupon the Christian Church tooke an order, that euery yeare (in the begining of Lent) all men should bee admonished to remeber, that from dust they came, and to dust

Platin lib.de kgib.3.cap.9

to know the Things fit and

roued to Chilo, and his

they should returne againe.

Plato recordeth, that this faying of Chilo, Know thy felfe, was written in letters of golde, vpon the portall of Apolloes Teple. Inuenall faith, That this (aying came fro Heauen. Macrobius, in his Tract of Scipioes Dreame, faith; That the Oracle of Apollo being demanded the meanes, what course should be taken, for attaining to felicity, answered: Onely teach a man to know himfelfe.Demonicus, being asked, at what time he began to be a Philosopher, answered; necessary tor when I began to know my felfe. O most neceffary rule; for if a man would confider himselfe well, and study but to understand his condition, estate and vacations, and frame his life accordingly thereto: hee could neuer bee fo changed, to attempt fuch things, as he neyther shold or ought to do, neyther would there bee so much diforder in the world, as now there is.

Chilo also had an accustomed kinde of Prouerbiall speeches, to wit: Remember graue fentenes witten & thou must dye, and therefore prouide for wied by Chilo thine owne (aluation. Honour olde men. Be no murmurer. Speake no euill of an offendour. Chuse rather losse, then dishonest gaine. In violence and constraint bee milde and humble. Labour rather to beloved, then feared. Try Gold by the touch; for, a golden-tongued ma, who feaketh all that comes into his mouth, men may often heare from him, (uch things as they would not.

Chilo being asked by one, named Æfope, what God had done, answered; Hee exalted humble men, and suppressed proudionorant Fooles. Being demanded also, what was the hardest thing in the world to bee done, replyed: To vse and imploy a (mans time well, and to pardon injuries and outrages received. In briefe, he would viually fay, that he would so dispose the course of his life: That the greatest persons should not despise, nor the meanest feare him . Finally,

Chilo both wrote and spake many notable things in his time, which would require ouermuch leyfure to report: And therefore, we wil take our leave of him, making way to entertaine our 4. man of Greece.

Leobulus, who was also one of the scauen Sages, was borne in Landos, a City in the Isle of Rhodes; or as some others fay, in Caria, a Towne of Anconia, a Region in Greece; and his Fathers name was Enagoras. This Cleobulus, beside his being a very fingular wife man, was also of very goodly bodily feature, and wonderfully actine of his person: so that eyther, or both these happy blessings togither, made him admired, and effected generally. The loue of learning prevailed in fuch fort with him, that he forfooke his Country, Parents and Friends; trauailing into Egipt, where (in those times) were many goodly and famous Vniuerfities.

He had a Daughter named Cleobolina, that could inuent and write in profe, be. yond ordinary compasse of men or women, and very skilfull thee was befide, in propounding questions of difficult resolution; as this one for an example. A Father had twelve children, and each childe had thirty sonnes, all white by nature, and thirty daughters, sall of them naturally blacke: all Her witty which were immortall, and yet (notwithstanding) were discerned to dye daily. By which Enigma, thee vnderstood the yeare, that hath twelue Moneths, and enery Moneth thirty dayes and thirty nights.

But come we againe to Cleobulus, who after his returne out of Egipt," deferued fo highly by his learning and judgement, as to be ranked among the feauen Sages of Greece. And many of his learned fayings and fentences, were held as rules and directions for mens lives. Among other, he vsed most of all to say; That Mediocrity Cleobulus his was without compare. And affuredly, thefe on of Mediwords greatly confirmed the faying of octive. Chile, who wold have every man to know himselfe: For if we knew our selues well, and as we ought to do, a meane then in all things would eafily gouerne vs. By this fentence then of Cleobulus, making fuelf precious account of Mediocrity; we may Omne quodell well conclude, that all extremities are vi- nimia vertition cious. As much to fay, when there is too in vitium. much, or too little: whereupon our ancient Philosophers vsed to fay; Beware of Cleobulus, wife man of Greece, a ma of learning and excellent compolure of body.

woman of rare ingenu

Solon in the

Atiflan Polit. Lib.3.cep.7.

Horace in lib.

1.cap.6.

ceffe is vile. Aistoile attributeth this sentence to wife Bias, and some other to Solon, but be it howfoeuer: Vertue alwayes confifteth in mediocrity: According to the faving of Aristotle Vertuctormenteth it selfe by too much or too little : For vertue is nothing elfe but a mean or mediocritic, confifting betweene two extreamities. Horace appointed in his Discourses, that a meane should be observed in all things. For (faith he) all that goeth before it, or contendeth to come after it keeping neither meane nor mea-Sure; can never be faid to be well accoplished.

An infinite number of examples may be alleadged to this purpose, especially concerning the foure principall vertues,

too much, declaring thereby, that all ex-

Approbation by the foure Cardinal Ver tues,& their contraries of opposites.

which are commonly called Cardinall. For Fortitude is lodged betwixt Feare & Boldnes; & Liberality keeps the mid-way betwixt Couctoufnes and Prodigality; as the like may be fayd of other vertues, and humane operations, which ought to gouerne themselves by time and necessity: vet with this charge neuertheleffe, to beware of ouer-much in any. This is a do-Arine conformable to the faying of Hefiodus, oftentimes alledged by reverend E-Heliodus rasmus, commanding all men to obserue Fraimus. Terentius. a measure in their actions. Asmuch maintaineth Plato, Terence, Plautus, and many o-Plautus.

ly; That happy men alwayes follow a meane in their trauells.

And(in this case) the reason is peremptory, for all things are even as nothing, they have their beginning and their end. and so they passe away : Reason then fits them with an apte conclusion, that theyr perfection confifts in the midft of the five Zones or Plages, which girdle round the whole wide Vniuerse; the two extremest are held to be inhabitable : and yet contrarywife, those in the middst are allowed to be most perfect. The Sunne which is held to be Prince of the Planets, is in the midft of the errant or wandring Stars. Among men, the place of honour is in the mid(t, & (indeed)it is hard to make any agreement, except ther be a third to ferue as the means. To conclude, the meane fo much commeded to vs in all things, con-

cernes chiefly Christ, that hee would be caled the Mediator betwixt God & man.

ther Authors both ancient and moderne,

enery one of them anouching common-

He vsed divers other notable sentences beside, as, Beware of gining thy friend occasion to reprodue thee : shunne the ambushes of by Cleobular thy enemy: Before thou goeft out of thy houfe. remember what thou halt to do: and upon returning home, confider what thou halt done: match not in marriage, but with thine equall, for if thou takest a wife of a better house then thine owne thou makest thy selfe a slave to her and her kinred : Pardon the errours of other men, and never be paring of thine owne: The more liberty thou hast , so much the lesse vise make of it : Be not prowde in prosperity, nor faint-hearted in aduer sity. Inure thy selfe to beare the trauerses of fortune patiently. Many other fingular Sentences are attributed Ausministry to Cleobulus, which Ausonius and Diogenes vit.clieb. Laertius haue recorded in their works, affirming withall, that he dyed at the age of feauenty yeares.

Ow it remaineth to speake of Pittacus, of Mittylene, the capitall Citty in the 5. of the Gu Ifle of Lesbos, and at this day called Mity- cian Sign lene, his fathers name being called Hyrradius . He was of fuch learning , wifedome and ingenuitie of spirit, that the Græcians placed him in ranke among the seauen Sages. The loue hee bare to his Countrey, moued him to make warre against the tyrant Meleager (who vsurped thereon) so on the spran that he enforced him to flight. In the war betwixt the Athenians and them of Mitylene, about a field then in controuerficance Athenians was Generall for the Mityleneans, and became Conquerour, and flew Frinenes Generall for the Athenians in the open field. Whereupon, the Athenians quitted vnto Pittacus, the contentious field which they quarrelled for , in regarde of the victorie which hee obtayned against them; and gaue him the government of their Common-wealth, which he ruled worthily the space of ten years, ordayning many good Lawes and Constitutions for the benefit thereof. Which having done he willingly gaue ouer his gouernement, as it was freely put vpon him : and lived vntill hee was feuenty yeares olde, beloued and honoured generally.

His fayings and Sentences are no leffe confiderable, then those of the other Sages, neyther the maner of his life. For first The flender of all, he made fo final account of the dig-nity, gold and riches of Crafus, King of Crofus, and Lydia, that hee would not receive any of all his pompe.

The earth re

puted to be

certaine, bu

de fea moft

ngergine

Worthy Tay

ings vied by Pittacus.

A Table of

gold drawn

pout of the Sesin a Fi-

hims but fent him word, that he had no need of his gold or filuer, because he had already a great deale more, then willings lyne would have. Giving thereby to vor deritand, that hoe was forry for his Brotherefurceffion, which happened to him. because he affected his Brothers better ther his owne welfare. He often faide. that things to como were very difficult to understand and that therewas morning in the world more certain then the earth; and contrariwife, what there was potany corretory in the Seath to which sets in distance sefore shey happen, the better to bun and keepe bim alfe from them. Recourt that with patience, which force cannot commands Hethat knowes not haw to bolda his peace knowes no fit time when he hold heak. In time of properity get thee friends de make proofe of them in adversity ... Noner boost of what show wilt does least thou heaf corned if thou canst not do it. Looke how than art te-wards thy Father Luch shall the children bee to thee. So much for Pittacustatio T Hales, the fixt of the Sages of Greece, was a Natiue of Miletums A. Citty much renowned in Greece; and for the many vertues abiding in him, deferued well, that the cheefe place among the Sages, should be assigned to him. For in the first place, he was Soueraigne in Geometry, and the first man thee discouered the prinsipall fecrets of Afrology has the courfe of the Sun, the reason of his Belinfes; and likewife of the Moone, and the Equinoctials. In briefe, he brought to light the courfe of the Planets, and many other fe-crets of natural Philosophy, Moreover, he was the cause, that the proud Title of Sages remained to the feuen learned men of Greece, by this accident.

Vpon a day, fundry young men, and friendly companions of Miletum, had bought a draught of certaine Fishermen, having cast foorth their Net into the sea, and thefe young men were to have the benefit, of al to be drawne up at that time. A most admirable case suddenly happened for when the Net was drawing up, they found therein a Table of Golde, beautified and enriched in most costly and sumptuous manner. They which bought the draught, pretended, that the table of gold belonged to them, by their bargaine. The Fishermen (on the contrary) auouched it to be no file, & that they bought nothing of them but onely all the fifth which shold benaken cland therefore fin that respect) they had no right an all to the Table. A long and great contention grew between shems which to be the fooner ended by full confent on cyther lide they fented the Oracle of Abellos, for a finall resolution must end the on where he, or the divell foreking by controuetie. him, made this, answers by That the Table must be given to the only wife man at Grance Which beeing thus understood, the pedthen Table was fented Thales, as being the wifeft manie Greace. But he was fo modeflichat he fent it to another of the Sages before named (for they were al living authattime) and hee fent it to another to that the Table of gold paffed from hand spinand votill at last it camero Solon who likewife would not enjoy it thus fent is to the Temple of Apolle at Delphos. has Aufonius Callimachus and many other write, that shrough the courtefic yled in the Sages one towards another, the Table thors, concerreturned againe to the hand of Thales, to ning this Hiwhom at first it was presented; and that helent it to the Delphian Oracle Bur bowfoquer those Authors write diverfly concoming this Hultory, yet all doc agree togother in this that Thales was the first ma. to whom the golden Table was fent. (10) Aristotle making mention of Thales, Arifin 3.11b. reciteth many conceited fayings proces. Polit cap. 9. dipp from him especially in his Bookes of Pollicies and manuely one, which he vied Pollicies, and maniely one, which he view be rich when be pleafed, he could be be rich when rich. Whereof he made good and fuffici- he lifted. ent proofe , for forefeeing by Aftrology, that there would be a good feafon for Or lines, and Oyle of Olines (foone after) was likely to be deare; he laid out his monev to buy Olive-Ovle while the feafon ferued, which afterwards hee folde at what rate he pleafed. Not because thereby hee would enrich himselfe; but to make a manifestation, that when he listed he could be rich, confidering what knowledgehe had, both for times of abundance, & likewife of dearth, when they would happen. On a time it came to passe, that as he was gazing vpon the ftars, he fell into a ditch; which an old woman feeing, & comming fallen into a (woon his outcry) to help him, in mocking maner faid to him. Tel me Thales, how darelt

thou presume to foretell of things to come, by consideration of the Stars, and yet couldst not

The Oracle of Apollo

The Table of gold fent to Thales, as the onely wife man of Greece

30563 aster Bas

ard marel mong Au-

A 6

ditch-was re-

The Sunne, Prince of the Comparison

of the fiue

The onely cheefe meane . boue all oDiuers wife layings often

"A philolo-

pher & fchol

ler to Philo

Biblius,a Icw

Periander the

laft of the few

uen Sages of

Periander re

pured not to be a philoso-pher, but king of Corinth

borne in A.

lez andria.

fee, what was under thine owne feet upon the ground. And yet notwithstanding he was knowne to be an admirable wife man.He was wont to fay: That over-great affurance and confidence, rows evermore accompanyed with repentance. For many times, fuch as must roo much to others faithfull promiles are faine to pay the debts from which no other caution could prevayle with them . He fayd moreouer ; That the true meanes of lining vertuonfly, is, by not doing fuch things, as we condemne in other men. Being demanded, what was the cafielt thing in the world to does he answered, To know other mens faults, and none of our owne. He fayd alfo; That few Tyrants lined to be old. Diogenes following the opinion of "Hermippus, fayd; that Thales vied to thanke God for three things (though this Schrence is fathered on Socrates:) First, that he had made him a man, and not a beast. Secondly, that hee had made him a man, and not a woman. Thirdly , that hee was borne a Greeke, and not a Barbarian.

Now we come to speake of Periander, the last of the Gracian Sages, of whom I haue no great matters to relate; because (according to divers authors) he was not in the rancke of the seauen Sages, and yet a man of fingular wit and vnderstanding. Periander was King of Corinth, and the fon of King Ciphilas: the maner of his life being rather tyrannicall, as litting like a Soldiour or Captaine, rather then a Philosopher . And hence it enfued, that Heraclides, and many more befide, efteemed this Periander to be none of the seauen Sages of Greece: but another Periander, who was (indeed) a great Philosopher; and a man highly renowned for vertue. Neuertheleffe, the most voices gave the title of Sage to Periander; for although hee reigned by power at Cerimb : yet notwithstanding, he was so discreet, valiant and of so absolute understanding, that thereby he won the name of Sage among the Greeks.

It was demaunded of him, why he did

Consideration very frequent in his talke, as declaring therby, that the principall thing

not depart from his tyranny & kingdom? His answere because (quoth he) I may fall into as great when he wold daunger, by willingly leaning my kingnot leave his Kingdome. dome, which none other can dispossesse me of by force. He vied continually many notable Sentences, and had the word wee should have care of, is, to consider well what affaires we vneettake. The Poer Aufonius, expounding the word confideration, faith; A man Should thinke terme times on any thing, before hee prefume to us semps it. For men (often-times) fall into deration great daungers, through much inconfideration : especially, when they will not be governed by wisedome or councell, but raffily follow the perfusions of For-Persue ((and Perlander) is immortally

but the pleasures of this world are of small continuance. In times of property , be wife and modest of in advertity patient and conftant . Line in such fort , that thou manest eternal me have honour by thy life, and that after thy death, men may account thee happy. Let ancient Lawes and Ordinances be rules for thy governement, inducing no novelties into the Common-wealsh . Profite flould alwayes be accompanyed with good grace and honestie. Performe that chearefully, which thou canst not prevent but cowardly.

Compleate he was in these, and infinite other of the fame nature, which breuity maketh me spare to speake of.

CHAP. XXIIII.

That Sight is the chiefest and principall Sence of all the rest. And of many being blind, who nevertheleffe were men of great honour and renowne.

Ristotle had great reason to of all the other corporeal fen-the emission for the case of the feated fight maine Cittadell, in the high

& most eminent part of the body, whereby we may understand, that it partaketh greatly with fire : by vertue and power whereof, it is placed about all the other fences. Touching hath a terrestrial participatio, for the earth is most touchable The Element and tracable; and of all the Elements, tary quitie Tasting holdeth with Aquositie and humiditie : for, without humidity, a man cannot tafte any thing. As for Smelling, Aristotle attributeth it to fire, faying: Heate is the foundation of odour, and her end confiffeth in vapour, toyned to an Ayre groffe, and full of exhalation . Concerning partaketh with ayre, which entering into the cares, by found, caufeth hearing; but fight participateth with fire. And although that the Eye were composed of a moult and waterish bodie, yet notwithstanding, without Fire, it wer not Sight hol-leth more of Fire, possible to have sight : whereby wee may then al the o. perceine, that Sight or Seeing houldeth more of fire, then all the other fenfes doe beside. And because the eye (as Aristotle (aith) doth more present the figures of things to a man, then all the other fenfes: to it is granted, the beginning of contemplation, and knowledge of all things, For Sight the be-ginner of con from fight proceedeth admiration, and the confideration which a man hath by feeing, occasioneth a defire in him, of coming to vertue: So that (by good right) we may call the Eye, the Author and Inuenter of all Arts and Disciplines.

Chap.24.

In the prime place, by the Eye, a man

The fingulare confidereth the admirable Architecture

emplation.

ther fenfet.

not attaine to but becomerh better enitru-

and celeritie of the Eye in er operatios

Hearing con Prehendeth

Hearing, euerie one well knoweth, that it king. For, Touching must have one thing or another, to execute her power and office vppon, before thee can expresse her prerogative. Tasting also must needs tarry, for some things answerable to hir pallate. And Smelling requireth fuch a levfure, in receiting an ayre qualified, as may penetrate into her nostrilles : As the like doth Hearing, to comprehend a voice entering into the cares. But Sight only worketh instantly, and presently comprehendeth the images of things prefented to hir in an vnípeakable and gracious manner. For, blowes may bee feene giuen a great way off, and although the found or noyfe of them bee not heard fo foone; yet notwithstanding, there is nothing that can on is, so can conceale fight of the strokes, for they are none of the fodaine and apprehensiue vnto the Eye. And therefore, Seeing furmounteth the other senses, because it extendeth it selfe so farre.

In this respect, by many Histories and

examples reported by Pliny, wee may eafily gather, that Sight hath a farre larger extent, then all the other fenfes, without any comparison, or wearying her felfe te-dioufly, as all the other do. For the Tafte tireth it selfe by too much feeding. The cerneth along other fenfes.

benefit recey- of the heavens, & of all the other bodies: by the Eye we discerne their colours and greatnesse, their formes, number, proportion, and measure; their sense motion, & their resting. And although Hearing had some concurrence in this case with Seeing, fo that it might be tearmed a fense of Hearing can- doctrine and of discipline, because men learne vertue by hearing and understanding: yet (for all this) that title appertayneth principally to the fight, as vnto her, that giveth the meanes to the vnderstanding to enquire by the plenitude of things which she heareth, to come to the true knowledge of them; to the end, that this knowledge may afterward be communicated to other. Hereby then we may obferue, that the first four fe or fpring of instruction, commeth from the Sight, who afterward maketh Hearing mistris of the worke, by comprehending those admirable things prelented first to the eies cenfure. Wherein also may be noted, that Hearing can comprehend nothing of it felfe, without vfing the means of another; but the Sight comprehendeth all thinges (as it were) cuen of it felfe.

Moreover, Seeing surpasseth all other fenfes, in swiftnesse and promptitude of her operations; for in an instant, and with no more then a cast of the eye, she perfetardines in all cteth her deffeignes : whereas the other fenfes are long, & laborious in their wor-

Eare is easily offended, by talkative babling. The Smell is trauailed extremely, by continuation of sweete Odors. But Sight folie, hath no fense of paine in her operations. Nor doth the at any time to wearie her felfe, as to close her lids retiredly; but rather, the is never fatisfied with Seeing. In briefe, the excellency of Seeing is fo The name of great, that the name of Seeing is attributed to all the other fenfes, in theyr fenerall buted to the operations. For, men ordinarily fay, Beother fenfes holde the excellencie of this fweete O.

dour a little while; or the Delicacie of this Mulicke; or the rare tafte of this Fruite. The name of Seeing, extendeth it felfe | Seeing extento the operations of the vnderstanding; deth to vnuer for it is an viuall faying; Marke how my intention will come to passe. It is likewife fayde in the Gospell, that our Lord and Saujour faw (that is to fay, knew) the Matth, 12,20, thoughts of the Scribes and Pharifees. And verily, among the miracles & workes which our bleffed Saujour did in those vnworthy Countreyes; it is helde for the uir g fight to most especiall and singular, that he gaue the blind must fight to the blind. And therfore ther is no

in their kinds

Christ his gicommended.

labor, wherein our Physitions more gladly study and take paines, then to preserue

I reade of a holy man named Azarias,

turne to speake, he faid; There is nothing better to comfort the fight, then enuy; because it will alwayes make the goodes of an other man feeme greater then they are . This a-greeth with Ouids faying: Enuy euer thinks his neighbours Corne, more goodly then his owne. Notwithstanding, according to the opinion (almost) of all men, Spectacles do greatly serue to defend the fight:

and furely, they were a very good innen-

tion, though the first deuiser neuer knew

I have heard of a great Lord in Spaine,

that would alwaies eate Cherries with his Spectacles on his nofe; onely to make them feeme the bigger and more nouri-

thing : but yet this gourmandife was exorbitant. An other Gentleman, beeing quipt by K. Phillip, because he sed ordinarily with Spectacles on his nofe; answered the king, Sir you count it not strange,

that I viency Spectacles in reading a Letter, in which can be no danger at all: why

then do you blame me, because I eat fish

with Spectacles on my nofe, wherein are fuch an infinite number of bones, as the very least is able to strangle me, & which

I canot fee without my Spectacles? Spectacles then ferue to very good purpofe

many times. But to our former purpose

Although Sight is the chiefe guide of man: vet notwithstanding. I have read of diuers blind men, who were of no meane fame and reputation : Nature supplying their understanding, for whatfoener wanted in their fight. Appins Claudius the great Orator, highly honored and effectmed of Cicero and Titus Linius, although hee was blind; was elected Cenfor at Rome, which office hee mannaged with fo fingular authority, as he only hindred the peace the whole Senate had concluded with King

Pyrrhus. Cicero discourseth amply in the fifth Booke of his Tusculans Questions,

concerning the blindnes of Appius Clau-due, and of remedies against diseases in againe concerning Sight.

and maintaine the fight of men.

who being present in a consultation, that 4 Hiftory of diuers Phylitions made before Fredericke Fredericke King of Na King of Naples, concerning the maintaining of mens fight . When it came to his

Of the enuious man.

Spectacles helpe to preferue the

A gluttonous Feeder.

A Gentleman of Spaine alwayes vied his Spectacles at his meales.

Diuers blinde men of great bonour and excellency.

Blinde Appius Claudius, Cenfor of Ciceroin Tufculan.lib.s.

the eyes.

Antipater of Cyrenaica, and Asclepiades fter hapned to him in his olde age.

Didimus Alexandrinus, may likewise be ranked with them that have gone before, Didimus A who beeing blinde euen from his youth, the famous became (neuerthelesse) a most perfect Logitian, Logitian; studying besides, in all other humane disciplines; and hee made a very notable Commentary vpon the Pfalms of Dauid. Such then, as wee have before spoken of, perceiving themselues to be deprined of their fight, did yet strine and labour to perfourme things memorable, as Necessity is alwayes sayd to bee indu-

felfe, made the world both aftonished &

Caiss Drufus, the most famous Lawyer and Aduocate, was blinde; and yet nea famous law. uertheleffe, his house was continually full yer blinde, & of clients and futers, who rather affected yet wrote a to be guided by his darke wisdome, then nicle. worthy Chro. by their owne eye-fight. Caius Auphidius, a great companion with Cicero in his youth, was Prætor of Rome; and yet left not to opine in the Senate, and all his friends received councell from him, in their very greatest and weightiest affairs. And notwithstanding this blindnes, yet he digested a very notable Chronicle, of his own writing, whereof was made most high cstimation. Diodorus a Stoicall philosopher, was greatly renowned in his Diodorusa darkenes, and for all that imperfection, he who taught could fludy in the night time, & play on Gromety in his viole in the day; nay more, he taught his blindnede Geometry publikely, a matter almost incredible, confidering that it can not be practifed but by the eie.

the Critike Poet, were both of the blind; Antipater and yet bearing their difaster with patient and Asclepi foules, they never gaue over studying ades Critical Philosophy, but therein spent their time to the benifit of many. And when certain Ladies (griculog at his hard fortune) fate weeping by Asclepiades, hee said to them: Forbeare (noble Ladies) because you know not what a pleasure it is to dwell in darknes: they then demanding of him, what profit he received by his blindnes, he replied; I have a boy more now to keep me company then Ihad before. Homer, the Prince of Poets, Homer being was blind alfo, as his name imported; ac- blinde, was cording to the faying of Cicero: neuerthe called the leffe, tis vnknowne when he loft his fight; but true it is (as Owid faith) that this difa-

But that which Democritus did to him-

Democritus the Philoso sher, placke out his owne taineth, that he did it, onely to avoide the

Lica, chiefe Captains and of the Behe-

Chap.25.

Eng Edward of Englands lexandrinus, fmile at together: For, (as Lucretime and Aulus Gellius do affirme) he pluckt out his owne cics, to injoy the more freedome in his contemplations. But Tertullian (who was an Author worthy of credite) maininordinate appetites of the fleth.

Aboue all other men, subjected to the infelicitie of blindenesse, Zifea the Bohemian deserueth no meane remembrance, who being blind, was chosen chiefe Captaine and Commaunder of the Sea hee professed among the Bohemians; and so well executed his charge, that he obtain ned many victories against his enemies, and carryed himselfe so woorthily in his place, that hee atchieued immortall me-

Belus also, second king of Hungaria, being elected chiefe of the Hungarian army, had his eyes pluckt out by the meanes of King Colomanus, his owne vnckle. Being blinded thus, hee withdrew into Greece, where he made fuch plaine apparance of his manly spirit and wisedome: that king Stephen, fonne to king Colomanu, repealed him, and gaue him in marriage the daughter to the count of Seruia. In which dignity he carried himfelfe with fuch rare integritie, as (after the death of King Seephen) hee was chosen King of Hungaria. And being blinde, reigned nine yeares; during which time he had divers warres, and especially against Broccus, the bastard fonne to King Colomanus; whom yethe vanquished, so that he left the kingdome of Hungaria peaceably to his fonnes.

The last blinde man, whereof wee will speake at this time, was John, King of Bo. bemis, who reigned in the yeare of our Lord 1350. or thereabout. And furely, it is almost myraculous of this Prince, that blinde Zifca should maintaine his Commaunders place so worthily, being Generall of the Behemian army, against Belus then reigning in Hungaria : yet I holdall nothing to blinde John of Bohemia, who had fo much valour (after his owne, vi-Ctories) to fuccour (in perfoh) Phillip king of Praunce, his kinfeman , in his warre a. gain f King Edward of England . For this blind King, euer affected to make one in the field; affifting also the Barle of Flanders, and many French Princes.

CHAP. XXV.

That Anarice or Coneton nelle, is a most enormous vice, and subject to great dangers: With fundry examples of divorte per (ons, who were extreamely conetons.

The reason of interting this termeddle among my telations, certaine histories of many couctous men, which may ferue as example to other yet living. Defiring all Readers (in the meane while) to confider the estate of a conetous man. with the like cie, as common people doe diligently looke vpon a monfter, which fome Inggler or Mountebancke bringeth into a city, for fingularity & obscription. As entrance then into our discourse it is to be noted, that Aristotle, Cicero, Thomas Aquinas, and many other Authours Tho-Adults belide, have dwerfly defined what Auarice is; neuertheleffe, we may deriue this resolution from their definitions. That Auarice is an inordinate delire of a mans enriching himfelfe, without sparing part of his goods to any others fo that we may well fay, this vice is excelling in defiring and griping, but very cold and flowe in gining or parting with any thing. Under the cloake of this finne, march a thousand diforders infinite injuffices and abhominations, fheltring themselves there to fafely, as they cannot doe the like in anie of the other vices. For as Fireil faith Execrable famine of gold, is there any vice which thou inducest not into the heart of mans | S. Paul alfo faith : Conetou [neffe or Anarice is the four feor roote of all entitles, banine made many to wander from Faith , which other. wifa would have kept and followed #;

That Avarice is a finne most abhominable, appeareth (ufficiently in this , because it makes a man hated both of God both of God and men, being (of it felle) quite contra- and Men. ry to Charitie: which is such a vertue, as conjoyneth God and men together, even as the opposite sinne maketh a man hatefull voto himselfe. For , the love of our felues is for potted in our hearts, that wee respect not any thing, in regarde of our

Yyy 3

Ariflotle. The definitio

Virgill, his exclamation or Auarice.

Austrice can

Augrice makerh mé care leffe of them felues in getting money, yes and to endanger their bodies and foules.

Men care nei ther for Parent, Wife,

themfelnes,fo

they may get riches.

Luke 16.19.

Children, Friend nor 798

felues, louing alwayes our owne profit, more then any others. And yet notwithstanding, Auarice hath gotten such preheminence ouer man, as he cares for nothing but getting money, beeing to for getfull of himfelfe, that hee will nevther care, drinke , nor clothe himfelfe decently; but rather is content to fast, and almost starue himselse, because he will not allow the least leisure from the scraping goods together. Nay, he feareth not to hazard both his foule & body, fo he may be fure to get money; which is a thing repugnant to the Lawe of Nature, who or dained and instructed vs , to affect and maintaine our felues, and contemne all things, before our owne lines. And yet the couetous man cares not to loofe and condemne his owne foule; yea, and abridge his life, which he will endanger in amoment, for the getting of a Crowne.

Vndoubtedly, it is much to be lamented . that a man should not respect himfelfe, nor his parents, wife, children nor friends prouided that he may wallow in wealth and mucke of the world : fuch an one was the Rich man, spoken of in the Gospell. What a miserable and wretched follie is it, to endure hunger, thirst, colde, ill cloathing, and neyther fleep by day or night, but every houre to endanger life, and yer make no vie of golde when it is gotten? It ought, and should ferue for the fustentation of life , and to that end riches were ordayned. Obserue the words of our bleffed Sanjour: What auxylesh it a man to winne the whole world. and loofe his life, that is, his foule? Surely, Pans of opinion other this happeneth by the Divine permission, cashing such couerous men inco a reprobate fenfe, to the end they may did in that auaritious will and defire: Sonfueron : cital ?

And yet notwith handing God often remitteth that wealth for aped together by fuch toyle and trauaile : shall fall into the hards of othery to scatter as prodigally, as it was gotten wickedly, and won-derfully spaning this is that whereof Salamon focukerhin his Ecclofinites : Such as brape up riches, solven by this wife, leane them for other collends Forstan that thing bee good for an other, which is call in him who hath is a Tauenall allo voon the very fame words freakerh thus " Some doe e nine and make profit out of to maintaine sheir life; and there are others, who line not but to game. In briefe, this wicked vice doth fo capeinate a many that it robbes him of all love and respect to himselfe: so that there is not any wickednesse in this world, but it may well bee expected in a concrous

" *Dion the Philosopher faid: Auarice is the head of all wickednesse. Euripides faith, pherof Bo. An ambitions & conetous Indge, can neither Tyfthenes. thinke or defire any just thing . Saint Augustine faith; who focuer (uffereth himfelfe Auginto he to be governed by Avarice , becommeth fub lib Arbit 144 iect to all vice: and wickednesse . And this is conformable to good reason. For the conetous man (by Auarice) becommeth a tempter, periured, an euill payer, an vfurer, a deceiner, a traytor, a turne-taile, a thiefe, a tyrant, and an idolater : fo that it is not possible, that a couetous man should have any good being; neyther as Lord nor vaffaile, gouernour nor subiect, father nor fonne, nor friend or coufine, and in the end, neuer doth good, execpt when he dyeth.

* Lucillius fayd . An auaritious man is good to no bodie, because he is wicked to him Selfe . Democritus maintained; That ex- liunginlutreame Auarice, is worfe then extreame Pouertie . Aristotle in the first Booke of his Politickes faith; Defire to become rich neuer 101.144. bath ending ; and therefore riches ferme as ponertie to a conetous man : because hee dare not rufe them, for feare of empayring his efate. The Stoickes had a faying , That withes and necessite came not of powertie, but of of the Stock aboundance: for, the more that a man hath, concerning without To much the more needy is he. Concluding, It is good to have a little, because at no time to be needie . Plato gaue this councell to a couetous man, to become rich indeed, hee should not encrease his wealth, but rather decrease his anarice or conerousneffer the years

All these notable Sentences before rentembred, are intirely conformable to Sentencerd she facred Scriptures, who declare; That touching to the eyes of a conetous man are infatiate . Sa- uctoufielle. boson allo faith in Ecclesiastions A conetons man is never fat is fied with money : And that who focuer additteth his mind pariches, that mouer entry them . Saint Augustine compareth the concrous man to hell, which dishes up can neuer be glutted enough and neuer faith it hath sufficient, although it hath beene fo long time in filling. Euen fo, the concerning and other cre be auariciou

Augustine

greedy couctous man is neuer fatisfied, but the more he gaineth, the more he gapeth still after gayne; thinking himselfe poorer and poorer. Saint Ierome fayth: The conctous man is so needle of that which bee bath, as if hee had it not at all. And alwayes his anarice encreaseth, as fire doth, being continually fed with dry wood. As much or rather more, have many other holie men fayd; all in veter detestation of this damnable finne.

Neuerthelesse, because I will no longer weary the Reader . I shall conclude this poynt with the faying of Saint Augu-Stine : How strangely insatiable is this desire in men? Other creatures have their appetites limited: for they hunt when they are hunory. and being satusted, they leave their prey. But bee that conetetb the riches of this world, is insatiable : for hee seeketh and hoordeth wp daily, taking wealth from all hands, without fearing, eyther God or men; Hee knoweth neyther father nor mother; he maketh no account of his brethren, or any friends of his; hee neuer careth for keeping his word : Hee oppresseth Widdowes, robbeth Orphants, and and ferues his turne with free-men, even as if they were flanes : He is commonly a falfe witnes, and cares not how hee engroffeth up dead mens goods: Are not thefe commendabla analities in a conetous man? Let vs flic then from this accurred vice, which (ouer & beside the former notes of wickednes) is incurable (according vnto the faying of Aristotle) for it encreasesh with age : fo

To thunne one falling into this flauith fin, I will alleadge fome examples of wicked couetous men, among whom, ludas Ifcariot marcheth in the first rancke; he being an Apostle and Disciple of Christ Iclus, was to subjected to Avarice: that he would robbe the money from the rest of his fellowes and companions, by bearing the bagge, and having the money in his owne possession. This wicked passion had fo farre blinded him, that he accounthe total country mind and the second the precious Oynment to bee loft, whitewith Mary Magdaler shayned the fewer of our bleffed Sautour. For, if the Oynment had been folde, the would hauestolne part of the price. In the end, he was fo ftrangely led by this finne, that (formoney) he folde his Lord and Maifter. This onely example were sufficient that Auarice is in his full reigne, when bodily strength fayleth in man.

to approoue whatfocuer hath beene faid concerning conetonines: neuertheleffest am content to report fome other, among which, Tiberius Cafar Emperour of Rome is the formost man; and questionlesse, there is no other vice in the world, better the Romane to be exampled in the Romain Emperors, then this of Augrice.

This Prince, among other his notorious vices, (whereto hee was very cafily mooued) was fo subject to penurious gri- far, who co ping, and pinching, that although he was uctoufly pur his own heire Lord of the whole world i yet notwithstanding, he put to death Cnaus Lentulus enioy his re-(whom he had instituted to be his heire) onely to enjoy his wealth. As much did he to the King of the Parthians, who did come to line with him under his fafeconduct; onely to possesse himselfe of the riches and treasure, belonging to the simply abused Prince. He so heavily charged the poore with taxes and toules, that they were enforced to forfake their countries, in such fort; that the Citties and Townes remayned defert and vn-inhabitable. In the end, purfuing on still his vn- He was found fatiable inclination : Caligula fmothered Galigula him betweene two pillowes, and so hee

Domitian the Emperout was more co uetous then het And the Emperor Commodus (therein) exceeded them both for he (ordinarily) vied to make port-fale of iustice : and therefore heuten iustly permitted them to be stabd to death by Ponyards . Achelous King of Lydis , was fo Achelous, ouercome with concroushesse, that hee could not be contented with his Crowne lands, and very large ordinary renenews; but layd (belide) fuch taxes and impositions vpon his fubicets, that they arole in Armes agains him , and having taken him, murdered him most miferably, and (afterwards) hong him up by the heeles! Pontanus maketh mention of a Cardinal who was fo extraordinarily muaritions; as treme couethe would often difguise himselfe like vitto ous Cardinall a poore groonie or flatte, and ficale away the proughder from before his owner hore fes. Horace faith, that there was a man in Rome, named Ouid, who was fo about? Awterclad dantly rich in money, that he could mea! and mifrepla fure his gold and Silver by many buffield couctous man and yet notwithstanding, hee would goe Rarke naked ; and neuer did eate halfe fo much as would fuffice-him; as fearing

Example of in divers of

Tiberius Cx to death to Domitian and Commodus, two extreme

A most ex-

The niggard Oftentimes gets goods toprodigall to fpend varihrif-tily

Ecclel 7.3

8 Booke

Of great Policies prevented.

801

Or Pigmalion, as fome writers call

Poliftus, King of Troy.

most wretchedly all his life time. Many other might be spoken off, too much addicted to this detestable sinne, as Primaleon, the brother to Dide, who flew his coufine, onely to enjoy his riches. Polist walfo, King of Troy, who put to death one of King Priams fonnes, being fent to honour him in his Court: but fuch prolixity of examples may prooue offenfine. We will content our felues then, to know how we ought to shunne this sin, which is the occasion of infinite cuils: and so much the rather; because men are continuallie more enclined to Auarice, then to Liberality.

still least he should fall into pouerry, lived

CHAP. XXVI.

A verie singular reason, delivered by Phausrinus the Philosopher concerning Astrologers; that it is not good to demand any Question of them, having relation unto future matters.

Emore doubtfull in the act of judiciall Aftrologie, which

Indicial A-firology con-tinually mifdiscourseth of shinges to come, and accidents happening to men, as wel in particular, as generally throughout the world some condemning it, and veterly reichting it; others approquing it in part : some beside maintaining it by strong reasons, and by experience. Moreoner, there are store of booker, which I could produce here, as warrantable prefidents : but I mean not way that to troble my felfer, although I have fludied fufficiently in that part of Astrology, which difcourfeth on the course and motion of the Beging willing then, not to touch the honour and reputation of any person ... I will onely alledge, what the Philosopher Phanatinus laide, according as Aulus Gallim relateth. He being defirous to retreat and turne mens mindes, from repoling any truffin Aftrologers, Caldeans, or Mathematitians, concerning the knowledge of things to come : vied a reason very ingenious and acute, speaking in this manner, and as himfelfe hath fette downe the

Be well adulfed, that thou give no credite to Afrologers, in any manner what soeuer: Physicians For, although they tell thee true, that which spaint coals they fay, will be either good or ill for thee; and dence in the being good, it must be truth, or a lye. If it be strologet. trueth thou mailt receive double damage by knowing it : for first of all thy desireruns into further paine and tranaile, what good therby shall happen to thee, and how soon. Secondly a good or benefite to come (whereof thou hast thus received inselligence) is alwaies reckoned the leffe, because it cannot bee so complease, as if thow wert possessed thereof instantly. If it be a tye, thon expect est in vain, the benefite which the Astrologer promised thee, in regard it hall never come onto thee. What if that which the Astrologer foretolde thee, is ill and burtfull for thee? Being enil & certaine ; what more great difgrace can happen to thee, then to be possest of an enill turne, which thou must embrace, and is out of thy power to shunne or anoide? If it be a lye, who (bould a man be afflicted, or driven into sadneffe, by feare of a mischeese that shall never come neere him? Be it therefore in what forte focuer, it is not good to enquire after future Vr Ancient, yez, and more moderne writers, were euer

For mine owne part, I finde the counfel of this Philosopher to be so good, that I hold it agreeable vnto the holy Gospell, the Philoso which fayeth: It is not for vs to know times, seasons nor moments.

CHAP. XXVII.

Divers examples of fundry accidents whereby great plots and designements of great Politickes, have bene distipated and overshrowne. Alfo, concerning Policies, the (for a time) have beene profitable, and yet in the end have proved pernitions.

E E reade in Plutarch, that the people of Sicily (beging oppressed with divers Ty-Trants) craved affiltance of the Corinthians, who fent them (for their fuccoun) a Captaine of theirs called Timoleon, a man famous, not kon, ouerthrowne by a frange acci

ferue the lines

of vertuous

Muriher is a

in fo heinou

that often it is revenge d

Chap.27.

had (within a while) fuch good fuccesse, that the Tyrants despairing of ability eyther to ouercome him, or to defend them felues by force against him : One of them (being named Icetes) Subborned a couple of desperate companions to kill him. And they perswading themselves, that it might best be done, as he should bee facrificing to his Goddes; watched on opportunitie for that purpose, and finding him one day in the Temple, ready to facrifice; they drew neere him, to execute their intent. But as they were readie to strike him, one of the standers by (who suspected nothing of their intention) vppon a fodaine, gaue one of the Conspiratours such a mortall wound, that he fell downe deade in the Thefeare the place. The other (feeing his fellow flain, minist of hea and thinking that the confpiracy was difun, to pre- couered) fled into the Alrare, and taking hold thereof, craued pardon of the Gods and Timoleon, promifing, that (if he wold faue his life) hee would discouer all the practife.

morall vertue and piety. This Timoleon

In the meane time, hee that had killed the other Conspiratour, being fled; was taken and brought back, calling God and Man to witnes, that he had done nothing but a most just and lawfull acte, in killing him that had flaine his Father. Which being knowne to some that were present, and testified by them to be true; filled all the affiliants with admitation of Gods prouidence; who by fuch a fodgine and vnexpected accident had not onely ouerthrowne the pernitions plor, and defignement of the wicked Tyrant, and preferred Timoleon, but also had executed his justice on a murtherer.

Heereupon, Plutarch maketh a, notaof Fortune ac-Proclus in Com.

The definitio ble discourse of Fortune, following the opinion of the Platonists, concerning the same (which they define to bee Demoniacum potestatem, &c. An Angelicall power, connecting divers and different causes, to produce some effect.) And therfore, he nomen in Time. teth in this History, how the good Angel of Timoleon, did (for his preservation) affemble, and (as it were) chaine things together, that had no coherence of themfelues, making one of them to be the beginning of another. For, although the murther of his Father that flew the Con-

onely for Militarie discipline; but also for | spiracie against Timeleon; yet, neither that murther had bene reuenged, if this Conspiracy had not followed; nor this Conspiracy had beene discouered and ouerthrowne, but by occasion of that murther committed long before. Thus difcourfeth Plutarch vpon this accident; which beth the prealthough he referred to Fortune (fpeaking fernation of thereof, according to the opinion of the Timoleon, to Platonists) yet he alcribed it principally to of God, by the the providence of God, who by the mini- meanes of his stery of his good Angell', protected and preferued his fernant Timoleon, in refpect of his great piety and denotion: and this becing well understoode, is no way repugnant vnto Christian Catholike Do-Ctrine.

> Burto come to examples neerer our Phil com. c. 88 time, Charles Duke of Burgundie, beeing -at Warre with Lewes the cleuenth, King Another exof France, had (for his Confederates) the defiguement Dukes of Guienne and Britany, whereof of Charles D. the first was the Kinges owne Brother, of Burgundy, ouerthrowne And having beene (in former time) twice by a chance. deceined by the faid King, with falfe treaties, and now defirous to quite him with the like; offered him to abandon his two Confederates, vpon condition: That he would reftore vnto him certaine Towner, which he had of his voon the Frontiers'. Advertifing his Confederats (in the mean time) that his meaning was not to forfake them, of to keepe any Couchant with the King; but onely to recouer his owner and then to delude him, as he had bene before deluded by him.

The King (fuspeding no deceit)accorded to the conditions and fent his Ambafadors to Duke Charls to take his oath for performance of the Couenantes on his part. The Duke sware, of rather forsware himselfe (promising vppon his Oath that which he meant not to performe) & then fent his Ambassadors in like manner vinto the King, to take his oath! In the meane time, before the Ambassadours arrived Afalle Oath where the King was, it pleased God so to requited by a dispose, that the Duke of Guienne the kings | Confederates Brother, and Confederate to Charle, dy- death. ed. Which the King understanding, and feeing himfelfe already delinered (by his Brothers death) of the daunger of Civill Warre, which he most feared: refused to fweare, and stand to his couenants. And fo, all the crafty deuice and fubtle plot of spirator, had no connexion with this con- Charls was ouerthrowne, by the sodaine

Plutarch aferi

Aid Gel, in At

The Authou

himfelte a ftu

dent in Aftro

logie

The ouerthrow of Cz far Borgia (Machiauels mirrour for a Prince) by a fodain chance

Gwein Lib.6

Borgia the

great politici

Heereto I wil adde Cafar Borgia, Duke of Valencia; whome Machianell to highly admireth, that he proposeth him for a paterne or example to his Prince. This Cafar, being become exceeding tich and potent, by the helpe and Authority of Alexander the fixt, his Father; and fearing nothing so much as his Fathers death, wherby it might chance, that some enemie of his might be chosen to succeede him; ftodied and laboured by all meanes possible to preuent that inconvenience, & to procure, that the election of his Fathers fucceffour, might fall into the power of himfelfe and his friends. Which when hee had provided fufficiently, as he thought; it chanced by fuch meanes as I will de-accident of his confederates death, which |

he neuer dreamed of; and he himfelfe for(worne for nothing.

ed; but he fell likewise so extremely sicke at that time, that hee could execute nothing of that which hee had before refolan preuented ued. Whereby it came to passe (Godso disposing in his just judgement) that an enemy of his fathers and his (being chosen to fucceede) he was within a while vtterly onerthrowne. In which respect, he himfelfe was wont afterward to confesse, and lament the imbecility of mans write, because when hee thought, that he had forescene all inconveniences, which might happen to him by his Fathers death, and provided to prevent them : hee never fo much as imagined, that he should bee so ficke at the fame time, that he should not

After a while, not onely his Father di-

execution. And herein is also to be noted, for further proofe of the matter in hand, that he himfelfe was the cause, aswell of his owne fickneffe, as of his fathers death, and (confequently) of his owne ouerthrowe, by a wonderfull chance, which happed contrary to his expectation. For having inuited his Father, and Cardinall Cornetti to a Vineyard, with intent to poyfon the Cardinall, to the end to inherit his goods; hee re-commended a certaine Bottle of impoisoned wine, to a trusty servant of his, with speciall charge to keepe it safe, and give it to none without his expresse order. But it so fell out, by his feruants negligence (or rather by Gods.iustice)

be able to put any of his designements in that as the Pfalmift faith; Incidit in foucam quam fecit : He fell into the pit himfelfe, that Pfalme 7,16. he had made for other. For his Father, coming into supper very hot and thirsty, by reason of the great heates, and calling for wine; the feruant that had charge of the Bottle (not knowing it was poyfoned; but imagining onely, that it was fome especiall wine, more precious then the refidue) & not having any other ready (because the prouision was not brought from the Pallace) gaue him of that wine, whereof not onely he but his fon Borgia dranke. And being both poyloned therewith, the Father (who was old and weake) died prefently: but the Sonne being young, and more able to resist the force of the poifon; had time to take great and potent remedies, whereby (after a long and dangerous ficknesse) he hardly escaped. Thus was his bloodye plot and pernitious purpote preuented, by an accident which he neuer minded.

But let vs come now to an example in our Countrey of England, which manie the Duked yet may well remember. The Lord John Northumber Dudley, Earle of Warwick, and after Duke land, against the Lady Ma. of Northumberland, in the time of K. Ed-ry, elderland ward the fixte, meaning to advance himfelfe and his Family; married the Lorde ry the eight. Guilford Dudley (his fourth fonne) to the John Stowia Lady lane, daughter to the Duke of Suf. folke; pretending to make her Queene after King Edward, in prejudice of the Lady Mary, daughter to King Henry the 8. and eldeft fifter to the fayd King Edward. For, by reason of the Kings lingering sicknesse, he had time to vse all the meanes, which he thought convenient for the accomplishing of his desire. And therfore partly for friendship, and partly for feare, hee had heerein so farre prevailed, that therefeemed to want nothing for affurace of his intention : but only to haue the Ladie Mary in his hands; whome therefore hee procured the Councell to fend for in the Kings name; vpon pretence, that she should come to comfort the king, whereto the obeyed, not suspecting any finister meaning in the Duke.

But as the was voon the way, and formwhat necre to London; before the fell into the snare prepared for her, it pleased God, that thee received advice of the wardsher, by Dukes designement, from one of his own one of his counfell: wherupon the returned fodain- owne counce

ued at her owne house, she had newes of the King her Brothers death . And although the was destitute of men, money, counfell, and all other meanes to enable her, wherby to refift fo great an aduorary as the Duke (who was not meanly proud ded) yet fuch was her trust in God, as also the inflice and right of her canfe that the prouided her housholde servants to proclaime her Queene prefently in the countrey Townes thereabout. Whereupon, first the common people of the countries adioyning, and (afterward) divers Genclemen of account repaired vnto her in & great a number : that the Duke of Work thumberland and the Councell (who had already proclaimed the Lady Jane in London, and in divers parts) thought it conuenient to leuv forces, and to make a rovall Army, whereof the Duke himlelfo (for the authority of his person) was Geno-

The Duke then presently put himselfe into the fielde, leaving the charge of the Citty & Tower of London to the Lords of the Councell: who, vpon his absence. and vnderstanding the great concourse of people, to the affiftance of the Ladie Mary, and the equity of her cause infilie confidered : they agreed amongst themfelues, to proclaim her in London, as prefently they did, and committed to prifon the Lady Jane. Then fent they order to apprehend the Duke, who was fo diffnayed therewith when he understood it; that he vecerly loft his high and hopefull courage; and being taken prisoner at or nere Cambridge, was brought to London, and there afterward executed.

By thefe examples, and infinite others which might bee alledged, it is verie euident, that there is no furety in the plottes. and contriuings of men, be they never fo wife, except they be guided by the Spirit of God particularly. For, when they have built (as a man may fay) Towers of policy, as high as the Tower of Babel: a fodaine blast of an accident vnexpected, shall cast them downe to the very grounde, to the confusion (many times) and ruine of the builders and contriners.

But what shall we say of counselles and policies, that feeme not only to be grounded upon great reason, and contrined al fo with as great prudence; but also suc-

ly, and within a while after, that the arti- | ecede (for fome time) norably well. & yet in the end proue to be pernitious? When The Romane of we haue seene sufficient experience in thrown by the the Romane Empire, which was querthrowen in course of time, by that (which for many yeares) feemed to bee the ftrength and fecurity thereof. For whereas the first Romane Emperors, having oppressed the Common wealth by Azmes, perfineded therefelues, that their feate was to bee & stablished and conferred, by the selfesame meanes as it was gotten, and therefore refolued, that the fafety thereof, & of they persons, confisted in strong Guards, garrifons, Legions, and Armies of foldiers, to be distributed throughout all the parts of their Dominions : it is euident that the fame was (in the end) one of the principall and cheefels causes, of the Empyres verer ouerthrow, though (at the first) it feemed greatly to establish and affure the fame.

For, after the death of Nero (when the Family of the Calars was ended) not one- The factions ly the Guards deputed for the custody & sletion of fafegard of the Emperors persons, called guards and ar-Pretoriam milites; but alfo the Legions & mies of foldi-Armies, disposed and placed in diverse ours. quarters of the Empire (feeing as wel the porsonnes of the Emperours, as also the firength of the Empire in their own hads) did arrogate vnto themfelues fuch authority and liberty to chuse new Emperors: that they fet them vppe, and pulled them Suetonius downe at their pleafure. Wherby in leffe Platarch. then one yeare after Neroes death, foure Emperors, Galba, Otho, Vitellius, and Vepaffan, were chosen by the Guardes, who forced the Senate to admit and confirme them. And their infolency grewe to fuch extremity in time, that after the death of Elius Spartan the Emperor Pertinax (whom they killed) they made offer of the empire (by publike proclamation) to wholoeuer would give most for it. And whereas there was but onely two that offered money for it, Sulpitianus, and field to luch at Didius Iulianus; they gaue it to the latter, would give partly because he gaue them ready mony, most money and partly because Sulpitianus was Father in Law to Pertinax, whom they had flain. And, whilest not onely the Emperours guards, but also the soldiours of every army tooks voon them to make Emperors: it fell out fometimes, that there were as many Emperors chofen at once, as there

fame meanes

Cafar Borgia thinking to poilon another poisoned

ther & humfelf

The wealth

Trebel Pollie in triginta tyvání

were divers Armies in the Empire. Infomuch, that in the time of Gales and Valerian, there were no leffe then thirtie Emperous declared in fundry places, within the fluce of fifteene years : Whereup-

The ruine o many Emperors by their owne Guatds

Suetonius. Iul. Capitolinus Elius Lamprid Trebel, Pollio. Flanius vopifiu

pon it followed, that the Empire (beeing pittifully rent and torne with ritill warre) was fo weakened, that it became a prey to the Gothes, Vandides, Alans, Hannes, Lom bardes, and such other batbarous Natior Thus was the Romane Empire ouershowne, by the fame meanes, that were not only ordained to conferue and maineamout : but alfordid indeede (fot a time) preferue it from many dangers, both domesticall and forraine, to wit as well from inuation of formino enemics, asfrom rebellions of Subjects: which by the Emperours Guards, and the ordinary Legions, dispersed through all parts of the empire; were either easily preuented, or speedily repressed. For which cause, the Emperors themselves were content; to stand(15 it were) at their mercy, to the end that they might (by them) rule and command others; which although to some it was a fafegard and fecurity, yet to manie more it brought ruine and perdition; as to Caligula, Pertinax, Caracalla, Heliogabalus, Pupienus, Balbinus Galien. Severus, Macrinus, Aurelianus, Iulius Maximinus, Probus, With diversother; fome of them being flaine by their owne Guards, and some by their Soldiers,

This inconvenience, the Emperors of Turkes doe feeke to remedy, in their Tyrannicall Dominion (which they also vphold by force, as the Romans did, thogh with leffe danger.) For, although they have about three hundred thousad horse, and foote euer in readinesse, under theyr Golonels and Captaines, in Europe, Asia, and Affrica: yet they keepe them alwayes fundered, and farre difperfed, that they neuer come together in any number, vnleffethey are to be imployed in some forraine Warre. Neuerthelesse; theyr Guardes of Ianizaries, which they have alwaits neere about them, for the fecurity of their persons, to the number of thirteene or fourescene thousand, have proued (many times) no lesse dammageable, then dangerous to their States. For they have not onely fometime fet the younger Brother against the elder, and holpe the fonne to depose the father : but also (cuer in our Ago), i him etaken the most confi- Paullain, dene Officers and greatelt favorites of the Turke from him by force and imote off | va.z. sheir heades; and compelled him to pardoubliem wearand to gine them whatfacuer they would demaund; to appeale them. I in flury and saw them to thest

oul Myhercuppeniowo donfiderations may be gathered; the one, the infelicitie flaut to he of Tyrants; who while they feek rather to by whom he be feared, then louingly affected: are for oed to make themselves subjects & flaves to those, by whome they kneps other in Subjection and Sauery. Whereby wellet, how true it is which Soneca faith; Qued alienometà magnum est, suo non vacat. That which is great by others feare, is not voide of feare in in selfer. The other consideration, from and is, how tickle the state of Princes is, how weake their policies, how yncertaine the ces, without successe of their plots; and consequently, how needfull it is for them, to crave and haue the especiall protection of Almighty God, in all their delignements and a-Gions ; feeing the meanes, whereby they labour to preserve themselves from dangers, proue many times more dangerous in the end, then the dangers themselves. which they feeke to auoid.

This may further appeare, by the policie which Rodericke King of Spaine vied, Roderiche to affure his state against the children and friends of King Vitiza, whom hee had de- through posed. For fearing lest his subjects might owne put rebell in their fauour he dismantled al the frong holds and places in Spaine, and difarmed the people. Whereby, though hee ftrengthned his state, in regard of domeflical danger; yet he weakned it in refpect offorraine attempts. Infomuch, that the Moores invading him shortly after, and ouerthrowing him in battel found fo flender resistance afterward, that in seauen or eight moneths, they conquered almost al Spaine.

The like also may be saide of the Brittaines, to whom their owne policie proo- last ver ued most pernitious; for, being mollested incom, as by the Picts and Scottes; they called in the Sarons for their defence, who (for fome 16) 149.14 time) ferued them to good purpofe; but in the end, they conquered them & their

In like manner, the Queene of Hungarie thought it good pollicie, to procure

of policies to the devilers

worft kindes

No policie prevaileth a gainst the wil of heaven,

of the Romaines, brother vnto the Em- bleffed Lord and Saujour was there cruperour Charles, the fifth of that name; and | cified, dead and buried; and that the my-(for a certayne time) thee was releeued fleries and fecrets of our redemption, had and supported thereby : but in the end, Solyman comming into Hungarie, in his riwife, there is not any City in the world, owne person, with a pretence to succour that euer endured so many miseries and her : he depriued both her and her sonne mischiefes, or fell into such flauish setuiof their Kingdome : Also Amurath, one tude, as shee, and as is to be discerned at of Selymans Ancestours, conquered and this day. subdewed the greatest part of all Greece, euen by the very like kinde of meanes and occation.

this was so grosse a follie in Christian Princes (to put confidence and trust in the helpe of such potent and perfidious collect, that it was one of the most po-Infidells) that it is not to bee alleadged for an example of pollicie. I graunt that meth losephus, who describeth the three it was follie; but fuch kindes of follie walles wherewith it was ingirt : which nemay bee committed and doone, euen by uertheleffe were adorned with goodly the wifest Princes and their councells, when Almightie GOD will punish and rare; besides the excellencie of the Tentafflict them. For, hee eyther taketh from ple, a thing beyond all compaffe of comthem their polliticke wittes, to the end parison. All which considerd, I thought they may erreand precipitate themselves: it not vn necessary, to make some briefe or, hee ouerthroweth their wifest designements, by fuch kinde of meanes as they cannot imagine : or elfe, he doth bring thereto (as well good as euill) by a fumthem to fuch exigents, that they are forced (fometimes) wittingly, to take in hand some daungerous and desperate refolution, whereby they are difgraced and ruined.

CHAP. XXVIII.

¶ Abriefe Discourse concerning the first foundation of Ierusalem, What fortunes (from time to time) befell thereto : And of the Kings that there did reigne.

Euer was there any Towne or Cittie (of what estate or condition foeuer) that had o many especiall graces and priuiledges from Almightie

God, nor euer had fuch store of facred mysteries therein persourmed, as in the rome is of the opinion, that it had the filem.

the ayde and assistannce of Solyman the Cittie of Ierusalem: although it had not Great Turke, against Ferdinando King had that (onely chiefe) note, that our not beene there accomplished. Contra-

As concerning her riches, and fumpus. ous buildings, no Cittie vpon the earth and fumprucould euer equall them; as Pliny extolleth ous buildings But peraduenture you will fay, that it aboue all the Citties in the East; and Cornelius Tacitus amply describeth the sci- Cor. Tac in tuation thereof: whereby wee may eafily lib. 3.cap. 4. tent Citties in the world . As much affir-Towers, Bulwarkes, and buildings moft report, concerning the first foundation of this Citty, with what fortunes happened marie Collection, of such things as I find recorded in her owne Chronicles.

Ierusalem was scituated and founded, in Concerning the very middeft of Iudea or Iewrie, at the the feating of toppe or knap of Mount Sion; which is plantation of helde or reputed (commonly) to be the middle or centre of the earths superficies. Ezechiel also saith, That it was feated in the middest of Nations. David likewise fayth That the saluation of men was perfected in the middest of the earth. Which Saint Hierome declareth, writing on that passage of Exechiel before specified. Moreover, it is written in Genesis, That Melchisedech Hebr. 7.1.2.3 (which, according to the interpretation of Saint Paul) is as much to fay, as a Just King, or a King of Iustice. Abraham hauing conquered foure Kings, that kept Lot prisoner) mett him and made a sacrifice to God, and that this Prince baptized this Citty of Salom, or (as some say) Salem, which is as much to fay, as Peace:in regard wherof, he was called King of Peace. Salem then was the first name imposed Salem the vppon this Cittie : although Saint Hie- first name gi-men to letu-

go in his Otto mas par.1.

Lagero Soran

The Turkes

great Guarde of Ianizaries

his State.

name of Iebus at the beginning. Strabo, Cornelius Tacitus, and many other Authors beside, called it Solima, speaking otherwise of the foundation, then formerly hath beene fayd.

It was also called lebus and lerufalem. Ioseph.Ant. ludea : plis

palace of king Salomone

The opinion of Nicholas,

de Lyra concerning leru-

This Citty likewise was called Iebus and Ierusalem, as wee may reade in the facred Scriptures. Saint Hierome writing to Dardanus, doeth giue it three names: Notwithstanding, it was (in the end) called Aelia, in regarde of the Emperours name Aelim Adrianii. who caused it to bee re-builded and fortified. Saint Hierome fayth, that it had the name of Iebus, in regard of the Iebasites, who had founded it, vntill the time of the holy Prophet

Is septius and Asgesippus say, that Mel-Melchifede 4 chi fedech gave it the name of Jerufalem, called it leruas much to fay , as Vision of peace : making (alem, Vifion of peace. one word of lebus and Salem, fo that lerusalem found it selfe to be composed of these two wordes, onely by chaunging B. into R.Others fay, that it had the name of Here, that is to fay, Vision : by reafon of the Angell which appeared to braham, when hee would have facrificed his fonne I faack. Some others fay, that it was called Jerusalem, as much to say, as the house of Salordon: in regarde of the admirable The house or buildings which King Salomon erected there: many other opinions are there vpon this poynt, which I passe ouer lightly because I am of the minde, that as the Icwes called it in their tongue Ierusalem, so did the Greekes and the Latines name it Ierofolima, as wee may reade in Iofephus and Aegesippus, Greeke Authors. Yet, Nicholas de Lyra will not haue it to bee so receyued, because hee sayth, that Ieru-(alem was first called Luca and Bethell: which I can give but little credite vnto; for (according as Saint Hierome fayth) Bethellis twelve miles off from Ierufalem, as wee may see it also auouched by Iofephus. Notwithstanding all these opinions, it is to be noted, that lerufalem (in many other fuch like Titles, besides her

owne proper and peculiar name, Jeru-

Many partiformer times)had many particular names; cular names which were thereto attributed, in regard giuen to Ieru of the manifolde high mysteries therein accomplished. As, The Holy Citty , The Sacred Cittie; The Cittie of David, and salem.

But come wee now vnto the Historie. Concerning.
The Bebusites and the Canaanites, who and Canaanites and Canaanites. were one and the same Nation (for Ia- nites the lords bus or lebus, was the fonne of Canaan, and policion the fonne of Can, Nephew to Noah, of whom these Nations tooke their name) were Lordes of Ierusalem, at such time as the Children of Ifraell (deliuered from the Captiuity of Egipt) possessed themselves of Palestine and Sudea. And it came to passe, that in the division for partage, which the twelve Tribes of Ifraell made of the Land promised vnto them: Ierufalem fell into the portion of Ierufalen [4] the Tribe of Beniamin. Neuerthelesse, Beniaming because this Tribe of Bentamin (notwith- the division. standing all their aduentures in Armes) could not wholly cleare the Country of the lebufites: they were constrained to let them live there among them, for more then three hundred and feauenty yeares after, even to the time of Danid. Hee beeing both a Prophet and King, and descended of the Tribe of Inda; ex- expelled the pulfing the lebufites, wonne their Fortresses from them, building them new lose, in An againe; and erected there a goodly Pal- Indlib.184 lace, as wee may reade in the Booke of Kings, and also in Tofephius. David hauing thus expelled the Ichufites, called lerusalem. The Citty of God, creating it to be the chiefe and Capitall Citty in all

During the Reigne of King David, Arusalem was in her triumphing iollity, and highly renowned among all the Nations, in regarde of the great victoryes which David obtayned: after whose death, wife Salomon fucceeded him. And Salomon fue although this King laboured to line in ceeded his fapeace, yet Ierusalem ftill encreased in ther Danid. fame, riches and sumptuous buildings: for Salomon enlarged the walles thereof, and erected there goodly fortifications. Hee builded many other costly Castles beside: but especially the Temple, so greatly renowned, in regard of the treafure and arteficiall cunning bestowed thereon, as neuer could any other building be compared therewith. For, as Infep. in Au we may reade in holy Scripture, and alfo in Iofephus, the Furniture thereto belonging, was infinite and incomprehensible. So that the very fame thereof, incited the Queene of Saba to vilite of Saba view et ding Sabamon King Salomon.

Many Kings likewise sent him choyse Presents to the same effect, Gold, Silver, and Treasure, which they brought to him by fea, and in fuch abundance, as no more account was made thereof, then as stones in the streete.

This King neuerthelesse, forgetting the great bleffings which God had bestowed vpon him; became an Idolater, to that God fuffered hiskingdome to be divided

Hauing reigned forty yeares, Rehoboam

his fonne succeeded him, against whom ten of the Tribes revolted, who elected leroboam to be their King. Rehoboam had the but two of the Tribes onely, to wit, Iuda

and Beniamin, whereupon he fortified his

Citties: and afterward, this Kingdome remaining to his fuccessours, began to take

and continue the name of lewes, because of the Tribe of Iuda. Ieroboam and his fucceffors, called themselues Kings of Israel,

and chose Samaria to bee the chiefe Citty

of that Kingdome: and by this division,

thole Kings were alwayes at continuall

warre, each against other. Notwithstanding, although Rehoboam had but two of the Tribes subject to him, yet his reputation was fo great (because hee was descended of Dauid) that euermore hee prenai-

led in fight, and was much more feared

and obeyed, then the King of Ifraell, fo

that Ierusalem became not a jote diminithed, eyther in strength or riches. But when the Kings of Iuda and their people, grew offensive to God by Idolatry: then

this goodly Citty suffered many miseries

his Townes and Cities, and they flourishing in all pompe and prosperity; hee notwithstanding, fell to Idolatry, as we may reade in the holy Chronicles, and likewife in Iosephus. In regard whereof, God

raifed vp against him, Sufac or Shifhack,

lesse number of Infantery, belonging to the Egiptians, Ethiopians, Troglodites, with many Lybians, which came from Guynea, to his feruice. Boldly they entred into 1eru falem, facked the Citty and the Tem-

Treasures, as is to be observed in his chro-

Rehobeam having strongly defenced

and calamities.

after his death.

Chap.28.

The kingdom and the king dome of Itrathriued in all his attempts, being defeen-ded of David kdypby God King of Egipt, who came and conered his gainst Reho. Country with twelve hundred Chariots, 1 Reg. 14,3. threescore thousand horse, and a count-

Shifhack rei-

The first facking and spoy-ling of leru-salem, in the dayes of Re-hobosm.

anger of God being appealed; Rehoboam remained peaceably in his Kingdome, all the remainder of his life; and being dead, Abias succeeded him, who over-came terobeam King of Ifrael; in which conquest were flaine fifty thousand men belonging to Ieroboam.

After the death of Abias, who lived After Abias, but a while (being also an Idolator; and succeeded A yet God permitted him to haue this victory, in confideration of David his grand- Prince. father) Afasucceeded him. This Prince was good, inft, and feared God, and therefore he gaue him many great and figuall victories, against Zarab, King of Ethiopia: who had entred to farre upon his Country, that he kept lerufalem besiedged. In his time, the Ki gdome of Inda was fo A goodly muflourishing, that (vpon an account made) | fler or min there were found fine hundred and fourescore thousand men, able to beare Arms. I finde also in the facred Scripture, that this King builded and fortified many Cit-

Hee being deceaffed, Tehofophat his

fonnecame to the Crowne, during whose Reigne, Ierusalem was in great reputati- letusalem bleffed with on : chiefely in respect of Prophets, as many famous Abias, Micheas, Ofias, Elias and Elifens, Prophets. who were all then at that time. This King found such fauour in the fight of God (according as wee reade in the holy Chronicles of the Kings) that the Moabites, Ammonites, and the Mountaincers of Seir (being gathered together, with an infinite number of people, to runne vpon this Prince) God fent a diffention among A mighty arthem, that they connerted thence, and by Godspro. employed their powers to fpoyle them- uidence. felues, fo that without flriking a ftroake, King lehosaphat returned with great triumph to Ierufalem. Where having reigned peaceably, and in no meane power; he dyed, leaving the Kingdome vnto Joram his fonne, giving also to his other Children, divers Citties, with great fummes of gold and filuer.

Irram being come vnto the Crowne, he followed not the steppes of his Father, The Impious nor of his Grand-tather; but gaue him- and wicked felfe to impiety and cruelty, putting to ram. death his owne Brethren. He laboured al fo to have alliance with Achab King of 1/ple, from whence they carried infinite | raell, whose councell he mainely followed in his affaires, and likewife tooke his nicle. After which chastifements, the Daughter in marriage. Whereat of Edom to revolt from him. The Araof Judea spoiled & ruined. bes also made warre vpon him; which proued in fuch cruell manner, that the whole Countrey of Indea, was thereby vtterly wasted.

Wicked lines haue common ly as wicked deaths.

to death by

Ochoziat.

Another gret

mitery hap-

ning to letu-falem.

After his death, Ahazia, or Ochozias his Sonne, fucceeded in the Kingdome, with his Mother Athalia: and, as they were both of most VV icked life, euen fo, hadde they as ynhappie an end-

Next him succeeded Ochozias, who gaue good apparance in the beginning of his Reigne, to doe all thinges for the best, as well in regard of Religion, as for actions of pollicie. For, heereduced the Temple into the first condition, and re-established all the damages and iniuries which the Kinges of Egypt (and especially his Father Ahazia) had done. But soone after, hee fell vnto Idolattie, The Prophet fo that (by common voyce of the people) hee canfed the Prophet Zacharie to be put to death. So highly was the goodnesse of Almightie God distasted heerewith, that he sent a terrible chastisement vppon Jerusalem, and that in the time of King Amasias, Sonne vnto this Ochozias. Who having Warre against low, King of Ifraell, and neuer remembering the great Victories, which God had given him against the Idumaans, and manie other Nations: both hee and his people were ouer-come, and beeing ledde Prisoner vnto terusalem his owne Citty, was compelled to yeelde it to the mercy of loas, who caused it to be difinantelled, and foure hundred fadomes of the Walles to bee beaten downe. He spoyled the Temple also, and possessed himselfe of all the wealth and riches belonging vnto King Amasias: returning home afterwardes (in Triumph) to his Cittie of Sa-

Amalias mu thered by ercason,his fon Azarias fucceedes him

Furthermore, King Anasias beeing flaine by Treason, Azarias, or Ozias his Sonne next succeeded, who yvas a verie valiant and potent Prince. First of all, he strengthened Ierusalem, and all king of Iuda, vanquished and ouerthrew the other dismantled Citties, enriching his Countrey, by divers great victories which hee obtained against the Philistimes, Arabes, and Ammonites, making

God being displeased, suffered the men | that the renowne of Ierusalem, encreased day by day, while hee reigned; and hee founded and builded many Townes and Citties beside.

Neuerthelesse, pride made him to forget his dutie; for, perceiuing that he had three hundered thousand men subiect vnto him, and all in abilitie to carry Armes: hee grew fo exceeding arrogant, that hee would needes vsurpe the High-Priestes Office. But as hee was perfourming his Sacrifice in the Temple; God punished by smote him with a fowle Leaprosie, the the hande of which continued with him to the time of his death.

After his decease, Iotham his Sonne next fucceeded him, being a Prince very | Iothamfucwife, inft, and valiaunt; hee also enlar- ceeded Azz. ged Ierusalem verie spaciously, by manie reparations and new foundations; befides, the building of fome other Cities . Hee likewise ouercame and vanquished the Ammonites, from whom he brought backe great summes of Golde and Silucr. But after his death, Triumphing times beganne to weare away, and all vnhappinesse fell vpon the people of Iuda: For, his Sonne Achaz, fur named Elea- Pagane Cengar, beeing come to the Crowne; gaue montes and fuper fluir of himselfe to Idolatry, introducing the ce- brought into remonies and superstitions of the Pagans, ludea. In regard whereof, God chastised them by the hand of Rasis, King of Suria; and Phezias king of Ifraell, who flaughtered (in one day) fixe score thousand men. After which pittifull ouerthrow, they ranne thorow the Countrey of Indea, robbing and spoyling it in lamentable manner; and because Ierusalem was strong, it outstoode the sharpe besiedging of these kings folong, til they despayring of their insufficiency, were forced (with great fummes of Golde) to buy their fuccor of Salmanazar king of the Allyrians . And for the better satisfaction of him, they Jerusalem re tooke the Vesselles of Gold and Silver; de diffeelle in which onely were for the Temples fer- world maner uice, to helpe them withall in this great distresse.

Salmanazar beeing come to affift the the king of Ifraell: and yet notwithstanding, ledde away with him a great number of the lewes prisoners, to whom he gaue The first diff the Region of Ithena to dwell in . And persion and them all Tributarie vnto his Crownes fo this was the first dispersion and captuitie captuity of the lewes. King of Ifraell, every yeare to pay them yeares. Tribute. At this very time, the Prophers

Chap.28.

on to enfor.

mane King

Achsz, fuccs

His rooting

rp of idolatr and warning given to the tenne Tribes

in great reputation.

After the death of this vnfortunate Achaz, next came to the Crowne his fon of his Father; for, hee was wife, iuft, religious, and one that feared God . Ierufamore her former credite; policy becomming better reformed, and the service of cipall Citty of that Countrey. The Ally-God reduced to fuch perfection : that (as rians made a mixture of the Iewes Lawes the Scripture it lelfe amply declareth) the with their Indiatries, yet held them in ab-Realme of Indah neuer had a better king; liuing in great prosperity, and honouring his Countrey, with many famous Vido.

Hee could not content himselfe, with renting up the rootes of Idolatry, whereto the people were ouer-much enclined; and bringing them entirely vnto the true Ifraelites, the Kingdome of Inda onely of inda remain feruice of God: but hee also gaue funmons to the ten Tribes of Ifraell, to line according to that Lawe, which God had fierce rage and furie of King Salmanadelivered by the hand of Moyfes. Where- zar, and to preserve his owne dominions unto many condificending, they came in peace; gauchim great fummes of gold, to Sacrifice in Ierusalem, and to celebrate Easter, according vnto the ordinance of time. Neuerthelesse, this Infidell King

Moyfes. Notwithstanding, as the facred Scriptures doe testifye, the rest persevered still in their Idolatrie, and made a mockerie of those gentle inuitations, as also the aduertisements which the Prophets had giuen them. For which contempt, GOD layde his correcting roddes uppon them. aswell by Salmanazar, as Senacherib, kings of the Affyrians, who oppressed them greatly, in the first yeare of King Ezechias his reigne.

Also in the fourth yeare of the reign of Ozias, King of I fraell, the Affirian broght fo heavy a warre against seven Tribes of Ifrael, for the space of three whole yeares: as he inforced them to forfake their countries, and to go dwell as flaues among the

Thus you fee how the Iewes were difperfed heere and there, among forrayne and strange Nations, without euer returning againe home to their owne houses, so that none knew what afterward should

of the Iewes, fince their miraculous deli- become of them. For heere was the end uerance out of Egypt : and in short time and ruine of the kingdom of Hrael, which after, the Affyrian king, compelled the had continued three hundred and feuenty

On the contrarie, Salmanazar fent his Ofea, Efay, Amos, Micheas and Ionas were Affrians into Samaria, to inhabite there; who (viurpingly) got poficition of all the Countreyes (wherein the Israelites had formerly dwelt) and tooke the name of How the Sa-Exechias, a man farre beyond the Nature Samaritanes vpon them. Yet Eufebing rakeih that name but as a Garrison, wherein name. his opinion (me thinkes) is not warrantalem alfo (in his reigne) recoursed once blesfor they were called Samaritanes, after the name of Samaria, the chiefe and prinhomination, as excommunicated people. As concerning their actions, I shall be silent therein, because it no way concerneth my discourse : and if heerein I have committed any error, I fubmit my felfe to the Churches correction.

> Exechias, to fauchis people from the lifaclites. buying (by that meanes) peace for long fallifyed his Fayth vnto him, and came with a mighty powerfull Armie, intending to ruinate the Kingdome of Iuda, as formerly hee had done the Kingdome of Israell. But GOD beeing pleased to defend his people, fent the Prophet E-Say vnto King Exechias to comfort him, (beecause this Prophet lined then) and in one night, the Angell of the Lorde, flew one hundred and foure score thoufand fighting men in the Affyrians camp : by meanes of which great flaughter, and fourfcore the rest retyred thence. And Ezechias, hauing escaped this dangerous perill to himselfe, and his people, lyued the remainder of his dayes peacefully in his Kingdome. And God having evidently declared great Myracles, on the behalfe of this King, he dyed peaceably, lea-uing his Sonne Manaffes fuccessour in his kingdome. This Prince wandered from the good wayes of his Father, and addicted himfelfe altogether to Idolatry, committing

After the ouerthrow and ruine of the The kingdom

fyrians flaine

nb, Gods

he dispersio uo ftrange

Manaffes renolted from the wayes of good king E. zechias his fa ther, and was led captine into Babylon.

The deeds of

the holy king

Iolias, repay-

ring the Temple, and expel-

ling idolatry

out of his king

contrary to the Law of God, and thereto likewise induced the people. Whereat God growing offended, raifed up the Affyrians against him, who so well chastised him; that, ouer and beside the ouerthrow of his people, himselfe was taken prisoner, and ledde away captine into Babylon. Notwithstanding, he repented him of his finnes, which caused God to deliuer him out of the Allyrians hands; fo that hee returned home to his owne estates, and dyed there in peace. After him, succeeded his wicked fon Amon, who was flain most milerably : the Prophets Ioel, Nahum, and Habbakuk succeeded in his time. Next him, came to the crowne his fonne loftas, who was a Prince that feared God & very vigilant for the reformation of his people; performing many other actions, rightly becomming fo good and just a King. For, he expulsed all idolatry quite out of his kingdom, which had taken deepe roote in the harts of men, and he repaired the Temple alfo. Neuerthelesse, the anger of God against the lewes was not appealed, in regard of the abhominable idolatries committed, in the reigns of the Kings Manaf. les & Amon. Notwithstanding in respect of King Iofi.ts, who (thorough his owne folly) dyed poorely; God deferred to chastife the lewish people, in such manner as he did afterward.

many most abhominable sinnes, directly

This king dyed of a wound, which hee received on the day that hee had agaynft Necar, King of Ægypt, when hee might haue bin better imployed. For Necar had no matter of quarrell against him, but ra-King Iofias died of a wound ther fought his friendship so much as hee could: and having no other intention, but to imploy his forces against the King of Affyria. Neuertheleffe, in a brauery of fpirit, losias would needs meddle with him, which cost the deere price of his life. His death was very much bemoaned especially by the Prophet Ieremy, who wrote his Lamentations on his behalfe.

Toachaz his fon succeeded him, who was giuen to all iniquity and wickednes:wherfore God fuffered him to reigne no more then three moneths: for Necar, who had before foyled his father, deprined him of his kingdome, making the countrey of Iudea tributary, paying an hundred Talents of Gold, and one of Silver, cucry yeare. Toachaz being thus defeated of his kingdome, and led prisoner into Ægypt, wher he dyed; Joachim his Brother, was enftal- loachaz die led in his place, behaving himfelfe verie Egyptied the wickedly; for hee was wholly affected to ther in capit. Idolatry, and prouoked his people to doe uitie. the like. In which respect, God stirred vp king Nabuchodonofor to be his enemie, who had already reigned forty foure years in Babylon,

This Prince having won the victoric against the Iewish people, ledde away the King Naba. most part of the greatest personnes in all chodonoser the Country, as captine flanes and Vaffals, and tooke away also the Vesselles of people. the Temple. The occasion of this warre grew, because loachim gane ayde vnto the King of Ægypt, against Nabuchodonofor, contrary to the counsell of Ieremy. Iouchim having reigned eleven yeeres, and liued prisoner three yeeres, dyed in great

After whom succeeded Iechonias, following the steppes of his Father, because The long to hee was as wicked as hee. In his time, ferred agent of god agent of god agent of god agent lengths. of vengeance, prepared long time before now cometh against lerusalem, but deferred in the re- to appearance gard of Iofias, according as the Prophets Nabudoca had foretold. For King Nabuchodonofor, nofor, came in his owne person, with an exceeding great and powerfull Armie, to befiedge the Cittie of Ierusalem: but, Iechonias beeing not able to make refistance, fubmitted vnto his will, himfelfe, his Mother, his Wife, and the principall personnes that were of his House. Moreouer, hee made him a present, of the Vesselles and Treasures which remained (as yet) in the Temple. By which meanes, King Jechomas, and the cheefest men of his Court, were ledde away captiues into Babylon : But Nabuchodonofor, tooke all the affurances and fidelitie of Mattathias, vncle to King Iechonias, and made him king of Iudea, calling him by the name of Sedechias.

In speaking of this King, I must needs fay, hee was one of the most Wicked of the world and vnhappy Princes that ever reigned: Kings that For, not onely was hee ingratefull vn-uer reigned to Almightie GOD, for the great Graces which hee had bestowed vppon him(turning still his backe, and not willing to heare any thing which the Prophet Jeremy tolde him) but also did falfifie his word vnto King Nabuchodonofor 3

Chap.28.

eisen to this King,by Ier

The wrath of

ine of the Ta le'of Lerus

the lewes in Babilon,& ontinued, as denying him his friendship. And if this till and husband the grounds: under the Prince was no more worthy: much leffe then were the facrificing Priests, and least of all the common people: fo that all abhominations and idolatries reigned in Indea, even to the prophanation of the Temple, which had beene held in fuch facredesteeme. And notwithstanding all the aduertisements given to this King, by leremie, Ezechiell, and other Prophets : yet his obstinacy encreased daily more and more. Whereupon, God raifed Wabuchodonofor, who, to reuenge the wrongs donehim by Sedechias; In the ninth yeare of his Reigne, he came and couered the Country of Indea with a mighty Army, and held terufalem befiedged, the space of two yeares, where King Sedechias had betaken himfelfe for his more fecurity.

The poore people languishing with famine & pestilence, were no longer able to endure the fiedge; but being thus by extremity compelled, yeelded to the enemics mercy: when hee entring into the Citty, put all to fire and fword. Sedechias was taken in his flight, and being brought before Nabuchodonofor ; faw his own children flaine before his face; and as for himfelfe he had his eyes pluckt out, and fent (in that miferable maner) captine to Babilon. After the Conqueror was returned home he fent to Ierufalem Nabuzaradan. who was one of his principall Captaines. with especiall charge, veterly to ruinate the Temple. This was foure hundred yeares after the building thereof by King Salomon : as he performed the like, to all the Fortresses and sumptuous buildings of Ierusalem, beating downe the walles of the Citty, and defacing the Pallace belonging to the Kings of Juda.

Hee carried away also all the mettall that was in the Temple, and ledde thence the Sacrificers, and all the chiefe men, as well of Ierufalem, as throughout the coutry beside, with their Wiues and Children; who continued Captines in Babylon, for the space of about threescore and ten yeares. This was the Captivity of Babylon, which hath fo much bene spoken of, and which happened about fixe hundred yeares before the comming of our Lord and Saujour Iefus Chrift. Thus you fce, how the poore Citty of Ierusalem remained defert and defolate, except fome who had enstalled him in the Kingdome, few of the meaner people, lest behinde to charge (neuenthelesse) of Godolias, Deputy Gouernor in Iudea. But the people falling into mutiny, flew Godolius, and then fearing the fury of Nabuchodonofor; fuch as remained of the lewes, went and dwelt in Egipt, leaving terufalem waste and vnpeopled.

> S. Hierome faith, that after the furprizal Hier.in Lib. and facking of Ierufalem, there paffed well Queft. Hebraic. neere fifty yeares, when neyther Man, Beaft nor Bird entred into it : whereby may fufficiently be knowne, what great punishments this people had deserved, that were so highly beloved and priviledged by God. Seauenty yeares being passed ouer, it pleased God with the eye of pitty, to looke vpon the Captiuity of to commilehis people: being then, when the Empire rate the difell into the dominion of the Persians, who thereof differzed the Allyrians, and in the time of the puillant King Cyrus. He, being moued by the Spirit of God, fuffered fifty thousand lemes to returne home Fifty thouinto their Country, under the conduct of fand lewes released by Zerobabell their Captaine, and lofuah or King Cyrus, ftreffe of his

God began

Iefus, the foueraigne Sacrificer or High. and lent into their Country Priest: who beeing returned into Indea, began to repaire the ruines of their Cit-

CHAP. XXIX.

ces appointed in his Law.

ties, and especially Iern(alem, which they

re-builded with great ioy, offering facri-

fices to God, according to the Ordinan-

What difference there is betweene Leasino and Lying; And how a man may tell a lea fing, and yet not to be faide, that it is a lye.

Ying, is one of the greatest vices that any man can haue; for it is not any way possible to negotiate, or to conclude any matter, with the conclude any matter, with him that is a lyar, because lying maketh euery thing to be suspected. Moreover, the horrour of lying sheweth it selfe sufficiently, in that it is directly opposite to truth, which is God: as likewise the dinell is called the Father of lyes. Salomon (in

The lamenta tions of the prophet Icre-

needlefly re-

ceiud in fight.

The hatred to lying, both by Infidels and Christians,

Stobeus.

all times) bene so abhorred both by Infidels and Christians; that a man knowne to be a lyar, was reputed as a plague to the Common-wealth, as we may perceiue in Euripides, according as is auouched by

ranke, of the feauen vices greatly displea-fing to God. In briefe, this vice hath (at

But not to make any longer stay, in thewing how pernitious and detestable a thing lying is, in regard that it is so common and vulgar: I take it as a matter conuenient, to declare what difference there is betweene leasing and lying, according to the faying of Aulus Gellius, and of many other Authors more; for oftentimes, there is a great diffrence in thefe two bad qualities. Observe we thento this effect,

The diffrence that to tell a lyd, is to affirme the contrary, of that which a man knoweth to bee true. But telling a fallacie or leafing, is to affirme lying, with an intention to speake truth: wherein a man cannot be faide to haue lyed, when he speaketh not against that which he holdeth for truth & knowethit fo to be. Contrariwife, a man may lye, and yet

How a man

(notwithstanding) tell tructh, when hee fpeaketh against that which hee thinketh. although that which he hath faid, be true. But when a man vttereth a leafing, knowing the thing it selfe to be otherwise then as he hath faid : hee lyeth, and then it is a direct lye. From hence it ensueth that it is impossible to tell alve without vice or finne:but he that speaketh a leasing, thinking to fay the truth, lyeth not at all. This is that which Nigidius faith, according to the expression of Gellius: That an honest man will neuer lye, and a wife man hates to tell a leasing. For mine owne opinion

heerein, I would aduife all men to auoyde

both the one and other vice, although they may imagine to speake truely.

Aul. Gellius in lib.1.cap.9.

de Cena Dom.

Heere it is to be noted, that although the tongue keepe filence, yet deeds fometimes may belye the person. For as Saint Ambrofe faith: He which makes profession of being a Christian, without conforming himselfe to the works of Christ, lieth, or is a lyar. As also that man doth, which makes a solemne promise to obserue Religion, and yet notwithstanding obserueth none at all. As much may we fay of some vgly women, as black as faire diuels, who paint his Prouerbs) placeth lying in the fecond \ & paint to get them botter faces, and look Of fachlyin therby worfe the euer they did: And foo- there are no lift olde men, that would be yong againe meane flore in the world by fantasticke meanes. I remember an old man, of whom Thee. phrastus speaketh, who being of great authority and credite, and having fome im-A pleafane portant bufineffe before the Lacedemon history of an Senate; was very much greeued, to ap- ydle headed peare there in fuch antiquity of yeares as forethese he was stepr into; which made him to cut | nate of Laco and shaue his head and beard, hoping by this meanes to feeme much younger. As the cause was in debating, Archidamus

(speaking for his Clyent, against him) declared to the Senate, that no credit ought to be given to the words of him, that ap-

parantly carried lying in his head & face.

So that, according to Archidamus, fuch aged fooles can lye, without speaking any

CHAP. XXX.

Of the twelve Moneths in the yeare; how both Ancients and Moderne men veed to figure them: And of Some mysteries represensed by them.

or none haue written of them, in our vulgar tongue: I am the more willing to take a little paines, in acquainting some particular friends, that by looking vpon their portraitures, they may the better reach to their interpretation.

First of all then, beginning with Lanuary, it was presented by a man scated at a lanuary. Table, holding a Glasse of Wine in his hand, as being ready to drinke. Whereby was intended, that in this Moneth, all creatures haue better appetite and defire to eate and drink then at any other time: because heat is retired inward, & strengthneth the stomacke in such fort, that it is capable of the easier digestion. February, was a ma heating his hands a- February.

Chap.30. is very requilite, in regard of the great | the Trees, because in this Month, Acorns coldes in Winter, caused by the absence of the Sunne. March, was figured in form of a Gardiner: because (in this Moneth) the pores and spiracles of the earth, do open themselues, insomuch, that the moisture of the earth commeth (of it owne accord) to all the Trees, Hearbs and Plants. In which respect, all superfluities are to bee cut away, that the nutritine humour may extend it felfe to the living Branches, for bearing the fairer fruite.

Aprill, was made in the shape of a young man, holding a Nofegay of flowers in his hand : for in this Moneth, the earth hauing communicated his vertue to Trees and Hearbs, maketh enery thing to flourish, and bring foorth Flowers. For May, a yong gallant Gentleman backe, and brauely apparelled, bearing a Hawke vpon his Fist. Considering, that in this Moneth, the Trees commonly begin to beare fruite. Birds flye abroad merrily, and all creatures strine to have their best was portraited, being mounted on horse-pleasures, and make loue to one another. Iune, was painted, carrying a Scythe on his backe; because in this Moneth, the Medowes must be moved downe.

July, carried a Sickle in his hand, where with to reape downe the ripened

And because these Fruites are commonly to bee gathered in August, and then they are to be laide and lockt vp in Barnes and Garners : August was figured like to a Country Carter, standing by his laden Cart, with a whip in his hand, as haftening homeward with his theaues of Corne.

September, was in the habite of a Vintager, as thereby fignifying, that the beginning of Vintage is to bee in this Mo-

October, was figured like a husbandman carrying a Sack voon his shoulders, and fowing Corne as hee paffeth along. Meaning thereby, that as this Moneth is colde and dry; so is it very apt and conuenient, for the lowing of Scede.

November stood in the shape of a Thrasher, labouring his Flayle vpon the Corne in the flicaucs. He had another mon-wealth: fo that all affaires paffed companion standing by him, who with a through the hands and intelligence of the pole did beate downe the Acornes from two Lords, Iuliano and Laurentio de Medi.

ferue best to fatten Swine; andithen also they ordinarily kill Swine, for making Ba-

December flood in the likenesse of a December. Butcher, with a knife in his hand, and killing a Hog. Thus were the twelue Moneths viually figured.

As for the yeare it felfe, they made The Yeare. the modell thereof, in the relemblance of a Serpent, writhed into a roundle, & holding the tayle in the mouth: because the end of the yeare euermore is joyned with the beginning.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of astrange Conjuration or Conspiracy, which happened in the goodly Citty of Florence, and of the slaughter which ensued

LL the World is naturally defirous to heare and vndermonth and the greatest enterprizes, and such thrange accidents as happen to then: to the ende, nouelies.

that they may the better defend themsclues, from falling into such inconventences, as waite vpon inconftant and mutable Fortune. And therefore I concluded with my felfe, to relate a very rare and admirable chance, which happened in the wealthy Citty of Florence, and which (in mine opinion) is one that descrueth as much meruaile, as any other that over I heard of.

In the yeare, 1478. the Citty of Flo- The fumpturence was in great peace, abounding day ous and flouby day) in fumptuoufnesse and riches and the affayrs of the Common-wealth hold- in thole times ing on fuch a prosperous course, that no imagination was fo idle, as to thinke, that any misfortune had the power to alter this happinesse. In those Sun-shine dayes, the illustrious house of Medicis (of whom the Duke was Cofimo, and all the Iuliano and Dukes of Florence to this day are descen- Laurentio de ded) gouerned the fuld State and Com- Medices, both ouember.

bout his own body: for in this month, fire

Ambr in Serm.

October.

Emulation &

hart-burning

in fome against the

Medicissin

regard of their author

among the people, in regard of their Ancestours, and especially for Cosimo de Medicis their Grand-father, who had beene the onely and richest Merchant of Italy; although that in Florence wer very wealthy Merchants beside.

Now there were (at this time) in the faide Citty, many other Gentlemen and rich Merchants, who thought themselves euery way as fufficient to manage and order the Common-wealths affaires; as those that were of the house of Medici. Neuerthelesse, the Medici still had the great opinion, being euery day respected, hayled and louingly entertained of the people. In the ende, the house of the Pazzi. Salviati, and many other iffued of Noble and ancient Families in Florence (being moued by passion and particular affection (coupled with innated enuy, which they bare to them of the Medicis) contriued a feeret complot, whereby to take the Common-wealths gouernment from the Medici . And this their intent could not

The death co be accomplished, without the death of Intriued of luliano and Laurentio de Medicis, because they liano & Lauwere rich and potent Lords, sentio de Me dicis

Francesco and Giouanni de Pazzi, Cousins-germaine to Giacomo de Pazzi, and cheefest men of that house, vndertooke to kill the faid Brethren of the Medici, and joyned with them the Family of the Saluiati; especially Signior Francesco Saluiati. Archbishop of Pisa, and they vndertooke to kill Pope Sixtus the fourth, Vnckle to them of the Medics, & likewife Ferdinando, King of Waples, whom they had constrained into their league: all verily perswaded, that being rid of them, they fhould not meete with any resistance in the execution of their purpofe.

This complot fully agreed vpon, and all things provided to fit their enterprize accordingly; the Archbishoppe of Pifa eame to Florence, where (vnder another colour) they entred into roule a number of Soldiours, all well knowne : yet without discouering to any one, what was to be done. The Archbishop of Fifa, of whom neuer any doubt was conceined, practifed fuch meanes, that a young Cardinall, Nephew to Pope Sixom (who then studied at Bologna) should come to passe the time a while at Florence, to fitte their turne (in the action) with him and his peo-

cu, Brethren; who were highly effeemed ple, yet neuer acquainting him with a thought of the intention.

Order being taken for all occasions, and every thing kept close in the bosornes The appoint of the principall conspirators, the conclufion was thus; that the two Brethren de houldbe per Medici should be flaine together, eyther formed, & by in the great Church, or else where the what persons Cardinall should heare Masse. Francesco de Pazzi, and Bernardo Bandino, tooke charge of killing the Lord Iuliano de Medicis: but the death of the Lord Laurentio, was committed to Antonio de Volterra, and to another, called Stephano, being a Priest. The houre or moment, affigued by Giacomo de Pazzi, for the execution of these two murders, was at fuch time, as the Priests shold be at the elevation in Masse, holding the Hoast or Sacrifice aloft a- Inengana boue his head, although the two brethren tobe done then were in divers places.

Vpon the Sunday following, which was the third of May, 1478. this conclusion tooke effect thus. The Cardinall came to heare Masse, and with him the Lord Laurentio de Medicis, without his brother. For they vied to walke (as men fuspecting A care in the ambushes) fildome or neuer together in two brethers, the Citty, for feare of falling into any difafter together: knowing right well, that no man durst make an attempt offensively vpon them, if one of the two were left aliue. The conspirators perceiving that Lord Iuliano came not at all . Francesco de Pazzi, and Bernardo Bandino (who had (worne his death) vnder the shaddow of Courtly attendance, went to come along Ceremonlos with him from his house, and bestowed so Courthip, many embrassadoes voon him, that they make way to brought him vnto the Church where his diuelliches Brother was, and yet hee then fate farre e- tifes. nough off from his Brother. Conspiring eyes were full fixed on them both, enuying that they should fitte fo farre afunder: but yet the time and place gaue the courage, that they might easily accomplish the acte; and yet not be profecuted by any for few or none tooke notice of them. The point for performance being come, Lord Julian

France co de Pazzi gane a ftabbe with his flaine by Fri poniard to the Lord Iuliano, which thwar- celco de parted the stomacke, and issued foorth at his fhoulder, fo that immediately he fel down dead : and Bernardo Bandino, by making hafte(leaft Lord Juliano shold not be thorowlysped) wounded himselfe with his owne Dagger in the stomacke, albeit hee faw the Lord Inliano lye dead before him. There dyed also Francesco Nori, flaine by Bernardo Bandino, because he laid hand on his weapon, in the defence of Lord Iuliaued himselfe from their fury.

ano. Antonio Volterra, and Stephano the Priest, sharply assayled the Lord Laurentio de Medicie, but yet with such slender dexterity; that vsing his owne couragious defence, hee was wounded a little in the mouth, and (in despight of all they could do) by meanes of certaine friends, he got into the Sacriftia or Vestrie, and there sa-

This affault was fo fudden, that it had speedier execution, then any knowledge

could be had of them that acted it : for fuch was the cry of the people, as if the Church had fallen to the earth. The Cardinall had worke enough to doe, to get himselfe free, and in safety to the high Altar. All the Citty was vp in a furious vp-rore; for some cryed out, that the two

Brethren de Medici were flaine, & others

faide no, putting themselves presently in

Armes. They of the houses of Pazzi and Saluiati, began aloud to cry, Liberty,

Liberty, so that the Seigneury resorted to the great Pallace with all diligence, where the Gonfaloniero loyning with them, they fortified themselves with armedmen in the house. The Councellors of the Cittie, and fuch as tooke part with the Medici, went to seeke for the Lord Laurentie;

conducting him home to his own house,

where stood readily prepared about eight

with the house of Medici; yet notwithstanding they were so pressed, as they had not any leyfure, for making any Armed prouision, nor to appoint a Garrison for the Pallace. Yet they knew well enough, that Lord Laurentie was not much hurt,

and that he had men about him valiant &

Seigneury had no leyfure to take a refolu-

tion, in some mattets that he would have

The Archbishop perceiving, that the

As for the Archbishop of Pifa, hee

A Conspiracy at Florence.

ofeued his

Chap.31.

dop of Pila rideth to the Pallace, to conferre with the Seigneu.

pursuing on still the point with the Saluiati, being accompanied with many of their league, and fuch as were the Cardinals followers; rode directly vnto the Pallace, with intent to make their meaning well liking to the Seigneury . The Lords of the Seigneury, although they tooke part hardy.

thousand armed men.

appointing one part of them to keep poffession of the Pallace Gates. Hee, with Pallace, and made it knowne to the Seigneury, that he had fome-what to acquaint them withall, for generall benefit of the Common-wealth.Whereupon,hebeing admitted in, with some few of his people, that knew no part of his vile purpofe: the Gates of the Pallace were made fo strongly fast; that the Archbishop could have no fuccor of his followers nor the Lords of the Seigneury themselves have any affistance. So loudly did the Archbishop deliuer his minde, speaking of matters in fuch vnorderly manners that the Seigneurie (well vnderstanding his bad intention) The Arch Bicommanded the Gonfaloniero to take hold of him, as allo of Giacoma Saluiati, and Giacomo, the fonne of Messier Poppio de most of them Pazzi. And fo varuly grew the tumult. that all their attendants were instantly flaine in the fury, and thirty dead bodies throwne out of the Pallace windowes, vppon the heads of them that were beneath in the Court. Within a while after, the common

propounded to them: divided the traine

of his followers into two Companies,

people, who greatly fauoured them of the Medici, ranne in huge heapes and crowds The other to the Pallace : where all the other part of partofthe the Archbishops men (that had the trust Archbishops of keeping the Pallace Gates) were taken fine, & him. and flaine presently, without any respect selfe hanged, vsed towards them. As for the Arch-Bishop, and his two friends with himsthey were hanged in the Market-place, to cause moreterrour in the reft. Giacomo de Paza zi. and divers other of the Conspirators. rode vp and downe through the Citty, crying Liberty, Liberty: but perceining none to make them answer, as leaning rather to the part of Lord Laurentio; they thought to faue themselues by slight. Only Bernardo Bandino excepted, who lay in his bed very ficke, by paine of the wound which he had given himfelfe; fo that hee was not able to fit on horsebacke, or come come abroad out of his Chamber.

By this time the whole Citty was vp in Armes, to defend the cause of the Lord Laurentio, who extremely greeued, for the Citty maindeath of Lord Juliano his Brother: caut- caufe of Lord fing seuere pursuite after the Conspira. tors, so that many, who were but meerely

fulpcacd

Laurentio de Medicis.

diours prepa red for the purpole.

A lift of Sol-

The combination for a murder.

most horrible

The Archthe other company, ascended up into the Bishop admit-

Scuerity of

on the bloody

A briefe fur-

confpiracy, &

tor s therein.

with fome o ther accidets

the maine ac-

uay of the life: but at length, his innocence being truely knowne, he was acquitted; continuing (neuerthelesse) long time prisoner. Bernardo Bandino, was ledde starke naked Bernardo Báto the Pallace, and so hanged vp, next to dino hanged vp ftarke nathe Archbishop. As for Antonio de Volked by the Archbishop. terra, and Stephano the Priest, who should haue flaine the Lord Laurentio: they were trodden to death among the rude multitude, that ranne enery where in the Citty, crying Medicis, Medicis, burning and pulling downe all their houses, whom they knew to be of the contrary Faction. In briefe, the disorder was such, and so confuled, as it exceeded the capacity of writing; especially the furies and cruelties, committed in this horrid tempelt.

suspected in the case, could not escape, although no matter was prooued against them; but no knowne offender could any way be spared. The young Cardinall,

Nephew to the Pope, was kept prisoner

in the Pallace, with very great perill of his

Giácomo de Pazzi, was taken in his flight, & brought back to Florence: where he was hanged or strangled, and his body being cut in pecces, was after buried in prophane ground; all his lands & goods (which being of great value) were confifcated, and adjudged to the Seigneuries possession. And after condigne punishment inflicted vpon the malefactors, the body of Lord Iuliano was most honourably buried, and with very folemne Funerall pompe.

Such iffue had the Conjuration of the Pazzi, which was a matter very strange. For, in leffe then three houres, the Lord Iuliano de Medicis (an extraordinary rich man) was flaine; the Archbishop of Pisa hanged, with some other of his confederates, and the houses of the adverse part vtterly destroyed. Pope Sixtur, and Ferdinando, King of Naples, conceived fuch a folcene against this action at Florence; that they (together) lenyed a powerfull Army against the Florentines, who (with the aid of their friends) defended themselves so well; that no other aduantage was due to the disturbers, but that the war was long, and very cruell, great effusion of blood happening on eyther fide. Behold the poore and vnfortunate iffue of thefe conspirators, who thinking to winne honour, and high degrees by indifcreete meanes: lost their lives, disloynted the peace and vnity of their Country, and made their enemy much mightier then before, for Lord Laurentio de Medicis gouerned Florence fo long as he liucd.

CHAP. XXXII.

Avery remarkable and worthy Historie, delinering in true and briefe discourse; the life and memorable actions of that famous Captaine, commonly called, Castruccio Castracagnio.

Astruccio Castracagnio, a Captaine of much fame and merit, in my poore opinion, It is not pormay be rancked among the unity of bad greatest and most renowned the mented

Captaines of the world: confidering the any well to pouerty of his originall, and the flender fertisg man meanes he had, without the fauours of any, compared also with those strange trauerses, which Fortune put vppon him. Wherein I may well fay, that very few Captaines or Generals are to bee found, who with fo poore & imperfect furnishment did euer reach to those honours and chates, as this our Castruccio Castracagnio attained. Wherefore, I thought it no disparagement vnto our precedent best subjects, that his History should make one among them: not purpoling to vie any larger dilation therein, then already I haue observed in the rest, because it shall fuffice me, fummarily to report the courage of this Captaine.

Beginning then with his originall, which was very strange, you are to vnder- Here the M stand, that in Luca, a Citty of no meane discoursed fame in Italy, there was a Chanon belonging ing to the Church of S. Michaell, named of Caffred Caffred Messire Antonio Castracagnio, who had a cagnio, kin fifter (of his owne) liuing with him, being what mand he was found a very honest and vertuous woman. Close ioyning to this Chanons house, was a little Close or Field of * Autines, which was plentifully furnished with variety of fruit- Vines tafte full Trees, as is the manner vied in Italy. ned to Tet The fifter to this Chanon (by fortune) according to the manner going one morning into this Close, to in tally. gather some Hearbs for her vie, without dreming on any fuch matter as after hapned: as the was gathering Hearbs heere and there, heard a small voyce, as if it were or truce; Captaine Guinguo returned to of fome new borne babe. And walking Luca, with his Caftruccio, wher he was most that way where she heard the cty; among kindly embraced by enery one, as well in the leaves and young bourgeons of the general as particular, in regard of the good Vines, was an infant laide, appearing to bee report noised enery where of him. So that very lately before borne, tenderly crying, more account was made of him, then of as defiring aide in that wofull diffresse.

The good widdow, fomewhat fadly moued at the beginning of this aduenture, yet increased towards him daily more & more. prouoked by a womans louing compatition: carried in the tender childe, & shewed Guiniquo leeling himselfe ficke, & in some Castraccio it to the Chanon her brother, who being a danger of death; gaue the tutelage & go tredited with mazed at fo strange an accident, and yet o- uernement of Pagola his sonne, to his man this por his uercome with Christianlike pitty, determi- Castruccio. In which charge; Castruccio car- Masters Sonne ned to provide nurfing for the Babe. And ried himfelfe fo faithfully, that fo long as in regard that it was a manchilde, hee gaue he liued, he had at his command the affairs it the name of his owne Father, calling him of Pagola, enen as if hee had bene his owne Castruccio. When the Nursse was come, he sonne. After the decease of Captaine Guicaused it to be nourished as if it had beene miguo, the credite and reputation of Cahis owne : & after growing to a great boy, fruccia wonderfully augmented. Neuerfent him to schoole, with full intention of thelesse, because he was very fiery, impatifurrendring his Chanons place to him. But ent and vindicatine, when any wrong had when the Lad grew to 14. yeares of age, bene done vnto him: the men of Luca be Learning and Bookes was the least part of gan to grow suspitious, that he purposed to his care, for he was no way addicted to let-make himselse Lord of Luca, and not with ded by the ters, but rather delighted in handling of a out some pregnant occasion; in which te Seignewy to fword:and in regard that he was very active fpect, the Seigneury commanded him to aof body, he gaue himselfe greatly to leap- woide the City. Which difference Castruccio ing,dancing, & wrastling with other strong for much distasted, that he resolved to be re-Lads like himfelf. Speaking al in a word, he tuenged, even with the ruine and confusion was so dexterious in what soener he did; as of his head-strong enemies. At this very none of his companions could equall him, time, the Factions of the Guelphes and Gibes

Guinigue, a man much renowned, for worthy actions of Armes performed by him in neury of Pifa; Gaftructie practifed (by infi-Lombardy, was then at Lucas He hearing muation) to compaffe grace & fauour with betweene the fuch report of young Castruccio, & seeing this Lord Faginala, & therfore complotted Guelphes and him bold & braucly spirited, found meanes with the Gibelines, to make Figiuala Lord of to have him in his fervice. And Castruccio Luca. Working this traine on secretly, he being now where he best desired, became prevailed so well with some of his friends (in leffe then fine yeares) fo expert a Soul- in the City: that (at an appointed inftant) dior, as his like was not to be found, as well he won a Port of Luca. By means whereof on horse as foot : for he could so cunningly the Gibelines entred, with such succor as the manage any horse, that Caualendore of Ita- Lord Faginola had given them, expulsing lie hardly came neere him.

Being come to the age of 18, yeares, Cap- their very veremost they could. taine Guiniguo, his Malter, departed thence for Millaine, in aide of the Vifcantines, who cuer, & in fuch fort, as he was held to be the Caffricelore were in Armes against the Thuriani, and many other Millaine Gentlemen. He tooke the lord Faginala, to who he made recourse Lord of Lu-Cestruccio along with him, who caried him in simes of necessity. The Florentines, who felfe fo valiant and wifely in this war; that deadly despighted Castrucio, vnderstading The Florenlice bare away the fame from all the Soldi- the fuccesse of his affaires; leuied a great time fought

Guinique his Mafter; for hee was fo humane and courteous to every man, that affection

Within a short while after, Captaine but Castruccio becae respected in euery eyes lines reigned powerfully in Italy; and euen complored Ico fortuned, that Captaine Francesco the also, the lord Hugo Faginola was in some against the thence the Guelphes, after they had done

Castruccio was now in greater esteeme the Lord of Luca, although he was inferior to puted the ots in the Campe. This war lasted flue or Army, by helpe of such as were in league he death of six yeares, which being ended by peace with the purposing to outr-run Castraocie. Castructo.

Young Ca-fractio not addicted to Caffruccio

Carolo flaine

dy. Concerning men of name in the Florentines Campe, there was among them Don Pedro, Brother to Robert, King of Naples, accompanied with Don Carolo his Nephew, sonne to Phillip. But the vertue of Lord Faginola and Construccio, served wel to counterpoile the greatnes of the other. After that this war had continued for some space of time, the Lord Fagiuola re-The Army left wholly t ceiued intelligence, that there had hap-Castruccioes ned a great commotion at Pisa, in redresse gouernment whereof, Lord Faginola was faine to leave the Armies conduct wholy to Caltruccio: who behaued himfelfe fo wifely and valiantly in this great truft, that after many fallies and light skirmithes, hee came to battaile with the Florentines. Castruccio maintained the fight with fuch good order and judgement, that (although he was the most obstinate má that euer was born in Italy) yet notwithstanding, the victory winneth the remained to him, and the flaughter was fo victory gains great, that there were flaine about tenne tines, Don thouland Florentines, among whom, Don Pedro & Don Pedro and Don Carolo his Nephew, were

But Lord Faginola and Castruccio, dispo-

fed fo well for the meeting with them, that the warre grew to be very cruell & bloo-

Winter being come, Call ruccio returned to Luca, by the command of Lord Paginola, towards whom he showed himfelfe very obedient. But, as it is a customary case, that wealth and great honors doe cause feare and enuy : so the Lord Faginola, perceining the credite of Castruccio to encrease daily more and more: determined his death, in recompence of all the worthy feruices he had done him. To effect this dishonourable businesse; he sent one of his formes to Luca, who caused Ca-Aruccio to be committed prisoner, vnder pretence, of fome fecret blame imposed yon him. But the imprisonment of Ca-Struccio was to offentine to the Lucanes that the people began to mutiny against their Lord Facinals: who having advertifement thereof, left Pifa, and marched thether with a potent Army.

found in number with the dead. Which victory, affured to the Lord Paginola, all those estates (held by him) in farre better

fecurity, and enlarged the credite and reputation of Castruccio, beyond all common expectation.

But there hapned to him a very strange accident, and yet no more then hee jully deferued for his vnmanly dealing. When the Pilanes were advertised, that Castrus-1 cio was deteined as a prisoner; they began fo to ftomacke the matter, that they flew The Gouerthe Governor, whom Lord Faginola had left as his Deputy, and all fuch as were to do him any feruice; fo that they enfranchized themselues from the tyranny of to the Lucan Faginola. He receiving intelligence of this mi(hap, and that (by this meanes) his returne to Pifa was bard vp against him:purfued on his purpose, to make all sure and fafe at Luca. But therin he proued likewife as vnfortunate as at Pifa, for the Pifanes had informed the Lucanes of their affaires, and with such speedy diligence; that the Poste fro the Pilanes arrived at Luca, much fooner then the Lord Faginola could do.

Heereupon, the Lucanes put them in

Armes, so that they expulsed the sonne of Faginola out of Luca, with absolute purpose, of allowing no entrance to the Father; but gaue freedome to Castruccio, in clude hir for meere despight of him. Yet some say, that Faginola entred Luca, & very quickly was expelled thence; when losing all hope of recovering his estates, he was glad to saue himselfe by flight into Lombardy. But be it howfoeuer, this I am fore of, that hee loft his dominion over both the Cities in one day: which he might fafely have enjoyed stil if he had but kept faire friendship with Castruccio: who being thus fet at liberty, Castruccio was elected Captaine and General of the made Gene Lucanes, by free confent of the whol Seig- rall of Luca neury. In which authority he being loath sonfent to live idle. leuved a great Army, wherewith hee recouered many strong Holds from the Florentines, which they had long vsurped from the Lucanes: taking diners other of their owne beside, in despight of their best Forces, albeit they were strong indeed. Caltruccio returning then to Luca, was there most honourably welcomed in regard of his worthy victories obtayned, and created absolute Lord of Luca. of Lucand became mad From which time forward, hee became dreaded, much feared of the neighbours round about, especially the Florentines, who were the most powerfull in all Tufcany: For, he had many wars against them, and tooke many Ports and Castles from them, yea, and ouerthrew them in a plaine fielde of Battaile, equally appointed on either fide.

As thus the fortunes of Castruccio grew daily better and better, the Emperor Fre-

de feruice of not of Pifa flaine by the taining to him.

Chap.32.

in Army of finy shou-led men le-ded by the forentines spent Ca-fraccio, ror there: wher being enstructed of the ma- the cheefest of the Plorentines were eyther tines out ny good parts remaining in Castruccio, hee flaine, or taken prisoners. Castruccio him-throwns in a laboured greatly to win him to his feruice. felfe being wounded, and a great number basale by Castruccio then leaving Pagola Guimiguo (of of his men flaine; yet all this could not a Castruccio his Lieutenant to gouern Luca: went to fee vpon his victory, marching in all hafte with fo far as Rome. Some hold, that he came this very speedily, as also all the Castles and in Tuscany. ther before the Coronation; but, after the Townes thereabout. So that (without any prenailed fo well by good means, that they within two miles of Florence, whereat the of Pifa chose him to be their Prince. Which | Florentines were not a little amazed. newes being brought to Rene, King of Maples (his old heavy enemy)he bega to grow entrance into Florence, hee received aduer. He encamped doubtfull of Castruccio, and perceiuing his tilement, that the Pifanes were practifing within two mailes of Flo. power to encrease so greatly: hee made a league with the Florentines against Castruc- leaving his intent for Florence, he returned called thence cio, intending now to fee the veter ruine of fo manfully encountred by Castruccio; that affured, neuer to continue long in peace. euermore he had the better of the, although without some imployment for warre. with great expence of blood, and recovery of many places from them: fo that the Flo- by their peoples ouerthrow, and loffe be- The Florenrentines were meerely enforced, to craue a fide of fo many Towns : freely gaue them-themselves in truce for certaine time; during which ref- felues to the King of Maples, promifing him habitation to pite, Castruccio largely increased his power. a yearely tribute of two hundred thousand haples. For, as they of * Piftorium were in diffrence Crownes. The King of Naples accepted one with another within the Towne : Cafruccio shouldred in (during their civill disfention) and poffessed himselfe of Pistoria, of the Cauallery and Infantery that hee and more in daily dangers, endenoured by of Castruccioes Forces: to that now the Ar- Another al the best meanes they could deuise, to ga- my of the Florentines consisted of tenne great Aimy ther people from all parts, onely to breake thousand horse, and thirty thousand foote. Florentines, the Forces of Castruccio, or else to drine With this powerfull preparation (perswa- against Ca. him out of Piftorium. In which respect, the ding themselves, that Castruccio durft not Supplies which came to them, as well from come into the fielde) they intended to bethe Kingdome of Naples, as other places fiedge Pifa; but Castruccio, who was one of more remote, were fo great; that upon the the most valiant & politique Generals, that musters account, they were numbred to be the whole world then afforded, went forth 40000.men. Seeing then, that they had so to meete them, attended only with 4000. goodly an Army, they began their march horse, and 20000 foote, but all in excellent directly towards Pistorium, where Castruc- Military order. As these two Camps becio had his Campe, confifting of far fewer gan to draw neere each other, there paffed people then the Florentines. Neuerthelesse, diuers skirmishes in the plaine sield, wherin he guided his war fo wifely, vfing fo many continually Castruccio had the best. Finally, Surprizals, skirmishes and encounters, that Castruccio seeking opportunity, to deliver fucceffe attended upon him continually.

order, that he vanquished the Florentines: the to accept the battel, wherin was a great in which ouerthrow was great flaughter

ricke came into Iraly, to be crownd Empe- made, and flore of rich booty taken, for all The Forenwhom he had thus long beene Turour) as lote daunt his courage, but still he pursued the Emperor Frederick whom he followed his Army against * Partum, which he tooke A faire town Emperors return into Germany, Castruccio resistance) he went and placed his Campe

As hee was effaying all meanes for his fome matter to his disaduantage: fo that, rence, & was to Pifaa triumphant Conqueror. After he by a mutiny him, and recouery of all the honors apper. had inflicted punishment upon the mutiners, he went to vifite all the neighbouring Hercupon, the King of Naples & the Flo- parts, taking order for all needfull occasiremines prepared a ftrong army, which was one beforming warre: because he was well

The Florentines, mightily confounded the Florentines offer, and fent Don Carolo his fonne to their affiftance, with the most part and all other places subjected to that Citty. could command; and the like did some o-The Florentines sceing themselves more ther Citties of Italy, who stood all in feare battaile to the Florentines : paffed ouer the In the end, comming to the day of bat- Foord at the Riner of "Arno, and found the A goodly taile, he proceeded therein with fuch good | Florentines in fuch diforder, as he compeld River in Italy

flaughter

diffionorably

Lord Fagiue

la concludet

the death of

Caftruccio

The Lucane Lord Fagi-. عزون

necessary vie

Castruccio his victory o uer the Flo rentines, and cafie meanes to have made a further conqueft.

Caltruccio fe

ficke of a

Feauer, and dyed within

feauen dayer

The Authors

farwell to the

endleffe me - mory of Ca-

ftruccio Car-

cagnio.

fullowing.

Quotidian

flaughter on both fides, but yet the victory fell to Castruccio; twenty thousand Florentines being flam in the field, befide two thousand prisoners taken : among whom was Don Carolo, sonne to the King of Naples, and many other Commanders of name. And affuredly (without all queftion to the contrary) confidering this last great victory, which Castruccio had against the Florentines: he might not onely haue conquered Florence it felfe, but likewise no meane part of Italy befide.

But heere may bee apparantly obserued how weake and feeble the strength of man is ; for a Glasse is no sooner crackt & thinerd, then a mans best might, when Gods affistance giveth him ouer. Castruccie, following his fortune vpon the spurre, and having made the surprizall before remembred; rode coasting along the River of Arno like a worthy Generall, to rallire all his people together. And being fore wearied and ouer-fweated, (for he had fought all the day) the fresh cooleneffe, or dampe of the River finote him inwardly, that the night following, he fell into a Quotidian Feauer, whereof (no doubt as God had appointed) he dyed on the scuenth day after, being then in the very flower of his time.

Surely, had this Castruccio bene a Natine of Rome, or Athens, as he was of Luca, where he was borne, without knoledge of Father or Mother; Or had he beene brought vp in the Kings Court of Macedon: he had greatly blemifhed the renown of Scipio, Phillip, yea, and Alexander the Great. Notwithstanding (a Lucane borne as he was) had hee lined a longer date of yeares, which his youth and ablenes made faire promife of: hee had equalled any of them in richnesse of fame. But returning to our History, Castruccio made Pagola Guiniquo his heyre; albeit some say, that he had Children of his owne, whom he instituted to bee his heyres. But be it howfocuer, as he got his effate & wealth by manhood and valour: his fuccessours loft all by lewdneffe and negligence, if we may credite Aretine, Blondus, Toninus &

CHAP. XXXIII.

A Discourse concerning the Windes: And of their Seuerall names, as well Ancient, as Moderne.

HE Windes, according as Seneca faith, are very meete and concerning the Winder, and of what are very meete and necellary for the spa-cious. Vniuerse; to conferne the winds who were conferne the temperature of Heauen and Earth; to disperse and scatter raines and mysts sand to helpe the Trees in producing their Fruites. Nature also gaue them creation, to be the meanes of mens Nauigation, whereby they might communicat together the goods of the earth: fo that Regions which are fertile in some particular things, may impart them to other that are not fo well prouided. In briefe, the VV indes do cause an infinity of commerces among men, which my intended breuity will not spare me to speake of.

Onely I have propounded to my felfe, to shew how many Windes there are, The Arguwhat they are, whence they come, and how they are : wherein I am perswaded, coursed in that some benefit will redownd to divers this Chapter persons, especially to such as professe sayling on the Seas. To vnderstand then, what the Winde is, I will not relye on diuerfity of opinions, in fuch as have written thereon : but following Aristotle, and The winder the most common judgment of the wife : chalation I fay that the Winde is a vapour and ex hor and day halation hot and dry, drawnevp into the Ayre by vertue of the Sunne. And being driven aloft by his heate and lightnesse. proceeding on into the middle Region of the Ayre, which is alwayes coldescommeth to be repulfed by that contrary quality. So that being vnable to mount any higher, it breaketh foorth into blafts whether it can go, & being hindred of descen-bluftering in ding downe, in regard of lightnes : is con-the Ayre strained to tosse and tumble here & there in the Ayre; eyther more or leffe, according to the strength of the matter wherof it is caused. So that the definition of Seneca is not warrantable, who faieth, That the Winde is nothing elfe, but the Ayre mooued without any other matter: because these Exhalation are the exhalations and vapors, which ftir and vapour and mooue the Ayre; for, after they are moulingthe Ayre topos confirmed the winde ceaffeth.

Antiquity no

windes. T Luft

The West

The North

mentsinto-ded to be di.

themiclus

As concerning their names, our reuerend Ancients imposed such vpon them, as corresponded with the parts and Regions of the world, from whence they came. Neuertheleffe, Antiquitie neuer acknowledged fo many windes, as haue beene fince those times . For, according as Plinie, Aulus Gellius, Vegetius, Homer and other auncient Poets lay, no other mention was made, but of foure windes onely, which came from the foure parts or quarters of the world, viz. East, West, North and South; those are the parts or quarters most remarkeable that can be obserued throughout the world., For, as Danid and Lucan fay; Hence cometh day, and thence cometh night.

According then vnto this proportion,

our auncient Latines termed Subsolanus

the winde that came from the East Equinoctiall: The Greekes called it Apeliotes,

or Eurus: In Italy and Spaine, they call it

Leuante; and French Marriners terme it

the auncient names of the

> EH. Now, for the right winde belonging to Sunne-fetting, which is opposite and contrary to the precedent : the Greekes called it Zephyrus, that is, Vinifying : for it makes all plants to flourish: The Latines named it Fauonius: And the Italians and Spaniards call it Ponente: But our French Mariners call it Owest. And yet some others fay, that the word Zephyrus fignifieth conching or fetting. The third winde was called by the Latines Septemerio, in regard offeatien Starres, which turne or wheele about the North-Starre. By the same reafon the Greeks called it Apparetias, or Boreas; the Italians terme it Tramontana; the Spaniards Worte brifa; and the French do giue it the title of Nort. The fourth wind, which is opposite to the North, the Latines termed Auster, cuen as if they would

> haue called it a Water driver, for that this winde is often rainy; which made the Greeks to call it Notus, that is, watriff, or moift. The Italians name it Menzodi; the Spaniards Abrego far, and Vendeual 3 and the French, Sud. Thus you fee as concerning the foure windes, whereof only speake Homer, and Ouid in his Metamorphotis. But (with much more respect and renerence) let vs yer fay, that our bleffed Lord and Sauior makes mention of the foure windes, fpeaking of the last day of Judgement, both in Saint Mathew and Saint Marke, wherehe fayth : That hee will fend his Angells with troupes, to affemble his Elect from the foure

Now, astouching the qualitie of the foure windes, we will make some relation Of the quali thereof, in discoursing on other subalter- winder, nate windes. Since the time of Homer, we find an addition of foure other windes to the former, as affigning (between the Leuant or East, and the Mezzedi, or South) The Northa winde which the Latines call Vulturnus. because this wind whistleth like the wing of a Vulture, when he dislodgeth. The Greekes do terme it Eurus; and some call it vulgarly in Italian Lenante, or Siroc, or

The other winde which rayfeth it felfe The North from the place, where the Sunne moun- West winde. teth at mid lune, hath no name amongst the Latines. Notwithstanding some call it Ardant, or Hellesponticus, because it cometh from the coast of the Hellesponticke Sea. Our Mariners call it Gree, or Nordest. Gellius and Vegetius, attribute thereto the name of Aprilo, which nevertheleffe is the name of another winde.

The other winde is justly betweene the The South-North and the West, and cometh from that Region, where the Sunne fetteth in winter, and is called by the Latines Affricus, because (in regard of Rome) this wind commeth directly from Affrica. The Greekes called it Lybs, because they entitle Guynea to be Lybia : Our Italians terme it Lybechio, the French and Spaniards Saouch, or Garbin.

The other winde is justly betweene the The South-North and the West, and cometh from the place where the Stiffne coucheth him felte in broad day. Some call it Aufo, or Cancro. The Greekes called it Argeftes, as much to fay, as full of rayes. His impetuousnesse is called Apix, because it cometh from a quarter of Italy, fo called: Others give it the name of Olympick. Our Italians itile it Mestrall, the French & Spaniards doc tearme it Nort-onest. These are the eight feuerall winds, whereof Anlus Gelline and Vitranius, maketh mention

Moreover, Andronicus the Athenian Philosopher, builded a Tower at Athens, Andronicus with eight angles or corners of Marble, & pher, and he at euery angle was figured the Image of a wet at Athens Winde, which blew against the saide angle. On the top of the tame Tower, was Aaaa a Macchianell.

The Eaft

Arift, in Cool of

What winde

fixed a Triton of gold (reputed to be the | God of the Sea) holding a Rodde in his hand. And this Triton was composed in fuch artificiall fort, that he turned still with enery winde; like as the Vaynes or weather-flags vpo Castles or stately houfes now adayes do; shewing, or pointing still with his Rod, from whence the winde came, and where it reigned or dominee-Ouer and beside the forenamed eight

Foure winder windes there were yet added foure more. more,added to the former to make up just the number of twelue; plaeight, and in what feuerall cing two windes on this fide, and beyond the North, which is the high North, and are described two other on both fides of the South. which is the right winde for the South. That on the right fide of the Tramontana or North, betweene that and the winde Cafins, they called Aquilo; in regard of his impetuous bluftering, which is more fudden, then the wing of the fleetest Faulconthat is or can bec. The Greekes also called it Boreas, in respect of the great noife it maketh when it bloweth : forne other tearme it Mefes. The other winde. which is on the fide of the couchant or Sun fetting, betweene the Tramontana & the winde Cancro, was cald by the Greekes Thrasias. Seneca giueth it no name at all in Latine; neuerthelesse, there are some who name it Circius, or Circus: the Cha-Stillians call it Galego.

The other two windes are also oppofite to these heere related, whereof the one commeth from the entrance to the right winde of the South, and the Region where the Sunne hideth himfelfe in Winter, which also is called Euro auster, or Euronorus. Aristotle reporteth, that (in his time) in Affrica they yied to call it Phenicias. The other winde plainly is betweene the direct winde of the South and the Garbin or Su-West: in which relpe & they call it Lybonorus, or Lybonuster. And these are the twelve Windes, according to the foure Regions of the World. Aristotle, in his Booke of Heaven & the World, and in his Meteors, maketh mention of the Windes; but he neyther affigneth to them any names or number. Pliny notwithstanding, Seneca and Vegetim doe make mention of twelue, as the like also is done by our moderne Astrologers and Cosmographers, as namely 0rontius, Appianus, Gemma-Frisius, Henricus Glareanus, Stoflerinus, Ioannes Berenus, Ioannes Fernelius, Robertus Valturinus, and many more beside. Vitruuius neuertheleffe, after he hath affigned the eight prin- Foure & rut. cipall Windes to their Regions: doth yet y winder granted by give two subakernate Windes to each of Vitrump. the other Windes; so that (by his account) there should be foure and twenty Windes.

Notwithstanding, to enstruct our better apprehension of the Windes, he presupposeth three Circles, whereof one ferueth for the opinion of foure Windes, the other is for that of eight, and the last windes, for that of twelve. Hee fetteth downe (befide)the names of the Windes, according as Marriners (and especially the Spamiards) have stiled them. Yet (in the mean while)it is to be observed, that the windes are alwayes conformed, to the qualities of the Regions from whence they come.

For the three Orientall or Eastwindes, that is to fay, Subsolanus, Cacias, and Vulturnus, are hot and dry: whereas windesto contrariwife, Zephyrus and his neighbors, their Regions which come from the West or Sun-set, are colde and moist: because the absence of the Sunne, maketh the Regions colde where those windes blow. As is easily discerned by the night time, which is e- The diffrence uermore colde, as also by places subjected betweenedy to flades, that are (ordinarily) coole and and night timet. fresh. From the same cause proceedeth humidity; for, as heate in the day time dryeth the Easterne windes: so on the contrary, moisture encreaseth in the nights coolenesse.

As for the three Septentrionall or Northerly Windes, they are cold and dry; be- Of the Norcause they come from colde Regions, & they have their rayes writhed and wrinckled. Their coldnes also causeth drinesse, which they borrow of the castern windes, that are their neighbours : and yet they can take no moviture from the Occidentall or Westerne windes, because their drought and humidity are directly contrary.

Come we now to the Meridionall or Southerly Windes, they are hot & moift: Of the Method because they derive their warmth from Southerly hot Regions, comming from where the winder Sunne heateth downe right: with this addition moreouer, that they are neighbors to the East windes, which are hot. Concerning their humidity, they draw it from the Westerne windes, and vapours both of the Sea and Land. In Mountainy Regions, charged with Snowes, the Southerly winde may there get his moysture, as the like hee doth in fenny and muddy places: euen as drinesse may be caused by Plaines and champaigne grounds, so that they may be charged in the occurrences, according to the qualities of the windes. Here we are to obserue, that in every Region, the three windes comming thence, are all of one quality, & produce the same effects, which cause other effects (great or fmall) according to fuch as they happen to meete withall.

It resteth now to speake of the particular qualitie belonging to each winde. Beginne wee then with the right East winde, which is the most healthfull of all . For, it is subtile and pure, and partaketh more with choller, then his companions. His neighbour, blowing against the South, is more movil, and farre more furious then the former, and chargeth the ayre with cloudes. Aristotle sayth, that when this winde bloweth, all things do feeme more great and groffe, then they are indeede. The right winde of the South, causeth raines and tempelts, it troubleth the aire with cloudes, procuring pestilence and corruption. The winde Garbin, which is neighbor to the right West, is very tempestine, according vnto Virgill. But the Quest or West wind encreaseth seugme. and procureth thunders : it beginneth to blow, at the first appearing of the Spring. The direct Trimontana, which we call the right North winde, causeth colde and froft, it burneth floures and fruites, and purifieth a corrupted ayre. Now, in regarde it shutteth and locketh up the pores in mens bodies; this winde is helde very apt for health. As much may be fayde of the other Septentrionall windes, which are his conforts or companions.

It is to be held then for a conclusion, that these windes proceede from vapours and hote exhalations, and that (in al) there are twelve: without depending vppon other allegories, affigned to some infant windes. The Spaniards hold for principall winds, those foure which come from of them. the foure parts of the world, to wit, East, West North and South . As for the other foure, they tooke their names from them precedent : for the North-east is betweene the North and East wind: that which is betweene the Sunne-fet and the South, is also called South-west, and the other betweene the East and South, is also termed South-east: these are their seuerall nominations.

Afterward, eight other were talked of, which are equally bi-parted betweene the former eight, being termed Collaterall, of interport fide or middle windes. As that which is betweene the North and the North-east, was called North-North-east: The other which is betwixt the East and the North, is called by the Spaniards Zefur-dest, and by French Marriners, North-east; that which is betweene the South and Southcast, is called South-South-east; and the other betweene East and South east, is named East-South-east. The other betweene South-west and East, is tearmed West-South-West; and so of the other in the same distinguishing: so that sixeteene Windes are equally distributed ouer the Earth. Some adde other fixeteene Windes beside, which they tearme | Sixteene Quarter windes, by which allowance, wee, windes called flould then have two and thirty windes: but these latter borrowe all their names of their neighbours. Thus much therefore may ferue for all the Windes.

number of the windes,&

tion & their appellations.

The end of the eight Booke.

Two other winder oppofite to the for-

A Southand

A South and

by Eaft-winde

Ariff in lib. Cotiat Mund.

Moderne A Arologers & Colmogra-

The Ninth Booke.

Of the Great Prouince of Moscouia: As also the Man-ners, Religion, and Power, of the Prince there Ruling. Divided into five severall Tractes.

CHAP. I.

In this first Tract, is contained a Cosmographicall description of the whole Countrey; the Climate and Soyle . Also what Shires or Regions are therein contained. What Commodities the feuerall parts of the land yeeldeth : And then a breefe Collection, of the principall Citties and Townes in Mofcouia or Russia.

ea,or Mofcu

Molcouia form

Sarmatia.

ren dinided

parts between

Veha North.

Coma or Rusia, a great norther. ly Region containingmorethen fiue hundred leagues in length. The principal Ci-tic thereof, being called Mofca, or Mofcuua, greater then the Citty Paris in France, and leated on the River Molqua. I read alfo, that this Countrey was (fometimes) called Sarmatia, and came to varry or change from the name, by calling it felfe Rufsia, as beeing parted or divided into fundry fmall, yet abfolute Regiments negate designiding; or being in libication one to another.

Some of their Writers doe affirme, that the North partes of the Countrey, chanced to bee divided betweene foure Brethren, whose names were Trubor, Rurico, Sinces, and Parinus, and in that countrey Language, when they speak the word Russe, it implyeth as much, as to part or diuide. They anouch likewise, that source other persons made the like partition of the South parts, as Kto, Scieko, Choranus, Diffonette and a Sifter of theirs, named Libeda; and cuery one termed his Province or Territory, according vnto his owne particular name : and so from this their division, the Countrey came to be called Rufsia, about the yeare of our Lord eight hundred and

At such time as it was called Sarmatia of the White it confifted of two peculiar Divisions Namely, the Blacke and White. White mates in their Sarmatia contained all that portion that diffine dividlyeth towards the North, and on the fide of Licefland, which Prouinces are now termed Duyna, Vagha, Vologda, Cargapolia, Nowogradia,8404 Newogradia being the chief and Metropolitane City of them all. The Blacke Sarmatia contained all the country Southward, towards the black or Euxine The bounder Sea, with the Dukedome of Valodemer of and bording of Mosco, Rezan, &c. It is bounded Northward by the Lappes and the north Ocean: On the Southfide by the Tartars, called Chrimes: Haftward they have the Nagaian Tartat, who poffeffethall the country of the Easi side of the Volaba, toward the Caspian Sear On the west and South-west border, lye Lituania, Liuonia, and Polonia.

All the Countrey beeing brought to the obedience of one Gouernor, do com prehend these cheese Shyres or Prouin-

The Kings c enniarka owner a. monalt the Rulica

place in the Emperors stile, because their house came first of the Dukes of that Countrey) Mosko, Nisnouogrod, Plaska, Smolensko, Nonogrod Velica (or Nouogrod of the Low countries) Roftone, Yaruflane, Bealozera, Bezan, Duyna, Cargapolia, Mcfchora, Vagha, Vstuga, Ghaletfa. These are the shyres naturally belonging to Moscouia or Russia; but farre greater and larger then the Shires of England; albeit I cannot fay that they are so well peopled. The other Countreyes or Prouinces, which the Emperors have wonne by power, and more lately annexed to their former Dominion, follow by these names . Twerra, Toughoria Permia Vadska Boulghoria Chernigo, Oudoria, Obdoria, Condora, beside a great part of Siberia, where the people, (though they are not naturall Ruffians) obey the Emperor of Russia or Mosconia, being gouerned by his Countrey Lawes; paying Taxes and Customes, even as his owne people doe. Ouer and beside all which, the Kingdomes of Caxan and A-Stracan (not long fince obtained by conquest) are under his command. Concerning all his possessions in Lituania (to the number of thirtie great Townes, and more) with Narue & Dorp unand Aftra in Liuonia: they are quite gone from him, beeing (of late yeares) furprized by the Kings of Poland and Sweden. The fore-named Provinces or Shires, are all reduced into foure Iurisdictions, tearmed by them Chetfyrds, as much to fay, as Tetrarchyes or fourth-parts, whereof wee shall have more occation to speake hereafter.

The whole countrey is of great length and bredth: for, from the North vnto the South (measuring from Cola to Astracan, leaning fomewhat Eastward) containeth in length about foure thoufand two hundred fixty miles, which they terme worft. And yet the Emperor hath more extendure Northward, farre beyond Cola, euen to the Rivet of Tromschma, which runneth a thousand verst or miles beyond Pechinga, necre to Wardboufe, yet not intire nor clearly limited, because the kings of Sweden and Denmarke, having divers Townes there, as well as the Ruffe; are plotted together, the one with the other, all of them laying claime to those whole North-parts as their owne peculiar right. As for the Countreyes bredth, from that part of the

ces. Volodomer (which beareth the first) Territory lying farthest Westward on the Narne fide, to the Eastward parts of Siberia, where the Emperors Garrisons are kept, is counted forty four thousand verst or miles, or thereabout. They holde a Verst to be a thousand paces, yet lesse(by a quarter) then an English Mile. If the whole Dominion of the Ruffian Empe- iors dominirour were all habitable, and peopled in al on not all ha places, he would either hardly hold it all bitable. within one Gouernment, or bee too potent for all his neighboring Princes.

> To speake somewhat of the Soile and Climate, for the most part it consisteth in Moscouis. of a flight fandy mould, yet differing farre in one place from another; for yeelding fuch things as the earth affoordeth! Concerning the Countrey North-ward, vnto Barren foyle the parts of Saint Nicholas and Cola, and and delart North-East towards Siberia; it is all verie woods. barren, and full of defert woodes, by reafon of the Clymate, and extremitie of the cold in winter.

> In like manner, along the riner Voleba, betweene the Countries of Casan and Affracan, where, though the foyle is fruitfull, yet it is vn-inhabited : except on the well fide of the river Folgha, where the Emperour hath fome few Castells, and garrifons in them . But this is occasioned The Quige & by the Chrim Tartar, who will nevther extraungane himselfe plant Townes to dwell there (as the Chrun delighting in an extrauagant and wilde Tartar. kinde of life) nor yet fuffer the Ruffe (who is farre off with the thrength of his Countrey) to people those paris.

> From Vologda, which lieth well-neare featien thousand verst from the Port of Saint Nicholas, downe toward Moske, and fo towards the South Port, bordering vpon the Chrim, contaying the like fpace of 1700. verst : it is a very pleasant and fruitfull Countrey, yeelding pasture and full and pleacorne, with woods and waters in great plentie. The like is betweene Rezun (lying South-calt from Mosko) to Nonegrad and Vobsko, the which reacheth furthell towards the mountaines: So betweene Mosko and Smolensko (lying South-west towards Lituania, is a very pleafant and fruitfull foyle.

To observe the whole Countrey, maketh a great difference from it felfe, in regard of the yeares courfe; viging a firange alteration, betweene Winter and Summer in Ruffis. All the Countrey lyeth in

Of the foyle

Chap.1.

Astrange in equality of the countrey in winter and Summer.

Mighty deepe Inowes and i ces in Molco-

The extream freezing cold of the countr

Divers froze to death with cold in Markets and frequeted ffreets and traue lers on their Sleds

An ad mirable in Molcouis

Winter vnder fnow, which falleth there | ly trauaile in a more delightfull countrey. continually, contayning (fometime) two vardes in thickeneffe, and yet farre greater towardes the North: the Rivers and Waters being all frozen ouer a yard and more in depth of crust, how broade or fwift in current focuer they bee, continuing to commonly for the space of five moneths; as from the beginning of Nouember, vntill it draw towardes the end of March, and then the Snowes begin to

Well may we judge of the ayres sharpnesse there; because Water dropping downe, or throwne vp into the Aire freezeth to Ice before it can fall to the groud. And let a man hold a dish or pot of pewter in his hand, during the extremitie of Winter (except in some chamber where the warme Stoaues are) and his fingers will freeze fast vnto it, euen to tearing the skin off at the parting with it. And let a man go out of a warme room into a cold, he shall sensibly feele his breath to grow starke, euen as stisling with the cold, drawing it in, and vrging it forth.

Many haue bene noted, not onely such as trauaile abroad, but others in the frequented Markets, and common streetes of Townes, to bee mortally pinched and meerely killed with colde. So that divers haue beene scene to droppe downe dead in the streetes, and many trauaylers are brought into the Townes, fitting stiffe and dead in their Sleds: yea, some haue loft their nofes, the tips of their cares, the balles of their checkes, their verie Toes, fecte,&c. Many times, when Winter is very hard and violent, Beares & Wolues haue come (by huge troopes) out of the woods, as enforced thereto by meer hunger, and entering into Townes and Villages, have rent and torne whatfoever they could finde or meete withall, whereby the inhabitants were enforced to flight, onely for fafery of their lines.

But when the Sommer is come, neuer was feene a more fresh and delicate countrey, the woods (confilling most of Firre and Birch) being fo fweet and louely; the Pastures and Meddowes so greene and well growne, yea and ypon a fodaine, fuch variety of Flowers, such harmonie of Birdes (chiefely of Nightingales, whose notes feeme more foud and variable, then in other countries) that no man can light-

From the fresh and speedy growth of the Spring there, the fnow grueth no meane Spring there, the inow greeting winter time reason of opinion, because all winter time the fedding a it feemeth as mantled in a white Liuerie, fresh spring in the Country the Country while, till Spring time, and then the Suns hear diffolueth it to water. All which, do fo sweetly sympathize with the ground, bestowing on it such sufficient drenching and foaking (being of a flight and fandie mould, chearing it againe with the funnes reverberating brightnesse) that it produceth quickly all hearbes and plants in extraordinary aboundance. So that, as win- The Winter ter there superaboundeth in colde, Som- net so colde, mer answeres it with so much the more as violendy heate: chiefely in Iune, Iuly, and August, hot, it equalling then the best ayres in any other Countrey.

Comming nowe to speake of the Riuers, the first is the famous Volgha, whose head or Spring arifeth at an Alder-trees roote, some two hundred Verst beyonde Taruslane. It entreth into such bignes by Of the prince the entercourse of other rivers gyring in- palriumin to it; that in fome places it extendeth in Molcouis, bredth a mile and more, till at length it cluefe, falleth into the Caspian sea, by estimation neere 2800 Verst or miles in length. Beristhenes is the second, called now Neper: dividing the country from Lituania, and thence having his course into the Buxine Sea. Tanais, otherwise termed Don (boun- Tanais, ding anciently betweene Asia and Europ) feemeth to have his rifing out of the Rezan Ozera, passing thorough the Chrim Rezan Ozer Tartares Countrey, till hee makes his fall into the Sca-lake, or great Meare, neere to the Cittie of Azon, called Maotis . Mentis Report runneth among the Ruffes, that from their cheefe Citty of Moleo, even to Constantinople, and so into all those parts of the world men may eafily make paf- An excellent fage by this River. But then the con-uoy Boate must bee drawne ouer a lit-uer. tle Istmus, some sewe Verstes thwartwife, as proofe was not long fince made

Duyna, being many hundred Miles in length, must bee remembred amongst the Duynas rest, falling North into the Bay of Saint Nicholas, and on the Sea-fide it hath great Rockes of Alablaster vppon each banke. Duna emprieth it selfe into the Balticke Duna, Sea, neere to the town of Riga. And then is Onega, which some ninetie Verst from the port of Saint Nicholas, hath his downfall into the Bay at Solonet sco. Not far beneath Cargapolia, this river meeterh with another, called Volocke, which by Yama (a fmall Towne, droppeth into the Finland fea. Into which Sea, from Saint Nicholas Port, and so into the Sound, the Russes eafily paffe by water.

Suchana is another, which flowing into Duyna, runneth on into the North fea. As for Ocka, his head commeth from the Chrims borders, streaming on into Volgha. And Moleus glideth thorough the Cittie Miesco, borrowing his name thereof. Wichida likewise is a very long and spacious river, rifing out of Permia, and falling into the Volgha. So much for these memorable rivers in this country.

We come now to speak of those fruits as Malconia yeeldeth, which are in diners kinds; as Apples, Peares, Plums, Cherries red and blacke, but the black ones are wilde. Then have they a Deene, which is like to a Musk Mellon, but much more fweete and delicious. Also Cucumbers, Gourdes (which they tearme Arbouse,) Raspes, Straw-berries, and Hurtleberries, beside many other in great plenty; for euerie Woodde and hedge is well stored with them.

But if you demand of their Corne and Graine, they have Wheate, Rye, Barley, Oates, Peafe, Buckway, Plnytha, which resembleth Rice in taste. The Countrey is for bounding in these Graines, that it can allow a large ouer-plus quantity : for Wheate is sometime there solde for two Alteens the Chetfird, valewing ten pence sterling, and the measure amounteth well neere to three Bushels.

Concerning scasons of Husbandrie, Rye is there fowen before Winter, and all other graine in the Spring time. Such as dwell farre off in the North, and defere places, as the Permians, the partes more Southward do furnish them i beeing constrained yet (sometimes) to make Bread of a Rorte called Paghnon, and of the middle rind of the Firre tree, when any dearth

Natine commodities yeelded by the Countrey are many, and of good worth, for feruice of the peoples belt expectation, and benefitting the Emperor, by venting them abroad in the World : for the cold of the Climate (being a naturall inconvenience) by Gods great goodnesse, is therein much remedied. Their cheefest Furres are Blacke Fox, Sables, Lufernes, The principal Dun-fox, Martrones, Gurnstalles or Armines, Lasets or Mineuer, Beuer, Wul- meichandize nerins, being the skinne of a great water-Rat, that finelleth naturally like Muske; Calaber or greene Squirrell, red Squirrel, red and white Fox, what plentie of these are spent in the Countrey (because the people weare Furres all the winter time) is almost incredible. And yet the Merchants fome yeares, transport thence, to the valew of foure or flue hundred thoufand Rubbles, to Turkie, Perfia, Boulgharia, Georgia, Armenia, with fome other of Christendome.

In the Countreyes of Pechora, Momgoforfria, Obdorskoy, and other places, do the best Sable furres growe; and the worfer in Siberia, Perm, and fuch like places. The blacke Foxe and red come from Siberia: as from Pechora the white and Dun: the Wolues and Beares skins (both beeing white) come also thence. Perm yeildeth the choylest Wuluerin, and the best Martrones come from Syberia, Cadam, Morum, Perm and Cazan, Gallets & Ouelites fend out the best Luserns, Mininer, and Erufines; yet some come from Nonogrod and Perm; and Murmonkey by Co-La hath the best breed of Beauers. Common Furres (with some of these fore-named) are in cuerie part of the Coun-

A fecond commoditie is waxe, which | Wax, wheref hath beene thint thence into far remote Countreves yearely, the valew of 50000. fortie pounde Pood. Honey also is there in great quantity, spent dayly in their ordinarie drinkes, which is Mead of all forts : and yet carried out of the Countrey in great abundance. Mordua and Cadam nere vnto Cheremiffen Tartar, yeeldeth the greatest encrease of Hony : but good ftore also commeth out of Severskoy, Regan, Morum, Casasi; Derogobole, and Walma.

Tallow is yeelded in great weight for Tallow. transportation, by reason of much good Many Lente ground for feeding Cattle; as also manie Lents observed among them. Partly befide, because the greatest personnes vie waxe Lights as the poorer and meaner fort do Byrch, dryed in their floues, being cut into long flices, called there Luchine-

The places that afford the very best furs in all their feuerall kindes.

Lefh & Cow-

Quelits, Nouegrod Vologda, Otfer and Gorodetskev. Another principal commodity is Losh and Cow-hides : their Losh and Buffe beeing very faire. Their Bull and Cowhide is but small of fize, for Oxen they make none, nor of weather. Strange Marchants have transported thence some yeares aboue an hundred thousand hides. beside great store of Goats skinnes, shipt also thence in large number. The breede for the fairest Losh or Buffe, is about Ro-Houe, Wichida, Nouogrod, Morum and Permas the leffer fort are in the kingdom of Caran. Traine Oyle, beeing made or drawne out of the Seale-fish, is no mean commo-Traine Oyle. dity there. And because we are speaking of the Seale-fish, it shall not much diffent

After what

from our matter, to report in what manner they hunt the Seale, whereof afterward this Oyle is made. When the end of Summer draweth neere, and the frosts are not (as yet) begun; they descend with | Sope. manner they their boats into S. Nicholas Baye, to the they leave their boates till the next fpring tide. When the Sunne waxeth warme towards the fpring, and yet the ice not melted in the Bay; they return thither again, and drawing their Boats ouer the ice, vie them as houses to lodge and rest in. Commonly, there are about seauenteene or eighteene Fleete of them, being divided into divers companies, five or fixe boates

Such as light first upon the fifthes haunt

made to the other Companies, they realwayes conforting together A Beacon fior refort, do fire a Beacon, carryed with them for the same purpose, and certaine warning. are appointed, to observe when the Bea-

viewito lode

round in a ring, as they ly Sunning themfulnes'together yponishe less being commonly foure or five thousand in a those; Theo cuery man, having a Clubbe in his hand enters frontly woon them; & if they his them on the noise then they are foone kilden But if on the backetor fides, they beard out the blowes fuffely, and manie times catch the chib fo falt, and holde it downe with their teeth fo strongly, that os. Some yeares haue fent away by Shipthe party is forced to call for helpe to his ping, aboue an hundred thousand Poode yearely, which hath come out of the parts fellowes. and Territories of Smolensko, Yaruflaue,

The maner of the Seales is, when they perceiue themselues beset round about; trall behave to gather all close together, as in a throng or heape, to sway and beare downe the state of the Ice, and to breake it if they can: which fence. bending of the Ice, brings vp fuch a Seawater voon it, that the Hunters are faine to wade a foote or more deepe. When they have killed what they can, & intend no further flaughter at that time: the hunters fall to fharing, every boat his part by fpoile among equall portions. And so they flay them, taking off the skinne from the bodie, and the Lard or fat withall that cleaueth vnto the skinne, which they beare thence with them, going to the shore, leaving the bodies behind. Pits they dig in the ground, of a fathome & a halfe in depth, and hauing taken off the Fat or Larde from the skin, cast it into the pits, and then hurle in hot burning coales to melt it withall The vppermost and purest is fold, and v-

fer, being red of colour, they fell to make Great quantity also of Ickary or Canea-Ickary or Ca-Cape called Cusconesse or Foundse, where 7, is made vpon the river of Voleha, out of a Fish called Bellougina, the Sturgeon, the Severiga, and the Sterledey: most part whereof is shipt thence by French & Netherland Merchants for Italy, Spaine, and

fed to oyle wooll for cloth : but the grof-

England. Flaxe and Hempe is another commodity, whereof hath bene thipt at the Port Flax & Hemp of Narue, the more part of an hundered Ships small and great yearely. But great abatement is in these and other commodities, by shutting up the Port of Narue towards the Finland Sea, which is now in Great hinder possession of the Sweden. The stop of past- rance in vea fage also ouer land, by the way of Smor commodite con shall be fired; whereof report beeing linite and Plotte, in regard of warre with made to the other Companies, they refort all together, compassing the Seals | beleffe carefull in prouiding these and or ther commodities because they want sale. Por growth of Flax, the Prouince of Vobske and country thereabout is chiefe: like as Smolensko, Dorogobofe, and Vasma is for

> Great flore of Salt the Countrey mas Salt, where keth, wherebiebe best is at Storaroufe in fome is male very great quantity, having flote of Saltwols, fometwo hundred hity nine Verft from the Sea. But at A tracan, Salt is naturally made by the Sea-water, which cafleth it vp in great hilles, from whence it is digged downe, and carryed away by Merchants, or any that will fetch of it. Three pence Ruffe is payed to the Emperour vpon cuery hundred weight of Salt, which is likewise made in many other places, as in Berm, Wichida, Totina, Kenitima, Souvletskey, Jrc. all out of Salt-pits, except at Solouetskey, which lyeth neare vnto the Tarre also they make great store of,

Tarre a great

Slude, which

their Mosco

talls are in

out of Firre trees in the Country of Dayna and Smolensko, fending no meane plenty theteof abroade. To these before remembred, there are many more (naturall to the countrey) though of meaner estimation : As the fish-tooth, which they call Ribazuba, vied both amongeft themfence, and the Perfians and Bougharians, who fetch it thence for Beades, Kniues and Sword-handles for Noblemen and Gentlemen, and diverse other vses.

Some doe vie the powder of it against poyfon; like to Vnicornes horne, and the fifth that oweth it, is called a Morfe, beeing caught about Pechora : Some of these teeth are well-neare two foote in length, and do weigh cleaven or twelve pounds each tooth.

There is a foft Rocke, which they doe cutte into peeces or into thinne flakes, and are naturally to bee vied and employed as Glaffe, for Lant-hornes and fuch like : but yet yet is not fo brittle in breaking as Glaffe, yet it dooth give a farre clearer light. They doe tearme it slude, and it groweth in the Pronince of Corelia, and about the Riner Duyna, towardes the Salt-peter & North Sca.

Befides, they make Salt-peter in many places, as at Onglites, Tarullaine, and Vilug; with fome meane ftore of Brimstone uppon the River Polehal but they want skill to refine it.

As for their Iron, it is but brittle; yet much thereof is made in Carelia, Cargapoleia, and V Stug Thelefna, for other mines they have none growing within the king-What Arange

As for Beafts of ftrange kindes, they hane the Loth, the Oilen, the wilde Horfe, the Wulucring or Wood dogge, the Lyferne, the Beauer, the Sable, the Martroun, the blacke and dunne Fox, the white Beare, towards the Sea-coast of Pechora, the Gurnstall, and the Laset or Miniuer. Likewise, there is a kinde of Squirrell, having growing on the pinion of his shoulder bone, a long tuft of haire, much like vnto feathers, with a farre broader taile then other Squirrels haue, which they doe moone and thake, as they mone Squirrell.

from tree to tree, like to a Wing in refemblance, and feeming as if they flewe thereby, whereby they were called, Letach Vechsbe, that is to say, flying Squirrells. In the Summer their Hares and Squirrells are of the fame colour as other Hares milke are; but in Winter, the Hare changeth white. her coate into milke-white, and the Squirrell into grey, and thereof is it that the Calaber commerh.

Fallow Deere likewise they have, the Fallow deere, Roe Bucke, and great plenty and flore Roe Bucks, of Goates. Their horffes are but small. yet fwift and hard, and both in Winter and Summer, they travell them vnfhod, vling no respect at all of pace. Small are their sheepe, bearing harsh and course wooll, not so apt and convenient for the making of Cloath, as is affoorded in diuers other Countries, nor of fo good a

Of Foules they have of the principal! Foules of dikindes; and great flore of Hawkes, as alfo the Eagle, the Ger-faulcon, the Slight- and tame. faulcon, the Gof hawke, the Taffell, the Spar-hawke. But the principall Hawke breeding in the Countrey is counted the Ger-faulcon . We may not forget other chiefe Foules, as the Swanne wilde and tame in great plentie; the Storke, the Crane, the Tedder, refembling a Feafant in colour, but much bigger, and liueth in the Firrewoods. Of Pheazant and Partridge they have great plenty; and an Owle, fo great and ougly to beholde, as few countries affoorde the like, with a huge broad face, and eares much like to a

We come now to speake of fresh-wa- Varietie of ter Fifh, besides the common fort; as Fish and o-Carpes, Pikes, Pearch, Tench, Roach, &c. ther befide. they have dinerfe kindes very good and delicate. As the Bellouga or Bellougina, of foure or fine elles in length; the O/irrina or Sturgeon, the Seneriga and Sterledy, fomewhat in rashion and in taste like voto

the Sturgeon, but not fo thicke, nor fo

long.

Bbbb

, Thefe

red to giuc

How they fo vyon the Scales with

These foure kindes of Fish breed in the Volgha, and are there catcht in great abundance, feruing generally (as a great food) to the whole kingdome. And of the roes of these foure fishes, are made very great store of icary or Caneary. Besides these breeding in the Volgha,

The Ribabela or white Salmon.

The Moleouia fresh herring

the cheefest Citties in Mo fcouiz or Ruf-litie in the description, wee enter into a relation of the chiefe and principall Citties in Moscouia or Russia, and as our direction guideth vs, thefe are their names.

to all parts of the Realme.

thing the Emperor hath an yearely large

custome, which they practife in the Summer : but fend it frozen in the Winter in-

Now, because wee aymed at a forma-

I Mosko. Nouograd. Rostoue. Volodomer. Plesko. Smolensko. Iarustaue. Peristane. 9 Nisnouograd. 10 Vologda.

11 Vfliuck. 12 Golmigree.

12 Cazan. 14 Astracan.

15 Cargapolia. 16 Columna.

The Citty of Mosco is supposed to bee The Citie of of great antiquitie, though the first foun-Molco very der thereof be vnknowne to the Moscouites or Ruffe. It feemeth to derine the name from the river, running on the one fide thereof. Berofus the Chaldean telleth

Berofus in li. vs, that Nimred (in other profane Stories Molcus plan called Saturne) fent Affyrius Medus, Mofsed Colonies in A fia and Hurope, and Mo'co feemes cus and Magog into Alia, to plant Colo-10 take name some probabilitie, that the City, or rather the River whereon it is built, tooke the denomination from this Moscus. And so much the rather, because of the Climate or scituation, which is in the very furthest part and lift of Europe, bordering voon

It appeareth, that this Citie was much enlarged by one Euan or Iohn fonne vnto ging the tide of Daniell, the first that changed his Title of Duke into Duke into King; though that honor con-

they have a Fish called Ribabela, or white Salmon, which they hold to be more detinued not to his posteritie, the rather, licate then the red Salmon, having alfo because hee was innested into it by the great plenty of them in the Rivers north-Popes Legate, who at that time was Inward, as in Duyna and Cola, oc. In the Onocentius the fourth about the yere 1246. zera, or Lake neare to Perissaue, they have which was much misliked by the Russe a small Fish, which they call the fresh herpeople, being then a part of the Easterne ring, of the same fashion, and tasting also like a Sea herring . From the trades of fi-

or Greeke Church . Since that time, the name of that Cittle hath growne more famous, and much better knowne to the world. Infomuch, that not only the pro-uince, but the whole country of Mafcouia the Citic. or Russia, is termed by some, by the name of Moscouia the Metropolite Cittie. The forme of this Citty is (in a maner) The model or round, with three ftrong walles, circuling forme of the the one within the other, and ftreetes lying betweene, wherof the in-most wall, and the buildings closed within it, lying fo fast (as the heart within the body) fenced and watred with the Riner Moskua, which runneth close by it; is all accounted the Emperours Castell. The number of houses through the whole Citty (being reckoned a litle before it was fiered by the Chrim) were 41500. Since the Tartar be- fore the Class fieged and fiered it (which was in the yere fiering. 1571.) there doth lye waste of it a great breadth of ground, which before was wel Chrim Tstfet and planted with buildings; especially turficred the that part on the South fide of Moskua, Ciuic, built(not long before) by Bafilius the Em-perour for his garrison of Souldiours, to whom he gaue privilege to drinke Mead and Beere, at the drie or prohibited times. And for that cause called his new Cittie Naloi, that is to fay, Skinke or poure A name gluen in, So that now the Cittie of Mosco is not much bigger then the Citty of London in England. The next in greatnesse, and (in a manner) as large, is the Citty Nouograde, Nouograde where happened (as the Ruffe fayth) the city to Mofo. memorable warre, fo much spoken of in niesthere, and that Mofcus planted both Histories, of the Scythian servants, that in Afia and Europe. Which may make tooke vppe Armes against their Maisters, which they have reported to be after this manner.

Chapin. Of the Country Climate and People.

The historie uants warre against their Maifters, at their returning home from the Tar tats warre.

Tartars. Which being well perfourmed and ended by them they returned homewards. Where they understoode by the way, that their Cholopey I or Bondflaues whom they left at home, had (in their abfence) poffeffed their townes, lands, honfes, wines and all. Ar which newes being somewhat amazed, and yet dildayning the villance of their fernances they made the more speed home, and fo. not farre from Nouograde, mette them in warrelike maner marching against them. My hereupon, aduiting what was best to be done, they all agreed, to fet yppon them with no other fhew of weapons, but

Aworthy To-Solution in Mailters a gainst their

with their horse whippes (which as their manner is, every man rideth withall) to put them in remembrance of their fertile together with dents or notches at cuerie condition. thereby to terrific them and abate their courage . And fo marching corner; and fo clapped fast together. Betwixt the trees of timber, they thruft on, lashing all together with their whips in Mosle, whereof they gather plenty in in their hands, they gave the on-fette which seemed so terrible in the cares of the woods, to keepe out the ayre : And the villaines, and ftrooke fuch a fence inenery house hath a paire of staires, which to them of the whips finart (whereof they leade vpge into the chambers out of the had (harpely) tafted before) that they all yard or threete, after the Scottish maner. fled together, euen like theepe before This building appeareth farre better for their drivers. In memorie of which victorie, the Naugradians (euer fince) have stamped their Coine, which they call a colde, then those woodden houses; e-horsebacke, shaking a witip aloft in his hand. These two Citties exceede the reft in greatnelle. Inuffaue the For frength , their chiefe Cittles ard Volifco, Smolenico, Canan and Astracan, as all lying vpon the borders; but for scituation, Yarullane farre exceedeth all the Dingae Nouogredskot, currant through all Russia: with the figure of a man on reft. Begaufe, belide those commodities veelded by pasturage and corne, it lieth ypon the famous river Polaba, and lookes ouer it, from a banke most faire and stately to beholde, whereof the Towne taketh | till all bequite confirmed.

decree

The Bolardines or Gentlemen of No- | name . For Laruflane (in that language) ungrade, and the adjacent torritories (that | fignifieth a faire and famous banke. In onely are Souldiers afred the discipline this Cittle (as may be well imagined by of those countries) had warre with the i that name) dwelt the Moscoulan or Russe King Vlademir, furnamed Irruflaue : that married the daughter to Harold King of A Mofcoulan England, by mediation of Sueno the Dane, as the Danish historie restifieth, about the king of the yeare of our Lord God, one thousand Englands fixty featien.

Nothing greatly memorable, is to be spoken of the other Cittles and Townes, but onely ruines within their walles: which declareth the peoples decrease vnder this gouernement. In flead of pa-

uing , the freetes (in their Townes and Pauing of the Cittles) are plancked with Firre trees, plained and layd even close one to an other. Their houses are of wood, with- The Moscoul out any Lime or Stone, built very close an manner of and warme, with Firre trees playned, and building their houses. layd one uppon another, being fastened their Countrey, then that of Stone and Brickes because they are danker and more Bricke and consenient specially them of Firre, which is a verie building in drie and warme kinde of wood: whereof Mofcount.

thirty Rubbels, or litle more where wood

Onely the greatest inconvenience of The danger their woodden building, is the aptnoffe denhouses. for fiering, which happenech there verie often, and in as fearefull fort, by reafon of the drienetle and fatnetle of the Firre.

that beeing once fiered, it burneth like

voto a Torch, and is hardly quenched,

God hath prouided them such store, that a faire house may be built for twenty or

Bbbb 2

GHAP

CHAP. IL

Our fecond Tract relateth of what Linage or house the great Emperors are descended: And a view of their enstalment or Inauguration in that Supreame dignitie: with the form of publike Government, & order observed in holding their Parliaments. Then, of the Nobility, dignifying the state, with the regiment of their Provinces, and Councell attending upon the Emperour: His Customes, Revenueros & Sophismes; and a breefe relation of the Comminaltie. in their obedience and fernice.

Originall of an Imperiall house from the kings of Hungary.

HE sirname of the Imperiil house of Moscoma or Rus-sia, is called Beala, receiving Original (as is supposed) from the kings of Hungaria, which may appeare the more probable;

because the Hungarian Kings (many years fince) have borne that name, as is noted by Bonfinius, and other Histories written of that Countrey. For, about the yeare, 1059, mention is made of one Beala, that succeeded his brother Andreas, who reducedethe Hungarians to the Christian Faith, from which they were faln by Turkish perswasion before. The second of that name was called Beala the Blinde, after whome succeeded diners of the same name.

That their Angestours came not of the Ruffe Nation, Iuan Vafilowich (Father to this Emperour) would many times boall. disdaining (as it should seems) to have his progeny defined from the Ruffian blood. As namely, to an English-man his Goldsmith, that lind received Bullion of him to make certaine Plate: whom the Emperour commanded, to looke wel to his weight. For my Ruffes (laid he) are all Thecues. Whereat the workman, looking Redfallly vpon the Emperor, began to finile. The Emperour being of verie quicke conceite, charged him to tell, what hee fmiled at. If your Maiefly will pardon me (quoth the Gold-smith) I will tell you. Your Highnessesayde, that all the Rus-fes were Theenes, and forgotte (in the meane while) that your felfe was a Ruffe. I thought fo layde the Emperor, but thou art deceyned, for I am no Ruffe: my Ancestours were Germaines (for so they account the Hungarians, to bee part of the Germaine Nation) although (indeede) they come of the Hunnes, who mollefled and inuaded that country, and refled in those partes of Pannonia, now called

How they aspired to the Dukedome of Valodemer (which was their first degree, and ingrafting into Mosconia.) And whether it were by Conquest, or by Matriage, or by what other meanes; no certainty is to be learned among them. But from these beginnings, of a small Duke. How first they dom (which bare notwithstanding an abfolute gouernment with it, as at that time Volodemer did all the other Shires or Provinces of norknowne. Mesconia) this house of Beala spred it selfe foorth, and aspired (by degrees) vnto the Monarchie of the whole Countrey, as it is a thing well knowne, and but of late memory.

The cheefe of that house, that aduan- The adumet ced the Stocke, and enlarged their Do- ment of the minions: were the three last that reigned before this Emperour, to witte, Juan Bufilieus, and Iwan, Father to the other that reigneth at this time. Whereof the first that tooke vnto him the Name and Title of Emperor, was Bafilieus, Fa. ther to Inan, and Grandfather vinco this man. For (before that time) they onely were contented, to bee called by the Name of Great Dukes of Mosco or Mos-

What hath beene done by eyther Reference to of these three, and how much they have a place of bet added vnto their first estate, eyther by ency. Conquest, or otherwise; wee shall thew more at large, when we come to speake of their Collonies, or purchafes perforce. For the continuance of the race. this House of Beala at this present, is in like case, as are many of the greatest Houses of Christendome, (Viz:) the whole Stocke and Race, concluded in one, two, or some sewe of the blood. For, besides the Emperour that now is, who hath no childe (neyther is like cuer

Of Muscouia or Russia. Chap. 1. ctured by the constitution of his bodye, and barrenuesse of his wife, after so many yeares marriage) there is but one more, which is a Childe of fixe or feauen yeares olde, in whom resteth all the hope of succession, and posteritie of that

A great mifhap & much fing also the

As for the other Brother, that was eldeft of the three, and of the best toward neffe: hee dyed of a blow given him by his Father yppon the head (in furie) with his walking Staffe, or (as fome fay) of a thrust with the prong of it, driuen deep into his head. That hee meant him no. fuch mortall harme, when hee gaue him the blowe, appeared by his wonderfull great mourning and passion after his Sonnes vntimely death; which never left him, vntill it brought him to his Graue Wherein may bee noted the Inflice of God, that punnished his delight in shedding of blood, with this murther of his Sonne by his owne hand. And fo ended his dayes and tyranny together, with the murthering of himfelfe by extream greef,

The Emperours younger Brother,

Treachery at-

of fixe or feauen yeares olde (as was faid before;) is kept in a remote place from the Mosko, under the tuition and government of his Mother, and her Kindred, of the house of the Nagates ; yet not fafe (as I have heard) from atempts of making > diately. That he is the Naturall Sonne vnto Iuan Vafilowich, the Ruffe people warrant it, by the fathers qualities, which appear alreadie in his tender yeeres. He delights to fee Sheepe and other Cattle kilde, and to looke on their throates, while they are away, by practife of fome that would afpire vnto the Crowne, if the Emperour

dye without any yffue. For the Nurfe

that tailed before him of certaine meate,

(as I have heard reported) dyed immebleeding (which commonly, children are affrayde to beholde) and to beate Geefe and Hennes with a Staffe, till he fee them

Another title of inheritance

Qualities of

Besides these of the maste kinde, there is a Widdow, that hath right in the fuccession, Sister to the olde Emperour, and Aunt to him living; fometime wife vnto Magnus, Duke of Holit, Brother to the the Emperor fetteth foot into the church to have, for ought that can bee conie- | King of Denmarke, by whom the had one daughter.

This Woman', fince the death of her Husband, hath beene allured againe into Russia, by some that love the succession better then her selfe, which appeareth by the fequele. For her felfe, with her daughter, so soone as they were returned againe into Russia, were thrust into a Nunnery, where her daughter dyed this last yeare; but of no naturall disease, as was supposed. The Mother remaineth still in the Nunnery, bewayling her felfe, and cur-fing the time when thee returned into Nunnery, the Rufsia, enticed with the hope of Marti- Mother liveth age, and many other fayre promifes in an meane anguith, the Emperours name. And thus it standeth with the Imperiall stocke of Russia, of the House of Beala, which is like to determine in those that now are, and to make a conversion of the Russe Estate. If it bee into a Governement of some better temper, and milder conflictation; it will bee happie for the people, that are nowe oppressed with intollerable seinifor this his vuhappy, and most vunatural

Our nexte Discourse, must extend it felfe, to report fuch folemnities, as are commonly vsed at the Russe Emperors Corronation, which followeth in this

Of the manner of Crowning or Inauguration of the Ruffe Emperors

HE folemnities vsed at the Rulfe Emperors Corronation, are on this manner. In the great Church of Prechethe Emperours Caffle, is erected a stage, whereon frandeth a Screene, that beareth vppon it the Imperiall Cappe and Robe. of exceeding rich stuffe. When the day of Inauguration is come, there reforte thether, first the Patriarche with the Me- The lecelesiatropolitanes, Arch bythops, Bythoppes, dants. Abbots, and Priors, alrichly clad in their Pontificalibus. Then enter the Deacons, with the Quier of fingers: who fo foon as

Bbbb 3

begin

Familiar talk betweene the Emperer, and an Englith Goldfinith,

The liquide

Bealæ not na turally Moi-

Ruffe,

begin to fing: Many yeares may line noble Robe and the Cap, he bleffeth the Em-Theodore Inanowich, &c. Whereunto the | peror with the figne of the Croffe: fayof the Cleargy, answere with a certaine Hymne, in forme of a prayer, finging it al being ended, the Patriarch with the Emperor mount up the stage, where standeth a feat ready for the Emperour . Whereon the Patriarch willeth him to fit down, and then placing himfelfe by him, vppon another seate prouided for that purpose, boweth down his head toward the groud, and faith this prayer.

The prayer vetered by the Patriarch, before the Coronation

Oh Lord God, King of Kinges, Lord of Lords, which by the Prophet Samuell diddest King ouer thy people ifrael; heare nowe our this thy ferwant Theodore, whomethou hast chosen, and exalted for King, ouer these thy of Iustice, strengthen his arme, make Subjett feare be in his whole heart; turne him from of all Russia. &c. an cuill Faith, and from all errour, and shew him the faluation of thy holie and vniver fall Church; that he may judge thy people with Iustice, and protect the children of the poores Nobility, and the whol companie in their Emperor. and finally attaine everlasting life. This praier he speaketh with a low voyce, and then pronounceth alowd: All praise and power to God the Father, the Sonne, and the holy.

The Ceremo mies tobee vfed in order.

The prayer being ended, he commandeth certaine Abbots to reach the Imperiall Robe and Cap; which is done verie decently, and with great folemnitie, the Patriarch withall pronouncing alowde; Peace be voto all. And so he beginneth another prayer to this effect: Bow your felues together with us, and pray to him that reigneth ouer all. Preferue him (O Lord) under thy protection, keepe him that he may do good and holy things, let iustice shine foorth in his alowd: Thou art the King of the whol world, and the Saujour of our foules, to thee the Faeuer and euer, Amen. Then putting on the many other Countries, &c.

Patriarch and Metropolite, with the rest | ing withall; In the name of the Father, the Sonne, and the holy Ghost . The like is done by the Metropolites, Arch-byshops, and together, with a great noise. The Hymne | Byshops: who all in their order come to the Chaire, and one after another, doe bleffe the Emperor with their two fore-

Then is saide by the Patriarch another According to prayer, that beginneth, Omost holy Virgin, their ancien mother of God drc. After which, a Deacon custome pronounceth with an high lowde voyce: Manieyeares to Noble Theodore, good, honourable beloved of God, great Duke of Volodemer of Mosko, Emperour, and Monarch chuse thy servant Danid, and annoint him for of all Russia, Go. Wherto the other priests and Deacons, that stand somewhat far off Prayers, and looke from thy Sanctuarie upon by the Altar or Table, answere singing: Many yeares, many yeares to the noble Theodore. The same note is taken uppe by the boly Nations. Annoint him with the Oyle of Priestes and Deacons, that are placed at gladnelle, protest him by thy power put woon the right and left fide of the Church, land his head a Crowne of Gold of precious stones, then all together they chaunt and thungive him length of dayes, place him in the feat | der out, finging; Many yeeres to the noble Theodore, good, honourable, belowed of God, unto him all the barbarous Nations. Let thy great Duke of Volodemer, Mosko, Emperour

> Thefe folemnities being ended, first cometh the Patriarch with the Metropolits, Arch-byshops, and Byshoppes; then the done to the order, to doe homage vnto the Emperour, bending downe theyr heades, and knocking them at his feete vnto the very

The Stile wherewith hee is inuested at his Corronation,

runneth after this

Heodore Iuanowich, by the Grace of God, great Lord and Emperor of all Rufsia great Duke of Volodemer, Mosko, and Nouograd, King of Cazan, King of Astracan, Lord of Plesko, and great Duke of Smodayes, that we may line quietly without strife lensko, of Twerria, longhoria, Permia, Vadska, Bulghoria, and others. Lord and great This is pronounced formwhat foftly by Duke of Nouograd of the Low Countreyes, the Patriarch, whereto he addeth againe of Chernigo, Rezan, Polotskoy, Rostone, Yarustanely, Bealozera, Liefland, Oudoria, Obdoria, and Condensa: Commander of all Sither, Sonne, and Holy Ghost, be all praise for beria, and of the North partes, and Lorde of perors Proninces, and fetteth foorth his greatnesse. And therefore they have a very great delight and pride init, forcing power to make warre or league with any force not onely their owne people, but likewife strangers (that have any matter to deliver to the Emperor by speech or writing) to repeate the whole forme from the beginning to the end. Which breedeth much cauill, and sometimes quarrell, betwixt them and the Tartar, and Poland Ambasfadors; who refuse to call him Czar, that is Emperor, and to repeat the other parts

This

The manner of their Gouernement,

is much after the Turkish fashion: which they doe seeme to imitate as neere as the

Countrey, and reach of their capacities

(in politick affayres) will give them leave

The State or orme of their ouernment.

of his long style.

Chap. 2.

The Emperor proud of his many Titles.

The Ruffe go uernment ty-

Exaction in Prince.

to doc. The State and forme of their Gouernement is plaine tyrannicall, as applying all to the behoofe of the Prince, and that after a most open and barbarous manner;as may appeare by the Sophismata, or secrets of their Gouernment afterward set down, aswel for the keeping of the Nobility and Commons in an under proportion, and farre vneuen ballance in their feuerall degrees; as also in their impositions and exactions, wherein they exceed al iust meafure, without any regard of Nobilitic 01 people.

Furthermore, it giueth the Nobilitie a kinde of iniust, and vnmeasured liberty, No lemen oto command and exact uppon the Commons and bafer fortof people, in all parts of the Realme wherefocuer they come,especially in the place where theyr Lands lye, or where they are appointed by the Emperor to gouerne vnder him. Also to the Commons some small contentment, in that they passe ouer their lands (by difcent of inheritance) to whither fon they will: which commonly they do after our Gauill kinde, and dispose of their goodes by gift or Testament, without anie controulment. Wherein notwithstanding. both Nobility and Commons are but floand Comons, florers for the rers for the Prince, all running in the end into the Emperors Coffers : as may appear by the practife of enriching his treafurie, and the manner of Exactions fette downe in the title of his Customes and Reuennewes.

Concerning the principall points and

This flyle containeth in it all the Em- | matters of State, wherein the Soueraignty confisteth (as the making and annulling of publike Lawes, the making of Magestrats, raine State, to execute or to pardon life, with the right of appeale in all matters, both civill and criminall) they doe so wholly and abfolutely pertaine to the Emperor and his Councell under him; as that hee may be faide to be the Soueraigne Commanders and the executioner of all thefe. For, as touching any Law or publike order of the Realme, it is euer determined of, before any publike Affembly or Parliament bee fummoned, Where befides his Councel, he hath none other to consult with him of fuch matters as are concluded before had but onely a few Bythoppes, Abbots, and Friars: to no other end, then to make aduantage of the peoples superstitions, euen against themselves which think to be holy and inft, that paffeth with confent of their Byshops and Cleargy men, whatsocuer it bee.

For which purpose, the Emperors are Benefit made content to make much of the corupt state by corruption of the Church, as now it is among them, and to nourith the same by extraordinary fauours and immunities to the Byshopps Seas, Abbeyes, and Fryaries: as knowing, superstition and false Religion best to agree with a tyrannicall State, and to be a speciall meanes to vphold and maintaine the fame.

Secondly, as touching the publique Offices and Magistracies of the Realme, by the Empethere is none Hereditarie, neyther any fo | tor himfelte. great nor so little in that Countrey, but the bestowing of it, is done immediately by the Emperour himselfe. Infomuch, that the very Diackes or Clearkes in enery head Towne, are (for the most part) asfigned by himfelfe. Notwithstanding, the Emperor that now is (the better to entend his Denotions) referreth al such mat ters pertaining to the State, wholly to the ordering of his VV ines brother, the Lord Borris Federowich Godonoe.

Thirdly, the like is to bee faide of the Of judiciall Inrifdiction, concerning matters judicial, matters conspecially such as concerne life and death . Wherein there is none that hath any authority, or publike Iurifdiction that goeth by discent, or is held by Charter; but al at the appointment and pleasure of the Emperour.

And

Offices giuen

cerning life &

The Empetors power o uer life.

Of appeales and pardon in criminal ca

The Empres her tree par.

The manner their Patha-

No commons in Parliament

The order of the fummons

And the same practised by the ludges | begin. Which commonly is vpon Friday with fuch awe and restraint; as that they dare not determine vpon any special matter, but must referre the same wholly, vp the Mosko to the Emperours Councell. To shew his Soueraignty ouer the lines of his Subjects, the late Emperour Iuan Valilowich (in his walkes or progresses) if man whom hee met by the way, or that looked vpon him; would command his head to be strook off. Which was presently done, and the head cast before him.

Fourthly, for the foueraigne appeale, and giving of pardons in criminal matters to fuch as are convicted; it is wholly at the plefure and grace of the Emperor. Wherein also the Empresse that now is. being a woman of great clemency, and withall, delighting to deale in publike affaires of the Realme, (the rather to supply the defect of her husband) doth behaue her felfe after an absolute manner, giving out pardon (specially on her birth day, & other folemne times) in her ownename, by open Proclamation, without any mention at all of the Emperor.

Their highest Court of publike confultation for matter of State is called the Zabore, that is, the Publike Affembly. The states and degrees of persons that are prefent at their Parliaments, are thefe in order. First, the Emperour himselfe. Secondly, fome of his Nobility, about the number of twenty, being all of his Councell. Thirdly, certaine of the Cleargymen,&c.about the same number. As for Burghers, or other to represent the Comminalty, they have no place there: the people beeing of no better account with them, then as feruants or bondflaues, that are to obey, not to make lawes, nor to know any thing of publike matters, before they are concluded.

The Court of Parliament (called Zabore) is held in this manner. The Emperour caufeth to be fummoned fuch of his Nobility, as himfelfe thinketh meete, being (as was faid) all of his Councell: together with the Patriarch, who calleth his Cleargy, to wit, the two Metropolites, the two Archbishops, with such Bishops. Abbost, and Fryars, as are of best account and reputation among them. When they are all affembled at the Emperors Court, the day is intimated when the Session shall for the religion of that day.

When the day is come, the Cleargymen assemble before, at the time & place The place of appointed, which is called the Stolly. And meeting for when the Emperous commeth attended the affembly, by his Nobility, they arife all, and meete him in an out-roome, following their Pahe had milliked the face or person of any triarch, who bleffeth the Emperour with his two fore-fingers, laying them on his forchead, and the fides of his face, & then kisseth him on the right side of his breast. So they passe on into their Parliament house, where they sit in this order. The Emperor is enthronized on the one fide Their maner of the Chamber. In the next place, not of fitting in farre from him, at a small square Table (that giveth roome to twelve persons or thereabouts) sitteth the Patriarch, with the Metropolites and Bishops, & certaine of the principall Nobility of the Emperours Councell, together with two Diacks or Secretaries (called Dumnoy Dyakey) that enact that which passeth. The rest place themselues on Benches round about the Roome, euery man in his ranck after his degree. Then is there propounded by one of the Secretaries (who representeth the Speaker) the cause of their assembly, and the principal matters that they are to confider of. For to propound bils, what euery man thinketh good for the publike benefit (as in other Countries is vsed) the Russe Parliament alloweth no fuch custome, nor liberty to subjects.

> The points being opened, the Patri- Their difarch (with his Cleargy-men) have the course at Parprerogatiue, to be first asked their vote, or liament. opinion, what they thinke of the pointes propounded by the Secretary. Whereto they answere in order, according to their degrees, but all in one forme, without any discourse : as having learned their Lesson before, that serueth their turnes at al Parliaments alike what soeuer is propounded. Commonly it is to this effect. That the Emperor and his Councell are of great wife- The effect of dome, and experience, touching the pollicies propounded, and publike affaires of the Realme, and farre better able to judge what is profitable for the Common-wealth, then they are, which attend upon the service of God onely, and matters of Religion. And therefore it may pleafe them to proceede. That instead of their aduise they will asde them with their prayers as their du-

by, and by bat means an under pro recable 10

Of the Nobi

at State.

Chap. 2.0 ties and vocations do require of the Tosbie | wards (referring their rights upon comor like effect hauling made their aplweren euery man in his courfe yp Randeth foms Abbot or Fryar, more bold then the reff (yet appointed before hand as himseter of forme) and definesh the Emperor it wold please his Maielty to command to be de linered vinto them, what his Maielies owne judgement, and determinate plos fute is as touching those matters propounded by his Deicke?

..... Vy bareto is replied by the faide Secretary, in the Emperors name, That be Highnelle, with thele of his Noble Cauncell (wpop good and found aduica) have found the moisers propoled, so bec wary good and negallary for the Common woolen of his Reuling , Natwishit anding fora much as they are relieious men, and know what is right; bis Maiesty requireth their godly ontnions, yea and their censures tog for the approvine or correctine of the Saide propositionsu And therefore defireth them againe, to speake their mindes freely. And if they shall like to give their consents, that then the mattens may paffe to a full conclusion.

Hecreunto, when the Gleargy-men have given their confents (which they ye to do without any great pauling) they takotheir leaues with bleffing of the Emperor: who bringesh the Patriarch on his way to farre as the next Roome, and fo returneth to his feate, till allbe made ready for his returne homeward. The Actes that thus are passed by the Zabore or Parliament, the Detaken or Secretaries draw into a forme of Proclamation, which they fond abroad into every Province, & head towns of the Realme, to bee published there, by the Dukes & Deiakeis, or Secreraries of those places. The Session of Parliament being fully ended; the Emperour inniteth the Cleargy-men to a folemne Dinner. And so they depart enery man to his home.

... The degrees of persons at estates of Russia (besides the Soucraigne State or Emperour himfelfe) are these in order. First the Mobility which is of four forts. Whereof the chiefe for birth, authority. and renonnue, are balled the Vdelney Knasex, that is, the exempt or priniledged Dukes. These held fometime a souerall iunifdiction, and absolute authority within their Precincts, much like vnto the States or Nobles of Germany. But after-polition) shey yeelded then felues to this house of Beales) when it began to waxe mighty, and to enlarge it felfe by our marching their neighbours. Onely they were bound to ferue the Emperour in his warren, with a certaine number of horse. But the late Emperout Juan Kafilewich. Father to this Prince, beging a man of high fpirith and fubtle in his kinde, meading to reduce his government into a more fricktforme; began by degrees to The dunning ship off their greatheries and to bring a superour. downero a letter proponion: till in the ende he made them not onely his vallals. but his Kolambay that is his very villains or bond-flaues. For fo they terme & write themselvest in any publike instrumentor private petition which they make to the Emperour. So that now they hold their authorities lands lines and all at the Emperors pleasure, as the rest do.

The meanes and practife whereby he wrought this to effect, against those, and scher of the Mobility (lowell as I could nate out of the report of his doings) were The Empethefe, and fuch like. First he cast private emulations among them, about premeasive of their Titles and Dignities, Wherin he wied to let an the Inferiors, to preferre or equall themselves to those, that were accounted to be of the Nobler hou. (fes. Where hee made his advantage of their mallice and contentions, the one against the other, by receiving devised matter, and accusations of secret practife and conspiracies, to bee intended against his person and state. And so, having singled out the greatest of them, and cut them off, with the good liking of the rest; hee

2. He divided his subjects into two parts or Factions by a generall schisme. The Faction of Opprefisi The one part he called the Oppresimi or and Zemskey, Select men. These were such of the Nobi- identiced by lity and Gentry, as hee tooke to his owne part, to protect, and maintaine them as his faithfull subjects . The other he called Zemskey, or the Commons. The Zemskey contained the base and vulgar fort. with fuch Noblemen and Gentlemen as he meant to cut off, as suspected to mislike his government, and to have a meaning to practife against him. Wherein he prouded that the Oppressini, for num+ fell at last to open practife, by forcing of the other to yeeld their rights ynto him.

The Faction

The diffingut thing of the o Opprehint & Zempskeý each from o-

. 838

The reason o this cruell practile.

Lands helde

at the Empe

rors pleature.

&c.far exceeded the other of the Zemps key fide, whom hee put (as it were) from under his protection: fo that if any of the were spoyled or killed by those of the of pressini (which he accounted of his owne part) there was no amende to bee fought for by way of publike inflice, or by complaint to the Emperor.

and The whole number of boult parts was orderly registred and kept in a Booke ! lo that enery manknew, who was a Zempkker man, and who of the Oppressing. And this liberty of the one part, to fpoyle and lell the other without any helpe of Magi-Brare or law (that continued fenen years) pariched that fide and the Emperors treafury and wrought that withall, which hee antended by this practife, vizi to take out withe way flich of the Nobility, as Mintfolfe misliked i wherof were flaine (within one weeke) to the number of three hisdred within the Citty of Mosko. This tyrannicall practife, of making a generall Schishie, and publike division among the subjects of his whole Realine, proceeded (as flould feem) from an extreme doubt, and desperate scare, which he had conceiued of most of his Nobility, and Gentlemen of his Roalme, in his warres with the Polonian and Chrim Tartari What time ho grew into a vehement suspition (con-ceined of the ill success of his affayres) that they practifed treason with the Polonian and Chrim. Whereupon he executed fome, and deuised this way to be rid of the

And this wicked pollicy and tyrannous practifo (though now it be ceaffed) hath to troubled that Country, and filled it fo full of grudge and mortall hatred euer fince, that it will not bee quenehed (as it feemeth now) till it burne againe into a ciuill flame.

Haning thus pulled thom, and feafed all their inheritance, lands, priviledges,&c.faue fome very furall part, which he left to their name; he gave them other lands of the tenour of Pomelinoy (as they cal it) that are held at the Emperors pleafure, lying farre off in another Country, and fo removed them into another of his Proninces, where they might have neyther favour, nor authority, not being nasine nor wellknowne there. So that now these of the cheese Nobility (called Vdelber and quality of valour, money, armor, Ary Knazey are equalled with the restrance mat in the opinion and fauor of the been stathey are of more account, and keepe Bill the prefogative of their place, with (yet appointed be legal postinosal dust the H blow Photo practife to know downerhald houses from riling again cland recouding House kept their dientiles are thefer of fuch like Birth, riling and to many of their heyrestars kepe ynphatrical couring perforce that the florking dye with the. Some are fent into sibil mi Cakian and a. Bracan vinder protence of fornice, & there wither made away, or elfelfall clapped vo. Some are put into Abbeyes; and the A'c themselots Fryars by pletence with you to be made voluntary, and of their owne accord bue indeed forced wnto it by fear, voon forme pretenced crime obicated against them? Where they are so garded By fome of Speciall walk and the Couent it felfe (voon whose head it standeth, that they make no efeape) as that they have no other hope, but to end their lives there. Of this kinde, there are many of very great Nobility N. M. such ar confine.

Thefe and fuch like wayes (begun by the Emperor Juan Wallowith) are fill pra- Nobilityle Riled by the Godonoes, who being adition, creely & me ced by the mariage of the Empresse their kinfewoman rule both the Emperor, and his Realmo, (specially) Borris Federowich Godonoe, brother to the Empresse) & endenour by all meanes to cut off, or keepe downe all of the best and auncientest Nobility Whereof diners already they haue taken away, whom they thoght likelieft to make head against them, and to hinder their purpole, as Knez Andreas Guraken Bulgatkene, a man of great birth and authority in the Country. The like they have done with Peeter Gollanni (who they put into a dungeon where hee ended his life) with Knez Vafilie Vriwich Golloohen, with Andrieu Inanowich Suskey, accounted among them for a man of great wisedome. So this last yeare waskilled in a Monastery, (whether they had thrust persons made him) on Knez Juan Petrowich Suskoy, a man among them. of great valour, and feruice in that Country: who about fine or fixe yeares fince, bare out the fiedge of the Citty Pobsko, made by Stepan Batore King of Polonia, with one hundred thousand men, and repulled him very valiantly, with great honour to himfelfe and his Country, & difgrace to the Polonian. Also Micheta Romanowich.

14:5

Chap.2.

Names of the

The authority No respect of preffi . Bro.

Mothers fide, was supposed to have died of poylon, or some such like practise.

The names of these Families of greatest Nobility, are these in their order. The first is of Cnez Volodemer, which resteth at this time in one daughter a widdow, and without childre (mentioned before) fomtime Wife to Hartock Magnus, brother to the King of Denmarke, now closed within a Nunnery. The fecond Knez Metheloskey, thrust into a Friery, and his onely fonne kept from marriage, to decay the house. The third Glimskoy: but one left of his house, and he without children, sauc one daughter. The fourth Suskoy, wherof there are foure brethren young men, and vnmarried all. The fift Hubetskoy. Of this house are foureliuing. The fixt Bulgaloy, now called Guletcher house, wherof are fine lining, but youths all. The feauenth Vorallinskoy. Two left of that stock. The eight Odgoskey. Two. The ninth Telletskoy. Onc. The tenth Taytone. Three. These are the names of the cheese Families called Vdelney Knazay: that in effect haue loft all now, faue the very name it felfe, and fauour of the people, which is like one day to restore them againe, if any

The fecond degree of Nobility, is of the Boiarens. These are such, as the Emperor honoureth (beside their Nobility) with the Title of Counfellers. The reuennue of these two sorts of Nobles, that rifeth out of their Lands affigned them by the Emperor, and held at his pleasure (for of their owne Inheritance there is little left them, as was faid before) is about a thousand marks a yeare: besides a pension which they receive of the Emperour, for their fernice in his wars, to the fumme of feuen hundred Rubbels a yeare, and none aboue that fumme.

But in this number, the Lord Borris Federowich Godenoe is not to be reckoned. that is like a Transendent, and in no such predicament with the rest, being the Emperors brother in law, his Protectour for direction; for command and authority Emperor of Russia. His yearely revennue (in land and pension) amounteth to the fumme of 93700. Rubbels and more, as appeareth by the particulars. He hath of inheritance (which himselfe hath augmented in Vafma Dorogobofe, fixe thou-manowich, Vnckle to the Emperor by the fand Rubbels a yeare. For his Office of Connick, or Mafter of the Horfe, twelve thousand Rubbels, or Markes, raised out of the Canaslue Sloboday, or the liberties pertaining to that Office, which are certaine Lands and Townes neere about the Mosko. Besides, all the Meddow and Pafture ground on both fides the banke of the riner Mosko, thirty veril vp the ftreme. and forty verst downwards. For his penfion of the Emperour (belides the other for his Office) fifty thousand Rubbels. Out of the Province or Shire of Vagha, there' is given him for a peculiar (exempted out of the Chetfird of Pofolskoy, two & thirty thousand Rubbels, beside a rent of Furs. Out of Rezan and Seuer, (another peculiar) thirty thousand Rubbels. Out of Otfer and Turiock, another exempt place, eight thousand Rubbels. For rent of Bathstoaues and Bathing-houtes without the walles of Mosko, fifteene hundred Rubbels. Befides his pomest, or lands which he holdeth at the Emperours pleafure, which farre exceedeth the proportion of land allotted to the rest of the Nobility.

> One other there is of the house of Allowance Glinskoy, that dispendeth in land and penfion, about forty thoufand Rubbels yearely. Which he is suffered to enjoy, because he hath married Borris his Wines fifter, being himselfe simple, and almost a Naturall. The ordering of him & his Lands are committed to Borris.

In the third rancke are the Foyauodey, or fuch Nobles as are, or have beene Generals in the Emperours warres. Which deliuer the honour of their Title to their posterities also: who take their place aboue the other Dukes and Nobles, that are not of the two former forts, viz. of the Vdelney Knazey, nor of the Boiarens.

These three degrees of their Nobility (to wit) the Vdelney Knazey, the Boiarens, and the Voisuodey have the addition of Vich, put vnto their firname as Borris Federovich, &c. which is a note of honor. that the rest may not vsurpe. And in case it be not added in the naming of the; they may fue the Bestchest, or penalty of dishonor ypon them, that otherwise shall terme

The fourth and lowest degree of Nobility with them, is of fuch as beare the name of Knazey or Dukes, but come of bility. the yonger Brothers of those chiefe hou-

The third for of Nobility.

The fecond

degree of

The third de

fes, through many discents, and haue no | rubbels or markes. inheritance of their owne, faue the bare name or title of Duke onely. For their order is to deliner their names and titles of their dignities ouer to all their Children alike, whatfoener elfe they leane the. So that the sonnes of a Voianodey, or Generall in the fielde, are called Voiauodey, though they neuer faw the fielde, and the fonnes of a Knez or Duke, are called Knazey, though they have not one groat of inheritance or livelyhood, to maintaine themselues withall. Of this sort there are fo many, that the plenty maketh them cheape: so that you shall see Dukes glad to ferue a meane man, for fine or fix rub. bels or marks a yeare; and yet rhey will stand highly vpon their Bestchest or reputation of their honours. And these are their feuerall degrees of Nobility.

The second de gree of persons, is of their Sina Beiarskey or the fons of Gentlemen: which all are preferred, & hold that name by their feruice in the Emperors wars, being Soldiors by their very stocke & birth. To which order are referred their Diacks or Secretaries, that serue the Emperor in euery head towne, being joyned in Commiffion with the Dukes of that place.

The last are their Commons, whom they call Moussicks. In which number they reckon their Merchants, and their common Artificers. The very lowest & basest fort of this kinde (which are helde in no degree) are their Country people, whom they call Christianeis. Of the Sina Boiarskey (which are all Soldiours) we are to fee in the description of their Forces, and Military prouisions. Concerning their Mouficks, what their condition and behaulour is, expect them among the Common people.

The whole Country of Russia (as was faide before) is divided into foure parts, which they call Chetfirds, or Tetrarchies. Euery Chetfird containeth diuers Shires, and is annexed to a feuerall Office, whereof it takes the name.

The first Chetfird or Tetrarchy beareth the name of Foloskoy Chetfird, or the Jurisdiction of the Office of Ambassages, and at this time is under the chiefe Secretary & Officer of the Ambassages, called Andreas Shalealoue. The standing fee or stipend that he receiveth yearely of the Emperor for this feruice, is one hundred

The fecond is called the Roferadney Chetfird, because it is proper to the Rose-rade or high Constable. At this time it pertaineth (by vertue of Office) to Basilie Shalcaloue, brother to the Chancellor, but it is executed by one Zapon Abramouc. His pension is an hundred rubbels yearly.

The third is the Chetfird of Pomesinoy, as pertaining to that Office. This keepeth a Register of all Lands given by the Emperor for service, to his Noblemen, Gentlemen, & others, he giveth out & taketh in all affurances for them. The Officer at this time is called Eleazar Wellusgine. His stipend is 500 rubbels a yeare.

The fourth is called Caffanskoy Dworets, The fourth as beeing appropriate to the Office that hath the jurisdiction of the kingdomes of Cazan and Astracan, with the other towns lying vpon the Volgha, now ordered by one Druzhine Penteleoue, aman of very speciall account among the, for his wise-dome, and promptnesse in matters of pollicy. His pension is 150 rnbbels a yeare.

From these Chetfirds or Tetrarchies, is Exemption exempted the Emperors inheritance or on the Em-Vochin (as they call it) for that it pertained (from ancient time) to the house of Beala, which is the fur-name of the Imperiall bloud. This standeth of 36. Townes with their bounds or territories. Besides divers peculiar jurisdictions, which are likewise deducted out of those Chetfirds, as the Shire of Vagha (belonging to the Lord Borris Federowich Godonoe) and such like.

These are the cheese Gouernors or Officers of the Prouinces, not refident at their charge abroad, but attending the Emperor where focuer he goeth, and carrying their Offices about with the, which for the most part they hold at Mosko, as the Emperors chiefe Seate.

The parts and practife of these soure actions what focuser, that are brought out the four of Offices, is to receive all complaints and of their feuerall Chetfirds and quarters, & fices. to informe them to the Emperors Coun-fell. Likewise to send direction againe to those that are under them in their saide Prouinces, for all matters given in charge by the Emperor and his Counsell, to bee done or put in execution within their

For the ordering of enery particular Province of these foure Chessirds, there is appointed

The fecond.

Chap. 3.

The Comhe Dukes o

appointed one of these Dukes; which | yeares ende; except vpon some speciall were reckoned before in the lowest de- liking or suit, the time be prolonged for a | Concerning Dukes there, gree of their Nobility, and which are refident in the head townes of the faid Prouinces. Whereof enery one hath joyned with him in Commission, a Dyack or Secretary, to affift him, or rather to direct him. For in the executing of their Commission, the Dyack doth all.

The parts of their Commission are these in essect. First, to heare and determine in all civill matters within their Precinct. To which purpose, they have vnder them certaine Officers, as Gubnoy Starets, or Coroners, who, besides the tryall of they racke and spoile them, without all refelfe-murders, are to attach Fellons: and the Soudia or vnder-Iustices, who themfelues also may heare and determine in all matters of the fame nature, among the them againe,& haue a better booty when and careth Country people of their owne Wards they call them to account: which comor Bayliwicks: but fo, that in cafe eyther party diffent, they may appeale, and goe farther to the Duke & Dyack, that relide within the head towne. From whom alfo, they may remoue the matter to the high-er Court at Mosko, of the Emperours which themselves (for the most part) do Counfell, where lie all appeales. They haue under them alfo Sotskoy Starets, that nith themselues, with all the spoile they is, Aldermen or Bailiffes of the hundreds.

theft, murder, treason, &c. they have authority to apprehend, to examine, and to imprison the malefactor, & so having receiued perfect enidence and information of the cause, they are to send it (ready drawne and orderly digested) vp to the Mosko, to the officer of the Chetfird whervnto that Prouince is annexed: by whom it is referred and propounded to the Emperors Counsell. But to determine in any matter criminall, or to do execution vpo the party offending; is more then their Commission will allow them to do.

Thirdly, if there bee any publike fer-uice to be done within that Prouince, (as the publishing of any Law, or common order, by way of Proclamation, collecting of taxes, and impositions for the Emperour, mustering of Soldiors, and fending happen vpon the borders, that are far of, them foorth at the day, and to the place and may not stay for direction, about eueaffigned by the Empetour or his Counfell) all these and such like, pertaine unto the Emperor and his Counsell. They are yeare or two more. They are men of theselues of no credite, nor fauour with the people, where they gouerne, being neyther borne, nor brought vp among them. nor yet having inheritance of their owne there; or elfewhere. Onely of the Emperor they have for that fervice, an hundred Marks a yeare he that hath most, some 50. fomebut 30. Which maketh them more fuspected and odious to the people, because being so bare, and comming fresh and hungry vpon them; lightly enery year gard of inflice, or conscience. Which is easily tollerated by the cheese Officers of Heere one the Cheefirds, to the ende they may rob theefe robmonly they do at the end of their feruice, ment. making an advantage of their iniuffice & oppression ouer the poore people. There are few of them, but they come to the Pudmake account of. And therefore they furcan for the time of their gotternment; that Secondly, in all criminal matters, as they may have for both turnes, aswell for the Emperor, and Lord of the Chet fird, as to referue some goodpart for themselues.

These Dukes and Dyacks are appointed to their place by the Emperour himfelfe, and are changed ordinarily at enery

They that are appointed to gouerne abroad, are men of this quality : faue that Officers for in the foure border Townes (that are of dering towns. greatest importance) are set men of more speciall valor & trust, two in enery towne. Whereofone is cuer of the Emperours priny Counsell. These 4 border Towns, The source are Smolensko, Vobsko, Nougrad, & Cazan, whereof three lie towards the Polonian & Sweaden, one bordereth farre off vpon the Chrim Tartar. These haue larger Commission, then the other Dukes of the Prouinces that I spake of before, and may do execution in criminal matters. Which is thought behoonefull for the Common. wealth: for incident occasions that may ry occurrent and particular matter from changed enery yeare (except as before) The yearely and have for their flipend, 700. rubbels a flipend of those bash as hash mode. Complete the bash mode of those Officers their credite.

yeare he that hath most: some haue but foure hundred rubbels. Many of thefe places.

Of the gouernment of their Prouin ces & Shires.

The foure Chetfirds,and their Offices.

the Soldiors and Commons, it is a thing

not to be feared, beeing of fo opposite &

contrary practife much one to the other.

This desperate state of things at home,

maketh the people (for the most part) to wish for some forraigne inuation, which they suppose to be the onely meanes, to rid them of the heavy yoke of this tyran-

The Emperors of Russia give the name of Counsellor, to divers of their chiefe

Nobility, rather for honours fake, the for any vie they make of the about their matters of state. These are called Boiarens, without any addition, and may be called

Counsellors at large. For they are sildom or neuer called to any publike confultation. They which are of his special and pri-

uy Counfell indeed (whom he vieth daily

and ordinarily for al publike matters pertaining to the State) have the addition of

Dumnoy, and are named Dumnoy Boiaren, nous gouernment.

places, that are of greatest importance, and almost the whole Country, is managed (at this time) by the Godonoes & their Chents.

The Citty of Mosko (that is the Emperors (eat) is gouerned altogether by the Emperors Counsell. All matters there (both civill and criminall) are heard and determined in the severall Courts, helde by some of the said Counsell, that reside there all the yeare long.

Onely for their ordinary matters (as buildings, reparations, keeping of their

freetes decent and cleane, collections,

are appointed two Gentlemen, and two

Dyacks or Secretaries, who hold a Court

rogether for the ordring of fuch matters.

This is called the Zempskey house. If any towns-man suspect his servant of thest or like matter, hither he may bring him, to haue him examined vpon the Pudkey, or other torture. Besides these two Gentle-rich) are reduced into Companies. The chiefe Officers (as the Dyacks & Gentle-

men) are appointed by the Emperor him-

selfe, the Staruft by the Genrlemen & Dy-

acks, the sotskoy by the Staruft or Alderman, & the Decetskeis by the Conflables.

This manner of government of their

Provinces and Townes, if it were aswell

fet for the giving of iustice indifferently

to al forts, as it is to prenent innouations,

by keeping of the Nobility within order,

and length as is the Kingdome of Russia.

But the oppreision and flauery is so open,

and fo great, that a man would maruell,

how the Nobility & people should suffer

The government of Mos leuying of taxes, impolitions & fuch like)

Of the Zemp ske, house.

> Aldermen & Contlables.

Preuention

of innouati-

Oppreision and flauery very great.

being the selues of a Christian profession.

By this it appeareth, how hard a matter it were, to alter the state of the Russe Gouernment, as now it standeth. First, the State of because they have none of the Nobility Russia. able to make head. As for the Lords of the foure Chetfirds or Tetrarchies, they are men of no Nobility, but Dyacks, aduanced by the Emperour, depending on his fauour, & attending onely about his owne person. And for the Dukes that are appointed to gouerne vnder them, they are Dukebut al but men of a titular dignity (as was faid tulary dignity before) of no power, authority, nor credite, faue that which they have out of the Office, for the time they enjoy it. Which doth purchase them no favour, but rather hatred of the people, for almuch as they fee that they are fet ouer the, not so much for any care to do them right and inflice; as to keep them under in a miferable fubmen and Secretaries, that order the whole iection, and to take the fliece from them, City, there are Starufts or Aldermen for not once in the yeare (as the owner from the sheepe) but to poule and clip them all encry fenerali Company. The Alderman hath his Sotskey or Constable, & the Cothe yeare long-Besides, the authority and rule which they beare, is rent and divided ftable hath certaine Decetskeis or Decuriinto many small pieces, being divers of ons vader him, which have the overfight them in enery great Shire, limited besides of ten housholds a peece, whereby enery with a very short time: which giueth the diforder is fooner fpide, and the common no scope to make any strength, nor to fernice hath the quicker dispatch. The contriue fuch an enterprize, if haply they whole number of Cittizens (poore and intended any matter of innouation. As for the common people (as may The come frame and quality afterwards fit downe) from Airest before their want of armour and a company from Airest of war (which they are kept from of purpose) they are robbed continually both of their hearts and money, (besides other meanes) fometimes by pretence of fome feruice to bee done for the common defence, fometimes without any shew at all, and the Commons in Subjection; it might of any necessity of Common-wealth or Prince. So that there is no meanes eyther feeme (in that kinde) to bee no bad, nor vnpollitique way for the containing of fo for Nobility or people, to attempt any large a Common-wealth, of that breadth innouation, fo long as the Military forces of the Emperour (which are the number of 8000, at the least in continual pay) hold themselnes fast and sure vnto him,& to the present state. Which needs they must do, being of the quality of Soldiors, themschies to be brought under it; while they had any meanes to avoid and repulse and enjoying withall that free liberty, of it : or being to strengthned as it is at this wronging and spoiling the Commons at their pleasure, which is permitted them present how the Emperors the-selues can

Agreement ot the Soldi-An hard mat ors and Com

Chap.2.

Boiarens Counfellers to the Empe ror, but diffe ring from his priny Coun-

Of the Empe-

The number he Countel

or Lords of the Counfell, their Office or fitting, Boar ftua Dumna. Their names (at this present) are these in their order. First, Knez Feoder Ioanowich Methisloskey. 2. Knez Iuan Michailowich Glinskoy. 3. Knez Vafilie Iuanowich Suskoy Scopin. These three are accounted to be of greater birth then wiledome, taken in (as may sceme) for that ende, rather to fürnish the place with their honours & presence, then with their aduice or Counsel. 4. Knez Vafilie Iuanowich Suskey, thought to bee more wife then the other of his name.s.Knez Feodor Michailowieh.6.Knez Micheta Romanowich Trowbetskoy. 7. Knez Timophey Romanowich Trowbetskoy. 8. Knez Andriew Gregoriwich Curakine. 9. Knez Demetrie Iuanowich Forestine. 10 Knez Feoder Inanowich Forestine. 11. Bodan Inanowich Sabaroue. 12. Knez Iuan Vafilowich. 13.Knez Feoder Demetriwich Shestinoue. 14.Knez Feoder Michailowich Troyconioue. 15. Juan Buterlyuey. 16. Demetrie Iuanowich Godonoe. 17. Borrise Federowich Godonoe, brother to the Empresse. 18. Stephan Vasilowich Godonoe. 19. Gregorie Vafilowich Godonoe. 20. Iuan Vasilowich Godonoe. 21. Feoder Sheremitoue. 22. Andriew Petrowich Cleshenina. 23 Ignatie Petrowich Tatisloue. 24. Romain Michailowich Pena. 25. Demen. shoy tuanowich Cheremissen. 26. Romain Va-

Silowich Alferioue. 27. Andriew Shalcacolue.

of purpose to make them have a liking of 28. Vasilie Shalcaloue. 29. Eleazar Wellingin. the present state. As for the agreement of 30. Drezheen Penteleoue. 31. Zapon Abra.

The foure last of these are called Dumnoy Deiakey, or Lord Secretaries. These raries. are all of the Emperours priny Counfell, though but few of them are called to any consultation, for that all matters are aduifed and determined upon by Borris Fede- All matters fed and determined upon by Borris Feae-rowich Godonoe, Brother to the Empresse, the Empresse with some fine or fix more, whom it plea- Brother, and feth him to call. If they come, they are bue or fixe rather to heare, then to give counfell, and do lo demeane themselues. The matters occurrent which are of state, done within the Realme, are informed them(at their fittings) by the Lords of the foure Cheifirds, or Tetrarchies. Whereof mention is made in the Chapter concerning the Government of their Provinces. Who bring in all fuch letters as they receive from the Dukes, Dyacks, Captaines, and other Officers of the Citties and Caffles, pertaining to their fenerall quarter or Chetfird, with other adnettifements, and informe the Counsell of them.

The like is done by the chiefe Officer of enery fenerall Office of Record : who The Officers may come into the Counfel Chamber, & of Records, informe them, as occasion incident to his Office doth require. Besides matters of State, they confider of many private caufes, informed by way of supplication, in very great numbers. Whereof some they entertaine and determine, as the cause or meanes can procure fauour. Some they fend to the Offices whereto they pertaine, by common course of Law. Their ordinary daies for their fitting, are Mondaies, Wensdaies, and Fridaies. Their time of meeting, is commonly feuen a clocke in the morning. If there be any extraordinary occasion, that requireth consultation on some other day, they have warning by the Clarke of the Counfell, called Dorofe) Bushew, who receiveth order from the Roserad or high Constable of the Realm, to call them together at the time appoin-

For the receiving of Customes, & other Rents belonging vnto the Crowne, ther are appointed divers under-Officers, which deliner ouer the same into the head Treasury. The first is the office of Dwoers-Joua or Steward of the houthold. The fecond is the Office of the Chetfirds:

rors Cuftoms Reuenues.

Cccc2

Foure Secre-

Of the Empe-

Cody

The Steward receiver of the Crowne land rents.

> in it 36. Townes, with the Territories or Hundreds belonging vnto them. Whereof the chiefe that yeeld the greatest rents, are thefe : Alexandrifca, Corelskey, Otfer, Slobodey, Danielska, Moifalskoy, Chara, Sametska, Strararoufe, Branfoue, Oc. The

The Tenant of Townes & their rent.

Inhabitants or Tenants of these and the other Townes, pay fome rent-money, fome other rent duties (called Obrokey) as certaine Chetfirds, or measures of Graine, Wheate, Rye, Barley, Oates, &c.or of other victuall, as Oxen, Sheepe, Swans, Geese, Hares, Hennes, wilde Fowle, Fish, Hay, Wood, Honey, &c. Some are bound to fowe for the Emperours provision, certaine Akers of ground, and to make the Corne ready for his vie: hauing for it an allowance of certaine Akers of ground for their owne proper vie.

it be divided into foure severall parts, as

As touching the first, which is the Office of the Steward, it receiveth all the Prechod, or the great Income.

This prouision for the houshold, speci-Provision for ally of graine ferued in by the Tenants, is the Houthold, a great deale more then is spent in his house, or in other allowance served out in liuery, or for the Emperours honour, called Schalouaney : for which vie there is bestowed very much, both in graine, and other victuall. This furplus of prouision is fold by the Steward to the best hand, and runneth into the Emperors treasury.

In the time of Inan Vafilowich, Father to Diffrence of this Emperor (who kept a more Princely for prouifion.

and bountifull house then the Emperour now doth) this overplus of graine, and other Incomes into the Stewards Office, veelded to his Treasury, not past 60.thoufand rubbels yearely; but rifeth now by good husbanding of the Steward Gregory Valilowich Godonoe, to 230. thousand rubbels a yeare. And this by the meanes of the Empresse, and her kindred, specially (Borris Federowich Godonoe) that account it all their owne, that runneth into the Emperors treasure. Much of this surplufage that rifeth out of the rent prouition, is employed to the payment of the wages of his houthold Officers, which are very many attending at home, and purueying abroad. which I comprehend under one, though

The second Office of receipt called the Chetfirds (being divided into four feuerall Chetfird was faid before. The third is called Bullha parts, as before was faid) hath foure head Officers: which, besides the ordering & government of the Shires, contained within their feuerall Chetfirds; haue this Rents of the Emperours Inheritance, or alfo as a part of their office, to receive the Crowne Land, which they call Vochin. Tagla and Podat belonging to the Empe-Tagla and Podat belonging to the Emperour, that rifeth out of the foure Chetfirds dat, andhos The Vochin or Crowne land, containeth or Quarters. The Tagla is a yearely rent they aredi-or imposition, raised upon enery Wite or Itinguished. Measure of graine that groweth within the Land, gathered by fworne men, and brought into the Office. The wite containeth 60. Chetfirds. Enery Chetfird is three common bushels or little lesse. The Podat is an ordinary rent of money, imposed vpon every Soake, or Hundred within the whole Realme. This Tagla and Podat bring in veerely to the Offices of the Chetfirds a great fum of money: as may appeare by the parti- nev raiddly culars beere fet downe. The Towneand Tagla and Prouince of Vobsko, pay yearely for Tagla Podat yearly. and Podat about 18000 rubbels. Nouogrod 35000 rubbels. Torfhocke and Otfer 8000 rubbels. Razan 30000 rubbels. Morum 12000, rubbels. Colmigroe and Duyna, 8000. rubbels. Vologda 12000.

rubbels. Cazan 18000. rubbels. Viting 30000.rubbels. Roftone 50000.rubbels. The City of Mosko, forty thousand Rubbels. Sibierskey, twenty thousand Rubbels. Castrome twelve thousand Rubbels. The totall amounteth to foure hundred thoufand Rubbels or Markes a yeare, which is brought in yearely the first day of September that is reckoned by them the first day of the yeare. The third (that is called the Bullha Pre-chod, or great Income) receiveth all the The Office Customes that are gathered out of all the chod, or great principall Townes and Citties within Income. the whole Realme. Besides the fees & other duties, which rife out of diners fmaller Offices, which are all brought into this Office of Bulfha Preched. The townes of most trade, that do yeeld greatest Cu-

ftome, are thefe heere fet downe. Mof-

ko. Smolensko, Vobsko, Nouogrod Velica,

Strararoufe, Torfbocke, Otfer, Yarusflaue, Castrome, Nefna Nouverod, Cazan Vologds. This Custome out of the great townes is therefore more certaine and easie to be reckned, because it is set and Chap. 2.

Rents out of

The Imperial Dignity.

custome of the yeare. Which needs must be paid into the said Office, though they receive not so much. If it fall out to be more, it runneth all into the Emperors aduantage.

The whole

The custome at Mosko for enery yeare, is 12000 rubbels. The custome of Smointheir places lensko, 8000. rubbels. Vobsko, 12000. rubbels. Nouograd velica, 6000 rubbels. Stararouse, by salt and other commodities, 18000. rubbels. Tor/bock 800 . rubbels. Otfer 700.rubbels. Tarus lane 1200. rubbels. Castrome 1800.rubbels. Nefna No-> fometimes more, fometimes leffe, as their trafficke and dealings with commodities too and fro, falleth out for the yeare. This may be faid for certaine, that the three tables of receipts, belonging to this receipt of the Bu'fha Pre-Office of Bulfha Prechod, whe they receive leaft, account for thus much, viz. The first chodor great table 160000 rubbels. The second table 90000 rubbels. The third 70000 rubbels. So that there commeth into the Office of Bullha Prechod, at the least rackoning (as > out of these and other Townes, & maketh the fum of 340000. rubbelsa yeare. Be. fides this cultome out of the townes of trade, there is received by this Office of Bullba Preched, the yearely rent of the comon Bath-floaues, and Cabacks or drink-

appeareth by their Bookes of Customes)

ing houses, which pertaine to the Emperour. Which (though it be vncertaine for the just summe, yet because it is certaine and an ordinary matter, that the Ruffe will bathe himfelfe afwell within as without)yeeldeth a large Rent to the Emperors Treasury.

There is besides, a certaine mulct or penalty, that groweth to the Emperour out of enery judgement, or fentence that palleth in any of his Courts of Record in all civill matters. This penalty, or mulg is twenty Dingues or pence, vpon enery rubble or marke, and to tenne in the himbring into the Offico of Bullba Preshot dred. Which is paid by the party that is convict by law. Hee hath besides for enery name, contained in the Writs that paffe out of thefe Courts fing Alcens, An Alteen is fine pence fterling, or there a bouts. This is made good out of the rated precifely, what they shall pay for the Thence it goeth to the Office that keepeth the leffer feale, where againe it payeth as much more to the Emperours yie. This rifeth commonly to three thousand rubbels a yeare, or thereabouts . Further alfo, out of the Office of Roisbonia, The Office of where all Fellonies are tried, is received for the Emperour the halfe part of Fellons goods, the other halfe goeth the one part to the Informer, the other to the OF

All this is brought into the Office of Bulfha Prethed, or great Income a l' Befides the ouerplus or remainder, that is uogrod, 7000. rubbels. Cazan 11000. rubfaued out of the Land Rents, allotted to bels. Vologda 2000 rubbels. The custome diners other Offices: '2s namely to the of the rest that are Townes of trade, is TheRoferade Office called Roferade, which hath Lands Office for and Rents affigned vnto it, to pay the Soldiors pay. yearely falaries of the Souldiors, or horsemen, that are kept still in pay. Which in time of peace when they rest at home, not employed in any feruice is commonly cut off, and paide them by halfes, formetimes not the halfe : fo that the remainder out of the Roferade Office, that is laid into the Emperours Treasury, commeth (for the most part) every years to two hundred and fifty thousand rubbels.

In like fort (though not fo much) is brought in the furplus out of the Strellets- The Strellets

koy Offices, which hath proper Lands for he for the flor at the payment of the Strelfeymen or Gun- Mosko, &c. ners, as well those at Mosko, that are of the Emperors guard (twelve thousand in ordinary) as on the borders, and other garrison Townes and Gastles. Likewise out of the Office of Brethafe , Shiftury Nomfhoy, which hath fee allowance of Lands to maintaine the forraine moteo nary Soldiours, as Poles, Sweadens, Dones ches, Scotts door So out of the Office of Rufbarskoy) (which hath Lands and Ronts allowed for the provision of munition. great Ordenance, Powderi Shory Salt Formercens Pceter, Brirnstone, Lead, and füch like) ry Soldiors, & there is left formewhat at the yeares ende; munition. that runnethanto the Treasury. All these that which remaineth ift sheir hand at the yeares end. Whencoahis delivered into the Emperours Treasury. So that the whole fum that groweth to this Office w Bullha Prechad or the areat Income (as appencerlaby the Bookes of the faid Offibe) amountesber 800000 rubbels a verition Office, whence the Writ is taken foorth. the read popularity and most remo sololet Cccca rent-money.

Suine

cleere,be-

charges for

ordinary fal-laries of his foldiours o

therwife dif-

charged.

All these Offices, to wit, the Office of the Steward, the foure Chetfirds, and the The Empe-rors treasure house within his Castle of

Bullha Prechod, deliuer in their receipts to the head treasury, that lyeth within the Emperors house or Castle at the Mosko. Where lye all his monies, iewels, crowns, scepters, plate, and such like, the chefts, hutches, and bagges being figned by the Emperours themselues with their owne Seale. Though (at this time) the Lord Borris Federowich Godonoe, his Scale and overlight supplieth for the Emperour, as in all other things. The vnder-Officer at this time, is one Stepan Vafilowich Godomoe, Coufin-germane to the faide Borris, who hath two Clearks allowed to ferue under him in the Office. I . Out of the Steward Office aboue the expence of his house The fum of Summe.

23000. Rubbels. the Emperors The fumme 3. Out of the foure that grow-Chetfirds for foake eth to the and bead money, Emperours, 400000.rubbels. mony only, 3. Out of the Bulfha for every Precod Office, or great Income, for rents,800000.rubbels.

a, j But befides this revenue, that is paid all in money to the Emperours Treasury, horeceiucth yearely in Furres, and other dution to a great value, out of Siberia, Pethora, Permia, and other places, which are folde or barred away for fome forraigne

His yearely benefit by Fors and ocommodities to the Turkiffs Perfian, Ari menian, Georgian and Bougharian Merchants, that trade within his Countries. besides others of Christendome. What it maketh in the whole (though the value cannot be fet downe precifely, asbeing a thing cafuall, as the commodity may bee got) it may be gueffed, by that which was gathered the last yeare out of Siberia for

of Sables, five timber of Matrones, 180, Of feizures, blacke Foxes, besides other commodiries, 5:00. mail and whole To thefe may be added their feizures. came new still voon all olde fores. To and confifcations upon fuch as are in difwhom he was wont to compare his Prapleasure, which riseth to a great summe. tors, and other provincial Officers. Besides other their extraordinary impo-

the Emperors custome, viz.466 timber

fitions, and exactions done upon their Officers, Monasteries, &c. not for any apparant necessity or vic of the Prince or Comon-wealth, but of will and custome : yet with some pretence of a Scythian, that is, groffe and barbarous pollicy (as may appeare) by these few Sophismata, or counterfeit pollicies, put in practife by the emperours of Rufsia, all tending to this ende, to rob their people, and to enrich their Treasury. To this purpose this by-word was vied by the late Emperor Juan Vafilewich: That his people were like to his beard. The oftner shauen, the thicker it would grow.

Meanes vsed to draw the wealth of the Land into the Emperors Treasury.

Or like (beepe, that must needs bee shorne once

a yeare at the least : to keepe them from being ouer laden with their Wooll.

First.
O preuent no extortions, exactions, or briberies whatfoeuer, done vpon the Commons business. Commons by their Dukes, Diacks, or other Officers in their Prouinces; but to fuffer them to go on till their time be expired, and to fucke themselves full. Then to call them to the Praueulb (or whip) for their behaulor, and to beate out of them all, or the most part of the booty, (as the Hony from the denyers or Bee) which they have wrong from the Commons, and to turne it into the Em-perors Treasury, but never any thing back againe to the right owners, how great or euident soeuer the iniury be. To this end the needy Dukes; and Diacks, that are fent into their Provinces, ferue the turne very well being changed to often (to wit)once a veare: where, in respect of their owne, and the quality of the people (as before was faide) they might bee continued for forthe longer time, without all feare of innouation." For comming full fresh vpon the Commons, they fucke more eagerly: like Tiberius the Emperours flyes, that

The whip or-dayned for all

Secondly. TO make of these Officers '(that have robbed their people) fometimes a many times is doone without any noyfe: publique example, if any be more notothe Fryers beeing content, rather to part from somewhat (as the encrease groweth) rious then the rest that the Emperor may feeme to diflike the oppressions done to his people, and rransferre the fault to his ill Officers.

As among divers other, was done by the late Emperour Juan Vasilowich, to a Diack in one of his Provinces; that (befides many other extortions and briberies) had taken a Goose ready drest full of A Goole reamony. The man was brought to the mardy dreffed full of money for ket place in Mosko. The Emperour himfelfe present, made an Oration; Thefe good people are they, that would eate you uppe like bread, &c. Then asked he his Polachies or Cutting vp of executioners, who could cut vp a Goofe? and commanded one of them first to cut off his legges, about the middest of the

Chap. 2.

fhinne, then his armes about his elbowes (demaunding of him still, if Goose sless were good meate) in the end to choppe off his head: that he might have the right fashion of a Goose ready dressed. This might seeme to have beene a tollerable peece of Iustice (as Iustice goeth in Ruffia) except his subtillend, to couerhis owne oppressions. Thirdly. TO make an open thew of want, when any great taxe, or imposition is to wardes. As was done by this Emperour Acunning co. Theodore Iuanowich, by the adulfe of some about him, even at the beginning of his reigne: when beeing left very rich (as it was thought) by his father, he folde the most of his plate, and stamped some into soyne; that he might seeme to want money. Whereupon presently out came a taxation.

... Fourthly. O fuffer their fubicats to give freely to the Monasteries (which for their Superstition very many do especially in their laft Wills) and to lay up their mony Superstitious charitie and and fubstance in them , to keepe it more tountie giuen to Monaste fafe. Which all is permitted them with-one any restraint or prouiso, as was and is in fome Countries of Christendome. Whereby their Monasteries grow to exceeding great wealth . This they doe , to haue the money of the Realme better ftored together, and more ready for their hand, when they lift to take it. Which then to loofe all at once. Which they were made to doubt of in the other Bmperours dayes. To this end Iuan Vafilowich, late Bmperour vied a very strange practife; that few Princes would have doone in their greatest extreamities. Hee refigned his practife to kingdome to one Velica Knez Simeon, the get money. Emperours sonne of Cazan : as though he meant to draw himselfe from all pub-

before. Which were all cancelled. This done, (as in diflike of the fact, and of the milgouemement of the new King) herefumed his Scepter, and fo was content (as in fauour vnto the Church and Religious men) that they should renew their Charters, and take them of himselfe: reserving and annexing to the Crowne fo much of their Lands, as himfelfe thought good. By this practife, he wrong from the Bishoprickes, and Monasteries (besides the been seldom lands which he annexed to the Crowne) heard of. an huge masse of money; from some forty, from some fifty, from some an hun-dred thousand rubbels. And this, aswell like doings, to a quiet private life. To-wards the end of the yeare, he caused this new King to call in all Charters graunted to Bishoprickes and Monasteries, which they had enioyed many hundred yeares

bate the cuill opinion of his hard gotternment, by a fnew of worle in another man. Wherein his ftrange fpirit is to be noted; that being hated of his Subjects (as him. selfe knew well enough) yet would adiienture such a practife, to fer an other in his faddle, that might have ridde away with his horffe, whileft himfelfe walked by on foore, while in Fifty: one T Ofend their meffengers into the pro-tinces, or Shires where the special and engro-fing common for the increase of his treasure, as to a-commodities of their countrey grows as dities in a furres, wake, hony, &c. There to forestall firange mand ingrosse, sometime one whole confiner. modity, Cometime two, or more, taking them at small prices what themselves lift, and felling them againe at an excessive & impolitions on Monalteries,&c.

An engrofing

Engrossing

forren com

Monopolifing

of Rents and Cuftomes.

modities.

rate to their owne marchants, and vnto Marchants strangers. If they shall refuse to buy them, then to enforce them vnto

The like is doone when any commodity, eyther natiue, or forreine (as cloth of golde, broad-cloth, &c.) thus engrossed by the Emperour, and received into his Treasurie, chaunceth to decay, or marre by long lying, or some other casualty. Which is forced vpon the marchants, to bee bought by them at the Emperours price, whether they will, or no.

Not long fince was engrossed all the Waxe of the Countrey; fo that no man might deale with that commoditie, but the Emperour onely.

Sixtly.

TO take vp and engrosse (in like fort) I fometime forreine commodities (as Silkes, Cloth, Lead, Pearle, &c.) brought into his kingdome by Turkish marchants, Armenians, Bougharians, Poles, English, and others. And then to force his Marchants; to buy them of his Officers at his owne price.

Seaventhly.

TO make a Monopoly (for the time) of I fuch commodities as are payed him for Rent, or Custome, and to inhance the price of them, as Furres, Corne, Wood, &c. Whattime, none must fell of the fame kinde of commodity, vntill the Emperours be all folde .. By this meanes hee maketh of his Rent, Corn, and other prowifion of victuall (as before was fayd) 4hour two hundred thousand rubbells or markes a yeare, Of his Rent, Wood, Hay Scor thirtie thousand rubbells, or therea-Fire security in much) year on samped ு வின்றிர் வுக்கமான

His Cabacks or drinking houses in euery towne.

Boga

Houery great Towns of his Realme, he hath a Caback, or drinking house, where Aqua vita is fold (which they call Ruffewine, Mead, Beere, Jrc. Out of these he receineth Rent , that amounteth to a great fumme of money. Some yeeld eight hundred fome nine hundred fome a thoufand, fome two thousand, or three thoufand rubbells a yeare. Wherein befides the base and dis-honorable meanes to encreate his Treasurie; many foule faultes

The poore labouring man and Artificer, many times founds all from his wife. and children. Some vie to lay in twenty, thirty forty rubbels, or more into the Caback, and vowe themselves to the pot, till all that be spent. And all this (as hee will fay) is for the honour of Holpodare, or the the Emperor Emperour. You shall have many there, honour, that have drunke all away even to the very skinne, and so walke naked (whome they call Naga.) While they are in the Caback, none may call them forth, whatfocuer cause there be; because he hindereth the Emperours reuenue.

TO cause some of his Boiarens , or No- Pretence of bles of his Court, (whom he vieth vp- robbery tom on truft) that have houses in the Mosco, to other end. faine themselues robbed. Then to send for the Zemskey men, or Aldermen of the Citty, and to command them to finde out the robbery. In default of not finding it, to praue or feaffe the Cittle for their misgouernement in eight thousand, nine thousand, or tenne thousand rubbells at a time. This many times is and hath beene practized. A salaman a triang Tenthly.

IN these exactions, to shew their soueraigntie, sometime they vse very plaine, and yet strange cauillations. As was that of Juan Valilowich, father to this Emperour, after this fort. He fent into Permia for certaine loads of Cedar wood, whereof he knew right well, that none grew in that Countrey. The Inhabitants returned answere, they could find none there. Whereupon he feaffed their Countryin swelve thousand tubbells as if they consealed the commoditie of purpole. A gaine . he fent to the Cittie of Molca , to prouide for him a Colpacke, or meafare ful of live Fleas, for a medicine. They returned answer, that the thing was impos fible. And if they could get them, yet they could not measure them, for leaving out Whereuppon, hee praned or beat on of their thinnes, feuen thousand tubbels for and field une in the on the co. Sluma.

By like equillation, lice extorted from his Nobilitie thirtie thousand rubbells, because he missed of his game, when hec went a hunting for the Hare as if theyr hunting and murdering of Hares had bin

Exactions countenan

A bushell of

The Imperiall Dignity. the cause of it. Which the Nobilitie (as | by his Nobility, cheese Officers, and Solthe manner is) praued prefently againe vpon the Mousicks, or common people of the Country. This may feem a strange kinde of extortion, by fuch pleafant cauils, to fleece his poore subjects in good fadnesse: but that it agreeth with the qualitie of those Emperours, and the miserable subjection of that poore Countrie. Thefe, and such like meanes are practifed by the Emperours of Russia, to encrease their Treasurie.

The condition of the Commons and vulgar fort of people, may partly bec vnderitoode by that which hath already bin fayd, concerning the manner of their go-uernement, and the state of the Nobilitie in their owne degrees and places with the ordering of their Provinces, and chiefe townes of the land . And first touching their libertie, how it standeth with them, it may appeare by this: that they are reckoned in no degree at all, nor have anie fuffrage nor place in their Zabore or high Court of Parliament, where theyr lawes and publique orders are concluded vpon. Which commonly tend to the oppression of the commons. For the other two degrees, that is to fay, of the Nobility, and Cleargie, which have a vote in the Parliaments (though farre from that libertie, that ought to be in common confultations for the publike benefite, according vnto the measure and proportion of their degrees) are well contented, that the whole burthen shall light uppon the commons, so that they may ease theyr

Againe, into what feruile condition their libertie is brought, not onely to the Prince but to the Nobles and Gentlemen of the Country (who themselves also are but feruile, specially of late yeares) it may farther appeare by their owne acknowledgements in their supplications, and other writings to any of the Nobles or chiefe officers of the Emperors. Wherein they name and fubscribe themselues Kolophey, that is to fay, their villaines or bondilaues; as they of the Nobilitie doe unto the Emperour. This may truely be fayd of them, that there is no feruant of bondslave more awed by his Maister, nor kept downe in a more feruile fubication. then the poore people are, and that vniuerfally, not onely by the Emperour, but owne shoulders by laying all vpon them.

diours. So that when a poore Mouficke meeteth with any of them vpon the high way; hee must turne himselfe about, as not daring to looke him on the face, and fall downe, with knocking of his head to the very ground, as hee doth vnto his

Secondly, as concerning the lands, Goods, lands, goods, and other possessions of the commons, they answere the name, and lie Commons. common indeede, without any fence against the rapine, and spoyle, not onelie of the highest, but of his Nobilitie, Officers and Souldiers. Besides, thetaxes, customes, seazures, and other publike exactions, doone vppon them by the Emperour: they are so racked and polled by the Nobles, Officers and Meffengers fent abroad by the Emperour in his publike affaires , especially in the Tammes (as Yammes are they do stearme them) and thorow-fare thorow-fare townes, that you shall have many villages and townes of halfe a mile, and a mile long, stand all vn-inhabited : the people being fled all into other places, by reason of the extreame vsage, and exactions on them done. So that in the way towards Mosco, betwixt Volozda and Yarustaneley, (which is two nineties, after theyr reckoning, little more then an hundred miles) there are in fight fiftie Darieunes or Villages at the least, some halfe a mile, some a mile long (that stand vacant) and deso late without any Inhabitant. The like is in all other places of the Realme, as they that have trauelled the Countrey, well can report.

The great oppression ouer the poore Commons, maketh them to have no corage in following their trades: for that the more they have, the more daunger they are in, not onely of their goods, but A miterable condition of of their lines alfo. And if they have anie pooremen. thing, they conceale it all they can, sometimes conneying it into Monasteries, fomtimes hiding it vnder the ground, and in woods, as men are wont to doe, where they are in feare of forreine inuation. Infomuch, that (many times) you shall see them afrayd to be knowne to any Boiaren or Gentleman, of fuch commodities as they have to fell. They have beene feene fometimes, when they have layed open their commodities for a liking (as theyr principall Furres and fuch like) to looke doore: as men in some feare, that looked to be fet vpon, and furprized by some enimy. Whereof being asked the cause, it was found to be this, that they have doub ted, least some Nobleman or Sinaboiarskey of the Emperor, had beene in company, and so laide a traine for them, to pray vpon their commodities perforce. This maketh the people (thogh other-

Townes emp

wife hardned to beare any toyle) to give

in farre leffe plenty then they were wont

to doe: because the people being oppres-

fed and spoyled of they rgettings, are dif-couraged from their Labours. Yet this one thing is much to be noted, that in all

still behinde them, and towardes eueric, themselves much to idlenesse and drinking: as caring for no more, then from hand to mouth. And hereof it commeth that the commodities of Russia (as vvas favde before) as Waxe, Tallow, Hydes, Flax, Hempe, &c.) grow and goe abroad

Of three bre thren Merchants.

ther fuch men

in the whole

Country

The people made yelle s

gainst theyr

this oppression, there were three Bretheren Marchants of late, that traded together with one stocke in common, that were found to be worth 300000 rubbels in mony, befide lands, cattels, and other commodities. Which may partly be imputed to their dwellings far off from the cie of the Court, viz. in Wichida, a thou-fend miles from Mosko, and more. The fame men were faid (by those that knewe them) to have fet on worke all the yeare long, ten thousand men in making of salt, carriages by Cart and Boate, hewing of Wood, and fuch like; besides five thoufand bondflaues at the leaft, to inhabit & Till their land.

They had also their Physitions, Chirurgeons, Apothecaries, and all manner of Artificers of Doutches and others, belonging voto them. They wer faid to haue payed to the Emperour (for Custome)to the fumme of three and twenty thousand Rubbles a yeare (for which cause they were fuffered to enjoy their trade) befides the maintaining of certaine Garrisons on the borders of Siberia, which were neere vnto them. Wherein the Emperour was content to vie their purie, till fuch time as they had gotten ground in Siberia, and made it habitable, by burning & cutting downe woodes from wichida to Perm, aboue a thousand Verst, and then tooke it all away from them perforce. But this in the end being enuied, and disdained, as a matter not standing with their policie, to have any fo great, specially a Mousick: the Emperour beganne first to pull from them by peeces, sometimes twenty thousand rubbels at a time; till in the end, their fonnes that followed were well eafed of their flocke, & had but small part of their Fathers substance: the rest being drawne all into the Emperors

Treasury. Their names were lacoue, Gregory, and Simon, the fonnes of Onyka. For the quality of their people otherwife though there feemeth to be in them fome aptnesse to receive any Art (as appeareth by the naturall wits in the men, and very children) yet they excell in no and wits. kinde of common Art, much leffe in any Learning, or litterall kinde of knowledge, which they are kept from of purpose, as they are also from all Military practife: that they may be fitter for the feruile condition wherein still they are, & haue neither reason, nor valor to attempt innoua-

For this purpose also, they are kepte from trauailing, that they may learne nothing, nor fee the fashions of other countreyes abroad. You shall seldome see a Rulle a Traueller, except he be with fome Ambaffador, or that he make a scape out of his Countrey. Which hardly hee can do, by reason of the borders that are watchedionarrowly, and the punnishment for any fuch attempt, which is death if he be taken, and all his goods confiscate. Onely they learne to write, and to reade, and that verie few of them. Neyther doe they fuffer any ftranger willingly to come into their Realme out of any civil Countrey, for the fame cause; farther then necessity of vetering their commodities. and taking in of forraine, doeth enforce them to do.

And therefore not long fince, they confulted, about the remoting of al Marchants strangers to the border townes, to rour concerabide and have their residency there, and ning his State to be more wary, in admitting other firan gers (hecreafter) into the In-land parts of the Realme; for feare of infection with better manners and qualities, then they haue of their owne.

For the same purpose also, they are kept within the bounds of theyr degree, by the Law of their Country: fo that the fonne of a Moufick, Artificer, or Husband Chap.3. The Politicke and iudiciall proceeding man, is euer a Moufick, Artificer, &c. and uors, and employ themselves to advance hath no meanes to aspire any higher: excapt (hauing learned to write and reade) he attaine to the preferment of a Priest or Dyacke.

Their Language is all one with the Slauonian, which is thought to have bene desinted from the Ruffe tongue, rather uage antiwethen the Russe from the Slauonian. For the people called Sclaui, are knowne to have had their beginning out of Sarmatia, and to have tearmed themselves of their conquest Sclaues (that is) famous or Glorious, of the word Sclaua, which in the Rul and Sclauonian tongue, fignifieth as much as Glory, or Fame. Though afterwards, being subdued and trod vpon by divers

Nations, the Italians (their Neighbours) haue turned the word to a contrary fignification, and tearme enery fernant or pezant, by the name of Sclaue; as did the Romanes by the Getes and Syrians, for the fame reason. The Russe Charracter or Letter, is no other then the Greeke, fomwhat distorted.

And because we were speaking of Sarmatia, whence this people seeme to deriue themselues : Some haue thought, that the name of Sarmatia, was first taken from one Sarmates, whom Moles and Io-Sephus call Asarmathes, sonne to Jocktan, and Nephew to Heber, of the posterity of Sem. But this feemeth to be nothing but a coniceture, taken from the likeneffe of the name Afarmathes. For, the dwelling of al tocktans posterity is described by Moles, to have been betwixt Melcha or Mafius) an hill of the Ammonites) & Sephace, neere to the River Euphrates. Which maketh it very vnlikely, that A(armathes should plant any Collonies so farre off, in the North, and North-West Coun-

Concerning their Trades, Diet, Apwas fayde. From these foure Courtes, parrell, and fuch like, it is to bee noted they may appeale, and remooue theyr where we speake of their prinate behauifuites to the cheefe Court, that is kept at our. This order, that bindeth eueric man to keepe his ranke and feueral degree wherein his forefathers lived before him, is more meete to keepe the fubicates in a feruile subjection, and so, apt for this and like Common-wealths; then to aduance any vertue, or to breed any rare or excellent quality in Nobility or Commons. As hauing no farther reward nor preferment, whereunto they may bend their endeatheir estate : but rather procuring more danger to themselues, the more they excell in any noble or principall quality.

CHAP. III.

Thirdly, we discourse on their Politicke and Indiciall proceeding. Alfo the Emperors powers for war, and their falaries : with their Mustering, Munition, and Military prouision. Their Collonies, bordering Friends or Enemies, either in Peace or

Heir Courts of Civill Iuflice, formatters of Country track, and other of like fort, are of three kindes, the one beeing, fubicet vnto the o ther by way of Appeal. The lowest court that feemeth to bee appointed for fome The Alderease to the subjects) is the Office of the mans Court, Gubnoy Starust, that fignifieth an Alderman, and of the Sotskoy Starust, or Bayliffe of the foake or hundred, whereof I spake before in the ordering of the Prouinces. These may end matters among their Neighbours, within their Soake, or seuerall Hundred, where they are apointed under the Dukes and Dyackes of the Provinces, to whome the parties may remooue their matter, if they cannot bee agreed by the faide Gubnoy, or Sotskoy Sta-The second is kept in the head townes of euery Province or Shire, by the fayde Dukes and Diackes, that are deputies to Diacks Court

the four Lords of the Chetfirds, as before

Mosko, where are relident the officers of the foure Chetfirds. These are the chiefe Inflices or Iudges, euery of them in all ci- The high uill matters that growe within their feucrall Cherfird or quarter, and may bee either commenced originally before them. or profecuted out of the inferior Courts of the Shires, by way of appeale. Their commencing and proceeding in civill actions, is on this manner. First.

The dealing

of Sergeants

in their offi-

No Counfel-

lors or Attur

Ending of

Croile

Indgment by parties bille

the Croile.

the plaintiffe putteth vp his supplication, wherein hee declareth the effecte of his or Sergeant, to doe the arrest vppon the twenty pence vpon enery Mark, as before party whom hee meaneth to impleade. Who uppon the Arrest, is to put in sureties to answer at the day appointed, or els standeth at the Sergeants denotion, to be kept fafe by fuch means as he thinketh good. The Sergeants are many, & excell for their hard and cruell dealing toward their prisoners; commonly they clappe Irons vpon them, as many as they can beare to wring out from them some larger Fees. Though it be but for fixe pence, you shal fee them go with chaines on their legges, armes, and necke. When they come before the Judge, the Plaintiffe beginneth to declare his matter, after the content of his

lors, Procurators and aduocates to plead nies to pleade Tale, and pleade for himselfe so well as

If they have any witnesse or other euidence, they produce it before the ludge. If they have none, or if the trueth of the cause cannot so well be discerned by the plea, or euidence on both parts, then the by kilving the Judge asketh either party (which he thinketh good, Plaintiff or Defendant) whether he will kiffe the Croffe, vppon that which he anoucheth, or denieth. He that taketh the Crosse (being so offred by the Iudge) is accounted cleare, and carryeth away the matter. This Ceremony is not done within the Court or Office, but the party is carried to the Church by an Officer, and there the Ceremony is done: the money in the meane while hanging vpon a nayle, or elfelying at the Idolles feete, ready to be delinered to the party fo foon as he hath kiffed the Croffe, before the faide Idoll. This kiffing of the Croffe(called Creu-Stina Chelouania) is as their corporal oath; and accounted (with them) a verie holie thing, which no man will dare to violate, or prophane with a falle Allegation. If both parties offer tot kiffe the Croffe in a contradictory matter, then they drawe

The better Lotte is supposed to have the right, and beareth away the matter. cause.or wrong done vnto him. Where- So the party connicted is adjudged to pay upon is granted vnto him a wepis or war- the debt or penalty what soener, and withrant, which he deliuereth to the Prastane, all, to pay the Emperours fees, which is hath bene noted. When the matter is thus ended, the party connicted, is delivered to the Sergeant, who hath a VV rit for his warrant, out of the office, to carry him to the Praneulb or Righter of Instice, if presently he pay not the money, nor content not the

This Praueufh or Righter, is a place The order of neere vnto the Office where fuch as haue the Prauculh fentence passed against them, and refuse or Righter. to pay that which is adjudged; are beaten with great Cudgels on the shinnes, and calues of the legges. Euery fornoon from eight to eleauen, they are fet on the Prauensh, and beate in this fort till the monie supplication. As for Atturneys, Counselbe payed. The afternoone & night time, they are kept in Chains by the Sergeant: their cause for them, they have no such except they put insufficient sureties, for order; but euerie man is to tell his owne their appearance at the Praueulb at the houre appointed. You shall see fortie or fifty frand together on the Praueufb all on a rowe, and their thinnes thus becudgelled and behafted enery morning, with > a pitteous cry. If after a years standing on the Praneush the party will not, or lacke wherewithall and caldres to pay his Creditour, it is lawfull for him to pay debts. to fell his Wife and Children either ontright, or for a certaine tearme of yeares. And if the price of them doe not amount to the full payment, the Creditour may take them to be his bondflaues for years, or for euer, according as the valew of the debt requireth.

Such kinde of fuites as lack direct euidence, or stand vpon coniectures and circumstances, to bee weighed by the Judge, draw of great length, and yeelde great aduantage vnto the Judge and Officers. If the fuite be vppon a bonde or bill, they have for the most part good & speedy instice. Their Bondes or Billes, are drawne in a very plaine fort, after this te-

I Iuan Vafileo, have borrowed of Alpho-The forme of nasse Dementio, the summe of one hundered Ruffe bils or bonds, as they poller etween Rubbles of going money of Mosko, from the Kresbenea (or hallowing of the Water) man and man ontill the Saburney Voscreshenea (or counChap. 3. Of Moscouia or Russia.

> fell Sunday) without interrest. And if this money rest unpayed after that day, then hee shall give interest wpon the saide mony, after the common rate, as it goeth among the people, viz: for every five the fixt rubbell Vpon this there are witnesses, Micheta Sydroneskoy.co: Subscribed.This Bill have I written Gabriel Iacouelesni, in the yeare 7096. The witneffes and debter (if he can write) endorse their names on the back side of the Bill. Other figning or fealing haue they

Proceeding in Order after

When any is taken for a matter of crime (as treason, murther, theft, and the like) he is first brought to the Duke and Diacke, that are for the Province where the party is attached, by whom he is examined. The manner of examination in fuch cases, is all by torture, as scourging with whips made of finnewes or whitleather (called the Pudkey) as big as a mans finger, which giveth a fore lash, and entereth into the flesh : Or by tying vnto a spitte, and roasting at the Fire. Sometimes, by breaking and wresting one of their ribs with a payre of hot Tonges, or cutting their fleth vnder the nayles, and fuch like. The examination thus taken, withall the proofes and euidences that can be al-

ledged against the party, it is sent vppe to the Mosko, to the Lord of the Chetfirde or Fourth-part, vnder whome the Prouince is, and by him is presented vnto the Councell Table, to be reade and fentenced there, where onely judgement is gi-

uen in matter of life and death, and that by enidence uppon information, though Men are fen they neuer faw nor heard the party, who tenced withoutperfonall is kept still in prison where the Facte was committed, & neuer fent vp to the place boiarskey, or the sonnes of Gentlemen, bewhere he is tryed. If they find the partie cause they are all of that degree, by vertue guilty, they give sentence of death accorof their Military profession. For every fol ding to the quality of the facte, which is dier is a Gentleman, and none are gentlefent downe by the Lord of the Chetfird, men, but onely the foldiers, that take it by to the Duke and Diacke to be put in exdiscent from their Ancestors; so that the ecution. The prisoner is carried vnto the fon of a Gentleman (which is borne a folplace of execution, with his hands bound dier)is euer a Gentleman, and a Soldier and a wax candle burning held betweene withall, and professeth nothing else but his fingers. Military matters. When they are of years ' Their capitall punishments, are hanging, heading, knocking on the head, drow ning, putting vnder the Ife, fetting on a there present themselves, who entereth flake, and fuch like. But (for the most part) their names, and allotteth them certayne the prisoners that are condemned in sumlands to maintaine their charges, for the mer, are kept for the winter, to be knockt most part, the same that their fathers enioved.

Theorder of heir cheefest

on the head, and put vnder the Ice. This is to be understood of common persons. For theft and murther, if they be committed vpon a poore Moufick by one of Nobilitie, it is not lightly punnished, nor yet is he called to any account for it. Their reason is, because they are accounted their Kolophey or bond flaues. If by some Sinaboiarskey, or Gentleman Souldiour, a murther or theft bee com- and fouldiers, mitted, peraduenture he shall be imprisoned at the Emperors pleasure. If the manner of the fact beevery notorious, hee is whipped perchance, and this is commonly all the punishment that is inflicted vp-on them. If a man kill his owne feruant, little or nothing is saide vnto him, for the aforefaide reason: because he is accounted to be his Kolophey or bondflaue, & so to have right ouerhis very head. The vemost is fome small mulet to the Emperour, if the party be rich : and fo the quarrell is made rather against the purse, then against the iniustice. They have no Written Lawe, faue onely a small booke, that containeth Law among

al formes and circumstances, but nothing

Which sheweth the miserable condition of this poore people, that are forced to

haue them for their Law and direction of Iustice; against whose iniustice & extream

oppression, they had neede to bee armed

The Soldiers of Russia are called Sina-

Dddd

with many good and strong lawes.

the time and manner of their fitting, order in proceeding, and fuch other indici-

to direct them, to give fentence on right or wrong. Their onely Law is their Spea- Speaking law king Law, and that is the pleasure of the Prince, and of his Magistrates & officers.

> for the wars, with the chief officers, and able to bear Armes, they come to the of- Souldiers by fice of Roserade, or great Constable, and birth and in

For

Army, are ever certaine, annexed to this office without improouing, or detracting one foot. But that if the Emperour haue Sufficient in wages, the roomes being full fo farre as the land doth extend alreadie; they are many times deferred, and have nothing allowed them, except fome one portion of the land be divided into two. Which is a cause of great disorder within that country: when a fouldier that hath many children, shall have sometimes but one entertained in the Emperors pay. So that therest having nothing, are forced to line by vnioft and wicked Thiftes, that tend vnto the hurt and oppression of the Moufick or common fort of people. This inconvenience groweth, by maintaining his forces in a continual fuccession. The whole number of his fouldiers in continual:pay, is this. First, he hath of his Dwo-

raney, that is, Penfioners, or guarde of his person, to the number of 15000. horsemen, with their Captaines and other officers, that are alwayes in a readinesse.

Degrees of Horiemen.

I.Pretoriani, perors person

Of these 15000 horssemen, there are three forts or degrees, which differ aswel in estimation, as in wages, one degree from another. The first fort of them, is called Dworaney Bullbey, or the company of head Penfioners, that have fome an hundred, some sourscore Rubbels a yeare, & none under feuenty. The fecond fort are called Seredney Dworaney, or the middle ranke of Penfioners. Thefe haue fixty, or fifty rubbels by the yeare, none vnder forty. The third and lowest fort are the Dyta Boianskey, that is, the lowest Pensioners. Their falary is thirty rubbels a yeare for him that hath most, fome have but five and twenty, some twenty, none vnder twelue. Whereof the halfe part is paide them at the Mosko, the other halfe in the fielde by the Generall, when they have any warres, and are employed in feruice. When they receive their whole pay, it amounteth to 55000 rubbels yearely. And to this their wages, besides Lands alotted to enery one of them, both to the greater and the leffe, according vnto their degrees. Wherof he that hath least, hath to yeeld him twenty Rubbels or Markes by the yeare. Besides these 1 5000 horssemen that are of better choife (as beeing the Emperors owne gard, when himfelfe goeth to the wars, not vnlike the Roman

For the Lands affigned to maintaine the | fouldiers cald Pratoriani) are an hundred & ten men of special accourt for their Nobility and truft, which are chosen by the Emperor, and haue their names registered, that find among them for the Empe-Two other rours warres, to the number of 65000. 1100ps, tothe horsemen, with all necessaries meete for number of the wars, after the Ruffe manner.

To this end they have yearly allowance made by the Emperor for themselues, & their companies to the fumme of 40000 rubbels. And these 65 000. are to repaire to the field enery year on the borders towards the Chrim Tartar (except they bee appointed for some other service) whether there be warres with the Tartars, or

This might feeme(peraduenture)fomwhat dangerous for some state, to have fo great forces vnder the commaund of Noblemen, to affemble euery yeare vnto one certaine place. But the matter is fo vfed, as that no danger can growe to the Emperor, or his state by this means. Fir because these Noblemp are many wit, an hundred and in all, & change by the Emperor, so describe thinks good Secondly, because they have their livings of the Emperor, being otherwise but of very fmall renennew, and receive this yearly pay of 40000 rubbels, when it is presently to be paid forth againe vnto the foldiers that are under them. Thirdly, because (for the most part) they are about the Emperors person, being of his counfell either speciall, or at large. Fourthly, they are rather as paymasters then Captaines to their companies, themselus not going forth ordinarily to the warres, fanc when some of them are appointed by speciall order from the Emperor himselfe fo the whole number of horsemen that are communality euer in a readines, and in continual pay, 80000. are 80000, a few more or leffe. If he have neede of a greater number,

(which fildom falleth out) then he entertaineth of those Sinaboiarskey, that are out of pay so many as he needeth: and if yet he want of his number, hee giveth charge to his Noblemen (that hold lands of him) to bring into the Fielde (enery man) a proportionable number of his Seruants, (called Kolophey) fuch as Till his Landes, with their Furniture, according vnto the full and just number, that hee intendeth to make uppe. The which feruice beeing Chap.3.

of Moscouia or Russia.

Of Footmen that are in continuall Footmen in ontinual pay pay,he hath to the number of 12000. all Gunners, called Strelfey. Whereof 5000 are to attend about the Citty of Mosko, or any other place where the Emperour shall abide, and 2000. (which are called Stremaney, Strefley, or Gunners at the ftirrop) about his owne person, at the very

The rest are placed in his garrison towns, till there be occasion to have them in the field, and receive for their fallery or ftibesides twelue measures, a piece of Rye, and Polonian. Next, vnder the Voianod and Oates. Of mercenary Soldiours, that and his Lieutenant Generall, are foure

they have at this time,4300.of Polonians: of Chirchaffes (that are vnder the Polonians) about foure thousand, whereof 3500. are abroad in his garrisons: of Doutches Scots about 150.01 Greekes, Turkes, Danes and Sweadens, all in one band, an 100. or thereabouts. But these they vie onely vpon the Tartar side, and against the Siberians: as they doe the Tartar Soldioms (whom they hire fometimes but onely for the present) on the other side against the Polonian and Sweden: thinking it best pollicie, fo to vse their feruice vpon the contrary border. The chiefe Captaines or Leaders of these Forces, according to their names Captaine, or Lieutenant Generall vnder iustice for all faults, and disorders comthe Emperour. This commonly is one of the fourehouses of the chiefe Nobility of the Land: but so chosen otherwise, sen out of the 113. (which I spake of beas that he is of small valour, or practise in Martiall matters, being thought to serue that turne fo much the better, if he bring no other parts with him, faue the countenance of his Nobility, to be liked of by the Soldiours for that, and nothing elfc. or Captaines of fifties, and the Decetskies, For in this point they are very wary, that or Captaines of tens. these two (to wit) Nobility, and power meete not both in one, specially if they fee wifedome with all, or aptnesse forpol-

Their great Voianod or Generall at this present in their warres, is commonly one of these foure: Knez Feeder Iuanowich Methisloskey, Knez Iuan Michailo-done, presently lay in their Weapons, wich Glinskoy, Cherechaskoy, and Trowand returne to their seruile occupations betskoy, all of great Nobility, but of very simple quality otherwise: though in Glinskoy (as they fay) there is forme-what more then in the rest. To make vp this 1. Lieutenant defect in the Voianod or Generall, there is Generall.

fome other ioyned with him as Lieutenant Generall, of farre leffe Nobility, but of more valour and experience in the warres then he, who ordereth all things Court or house where himselfe lodgeth.

that the other countenanceth. At this time their principall man, and most ysed in their warres, is one Knez Demetrie Iuanowich Forestine, an ancient and expert Captaine, and one that hath done great pend enery man feuen rubbels a yeare, feruice (as they fay) against the Tartar

3 Marshals of are strangers (whom they call Nimschoy) other, that have the Marshalling of the whole Army divided among them, and may bee called the Marshalles of the field.

Euery man hath his quarter or fourth part vnder him. Whereof the first is of each quarcalled the Praua Polskoy, or right wing. or e. The second is the Leuoy Polskoy, or left wing . The third is Rusnoy Polskor, or the broken band, because out of this there are chosen to send abroad vpon any fuddaine exploit, or to make a refeue or supply, as occasion doth require. The fourth is Storeshoung Potskoy, or the warding band. Every one of these soure Marshals haue two other vnder them (eight in all) that twice enery Weeke at and degrees, are these which follow. First, the least, must muster and traine their sethe Voyanodey Bulsbaia, that is, the Great uerall wings or bands, and hold and give mitted in the Campe. And these eight are commonly chofore) that receive and deliver the pay to the Soldiours. Under these eight are diuers other Captaines, as the Gulauoy Five Coro-Captaines of thousands, fiue hundreds, nels vnder and one hundred. The Petyde Setskoy,

Besides the Voiauoday or Generall of the Army (spoken of before) they haue two other that beare the name of haue two other that beare the name of Voiauoda: wherof one is the Master of the of the Artilgreat Ordenance (called Naradna Voiano- lery. da) who hath divers vnder Officers, neceffary for that service. The other is called the Voianoda Gulanov, or the walking

4. Marthals

Dddd 2 Cap-

n pay,4300.

Dutch manner.

Captaine, that hath allowed him a thoufand good horsemen of principall choise, to range and spie abroad, and hadde the charge of the running Castle, which wee are to speake of hereafter. All these Captaines and men of charge, must (once e-ucry day) refort to the Bulfha Voiauoda, or Generall of the Armie, to know his pleafure, and to informe him, if there be any requifite matter pertaining to theyr Of-

When warres are towardes (which

Of their mu ftering and leuying of forces, maner of Armour, 8 prouision of victuall for the warre.

Their order

Default of

they faile not of lightly cuery yeare with the Tartar, and many times with the Polonian and Sweden) the foure Lordes of the Chetfirds fend foorth their fummons in the Emperors name, to all the Dukes and Dyackes of the Provinces, to bee proclaimed in the head Townes of enery Shire: that all the Sinaboiarskey, or fonnes of Gentlemen, make their repaire to fuch a border where the feruice is to be done, at fuch a place, and by fuch a day,& there present themselves vnto such and such Captaines.

When they come to the place affigned them in the Summons or Proclamation, their names are taken by certain Officers, that have Commission for that purpose, from the Roferade or High Constable, as Clearkes of the Bands.

If any make default and faile at the day, he is mulcted, and punished very seucrely. As for the Generall and other cheefe Captaines, they are fent thither from the Emperours owne hand, with fuch Commission and charge, as hee thinketh behoouefull for the present seruice. When the Soldiours are affembled, they are reduced into their Bands and Companies, under their seuerall Captaines of tennes, fifties, hundreds, thou fands, &c. and thefe Bands into foure Polskeis or Legions (but of farre greater numbers then the Romaine Legions were) under they foure

great Leaders; which also have the Authority of Marshals of the fielde, as was faide before. Concerning their Armour, they are The horfebut flightly appointed. The common mans furni-Horseman hath nothing else but his Bow ture.

in his case, under his right Arme, and his Quiuer and Sword hanging on the lefte fide: except some few that beare a Case of Dags, or a lanelin, or short staffe along their Horse side. The under Captains will haue commonly some piece of Armour besides, as a Shirt of Male, or such like. The Generall, with the other chief Captaines and men of Nobilitie, will have The General their horse very richly furnished, theyr Saddles of Cloth of Golde, their Bridles faire boffed and taffelled with Golde and Silke Frindge, bestudded with Pearle & precious Stones: themselues in very faire Armour, which they call Bullatnoy, made of faire shining Steele yet couered commonly with cloth of Golde, and edged round with Ermin Furre, his steele Helmet on his head, of a very great price, his Sword, Bow and Arrowes at his fide, his Speare in his hand, with another fayre Helmet, and his Shesta pera or Horsmans Scepter caried before him. Their Swords, Bowes, and Arrowes, are of the Turkish fashion. They practife like the Tartar, to shoote forwards and backwards, as they Aye and retyre.

The Strelley or Foote-man, hath nothing but his peece in his hand, his striking Hatchet at his backe, and his Sword by his fide. The stocke of his peece, is not made Calieuer-wife, but with a plaine & straight stocke (somewhat like a Fouling peece) the barrel is rudely and vnartificially made, very heavy, yet shooteth but a very finall Bullet.

As for their prouision of victuall, the Emperor alloweth none, eyther for Captaine or Soldiour, neither prouideth any for them, except peraduenture fome corn for their mony. Euery man is to bring fufficient for himfelfe, to ferue his turne for foure moneths, and (if neede require) to giue order for more to bee brought vnto him to the Campe, from his Tenant that tilleth his land, or some other place.

One great helpe they have, that for Their fielde Lodging and Dyet, every Ruffe is prepared to be a souldiour before-hand. Al. though the chiefe Captaines, and other of account, do carrie Tents along with them, after the form and fashion of ours, with some better provision of Victuall then the rest; they bring with them commonly into the Campe for Victuall, a kinde of dryed Bread (vyhich they call Sucharie) with some store of Meale, the which they temper withwater, & fo make it into a Ball, or finall lump of Dough, called Tollockno. And this they eat raw in stead of Bread. Their meat is Bacon, or

The Horffe-

nans Illanner

them vppon aboord layde on foure horscs, that are sparred together with Iron Chaines, euery Drumme hauing eyght Beaters or Drummers, besides Trumpets, and Shawmes, which they found after a wilde manner, much diffrent from

of Moscouia or Russia. fome other flesh or fish dryed, after the If it bee a fet battaile, or if any great inua-

fion bee made uppon the Ruffe borders. If the Ruffe Souldier were as hardie to | by the Tartar; they are fette within the execute an enterprize, as hee is harde to running of mooning Castle (called Beza, or Gulay gorod) which is carried about with shem by the Voiauoda gulanoy (or the walking Generall) whome I spake of before. This Walking or mooning Caffle is fo framed, that it may be fet up in length(as occasion doth require) the space of one, two, three, foure, fiuc, fix, or feuen miles : for fo long will it reach. It is nothing elfe not fuffer any great courage or valour to but a double wall of Woode, to defend What the them on both fides, behinde and before; walking Cawith a space of three yards or thereabout, betwixt the two fides : fo that they may

Of their marching, charging, and other mattiall difeihe doc.

The Russe trusteth rather to his number, then to the valor of his Soldiers, or good ordering of his forces. Their marching or leading is without all order, faue that the foure Polskey or Legions (whereinto their army is divided) keepe themselues under their Ensignes, and so thrust all on together in a hurrey, as they are directed by their Generall, Their Enfigne beare out toyle and trauaile, or were otherwise as apt and well trayned for the

warres, as he is indifferent for his lodging

and dyer, he would farre exceed the Sol-diours of other parts. Whereas now, hee

is farre meaner of courage, and execution

in any warlike feruice. Which commeth partly of his feruile condition, that will grow in him. Partly for lacke of due honour and reward, which he hath no great

hope of, whatfoeuer feruice or execution

is the image of Saint George. The Bullha Dworaney or cheefe Horsemen, have enery man a finall Drumme of Braffe at his Saddle-bow, which he striketh when hee giueth the charge; or onfet.

They have Drummes besides of a huge biggeneffe, which they carrie with

When they give any Charge, or make any inuation, they make a great hallowe or showte altogether, as lowde as they can, which with the found of their Trumpets, Shawmes, and Drummes, maketh a confused and horrible noyse. So they fer on first discharging their Arrows, then dealing with their Swordes, which they vse in a brauery to shake, and brandish ouer their Heades, before they come to ftrokes. . Their Footmen (because otherwise they want order in leading) are commonly placed in fome ambuth, or place of aduantage, where they may most annov the enemy, with least hurt to themselves. The walking to vic their other weapons. It is closed at both ends, & made with loope holes on either fide, to lay out the nose of their peece, or to push forth any other weapon. It is caried along with the army wherfocuer it goeth, being taken in to peeces, and so layde on Cartes sparred together, and drawen by horse that are not feene, by reason that they are couered with their carriage, as with a shelfe

stand within it, and have roome enough to charge and discharge their peeces, and or pent-house. When it is brought, vnto the place where it is to be vsed (which is denised & The planting chosen out before by the Walking Vola- ing Castle, uod) it is planted, so much as the present vse requireth, sometime a mile long, som times two, fometimes three, or more:

Which is foone done without the helpe of any Carpenter, or instrument : because the Timber is so framed to clasp together one peece within another : as is eafily vn. derstood, by those that know the manner of the Ruffe byilding, In this Castle standeth their Shot well fenced for aduantage, especially agaynst the Tartar, that bringeth no Ordenance, Tartar. nor other Weapon into the Fielde with him, faue his Sword, and Bowe and Arrowes. They have also within it diverse fielde peeces, which they vie as occasion doth require. Of peeces for the fielde, they carry no great store, when they war against the Tartar : but when they deale with the Polonian (of whose forces they make more account) they go better furnithed with all kind of munition, and other necessarie provisions. It is thought, that no Prince of Christendome, hath better Dddda holding the

Countries of Pechora, Per-

mia, and Sibe

The quality of the Ruffe Soldier.

number. The Russe Soldiour is thought to be better at his defence within some Castle, or Towne, then hee is abroad at a fet pitched fielde. Which is ever noted in the practife of his warres, and namely, at the fiedge of Vobsko, fome few yeares fince: where he repulsed the Polonian king, Stephan Batere, with his whole Army of an hundred thousand men, and forced him (in the end) to give over his fiedge, with the loffe of many of his best Captaines and Soldiers. But in a fet fielde, the Ruffe is noted to have the worfe of the Polonian and Sweden.

store of munition, then the Russe Emperour. And it may partly appeare by the Artillerie house at Mosko, where are of all

fortes of great Ordenance, all Braffe pec-

ces, very faire, to an exceeding great

If any behaue himfelfe more valiantly then the rest, or doe any speciall peece of feruice, the Emperor fendeth him a piece of Gold, stamped with the image of Saint George on horse backe. Which peece they hang on their fleenes, and fet in their Caps. And this is accounted the greatest honor they can receive for any service they do.

The Ruffe Emperors (of late years) have very much enlarged their Dominions & Territories. Their first Conquest after the Dukedome of Mosko (for before that time they were but Dukes of Volodemer, as before was fayde) was the Cittie, and Dukedome of Nouverad on the West and North-West side: which was no smal inlargement of their Dominion, & strengthening vnto them for the winning of the rest. This was done by Iuan, great Grand father to Theodore now Emperour, about the yeare 1480.

The fame began likewife to encroach vpon the Countreyes of Linonia and Lituania but the Conquest onely intended, and attempted by him your some part of those Countreyes, was pursued and performed by his fonne Bafileus, who first of all wan the Cittie and Dukedom of Plefko, afterwards the City and Dukedom of Smolensko, and many other faire Townes, with a large Territory belonging vnto them, about the yeare 1514.

These victories against the Lettoes or Lituanians, in the time of Alexander their Duke, hee atchieued rather by aduantage of civill diffentions and treasons among themselues, then by any great pollicie or force of his owne. But all this was loft againe by his sonne Inan Vasilowich, about the saber, lot eight or nine yeares past, vpon composibly the sonne, tion with the Polonian King Stephen Batore; whereunto he was forced by the aduantages which the Pole had then of him, by reason of the soyle hee had given him before, and the disquietnesse of his owne state at home. Onely the Russe Emperor, at this time, bath left him on that fide his Countrey, the Cities of Smolensko, Vitobsko, Cheringo, and Beala Gorod in Lituania. In Lituania, not a Towne, nor one foote of ground.

When Basileus first Conquered those Countreyes, hee suffered the Natines to keepe their possessions, and to inhabit all the Emperon their Townes, onely paying him a Tri- remissenes in bute, vnder the gouernment of his Ruffe thereof. Captaines. But by their Conspiracies & attempts not long after, he was taught to deale more furely with them. And fo coming youn them the second time, hee killed and caried away with him, three parts of foure, which he gaue or folde vnto the Tartars that served him in those wars, & (insted of them) placed there his Ruffes, formany as might oner-match the reft, with certaine Garrisons of strength befides. Wherein, notwithstanding this ouerlight was committed, for that (taking away with him the Vpland or Countrey people (that should have tild the ground and might eafily have bene kept in order without any daunger, by other good policies) hee was driven afterwardes manie yeares together, to Victuall the Countrey (especially the great Townes) out of his owne Countrey of Russia, the foyle lying there in the meane while waste and vntilled.

The like fell out at the port of Narue, Narue eur in Liefland, where his fonne Iuan Vasilowith denifed to build a Towns and a Caftle on the other fide the River, (called Inangorod) to keepe the Town and countrey in subjection. The Castle he caused to bee so built and fortified, that it was thought to bee inuincible. And when it was finished, for reward to the Architect (that was a Polonian) hee put out both his A most vn. eyes, to make him vnable to build the like againe. But having left the Natives all within their owne Countrey, without a.

bating their number or strength; the Towne and Castle (not long after) was betrayed, and furrendred agains to the King of Sweden. Kingdomes won from the Tartar.

On the Southeast side, they have got the Kingdomes of Cazan, and Altracan. These were wonne from the Tartar, by the late Emperor Iuan Vafilowich, Father to the Emperour that now is: the one about 35. the other about 33. yeares agoe. Northward out of the Country of Siberia, he hath laide vnto his Realme, a great bredth and length of ground, from wichida to the River of Obba, about a thousand miles space: so that hee is bold to write himselfe now, The Great Commander of Si-

The Countries likewise of Permia & Pechora, are a diuerse people & language from the Ruffe, ouercome not long fince, and that rather by threatning, & thaking of the Sword, then by any actuall force: as being a weake and naked people, without meanes to relift.

Meanes of holding his chiefe towner

The strength

Permia and

heir conque

Pechora,

That which the Ruffe hath in his prefent possession, he keepeth on this fort. In his foure cheefe border townes of Vobsko, Smolensko, Astracan, and Cazan, he hath certaine of his Counfel, not of greatest Nobility, but of greatest trust, which haue more authority within their Precincts (for the countenancing & strengthening of their gouernment there) then the other Dukes that are set to gouerne in other places, as was noted before, in the manner of ordering their Prouinces. These he changeth somtime enery yeare, fometime enery fecond or third yeare, but exceedeth not that time; except vppon very speciall trust, and good liking of the party, and his service : least by enlarging of their time, they might grow into fome familiarity with the enemy (as fome haue done) being so far out of sight.

The Townes besides are very strongly fenced with Trenches, Castles, & store Townes & of munition, and have garrifons within the, to the number of two or three thoufand a piece. They are stored with victuall(if any fiedge fhould come vpon them) for the space of two or three yeares before hand. The foure Castles of Smelensko, Vobsko, Cazan and Astracan, hee hath made very strong to beare out any siedge: so that it is thought that those Townes are impregnable.

As for the Countries of Pechora and Permia, and that part of Siberia, which hee hath now under him, they are kept by as easie meanes, as they were first got, viz.rather by thewing, then by vling of Armes. First, he hath stored the Country with as many Ruffes as there are Natines, & hath there some few Soldiours in garrison, enough to keepe them under. Secondly, his Officers and Magistrates there, are of his owne Ruffe people, and he changeth them very often viz. euery yeare twice or thrice; notwithstanding there be no great feare of any innouation. Thirdly he diuideth them into many fmall gouernements, like a staffe broke in many small pieces: fo that they have no strength being senered, which was but little neyther, when they were all in one. Fourthly, he prouideth that the people of the country haue neyther Armour, nor mony, being taxed and pilled so often as he thinketh good: without any meanes to shake off that yoke, or to releeue themselues.

In Siberia (where he goeth on in purfuing his Conquest) hee hath divers Cafiles and Garrisons, to the number of fixe thousand Soldiours of Russes and Polonians, and fendeth many new supplies thither, to plant and inhabite, as he winneth ground. At this time besides, he hath gotten the Kings Brother of Siberia, allured by certaine of his Captains, to leave Brother of Siberia alluhis owne Country, by offers of greaten- red from his tertainment, and pleasanter life with the Russe Emperor, then he had in Siberia. He was brought in this last yeare, and is now with the Emperor at Maska well entertai-

This may be faid of the Ruffe practife. wherefocuer he ruleth, either by right of Inheritance, or by Conquest.

First, hee bereaueth the Country of Thepollicy of Armour, and other meanes of defence, their Con-which he permitteth to none, but to his quell or other Boiarskeis onely.

Secondly, he robbeth them continue they come, ally of their mony and commodities, and leaueth them bare, with nothing but their bodies and lines, within certaine yeares compasse:

Thirdly, hee renteth and divideth his Territories into many small pieces, by feuerall gouernments: fo that none hath much vnder him to make any strength, though he had other opportunities.

Fourthly

prenailing,

Of their Col-

Reward for

lonies and maintaining of their Con quests or purchafes by force.

The victories & conquestes of Theodore reliated by

the Chrims

fuprizall.

The Chrims

er of themselues, and strangers (in those places) where their gouernment lyeth. Fiftly, he changeth his Gouernors once a yeare ordinarily, that there grow no great liking, nor intiernesse betwixt the people and them, nor acquaintance with the enemy, if they lie towards the Bor-

Sixtly, hee appointeth in one and the fame place aduerfary Gouernors, the one to be as Controller of the other, as the Dukes and Diacks: where (by meanes of their enuies and emulations) there is lesse hurt to be feared by their agreement, and himselse is better informed what is done

amisse. Seventhly, he sendeth many times into euery Prouince fecret Messengers (of speciall trust about him) as intelligencers, to pry and hearken out what is doing, and what is amisse there. And this is ordinary, though it be fudden, and vnknowne what time they will come.

Their neighbours with whom they haue greatest dealings and intercourse, tars, and other both in peace and warre, are first the Tarborderers to tar: Secondly the Polonian, whom the the Country of Kulsia, with Ruffe calleth Laches, noting the first Author or Founder of the Nation, who was haue most to called Laches or Leches, whereunto is addo in warre & peace. The Poloni ded Po, which fignifieth People, and fo is made Polaches, that is, the People or Posterity of Laches: which the Latines (after their ans called Laches by the Ruffe, and the manner of writing) call Polanos. The third reason why. are the Swedens. The Polonians and Swedens are better knowne to these parts of Europe, then are the Tartars, that are farther off from vs (as beeing of Asia) and divided into many Tribes, different both in name and government one from ano-The greatest and mightiest of them is the Chrim Tartar, (whom some call the Great Cham) that Iveth South, & Southeastward from Russia, and doth most annoy the Country by often inuations, comonly once every yeare, fometime entering very farre within the inland parts. In the yeare 1571 he came as far as the Cittie of Mosko, with an Army of two hundred thousand men, without any battaile,

or resistance at all, for that the Russe Emperor (then Iuan Vafilowich) leading forth

his Army to encounter with him march-of very purpole, as not daring to aduenture the Fielde, by reason that he doubted his Nobility and cheefe Captaines. of a meaning to betray him to the Tar-The Cittie hee tooke not but fired the Subburbs, which by reason of the build- The fring of ings (which are al of Wood, without any Mosko by the Stone, Brick or Lime, saue certaine out-roomes) kindled so quickly, and went on yeare 1571. with fuch rage; as that it confumed the greatest part of the Citty, almost within the space of foure houres, being of thirty miles or more of compasse. Then might you have seene a lamentable spectacle: besides the huge and mighty slame of the Citty all on light fire, the people burning in their houses and streetes, but most of all of fuch as laboured to passe out of the gates, farthest from the enemy; where meeting together in a mightie throng, & fo prefling enery man to preuent another: wedged themselves so fast within A strange acthe gate and freetes neere vnto it, as that cident as cut three rankes walked one vpon the others was heard of. head the vopermost treading down those that were lower : fo that there perished at that time (as was faide) by the fire & the prease, the number of eight hudred thoufand people, or more. The Chrim thus having fired the City, and fed his eyes with the fight of it all on The Chrim a light flame; returned with his Army, and faluration to the Emperor. fent to the Ruffe Emperor a Knife (as was faid) to flick himfelfe withall : vpbraiding this loffe, and his desperate case, as not daring cyther to meete his enemy in the fielde, nor to trust his friends nor subjects at home. The principall cause of this continual quarrell betwixt the Ruffe and The quarrell the Chrim, is for the right of certaine bor Ruffe and der parts, claimed by the Tartar, but pof- Tartar. fessed by the Russe. The Tartar alleadgeth, that besides Astracan, & Cazan (that are the ancient possession of the East Tartar) the whole Country from his bounds

North and Westward, so farre as the Ci-feeding the Chrims Horse (him-selfe ty of Mosko, and Mosko it selfe, pertaineth to his right. Which feemeth to haue bin true, by the report of the Ruffes them-felues, that tell of a certaine homage, that was done by the Ruffe Emperour (euery Tattar, and in yeare) to the Great Chrim or Cham, the Ruffe Emperour standing on foote, and

Their paffage

of Moscouia or Russia.

fitting on his back) with O ites out of his owne Cap, instead of a Boule or Maunger, and that within the Castle of Mosko. And this homage (they fay) was done till the time of Bafileus, grandfather to this man. Who furprizing the Chrim Empe-Th: homage rour by a stratagem, done by one of his Nobility (called Iuan Demetrowich Belfchey) was content with this ranfome, viz. with the changing of this homage into a tribute of Furres: which afterwards also was denied to be paide by this Emperors are very pregnant, and ready witted to de-

Hereupon they continue the quarrell, their better aduantage. As in their war the Ruffe defending his Country, & that against Beala the fourth, King of Hungary, which he hath won, the Chrim Tartar inwhom they inuaded with fine hundred uading him once or twice every yeare, sometime about Whitsontide, but oftner in Haruest. What time, if the great having flaine his Chancellor, called Ni-Cham or Chrim come in his owne person, hee bringeth with him a great Army of an hundred thousand, or two hundred thousand men. Otherwise, they make Short and Sudden roads into the Country with leffer numbers, running about the list of the border, as wilde Geese flie, inuading and retiring where they fee aduan-

Their common practife (beeing very The manner populous) is to make divers Armies, and fo drawing the Ruffe to one or two places of the Frontiers, to inuade at some other place, that is left without defence. Their manner of fight, or ordering of their Forces, is much after the Ruffe manner (fpoken of before) saue that they are all horsemen, and carry nothing elfe but a Bowe, a sheafe of Arrowes, & a faulchon sword after the Turkish fashion. They are very expert horsemen, and vse to shoote as readily backward, as forward. Some will haue a horsemans staffe like vnto a boare speare, besides their other weapons. The common Soldiour hath no other armour then his ordinary apparell, viz. a blacke sheepes skinne, with the wooll fide ourward in the day time, and inward in the night time, with a cap of the same. But their Morseys or Noblemen imitate the Turke both in apparell and armor. When they are to passe ouer a Riner with their Army, they tye three or foure horses together, and taking long Poles or pieces of wood, binde them fast to the tayles of their hories : fo fitting on the Poles they

(when they come to joyne battaile) they are accounted farrebetter men then the Russe people, fierce by nature, but more hardy and bloudy by continuall practife of warre: as men knowing no parts of peace, nor any civill practife.

Yet their fubtilty is more then may feeme to agree with their barbarous condition. By reason they are practised to inuade continually, and to robbe their neighbours that border about them; they uise stratageins (vponthe sudden) for a great victory. Where (among other)

The Tarrers war against Beala King of thousand men, and obtained against him Hungary, and their cunning cholas Schinick; they found about him the Kingspriny Seale. Whereupon, they deuised presently to counterfeit Letters in the Kings Name, to the Citties and Townes next about the place, where the field was fought; with charge, that in no case they should convey themselves and their goods out of their dwellings, where they might abide fafely without all feare of danger, and not leave the Country defolate, to the possession of so vile and barbarous an enemy, as was the Tartar Nation, tearming themselues in all reprochfull manner.

For, notwithstanding he had lost his carriages, with some few straglers that had marched diforderly; yet hee doubted not but to recover that loffe, with the accesse of a notable victory, if the fauage All policies in Tartar durst abide him in the field. To watte are by this purpose, having written their letters them account in the Polish Charactes, by certaine young men whom they tooke in the fielde, and figned them with the Kings Seale; they dispatched them foorth to all the quarters of Hungary, that lay neare about the place. Whereupon the Hungarians, that were now flying away with their goods, wines, and children, vppon the rumour of the kings ouerthrow taking comfort by thefe counterfeit Letters; staied at home. And fo were made a prey, being furprized on the fudden by the huge number of thefe Tartars, that had compassed them about before they were aware. When they befiege a Towne or Fort, Befiedging of drine their horse ouer. At handy-strokes they offer much Parley, and send many Towners flattering

The Chrim Tartar, or the Great Cham.

together by

Of the Tar-

whom they

ftility, and cruelty. This they do vpon a rule they have, viz. That Iustice is to bee practised but towards their owne. They encounter not lightly, but they have fome ambush, whereunto (hauing once shewed themselues, and made some short conflict) they retire, as repulsed for feare, and so draw the enemy into it if they can. But the Ruffe being wel acquainted with their practife, is more wary of them. When they come a rouing with fome final number, they fet on horsebacke counterfeit shapes of men, that their number may sceme greater.

When they make any onfet, their manner is to make a great shoute, crying all out together, Olla Billa, Olla Billa, God help vs, God helpe vs. They contemne death fo much, as that they chuse rather to die, then to yeeld to their enemy, & are feene (when they are flaine) to bite the very weapon when they are past striking, or helping of themselues. Wherein appeareth, how diffrent the Tartar is in his defperate courage, from the Ruffe and Turke. For the Ruffe Souldior, if hee begin once to retire, putteth all his fafety in his speedy flight. And if once he be taken by his enemy, he neither defendeth himfelfe, nor intreateth for his life, as reckning straight to die. The Turke commonly, when hee is past hope of escaping, falleth to entretie, and casteth away his weapon, offereth both his hands, and holdeth them vp, as it were to be tied: hoping to faue his life, by offering himfelfe bondflane. The cheefe booty the Tartars feeke for in all their wars, is to get store of captines, specially yong boies and girles, who they fell vnto the Turkes, or other their neighbours. To this purpose they take with them great Baskets, made like Bakers Panniers, to carry them tenderly, and if any of them happen to tier, or to be fick on the way, they dash him against the ground, or some tree, and so leave him dead. The Soldiours are not troubled with keeping the Captiues, and the other bootic, for hindering the execution of their wars; but they have certaine bands that intend nothing elfe, appointed of purpose to receive and keepe the Cap-

tines and the other prey.

The Ruffe borders (being vsed to their inuafions lightly euery yeare in the Summcr) keepe few other Cattell on the border parts, faue Swine onely, which the religion lee Tartar wil not touch, nor drive away with him: for that he is of the Turkish religion, and will eate no Swines flesh. Of Christ our Sauior, they confesse as much as doth the Turk in his Alkaron, viz. That he came of the Angell Gabriel, & the Virgin Mary, that he was a great Prophet, & shall be the ludge of the world at the last day. In other matters likewise, they are much ordered after the manner and direction of the Turke: having felt the Turkish Forces, when hee wonne from them Azou, and Caffa, with fome other townes about the Euxine, or Blacke Sea, that were before tributaries to the Chrim Tartar. So that now the Emperor of the Chrims (for Choile of the the most part) is chosen some one of the Taitars Em Nobility, whom the Turke doth commend: whereby it is brought now to that paffe, that the Chrim Tartar giveth to the Turke the tenth part of the spoile, which he getteth in his wars against the Christi-

Heerein they differ from the Turkish Religion, for that they have certaine idoll puppers, made of filke, or like stuffe, of the kish Religion. fashion of a man, which they fasten to the doore of their walking houses, to bee as Ianusses or keepers of their house. And these Idols are made not by all, but by certaine religious women, which they have among them, for that and like vies. They haue besides, the image of their King or Great Cham, of an huge bignesse, which they erect at enery stage, when the Army marcheth: and this every one must bend and bow vnto as he paffeth by it, be hee Tartar, or stranger. They are much gi-uen to witchcraft, and eminous coniec-witchcraft. tures, vpon enery accident which they heare or fee.

In making of marriages, they have no regard of alliance or confanguinity. One- Making of ly with his Mother, Sifter, and Daughter, a man may not marry, and though hee take the woman into his house, and accompany with her; yet hee accounterh her not for his Wife, till he have a childe by her. Then he beginneth to take a dowry of her friends, of Horse, Sheep, Kine, &c. If the bee barren, after a certaine

Chap. 3.

Ine Tartar

heir autho-

time, he turneth her home agayne.

Voder the Emperour they have certayne Dukes, whom they call Marfeis, or Diusymirseis: that rule ouer a certayne number of tenne thousand, twenty thoufand, or forty thousand a peece, which they call Hoords. When the Emperour hath any vie of them to ferue in his wars, they are bound to come, and to bring with them their Souldiers to a certayne number, euery man with his two horses at the least, the one to ride on, the other to kill, when it commeth to his turne to haue his horse eaten. For their chiefe vit-The Tartars taile is horfe flesh, which they eate without bread, or any other thing with it. So that if a Tartar be taken by a Ruffe, he shal be fure lightly to finde a horse legge, or fome other part of him hanging at his faddle bowe.

> This iast yeare, when I was at the Mofco, came in one Kiriach Morfey, Nephew to the Emperour of the Chrims that now is (whose father was Emperour before) accompanied with 3, hundred Tartars, and his two wives, whereof one was his brothers widdow. Where being entertayned in very good fort (after the Russe manner) he had fent vnto his lodging for his welcome, to bee made ready for his fupper and his companies, two very large and fatte horses, ready flayed on a sledde. They preferre it before other flesh, because the meate is stronger (as they say) then beefe, mutton, and fuch like. And yet (which is maruell) though they ferue all as horsemen in the warres, and care all of horse slesh, there are brought yearely to the Mosco, to be exchanged for other commodities, thirty or fortie thousand present at a Tartars en-

Their vie of

Difference

They keepe also great heards of kine. and flockes of blacke sheepe, rather for the skinnes and milke (which they carrie with them in great bottles) then for the vie of the flesh, though sometimes they eate of it. Some vse they have of Rice, Figges, and other Fruites. They drinke milke or warme blood, and for the most part, carde them both together. They vse sometimes (as they doe trauell by the way) to let their horses blood in a veine, and to drink it warme, as it cometh from his body.

Tartar horses, which they commonly call

Townesthydo plant none, nor other

Of Moscouia or Russia.

flanding buildings, but have walking hou The Tarrars fes, which the Latines call Veii, built vpon | dwelling, walking, or rewheeles, like vnto a Shepheards cottage. moung hou-These they draw with them whither soe- les. uer they goe, driving their cattaile with them. And whe they come to their stage, or standing place, they plant their Carthouses very orderly in a ranke; and so do make the forme of the streetes, and of a large towne. And this is the manner of the Emperour himselse, who hath no other feate of his Empire, but an Agora, or towne of wood, that mooneth with him Towne of whither focuer he goeth. As for the fix- wood mouing ed and standing buildings vsed in other with the Em-Countries, they fay they are vnwholefome and vnpleafant.

They beginne to mooue their houses and cattaile in the Spring time, from the | The times of South part of their Countrey towardes remooning the North parts. And so driving on till they have grased all vp vnto the farthest part Northward, they returne backe agayne towardes their South Countrey (where they continue all the winter) by ten or twelue miles a stage : in the meane while, the graffe being fprung vp againe, to serue for their cattaile as they returne. From the border of the Shalcan towardes the Caspian Sea, vnto the Russe frontires, they have a goodly Countrey, specially on the South and South-east parts, but lost for lacke of tillage.

Of money they have no vie at all, and They have no therefore prefer Braffe and Steele before among them. other mettalls, especially bullate, which they vie for Swords, Kniues, and other necessaries. As for Golde and Silver, they neglect it of very purpole, (as they do all tillage of their ground) to be more free for their wandring kinde of life, and to keepe their Countrey leffe subiect to inualions, Which giveth them great aduantage against all their neighbours, euer inuading, and neuer being inuaded. Such as have taken vpon them to invade their Countrey (as of olde time Cyrus and Darius Hystaspis, on the East and Southeast fide) have done it with very ill successe. as we finde in the Stories written of those | Their pollicy times. For their manner is, when any will inuade them, to allure and draw them on, by flying and reculing (as if they were af-fraid) vntill they have drawne them some good way within their Countrey. Then, when they beginne to want vittaile and heir houses.

of their coun-

A fubtle rule among the Tartars.

> The Tartars contempt of

Of the Ruffe

Of the Turk ish Soldiour,

the Tartara.

The Politicke and iudiciall proceeding 9 Booke 864.

Laonicus Chalcocondylas.

where nothing is to bee had) to ftop vp the paffages, and enclose them with multitudes. By which stratagem (as wee reade in Laonicus Chalcocondylas in his Turkifh flory) they had well nigh furprized the great and hige Army of Tamberlaine; but that he retired with al speed he could, towards the River Tanais, or Don, not without great losse of his men, and carriages.

Pachymerius.

A ftory of a Tartarian Captaine.

Person and

complection of the Tartar

and their na

turall inclina

tion.

In the story of Pachymerius the Greeke (which hee wrote of the Emperours of Constantinople, from the beginning of the Reigne of Michael Palaologus, to the time of Andronieus the elder) I remember hee telleth (to the same purpose) of one Nogas, a Tartarian Captaine vnder Cazan, the Emperor of the E. ft Tartars (of who the Citty and Kingdome of Cazan may feeme to have taken the denomination) who refused a Present of Pearle & other Iewels, sent vnto him from Michael Palaologus: Asking (withall) for what vie they ferued, and whither they were good to keepe away fickneffe, death, or other miffortunes of this life, or no? So that it feemeth, they have ever (or long time) bene of that minde, to value things no further, then by the vic, and necessity for which they ferue.

For person and complection, they have broad and flat vifages, of a tanned colour into yellow and blacke, fierce and cruell lookes, thin haired vpon the vpper lip, and pit of the chin, light and nimble bodied, with short legges, as if they were made naturally for Horsemen whereto they practife themselues from their childhood, fildome going afoote about any bufineffe. Their speech is very sudden and loud, speaking as it were out of a deep hollow throate. When they fing, you would thinke a Cow lowed, or some great bandog howled. Their greatest exercise is Mooting, wherin they traine up their children from their very infancy, not fuffring them to eate, til they have thot neere the marke within a certaine scantling. They are the very fame, that (fometimes) were called * Scytha Nomades, or the Scythian Shepheards, both by the Greekes and La-

Some thinke, that the Turkes tooke their beginning from the Nation of the Chrim Tartars. Of which opinion is Lao-

other necessaries (as needes they must | nicus Chalcocondylas the Grecke Historiographer, in his first Booke of his Turkifh ftory. Wherein he followeth divers very probable coniectures.

The first, taken from the very name it felfe, for that the word Turke, fignifieth a The reason Shepheard, or one that followeth a vagrant and wilde kinde of life. By which his opinion of name these Scythian Tartars haue euer bin the Tartars. noted, being called by the Greeks, Skuthai Nomades, or the Scythian Shepheards.

His second reason, because the Turkes (in his time) that dwelt in Afia the leffe, to wit, in Lydia, Coria, Phrygia, and Cappadocia, fpake the very fame Language that these Tartars did, that dwelt betwixt the River Tanais or Don, and the Country of Sarmatia, which (as is well knowne) are these Tartars called Chrims. At this time also, the whole Nation of the Turks differ not much in their common speech from the Tartar Language.

Thirdly, because the Turke and the Chrim Tartar agree so well together, as well in Religion, as matter of Trafficke, neuer inuading, or iniurying one another: faue that the Turke (fince Laonicus his time) hath encroached vppon some Towns vpon the *Euxine Sea, that before *Apartofit pertained to the Chrim Tartar.

tained to the Chrim Tartar.

Sea, dividing Europe from Fourthly, because Orcogules sonne to Asia, Oguzalpes, and (Father to Ottoman, the first of name of the Turkish Nation) made his first rodes out of those partes of Asia, vpon the next borderers, til he cam towards the Countreyes about the Hill Taurus, where he ouercame the Greckes that inhabited there: and so enlarged the name and territory of the Turkish Nation till he came to Eubæa and Attica, and other parts of Greece. This is the opinion of Laonicus, who lived amongest the Turkes, in the time of Amurath, the fixte Turkish Emperor, about the year 1400. when the memory of their originall yvas more fresh:and therefore the likelyer hee was to hit the truth.

There are divers other Tartars that border vpon Russia, as the Nagaies, the Che- The Nagay remifens, the Mordwites, the Chircaffes, & Tattar, the the Shalcans, which all differ (in name, The Chirof more then in Regiment, or other condi- cethe ciuld tion) from the Chrim Tartar, except the Tattar. Chircasses, that border South-West, towards Lituania, and are farre more civill then the rest of the Tartars; of a comely

The Cheremifen Tartat very trouble fome and dan-

The Mord-

Chap.3.

The Cheremifen Tartars, that lye betwixt the Russe and the Nagay, are of two forts, the Lugauoy (that is of the Valley) and the Nagoruay, or of the hilly Country. These haue much troubled the Emperours of Russia. And therefore they are content now to buy peace of them, under pretence of giving a yearely pension of Ruffe commodities, to their Morfeis, or Dinoymorfeis, that are cheefe of their Tribes. For which also they are bound to ferue them in their wars, vnder certaine conditions. They are faide to be just and true in their dealings: and for that cause they hate the Russe people, whom they account to bee double, and false in all their dealings. And therefore the common fort are very vnwilling to keepe agreement with them, but that they are kept in by their Morfeis, or Dukes for their pensions fake.

plying themselues to the fashion of the Polonian. Some of them have subjected themselves vnto the Kings of Poland,

and professe Christianity. The Nagay

lyeth Eastward, and is reckoned for the best man of warre among all the Tursars,

but very fauage and cruell about all the

The most rude and barbarous is counted the Mordwite Tartar, that hath many selfe-fashions, and strange kindes of behauiour, differing from the rest. For his Religion, though hee acknowledge one God, yet his manner is to worshippe for God, that living thing, that hee first meeteth in the morning, and to sweare by it all that whole day, whether it be Horse, Dogge, Catte, or whatfoeuer else it bee. When his friend dieth, he killeth his best Horse, and having flayed off the skinne, he carrieth it on high vppon a long Pole, before the corpes to the place of buriall. This hee doth (as the Ruffe faith) that his friend may have a good Horse to carry him to Heauen: but it is likelier to declare his loue towards his dead friend, in that he will have to die with him the best thing that he hath.

Next to the Kingdome of Astracan, that is the farthest part Southeastward of the Ruffe Dominion, lyeth the Shalcans, and the Countrey of Media: whether the Ruffe Merchants trade for raw filkes, fyndon, faphion, skins, and other commodi-

person, and of a stately behauiour, as ap- | ties. The chiefe Townes of Media where the Ruffe tradeth, are Derbent (built by A lexander the great, as the Inhabitants fay). and Zamachio, where the staple is kept for rawe filkes. Their manner is (in the Spring) time) to reviue the filke-worms (that lye) Of reviving dead all the Winter) by laying them in the Silkethe warme Sun, and to haften their quick- wormer in ning, that they may fooner goe to worke) time. to put them into bags, and fo to hang the under their childrens armes. As for the Worme called Chrinisin (as wee call it Chrymfon) that maketh coloured filke, it is: bred not in Media, but in Affyria. This trade to Derbent & Zamachio for raw filks. and other commodities of that Country, as also into Persia, and Bougharia, downe the River Volgha, and through the Caspian Sea; is permitted aswell to the English, as to the Ruffe Merchants, by the Emperors last Graunt, as appeareth. Which he accounteth for a very special fauour, and might prooue indeed very beneficiall to all kinde of Merchants, if the trade were well and orderly vsed. The whole Nation of the Tartars, are etterly voide of all learning, & with have no learout written Law. Yet certaine rules ning or writthey have, which they hold by tradition, common to all the Hoords, for the practife of their life. Which are of this fort.

ten Law.

First, To obey their Emperour and other Magistrates, what soeuer they command a bout the publike service.

2. Except for the publike behoofe, enery Orders and man to be free, and out of controlement.

3. No prinate man to possesse any Lands, but the whole Country to be in common.

4. To neglect all daintinesse and variety of meates, and to content themselves with that which commeth next to hand, for more hardnesse, and readinesse in the executing of their affaires.

5. To weare any base attire, and to patch their cloathes, whether there be any neede or not: that when there is neede, it be no shame to weare a patcht Coate.

6. To take, or steale from any stranger what soeuer they can get, as being enemies to all men, faue to fuch as will subject them-Selues to them.

7. Towards their owne Hoord and Na. tion, to be true in word and deed.

8. To Suffer no stranger to come within the Realm. If any do, the same to be bond-slave to objeruations

• A people Scythia a bout Meotis

the Chirchaffe,.

North sea.

perour of Rusia.

The Permi-

The Samoites

faith) of eating himselfe: as if in times past, they lived as Cannibals, eating one an other. Which they make more probable, Indigenz or beggers.

The Samoite religion.

Slata Baba o the golden Hagge

The Obdo.

chants, and other as have the Tartar Bull, or Pastport about them. The Permians and Samoites, that do lie from Rusia, North and Northeast, are thought likewise to have taken their beginning from the Tartar kinde. And it may partly be ghessed by the fashion of their countenance, as having all broade and flat faces, as the Tartars have, except

The Permans are accounted for a very ancient people. They are now subject to the Rulle. They live by hunting, and trading with their furres, as doth also the ofrawe flesh, whatsoeuer it be, euen the very cartion that lyeth in the ditch. But as the Samoites themselues will say, they were called Samoie, that is of themselves,

as though they were Indigena, or poore

people bred vpon that very foile, that ne-

uer changed their feate from one place to another, as most Nations have doone.

They are subject, at this time, to the Em-

I talked with certaine of them, & finde

ba, or the Golden hagge, (which I have read

in some Maps and Descriptions of these countries, to be an Idole, after the forme

of an old woman) that being demaunded

by the Priest, gives them certaine oracles,

concerning the successe, and event of things; I found it to be but a very Fable.

Onely in the Prouince of Obdaria, vppon

the Sea fide, neare to the mouth of the great river Obda, there is a Rocke, which naturally (beeing fornewhat helped by imagination) may feeme to beare the shape of a ragged woman, with a childe

in her armes (as the Rocke by the North

Cape the (hape of a Fryer) where the Ob-

dorian Samoites vie much to refore, by reafon of the commoditie of the place for fishing: and there sometime(as their ma-stocks of the same, both men and women. They are all black haired naturally beardleffe. Therefore the men are hardly difcerned from the women by their lookes, Samoyt, that dwellesh more towards the rouing still from one place of the country to another, without any property of house or land, more to one then to an other. The Samoyt hath his name (as the Ruffe Their leader or directer in enery company is their Papa or Prieft. because (at this time) they eate all kinde North-cape) to the farthest part Southeast (which the Russe calleth Sweetnesse or Holy note, the Englishmen Capegrace) about 345. verst or miles. From Sweetnelle to Candelox by the way of Verlega (which measureth the breadth of that countrey)is 90 miles, or thereabouts. The whole Countrey (in a manner) is eviler Lakes or Mountains, which towards the Sea fide are called Tondro, because they that they acknowledge one God; but represent him by such things as they have are all of hard and craggy rocke, but the in-land parces are well furnished with most vie and good by. Therefore they do worship, the Sunne, the Ollen, the Losh, woods growing upon the hilles fides, the and fuch like. As for the storie of Slata Ba-

that is , the Noruegian Lappes : because

ner is) conceine and practife their forceries, and ominous coniecturings, about the good or the bad speede of their iourneys, fishings, huntings, and other such

They are clad in Seale skins, with the hairie fide outwards downe, as low as the habite and knees, with their breeches and neather- behauiour. lave that the women weare a locke of haire downe along both their eares. They live (in a maner) a wilde and a fauage life,

On the North fide of Ruffia next vnto The Lappet, Corelia, lyeth the Countrey of Lappia, which reacheth in length from the farthest point Northward, (towardes the Lakes lying betweene. Their dyet is very bare and funple. Bread they have none, and feeding. but feed onely your fifth and fowle. They are subject to the Emperour of Russia,

and the two Kings of Sweden and Den-

marke: which all exact tribute & custome

of them (as was faid before:)but the Em-

perour of Russia beareth the greatest hand

ouer them, and exact of them farre more then the rest. The opinion is, that they were first tearmed Lappes, of their briefe

they be of the Danish Religion. For the Danes & Noruegians they account for one people. The other that have no Religion at all but live as brute and Heathenish and fhort speach. The Ruffe divideth the whole nation of the Lappes into two forts. The one they call Nowremanskoy Lapary, the Lapper Of Moscouia or Russia.

people, without God in the world, they call Dikoy Lopary, or the wilde Lappes.

The whole Nation is veterly vulearned, hauing not fo much as the vie of any The Lappes Alphabet, or Letter among them. For ruide of all practife of witchcraft and forcery, they Learning. passe all Nations in the world. Though for the inchanting of Ships that fayle along their Coast (as I have heard it reported) and their giuing of windes, good The Lappes

gue or fell no

Their Wea-

to their friends, and contrary vnto other, whom they meane to hurt by tying of certaine knots vpon a Rope (some-what like to the tale of Æolus his winde-bag) is a very fable, deuised (as may seeme) by themselues, to terrifie saylers for comming neare their Coast. Their Weapons are the long Bow, and hand-gunne, wherein they excell, aswell for quicknesse to charge and discharge; as for nearnesse at the marke, by reason of their continual practife (whereto they are forced) of shooting at wilde Fowle.

Their manner is (in Summer time) to come downe in great companies to the fea fide, to Wardhuyfe, Cola, Kegor, & the bay of Vedagoba, and there to fish for Cod, Salmon, and But-fish, which they fell to the Ruffes, Danes, and Norgenians, and now of late to the English men, that trade thither with cloth, which they exchange with the Lappes and Corelians for their Fish, Oyle, & Furs, whereof also they haue some store. They hold their Mart at Cola on S. Peters day: what time the Cap-

for the king of Denmark) must be present,

their stockfish, traine oile, furs, and other commodities: as also the Russe Emperors

Customer, or tribute taker, to receive his custome, which is euer payed before any manner is, to draw their Carbaffes, or

Boates on shore, and there to leave them with the keele turned vpwards, till the next spring tide. Their trauaile too and fro, is vpon fleds, drawne by the Ollen

Deere : which they vie to turne a grazing

all the Summer time, in an Island called Kilden (of a very good foyle, compared with other parts of that Country) and towards the Winter time, when the Snow

beginneth to fall, they fetch them home

againe for the vie of their fledde.

When their fishing is done, their thing can be bought or folde.

The Lappes Mart on S.Pe-

CHAP. IIII.

Fourthly, concerning Ecclesiasticall Offices and Orders; The Rites and Sacraments observed in the Moscoulan Church: with their Marriages and other Ceremontes be-

Oncerning the gouernment of their Church, it is framed altogether after the manner of the Greeks, as being a part of that Church, and neuer acknowledging the iurildiction of the Latine Church, vsurped by the Pope. That I may keepe the better measure in describing their Ceremonies, then they in the viing the (wherein they are infinite) I will note briefly.

First, what Ecclefiasticall degrees, or Offices they have, with the jurifdiction & practife of them.

Secondly, what doctrine they holde in matter of Religion.

Thirdly, what Leiturgy, or forme of feruice they vse in their Churches, with the manner of their administring the Sacraments. Fourthly, what other flrange Cere-taine of wardhuyfe (that is refiant there monies, and superstitious denotions are vsed among them. or at least fend his deputy, to set prices on

Their Offices, or degrees of Churchmen, are as many in number, and the fame in a manner (both in name and degree) Officers. that were in the Westerne Churches. First they have their Patriarch, then their Metropolites, their Archbishops, their Vladikey or Bishops, their Protopapes or Arch-Priests, their Papes or Priests, their Deacons, Fryars, Monks, Nuns, and Eremites.

The Church

Their Patriarch, or chiefe directer in matter of religion vntill this laft year, was of the Citty of Constanstinople (whom they called the Patriarch of Sio) because, being driven by the Turke out of Constanstinople (the seat of his Empire) he remoued to the Isle Sio, fomtimes called Chio.

and there placed his Patriarchall Sea. So that the Emperors & Cleargy of Russia, were wont yearely to fend guifts thither, and to acknowledge a spirituall kinde of homage, and subjection due to him, and to that Church. Which custome they haue held (as it feemeth) euer fince they professed the Christian religion. Which how long it hath bene, I coulde not well learne, for that they have no story or mo-nument of Antiquity (that I could heare of) to shew what hath bene done in times past within their Countrey, concerning either Church or Commonwealth mat-

Ecce 2

Onely I heard a report amongst them, that about three hundred yeares fince, there was a marriage betwirt the Emperour of Constantinople, & thekings daugh ter of that Country: who (at the first) denied to ioyne his danghter in marriage with the Greek Emperor, because he was of the Christian Religion. Which agreeeth well with that which I find in the ftory of Laonicus Chalcacondylas, concerning Turkish affaires in his fourth book:where he speaketh of such a marriage, betwixt John the Greeke Emperor, and the Kings daughter of Sarmatia.

And this argueth (out of their own re-port) thar at that time, they had not receyued the Christian Religion: As also, that they were converted to the faith, and withall peruerted at the very same time, receyuing the doctrine of the Gospel corrupted with superstitions even at the very first, when they tooke it from the Greek Church, which it selfe then was degenerate, and corrupted with many superstitions and fowle errors, both in Doctrine & Discipline: as may appeare by the Storie of Nicephorus Gregorus, in his eight and ninth bookes.

But, as touching the time of their conuersion to the Christian faith, I suppose rather, that it is mistaken by the Russe sfor that which I find in the Polonian story, the fecond Booke, the third chapter: where is fayde, that about the yeare 990. Vlodomi. rus Duke of Russia, married one Anne, sifter to Basilius and Constantinus brothers, and Emperors of Constantinople. Whereupon the Russe receyued the Fayth and profession of Christ. Which, though it be somwhat more ancient then the time noted before out of the Ruffereport; yet it falleth out al to one reckning, touching this point, viz: in what truth and fincerity of doctrine the Ruffe receyued the first stamp of religion: forasmuch as the Greek church(at that time also) was many waies infected with error and superstition.

In the yeare 1588.came vnto the Mofko the Patriarch of Constantinople, or Sio, called Hieronomo, being banished (as som from Confi fayd)by the Turke, as some other reported, by the Greeke Clergy depriued. The Emperour being ginen altogether to fuperstitious deuotions, gaue him great entertainment. Before his comming vnto Miosko, he had bin in Italy with the Pope, as was reported there by fom of his company. His errand was, to confult with the Emperor, concerning these points.

First, about a league to passe between him and the King of Spaine, as the meetest Prince to ioyne with him in opposition against the Turke. To which purpose alfo Ambaffages had paffed betwixt the Russe and the Persian. Likewise from the Ambassage Georgians to the Emperour of Ruffia, to Ruffe & Perioyne league together, for the invading fian, of the Turke on al fides of his dominion: taking the advantage of the simple quality of the Turk that then was. This treatie was helped forward by the Emperours Ambassador of Almaigne, sent at the same time to folicite an inuation on the partes of Polonia, that lye towards Rusland, and to borrow money of the Ruffe Emperor, to pursue the warre for his brother Maximillian against the Swedens son, then King of Poland.

But this confultation concerning a league betwixt the Russe & the Spaniard (which was then in fome forwardnesse, and already one apointed for Ambassage into Spaine) was defeated, by meanes of the ouerthrow given to the Spanish king by her Maiesty, the Queen of Englad the last yeare before. Which made the Russe Emperor and his Counfell, to give the fadder countenance to the English Ambaffador there at that time: for that they were disappointed of so good a policy, as was this coniunction, supposed to be betwixt them and the Spanish.

His second purpose (whereto the first ferued as an introduction) was, in reuege The fecond of the Turke and the Greeke Cleargye, intention. that hadde thrust him from his seate, to treate with him about the reducing of the Russe church vnder the Pope of Rome. Wherein it may feeme, that comming lately from Rome, hee was fet vppon by triarchall Sca

The third in

Chap.4.

The Ruffe daughter to the Greeke

Resfons y eel

ded by the

Cunning in the Patriarch

The Patri. erchfhip of Constantino ple translated many times before, though all in vaine: and namely in the time of the late Emperor I san Vasilowich, by one Anthony his Legate. But thought this (belike) a far better meane to obtaine his purpose, by treaty and mediation of their owne Patriarch. But this not fucceeding, the Patriarch fell to a third point of treaty, concerning the refignation of his Patriarchthip, and translation of the Sea from Con-Stantinople, or Sio, to the Citty of Mosko. Which was fo well liked, and entertained by the Emperor (as a matter of high religion and pollicy) that no other treaty (specially of forraign Ambaffages) could be heard or regarded, till that matter was concluded.

The reasons wherewith the Patriarch perswaded the translating of his Sea to the Citty of Mosko, were thefe in effect.

First, for that the Sea of the Patriarch was under the Turke, that is enemy to the faith. And therefore to be removed into some other Country of Christian profesfion.

Secondly, because the Russe Church was the onely naturall Daughter of the Greek at this time, and holdeth the same Doctrine and Ceremonies with it: the rest being all subject to the Turke, and fallen away fro the right profession. Wherein the subtill Greeke (to make the better market of his broken ware) advanced the honour that would grow to the Emperour, and his Country: to have the Patriarchs seate, translated into the chiefe City, and seate of his Empire. As for the right of translating the Sea, and appointing his fuccessour; hee made no doubt of it, but that it pertained wholly voto him-

So the Emperour and his Counfell, with the principall of his Cleargy, being affembled at the Mosko, it was determined, that the Metropolite of Mosko, shold become Patriarch of the whole Greeke Church, and have the fame full authority and jurisdiction, that pertained before to the Patriarch of Constantinople, or Sio. And that it might be done with more order and folemnity, the 25. of Ianuary, 1588 the Greeke Patriarch, accompanied with the Ruffe Cleargy, went vnto the great Church of Prechefte, or our Lady, within the Emperors Castle (hauing first the Pope, who hath attempted the fame I wandred through the whole City in manner of a procession, and blessing the people with his two fingers) where he made an Oration, and delivered his refignation in an instrument of writing, and so layde downe his Patriarchiall faffe. Which was presently received by the Metropolite of Mosko, & divers other ceremonies vsed about the inauguration of this new Patriarch.

The day was holden very folemne by the people of the City, who were com- Holliday in manded to forbeare their works, and to Mosko. attend this folemnity. The great Patriarchthat day was honored with rich prefents sent him from the Emperor & Empresse, of Plate, Cloth of Gold, Furs, &c. carried with great pompe through the freetes of Mosko, and (at his departing) received many gifts more, both from the Emperor, Nobility, and Cleargy. Thus the Patriarchship of Constantinople, or Sio, (which hath continued fince the Counsell of Nice) is now translated vnto Mosko, or they made beleene, that they Aneaficmat haue a Patriarch, with the same right and authority that the other had. Wherin the same right and same authority that the other had. fubtle Greeke hath made good aduantage of their superstition, & is now gone away with a rich booty into Poland, whither their Patriarchthip be current or not.

The matter is not valike to make some Schisme betwixt the Greeke and Russe Church, if the Russe hold this Patriarchship that he hath so well payed for, & the Greekes elect another withall, as likely they wil, whither this man were banished by the Turke, or depriued by order of his owne Cleargy. Which might happen to giue aduantage to the Pope, & to bring ouer the Ruffe Church to the Sea of Rome (to which ende peraduenture hee deuised this stratagem, and cast in this matter of Schisme among them) but that the Emperors of Russia knew well enough, (by the example of other Christian Princes) what inconvenience would grow to their State and Country, by subjecting themfelues to the Romish Sea. To which ende, the late Emperor Juan Vafilowich was ve ry inquisitiue, of the Popes authority ouer the Princes of Christendome, and sent one of very purpose to Rome, to behold the order and behaviour of his Court. With this Patriarch Hieronimo was driven out (at the same time by the great

The Polonian history.

A folemne

agc.

great marri.

the Metropolite of Nonograde.

Crofiers staffe in their hands, layed ouer

Crosse or Shepheards crook at the upper

downe their backs, and standeth out like

(which they call Reis) is a gowne or Mantle of blacke Damaske, with many lifts or gardes of white Sattin laid vpon it, cuery

gard about two fingers broad, and theyr

Crossers staffe carried before them. Thesclues followe after, bleffing the people

with their two forefingers, with a marue-

The election, and appointing of the Byshops and the rest, pertaineth wholly to the Emperor himselfe. They are chofen euer out of the Monasteries : fo that there is no Byshop, Archbyshoppe, nor Metropolite, but hath bene a Monke; or Fryer before. And (by that reason) they are, and must all bee vnmarried men, for their vow of Chastity, when they wer first thorne. When the Emperour hath appointed whom he thinkerh good, hee is

Demetrio Archbithop of Larifla ex cluded with the Patriarch

Reasons of

good & gre

stances. First, because there is no such affection, nor friendly respect, betwirt the Pope and the Turke; as that he should banish a subject, for not obeying the Popes

ded the same cause of their banishment

by the Turke (to wit) their not admitting of the Popes new Kalender, for the alteration of the yeare. Which, how vnlikely it is, may appeare by thefe circum-

ordinance, specially in a matter of some fequell, for the alteration of times within his owne Countries. Secondly, for that he maketh no fuch scruple in deducting of times, and keeping of a just and precise account from the incarnation of Christ: whom hee doth not acknowledge, otherwise then as I noted before.

Thirdly, for that the faide Patriarch is now at Naples in Italy, whither (it may be gueffed) he would not have gone within the Popes reach, and fo neare to his nofe, if he had been ebanished, for opposing himselfe against the Popes Decree.

This Office of Patriarchship now tra-

The Patriarks Iurifdiction.

flated to Mosko, beareth a superior authority ouer all the Churches, not onely of Russia, and other the Emperors dominions; but throughout all the Churches of Christendome, that were before vnder the Patriarch of Constantinople, or Sio: or at least, the Russe Patriarch imagineth himselse to have the same authority. He hath under him (as his proper Diocesse) the Province of Mosko, besides other peculiars. His Court or Office is kept

The Metropolites.

at the Mosko.

Before the creation of this new Patriarch, they had but one Metropolite, that was called the Metropolite of Mosko. Now for more state to their Church, and new Patriarch; they have two Metropolites, the one of Nouogrod velica, the other of Rostone. Their Office is to receipe of the Patriarch fuch Ecclefiasticall Orders, as he thinks good, & to deliner the charge of the ouer to the Archbishops: besides

Archbishops,

the ordering of their owne Diocesse. Their Archbishops are foure: of Smolensko, Cazan, Vobsko, and Vologda. The parts of their Office is all one with the Metropolits: faue that they have an vnder iurisdiction, as Suffraganes to the Metro-polites, and superiors to the Bishoppes. Turke) one Demetrio, Archbishop of La-The next are the Vladikeis, or Bishops, Bishops, resta : who went into England, and preten-that are but fixe in all: of Crutitska, of Rezan, of Otfer, and Torsbock, of Collo. menska, of Volodemer, of Sufdalla. These haue euery one a very large Diocesse: as dividing the rest of the whole Country amone them.

The matters pertaining to the Ecclesiafficall iurifdiction, of the Metropolites, | Eccletiatical Iurifdiction, Archbishops, and Bishops, are the same (in a manner) that are vied by the Cleargie in other parts of Christendome. For, besides their authority over the Cleargy, and ordering fuch matters as are meere Ecclefiatticall; their jurifdiction extendeth to all testamentary causes, matters of marriage, and divorcements, fome pleas of injuries, &c.

Officials, or Commissaries (which they Their Gencall Boiaren Vladitskey) that are Lay-men tlemen, Commissiones. of the degree of Dukes, or Gentlemen, that keepe their Courts, and execute their iurifdiction. Which besides their other oppressions over the common people, raigne ouer the Priefts : as the Dukes and Priefts, Diacks do ouer the poore people, with-

To which purpose also they have their

in their Precincts. As for the Archbifhoppe or Bifhop himselfe, he beareth no sway in deciding those causes, that are brought into his Court. But if hee would moderate any matter, he must do it by entreaty with his Gentleman Officiall. The reason is, because these Boiarskey, or Gentlemen offici- The Empeals, are not appointed by the Bishops, but eth the Gen by the Emperour himselfe, or his Coun-fell, and are to give account of their do-the Arch Biings to none but to them. If the Bishop stop, can entreat (at his admiffion) to have the choife of his owne Officiall, it is accounted for a speciall great fauour. But to speake it as it is, the Cleargy of Russia, as well concerning their lands and reuennues, as their authority and inrifdiction; are altogether ordered and over-ruled by the Emperor, and his Counfell, and have fo much, and no more of both as their pleasure doth permit them.

They have also their affiftants or fene Asistance rall Counfels (as they call them) of cers ingent all countries of cers in an all countries of cers in a certain certai taine Priests that are of their Dioces, reûding within their Cathedrall cities, to the number of foure & twenty apiece. Thefe aduife with them, about the theciall and their Clergie

9 Booke

Their vpper

The election

end of it.

lous grace.

Chap.4.

Ecclefiafticall

Their ordina

inuested in the Cathedrall Church of his Diocesse, with many ceremonies, much after the manner of the Popish inauguration. They have also their Deanes, and their Arch-deacons. The learning and exercise

f the Ruffe Cleargy.

As for preaching the word of God, or any teaching or exhorting such as are vn-

necessary matters belonging vnto theyr | der them; they neither vseit, nor haue any skill of it: the whole Cleargie beging Concerning their rents and revennews veterly volearned, both for other know-

The Church

to maintaine their dignities, it is somwhat ledge, and in the worde of God. Onely large. The Patriarches yearely rents out their manner is twice every yeare, viz: the The first day of his lands (besides other fees) is about first of September (which is the first day of the yeare, three thousand Rubbels or Markes. The of their yeare) and on S. John Baptifts day Metropolites and Archbyshops, about to make an ordinary speech to the peotwo thousand and fine hundred. The Byple, euery Metropolite, Archbyshop and shops some a thousand, some eight hun-Bythop in his Cathedrall Church, to this dred, some fine hundred, &c. They have or the like effect. had some of them (as I have heard fay)ten

That if any be in malice toward his neigh or twelue thousand rubbles a year; as had bour, he shall leave off his malice: If any have thought of treason or rebellion against his Their habite or apparrell (when they shew themselues in their Pontificalibus, Prince, he beware of such practife: If he have not kept his fasts and Vowes, nor doone his after their folemnest manner) is a Miter other duties to the holy church he shal amend on their heads, after the Popish fashion, that fault dec.

with Pearle and precious stone, a Cope And this is a matter of forme with the on their backes, commonly of Cloth of vttered in as many words, and no more Gold, embroidered with Pearle, and a (in a manner) then I have here fet down. Yet the matter is done with that grace & all with plate of filuer double gilt, with a folemnity, in a pulpit of purpose set vppe for this one Act; as if he wer to discourse at large of the whole substance of divinity. At the Mosko, the Emperour himfelfe is euer present at this solemne exhortati-

Their ordinary habit otherwife, when they ride or go abroad, is a hood on their heads of blacke colour, that hangeth As themselues are voyde of all manner a Bongrace before. Their vpper garment of learning, fo they are warie to keepe out | The Prieftes all means that might bring any in : as fea- fearfull to haue their igring to have their ignorance and vngodnorance dif-

linefle discouered. To that purposethey couered. haue perswaded the Emperours, that it would breed innouation, and fo damager to their State, to have any novelty of lerto their State, to have any nouelty of ier-ning come within the Realme. Wherein hardly live vn they fay but truth, for that a man of fpirit der tyranny. and understanding, holpen by Learning and liberall education, can hardly endure

a tyrannicall gouernment. Some yeares paft, in the other Empe-Some yeares path in the other Emperors time) there came a Presse & Letters house erected out of Polonia, to the City of Mosko, wher in Mosko.

a Printing-house was set vp, with great liking and allowance of the Emperour himself. But not long after, the house was fet on fire in the night time, & the Preffe and Letters quite burnt vp, and (as it was thoght) by the procurement of the Cler-

Their Priests, whome they call Papaes) are made by the Byshoppes, without any great triall for worthineffe of gifts, before they admit them, or ceremonies in theyr rit or worthi admillion: faue that their heads are fhorn nefle, and the

Prieftes not

made for me-

Chap. 4.

(not shauen, for that they like not) about an hand bredth or more in the Crowne, and that place annointed with Oyle by the Bythop: who in his admission putterh vpon the Priest, first his Surplesse; and then fetteth a white croffe on his breft of filke, or some other matter, which hee is to weare eight dayes, and no more: and fo giveth him authority to fay and fing in the Church, and to administer the Sacra-

They are men veterly volearned, which is no maruell; for a fouch as their makers, the Byshoppes themselues (as before was fayde) are cleere of that quality, & make no farther vie at all of any kinde of Learning, no not of the Scriptures themselus, faue to reade and to fing them. Their ordinary charge end function, is to fay the Liturgie, to administer the Sacraments after their manner, to keep & decke their Idols, and to doe the other Ceremonies vsuall in their Churches . Their number is great, because theyr Townes are parted into many small Parithes, without any discretion, for deuiding them into competent numbers of housholds, and people for a just Congregation: as the manner in all places where the meanes is neglected, for increasing of knowledge, and instruction towardes God . Which cannot well be had, where by meanes of an vnequall partition of the people, and parishes there followeth a want and vnequality of stipend, for a sufficient Mini-ry for the first time. But if the first Wife dye, a second he cannot take, but he must lose his Priesthood, and his living withal. The reason, they make out of that place of Saint Paul to Timothy, 1.3.2. not well viderstood, thinking that to bee spoken of divers wives fuccessively, that the Apostle speaketh of at one and the same time. If he will needes marry againe after his first Wife is dead, hee is no longer called Papa, but Rospapa, or Priest Quondam. This maketh the Priests to make much of their Wines, who are accounted as the Matrones, and of best reputation, among the Women of the

For the stipend of the Priest, their manner is not to pay him any tenths of corne, or ought elfe: but hee must stand at the denotion of the people of his owne Parish, and make vp the Incomes towards his maintenance, fo well as he can, by offerings, shrifts, marriages, burials, dirges, and prayers for the dead and the living (which they call Molitua.) For besides their publike service within their Churches, their manner is, for every private Prayers foreman to have a prayer faide for him by the Priest, vppon any occasion of businesse whatfoeuer, whether he ride, goe, fayle, plough, or whatfoeuer elfe hee doeth. Which is not framed according to the occasion of his businesse, but at random, being some of their ordinary and vsuall Church prayers. And this is thought to bemore holy and effectuall, if it be repeated by the Priests mouth, rather then

They have a custome besides to solem-nize the Saints day, that is Patron to their of the Chur. Church once euery yeare. What time ches. all their neighbours of their Country. & parishes about, come into haue prayers faide to that Saint, for themselves, and their friends: and so make an Offering to the Priest for his paines.

This Offering may yeeld them some ten pounds a yeare, more or lesse, as the Patron or Saint of that Church is of credite and estimation among them. The manner is on this day (which they keepe anniuersary for the Priest) to hyre divers of his neighbour-Priestes to helpe him : The mannet ashauing more Dishes to dresse for the Saint, then hee can well turne his hand Anniueriant. For their Priests, it is lawfull to mar-

They vse besides to visite their parishioners houses, with holy Water, and Perfume, commonly once a quarter: and fo having sprinkled and besensed the goodman and his Wife, with the rest of their houshold and houshold-stuffe, they receyue some denotion (more or lesse) as the man is of ability. This and the reft laid maintenance together, may make up for the Priest towards his maintenance, about thirtie or fourty Rubbels a yeere : whereof he payeth the tenth part to the Byshoppe of the

The Papa or Priest is knowne by his long tufts of hayre, hanging down by his The Priefts eares, his gowne with a broad Cape, and he is knowne a walking staffe in his hand. For the rest of his habite, he is apparrelled like to the common fort. When he faith the Litur-on him his Surplesse, and sometimes his Cope, if the day be more folemne. They haue besides their Papaes or priests, theyr Black Priests for keeping Churnapapaes (as they call them) that is, f Benefices. Blacke Priests; that may keepe their benefices, though they bee admitted Friars withall within some Monasterie. They feeme to be the very fame, that were called Regular Priests in the Popish church. Vnder the Priest, is a Deacon in euerie Cathedrall Churches.

riers an infinitecompany in the Coun try,and as many fuper - flitions.

Fryars liue

fateft from oppression &

taxation im-

poicd on the Commons.

Deacon or

otopapaes.

farre greater then in any other Country, where Popery is professed. Euery Citie, and good part of the Country, swarmeth full of them. For they have wrought (as the Popish Fryars did by their superstition and hypocrifie) that if any part of the Realme be better and sweeter then other; there standeth a Friery or a Monasterie, dedicated to some Saint. The number of them is so much the greater, not onely for that it is augmented by the superstition of the country; but

Church, that doth nothing but the office of a Parish Clearke. As for their Protopapaes, or Arch-priests, and their Archdeacons(that are next in election to bee their Protopapaes) they ferue onely in the

Of Fryars they have an infinite rabble, because the Fryars life is the safest from the oppressions and exactions which fall vpon the Commons. Which causeth many to put on the Friers weede, as the best Armour to beare off such blowes. Befides fuch as are voluntary, there are divers that are forced to sheare theselves Fryers, vppon some displeasure. These are for the most part of the cheefe Nobi-Divers take the Monasteries as a place of Sanctuary, and there become Fryers. to auoid fome punishment, that they had deserned by the lawes of the realme. For The Monaif he get a Monastery ouer his heade, and there put on a Coule before hee be attafanduary for offences com ched, it is a protection to him for euer against any Law, for what crime socuer: except it be for treason. But this Prouiso goeth withall, that no man commeth

there (except fuch as are commanded by the Emperour to be receyued) but he gi-

ueth them Lands, or bringeth his stocke

with him, and putteth it into the comon

Treasury. Some bring a thousand Rub-bels, and some more. None is admitted gie or feruice, within the Church, he hath vnder three or foure hundred. The manner of their admission is after this fort. First, the Abbot strippeth him Fryats, of all his fecular or ordinary Apparrell. Then he putteth vpon him next vnto his skinne, a white Flannell shirt, with a long garment ouer it downe vnto the ground, girded to him with a broad leather belt. His vppermost Garment is a Weede of Garras or Say, for colour and fashion. much like to the vpper weed of a Chimney fweeper. Then is crowne shorne a hand bredth, or more, close to the verie skin, and these or the like words are pronounced by the Abbot, while he clippeth his haire.

As these haires are clipped off, and taken The Abbots from thy head : fo now wee take thee, and fe-wordes at a parate thee cleane from the world and worldly things dre.

This done he annointeth his crowne with oyle, and putteth on his Coule; and fo taketh him in among the Fraternitie. They vow perpetuall chaftity, and abstinence from fleth. Besides their Landes (that are verie Fryers the great) they are the greatest Marchants in chants in the the whole Countrey, and deale for all Countrey. manner of commodities. Some of their Monasteries dispend in Lands one thoufand, or two thousand Rubbels a yeare. There is one Abbey called Troits, that hath in lands and fees, the fumme of an hundred thousand Rubbels, or markes a veare.

It is built in manner of a Castle, walled round about with great Ordenance plan- A warlike ted on the Wall, and containeth within Abbey. it a large bredth of ground, and great variety of building. There are of Fryers within it (besides their Officers and other feruants) about feuen hundred. The Empresse that then was had many Vowes to Saint Sergius, that is patrone there: to in-The Saint to treat him to make her fruitfull, as having no children by the Emperour her Hufband. Lightly (euery yeare) the went on Children.

Pilgrimage to him from the Mosko, on foote, about fourescore ordinary miles. with five or fixe thousand women attending upon her, all in blew Lineries, and fee going on foure thousand souldiers for her Guarde. Pilgrimage. But S. Sergius hath not yet heard her pray ers, though (they fay) hee hath a speciall gift and faculty that way. What Learning there is among theyr charge and

Partition of their townes

into 'parishes-

Their viuall

The Ruffe priefts can marry but

The Quon-dam Priefts.

Stipends allorted to the Pricfts.

The Empress

The Fryars learning an-fwerable to their Bythops Fryars, may be known by their Bythops, that are the choise men out of all theyr Monasteries. I talked with one of them at the City of Vologda, where (to trie his skill) I offered him a Ruffe Testament, and turned him to the first chap. of S. Mathews Gospell. Where he began to read in very good order.

Questions & answeres betweene the Authour & a Ruffe prieft.

I asked him first, W hat part of Scripture it was that he had read? Hee answered, that he could not well tell. How many Euangelists there were in the Newe Testament? He saide he knew not. How many Apostles there were? Heethought there were twelue. How he should be saued? Whereunto he answered me (with a peece of Russe Doctrine) that heeknew not whether hee should be faued, or no: But if God wold Polhallouate him, or gratifie him so much, as to saue him, so it was; he would be glad of it: if not, what remedy? I asked him. VV hy he shore him selse a Fryer? Hee answered, because hee would eate his breade in quietnesse and

This is the learning of the Fryars of Russia, which though it be not to be meafured by one, yet partly it may be gessed (by the ignorance of this man) what is in the reft.

They have also very many Nunneries, whereof some may admit none but No-Widdowes & blemens Widdowes and Daughters, when the Emperour meaneth to keepe and none also them vnmarried, from continuing the blood or flocke, which hee would have extinguished. To speak of the life of their Fryers and Nunnes, it needs not, to those that know the hypocrific and vncleanenesse of that Cloyster-broode. The Russe himselfe (though otherwise addicted to all superstition) speaketh so fowly of it, that it must needs gain silence of any modest man.

Eremites called holy men, like to Gym-nosophistes.

Nunneries of

Noblemens

daughters.

to be admitted there.

Besides these, they have certaine Eremites (whome they call Holymen) that are like to those Gymnosophists for their life and behaujours: though farre vnlike for their knowledge and Learning. They vie to goe starke naked, faue a clowte about their middle, with their hayre hanging long and wildely about their shoulders, and many of them with an iron coller, or chaine about their neckes or middle, euen in the very extremity of Win-

These they take as Prophets, and men of great holinesse, giving them a libertie Prophets and to speake what they list, without any controlment though it be of the very highest himselfe. So that if he reproue any openly, in what fort focuer; they answere nothing, but that it is Pogracum, that is, for their finnes. And if any of them take some peece of fale ware from any mans shop, as he paffeth by, to give where he lifte; hee thinketh himselse much beloued of God, and much beholding to the holy man, for taking it in that fort.

Of this kinde there are not many, because it is a very hard and cold profession, to goe naked in Russia, especially in winter. Among other at this time, they have An Eremite one at Mosko, that walketh naked about Rusia. the Streetes, and inueyeth commonly, against the State and Gouernment, especially against the Godonoes, that are thoght at this time, to bee great Oppressours of that Common-wealth.

Another there was, that died not many yeares agoe(whom they called Bafileo) Bafileothe that would take vpon him to reproue the Ermite olde Emperor for all his cruelty, and oppressions done towards his people. His body they have translated (of late) into a fumptuous Church, neere the Emperors house in Mosko, & have Canonized him for a Saint. Many miracles he doth there (for fo the Fryers make the people to beleene) and many Offerings are made vnto him, not onely by the people, but by the cheefe Nobility, and the Emperor & Empresse themselves, which visite that posedsaint Church with great denotion.

But at my beeing at Mosko, this Saint had ill lucke in working his miracles. For a lame man, that had his limbes restored (as it was pretended by him) was charged A mery mire by a woman that was familiar with him (being then falne out) that he halted but in the day time, and could leape merrily when he came home at night. And that he had intended this matter fix yeares be-

Now he is put into a Monasterie, and there raileth vpon the Fryers, that hyred him to haue this counterfeyte myracle practised vppon him. Besides this disgrace, a little before my comming from thence, there were eight flaine within his Church, by fire in a Thunder. Which caused his bels (that wer tingling before

Nichola the great estima

Chap.4.

Prefents berecene the Emperor and an Éremite.

Of their Li-

turgy or forms of Church

eruire, and

heir manne

of administe.

the myracles wrought by Bafileo their S.) to ring for what foftly; and hath wroght no little discredit vnto this Miracle wor-There was another of great account at Plesko (called Nichola of Plesko) that did much good, when this Emperors Father came to facke the Towne, vpon fuspition of their revolting and rebellion against him. The Emperor, after he had saluted the Eremite, at his lodging, fent him a reward. And the Holy man, to requite the Emperour, sent him a peece of raw fleih, being then their Lent. Which the Emperour seeing, bid one to tel him, that hee maruelled, that the Holye man would offer him flesh to eat in the Lent, when it was forbidden by order of holie Church. And doth Enasko (which is as much to fay as Iacke) thinke (quoth Nicola) that it is unlawfull to eat a peece of beafts flesh in Lent, & not to eate up so much mans flesh, as he hath done already?

So, threatning the Emperor, with a prophesie of some harde aduenture to come vpon him, except hee left murthering of his people, and departing from the Towne, he faued a great many mens hues at that time.

This maketh the people to like very well of them, because they are as Pasquils Lawful repro to note their great mens faultes, that no man else dare speake of. Yet it falleth out fomtime, that for this rude liberty which they take vpon them (after a counterfeite manner) by imitation of Prophets, they are made away in secret: as was one or two of them, in the last Emperours time, for being ouer-bolde in speaking against his gouernment.

Their morning service they call Zautrana, that is, Mattins. It is done in this

The Priest entereth into the Church, with his Deacon following him. And, when hee is come vnto the middle of the Church, he beginneth to fay with a lowd vovce: Blas flaney Vladika, that is, Bleffe vs heavenly Pastor, meaning of Christ. Then he addeth, In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the holy Ghost, one very God in Trinity : and Aspody Fomeluy, Or, Lord have mercy upon us, Lord have mercie upon vs, Lord have mercy uppen vs, repeated

all day and night long, as in triumphe of | This done, he marcheth on toward the Chancell or Sanctum Sanctorum (as they vieto cal it) and fo entreth into the Scharfuey Dwere, or the heavenly doore: which no man may enter into, but the Priest dore, for none to enter but onely. Where standing at the Altare or the priest. Table (fet neere to the upper wall of the Chancell) hee fayeth the Lordes prayer, and then againe Apody Fomeluy, or Lorde have mercy upon vs, Lord have mercy upon vs, &c. pronounced twelve times. Then prayfed be the Trinity, the Father, the Son, and the holy Ghost, for ever and ever. Whetto the Deacons and people say, Amen. Next after, the Priest addeth the Psalmes for that day, and beginneth with, Ocome let us worlbip and fall down before the Lord co. and therewithall himselfe, with the Deacons, and people, all turn themselues Worthip to towards their Idols or Images that hang their Idols on the Wall, and (croffing themselnes)

bow downe three times, knocking theyr

This being done, the Deacon that stadeth without the heavenly dore or Chan cell, readeth a peece of a Legend, out of a Written Booke (for they have it not in Print) of some Saints life, Miracles, &c. This is divided into many parts, for every day in the yeare, and is read by them with a plaine finging Note, not vnlike to the Popish Tune, when they fung their Gof-

heads to the very ground. Airer this, hee readeth the ten Commaundements, and

Athanasius Creede, out of the Seruice

Aftet all this (which reacheth vnto an houre, and an halfe, or two howers of length) he addeth certaine fet Collectes, or prayers vpon that which he hath read out of the Legend before: and fo endeth his Seruice. All this while stande burning before their Idols, a great many of Wax Candles (whereof some are of the biggenesse of a mans waste) vowed, or enjoyned by penance, vpon the people of the Parith.

About nine of the clocke in the Mor- Ninea clocke ning, they have another Service, called fervice in the Obeiana (or Compline) much after the order of the Popish Seruice, that bare that name. If it be some high or Festivall day, they furnish their Service besides, With Bleffed be the Lord God of Ifrael, &c. and We praife thee, O God. &c. fung with a more folemne and curious note.

Their

ceiue the Ruf.

what ceremo-

Their euen-

Their Euening Service, called Vechering Seruice. na, where the Priest beginneth with Blai-Sauey Vladika, as hee did in the morning, and with the Psalmes appoynted for the Vecherna. Which being read, he fingeth, My foule doth magnific the Lord, &c. And then the Priest, Deacons, and People, all with one voyce fing, Afpody pomelui, or Lord have mercy upon vs, thirty times together. Whereunto the boyes that are in the Church, answer all with one voice, rowling it up to fast, as their lips can goe; Very, Very, Very, Very, or Praise, Praise, Praile dre, thirty times together, with a very strange noyse. Then is read by the Priest, and vpon the Holy-dayes sung the first Pfalme, Bleffed is the man, &c. And in the end of it, is added, Alleluia, repeated

The next in order, is some part of the Gospel read by the Priest, which he ends with Alleluia, repeated three times. And so having said a Collect, in remembrance of the Saint of that day, he ends his euening Seruice.

All this while, the Priest stands about at the Altare or high Table, within the Chancel, or Sanctum Sanctorum, whence hee neuer mooueth all the Scruice time. The Deacon or Deacons (which are many in their Cathedrall Churches) stand without the Chauncell by the Scharfuey Dwere, or heavenly dore: for within they may not be seene all the Seruice time, though otherwise their office is to sweep, and Reepe it, and to fet up the waxe can-The Deacons dles before their Idoles. The people do ftand together (the whole Seruice time) porch; for Piew or Seate they have none within their Churches.

The Sacrament of Baptisme they ad-

The manner of the Ruffe Baptiline.

office or fer-

minister after this manner: The childe is brought to the Church (and this is done within eight dayes after it is borne:) If it | porch. be the childe of some Noble man, it is brought in a rich Sled or Waggon, with and fuch like fumptuous shew of their best furniture. When they are come to the Church, the Priest standeth readie to receive the childe within the Churchporch, with his tub of water by him. And then beginneth to declare vnto them, that they have brought a little Infidell to be made a Christian, &c. This ended, he teacheth the witnesses, that are two or Intructions three, in a certayne fet forme out of his Booke (what their duty is,) in bringing witneffes.

vp the childe after he is baptized, viz. That hee must bee taught to know God, and Christ our Saniour. And because God is of great Maiestie, and we must not prefirme to come vnto him, without Mediatours (as the manner is when we make any suite to an Emperour, or great Prince) therfore they must teach him what Saints are the best, and chiefe mediatours, &c.

This done, he commaundeth the diuell in the name of God (after a conjuring manner) to come out of the water sand so after certaine praiers, he plungeth the child ouer head and eares. For this they holde to be a poynt very necessary, that no part of the child be left vndipped into the wa-The words that beare with them the forme of Baptisme, vttered by the Priest, The Priests when he dippeth in the childe, are the very fame that are prescribed in the Gospel, childe in the and vsed by vs, that is, In the name of the water.

Father, and of the Sonne, and of the Ghost. For that they should alter the forme of the words, and say, by the hely Ghost, as I have heard they did, following certaine heretikes of the Greeke Church, I found to be vntrue, aswell by the report of them that have beene often at their Baptismes,

as by their Booke of Leiturgie it selfe,

wherein the order of Baptisme is precisely set downe. When the childe is baptized, the Priest Other cere layeth Oyle and Salt tempered together Baptime. vpon the fore-head, and both the fides of in the Church, and some in the Church | his face, and then vpon his mouth, drawing it along with his finger ouer the childs lippes (as did the Popish Priests) faying withall, certaine prayers, to this effect:

That God will make him a good Christian, &c. All this is doone in the Church Then is the childe(as being now made a Christian, & meet to be received withchaires and cushions of cloath of Golde, in the Church doore) carried into the Church, the Priest going before, and is there presented to the chiefe Idoll of the Church, being layd on a cushion before the feet of the Image, by it (as by the mediatour) to be commended vnto God . If the childe be ficke, or weake (specially in the Winter) they vie to make the water luke warme. After Baptilme, the maner

Chap.4.

Ruffe manner. When they take any Tartar prisoner, commonly they will offer him life, with 100. Tartars hatwold not be baptized.

An English-Ruffe manner

is to cut off the haire from the childs head and having wrapped it within a peece of wax, to lay it up, as a relike or monument This is the manner of their Baptisine, in a fecret place of the Church. which they account to be the best & perfecteft forme. As they do all other parts of their religion, received (as they fay) by tradition from the best church, meaning the Greeke. And therefore they will take great paines to make a Profelite or Con-

Proteities or uert, either of an Infidell, or of a forraign Christian, by rebaptizing him after the condition to be baptized. And yet they perswade very sewe of them to redeeme their life fo: because of the natural hatred the Tartar beareth to the Ruffe, and the opinion he hath of his falshoode and ininstice. The yeare after Mosko was fired by the Chrim Tartar, there was taken a Diwoymor fey, one of the chief in that exploit, with 300. Tartars more: who had al their liues offered them, if they would be baptized after the Ruffe maner. Which they all refused to do, with many reproches against those that perswaded them. And fo being carried to the river Mosko, (that runneth thorough the Citty) they were all baptized after a violent manner:being thrust downe with a knocke on the head into the water, through an hole made in the Ice for that purpofe. Of Lieflanders that are Captines, there Rebaptizing are many that take on them this second

Russe baptisme, to get more libertie, and fome-what befides towards their liuing, which the Emperour ordinarily vieth to giue them. Of Englishmen (fince they frequented the country) there was never any found, that fo much forgot God, his and after the faith, and countrey, as that he would bee content to be baptized Ruffe, for any respect of feare, preferment, or other means whatfocuer : faue onely Richard Relph .

that following before an vngodly Trade,

by keeping a Caback (against the order of the countrey) and being putte off from that Trade, and spoiled by the Emperors

Officers of that which he hadde, entered

himselfe into the Russe profession, and so

was rebaptized, living now as much an Idolater, as before he was a rioter and vn-

thrifty person.

Such as thus receive the Ruffe baptisme, are first caried into some Monastery, to be instructed there in the doctrine and ceremonies of the Church. Where they vie thefe ceremonies.

nies are víed First, they put him into a new & fresh fuite of apparrell, made of the Russe fafhion, and fet a Coronet, or (in Sommer)

a garland vpon his head. Then they annoint his head with oile; & put a wax candle light into his hand: & lo pray ouer him foure times a day, the space of vii.daies. All this while hee is to abstaine from flesh and white meats. The feuen dayes being ended he is purified and washed in a Bath-stone, and so the eight day he is broght to the church, where he is taught (by the Friers) how to behaue himfelf in presence of their idols; by ducking down, knocking of the head, croffing himfelfe, and fuch like gestures, which are the greatest part of the Russe

The Sacrament of the Lords Supper, The admini-

neuer aboue. The manner of their communicating is thus. First, they do confesse

themselues of all their sins, to the Priest

(whome they call their ghoftly Father.)

Then they come to the Church, and are they receive but once a year, in their gret | firing of the Lords Supper Lent time, a little before Easter. Three at the most are admitted at one time, and called up to the Communion table, that standeth like an Altar, a little remooued from the vpper end of the Church, after the Dutch manner. Heere first they are asked of the Priest. whither they be clean, or no? that is, whither they have never a finne behinde that they left vnconfessed. If they answer, No.

they are taken to the table. Where the Priest beginneth with certain vsuall prayers, the Communicants standing in the meane while with their armes folded one within another, like penitentiaries, or mourners. When these praiers are ended, the Priest taketh a spoone, and filleth it full of Claret Wine. Then he putteth into it a small pecce of bread, and tempereth them both together, and so deliuereth them in the Spoone to the Communicants, that stand in order, speaking the viuall words of the Sacrament, Eate this, &c.Drink this,&cc. both at one time without any paule. After that hee deliucreth them againe

the Russian

Of the Doc-

Ruffe church

9 Booke

Chap. 4.

6.Iustification

workes.

7.Saluation

&Auriculat

Three Sa-

but exchanged mony for it.

their numbering beads about with them continually; aswell the Emperor and his Nobility, as the common people, not action)from to many fins as they confesse

They do hold three Sacraments, of sapifme, the Lords Supper, and the last annovling or unition. Yet concerning theyr

Sacrament of extreame Vnction, they hold it not so necessary to faluation, as they doe Baptisine; but thinke it a great curse and punishment of God if any dye

hyname, and in particular to the Priest.

Ambassad fuch like.

standing they have had their Antichristes bread by it felfe, and then wine carded toof the Greek Church, and may find their gether with a little warme water, to repreown falling off, and the punishments for fent blood more rightly (as they thinke) and the water withall, that flowed out of it (by the Turkish inuasion) in the prothe fide of Christ. Whiles this is in dophelies of that Booke. ing, the Communicants vnfolde their Secondly (which is the fountain of the rest of all their corruptions both in Doc- 2. Traditions armes. And then folding them againe, foltrine and Ceremonies) they holde with holy feripune low the Priest thrice round about the the Papifts, that their Church Traditions Communion Table, and fo returne to their places againe. Where having faide are of equall authority with the written certaine other prayers, hee difmiffeth the word of God. Wherein they prefer them Communicants, with charge to be merfelues before other Churches: affirming, ry, and to cheere vp themselues for the sethat they hand the true and right traditions, deliuerd by the Apostles to the Greek uen dayes next following. Which being Church, and so vnto them. ended, he enjoyneth them to fast for it as 3. That the Church (meaning the 3. The church Greeke, and specially the Patriarch & his raigne autho. ferue with very great denotion, eating nothing else but bread and falt, except a Synod, as the head of the reft) haue a fo- rity in inter. neraigne authority to interpret the fcriptures, and that all are bound, to hold that interpretation as found and authentique. 4. Concerning the divine Nature, and the three persons, in the one substance of shost upon God, that the Holye ghost proceedeth coedinates the Father only. from the Father onely, and not from the 5. About the office of Christ, they hold 5 Christ no many fowle errors, and the fame (almost) fole median as doth the Popish Church;namely,that of intercessi he is their fole Mediator of redemption, but not of intercession. Their cheefe reason (if they be talked An idle con withall) for defence of this errour, is, that parison, of vnapt and foolish comparison, betweene Prince of the God and a Monarch or Prince of this world. world, that must be sued vnto by Mediators about him: wherein they give special preferment to fome aboue others, as to the bleffed Virgin, whom they cal Preche-S. Nicolasth fe, or vndefiled: & S. Nicolas, whom they freedy helped cal Scora pomo (nick, or the Speedy helper, & fay, that he hath 300. Angels of the chee-fell, appointed by God to attend on him.

The Ecclesiasticall Iurisdiction

This bath brought them to an horrible fend not God. Forgetting the commade-met of God, that forbiddeth to make the low of, but reade them not publikely in their Churches, for the same reason; because they wer but directers vnto Christ, and proper (as they fay) to the Nation of the lewes. Onely the booke of Pfalmes they have in great estimation, and sing & fay them daily in their Churches.

long time after. Which they vie to ob-little cabbage, and some other hearb or roote, with water or quaffe mead for their

!This is their manner of administring the Sacraments wherein what they differ from the inflitution of Christ, and what ceremomes they have added of their owne, or rather borrowed of the

Their cheefest errours in matter of

First, concerning the word of God it

felfe, they will not reade publikely certain

Bookes of the Canonicall Scripture, as the Bookes of Moles; specially the foure

last, Exodus, Leuiticus, Numeri, and Deu-

teronomie, which they fay are all made difauthentique, and put out of vie by the comming of Christ; as not able to dis-

cerne the difference bet wixt the Morall,

The Bookes of the Prophets they al-

Greekes, may eafily be noted.

faith. I finde to be thefe.

and the Ceremoniall law!

drinke.

Of the new Testament they allow, and reade all except the Revelation: which therefore they read not (though they allow it) because they understand it not neither have the like occasion, to know the fulfilling of the propheties contained within it, concerning especially the Apostasie of the Antichristian Church, as fian Church. haue the Westerne Churches. Notwith-

excesse of idolatry, after the grossess and prophanest manner; giving vnto theyr Images, all Religious worship of Prayer, Thankelgiving, Offerings, and Adoration, with proftrating and knocking theyr heads to the ground hefore them, as to God himselfe. Which beecause they doo to the picture, not to the portraiture A vaine exclof the Saint, they say they worthip not an fing palpalik. Idoll, but the Saint in his image, & so of-

10. They thinke there is a necessitie of Baptisme, and that al are condemned that Aldamned hat dy , withdye without it. ut baptiime. 11. They rebaptize as many Christians II. Anabap-(not being of the Greeke church) as they convert to their Ruffe profession: because they are divided from the true Church, which is the Greeke, as they fay. 2. They make a difference of meates a Difference to have changed by any innovation, but to retaine that Religion that best agreeeth with it . Which notwithstanding it and drinkes, accounting the vie of one, to is not to be doubted, but that having the be more holy then of another. And thereword of God in some fort (though with-image or likeneffe of any thing, for any fore in their fet falls, they forbeare to eat religious worshippe or vse whatsoeuer. Their Church walles are very ful of them, flesh, and white meates (as we call them) after the manner of the Popish superstitirichly hanged and fet forth with Pearle & on: which they observe so strictly, and stone vppon the smooth Table. Though with fuch blind denotion, as that they wil fome also they have embossed, that sticke rather die, then cate one bit of flesh, egges or fuch like, for the health of their bodyes from the boord almost an inch outwards. in their extreme fickneffe. They call them Chudouodites, or their miracle workers: and when they prouide the 13. They hold mariage to be volawful to fet vp in their churches, in no case they

for all the Clergy men, except the Pricits for fome per may fay that they have bought the image only, and for them also after the first wife fons ynlawful (as was faid before.) Neither do they wel 6. For the meanes of Iustification, they allowe of it in Lay-men after the fecond agree with the Papistes, that it is not by marriage. Which is a pretence now vsed faith onely, apprehending Christ, but by against the Emperours onely brother, a their workes also. And that Opus operatum child of fix yeares old : Who therfore is not prayed for in their Churches, as their or the worke for the worke fake, must maner is otherwise for the Princes blood Anill perswa needs please God. And therefore they are because he was borne of the fixt mariage, all in their numbers of Prayers, Fastes, Vowes, and offerings to Saints, Almefand so not legitimate. This charge was deeds, Croffings, and fuch like, and carrie given to the Priests by the Emperor himfelf, by procurement of the Godonoes: who make him beleeue, that it is a good pollicy, to turne away the liking of the people from the next fucceffor. onely in the Church, but in all other pub Many other falle opinions they have like places, specially at any fet or solemne in matter of Religion. But these are the meeting, as in their Fasts, Law Courtes, common confultations, entertainment of chiefe, which they hold partly by meanes of their traditions (which they have re-7. They fay (with the Papifts) that no ceiued from the Greeke Church)but speman can be affured of his faluation, til the cially by ignorance of the holye Scriptures. Which notwithstanding they have The Polonian last sentence be passed at the day of judgin the Polonian toong (that is al one with tongue differ 8. They vse Auricular confession, and theirs, some few words only excepted) yet very little. thinke that they are purged (by the verie few of them read them with that godlye

care which they ought to doe: neyther

haue they (if they would) bookes fuffici-

led among them : which the Emperours

(whom it specially behooueth) lifte not ent of the Olde and New Testament for the common people, but of their Leiturgie onely, or Booke of common Seruice, whereof there are very great num-All this mischeese commeth from the Cleargie, who being ignoraunt and godlesse themselves, are exceedingly warie, to keepe the people (likewise) in norance, their ignoraunce and blindenesse, for theyrlining and bellies fake : partly alfo from their manner of Gouernement fet-

876

113

without it.

Titles giuen

to the Bride

Barbarous be-

uing with

880

A man and his wife kept

in prison 28.

yeares, and

The manner

After liking

ot solemni-

zing their Marriages. out the ordinary meanes, to attaine to a | dowry: if the husband leave so much betrue fense and vnderstanding of it) God hath also his number among them. As may partly appeare, by that which a Ruffe at Aroske faid to a follower of an Ambas. sador, speaking against their Images and other superstitions: That God had given vnto his Country light to day, and might giue it to morrow (if he pleased) to them.

As for any inquisition or proceeding against me for matter of religion, I could heare of none: faue (a few yeares fince)against one man and his wife, who were kept in close prison, the space of 28. years, till they were ouer-growne into a deformed fashion, for their hayre, nailes, coulor of countenance, and fuch like, and in the ende were burned at Mosko, in a small house set on fire. The cause was kept secret, but like it was for fome part of truth, in matter of religion: though the people were made to beleeue by the Priests and Fryars, that they held some great & damnable herefie.

The manner of making and folemnizing their Mariages, is different from the manner of other Countries. The man (though he neuer faw the woman before) is not permitted to have any fight of her | felfe. all the time of his wooing: which hee doth not by himselfe, but by his Mother, or some other ancient woman of his kin or acquaintance. When the liking is taken (aswell by the Parents, as by the parties themselues, for, without the knoledge and confent of the parents, the contract is not lawfull) the fathers on both fides, or fuch as are to them in stead of Fathers. with their other chiefe friends, haue a meeting and conference about the dowry, which is commonly very large, after the ability of the Parents: so that you shal haue a Market-man (as they call them) giue a thousand Rubbels, or more with

The manner

of endowment for Wines.

his daughter. As for the man, it is never required of him, nor standeth with their custome, to make any joynter in recompence of the dowry. But in case he haue a childe by his Wife, the enjoyeth a third deale after his decease. If he have two children by her, or more, shee is to have a courteste more, at the discretion of the husband. If the husband depart without iffue by his wife, thee is returned home to her friends without any thing at all, faue onely her hinde him in goods. When the agreement is made concerning the Dowry, Agreement they figne bonds one to the other, as well concerning the Dowry. for the payment of the dowry, as the performing of the marriage by a certain day. If the woman were never married before. her father and friends are bound (befides) to affure her a maiden. Which breedeth many brabbels and quarrels at law, if the man take any conceit, concerning the behaulour and honesty of his wife.

Thus the contract beeing made, the parties begin to fend Tokens the one to the other; the woman first, then afterward No fightull the man, but yet see not one another till be solemni. the marriage be folemnized. On the eque | zed. before the marriage day, the bride is carried in a Collimago, or Coach, or in a fled (if it be Winter) to the bridegroomes house, with her marriage apparrell and bedstead with her, which they are to lye in. For this is euer prouided by the bride, and is commonly very faire, with much cost bestowed vpon it. Heere shee is accompanied all that night by her mother, and other women : but not welcommed, nor once feene by the bridegroome him-

When the time is come to have the Marriage folemnized, the Bride hath put in matriage, vpon her a kinde of hoode, made of fine knitworke or Lawne, that couereth her head, and all her bodie down to the middle. And so accompanied with hir frends and the bride-groome with his, they goe to Church all on horsebacke, though the Church bee neere hand, and themselves but of very meane degree.

The wordes of contract, and other ceremonies in folemnizing the marriage, are much after the order, and with the fame words that are vsed with vs: with a ring also given to the Bride. Which being put on, & the words of contract pronounced: the Brides hand is delivered into the hand of the Bridegroome, which standeth all this while on the one side of the Altar or Table, and the Bride on the other. So the marriage knot beeing knit by the Prieft, the Bride commeth to the The Brides Bridegroome (standing at the end of the Altar or Table) and falleth downe at his husband. feete, knocking her head vpon his shooe, in token of her subjection & obedience. And the Bridegroome againe casteth the

lappe

tweene the

Chap.4.

tect and cherith her. Then the Bridegroom and Bride, stan-Signs of loue ding both together at the Tables end, cometh first the father, and the other friends of the Bride, and bow themselues downe low to the Bride-groome: and fo likewife his friends bow themselues to the Bride, in token of affinity and loue, euer after, betwixt the two Kindreds. And withall, the father of the Bridegroom, offereth to the priest a loase of bread, who deliuereth it straight againe to the father, and other friends of the Bride, with attestation before God and their Idols, that he deliuer the Dowry wholly and truely at the day appointed, and hold loue cuer after, one Kindred with another. Wherupon they breake the loafe into peeces, and cate of it, to testifie their true and sincere meanings, for performing of that charge, and thenceforth to become as graines of one Loafe, or men of one Table.

lappe of his Gowne or vpper garment, o-uer the Bride, in token of his duty to pro-

These Ceremonies being ended, the Bride-groome taketh the Brideby the hand, and so they goe on together, with their friendes after them, towardes the Church porch. Where meet them certaine with pots and cups in theyr hands, with Meade and Ruffe Wine. Whereof the Bride-groome taketh first a Charke. or little cuppe full in his hand, and drinketh to the Bride: who opening her hood or vaile belowe, and putting the Cup to her mouth vnderneath it (for being feene of the Bridge-groome) pledgeth him a-

Thus returning altogether from the Church, the Bride-groome goeth not home to his owne, but vnto his Fathers house, and she likewise to hers, where eyther entertaine their friends apart. At the entering into the house, they vie to fling Corne out of the windowes vppon the Bridegroome and Bride, in token of plenty and fruitfulneffe to be with them euer

tion from her mother and other matrons

after.

When the Euening is come, the Bride The euening is brought to the Bride-groomes Fathers and night cohouse, and there lodgeth that night, with her vaile or couer still ouer her head . All that night, fhee may not speak one word (for that charge shee receiveth by tradi-

must neither heare, nor see her, till the day after the marriage. Neither three dayes after, may the be heard to speake, faue certaine few words at the Table, in a fet forme, with great manners and reuerence to the Bride-groome. If shee behaue her selfe otherwise, it is a great preiudice to her credite and life euer after: and will highly bee difliked of the Bridegroome himselfe.

After the third day, they depart voto their own house, and make a feast to both their friends together. The mariage day, and the whole time of their Festivall, the Bride-groome hath the honor to be called Moloday Knez, or young Duke, and the Bride Moloday Knezay, or yong Dut-

In liuing with their wives, they shew themselues to be but of a barbarous condition : vsing them as servantes rather then wives. Except the Noble-women, baufour inli which are, or seeme to bee of more estimation with their husbands, then the rest of meaner fort. They have this fowle abuse, contrary to good order, and the word of God it selfe, that vpon dislike of his wife, or other cause whatsoener, the man may go into a Monastery, & sheare himselse a Fryer, by pretence of deuotion, and so leave his wife to shifte for her felfe fo well as the can.

The other Ceremonies of theyr Church, are many in number: especially, | Ceremonies the abuse about the signe of the Croffe, of the Russe which they fet up in their high-wayes, in the tops of their Churches, and in every doore of their houses, signing themselves continually with it on their forcheads & brefts, with great denotion, as they will feeme by their outward gesture and behaujour. Which were much leffe offence, if they gaue not withall, that Religious reuerence and worshippe vnto it, which is due vnto none but God onely, and vsed the dumbe shew and signing of it, instead of Thankesgiuing, and of all other duties which they doe owe vnto

When they rife euery day in the Morning, they goe commonlie in the fight of some Steeple, that hath a crosse morning, made on the toppe of it : and fo bowing themselves tovvardes the crosse, they figne themselues withall on theyr foreher Friendes) that the Bride-groome heads and brests. And this is their thanks-Ffff 3

Rifing in the

Drinking of the Bride and Ceremonies

to meate.

out any word speaking, except peraduenture they fay, Albody Pomelay, or, Lord have mercy upon us.

When they fit downe to meate, and Sitting downe rife againe from it, the thankfgining to God, is the croffing of their fore-heads and breafts. Except it be some few that adde peraducture, a word or two of some ordinary prayer, impertinent to that pur-

When they are to give an oath, for the Oath for dedeciding of any controuerfic at law, they ciding contro do it by swearing by the Crosse, and kisfing the feete of it, making it as GOD, whose name onely is to bee vsed in such triall of Iustice.

When they enter into any house (where At entring incuer there is an Idoll hanging on the wal) they figne themselves with the crosse, and bow themselues to it. When they beginne any worke, be to houses.

At beginning

it little or much, they arme themselves first with the signe of the crosse. And this commonly is all their prayer vnto God, for good speede of their businesse. And thus they ferue God with croffes, after a croffe and vaine manner: not vnderstanding what the Crosse of Christ is nor the power of it. And yet they thinke all strangers Christians, to be no better then Turkes, in comparison of themselves (and fo they wil fay) because they bow not thefelues, when they meete with the Croffe, nor figne themselves with it, as the Russe manner is.

They have holy water, in like vie and estimation as the Popish Church hath. But herein they exceed them, in that they doe not onely hallow their holy water stockes, and tubs full of water; but all the Hallowing of Riuers.

Holy water

The hallowuer at Mosko. Rivers of the Country once enery yeare. At Mosko it is done with great pompe & folemnity: the Emperour himfelfe being present at it, with all his Nobility, marching through the streetes towards the Riuer of Moskua, in manner of procession, in this order as followeth. First goe two Deacons, with banners in their hands, the one of Precheste (or our Lady) the other a ranke, with coaps on their backes, and their Idols at their breafts, carried with girdles or flings, made fast about their | fickenesse.

giuing to God for their nights reft, with- | necks. Next the Priefts, come their Bithops in their pontificalibus; then the Fryars, Monks and Abbots: and after the Patriarchs in very rich attire, with a ball, or fphere on the top of his myter, to fig. nifie his vniuersality over that Church. Last commeth the Emperor, with all his Nobility. The whole traine is of a mile long, or more.

When they are come to the River, a Order obsergreat hole is made in the yee, where the und at the market is kept, of a rod and a halfe broad, River. with a stage round about it to keepe off the prease. Then beginneth the Patriarch to fay certaine prayers, and conjureth the diuell to come out of the water: and so casting in falt, and centing it with frankingenfe, maketh the whole River to become holy water. The morning before, all the people of Mosko vie to make croffes of chawlke ouer enery doore, & window of their houses: least the divell being conjured out of the water, (hould flye into their houses. When the ceremonies are ended, you shall see the black gard of the Emperors remonies are house, & then the rest of the Towne with ended. their pailes and buckets, to take off the hallowed water for drinke, and other vies. You shall also see the women dippe in their children ouer head and eares, and many men and women leap into it, some naked, some with their clothes on, when fome man would thinke his finger would freeze off, if hee should but dippe it into the water. When the men haue doone, they bring their horses to the river, to Horses drinke drink of the fanctified water; and fo make water on them as holy as a horse. Their fet day Twelith day.

is doone by other Bishops, in all parts of the Realme. Their maner is also to give it to their ficke, in their greatest extreamitie; thin- Drinking of king that it will cyther recouer them, or holy water. fanctifie them to God. Whereby they kill many, through their vnreasonable superstition, as did the Lord Borris his onely fonne, at my being at the Mofco: whom for this folemne action of halowing their rivers, is that we call Twelfe day. The like Church, to their Saint Bafileo, in the Chap.4. The louise They have an Image of Christ, which | Christ on they call Neruchi, (which fignifies afmuch oceffions, as Made without hands) for fo their priefts (and superstition withall) perswades them it was. This in their processions, they carry about with them on high vpon a pole, enclosed within a Pixe, made like a Lanthorne, and doe reuerence to it, as to a great mysterie.

Brewing with

Palmefundaio ncient a a

Another ce. remony be-fore Christ-

After the ce.

At every brewing, their manner is likewife, to bring a diffi of their woort to the Priest, within the Church: which being hallowed by him is poured into the brewing, and fo giveth it fuch a vertue, as when they drinke of it, they are feldome fober.

The like they doe with the first fruites of

They have an other ceremony vppon

Palme-funday of ancient tradition: what time the Patriarch rideth through the

their corne in Haruest.

eremonie by

Mosko, the Emperour himselfe holding his horse bridle, and the people crying, Hofanna, and spreading their vpper garments under his horse seete. The Emverour hath of the Patriarch for his good feruice of that day, 200. rubbles of standing pension. Another Pageant they have much like vnto this, the weeke before the Natiuity of Christ: When every Bishop in his Cathedrall Church, setteth foorth a thew of the three children in the Ouen. Where the Angell is made to come flying from the roofe of the Church, with great admiration of the lookers on, and many terible flashes of fire, are made with rozen, and gun-powder, by the Chaldeans (as they call them) that runne about the towne all the Twelue dayes, difguifed in their Players coats, and make much good sport for the honour of the Bishops Pageant. At the Mosco, the Emperour himfelfe, and the Empresse neuer faile to be played euery yeare, without any new in-uention at all. Fasts, beside Besides their fasts on Wednesdayes, foure feuerall and Fridayes throughout the whole yere, Lents, and at (the one, because they say Christ was fold on the Wednesday, the other, because he fuffered on the Friday) they have foure great Fasts, or Lents enery yeare. The first, (which they call their great Lent) is at the same time with ours. The second, about Midsomer. The third, in Haruest time. The fourth, about Hallowntide: which they keepe not of pollicie, but of | rell.

at it, although it be but the same matter

meere superstitions.

In their great Lent, for the first weeke. they doe cate nothing but Bread and falt, and drinke nothing but water, neyther meddle with any matter of their vocation, but intend their shriving and fasting

Wakesthey They have also three Vigils or wakes in haue three. their Lent , which they call Stoiania , and the last Friday their great Vigil, as they do call it. What time the whole parish must be present in the Church, and watch from nine of the clocke in the Eucning, vntill fixe in the Morning, all the while flanding, except when they do fall downe, and knocke their heads to their Idoles, which must be an hundred and seauentie times, iust, through the whole night. Burialle, and About their burialls alfo, they have their superfti

many superstitious and prophane cere-monies: as putting within the singer of the corpes , a Letter to Saint Nicholas ; whome they make their chiefe Mediator, and (as it were) the Porter of Heal uen gates, as the Papifts doe theyr Peter. In Winter time, when all is concred Noburbil in with frow, and the ground fo hard fro- the winter.

zen, as that no spade, nor picke-axe can enter; their manner is not to bury their dead, but to keepe the bodies (fo many as die all the Winter time) in an house, in the suburbs, or out-parts of the towne, which they call Bohfedom, that is to fay, Gods house: where the dead bodies are piled vp together, like billets on a woodstacke, as hard, with the frost, as a verie stone, till the Spring-tide come and diffolueth the frost, what time enery man raketh his dead friend, and committeth him to the ground.

They have besides, their yeares and moneths mindes, for their friends departed. What time they have prayers faide ouer the graue by the priest; who hath a penny ordinary for his paines. When any dyeth, they have ordinarie women mourners, that come to lament for the dead party: and stand howling ouer the body, after a prophane, and heathenish

manner (sometimes in the house, sometimes bringing the body into the backefide : Asking him what he wanted, and what | Buriall accor. he meant to die? They bury theyr dead, as went living. the party vied to goe, with coate, hofe, bootes, hatte, and the rest of his appar.

Many

Month-minds

he killed (as was fayd by the Physitions) of S. Michael, fighting with his Dragon. Then follow after, the rest of the Deacons by powring into him colde holy water, and the Priests of Mosko, two and two in and by presenting him naked into the

colde of the Winter, in an extreamity of

Many other vaine and superstitious ce- | grefnick Syhodestua : which is as much remonies they have, which were long and tedious to report. By these it may appeare, how farre they are fallen from the true knowledge and practife of Christian Religion: having changed the Word of God, for their vaine traditions, and brought all to externall, and ridiculous ceremonies, without any regard of spirite and truth, which God requires in his true worftio.

CHAP. V.

I Lastly, an Oeconomicall discourse of the Emperours Court ; his Familie and Hon-(bolde affaires : And more private behauiour of the people.

Of the Empe routs domestike or privat. behauiour.

His private

He Emperours private behauior, so much as may be, or is meete to be knowne, is after this manner: Heering the commonly about four feth commonly about foure of the clocke in the morning. After his apparolling and washing, in cometh his The emperors ghoftly father, or priest of his chamber, which is named in their tongue, Otetz Duhouna, with his Croffe in his hand. wherewith he bleffeth him , laying it first on his fore-head, then ypon his cheekes, or fides of his face, and then offreth him the end of it to kiffe. This being doone, the clarke of the croffe (calld Chresby Deyack Profery) bringeth into his chamber a

praier, and th is perfourmed paynted Image, representing the Saint for that day. For euery day with them hath his feuerall Saint, as it were a patron for that day. This he placeth among the rest of his Image gods, wherewithall his Chamber is decked, as thicke almost as the wall can beare, with Lampes and wax Candles burning before them. They are very coffly and gorgeoufly decked with pearles and precious flones. This Image being placed before him, the Emperour beginnes to croffe himfelfe after the Ruffe manner; first on the fore-head, then on both fides of his breaft, with Affody Pomeluy, Pomeluy mena hospody, sacroy mena to fay, as, Helpe mee O Lord my God, Lord comfort mee, defend and keepe mee a sinner from doing enill, dre. This he directeth towards the Image or Saint for that day, whom he nameth in his prayer, together with our Lady (whom they call Precheste) Saint Nicholas, or some other, to whome he beareth most denotion, bowing himfelfe proftrate vnto them, with knocking his head to the very ground. Thus he continueth the space of a quarter of an houre or thereabouts. Then commeth againe the ghoftly fa- | Sprinkling ther, or chamber prieft, with a filuer bole with holy we ful of holywater, which they call in Ruffe, Sweta Voda, and a sprinkle of Basill (as they call it) in his hand, and so all to besprinkles first the Image gods, and then the Emperour. This holy water is brought fresh euery day from the Monasteries, farre and neere, fent vnto the Emperour from the Abbot or from the Priour, in the name of the Saint, which is patrone of that Monaftery, as a speciall token of good will from him. These denotions being ended, he sendeth in to the Empresse, to aske whether the Empresse, the hath rested in health, &c. And after a little pawfe.goeth himfelfe to falute her in a middle roome betwixt both their chambers. The Empresse lyeth apart from him, and keepeth not one Chamber, nor Table with the Emperour daily, faue vppon the eeue of their Lents, or commo Fasts : what time she is his ordinary ghest at bed and boord. After their meeting in the morning, they go together to their priuate Church or Chappell, where is faide, or fung a morning Seruice (called Zaucept his health, or some other occasion alter the custome. About nine in the morning, he goeth vinto another Church within his Castle: leanne service. where is fung by Priests and Choristers, the high Seruice (called Obeadna or Complin) which commonly lasteth the space of two houres : the Emperor in the mean time, talking commonly with some

be feene and faluted by his Nobility, fuch as are in fauour about the Court. If he haue to fay to any of the, or they to him.

then is the time. And this is ordinary, ex-trana) of an houre long or there-abouts. The Empero From the Church he returneth home, & giveth prefitteth him downe in a great Chamber, to morning.

of his Councell, Nobilitie, or Captains, \ Empresse till supper time, with leasters, And the Councell likewise conferre togither among themselues, as if they were in their councell house. This ended, he returneth home, and recreateth himfelfe till it be dinner time. Hee is served at his Table on this manner; First, euery dish (as it is delinered at the Dreffer) is tafted by the Cooke, in the presence of his high Steward, or his Deputy. And so is received by the Gentlemen waiters (called Shilfhey) and by them carried up to the Emperours Table, the high Steward going before. There it is round about, where hee is to quite himreceived by the Sewer (called Erastnoy) who giveth a tafte of every diff vnto the Tafter, and so placeth it before the Emperour. The number of his dishes for his ordinary feruice, is about feauentie; dreffed fomewhat grofely, with much garlike and falt, much after the Dutch manner. When he exceedeth, 'vpon fome occasion of the day, or entertainement of some Ambassador, he hath many more dishes. The service is sent up by two dishes at a time, or three at the most, that hee may eate it warme : first the baked , then the roste meates, and last of all, the brothes. In his dining Chamber is an other Table: where fit the chiefe of his Nobility that are about his Court, and his ghostly Father, or Chaplaine. On the one fide of the Chamber standeth a Cubbard, or Table

The Emperours feruice at his Table.

Chap. 5.

of Plate, very favre and rich, with a great

cesterne of Copper by it, full of yee and

fnow, wherein stand the pots that serue

for that meale. The tafter holdeth the cup

thathe drinketh in all dinner time, and deliuereth it vnto him with a fay, when he calleth for it. The manner is to make many dishes out of the seruice, after it is set on the Table, and to fend them to fuch

Noblemen and Officers, as the Emperor

A Table for

liketh best. And this is counted a great fauour and honour. After dinner, he layeth him downe to His fleeping rest, where commonly hee taketh three houres fleepe, vnleffe hee doe employ one of the houres to bathing or boxing. And this custome for sleeping after dinner, is an ordinary matter with him, as with all the Ruffes. After his fleepe hee goeth to Euchfong (called by them Vechurna:) and thence returning (for the most part) recreateth himselfe with the

which have to fay to him, or hee to them. | and dwarfes, men and women , that doe tumble before him, and fing many fongs after the Ruffe manner. This is his common and viuall forme of recreation betweene his meales, wherein he most delighteth.

One other speciall recreation, is the fight with wilde Beares, which are caught in pittes, or netts, and are kept in barred Cages for that purpole, against the Em- Fight with perour bee disposed to fee the pastime. Beares, by The fight with the Beare is on this fort: them. The man is turned into a circle walled felfe so well as hee can; for there is no way to flie out. When the Beare is turned loofe, he cometh upon him with open mouth. If at the first push hee misse his ayme, fo that the Beare doe come within him, he is in great danger. But the wilde Beare being very fierce, hath this quality, that giveth advantage to the Hunter. His manner is, when he affaileth a man, to rife vpright on his two hinder legges, and so to come roaring with open mouth vpon him. And if the Hunter then can push right into the very breast of him betweene his fore-legges (as commonly he will not miffe) refting the other end of The manner the Boare-speare at the side of his foote: tokill the face of the Beare, hee speedeth him commonly at one blowe. But many times these Hunters come fhort, and are eyther flaine, or miferably torne with the teeth and talents of the fierce beaft. If the party quitte himselse well in this fight with the Beare, he is carried to drinke at the Emperours Seller doore; where he drinketh himfelfe drunke for the honour of Hospodare. And this is his reward, for adventuring his life for the Emperours pleasure.

and so keeping the pike still towardes the Beare.

To maintaine this pastime, the Emperor hath certaine Huntimen, that are appointed for that purpose, to take the wilde Beare. This is his recreation commonly on the Holy-daies. Sometimes he spendeth his time in looking uppon his Goldsmiths and Iewellers, Taylors, Embroyderers, Painters, and fuch like, and fo goeth to his supper. When it draweth towards bed time, his Priestfaith certaine tion to bed. prayers; and then the Emperour bleffeth and croffeth himfelfe, as in the morning, of Moscouia or Russia.

2 Booke

887

Wome there

paint groffely

A description of the Emperor, when the Author was

there.

and so goeth to his bed. The Emperor that now is (called Theodore Iuanowich) is for his person of a mean stature, somewhat lowe and grosse, of a fallow complection, and enclining to the dropfie, hawk nofed, vnfteady in his pace, by reason of some weaknesse of his limbs, heavy and vnactive, yet commonly fmiling almost to a laughter. For quality otherwise, simple and slowe witted, but very gentle, and of an easie nature, quiet, mercifull, of no martiall disposition, nor greatly apt for matter of pollicy, very fuperstitious, and infinite that way. Belides his private devotions at home, hee goeth euery Wecke commonly on pilgrimage to some Monastery, or other that is necrest hand. He is of 34. yeares old, or therabouts, and hath reigned almost the space of fixe yeares.

for a quarter of an houre or there-abouts,

The cheefe Officers of the Emperors houshold, are these which follow. The Of the Empefirst is the Office of the Boiaren Conesheua, or Master of the Horse. Which containeth no more then is expressed by the Mafter of the name, that is, to be Ouerfeer of the horfe, and not Magister equitum, or Master of the horsemen. For hee appointeth other for that seruice, as occasion doth require (as before was faid.) He that beareth that Office at this time, is Borris Federowich Godonos, Brother to the Empresse. Of Horse for seruice in his wars (besides other for his ordinary vses) hee hath to the houshold, at this time, one Gregory Vafilo-

eth all his monies, iewels, plate, &c. now called Stepan Vafilowich Godonoe.

dreas Petrowich Clesinine.

The third is his Treasurer, that keep-

The fourth his Controller, now An-

The fift his Chamberlaine. He that attendeth that Office at this time, is called number of ten thousand, which are kept about Mosko. The next is the Lord Steward of his wich Godonoe.

Controller.

Chamberlain

Tafters.

Harbengers.

Of Gentlemen beside that waite about his Chamber and Person (called shilfer of the Chamber) Strap(ex) there are two hundred, all No- ber. blemens sonnes. His ordinary Guard is 2000. Hag-

The Guard, butters, ready with their pieces charged. and their match lighted, with other necesfary Furniture continually day & night: which come not within the house, but waite without in the court or yard, where the Emperour is abiding. In the night time, there lodgeth next to his bedchamber, the chiefe Chamberlaine, with one or two more of best trust about him.

A fecond chamber off, there lodge fixe other of like account, for their trust and faithfulnesse.

In the third Chamber lie certaine yong Gentlemen, of these two hundred, called Shilfey Strapfey, that take their turnes by forties cuery night.

There are Groomes besides, that watch in their course, and lye at every gate and doore of the Court, called Estopnick.

The Hagbutters or Gunners, whereof there are two thousand (as was faide The Guard before) watch about the Emperors lodg- for his lodg. ing, or bed-chamber by course two hundred and fifty enery night, and two hundred and fifty more in the Court yard, & about the Treasure house.

His Court or House at the Mosko, is made Castle-wife, walled about with great store of faire Ordenance planted vpon the Wall, and containeth a great bredth of ground within it, with many dwelling houses. Which are appointed for fuch as areknowne to be fure and trusty to the Emperor. The private behaviour and qualitie of the Ruffe people, may partly bee vnder-froode, by that which hath beene fayde of the Ruffe concerning the publique state and viage people. of the Countrey. As touching the natu- Conflitution rall habite of their bodies, they are, for of their bothe most part, of a large sife, and of verie dies. fleshy bodies; accounting it a grace to be fomewhat groffe and burley, and therefore they nourish and spread their beards, to have them long and broade. But, for the most part, they are very vnweldy and vnactiue withall. Which may be thought to come, partly of the Climate, and the numbnesse which they get by the colde in winter, and partly of their dyer, which is Their ordina

most of rootes, onions, garlike, cabbage, ry dyer.

and fuch like things that breed groffe hu- | leape into the River starke naked, orto mours, which they vie to cate alone, and with their other meates.

Their dyet is rather much then curi-Their drinke ous. At their meales they beginne commonly with a Chark, or finall cuppe of Aqua vita, (which they do call Ruffe wine) and then drinke not till towards the end of their meales, taking it in largely, and all together, with kiffing one another, at eutry pledge . And therefore, after dinner there is no talking with them, but enery man goeth to his bench to take his after-noones fleepe, which is as ordinary with them as theyr nights rest. When they exceed, and have varietie of dishes, the first are their baked meates (for roste meates they vie little) and then their pottage and broaths. To drinke drunke, is an ordinary matter with them every day in the week. Their common drinke is Mead, the poorer fort vie water, and thin drinke called Qualle, which is nothing elfe (as weeve to fay) but water turned out of his wittes, with a little branne meathed

> This dyet would breede in them many diseases, but that they vie bath stoues, or hot houses, in stead of all physicke, commonly twice or thrice cuery weeke. All the Winter time, and almost the whole Summer, they heate there Peaches, which are made like the Germane Bathfloues, & their Potlads like Ouens, that so warme the house, that a stranger at the first shall hardly like of it. These two extremities, specially in the Winter of heate within their houses, and of extreme colde without, together with their dyet: maketh them of a darke and fallow complection. their skinnes beeing tanned and parched both with cold and with heate: specially the women that (for the greater part) are of farre worse complections, then the men. Wherof the cause I take to be their keeping within the hot-houses, and busiing themselves about the heating & vsing of their bathstones, and peaches.

The Russe, because that he is vsed to both these extremities of heate and of colde, can beare them both a great deale more patiently, then strangers can doe. You shall see them sometimes (to season their bodies) come out of their Bath-Roues all on a froth, and furning as hot almost as a Pig at a Spit, and presently to poure colde water all ouer their bodies, and that in the coldeft of all the Winter time. The women, to mend the bad hue of their skins, vie to paint their faces with white and red colours, so visibly, that euery man may perceive it. Which is made no matter, because it is common, and liked well by their husbands: who make their Wines and Daughters ordinary allowance, to buy them colours to paint their faces withal, and delight themselves much, to fee them of fowle women, to become such faire Images. This parcheth the skinne, and helpeth to deforme them when their painting is off.

They apparell themselves after the Greeke manner. The Noblemans attire is mans attire. on this fashion.

First a Taffia, or little night-cappe on his head, that concreth little more then his crowne, commonly very rich, wrought of filke and gold thred, and fet with pearl and precious stones. His head he keepeth shauen close to the very skin, except he be in some displeasure with the Emperour. Then hee suffereth his hayre to grow and hang downeypon his shoulders, couering his face as vgly and deformedly as he can.

Ouer the Taffia, hee weareth a wide Cap of blacke Foxe (which they account for the best Furre) with a Tiara or long bonnet put within it, standing vp like a Perfian or Babilonian Hat.

About his necke (which is feene all bare) is a coller fet with pearle and precious stones, about three or foure fingers broad.

Next ouer his thirt (which is curioufly wrought, because he strippeth himfelfe into it in the Summer time, while he is in the house) is a Shepon, or light Garment of filke, made downe to the knees. buttoned before: and then a Caftan or a close coate buttoned, & girt to him with a Persian girdle, whereat hee hangs his kniues and spoone. This commonly is of cloth of gold, and hangeth downe as low as his anckles.

Ouer that he weareth a loofe garment of some rich filke, furred and faced about with some gold Lace, called a Ferris.

Another ouer that, of Chamlet, or like stuffe, called an Alkaben, sleened and hanging lowe, and the cape commonly tors prinate,

Officers.

The Lord Steward.

The Lord Treasurer.

Estoma Bisabroza Pastelnischay. The fixthis Tafters, now Theodore Alexandrowich, and Iuan Vafilowich Godo-

> The feuenth his Harbengers, which are three Noblemen, and divers other Gentlemen that do the Office vnder the. These are his ordinary Officers, and Offices of the cheefest account.

Chap.s.

The after-

Groomes.

Two extre-

Their often

vic of Bath.

brooched and fet all with pearle.

When he goeth abroad, he casteth ouer al these, which are but sleight (though they feeme to be many) another garment called an Honoratkey, like to the Alkaben, faue that it is made without a coller for the necke. And this is commonly of fine cloth, or Camells haire.

His buskins, which he weareth in stead of hofe, with linnen folds under them in steed of boot-hose, are made of a Persian leather called Saphian, embrodered with pearle. His vpper stockes commonly are of cloth of gold.

When he goeth abroade, hee mounteth on horse backe, although it be but to goe to the next doore; which is the cufrome and maner also of the Boiarskey, or

The Boiarskey or gentlemans attire is of the same fashion, but diffreth in stuffe; and yet he will have his Caftan or vndercoate fometimes of cloth of golde, the rest of cloth or silke.

The Noble woman (called Chyna Boiarlbena) weareth on her head, first a kall of some soft filke (which commonly is red) and over it a frontlet, called Obrofa | Thion. of white colour.

Quer that , her Cap (made after the coife fashion of cloath of golde) called Shapka Zempska, edged with fomerich furre, and fet with pearles and stones. Though they have of late begunne to difdaine embrodering with pearles about their caps, because the Diacks, and some Merchants wines have taken uppe the fa-

In their cares they weare eare-rings (which they call Sargee) of two inches or more in compasse, the matter of golde fet with Rubies, or Saphires, or some like pretious stone.

In Sommer they goe often withkerchiefs of fine white lawne or Cambricke, fastened under the chinne, with two long tasselles pendent. The kerchiefe spotted and fet thicke with rich pearle.

When they ride or goe abroad in raynie weather, they vie to weare white hats with coloured bands, called by them Scapa Zemskoy.

rich pearle and pretious stones.

Their vpper garment is a loofe gowne

(called Oposhen) commonly of Skarlet, with wide loofe fleeues, hanging downe to the ground, buttond before with great gold buttons, or at the least, filuer and gilt, nigh as bigge as a wallnut. Which hath hanging oner it fastened under the cappe, a large broade cape of some rich Furre, that hangeth downe almost to the middes of their backes.

Next under the Opolhers or upper gar. The under ment, they weare an other , called a Leit- gowner nick, that is made close before with great wide fleeues, the cuffe or halfe fleeue vp to the elbowes commonly of cloath of golde : and voder that a Ferris Zemskoy, which hangeth loofe buttoned throughout to the very foote.

On the hand-wreafts they weare very Bracelets. faire Bracelets, about two fingers broade of pearles and precious stones. They goe all in Buskins of white, yellow, blew, or some other coloured leather, embrodered with pearle. This is the attire of the Noble woman of Rußia, when thee maketh the best shew of her selfe. The gentlewomans apparrell may differ in the fuffe, but is all one for the making or fa-

As for the poore Moufick, and his wife, The Moufie, they goe poorely clad. The man with his manualture. Odnoratkey, or loofe gowne to the small of the legge, tied together with a lace before, of course white or blew cloth, with some Shube or long wast-coate of Furre, or of sheepe-skinne under it, and his furred cappe, and buskins.

The poorer fort of them have their Od- The poore noratkey, or upper garment, made of man. Cowes haire. This is their winter habite. In the former time, commonly they doe weare nothing but their thirts voon their backes, and buskins on their legges.

The woman goeth in a redde or blew gowne, when thee maketh the best thew, and with fome warme Shube of Furre vnder it in the winter time . But in the fommer, nothing but her two shirts (for so do they call them) one over the other, whether they be within doores, or without.

On their heads, they weare caps of some Head artire. colored fluffe, many of veluet, or of cloth of gold, but for the most part, kerchiefes. About their neckes they weare collers of three or foure fingers broade, fet with ther mettall, and her croffe about her Croffe. necke, you shall see no Russia woman, be the wife, or maide.

lity otherwise, they are of reasonable capacities, if they had those meanes that fome other Nations have, to traine vp their witts in good nurture and learning. Which they might borrow of the Polonians, and other their neighbors : but that they refuse it of a very selfe pride, as accounting their owne fashion to be farre the best. Partly also (as I sayd before) for that their manner of bringing vp (voyd of all good learning, and civill behaviour) is thought (by their gouernors) most agreeable to that State, and their maner of gouernement. Which the people would hardly beare, if they were once civilled, geththe know and brought to more understanding of God, and good policie.

edge of God This causeth the Emperours to keepe out all meanes of making it better, and to be very wary for excluding of all peregrinitie, that might alter their fashions. Which were leffe to be difliked, if it fet not a print into the very mindes of his people. For, as themselves are very hardly and cruelly dealt withall by their chiefe Magistrates, and other superiours: foure they as cruell one against an other, especially ouer their inferiours, and fuch as are under them . So that the basest and wretchedest Christianoe (as they call him) that stoupeth and crowcheth like a dogge to the Gentleman, and licketh up the duft that lieth at his feete, is an intollerable tyrant, where he hath the advantage.

By this meanes the whole Countrie is filled with rapine, and murder. They doe make no account of the life of a man. Yee thall have a man robbed fometime in the very streetes of their Townes, if hee goe late in the evening : and yet no man to come foorth out of his doores to rescue him, though he heare him cry out, I will not speake of the strangenesse of the murders, and other cruelties committed amongst them, that would scarcely be beleened to be doone amongst men, especially fuch as professe themselves to be chriflians.

The number of their vagrant and begging poore is almost infinite; that are fo pinched with famine and extreme neede, as that they doe begge after a violent and desperate manner; with, Gine me, and out mee; Giue mee, and kill mee; and fuch like phraies. Whereby it may bee gheffed!

As touching their behaviour, and qua- | what they are towards strangers, that are fo vnnaturall and cruell towardes their owne. And yet it may be doubted when ther is the greater, the crueltie, or intem- Intemperance perancie that is yied in that Countrie. I will not speake of it, because it is so foole and not to be named. The whole Countric overfloweth with all finne of that) kinde. And no maruell, as bauing no law to restraine who redomes, adulteries, and like vncleannesse of life.

As for the truth of his word, the Ruffe No care of (for the most part) maketh small regard of mile, it: fo he may gaine by a lie, and breach of his promife. And it may be faid truely (as they know best that have traded most with them) that from the great to the small (except some few that will scarcely bee found) the Ruffe neyther beleeueth anie thing that an other man speaketh, nor speaketh any thing himselfe worthy to be beleeved.

These qualities make them very odious to all their neighbours, especially to the Tartars, that account themselves to dious to his be honest and just, in comparison of the neighbours, Ruffe. It is supposed by some, that doe well confider of the flate of both Countries, that the offence they do take at the Rulle gouernement, and their manner of behaufour ; hath beene a great caufe to keepe the Tartar still heathenish, and to millike (as hee dooth) of the Christian

CHAP. VI.

If it may be fo ordered or limited, that paifons given at a certaine day, shall not cause death, watill a time appointed and prefixed.

Ir, though you can much more clearetly and exactly first the sate of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

This is the last paradox of the first thread.

mine aduice therein, concerning the littletation and efficacie of poylons, araday or time prefixed; I shall briefly resolute you of my judgement.

uo Thaue euermore helde it abfurde and Gggg

Weather hats

Chin clothes

The Gentle

mans apparel

The noble wo-

mans apparel.

A coife cap.

Rich eare-

Necke collers

The vpper garment.

Vagrant beg-

Civilitie brin

The Market

A comparison deriued from phyficall meby empoyfoners. For, how can it be fo, dicines of bell feeing Physicall medicines, euen such as worth. are most profitable, whose vertue (in ridiculous (although it bee maintayned | businesse. in vulgare opinion) that venoms or poyfons should be limited to a certaine time.

knowledge thereof, is limited to the composition and quantitie of the dose) cannot be apprehended, but by long and frequent experience: And that being knowne, doth

not yet leane vs any certaine act, but coniecturall: wherfore, I cannot fee by what reason, an empoysoner should gaine a prefixion of time, for the efficacie of his poyfon. For, it is not lawfull to make tri-

all, without danger, no nor without punishment : euen as if the action of Physi-

call receipts, should be experimented vp-

It may be alleadged, and I am of the fame opinion too, that they approue their

cuent and successe, should happen vnto

beafts then to men. For creatures depri-

ued of reason, haue very little diversitie

(in their kinde) betweene them, feeding

on one and the same pasturage, and being

not addicted to fundry studies, and occupations: from whence enfueth, that even

by and of the fame things, beafts endure

But for men, although they agree together in kinde, yet notwithstanding they are so different, as seldome or neuer, shall

we find two together of likenesse in face :

but are diverse in complexions, conditions and occupations or professions, and no one like other among a thousand. Vndoubtedly, I am of the minde, that in the

kinde of man, there is as many differences

among particulars, as there is diversities ofkinde among all other creatures. And therefore, it ought to be helde altogether

abusue, and no way firme, and such con-

iecure of empoyloners; as is very easie

to be prooued, and made plaine to energ

vnderstanding: and vppon this hopefull

perswasion, wee will fall presently to our (almost) passions alike.

on healthfull persons.

Many haue thought and held, that Theophrastus (a very grave and approved Philosopher) was the Authour of this opinion because he wrote thus of Aconitum. It is faid to be compounded in such fort, that it a learned Phi can kill at a certaine time : as namely, within lofopher, his two moneths, three moneths, fixe moneths, 4 whole yeare, and sometimes in two yeares.

And some affirme, that such people shall die more miferably, then if they could have resisted longer time. For their bodies will impaire by little and little, perishing in a daily languifling: whereas such as die suddenly have the more easie death. But the authoritie of Theophrastus, or Theophrastus of our felues, can mooue nothing in this dited in the matter; confidering, that he wrote this, cafe. more vpon others opinion, then his own, as the words themselves doe evidently testifie. And if any one defire to know the cause of this perswasion, hee shall meete poylons vpon bealts, as Dogges, Swine and Birds, and that thereby they constiwith a two-folde answere thereto. The Two answers first is, the subtile craftinesse of men, who | to the true tute rules to themselves, having observed flatter and fondly play with their owne Thehidan divers times of death, according to the nature of the poylons. As if the natures vices. For how many may be found that livere. of men, (being the most temperate of all can not so paciently endure, when they are reprodued in some cuill, happening creatures) and the other were not verie farre different. Besides, it is much more by an externall accident; as if one thould casie, that a precise and certaine houre of tell them, that it received originall by a bad temperature of their body or of their owne intemperance? For, admit that no-We can not thing could be faide, to bee the cause of indure to hear the first constitution, and therefore (by our owneignconsequent) the reproofe of his imperseaion concerned him nothing : yet notwithstanding, because it is our owne naturally, we will conceale and couer it, yea, and fauour it beyond measure. So that if there happen any fault on the behalfe of our imperfection, we stand most in seare to be thereof reproued. And hence it enfueth, that we more gladly yeelde agreement, to have the cause from some externall occasion, then of any interiour. Examples in this case are very manifest, The ignorace of causesinda euen in fuch as haue least knowledge, be- of cautesmourceth (very ofing ignorant in good Arts and Sciences, ten atalien transported by simple judgement of felle- pinion and Sorceries loue. As aged, and the most part of weake witted people doe, to whom nothing admitable can be spoken; ynlesse it be referred to some Saint, or poyson closely giuen, or to the witching lookes of some old woman: whence proceeded the complaint whereof Virgill (peaketh.

Chap.6.

I know not by what illaspect of wrong, My tender Lambes (enchanted) walke along. For there must needes be probable lying, that either instantly, or soone after the poyfon is given, or contriued in the furest manner; if any length or respite of time can be given thereto. The other cause of this opinion, is the depraued interpretation of Aftronomi-

mwere and the fecond

The like ift of

Theophrastus That death happeneth in as short a time, as a his words for tir fudden en hing of death

Adefinition of philon or

The operations on of positions in their owner

call Theoremes or Speculations. For the proofe whereof', Aftrologers constitute As certaine poisons artificial, which have

Of poyloning at prefixed times.

(which is true) the divers manners or paffions of inferiour bodies, to be from the diuers conjunction, opposition and enterchanged aspect of the superiour. From hence, the ignorant vulgar take occasion. to ground and establish the varietie of esfects, euen vpon the least differences that can bee observed in the celestial bodies. As when they constitute some one plant, to have power and efficacie against feauers; prouided, that it be gathered before Sunne rifing. This is an errour foread kents gathe-ind you Saint lake Eue or account at all) men commonly construct these venoms may be referred, such askill the diversitie of effects in their kinds : but only by fight, finel, or being but talled onalso would have the accidents of those efly (without swallowing or letting downe) fects to be divers, for the felfe fame reafon; euen as is the time to manifest the efthe least lingering. ficacie of poylon. The folly (in this point) further related by Theopbrastus, he fayth:

Plant is to be gathered . Let vs feeke then for a true folution of this Probleme, by reason rather then the testimonies of any. Which we may most commodiously doe (if I abuse not mine owne judgement) by beginning with the definition of venome our instant disputation. We properly call venome or poyfon, whatfocuer being received into the body, doth fo fight against the body, as it is not to be furmounted; but contrariwife, doth fo alter the body, as the body it felfe alters

or poison; to the end it may be the easier

understood, what the matter is that vigeth

in diet. In all venoms there are two espefooner or later then other; fome are ouerciall differences : for, eyther they are enethrowne thereby others escape. Because mies to humane nature, by reason of their many times it comes fo to paffe, that the manifest qualitie; or esse they are aduerse poisons power is mitigated & overcome, thereto in their whole substance. Moreouer, some may kill quickely, others more tardily, even of their owne proper nature. Such kill fuddenly, and in fewest daies and houres, which are immediatly carried to the profunditie of the hart. Such venoms are extreamly hot, and (for the most part) corrofine or purrefactine; the Greeks call them Septiques, endued with most subtile parts. For, colde and groffe venomes are thorow the bootes of the Rider, even till

it attaine to the naked foale of his foote,

more yele, and infinuate into the veines and arteries more flowly. Some there are , which infect and kill Of fome that the body, by their onely vapour or inuiti- detroytoon, then other. ble exhalation. Others, that holde the prime place of atrocitie and malignitie.

fo subtile a vertue, as being but rubbed or annointed vpon the stirrops, will pierce and from thence ascendeth vp into the bo dy, by the fourpiralles or ouertures of the skinne, and so corrupt all the members. Poysoning Bridles and Saddles of horfesmay also be mens flirrops infected, and afterwards, inducted by naturall heate into the arteries and veins of fes, garments, the rider entring by the pores in his hands beds, &c. and thighes. As in like maner, Garments, Beds and Couerings may be poyfond. To tuddenly destroying a man , without any All venomes or poylons bring prefent death with them, fo as there remains not Such speeding any time of respite, for succor to faue the poysons are in poore mans life but he dies. I vnderftand, daily vie amongest the that such poylons are in frequent vse a- Turkes and o

mong the Turkes, and fuch other nations. ther barba-Groffer venoms or poifons do differ from rous nations thele, as being flower in performing their action; but in the end burne very firongly, efficacie, in poisons of divers kinds, but alfo there happens to them as great a varietie ofrespites, to hurt according to their the poysons, constitution and temperature, by whom and difference they are taken. For some feele the harme of working.

by the very complexio of him that hath received it, elfe, that it is fo firog of it felf, as it needeth no other counterpoyfon to vanquish it. So falleth it out with them that dwell in pestilent aires, & others that bite, eat, torment, & (by their lingring) be-

Gggg 2

get the greater strength & cruel violence.

Now there is not onely a difference of Little diuerfitie betweene vnreasonable creatures in their kinde. Very great & Triall of poy-

fons made or

Dogs, Hoge,

Birds,&c.

ftrange varietie among me, for feldome or neuer are two found of one and the fame complexion,

Chap. 6.

The Art of

phylicke is turall then

Reafts na

much diffe

nefelf-fame

poylon diffe-teth in his o-

ring from

more conice

Ofbodies pe | stilentially in-them being ficke, chance to die fuddenly, others later, and other (in the end) escape. If it be fo, it seemes then altogether ridiculous to affirme, that it is possible to

are attainted with the plague : some of giue a poison, which (at a day prefixed,& A very ridiculous affirmation.

rad.I.Dec. 1.

ging from our heate. Whence it ensueth, that being groffely preffed, they produce their effects the later. But if I should confent to them herein, yet notwithstanding, they can neuer come to approve their affirmation, vnleffe it be captiously. For if any man argue thus: This drugge difco-A kind of ydle argumentatiú uereth his power later then this; there-

thing in fome time.

fore he will doe it at a certaine time. The argumentation is false, and Aristotle calleth it Elenchus non confequens : Euen as if a man should say, A Goat is a Beast, therfore a Goate is an Affe. For, To do a thing late, and to do a thing at a certaine time, are of divers kindes, and differ from doing a

Heereby it appeareth, that these great

on the conditions of the poylons, as in this poynt it is very enident, for we heare

no distinction of bodies : but onely pretence of the poylon, whereunto they only attribute the limitation of time, and not to any complexion in the parties. Obseruation hath beene made, that poison hath beene giuen at a Frast or Banquet to di-uers persons, all in one houre, (when friends have merrily met together, without suspition of any such villanie) where-

of some dyed suddenly, others died with-

A Goate is a heaft, therefore a Goate is an Affe.

At a folemne Banquet in I.

ralie made by Carfar Borgia

An example physicall pur

in some few dayes after, and some felt no anguish at all, yet every one received a like quantitie. The like we fee to happen daily in purgatine medicines, which being given to divers persons (even all alike in measure; and all alike in preparation) they worke vpon fome bodies very fuddenly, others more flowly, others very hardly, and vpon some nothing at all. Moreover, the vacuitie of some men is with much ease, others with great difficultie, grieuously grinding or cutting, and frequent debility I am determined to exercise my selfe of the heart. What need is there then of alleadging many men, when vppon one and the same man, one and the same medicine cannot produce the same effectse Seeing then, that according to the diuers and vnparaleld complexion, & conformation of the body, we fee fuch things in and ten at a certaine time of that day) shall cause to happen for the most part; and besides, perature of a the parties death, & that the condition of the poison is so to doe. To which errour that the iust temperature of euery parti-I may well referre another, fauouring of cular man is no way to be comprehenthe fame tafte, and which we have long ded: how then shall any one man dare to Poisons work fince operthrowne, to wit: That medicines take the beginning of their mutation or chan-

in one and the fay, how long time naturall heate shall refift or withstand poison ? Say I admitted, vpon them. that fome one man should be so expert an empoisoner that he could weigh (in a certainty of judgement) the power of his poifon , euen as exquifitely as he weigheth muske in the Ballance : yet notwirhstanding, I will neuer graunt, that he can as exactly limite poylon, for the nature of him that is to receive it : but he wil faile somewhat of the end, or of the time by him proposed. For Physicke it selfe is held to erce grown be a Science, grounded but vpon coniectures, concerning what is to be prescribed for every man, in the proper quantitie and qualitie of meetest remedies. For, no man knoweth how to write or speake infly or properly, as Galen faith in the third book of his Methods. And a little after: In the Professours have no other eye, but onelie Arte of Physicke (faith he) there is not anie > kinde : but that which cannot be foken, written, nor entirely appointed or ordained, is the quantitie for every onc. Hee repeateth this fame matter many times, and to the purpose ensuing, as enfiructing, that every man hath his peculiar curing, and that the naturall propertie is vnfpeakeable and incomprehenfible of an exact Science . Vulgar Physitians call it Idiolyneralis, the naturall propertie, as thing or remedie, but may bee named in his Galen faith. And because all confesse, that ir canot be comprehended; they attribute the true Art of Physicke to Aesculapius & Apollo. For the principle, and foundation (as it were) of perfect, compleate, & infallible Phylicke (which Galen calls; The true Arte of Medicine) is the particular knowledge of Naturals. Whereupon he makes this addition. If I knew how to acknowledge Galen in his fully, the nature of each one in particular : I should verily thinke to be such a one as Ae-

Sculapius and to know as much in my underflanding . But because it is not to be doone.

and to exhort others therein to follow mine example. If Phylicke then be conjecturall, and

